Return for a few moments to those lines of Herbert Spencer, with which we commenced our essay. That civilization, as it goes on, improves, as we call it, should make it more difficult for the worker to become an employer, for the poor man to become a rich man. Those two dreadful, unnatural facts alone condemn civilization and education, civil and religious education. If not, why not? That there should be a perpetual chain of discords and jealousies and antagonisms, open or silent, peaceful or war-like, between labor and capital, between employers and employes—that alone is a disgrace to humanity, from the tramp to the hero, from bottom sinners to top saints, to the latter most especially. It is in proportion as we rise, in social importance, that we become more responsible for all wrongs in the compact of each national group, unless we boldly attack them and work for their suppression, in forms sensible and scientific.

NEWSPAPERS SHOULD BE FAIR.

We read a great deal nowadays about patronizing the union label. And while a great many of us union men in buying clothes, shoes and hats do look for this label, there are other cases where we fail to show the union spirit. I believe the majority of us union men read a great deal and most of us take one or more daily or weekly papers, magazines, etc. Now, it is just as important that we look here also for the union label and patronize no paper who is unfriendly to organized labor.

In reading of the Western Union strike now in progress throughout the country, I can not help but note the tone of articles appearing in the Times-Dispatch, a daily published at Richmond, Va., and it would not take a very careful study of these articles or of other articles I have seen from time to time to convince the reader that the sympathy of the editorial staff is not with the laboring man in his struggle for justice, but with the corporations. I think it would be well for the friends of unionism to remember this.

CERT. 698.

TELEGRAPHERS TAKE NOTICE!

The newspapers of the country have been muzzled by three great corporations—the Western Union Telegraph Company, the Postal Telegraph Company, and the Associated Press, whose operators are on strike for fair, living wages, and decent working conditions.

The strike started on Friday, August 9, and by Tuesday, August 13, there were between twenty-three thousand and twenty-five thousand commercial telegraphers on strike throughout the United States. Operators in every city, every large town, and thousands of small ones, left their keys and joined this great movement. The telegraph service is completely crippled, the companies having no one to man their wires but their managers, a few superannuated and incompetent operators, who would not be tolerated on a wire under normal conditions, and a very few scabs, who refused to go out when the whistle was blown, and who are unworthy of the name of telegraphers or of the recognition of their fellowmen.

The newspapers, on account of their affiliation with and ownership of stock to the syndicate known as the Associated Press, have determined to do all in their power to break the strike by suppressing the real news, as the success of the telegraphers will mean a slight increase in the cost of their news service. They refuse to print reports of the strike, except what are favorable to the companies, and have misrepresented conditions in such a manner as to lead the public to believe that the strike is of little magnitude and that the companies are handling business as usual.

Notwithstanding anything that the telegraph officials or the newspapers may say to the contrary, the service is completely crippled. Messages are being accepted only subject to indefinite delay. Much of it is being sent through the United States mails, and more of it in suit cases from city to city.

The men are standing firm in every section, there having been no desertion from our ranks. Many of the men who remained at work have been induced to leave their keys, while those who are still at work are physically exhausted, and can not withstand the strain much longer.

Let commercial telegraphers everywhere keep away from their keys. Don't be fooled by the newspapers into believing that the strike is broken. Stand firm and we are sure to win, as there is a great scarcity of telegraphers throughout the country and our places can not be filled until our demands are met by the companies, and we are ready to go back to work under better conditions and for better pay! "Stick!" brothers, stick, for the fight is almost won!

EDWARD J. HENNESSEY.

A LEGISLATIVE PLAN.

I herewith submit a plan which would not only be beneficial to the telegraphers, but to the traveling public as well:

To Members of the State Legislature:

On account of so many disastrous wrecks which have occurred in the past few months, seemingly caused by incompetent boy telegraphers, we the undersigned citizens of _____, County of _____, State of _____, do hereby request and demand that the legislators of this State enact a law, namely, that no telegrapher shall be employed in repeating or transmitting train orders or reporting trains from one office to another by telegraph or telephone who is under twenty-one (21) years of age. Furthermore, that a telegrapher employed in receiving or transmitting train orders or reporting trains from one office to another, by either telegraph or telephone, shall be required or permitted to remain on duty for more than eight consecutive hours in twenty-four.

(Signatures.)

By getting such a law as this in force we would eliminate the student and have a competent body of telegraphers. Let every local chairman get a supply of these petitions and give one to every operator on his division. Who, in turn, would get the signatures of the citizens of his or her town, and return to the local chairman, who would present to members of the next Legislature. Would like to hear from some of you on this subject.

PREPARE FOR MARCH 4, 1908.

No one can read THE TELEGRAPHER from month to month without getting a large amount of useful information. Those who have closely followed these columns can not fail to have formed some opinion as to what is desired, in the way of compensation for telegraphers. Congress has passed a nine-hour law. Now, we must combine upon some basis of demand for our services. As has been so often mentioned through THE TELEGRAPHER, we are approaching a crisis in our life, as an organization, which I believe may call for each member to stand firmly and fearlessly by the solemn obligation which we all have taken, to uphold the Order and its officers to the utmost, in all matters pertaining to its welfare. In the July number of THE TELEGRAPHER, "Cert. No. 807, Div. 54," brings up some points upon which too much stress can not be laid, viz., the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the railroads. What will be their attitude towards the telegraphers, and our Order, when the nine-hour law goes into effect next March. If any telegrapher is inflating his mind with the thought that the railroad companies will tumble over each other in a scramble to see which one will be the first to grant this great benefit to their telegraphers, let me warn you, from an experience of over fifteen years in the service, your mind will receive a jar, little less than an earthquake, or I will miss my guess. Railroad corporations and many officials have very little, if any, qualms of conscience as to whether their employes are laying aside a little something, from month to month, as a protection when old age comes upon them or not. On the contrary, they seem to prefer us to be in a position of dependence upon every day service for our support, rather than to be independent. There are some officials, I am thankful to say, who are not wholly lost to their duty to their fellowman. But too many such are handicapped, so that the milk of human kindness becomes, oftentimes, sadly diluted before reaching the recipient. It is to be expected that the railroad officials are busy now, and have been ever since it became evident that Congress would pass a nine-hour law in favor of the telegraphers, to formulate plans to offset the benefits which this law was intended to give us. Now, it is up to us, as an organized body, to also get busy, and lay our plans so securely and surely that there will be no evasion of the letter and spirit of the nine-hour law. To do this, in the first place, it seems to me, it is necessary that we raise a fund of sufficient amount, which our president may have at his command for the protection of our interests, in every way possible and as conditions may require. To this end, I would suggest that every member of the Order send to our grand secretary and treasurer, Bro. Quick, one dollar each month, beginning September 1st, stating with the remittance, that it is for this particular purpose, and continue to do this until April 1, 1908. .

Then again, the question of just what wages we should have should be settled upon quickly, and having so decided, make no retraction from it. Any attempt on the part of any official or company to induce or compel any changes which would conflict with the law, have the matter reported to our president at once, taking no radical action in the matter until he decides upon the course to pursue.

I have noticed, with a great deal of interest, and presume many others have done the same, the arguments and suggestions appearing in THE TELEGRAPHER from month to month. It is a matter requiring the greatest amount of discussion, for it vitally affects us all. All the information possible should be brought out, in order that our officials may know our wishes and be able to act intelligently upon them; without this information they can not know what is for the best interest of the largest number. I am sure every member has formed some opinion, as to what salary a railroad telegrapher should receive.

It seems to me that the simplest way would be to decide upon an amount per hour, as nearly all of our sister organizations have done. Then put it up to the railroads to pay it. Skilled labor, in nearly every branch throughout the United States demands forty-five cents per hour. Why should a skilled telegrapher, in whose judgment and fidelity the lives of hundreds and thousands often are intrusted, be asked to work for less than those upon whom but a slight fraction of these great responsibilities are placed. There is no business or profession requiring more skill, judgment, or faithful attention to duty, than the railroad telegrapher, who is held responsible for the handling of orders upon which the railroads depend for the movement and handling of their trains. Then why should we be asked to work for a mere pittance? For an amount which simply allows us a hand to mouth existence. Our organization has made great advances in working conditions for us. But when the nine-hour law goes into effect I fear we may expect "breakers," unless we so fortify our positions that there will be no chance for a break, except in a forward movement.

There have been many articles going the rounds of the press to the effect that the railroad companies were already crippled for the want of telegraphers. Consequently, it would be impossible for them to comply with the nine-hour law requirements. This is simply for the purpose of trying to get the public to believe their side of the question. We all know they are crippled now, and will always be so, until they are compelled to pay a wage commensurate with the responsibilities required of their employees. If they will do that, they will find, as we all so well know, they can get any quantity of reliable men to fill any and all positions required. Go into any large freight office in the country, and you will find experienced telegraphers who would be glad to go out upon the line if better wages and hours prevailed. They left the operating department for office work, on account of the shorter hours and larger salary, which the officers grant their employees. Let me say right here, it is my opinion the railroad companies would find it greatly to their advantage to place new men in these large offices, to learn the system of books and other details, and then place them out upon the line as agents, etc. They would thus be better prepared to treat with the public, and make up their accounts more satisfactory to the general office.

Now, a word to my fellow-operators, let me ask you if you are giving your best services to your employer? Are you always promptly on duty at the prescribed hour? Do you answer your office calls promptly? Do you answer your correspondence promptly? Do you keep your office and waiting-rooms in a clean and presentable condition? Are you pleasant and courteous to your patrons and the public? These and many other details are brought up by the company, when it is asked by your committee for an increase of salary, or betterment of working conditions for you. If you fail in these important matters, can't you see how hard you make it for your representative to better your condition? I have no doubt but that many times our committees are badly handicapped by officials holding up to them the work of some poor man who is negligent in some, if not all, of these matters, and, by their neglect, hinder their own advancement. Not only their own, but many a hard-working, conscientious brother, who is giving his best energies to his work. Let us prove true to ourselves and our neighbor. By so doing we will help our cause very materially, and do our Order the greatest amount of good.

CERT. 512, Div. 132.

AN APPEAL.

To My Brother and Sister Telegraphers:

As a last resort, I am going to appeal to you through THE TELEGRAPHER. I have locomotor ataxia, a spinal trouble which finally paralyzes the lower limbs and sometimes the arms, too. It is incurable, except at Hot Springs, Ark., where the United States Government experts say it can be cured.

I have been trying to work during the past nine months, but the disease has incapacitated me for work, and I have only been able to get a little more than a month's time during that period, and at the present time am down and out entirely, with a wife and little daughter dependent on me. If I am ever to get any relief I must get to the Hot Springs, and for this reason I want you to help me. No matter how small the contribution, it will be gratefully received. I appreciate the fact that very few telegraphers are flush at any time, but most everyone can get hold of a quarter or a half dollar, and some even more than this, between pay days. So if you will sit down and mail me what you can spare as soon as you read this you will earn the gratitude of three stanch O. R. T.'s, myself, my wife and baby.

It will be necessary for me to be at Hot Springs at least six or eight months, and if every O. R. T. brother and sister who reads this will contribute their mite, it will amount to enough to send me there to stay until I begin to improve, when I can get some kind of work there, so as to extend my stay there until I am well.

Now, please don't put this off till tomorrow, for you might forget, and if you can get some of your friends to add a few cents to your subscription, do so. I have asked Bro. Quick to investigate through my physician, so he can give his personal recommendation to this appeal.

Yours in distress,

H. RUBLE CLARK, CERT. 1573, GRAND.
Address, H. Ruble Clark, Covington, La.

NOTE.—Upon receipt of the foregoing appeal I requested Bro. T. E. Cooper, General Chairman of Division No. 80, to investigate the case, and he reports that it is a worthy one.—EDITOR.

THE RESULT OF STUDENT TEACHING

Having read much about the "ham schools" in the United States I am sorry to say that they have one in the Philippines, to teach the Gugoos the telegraph business, so that they can get them to work for the measly sum of fifteen, twenty and twenty-five pesos per month, or in other words, from $7.50 to $12.50, in order that the American will have to work for less money, or not work at all.

Also I am sorry to say that there are Americans over here actually teaching these Gugoos the business for the small sum of fifty pesos ($25). These men who are teaching these Gugoos are getting from $75 to $100 gold per month.

On the island of Negros there are something like twenty telegraph offices and with the exception of two, there are Gugoos in charge of them, and the same case with almost every other island. This is the result of "ham schools and the teachers," and then the Americans are wondering why they can't hold the jobs.

A few months ago I had to work with the "hams" and had my troubles with them, and don't blame any man for not working with a "ham." Remember there was an 800-word message sent out and having six Gugoos to contend with, it took me from test at 7:00 a. m. till 11:45 a. m. to get it O. K'd by them.

It is not only the case of telegraphing that the Americans are being crowded out, but all other positions that we hold. "UD."

A STEP TOWARD ACTION.

I wish to mention the necessity of acting in the near future before the day arrives when action is futile to us.

Did it ever dawn upon your minds that the railroad companies are aware that we are talking strike and discussing a reform in wages? They most certainly are aware of it. They prove this fact by the telegraph schools they establish along their lines, which were never in existence until after the eight-hour law was passed, or in other words, not until they began to realize that they were in danger of being brought to terms by their force of operators. The railroad companies give their telegraph students access to their offices at those places where the schools are located in connection with a teacher to give them actual practice to equip them as fast as possible.

I know of a case where a certain chief dispatcher went so far as to try to take advantage of weak young operators out along the line by informing them that sometime in the future he would send them some students from their school and told them that they would have to accept them, or some one else would get the position that would.

I say the present time is our golden opportunity if we ever expect to do anything at all in the way of action, while their (the railroad companies) monstrous effort is yet in its infancy.

Why are we organizing and going to the expense of $9 per year to support a labor organization which bases its success upon the foundation of discouraging students, when we expect to leave the railroad companies have the opportunity to mature a monster that will annul the very essence of our organization and bind us to poverty for time to come?

Why do we turn down our own friends to keep them from learning the art if we will allow the railroad companies to accomplish their aim by manufacturing operators to burn?

Now after we have all worked hard to eradicate the student business which as a result has increased the demand for operators and brought us to the point where we can name a salary and receive it, it would be a sin to waste much more time in securing comfort while it is yet to be had.

I am of the opinion that if the railroad telegraphers are deserving of a 35 per cent increase over their present salaries for an eight-hour day they have a perfect right to demand it, and should demand it. On the other hand if they are already receiving all they deserve, then they ought to keep quiet and not abuse the railroad companies for something not due them.

I herewith offer myself as the candidate to break the ice with a plan to hurry a reform in wages and better working conditions. Upon receiving THE TELEGRAPHER containing this article, all who are in favor of demanding a wage scale to take effect not later than March 4, 1908, somewhere near equivalent to what a railroad operator should receive, cast your vote by mailing Bro. Perham a letter stating that you are ready and willing to step out of the service when called upon in behalf of the eight-hour, $75 minimum, the 30 cents per hour minimum or the 30 per cent increase over our present salary for an eight-hour day, or whatever you deem an honest salary for a railroad operator. The 30 per cent increase, in my view, should be preferred.

It is necessary for the head of our Order to know what all its members are in favor of, in order to prompt action. After Bro. Perham receives all our views as to what wages the majority desires, he will then have some foundation to work on in the way of making further progress towards action. After all preparations are made, and the committees simultaneously go before their different managements throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico, then the committees will have only one thing to do, and that is to make their demand and give the railroad companies until March 4, 1908, to decide the matter.

Now, let us hesitate no longer, but notify Bro. Perham at once of what wage scale we are in favor of, and that we are ready and willing to step out of the service and stay out until we gain that end. Call up your neighbor and attract his attention to this article. Non-members as well as members all unite in this effort. Let us shower Bro. Perham's office with clamors for justice. Further suggestions are getting monotonous. Suggestions will never clothe nor feed us, it is action we need now. One and all do your duty now and see if we can't start the ball to rolling. I, for one, will send my plea for the 30 per cent increase over my present salary for an eight-hour day and will walk out, if necessary, to obtain it. Hoping success will be with us.

CERT. 1404, DIV. 33.

MORE ABOUT NINE-HOUR LAW.

I have just been reading the August journal and find several items therein which I have read with interest, and I think every telegrapher should read them carefully, especially the ones by Cert. 1994, Div. 53, Cert. 671, Div. 31, Cert. 1224, Div. 93 and the article by Cert 33, which appears on page 1307.

The railroads are fighting this law hard and we are going to have to fight it harder to accomplish our aim, and right here is where I will join in with Cert. 33 and say that also my telegraphic career ends March 4, 1908, unless we get the eight hour and as much or more pay.

I also think we should all get busy and ask our President and Grand Secretary to put out a circular letter to all railroad operators to quit work and stay out until he tells us to go back to work unless the railroad officials sign up contracts to give us eight hours' work and $75 per month. Now they have the eight-hour law in Texas and I understand that the State is compelling the railroads to comply with it. Why can't we have it in other States and as it becomes a national law March 4, 1908, let all get busy and if the United States law can't bring them to terms we can help by walking out and sticking. There is none of us that will starve as long as any one else has anything to eat.

As to asking Bro. Quick to line all up and say walk out the 4th of March next unless we get the eight-hour law and the salary we are getting now or more, he can just read this and take it for my request and I hope all the rest of the boys in the O. R. T. ranks will follow suit.

I am now working from 14 to 20 hours out of every 24, although we have an eight-hour law in Arkansas, but what's the use, without it is enforced.

This station pays the beautiful sum of $55 per, with a commission on Western Union, which amounts to an average of about $6 or $8 per month. Of course, I get the overtime, but would rather have the straight hour work and know when I could go home to rest and be with my wife and baby and enjoy some of the pleasures of life. Half time the chief dispatcher won't let me off for supper until 9 and 10 o'clock and then have to come back and work.

When this becomes a national law and the hours is up on that date this office will be closed until I have the 16 hours off unless, of course, I get it in the neck before that time. Then can't say what will be done here and I believe I can safely say all offices on this division of the Frisco will be the same.

Now, boys, here is to the eight hour and $75 per the 4th of March, 1908, or walk out and stay. CERT. 886, Div. 32.

WANTS IMMEDIATE ACTION.

Have just finished reading the July TELEGRAPHER, especially that portion relative to "$75 Minimum and Eight Hours," and to say the least these various articles sound good to me. I am of the same opinion that all the other brothers are that have written on the subject, i. e., we can get it. There is no earthly reason why we can not get it.

There is not today any class of skilled labor that are working for anything like as low wages as we are. It is a fact that a great many common laborers are getting as much as we are. Now are we to stand this always? Are we to be men or monkeys?

All that is necessary is for the telegraphers to come up to the front ranks is for us to make the move, and you just bet your sweet life if we don't make the first move (and then some) nobody is going to make it for us, and in making this move I think that it should be right now, not to be put off until we get so much stronger and all that, for it won't be long before we are so far behind our fellow workmen that we will never catch up, so let's get busy with that agreement to be presented to the various managements for that $75 minimum and eight hours, and if it is necessary for us to go out to get the $75 minimum let us go out, and for the love of God stay out until we get it; and when I say stay out I mean stay out too, not stay out for a while, then go back, but if necessary stay out forever. Now there is no such thing as saying that you could not make a living elsewhere, or at some other kind of employment, were it necessary, for you could. Didn't you live O. K. before you ever saw a railroad? Are we a set of invalids, cripples or paupers, that we can do nothing but office work, or can't work for any one else except the railroad companies? I would hate to acknowledge that I was. The truth is, brothers, from my observation, telegraphers as a class are too afraid they will get their hands soiled; they are afraid of work, and it's an undeniable truth that we are as a trade, too afraid of manual labor. We sit up in an office with standing collar on, cigarette (invariably) in our mouth, and are afraid of our jobs. Bah! Like the good old brother in the amen corner, "From such, oh Lord, deliver us." I wish to be frank with you and say if we as a class of workmen had more backbone and true American manhood about us, and were not so afraid of our "princely" (?) jobs, we would be this day getting more for our labor, in fact, would have been getting it long ago, and would be today up among the rest of the skilled trades, whereas, we are at the foot of the ladder, in fact, down among the lowest class of laborers, so far as our pay is concerned.

Brothers, how long are we to stand for this kind of things? Let's get a move on us and not be classed as a set of men without backbone, without grit, without nerve, any longer. We certainly have the power, let's use it. This old song of "Slow but sure," "conservative action," is all well and good if not used too long, but there is such a thing as too much of a thing, and if we move much slower than we are now it won't be long before we are not in it at all, are clean out of sight far behind the march of progress.

Tell me, honestly, are you ashamed to ask for $75 and eight hours? Do you think it's asking too much? Bah! Five hundred dollars per month would not be too much. Do you, for one minute, believe all the rot that you read in the newspapers about the railroad companies being too harshly dealt with; that they are not making expenses? If you do, I am sorry for your caliber of a cranium.

Do you believe all the noise and newspaper blow about the material costing the railroad companies "more" than anyone else? If you do believe it, don't tell anybody so, at least any sensible man. Go tell it to some street "gamey." Don't you know that material costs the small contractor more than it does the railroad company, for the simple reason that the railroad company buys it in larger quantities, and naturally gets it cheaper? Then, again, they get their material cheaper by giving some firm a small reduction in rates for "their" stuff if they will give the railroad company a reduced rate on material, and then to try and poke such stuff down the throats of sensible men, bah! On the other hand the small contractor pays more for his labor than the trust or corporations, also the same way with the small transportation companies. They, as a rule, pay more for their labor and always more for their material than the larger corporations do, and then for us to swallow such rot as that, that their stuff cost so much more. Oh, rats!

We are, in regard to asking for more wages, very much like the nigger slaves in olden times. After they got their freedom a great many wanted to stay around their masters, for they had been slaves so long that they did not realize what freedom really did mean. Will some one point out to me the difference between the wage slaves of today and the black slaves of a few years ago? The only difference I can see is their color of skin. But enough! The more I think about it the madder I get, and all the more so for the fact that we have the remedy to get rid of this wage slavery if we will only wake up and use it, "power to burn," but not the nerve to use it.

I would like to hear from some of the Grand Officers on this thing—something definite, too. As a faint suggestion would say why can't we take it like the trainmen, one side of the entire country at a time, say the entire country east of the Mississippi River as far south as the Gulf of Mexico, and east to the Atlantic. Make the demand all at one time, and if we do and have to go out to get it, the first man that scabs I hope God Almighty in His all-wise providence, will cut him off in the midst of his wrongdoing.

Now to some of the Grand Officers, let's hear you "make a noise" like a plan for that $75 per' and eight hours, and let's see what it sounds like. Let's hear from members and Grand Officers alike, something definite, and hear quick, too. Let's don't let it finally die like the bond question did.

"FLORIDA ALLIGATOR."

ANOTHER PHASE OF THE STUDENT QUESTION.

I have before me a little article clipped from a newspaper of recent date, which I think will interest you all, especially as it touches on the all-important student question. The student question has been discussed from all its standpoints at various times in our journal, but, I think what I have to present to you here is a new wrinkle of this question. The article mentioned reads as follows: "The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has decided to open a school of telegraphy in Bedford and will charge a small tuition, which will be refunded when the pupil becomes proficient in the work and accepts a position with the company. On account of the new eight-hour law more operators will be required to do the work. Mr. J. Floyd Cessna, who has been an efficient employe of the company, will be the instructor and we have no doubt that, under his management, there will soon be a large number of learners."

In order that all the brothers may have no trouble in "getting next" a note of explanation will not be out of place here as to the locality of this place. The town of Bedford is the county seat of Bedford County, Pa., and is also the seat of the executive offices of the Bedford Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. In this out-of-the-way place, where the natives do not see an up-to-date train once in a year, is where this so-called school of telegraphy is to be opened up. The "rustics" are always the easiest to rope in, you know. I have in my mind a mental picture of the visions of greatness and the promises of "responsible" positions which will be held out to the unsuspecting country lads which may or will be roped into this great (?) school. But I am getting away from the point I wish to make. This so-called "efficient employe," who is taking charge of this business, I understand, was once a brother, and that not so very long ago, I am sorry to say. Now what is your candid opinion of a man of this stripe? I can hear your answer plainly. Brothers, we all know how to treat them. As for me, I can word no expression too contemptible to express my honest opinion of this man. If any brother should ever meet up with him let the watch word of our Order, "No cards, no favors," be strictly adhered to.

CERT. 658.

TAKE A VOTE.

We have been discussing the eight-hour law and also have been reading different articles printed in THE TELEGRAPHER regarding the same, and as it seems that some of the different States are beating out the boys and disregarding the eight-hour laws of those States, it looks as if it might be possible that the same thing will be attempted when our national law goes into force on March 4, 1908.

Now the next thing for us to do is to see that we get what we justly deserve and see that this law is put into effect, and in order to do this we as a body must do something that will protect us and enforce what we believe to be just. The time to take these steps is now.

Suppose we, as a body, take each railroad separately and vote and see just how all the boys feel on this subject and see if we, as a body, are going to allow the railway companies to defeat this bill now it has passed, or even lengthen the time it goes into force, or whether we will take a united stand and demand that it be enforced.

Now, to get this information, and be ready as soon as possible, we would suggest that in the next month's issue of THE TELEGRAPHER a blank space be provided for each member to vote, and send this vote to our president, so he may, in the November issue, print results from each road separately or as a body, as the president may think consistent.

We hope that no member will neglect this important duty.

We can all talk and read articles and offer suggestions, but this will accomplish nothing, but should we take this vote and be ready to protect our rights, and if necessary walk out until we have accomplished what we desire, some progress will be made.

Now, if the railway companies find that we are in dead earnest and mean what we say, regarding this matter, I am of the belief that it will not be necessary to take drastic measures.

We as a body must get after this matter at once, as this should have went into effect six months from the time it was passed instead of a year, and without a doubt, unless we take this stand the railway companies will endeavor to prolong the time. Let us hear how others feel, and how our president feels also regarding this matter.

Yours in S. O. & D.,

CONNECTICUT EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

The railroad telegraphers throughout the State of Connecticut are rejoicing over the success of the eight-hour bill, which will become effective January 1, 1908.

There were so many who took an active part in this accomplishment that it is hardly fair to mention any particular ones. However, among those most prominent of the telegraphers was Bro. E. C. Terry, of New Haven, chairman, and his associates on the telegraphers' Legislative Committee; also the work of Bro. J. E. Leete, of Hartford, and that of the various local chairmen should not be overlooked, directed as were all by Bro. Terry, who had systematized the work to a minimum. Every telegrapher in the State was kept posted, and in this way an interested individual work was carried on with the respective Representatives and Senators.

Representative Connors, from Enfield, introduced the bill, and to his untiring and influential support, together with that of Representative Griswold, of Guilford; Tibbits, of Wallingford; Hoadley, of Branford, and Dunn, of Williamantic, the telegraph fraternity of Connecticut may well feel grateful, for these honorable gentlemen took a deep interest, sacrificing much freedom on other measures in order to maintain the necessary support for the success of this eight-hour bill.

Representative Griswold, whose legislative ability is pretty well known throughout the State, collected some very convincing data, which he brought to bear, not only in the House, but the Senate, as well. Further than this, his influence was extended to Governor Woodruff, and was assured by that honorable gentleman that the bill would receive his signature.

In the Senate the merits of the bill were expounded by the able Senators Judson, of Stratford; Donnelly, of Bridgeport, and Atwater, of Meriden. These gentlemen, as well as all those who supported the measure, have won the everlasting gratitude of the telegraph fraternity of the State, and we mean to remember them whenever the opportunity is presented.

HOURLY PAY.

I have read so much about the eight-hour day and $75 minimum in the two years I have been a member of the Order that I am heartily tired of reading it. Why can't we wake up and do something besides talk? We ourselves are to blame for receiving only about half as much as a freight fireman. Switchmen are paid at the rate of thirty-three cents an hour. In a conversation with one of these switchmen a short time ago he said he did not believe in working himself to death, that he always lays off ten or twelve days in every month and only draws $80 or $85 per. At the present rate of pay we are receiving if any telegrapher would lay off ten days every month he would have to go on one meal a day and sleep under some one's porch at night. The time for us to remedy our present conditions is now. We are finely organized and have the national nine-hour law in our favor. I don't think it necessary for a vote of all members to be taken in order to find out what we want. This matter has been threshed out long enough. What I would suggest is this, to go into effect January 1, 1908:

1. To be paid at the rate of thirty cents per hour (except Sundays).
2. All Sunday work to be paid for at over-time rates, or sixty cents per hour.
3. Telegraphers held on duty during meal hours to be paid one hour's overtime pro rata.
4. Extra compensation for telegraphers who are required to handle interlockers, switches, pumps, crossing gates, etc.

Double pay on Sunday is something which very few roads have, although it is only just. Even double pay is a very poor compensation when one is compelled to sit in a dingy office all that day, deprived of the privilege of going to church or to some place of recreation or amusement.

Many operators seem to think that with our coming eight-hour day we had not ought to ask for meal-hour overtime. Why not? Don't factory workers, stenographers, and, in fact, all other working people who work from seven to nine hours per day have at least an hour at noon? In case their employers were so busy that they insisted upon their working this meal hour I am very sure they would pay them for it without any complaint whatever. As I have said before, the time for us to act is now. I would suggest that the officers of the O. R. T. instruct the committees of all scheduled roads to demand what we have coming to us, to go into effect January 1, 1908. This thirty cents per hour, with Sunday overtime, is not unreasonable, and we will get it if we only insist upon having it.

Before my pipe goes out I must say a few words in regard to the nine-hour law which we are supposed to have, beginning March 4, 1908. As the railroad companies are fighting the State eight-hour laws, so will they fight the national nine-hour law. If we allow the companies to beat us out of our eight-hour day we certainly are the biggest lot of fools that ever existed, and should deserve no sympathy whatever. All that is necessary for us to do is to inform the companies, very plainly, that unless they come down with the necessary on March 4, 1908, we will walk out and stay out, then they will very soon be able to get plenty of operators.

Would like to hear from some of the boys in regard to this thirty cents per hour, with Sunday overtime.

If Bro. Quick's blue pencil is not sharpened and this gets in print I will come again.
CERT. 763, Div. 2.

THE SURER WAY TO SUCCESS.

Much is being written about the eight-hour day and $75 per month minimum. To my way of thinking, this is all wrong. Time and money thrown away. Instead of getting at the cause of the trouble, and applying the remedy to that, we are only kicking and doing nothing to help ourselves, nor any one else, except the railroad companies, by doing more work for less pay.

Now brothers, organization, it seems to me, to be the foundation of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers. According to the records I have in my possession nothing has ever helped the agent-operator and operator like the O. R. T., and should we build a solid foundation by eliminating the "non" by making him a member, we would have that foundation complete, but it would require constant watching, as do other foundations of other things, and repaired when needed.

Let us be up and doing. Don't sit at your table, in your eight by ten shack, thinking and dreaming of the future when the eight hours will constitute a day's work, and our checks will be marked by a seven and a five, with dollars behind that. Think of the present, and how are we to get this. That non over in the next shack is a stumbling block, get him out of the way, write him a friendly note, explain to him what you want, what he needs, be friendly with him, and, nine times out of ten, you will add another solid stone to the foundation of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

Don't get your pen and write a column or two with plans to eliminate it, every time you run up against a new grievance or wrong heaped upon you. These are read with interest by the officials. No need to tell them how weak you and your Order are on his line. He judges from your articles how much more imposition you will stand, and does accordingly, and when your committee goes before him, he already knows what your grievances are, and you have furnished him plenty of excuses to continue to impose on you by suggesting remedies in your articles, perhaps written months before.

Your committee returns with no schedule or one very unsatisfactory and you blame the committee and Order for not helping you out, when you were the one that tied the hands of the committee by your brilliant articles written some time before.

Brothers, brush the cobwebs from your brain, look into the future. Does your future look encouraging? Does the "eight hours and $75 minimum" appear any nearer than it did last year? If not, why not? Could you not assist in building the foundation of your Order on which you are depending for relief, or will you sit and tear down this foundation already builded by refusing to send in your remittances, and allowing the students free access to your office and key? Think you not that the "nons" are not watching the bearer of the wreath and sounder?

That non over in the next "shack," what have you done to get him to come into the Order beyond "cuss" him because he does not understand where it would benefit him or you?

Brains has brought the world to its present civilization. Could it not bring the O. R. T. to the highest standard of perfection, were they employed in the right direction? Would a battle ever be won if the privates should attempt to direct, or complain that they could not do anything, setting forth their grievances in whining tones, instead of, like men, fighting for the right?

In the ranks of the O. R. T. there are brains, in the officials there are brains equal to any that the world has, but they, like the general, must depend on the privates to carry out instructions, get recruits and fight the battles, and if we do not stick to our officials, and get the required number of recruits enlisted in our ranks, how are we to ever accomplish anything, or to win a battle?

Brothers, be up and doing, recruits are on every hand, ready to join in this great struggle for the right, the enlisting officers have and are doing all they can, but you are privileged to assist, not by airing your grievances, thereby showing your weakness, but by enlisting in the ranks the recruits that are daily talking and working with you. Will you take the field and quit waiting for the other fellows? Many of the operators are already doing this, are you?

The future is before us, we can build up a solid foundation for our organization, and through this solid foundation adjust all our grievances. Will you assist in this or must we, like the slave of old, continue to do the Master's bidding, regardless of the right or wrong, and meekly submit to every petty official cutting our salary, "to cut expenses?"

The time has arrived for your plans to be put in operation, but they, like the foundation, discard them, and build up the only hope of the operator, the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, and by doing this you will eliminate your personal grievances, and other grievances that you are thinking of. Don't let the trouble overshadow the remedy. Clear your brain and search for the remedy, "There is a balm for every evil," and, brothers, ours is organization.

CERT. 91, DIV. 59.

CANADIAN MEMBERS, GET BUSY.

If the nine-hour law for United States telegraphers takes effect March 4, 1908, why should not the same privilege be granted to us in Canada?

Every month I read the different correspondents of THE TELEGRAPHER without missing a single article, although I notice that they all concern telegraphers of the United States, while in my opinion there should be one or two pages of our journal filled by some of our boys in Canada.

Why not brace up, and show our colleagues that we belong to the same continent they do.

The telling to a friend of your town that you have to work long hours for a small pay will never better your position. Your duty is to suggest a nine-hour law and a $75 minimum through the columns of THE TELEGRAPHER, and fight for it until such time as it becomes illegal to work more than nine hours a day for less than $75 a month. Would like to hear from others concerning this subject.

"QO," CERT. 715, DIV. 7.

MORE ABOUT GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS.

I am opposed to government ownership of railroads, but would welcome public ownership. Government ownership and control of railroads while the government is in the hands of professional politicians who hold their office by virtue of their loyalty to the capitalist interests of the country is not a thing to be desired. It might be a nice thing for the large shippers and bondholders, but I am unable to see just where it would benefit the thousands of men who work for the railroads. Experience has taught me that the government (political party in power) has very little use for the working class, except during campaign, which fact was evinced at the national conventions of both the Democratic and Republican parties and corroborated by their platforms. To use the words of the American Industries, the official organ of the Manufacturers' Association, "that two labor lobbies, partly similar in makeup, were, to put it bluntly, thrown out bodily in both places." The grand convention hall at St. Louis was packed with corporation lobbyists and professional politicians and two thousand choice seats were reserved for the "Business Men's League," an organization hostile to organized labor, but there was no room for the men who worked in the mine and mill, the farm or the railroad. To place the railroads in the hands of such a government where one man by virtue of his millions has more power in shaping legislation than ten thousand honest workmen, would be folly. But when working men will lay away their partisan prejudices and become class conscious enough to unite upon the political field, to gather the workers of factory and field, railroad and mine under one banner; get control of the functions of government, provide for the election by popular vote of Senators, Federal Judges, postmasters and all officers who are authorized to employ labor, then ownership of railroads under such a government would be public ownership and would benefit the men necessarily instrumental in their operation.

CERT. 455, Div. 32.

MORE ABOUT $75 MINIMUM.

This is my first attempt as a writer, but I think the time is at hand when we should all take an interest in the journal. There are just a few words I wish to say regarding the $75 minimum.

The public is just beginning to realize what a telegrapher amounts to and what a panic it would throw the country in providing every man would say no more work for me until we are paid what is right.

The commercial telegraphers are starting the ball rolling as if they mean business and I do not see why it is not time for us to do the same if we ever expect to get anything for our long hours and hard work. We are certainly sure we can get nothing from any railroad that we don't ask for and then put up a good fight for it.

With the nine-hour law which goes into effect March 1st, and a $75 minimum we could begin to feel as if we were alive and were recognized as human beings. But as it is now we do not get any more than a common section hand according to the number of hours they work.

The way the cost of living is at the present time it will run in our next month pay nearly every time to straighten up on pay day.

Every man should put his shoulder to the wheel and make the railroads understand that we are getting to that stage of the game where we have got to be recognized men instead of beasts of burden.

The Order of Railroad Telegraphers can claim at least three-fourths of the railroad telegraphers as members. What would the others do in running the railroads of the country to-day providing we quit work all at once? It would mean a general tie-up for all roads and effect the business of the country more to-day than any other class of workmen.

The companies could not rush in a bunch of green men and have them go ahead with the work in a couple of weeks, as they do in most every other branch of business.

Every one stick and we are sure to come out on top in the end. "RN."

AN EIGHT-HOUR WORKDAY.

It is not necessary to dwell on the twelve-hour work-day for telegraphers, as any ordinary minded man can see at a glance that of all people in any town to take advantage of social functions, that the railroad man is the last one. Why? because after he has worked his twelve hours it is seven o'clock p. m., or vice versa; he then drills home, tired, and by the time he could get ready to go, it is eight o'clock—well, most things are fairly begun by that time. No one will want to get there after all others are there ahead, so he will stay at home, read a little, and then seek repose, so he will be fit to attend to the arduous duties next day. This is no exception, but is the rule; seven days per week, twelve hours per day, or eighty-four hours per week. Now, it is up to any one to show me any other skilled laborer who works that length of time for one week. Here we are doing what no other class of skilled workmen will do; and what is more, we are doing it for about half, or even less, money than other crafts are doing in two-thirds of this time.

It is now time that we act instead of talk. The national nine-hour law will have taken effect March 4, 1908, unless it is set aside by the Interstate Commerce Commission, on the plea from the railroads that they can not secure sufficient men to manipulate the keys.

Now, are we going to sit still and see this law set aside, when we can prevent it? Do you want to be set aside with it and continue to work twelve hours, when, by a stiff backbone and upper lip, we can have the good things that are now due us?

Now is the time to awake from our trance and tell our General Chairman how we stand and what they can expect from us. What we should do is for every road in this country to walk out on March 4th, next, and tie things up until we are recognized. What we want is an eight-hour work-day, at $75 minimum; and if we as a body will only demand it, and stand by our demands, we will be working under an entirely different system this time next year. It is ours for the asking.

Another thing that we should see to, is that our treasury holds adequate funds to carry us through in case of any trouble, and if we should each donate $5 to this cause, our treasury would have at least $200,000 for this cause, and we would not miss the money. We should get ready to withstand a severe test, if necessary, and then go in to win. Our motto should be "Determination," and nothing should hold us back.

Will now let some other brother have the floor and let him give us his views, as the time to act is here. CERT. 112, DIV. 91.

THIRTY-FIVE CENTS PER HOUR.

We see much about the nine-hour law of late, also the $75 minimum. Don't you know, my dear brothers, we will grow old and gray waiting for this to be threshed out in the courts? The railroads are going to try every way possible to get around this law, and will do so, if it takes ten years to do it, and at the same time cost our Order a large sum of money to fight for this law.

There is no one concerned in this matter but us, and before we know it, the railroads will have men in Congress knocking this law higher than a kite, if we don't keep men a moving to look out for it, and it is going to take a bunch of them, too.

So, why not save all this expense and worry by just getting together (all roads west of Chicago) and say, "Mr. Railroad, keep your nine-hour law; we want 35 cents an hour, or we will quit!" Why not do the job up right while we are at it, then it will not have to be fought for in every Congress for the next twenty-five years.

The brothers at the one-man stations would feel more like they were walking out for their own benefit also, if we have it to do.

Let us hear from a more competent source on this subject.

If this does not cause a "brain-storm," I may come again.

V. G. FOSTER, CERT. 1,174, DIV. 32.

TIME TO DO SOMETHING.

Brothers and sisters, attention! I want every brother and sister to listen to what I have to say: Don't you know it is time we were doing something? Well, yes. Well, what are you doing? There is one subject we must settle at once and every one must give it their undivided attention. I refer to the nine-hour law, which goes into effect March 4 next. What are we going to do about it? Are we going to sit around with our hands in our pockets and let somebody else do something?

Brothers and sisters, for the love of home and heaven, get busy for this one time. Get out your little piece of paper and write our honorable president and our worthy editor and make them fill the pages of our next journal plumb full of this one subject and nothing else. We must have a wage scale in effect before this law goes in effect, and we must have it on an hourly basis, if we ever expect to get nine hours or eight hours, even if it is a law. Does not common sense tell you that the railroads are going to have the law postponed, if possible, as long as they pay a monthly wage? And don't common sense tell you they are not going to worry themselves over it if they are paying an hourly wage? At so much per hour it will make no difference to the railroads if they have one man or a dozen, the payroll is the same, but on a monthly basis the more men they employ the more the payroll, and for that reason alone they will fight the nine-hour law, and keep it from being put into effect, if possible.

Now, let us take this matter up at once and see it to a finish. Let us get up a schedule of thirty cents per hour minimum, and with time and a half for overtime over eight hours, and let us have all committees on all railroads in the United States present this schedule to their officials, not later than January 1, 1908, and then let us stay by it and have it effective not later than March 4, 1908. Do you "13" me? Now get busy everybody, if you never did before in your life. Get busy this one time, and get your paper and pen right now and write our president and editor, and tell them this is what you want and what you will stick to, and keep right on and insist on something being done till something is done. Now, everybody work and work hard till something is done, and we have pushed the old machine out of the rut (of $55 per) we are in. Will you do it? or are you going to sit by and see this and that discussed pro and con and nothing ever done? Do wake up now and do something, it will only take a small part of your time and will put dollars in your pocket. Will you do it?

You don't want your already meagre salary cut in half when the new law goes into effect, do you? And you want eight hours next March, don't you? Well, then, what are you going to do to help get it? Are you going to do your share? Do your part now, and success will assuredly be ours. It means better conditions and better working hours and living wages. Now let us all make a strong effort and at once, our time is short, so we must act quickly.

I thank Bro. Cert. —, Grand Division, and Bro. Cert. 718, Division 59, for their answers to mine in the July TELEGRAPHER, and I hope others will see this thing clearly and give us their ideas at once.

CERT. 409, DIV. 33.

CUMBERLAND & PENNSYLVANIA RY.

I will dedicate this article to the nons of this end, and hope that they may be benefited by it. I will commence by defining the word non as I see it. A non is a thing. I will not say man, who does not hesitate to accept charity from his fellow union workmen, who says, either, "I have no money to join the union," or "I do not believe in unions." The first excuse is bad enough, but for the person who makes it there is still hope. The man who uses the second is a curse among his fellow-workmen, and the quicker he gets work elsewhere the better it is for the honest laboring man.

We have several nons on this end who are nons because they have not been working long enough to become our brothers, and I am sure that not one of the brothers has anything against them.

Our hard feelings are for the men who have been working side by side with us for years, who have received, with us, all the good things that our Order has given to all telegraphers, and have given nothing for its support. We also have several backsliders, men who were good union men two years ago, and who are now classed with the nons. Brothers, let us show these backsliders the full meaning of the motto of our Order, "No card, no favors."

B. & O. DIV. 33, CERT. 1272.

"ENOUGH SAID, LET'S GET BUSY."

I have been a silent member in the past, but have been a worker. There has been a great deal said in our TELEGRAPHER about the $75 minimum and eight hours. Yes, that would be a great thing, but, in my estimation, it would only be a point from which to work to obtain greater things.

Brothers and sisters, stop a moment and think. There is the engineer, the brakeman and the conductor, each drawing a salary double, or nearly so, to what the telegrapher does.

To be a telegraph operator one has to have at least a fair education, which is not required in many of the other branches. Then why do we work for such poor wages? It is simply because there is a great lack of action among us.

Let us get busy and act, work for ourselves and the Order. Get after the nons and bring them into our noble organization. Every little bit helps, and don't let some one else do that little bit when you can do it with the least inconvenience to yourself.

I am in favor of a general vote on the demand for $75 or more and eight hours, and as our brother, Cert. 177, Div. 52, in the August TELEGRAPHER, says, let every brother and sister in the United States, Canada and Mexico be notified by circular letter that on the first day of March, 1908, that we, the railroad telegraphers of the United States, Canada and Mexico (also ask the nons to join us) will make a stand for an eight-hour day and $75 minimum or MORE.

If this is not granted, why, our only salvation is a general walk-out. If there is any class of skilled labor that is in need of a better working scale and more money, it is the railroad telegrapher.

If this finds its way into our TELEGRAPHER I will try and come again, if not, I will still be an earnest worker and shout for eight hours and $75 or more.

If we make a stand, boys, it must be general and I feel sure that we will win, as our cause is just.

I will now make a noise like a clam and close.

CERT. 897, Div. 8.

TIME TO WAKE UP.

Why do you slumber while the harvest is waiting? Why do the telegraphers continue to sleep, oblivious to every thing, even their own sacred rights and interests? save only that they must eke out an existence, and are content to accept just whatever corporations see fit to lavish on us? This is the condition now existing, and has existed since the time telegraphy was first invented. Ours is one of the highest and most responsible callings of all skilled labor, and it is ours to dictate, not to be dictated to. It is ours to command our own wages, not to accept, with a gracious bow, what the corporations see fit to give us for our service.

Do we not hold the very pulse of the entire world at our finger tips? And if we one and all refuse to tip our fingers, what is the remedy? What can we do? Have you stopped to consider this most important question? Stop now, brothers, for one moment and think what you hold in your grasp, and how cheaply you have been holding it! I know that the telegraphers, as a class, are reasonably fair-minded men, and will not take undue advantage of the power they hold. They have been too fair minded for their own good. They have been fair in their dealings with their employers and have been dishonest with themselves. Yes, they have actually robbed their own families of the necessities of life in order to be fair with their employers. They have continued toiling and slaving, wearing out their youth and strength working long hours, only to swell the funds of the already rich corporations, only to wind up in a few years as old men, completely broken down by the ever nerve-racking strain. Old and worn out, when really they should be in the prime of life. This has been the life of the telegraphers in general. How long will these conditions exist? How long are you going to let them exist?

Brothers, the answer is with you! The remedy is with you! It has been held out to you continuously for over twenty years. The O. R. T. "Are the telegraphers a progressive class?" Present conditions point decidedly to the negative. Again, I say it is time to wake up and review the situation. A very few seem to be alive to the fact that they still have something to work for, but it is time for the whole telegraph world to wake up to a realization of the actual conditions that are bearing so forcibly upon us. Not only wake up, but apply the remedy that will, in a measure, rectify what criminal negligence and indifference has brought upon us. Criminal? Yes, inasmuch as it has caused innocent women and children to want for the actual necessities of life. The O. R. T. and thorough organization is the only remedy for this evil, but so long as the members are content, each one to let the other fellow do the thinking, solicit the nons, attend the meetings, make new agreements with the general manager, and show a general lack of interest in what should interest them most of all, what else can you expect? What do you expect the corporations to do? Certainly you do not expect them to force you to accept a generous yearly increase in wages. Now is the time to wake up and be alive to the situation. Let every member of the O. R. T. appoint himself a committee of one, to further our interests, to help complete thorough organization. Then when March 4th rolls around, regardless of what action the Interstate Commerce Commission or the National Congress takes in regard to the nine-hour law, we will be in a position to bravely step to the front and say what we are going to do, that we have been dictated to long enough, and now intend to have something to say in regard to the fruits of our labor. Let this be made one grand concentrated move for eight hours and a $75 minimum east of the Mississippi, and an $80 minimum west.

There is no reason why this can not be done if the move is properly carried on. It is useless for one road at a time to try such a move as this, but let the O. R. T. come to the front in one solid mass, backing up the demand from the sunny borders of Central America to the cold, frozen haunts of the Polar bear. Then victory is ours. "Ask and it shall be given." But if we haven't the nerve to ask, and to back up our demands, we deserve nothing, and, in turn, will receive nothing.

While I am not exactly an "old timer," still I have been here long enough to realize clearly just what it means to be tied down from twelve to twenty-four hours, and, sometimes, even forty-eight hours at a stretch, year in and year out. I realize that it is up to us to act, and act now, and not to depend too much on legislation to right our wrongs. There are too many loopholes, too many private individuals, and too many corporations with their unclean money having laws enacted to suit their own special interests, for us to take any chances on "what might happen," but let us make the happening an assured reality.

Let March 4th be the date for this demand to be made, and if not granted, let every operator in Canada, Mexico and the good old U. S. A. walk out. They would come to terms in less than twenty-four hours, for this would not simply tie up one little road, where they might be able to get enough scabs to half-way operate a few trains, but it would tie up the whole continent, and those who are not members would realize that we would win in the end, so would come out with us. Understand that I am not in favor of strikes so long as there is any other satisfactory means of adjusting our grievances.

But this grievance is of such long standing that nothing but drastic means is going to accomplish our aim. This is the only way the goal is to be taken, so let us be ready for the fight when the time comes. This is my honest, candid version of the situation, and I trust that it will be favorably received by the majority of our craft.

Let a vote be taken and see where we stand. A combined effort is sure to win, so let this and the eight-hour day and $75 minimum be our watch-word, with the maximum not yet in sight.

W. L. MILLER, CERT. 314, DIV. 40.

SHOULD LEVY A $50 ASSESSMENT.

In the different articles appearing in our journal regarding the eight-hour day, and the $75 minimum, or walk out on March 1, 1908, we notice that the brothers, to date, have made no suggestion as to how we are going to get the funds to back us in this struggle. We are aware of the fact that we should have a very large fund to make this fight with, and would like to suggest that a special assessment be made of $50 on each member, to be paid in monthly payments. The last payment to be made not later than February 1, 1908. If the railroads should grant our request without a strike the money to be refunded. Now, what do you say to this, you brothers that have been "popping" off for some time? We can run a locomotive with steam, but must have fuel to keep the steam up.

Each member is requested to carefully consider this and express his views on the question.

FROM A LADY MEMBER.

I have been reading with great interest articles from different brothers, in the July and August numbers of THE TELEGRAPHER, and although I feel there is not much left to say, I just want to let you know that I am with you for the $75 minimum, or thirty cents per hour, which is better, and we will have to get to work and work hard if we get it by March 4, 1908.

I fear that the great trouble with most of us is, we think and talk too much about this question without acting.

I read THE RAILROAD TELEGRAPHER long before I was old enough to join, and wished then that I could help the boys, and I only waited until I had been a telegrapher the required length of time, before I became a member, and although I am only a girl, and not a very big one at that, every little helps, and I am willing to do my share.

Surely, we are not working against the railroad companies when we demand justice, everyone certainly has a right to work for the interests of himself and his family, the railroad company can not but acknowledge that.

The very best men the companies have, and those who are always ready to render them the best of service, are members of the O. R. T., and we can insure them better men and better service with shorter hours and better wages. But, as Cert. 718, Div. 59, says, the railroads are not going to offer it to us, we have got to go after it.

This $75 minimum has been talked of for years, and I fear will only be talked of for several years to come, unless we all get together and act.

If you know of any nons along the line don't let them rest until you have convinced them that it is to their interests to come with us. If they are not willing to come in and help support the Order, they should not be willing to accept the benefits derived from the Order. We could do so much more if we were solid, and I hope it will not be long before we are so.

Well, brothers and sisters, I have said more than I had really intended when I started, so I had better quit and make room for some one who is better at writing than I am.

CERT. 222, DIV. 21.

THIRTY CENTS PER HOUR.

I want to express my opinion in this matter of more money. I believe every one that is required to do any telegraphing at all should have 30 cents an hour for every hour that he is on duty. I am an agent, and I know that we earn that, and we should have it, and there should be an article in the schedule that we sign that there shall be no United States mail or pumps to look after, or handle in any way, as one of our brothers in the August magazine says: Why make dray mules of ourselves. If we want to do that we should go into some other line of business, and be dressed for it, and not spoil a good suit of clothes every day or so. That work does not come in our line, and they would not want us to do it if they were not making a good thing out of it. We are taking care of the most important part of the railroad work; handling their trains, passengers, freight and money, and we should have pay for our work accordingly. Look at the section foremen getting from $60 to $75 per month. What is the use of our knowing anything if we do not make some use of it for our own benefit? I think as Cert. No. 279, in the August journal does, that the hourly pay is the best solution of the question, and nothing less than 30 cents. Have a committee from every road meet, whether scheduled or not. Formulate a scale for all. Cut out the United States mail, pumps, and all such work, and notify all railroads that on a certain date we will all leave our work unless we are granted what we ask in every respect, and stay out until we receive word that all is O. K.

SHOULD DEMAND RIGHTS.

What sweet dreams we are having about the short hours and the enormous quantity of "long green" that will come our way after March 4, 1908. Dreams that will come true when every telegrapher makes it his law not to work more than eight hours, and not for less than $75, and not before. Railroads have never been accused of being of a charitable disposition, so why should they comply with any such laws, when their men are holding down the bench in courts all over this "free" country of ours, men that are paid to tie such cases up in courts, or give decisions favorable to their employer (trust). But, brothers, we can make a few laws of our own, laws that will give us some of our rights, rights that have been denied us so long that lots of our best men have passed the day that they can ever hope to enjoy them. We can never hope to win this grand stroke towards freedom without the power of our entire force, and the best way to get that power working is to shower our views into the president so thick that he can see we mean business, and then we can look for "doings."

I am strongly in favor of a general movement, take them all at once and they can't give us the old, wornout gag about paying more than neighboring roads. And I think anyone that will read the August number of our journal will be convinced that the members of this organization want to make a general stand for eight hours and a living salary. Why not give us a vote on it? Some of the members suggest that each one write personally to the president, but there would be a great number that would never think of doing such a thing, so I think the best way to get everyone's views on the question is to leave it to a vote.

Just a word about the $75 minimum. There certainly is not a telegrapher in the United States that don't earn that much, but there's not a man in the West that don't earn a great deal more. A section foreman here gets his $3 per day, and overtime if he works; a brakeman gets $94.60, overtime at the rate of 38 cents per hour, some of them making as high as $160 in a month; freight conductors receive $119 and 48 cents an hour overtime, while passenger conductors get $150. Now, how does $75 show up with those figures? I am in favor of the hour basis, but make it 40 cents in this country. Forty cents per hour, eight hours per day, and thirty days per month only makes $96, a brakeman's pay. Are we worth as much to the company as a brakeman? I think so. CERT. 1798, Div. 53.

THE ONLY WAY.

I notice in the August issue of THE TELEGRAPHER Cert. 103, Division 95, seems to have hit the nail on the head about the eight-hour day and $75 minimum, especially should this be effective with the agent-telegraphers, and the "one-man jobs." And this great move, in my opinion, should begin at once, direct from our officials in authority in St. Louis. Let us all look to them with our shoulder to the wheel, and whatever they do will be satisfactory to us, and we will abide by their decision. They can send their notices to all railway officials, by registered mail, some time last of December, so as to give them at least sixty days' notice, and if it failed, Bro. Perham could do like the commercial men did, issue a general call; but I think the latter would be a "thing of the past," as railway officials know we earn it, and know by a general call of this kind that we mean business.

I forgot to say that in the notice we should, under all circumstances, mention the mail-bag, and take it off of the agent-telegraphers. And the bond question should be taken up; contract or no contract; schedules or no schedules; let this come to pass first, then we all would be on an equal footing, and could get what we could afterwards through our local committee. Then nothing but union men could get employment. We are strong enough to demand it universally, and we deserve it, and March 1, 1908, is the time to take it.

OLD VIRGINIA.

THE EIGHT-HOUR DAY AND $75 MINIMUM.

Still we write and talk about the eight-hour day and $75 minimum through the pages of THE RAILROAD TELEGRAPHER. We see letter after letter dealing with this matter, and we are of the opinion that sufficient has been said, and our next move should be to act. It is a well-known fact that every telegrapher in the United States is in favor of an eight-hour day and $75, and is anxiously waiting the time when this matter will be taken up by our grand officers asking for a vote on the subject. Thousands have been talking and dreaming of the eight-hour-day March 4, 1908, but there are many who are of the opinion that the new national nine-hour law will not benefit us as much as was first supposed, and, therefore, we are in favor of taking the matter in our own hands, making a stand for the eight-hour day and $75. We would like a vote taken on this important matter, and believe that the returns would be a tidal wave in favor of this move.

We do not believe that the new national nine-hour law will put us on an eight-hour basis March 4, 1908. We are of the opinion that the various railroads will find some means of putting us off by having the law declared unconstitutional, or fight it in some way, as is now being done by railroads in the State of Missouri over the eight-hour law. Even if the railroads obey the nine-hour law, how do we know that this will mean eight hours? Can they not work us the full nine hours and chain-gang the men making them take their turn as it comes, which will mean that the telegraphers will be going on and coming off duty at all hours in night and day, just as their turns come, and this will make it worse than a full twelve-hour-day. There are many tactics that will be resorted to by the railroad companies to make things unpleasant for us regarding the new nine-hour-law, besides this, there is a proviso in the bill that makes it almost worthless to day men where there is no night office, because then these men will have to work the same old long day of twelve hours, and, perhaps, thirteen, and sometimes more, but if we don't depend upon the law, and take things in our own hands, and demand the eight-hour-day, we will then know that we will get it, and there will be no provisos and other things in our bill to make things of no benefit to hundreds, but will effect all alike. But take it for granted we get eight hours, will our salaries go any higher? Certainly not, but the railroad will set about to reduce the wages proportionately when the eight-hour law takes effect; therefore, brothers, we feel that the matter should be taken in our own hands, and a demand made for the eight-hour day and $75 minimum. This is not a time to sit still and allow ourselves to drift along.

March 4, 1908, will be a turning point in the lives of the railroad telegraphers, and the turn will be win all or lose all; just as we desire. Now is the time to act, and it is hoped that every telegrapher will wake up and take some interest, and help things along toward the betterment of our condition. How long will the telegraphers sit still and allow every other class of workmen to get ahead of them in the matter of better wages and shorter hours? What other class of men have upon their shoulders responsibility equal to that of the telegrapher? Who is it that holds the lives of the traveling public in his hands? The telegrapher, of course. This has been proven and the world is being educated up to this fact. The findings of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in recent investigations of railroad accidents, such as the terrible disaster that occurred on the Southern Railway last winter, in which President Spencer and his party lost their lives, goes to show that it is the telegrapher who has to shoulder the responsibility for the safety of the traveling public. Twelve hours every day and Sunday, too, is too much for a man to work. He is not a machine, and any man who keeps this life up twelve hours every day in the year, without rest or recreation, is not responsible for accidents. The telegrapher, under past conditions, has done remarkably well to keep down the railroad wrecks, and it is a wonder that there has not been more accidents due to the fact that telegraphers have been over-worked as well as underpaid, and as long as such conditions exist, we will have accidents, but when the telegrapher is given decent working hours and paid living wages, the world will see accidents decreasing, and not until then can the traveling public ride over the railroads in safety.

Bro. Perham is with us. Bro. Quick is with us, and the public, at last, have come to our rescue, after it has been demonstrated to them that it is to their interest to have good, competent telegraphers, because, when on trains, their lives are at stake.

Let us storm headquarters at St. Louis with letters and petitions, putting this matter of an eight-hour day and $75 minimum up to our president. Like the telegraphers stormed Congress in behalf of the eight-hour bill, and there will be nothing left for our president to do but start the ball rolling.

Will you read this and pass it by, and depend upon things to shape themselves, or will you take the stand with me for the eight-hour day and $75 minimum, to take effect January 1, 1908?

All in favor of this move start your messages, letters or petitions to Bro. Perham, asking that he take up this fight for us. Our president can't act unless we request him to do so. He don't know our wishes, but if we all come to him in a body and urge him to act for us I am of the opinion that he will do so. I would like to hear from some of the brothers next month through the pages of the journal. May you wake up and not pass this by unheeded, as our future depends upon your action.

I do not say that my ideas are correct. I may be wrong, and will gladly take down the colors if any brother will show me, but I am willing to risk this stand, and, as time rolls gently on, we will see who is right and who is wrong.

UNITY OF ACTION.

In looking over the August TELEGRAPHER I am of the opinion that the subject taken up by Cert. 13 is the most important to us at the present day.

What would you think of a country having a standing army of 50,000 well-trained soldiers at war with another country sending one small regiment into the field at a time, say of about 300 men, and the balance of that vast army standing back and allowing those poor fellows to be slaughtered? Now, brothers, that's just what we are, and have been doing year after year. It's high time to adopt another plan by uniting our forces together and act as one large body. In that way we will be successful, but so long as we continue our present method, we will not have a chance to use our strength. During 1908 as early as March 1st, if possible, I would suggest that our president fix a date for all of the present, and to be revised schedules throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico, to terminate. That once done, then we can go ahead and do business. Then that old, everlasting excuse of the railroad officials, that other roads are not doing so and so, will be done away with, and they will be confronted with the full strength of our Order, which, so far, they haven't had the opportunity of seeing—then these old requests that have been turned down, year after year, will be granted. With what the State Legislatures and National Congress have done for us, and what we can do if this plan can be adopted, we can accomplish more in one year than we can do in ten under our present method. I am for a uniform wage and schedule to cover all the roads in North America, and that schedule to take effect as early as possible in 1908, as we are already nearly thoroughly organized, surely it shouldn't be a hard matter to adopt united action.

CERT. 183, Div. 8.

SHOULD LEVY MONTHLY ASSESSMENT.

I have just read Cert. 144, Div. 34's, views in August number of THE TELEGRAPHER, and they impress me as being one of the best suggestions by which we may reach our "goal," namely: the eight-hour work-day and $75 per month minimum, that I have seen in our journal.

It seems to me the wisest thing we can do is "in time of peace prepare for war," and as near as I can figure, we have from now until March 4, 1908, to prepare. Now the question arises: how are we to prepare? My idea is this: Let each and every member on every organized road in the United States, and Canada and Mexico, be assessed $1 each per month from now until next March, which would only mean $6 apiece, then let each division put one of their best up-to-date hustling members on the road and keep him there until every desirable non on each division is landed in the ranks of our noble Order, which, I think, could be done between now and next March.

Then, prior to March 4th, next, let each general committee on every organized road in the above-named territory prepare their grievance, and let that grievance be an eight-hour work day and $75 per month minimum, and simultaneously, on March 4th, present it to the management of each road, and I feel satisfied they will grant our demands, and if they don't, go out, and stay until they do come across. I have been out of the service twelve months mainly on account of long hours and poor pay, but I stand ready to meet any assessment our grand officers may see fit to impose to better our condition.

Now, brothers, let's get together and make this long-talked-of eight-hour day and $75 minimum not a dream, but a reality. Let's have the sentiment of the members and grand officers on this plan, and if they think it a good one, adopt it, and everybody get busy. This is my motion. Do I hear a second?

CERT. 13, DIV. 97.

GET BUSY.

While viewing the grand old journal for the month of July, we see the words that voices our heart's throb, and it is written by our esteemed brother, Cert. 1059, Division 53. If we are to have an eight-hour work day with the $75 minimum, it's only to be accomplished through our own efforts, and, in my opinion, as a whole, for, as the old adage has been recalled time and again through our mouth-piece, "our journal," "in unity there is strength." We have the strength, boys, and as our brother says, call them out all over the United States at the same time. That's the key-note, as we see it. Another thing that I wish to call your attention to is the telegraphing done for the Western Union, and also the Postal. We get the paltry sum of 10 per cent, which amounts to about $15 per month in towns of about 3,000, and yet, when they establish an up-town office in the towns that size, they are able to pay a salary of at least $50. Now, why is it that we can not get something nearer the proper commission? Deeper yet, let us go, and say that in our existence as an operator we have never seen an error card issued in favor of the managers. In fact, a credit error card. They don't manufacture them. If you think that you will have anything coming back to you, try it by remitting 25 cents over, and you will soon see that you are just out that amount. Did you ever fail to get a debit card for each month in the year? If you did, for goodness sake write me about it, for I am anxious to know when and how, and where they ever failed. Let us enter the political field, forgetting all political parties other than organized labor, and put out a man that is a true, noble, honorable and upright man, and ask the aid of our fellow workmen to place him in the highest position attainable, and we will surely attain our ambition, if organized labor will only lend us their support as they should. I think that the time is ripe for such a movement. Let us hear from you. Any office could be filled by one of our class, if we just had the back bone to make a rush for it. Of course, one class alone can't accomplish these things, but take us as a whole and we are strong. Let us consider the matter thoroughly, and ere the next election decide on a candidate that will work to the interest of labor, and be an honor, both to labor and to his country by trying to install "right" and justice to all, with favorites unknown. "Push."

DO IT TODAY.

I have just finished reading an article in the August TELEGRAPHER, written by Cert. 894, suggesting that we all vote for the $75 minimum and eight hours per day on all railroads. I am of the same opinion of this good brother, and think that his plan is about as good as we can adopt. Now, let's get busy, and put this before each and every one of our respective roads at the same time, and if they don't agree to give us our just demands, all go out, and stay out until they do agree. I don't think that would be very long, as it is impossible for them to operate their roads without us. We all want this increase, and to get it we will all have to act together and at the same time. It is useless to try this by going up one at a time; even if we did go up one at a time, it would be quite a long while before we could get this schedule on every road. But if we all go together, and make our wants known, and they should refuse to give us what we ask, we could all walk out, demor-alizing the whole railroad world. Of course, that would not last long, before the government would take a hand, and if they did I feel sure we would all get our just demands. We have got to do something, and do it pretty quick, too, or, as Cert. 894 says, we will all be going to some county poor farm before long. As provisions and other things are going up, we can hardly exist on such scant salary as we are now getting. For instance, I get $60 per month. There is, say, $15 house rent and at least $30 for groceries, you have $15 left out of the $60. Now, where can you buy your clothes and other things that are needed out of $15? That does not include wood or laundry bills, which is at least from $3 to $5 per month, and often you can't get it for that. By the time you include everything that is needed to live, or barely exist on, you have not even enough to buy a package of old Virginia cheroots to smoke after supper. I don't fancy that kind of cigars, so I have to do without, unless some friend is kind enough to offer me one, in which case I generally take 'em. I would like to hear from some other brother on this subject. I feel sure we will get our $75 minimum if we take this course of action. Let's get busy, and do this thing to-day (not tomorrow), for that might be too late. If this crosses Bro. Quick's wastebasket trestle, I might come again.

WATERMELLO PETE.

TRAIN DISPATCHER AND TELEGRAPHER.

Among all the different subjects discussed in our TELEGRAPHER, pro and con, I have never yet noticed anything pertaining to the responsibilities attached to the train dispatcher and the telegrapher. The point in view is, who shoulders the greatest amount of responsibility? I claim the telegrapher, where the block system is operated; you will all note at a glance that if the block telegraphers know their business it is impossible for the train dispatcher to make an error, and thereby cause a wreck through confliction of orders.

Brothers, have you ever given this matter any consideration? Why is it the telegrapher is considered the whole cheese?

Getting all the glory, honors, only eight-hour tricks, good salaries, and everything else within reach on the railroad. Where does the cheap telegrapher come in? Who does the blocking of the trains, and holds the lives of entire passenger trains in his hands? You never hear of him, only in case of an accident, or wreck, when he has allowed two trains to enter the block; then he receives his needings.

The telegrapher works twelve hours for a day, and every day in the year, 365 days, at stations where he holds the title of agent and telegrapher. His duties are too numerous to mention, and he is a busy man, as you all know. Please note the difference in conditions and surroundings of the train dispatcher and the telegrapher. The train dispatcher has a nice clean office to work in, only one wire to attend to, his salary ranges from $125 to $140 per month; the telegraph office, at some points, is not fit for a barn, and the section foreman's car-house is a parlor in comparison. He must work his block, and at some places has six or seven other wires to work on and watch, and his salary ranges from $45 to, say, $75 per month.

I do not wish to be understood that I believe a telegrapher should receive as much compensation as a train dispatcher, but I do believe the telegrapher is under-paid, and compelled to work too long hours. I also believe the block telegrapher shoulders the greatest amount of responsibilities of any servant in the train service.

We should have shorter hours, and our salaries can be increased considerably until we are up with other branches of the service.

OLD-TIMER,

Cert. 10, Div. 23.

UNITED ACTION.

I have been reading part of the journal all the time, but for the past year it is getting so it is all so near alike it is of but little interest to one that knows anything about the organization. Two-thirds of it is about the eight-hour day law and $75 minimum. That one subject has been harped upon until it is entirely worn out. I fully believe that most of it is written by new members with their first "card." If you will all read the items signed "Dynamiter," in August number, you will find there is more truth than poetry in every word of it, and if Mr. Perham will be guided by a few of this man's suggestions you will find there will be quite a change in the Order in a very short time, and until this step is taken just that long we will be running along in the same old rut.

Now, the only thing that I can see that will be beneficial to the Order is this: Every division in the United States to present a schedule to the officials of their respective roads on the same date (one that is satisfactory to each and every one interested), and at the same time notify the company that unless they allow the schedule there would be a call out all over the United States; and unless every road in the United States come across, call out all the boys. You know very well there is not enough "scabs" to have any influence on a general strike. Therefore, there would be no trouble in getting just what we asked for. Some one will say, "How can we do all of this at once?" Why, this way, have President Perham issue an order to every local chairman in the United States, and request him to make a complete canvass of his division and see just what is needed on his division. Then, after all of this is completed, turn it over to their general committee, and let them take the matter up with their respective railroad officials.

I would like to hear from some one else on this subject.

SAGE BRUSH.

"THE HARVEST IS WAITING."

For a long time I have read, and in several instances reread, the many items in our good old TELEGRAPHER, and except for keeping my dues paid up and looking after some nons, I have been only an onlooker, possibly like a great many more. The time was, however, when I used to do an occasional "write-up," but when the last two I contributed failed to find their way into THE TELEGRAPHER, I came to this conclusion, viz., that there was not room, that they were too eccentric, or that other writers contributed more worthy articles, and I decided to again take my turn as onlooker. No doubt, the last-named conclusion was the cause, as my ability in this line is none too great as you, brothers, can see, but to make a long story short, I can't sit still and be an onlooker all the time, but have come again to say that I wish to offer my approval of the many articles along the $75 minimum line, particularly that type of those in the present year's issues, akin to those headed, "Time to Push," "Eight Hours and $75," "Get Busy," "Thirty Cents Per Hour," and "Per Cent," which can be seen in July TELEGRAPHER, and still further to say that I do not only approve, but will give my loyal support to any movement to those ends. I, too, have a family to support and find it almost impossible to do so at present wages, and when I see my wife cutting out this and that little article from the requisition list (in order to live within our means), few to begin with, of the little things that she by right should enjoy, suffice it to say that it makes my heart burn with a something that seems to say, "Strike, strike, strike for liberty."

Now, brothers, some of you may have had just such feelings, and, while I do not wish to advocate anything but the best possible means to gain the greatest good, yet I say the time is far spent, our harvest is waiting the scythe, and right at our hand stands the virgin fields of golden grain, waiting, waiting, waiting. Yes, waiting to be harvested. Shall we stand idly by and behold the storms of time, beat, beat, beat down upon what should be ours, and raise nothing but a sad and bitter wail when our last hope has gone? I pray to God we shall not. Then, I say, awake from your slumbers and be up and doing. Get busy, let our worthy O. R. T. captain know that you are living, offer your support to the good cause by asking him to put down your name as a loyal supporter of the "thirty cents per hour and eight hours per day cause," or something of that sort, and that you will stand by it, win or lose, and you will soon see what will be doing.

Now, brothers, please don't put off, even till tomorrow, this important duty, but pick up your pad right now, write out your little say and mail it at once. The man who volunteers to fight is worth a dozen who are forced, so be a volunteer and make your own heart glad, because of a good thing you have done. The only time is now. Tomorrow may be too late.

In conclusion, I will say that I think it wise not to wait or depend on what any government might or might not do for us at any time. It is up to us to look strictly after our own affairs. We would like to hear "under cover" from Bro. Perham what, if anything, is doing or going to be done, or what is required.

CERT. 597, DIV. 1.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT.

The time is now ripe for all O. R. T. men and women to bestir themselves and do something for the common cause. Almost every other branch of organized labor is working but eight hours per day, and almost without exception they earn more money in eight hours than the overworked telegrapher can get in twelve (and sometimes fifteen or eighteen) hours that he is kept on duty by the railroad corporations whose servant he is.

The officials are beginning to realize what an important factor the telegrapher is in the operation of the railroads, and having at last been brought to a realization of this fact by catastrophies in which hundreds of the traveling public have lost their lives, and which has caused the enactment of eight-hour laws in several States, they are beginning to prepare for the future. As in the case of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which has established a telegraph school, and will, in the future, be prepared to furnish their system with telegraph operators made to order, and imbued with corporation sentiments, as no doubt these "proteges" will be.

Now, there are only two sides to this as far as we are concerned, capital and labor. Capital being on top, not because it is the largest, for there are many more thousands of workmen than capitalists, but, while the capitalist is possessed of an unlimited amount of nerve and backbone, or else is a first-class bluffer in that direction, the ordinary man working for wages is void of moral stamina. He is afraid to call the shirt on his back his own for fear some one will come along and dispute his claim to it. The railroad officials have for so many years been telling the telegrapher that he is of no consequence, that a great many of them have got to believing that to be a fact, and think that if they should happen to lose the "job" they now hold that they would never get another one, but would inevitably starve. Now, brothers and sisters, cut out all this rot and realize that you belong to one of the most important organizations in the wide world (our good old O. R. T.), and that this organization is not going to see you starve by any means. What we now want is an eight-hour day all over the United States and Canada. Next, each railroad must formulate its own respective schedule of wages, for we could not possibly get a universal minimum which would not be unfair to someone, and we do not want anything unfair in our business at all. A $75 minimum would be all right in the Eastern States, where living expenses are low, but in the Western States it is not to be thought of, as in most cases it would be a decrease, instead of an increase in salary. So, I suggest, let each system work up its own schedule, then let us all get in line and present them in a bunch on the 4th of next March, and we will not be disappointed. There will be nothing else to it, for the railroads will have to bow to the inevitable. We will have the sympathy of every American citizen outside of the railroad magnates, and should the Government be called upon to arbitrate, would be bound to decide in our favor, as they have already established the precedent of the eight-hour law, and no one will be against us except the railroad officials, and they will not be able to do anything. So now, with such backing, and knowing that we are in the right, what is to stop us from going ahead and getting what belongs to us? We have surely worked for it, we have earned the railroads thousands and hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly, and now we are entitled to have a small percentage of this money to revert to us in the shape of an increase in salary, and, what is more, we are going to get it.

Let every telegrapher who indorses my sentiments take this matter up, both with our president, and with their local chairman, and we will soon be having things moving our way. But, brothers and sisters, let there be no delay, for every month that we delay gives the railroads more chance to add to their forces against us, and thus make it harder for us to get what we are after. As individuals, let us act, and when every one is in, then we will act collectively, and we are bound to win out. We can not expect our president and other officials of the O. R. T. to do all the thinking for us, we are the ones being paid the low wages and working the long hours, so let us get up right now and have our individual say about this important matter. Let us act promptly and decisively, and when everyone is in line there will be no doubt of the outcome. Depend on it, there will be no strike.

St. Louis Division, No. 2.

The news has by this time undoubtedly penetrated to the furthestmost corners of the earth, that the commercial telegraphers of the United States are on a strike, although the St. Louis office was not the first to be called upon, the walk-out signal was obeyed by every member of the C. T. U. at the Postal office, with the exception of one, and but four members remained at work at the Western Union. There were, however, several telegraphers who were not members, who walked out with the union men, making the proportion of strikers about ninety-eight per cent. Those remaining are composed principally of petty chief, a few "dope fiends," and broken-down "has-beens."

The number of telegraphers in the Western Union main office, who may be termed "competent," do not exceed four. A few students have been secured, but it is well known that they are more of a hindrance than help. All branch offices have been closed, and such of the girls who could be induced to scab have been called to the main office. It must, however, be said of the lady telegraphers that they are as a rule faithful to the union, and if the result of the strike depends upon their steadfastness, victory for the telegraphers is a foregone conclusion.

The use of the Jefferson Club Hall has been tendered free of charge to the local, and rousing meetings are held nightly. These meetings have been very beneficial to the strikers, resulting in sustained enthusiasm on the part of the individual and serving to keep every one supplied with authentic information in regard to the progress of the battle.

Considerable musical and oratorical talent exists among the members, and their entertaining stunts are a pleasant feature of the meetings. Prominent citizens and officers of the various trades locals, who are affiliated with the Central Trades and Labor Council, have made addresses, in which moral and financial aid has been promised. These promises are being realized daily. Almost every union body in St. Louis has contributed to the strike fund, and a subscription list circulated among the business houses has met with handsome results.

One-half of the gate receipts of Manion's Park and Theater for the week ending August 24th was donated to the fund. Various other means have been used to strengthen the resources of the union, which precludes the possibility of financial embarrassment for some time to come.

The strikers are out to win, and are confident to a man that victory is theirs, the esprit de corps is all that could be desired, and the possibility of desertions is very remote. Only one case, so far, and that individual is not considered worth the while.

The part played by the members of Div. No. 2, O. R. T., in the local situation is by no means inconsiderable. Div. No. 2 has raised approximately $600 by the one dollar per man plan, which amount has been turned into the general fund. Our members have personally been of much assistance in encouraging the strikers to stand firm.

Bro. J. W. Burch, of our employment committee, has placed a considerable number of men on various railroads, where they propose to stay, pending a favorable settlement by the Commercial Companies.

Bro. L. W. Quick, our Grand Secretary and Treasurer, and Chief Telegrapher of Div. No. 2, leaped into the fray with characteristic liberality and enthusiasm. Their meetings are addressed by him nightly, and he is looked upon by the Commercial men as one of the guiding spirits of the movement.

The progress of the "Banner Local" continues undiminished. Sixty-five new members have been added to the roll as a result of the prize offer.

At the meeting of August 19th, delegates were named to the convention of the Missouri State Federation of Labor. Bros. L. W. Quick and J. W. Burch were elected delegates, and P. P. Malloy and T. A. Lane alternates.

Bro. J. W. LaFever, our genial Secretary, departs August 31 for Michigan resorts for two weeks' vacation.

Bro. C. A. Burton proposes to spend his vacation inspecting the mechanical and electrical exhibits at Jamestown.

Bro. J. C. McNairy selects Chicago as his place of recreation. THOMAS AGUINAS, Div. Cor.

Baltimore Division, No. 17.

It is with pleasure that we announce the excursion to Tolchester Beach a grand success. We are anxiously waiting to see just what amount we will clear from this project, and in order to hasten, will you please make returns of your tickets at once. Many of the brothers, with their families, availed themselves of this opportunity and spent a most enjoyable day down the bay; but for the benefit of those who could not go, as well as those that did, we are going to have a gala time at our regular meeting place Wednesday evening, October 16th, at 8 p. m. Come; there will be some invited guests. You will miss it if you stay at home. We expect not only to entertain you, but there will be refreshments, and the committee of arrangements of this jubilee may decide to let you bring your better half. How would you like to have a meeting once a year in which you might invite a friend. Don't all speak at once, but if you favor this project, let us hear from you. The committee on entertainment are anxious to please the greatest number of the membership.

On August 1st, "XN" Pencader, Delaware, which has been used as a day telegraph block office, was closed and a switchman placed there to throw the switches on the branch line that leads to Newark Centre.

The first trick at Perryman Tower has not been filled as yet. Understand there are several applicants for the job.

Mr. W. Lynch, of Baltimore, extra telegrapher, has bid in for second trick at North Point Tower. We have his promise to send in his application papers next month.

Bro. J. M. Witmer recently took unto himself a better half. We extend heartiest congratulations.

For the information of those who can not attend the meetings, we would advise that our several L. B. of A. are taking the necessary action to carry your grievances to the highest tribunal, and you can not give these brothers (Lair, Rupley, and their associates) too much credit for their efficient services.

Bro. Joseph M. Rollins, who has been working block at Bush River for twenty-six years, is seriously ill at his home at Edgewood.

Bro. F. W. Asher, who has been working second trick at Chase, has bid in the first trick at Perryman. Bro. Asher has successfully managed the Chase base ball team this year. The team has won ten out of the twelve games played so far.

Bro. James Rollins, first trick man at Edgewood had his finger broken several weeks ago while playing ball. Fortunately it was on his left hand, and did not cause him to lose any time.

A number of the boys have been called on to work twelve and sixteen hours frequently in the past month, on account of so many being off, and the supply of extra men being inadequate for the amount of extra work. MONTEBELLA.

Indianapolis Division, No. 27.

At the meeting held in Hotel English Sunday afternoon, August 25th, all but the Peoria division of the Vandalia system was represented. Quite a number from the St. Louis and I. & V. divisions were present, and Bro. Fishburn, from the Michigan division.

The proprietor of the Hotel English treated Division No. 27 with courtesy and would not charge us one cent for accommodations, all on account of Bro. Dermody, our smiling Fourth Vice-President, making that hotel his headquarters while in this city. It is the desire of this division that when any brother happens to find himself in Indianapolis, and desires good treatment, that he patronize the above hotel.

The boys at "SF" have the honor of working the first eight-hour tricks on the Vandalia system.

It was put into effect at 3 p. m. August 28th. Bro. Thompson working first trick, from 7 a. m. to 3 p. m., Bro. Weakley second trick, from 3 p. m. to 11 p. m., and Mr. Smith third trick, from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. Mr. Smith, "SM," does not carry a card, I am sorry to say, but he is good timber to work on, and think he will come around all right in a short time.

The eight-hour tricks will be put on as fast as they can get the men, so, boys, do all you can to assist them. If any telegrapher of good habits desires an eight-hour job, he should put in his application with Mr. E. L. Kraft, division operator, Union Station, Indianapolis, or Mr. E. A. Hallinin, D. O. and C. T. D., Terre Haute, Ind., stating age, where employed, by what road, and what kind of work you desire. I am almost sure you will receive a favorable reply.

The above is the result of the efforts of our General Committee, which met July 25th, drew up schedules and hours of service, and presented same to the different superintendents August 13th. They practically agreed upon all that was presented, and we hope to get all notified in regard to same in a few weeks.

Now, what have the sore-heads and enemies of the O. R. T. got to say; those who have shook their heads and shuddered every time the O. R. T. was mentioned and said "It never did any one any good and never will?" What brought the eight-hour tricks to the boys on the Vandalia system? What was it that caused them to say they would put on the third man as fast as they could, and that no salaries would be cut, and instead of being cut, will be increased along with the eight-hour shifts? Let them answer the questions. See if they don't admit that it was the O. R. T. that caused it. This ought to make the nons, that have been hanging back to see what we would do, wake up and fill out application blanks as fast as they can write. In fact, I believe it has had a good effect on some of them already, as I have received several applications in the last few days, and prospects of a good many more.

There are several who have not yet paid dues for the present term. Would like to have them in as soon as possible.

The boys of the Van. line seem to be pleased to think they were fortunate enough to secure the services of Bro. C. H. Wilson, of Smithboro, as our Local Chairman.

From the way our Local Chairman, Mr. Wilson, got down to work after he was appointed, would lead the majority of brothers to believe that he has filled this office before.

The General Committee met in St. Louis on July 25th, for the purpose of framing a schedule of rules and pay, which was presented to our general manager, Mr. McKeen, and was by him referred to Mr. Downing, our division superintendent, on August 13th. After the conference, our Local Chairman wired us the following message: "Will write you all by U. S. mail. We were treated right. Give good service." This message was the cause of several nons asking for application blanks. Although we do not expect all the nons to wake up, as there are some that will require an earthquake to wake them up.

Bro. Morrow relieved Bro. Wilson while the latter was in St. Louis.

Bro. G. H. Vest is relieving Bro. Morrow at Mulberry Grove.

Bro. T. A. Leiling, regular night man at Pierron, relieved Bro. Mitchell while the latter was away on his honeymoon.

We are sorry to learn that Bro. Caron, Greenville days, is again on the sick list.

Bro. G. W. Stone, of Medicine Bow, Wyo., an old Van. telegrapher, has been visiting near Smithboro for the past six weeks.

It seems as though some of our brothers are a little bit inclined to hang on to their students. Your attention is again called to your obligation.

The Willows tower seems to be somewhat lonesome without Pierron's smiling face. We hope to see Eugene back to work in the near future, looking as well as ever.

Bro. W. I. Lyrle, regular day man at Hagars-town, was recently called to Highland to relieve Bro. Williams, who is off with a broken leg.

S. & T.

NOTICE.

Bro. Quick and myself have experienced quite a good deal of trouble with members who have changed addresses without having notified either of us. Consequently, mail has been returned, and we have no way of finding out the correct address. It would be quite a help if, on changing positions, you would notify us of your new address. In this manner your mail will be forwarded to you and very little delay will be caused.

Several extra men have notified me every time they have changed locations, expecting us to change their addresses accordingly. This can not be done, for it takes considerable time to change the address, and by the time we do, they have changed positions again. If they would observe the following, I think it would help all concerned:

Give us a certain place to send their mail, and when they change their location, write the postmaster to forward their mail to the place they are going to. In this manner, no mail ought to be returned.

Can any one give me the address of the following: H. C. Bumgerder, Cert. No. 167, North Manchester, Ind.; John Edwards, Cert. No. 182, 3136 W. Wash St., Indianapolis, Ind.; J. Q. Adams, Cert. No. 43, Lock Box 313, Effingham, Ill.; J. E. Kennedy, Cert. No. 59, Plainfield, Ind.; G. W. Adams, Cert. No. 81, Troy, Ill.

The addresses given are their first address, but mail sent to them there has been returned. Any one of the above, seeing this, will help me if they will please forward me their correct address, or if any other brother knows the whereabouts of any one of the above, please write me.

Yours fraternally,

E. C. THOMPSON,
36 N. Holmes Ave. S. & T., Div. No. 27

Williamsport Division, No. 24.

Eastern and Susquehanna Divisions—

As I am always pleased to read fraternal items in our journal, I will again write a few notes without offering any apology whatever. I am not very well informed relative to what the boys along the line have been doing lately, but will give a few pick-ups that came to my notice.

Bro. Chas. C. Bastion is working nights at "SQ," while the regular man, G. U. Stanley is doing extra work in "Go" office.

Bro. Harry Taylor has been assigned to "BS" Tower days, and Telegrapher Gresh on the night trick. W. D. Gresh promises he will come in the Order very soon, and we hope he will be a member before this goes into print.

Bro. R. W. Grugan, of "FN" days, was off duty for a few days, due to the illness of his mother.

H. W. Watterbury has again accepted employment on this road, and he promises to rejoin the Order in the near future.

Bro. E. F. Holmes is working "BY" nights for the present.

Several new applications have been filed with the Secretary, and there will be something doing at our next meeting. The boys all seem to be very much alive to the situation, and we trust that such an interest will be taken that there will not be a non left on either division by the first of January.

Our genial Local Chairman, Bro. J. H. Zerbe, with his committee, was recently before our local officials with grievances, and their report will, no doubt, be very interesting. They will report at the September meeting.

C. E. McCloskey is off, on the sick list, and we hope he will soon be able to resume his duties.

I learn that there are still a few boys who have not as yet paid their dues for the current term. This should not be. Boys, wake up, and don't allow yourselves to drop out. If ever there was a time in the history of the railroad telegraphers when they should stand firmly as one man, it is now. Do not allow any person to persuade you to drop from the membership roll.

Occasionally we find a telegrapher who professes not to believe in the ways of the organization, and who asserts he can not see anything to be gained by joining the Order. In this enlightened age it hardly seems possible to find material of this kind, but yet there are men who talk like this. I wonder if they ever refused to accept any of the concessions the Order has secured for them? I have not heard of it if such is the case.

Bro. H. F. Grieb, who formerly telegraphed on the Eastern & Susquehanna divisions, and who resigned five years ago, is still engaged in the music business, being located in Scranton, Pa. Bro. Grieb continues to hold an up-to-date card, and says that whenever they give an eight-hour working day with $100 minimum he will return to the key.

Look at the clerks in the Superintendent's office going home at noon on Saturday, and remaining there until late Monday morning, while we have to drag out the twelve hours on Saturday, and on Sunday the same thing. Is it not time that we were doing something to bring about better conditions? Next March the eight-hour law goes into effect in a lawful sense; but do you suppose for a minute that the railroad companies are going to put it into effect without some specific action on our part? Well, I guess not.

Look at "SQ," "VO," "BY," "RO" and "GD," with their heavy interlocking plants, ranging from eighteen levers to thirty levers, and at junction points working twelve-hour tricks. How these boys manage to keep on their feet from day to day, as they do, I do not know.

It is certainly most encouraging to see the interest manifested among the boys to get new members and keep lined up. I trust that this interest will continue until there is not a non left on the line.

- CERT. NO. 25.

Lancaster Division, No. 9.

At our regular monthly meeting, held August 20, a goodly sized crowd of faithful O. R. T. boys turned out to help transact a volume of important business on hand. All regular officers were at their respective stations, excepting Bro. Ebersole, who was lawfully detained, through a misunderstanding with his bunch of ball tossers, who are about winding up the season.

Many strange faces were seen at this meeting, and all of them made special mention of being well pleased with our policy of doing business, assuring us that they will be on hand at all future meetings whenever possible to do so.

All present expressed themselves well pleased with the attendance and the interest taken, notwithstanding the fact that so many of our boys are away at present, enjoying vacations.

Among those addressing the division under "Good of the Order" were a few faithful ones from the Philadelphia district, who explained that they left their homes and traveled such a distance in order to connect themselves with the division which upholds all the true principles of O. R. Tism.

Bro. W. L. Reneker, middle trick, MQ, Enola, is doing extra duty in "UD" office, Harrisburg, at present, while the regular boys are on vacations.

Bro. H. M. Shields has been off duty several weeks, enjoying a vacation, and during that time, found enough time to attend the meeting before leaving.

As the base ball season is now over, Harry has promised to attend all meetings during the coming winter, and we can count on it that he will make good.

Bro. Harry Good, days at "SD," Schocks Mills, is also enjoying a two weeks' vacation. Bro. G. L. Lindsay is working days and extra man, C. W. Thomas, filling in at night.

Before leaving, both brothers squared up with the Secretary, and their cards will follow them.

Bro. C. H. Crist, of "U" Tower days, has been doing extra eight-hour duty at M. B. Branch Intersection last month, with Extra Telegrapher Rose, filling the vacancy at "U."

Bro. J. K. Robinson, 10 to 7 night telegrapher, "UD," Harrisburg, has returned to duty after a two weeks' vacation.

Bro. E. R. Ebersole, nights at "KU," Rheems, has taken a western trip for ten days, and before returning to duty served as a delegate to the P. O. S. of A. convention, being a representative from his home Camp at Elizabethtown. Bro. G. H. Eckman, extra, from Lancaster, is filling Bro. Ebersole's vacancy.

Bro. J. B. Longaker, day telegrapher at "WV," Howellville, the past eight years, has given way to a telephone operator since August 1st, and is now working days at "OV," Berwyn, and it is needless to say that "Rq" is well pleased with the change.

Bro. B. G. Kern, 11 to 7 at "NV," Landisville, has been off duty two weeks, on account of sickness, but is again on duty, fully recuperated.

Bro. L. K. Stanford, 11 to 7 at "ES," Conestoga Bridge, spent several days with his family, at Atlantic City, last month.

Thus far your correspondent has gathered together as much news as possible, but feels sure our membership would enjoy much better reading matter if he had several assistants in this work. "Come up with your goods, boys."

Div. Cor.

New York Division, No. 44.

Regular meeting for Saturday, August 10th, was postponed, and an open meeting and sociable was held instead.

The following was the program:

Address of welcome by our worthy chief, Bro. Van Nostrand.

Musical selections by the famous Frank Walker orchestra.

Monologue by Hughey Livingston.

Piano duet by the Aston Brothers (sons of our Teddy).

Popular songs by Mr. and little Miss Carney, friends of Bro. Fuller.

Pleasant addresses by General Chairman, Bro. Surine, and Trustee, Bro. Leonard.

Vocal selections by Mrs. Josephine Thompson.

Presentation of a handsome engraved silver loving cup to our brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Martin, by the entire division.

Refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cake, coffee and ice cream were served by the members.

The meeting broke up at 12 o'clock, and all present declared they had spent an enjoyable evening.

Every member present worked hard to entertain our visitors, and it is modest, at least, to say that they were successful.

Bro. Fuller was a busy man. He was here, there and everywhere, as was Bro. Hudson and a host of other brothers, seeing that all were made comfortable.

The night was very warm, and for that reason there was not quite as large an attendance as we expected. However, about one hundred guests, including many ladies (wives, friends and relatives) of the members were present.

Bro. J. L. Haley, who has been touring the Southwest, is again with us.

Bro. G. J. Turner, of Oakdale, is enjoying a leave of absence.

F. E. Warlow has resigned as agent at White-stone.

Bro. Collyer is now the agent at Westbury.

Frank Horsch, who has been assistant to Agent R. J. Edwards, of Ozone Park freight office for the past two years, has been appointed ticket agent No. 2 at F. B. Ave., Brooklyn. It's a good warm game, that F. B. Ave. job.

P. L. Bradley has resigned the agency at Bush-wick Junction, and before this gets into print, will be down in Panama with Bros. Webster and Belle. Brad says he is going where they pay the (high dollar).

Jessie Mills has resigned at St. Albans, on account of ill health. Bro. Keiser has the place.

H. A. Cooper left Valley Stream to take the ticket agency at F. B. Ave., but did not like the latter place and has left the service. Bro. Kays, of the Grand, accepted Valley Stream, temporarily, but was held there too long to suit his taste, and has left the service. At this time the job is up for bid.

Bros. Jim Dooley and Mike Goehagan, of Div. No. 8, attended the open meeting. Also Bro. Brooker, of Div. No. 29, and Bro. Armstrong, of Div. No. 35.

As far as we know, all our members that were on the sick list are on the gain. Bro. Surine is improving, and the same may be said of Bro. Van Nostrand, and other brothers who have been under the doctor's care.

Bro. Jack Martin broke his arm one night this week while sliding (the down and out) at Tillyon's Steeplechase Park, Coney Island. Bro. Van Nostrand, who was with him at the time, attended to his wants and saw him safely home.

Bro. Walker, of Rockaway Beach, has not been in the best of health this summer, but being in a position to receive the advice and constant attendance of Dr. Barth, has been able to stay at work through the busy season.

Bro. Robinson, a member of the General Committee, has resigned at Bridgehampton. Bro. Robinson has gone into the lumber business in that town. He has the best wishes of all the brothers.

Bro. Rhoades, also a member of the General Committee, has resigned as telegrapher at "GO," L. I. City.

Have not heard from the east end of the Island in some time. Wish Bro. Whitman, of Montauk; Bro. Smith, of Easthampton; Bro. Johnson, of Westhampton; Bro. Phillips, of Southold; Bro. Hill, of Riverhead; Bro. Corwin, of Sag Harbor, or Bro. Robinson, of Manor, would drop the Secretary of our division a line. He will see that it gets into the proper hands; or, better still, come to the next meeting.

In the next issue we will have something to say about the strike. At this time, all that can be said is, that the members of this division, with possibly one or two exceptions, have lived up to their obligations to the letter, and have performed such telegraph service as is a part of their regular duties and no more. The spirit shown has been admirable. We are working on a scheduled road and we must carry out our working agreement to the letter.

Div. Con.

Sunbury Division, No. 12.

Bro. L. A. Drees, of Lewistown Junction, was off for a few days on account of sickness; relieved by Bro. Kline.

Local Chairman, Bro. C. W. Kase, of Lewistown Junction, days, is the busiest man on the pike. Boys, give him your assistance whenever possible. He is a hustler, and am sure he will not come back empty-handed.

The company is preparing for the usual winter rush, erecting a large and up-to-date water tank on the Middleburg wharf.

"13" it will be Sister Conser instead of Miss Conser, at Paxtonville, ere this is in print.

Bros. McCracken and Ashworth, of Sunbury, were noticed taking in the sights along the S. & L. lately.

It is with deep regret that Division No. 12 accepts the resignation of Bro. J. R. Brandon, and hope our loss is his gain. As Local Chairman he proved a good man and was well liked by the members. He has accepted a position with the Union Pacific at $80 per month, with good chances for promotion.

The membership is steadily increasing, and we feel our efforts have not been in vain. Every member in our division works together, and there is no friction whatever. Hence our success and large membership.

CERT. 111.

Boston Division, No. 41.

Indifference. A simple word, but one which seems to express the attitude of the members of Division No. 41 individually toward the division as a body. When an important matter, such as was to have been brought up at the August meeting, only brought out twenty-eight members, it certainly shows a lack of interest on the part of a large majority of the members. The idea of having an outing by the division, in a body, or as many as could get around, was taken up in regular form at the July meeting, and a committee of ten appointed to canvass their respective districts to see about how many were in favor of it, and to report at the August meeting. The idea was to have a pleasant boat ride down the harbor, with dinner, and return so that the members could take the evening trains home, thus bringing the members together and having an enjoyable time. The committee attended to their duties, but there was little or no interest, one member not even acknowledging his letter of appointment, and another member sent out about thirty letters, explaining the object of the meeting, and received but one reply.

At the meeting there was about the usual attendance, with one exception, which should be noted. A member took pains to come seventy miles and go to the expense of staying over night in Boston in order to show his interest in the matter. Had some of the members right in the vicinity of Boston a small grain of Bro. Walcott's snap, the question of an enjoyable trip would not have been quickly "squelched." All other organizations of a similar nature have their yearly pleasure trips, either by rail or water, but they manage to get enough at a meeting to express the opinion of the majority. The matter of a trip over the B. & M. could not be taken up, as we could not depend upon only about thirty, and the committee could not go to the management and ask for a train unless a couple of hundred could be counted on. We had a very reasonable rate for a water trip, but would have to have a guaranty of at least a hundred. So, there it is, no one seemed to care enough to attend.

Say, brothers, I don't want to be finding fault every month; I will soon get the reputation of being a common scold; but this lack of interest is something that should be changed, and changed at once. No division can do anything unless all pull together in matters pertaining to the welfare of the division and the good of the Order, and I am afraid if I continue to hold my job as division correspondent, you will think that all I can do is to find fault every month; but don't give me a chance and I won't.

The August meeting was called to order at 8:30 p. m. by Chief Chase, only routing business was transacted. The report of the committee on the question of an outing was accepted, and, owing to the small number present, and the apparent lack of interest, the matter was dropped and the committee discharged.

Four new applications for membership were received and acted upon. New names are brought in every meeting, and only a few stragglers are now left out in the cold, some of which we hope to gather in soon. There are a few cases that seem hopeless, but we hope to win them over.

With the new members added since last year, the committee will have a largely increased percentage back of them when they interview the management this winter. That brings up another idea. The members should take up the different points of the schedule. See if anything occurs to each and every one in the way of changes for the benefit of all concerned, and take the matter up at the meetings for discussion, or if unable to be present, take up either with the General Chairman, or with the Local Chairman, so that the views of all may be had when the matter of a new schedule is brought up. There are only two or three meetings now in which this can be done.

Bro. Tuck, our hard-working Secretary and Treasurer, is enjoying a well-earned vacation. He will be on hand for the September meeting.

Bro. Cole, of Arlington, was not present at the meeting, as he was unavoidably detained.

Bro. Quilty has been heard from, and reports enjoying his vacation very much.

Bro. Walcott's remarks were right to the point. It is too bad he can not be present at every meeting.

CERT. 80.

Oskaloosa Division, No. 71.

Not much business on the "Hook & I." right now.

Several changes have taken place and several new men on the road since the last write-up.

Bro. Cross is now located at Gordonsville.

New man at Faulkner, a Mr. Wagner. Burnham resigned on account of no wires in depot.

Bro. Urbine, of Union, is taking a vacation. Bro. Nessa, formerly of Steamboat Rock, is doing relief work.

Ray, from Marshalltown days, to Grinnell nights. Bates relieved Ray. Bates is an old man on the road. Do not know if either of them is lined up or not. If not, why not?

Other changes as follows: Kiene, of Martinsburg, to Gilman. Vannoy, of Killduff, to Martinsburg. Rankin, of Sheffield, to Killduff. Vannoy and Rankin new men on the road.

Mr. Burnham, formerly of Faulkner, is at Albion, while Bro. Brush is away on two weeks' vacation.

Am informed that Bro. Arnote, formerly of Gilman, is now located on G. N. Ry. at Jennings, Montana.

There is a rumor afloat that the Iowa Central, M. & St. L., C. & A., and T., St. L. & W. (Clover Leaf) Rys. are to be consolidated into one system in the near future. Hope there is something in it, as it will help the Iowa Central greatly.

Now, some one from the east end wake up and give us a "spiel."

BUGABOO BILL.

Pittsburg Division, No. 52.

Regular meeting of August 10th opened with Bro. Kiger in the chair, twenty members being present, which is a very creditable turnout, considering the hot weather and the number of members who are away from the city enjoying their annual vacations.

Eight petitions, including four from the Allegheny Division, P. R. R., one from the Monongahela Division, P. R. R., one from the Pittsburg Division, P. R. R. and two from the P. & L. E. R. R., were favorably acted upon and our membership roll increased just eight more. Let the members keep up the good work and we will soon have all the desirable nons on this district.

Bills amounting to $41.31 were read and ordered paid. No sick claims were presented, although there are several members on the sick list.

The death of Bro. Geo. O. McCoy was reported August 1st, after a lingering illness from heart trouble, which fact the division was very sorry to learn of, and his family have the heartfelt sympathy of each and every member of this division.

Bro. Young was elected a delegate to the Iron City Trades Council, with which body, it was decided that we once again become affiliated.

Meeting closed in harmony at 11.25 p. m.

I am again compelled to mention Bros. Dalrymple, Campbell, and Thompson, Local Chairmen on the P. & L. E. R. R.; Bros. Kiger, Roberts and Courtney, Local Chairmen on the Pittsburg, Monongahela and Conemaugh Divisions, P. R. R., respectively, as not having contributed notes from their respective divisions.

The various lines of railroad in this district, particularly the P. & L. E., are putting all offices on eight-hour basis, just as fast as they can secure the men to do it with. They evidently do not want to be caught napping when the nine-hour law becomes effective on the 4th of next March. I understand that some of the telegraphers who have recently been advanced from twelve to eight hours are not giving as satisfactory service while working the shorter hours, as they did before the reduction in hours was made. Boys, that is dead wrong, and each and every one of you should be "Johnny on the spot."

Not much doing this month on account of but one meeting held during the month, and there will be but one meeting during September. Beginning October we will again hold two meetings each and every month, the second and fourth Saturday nights. KLING.

New Haven Division, No. 29.

Another regular meeting held and a few more links welded in our long chain of glittering progress. The attendance recorded its usual goodly numbers, with the time accustomed celebrities in their regular stations. Worthy Chief Bro. L. H. Dowd presided with more than his usual becoming dignity, owing, it is fair to presume, to his dual personnel as chairman of the "special committee," whose report he had to make because the other members of that committee urged that he render the report, irrespective of the technicalities of parliamentary practices.

Various subjects of importance were discussed and disposed of, and to those who were not present at that meeting, and who would learn what is going on in this immediate vicinity, this timely reminder is given as a gentle admonition that the place for all members on the first Friday night of each and every month is at the division room. This column is not at our disposal to make public all of the division room's business, nor any of it, in fact, for to do that would not only be highly improper from a lodge room point of view, but would ultimately negative the very purpose for which they are established and set up in their place "lodge meetings by correspondence."

We are gratified to observe that we never lack for a quorum, and a very large quorum we always have; even after the early-train contingents depart; yet, when the subject is as important as that which was under consideration at the meeting about which we now write, many of these early-train-departers take the "owl" rather than miss getting in on the discussions and consequent disposition of subjects, the final solution of which so vitally affect the welfare of all telegraphers on this system.

The September meeting holds more than ordinary interest, for it promises to reduce to the concrete those matters which now are in the abstract, and it is urged upon each and all to make a special effort to be present and participate, either actively or tacitly, in the deliberations and disposition.

A size-up of the room showed many representatives from the Shore Line Division, New York Division, Berkshire-Naugatuck Division, Air Line-Northampton Division, Highland Division, New Haven Terminal, the general offices, and the Hartford Division. With such an extensive territory to draw from we never need to fear the diminution in attendance, if physical endurance will only hold out, for it is obvious that where interest is alive, personal comfort is not primarily considered.

The Clam Bake Committee registered a disagreeable grievance, and it is right that they should, for, when men willingly accept the responsibilities of committee work, it is the incumbent duty of all to assist them in a satisfactory culmination of their duties, and not add to their worries the fears of very distasteful reflections. In this case those who had tickets to sell had not reported the amount of their sales, and, consequently, the committee were without knowledge of the probable numbers who might attend. This is a business proposition of the strictest kind, and should be so regarded by all. However, the clambakers appeared in surprising numbers, and brought their today's, tomorrow's and yesterday's appetites with them, and, as for their thirsts, well, ask the waters of the placid Housatonic about that. I'll never tell. The weather was fine, and the bay field afforded a model ball field.

Shore Line, West—

Running train wire No. 33 through New Haven to Providence, and doing away with three dispatchers at New London, certainly does not seem any improvement in the service. The present staff of dispatchers is Arnold first, Rowley second, and Brooks third.

Bro. C. F. Platt, who has been working at Hartford since last fall, has again returned to his old job at Clinton nights.

Bros. E. H. Williams and E. S. Brimmer have purchased two promising fox hounds, with an eye to the bounty on fox in fall.

We fail to see that promised rush of applications from the Shore Line since the revised schedule went into effect. Surely some men have a "nerve."

T. J. Donahue, "non," who was covering Madison nights, has left the service, and gone to the C. N. J., at Newark.

Bro. J. P. McCoy, second trick at East Lyme, is on leave of absence for 30 days, owing to impaired health, has gone South. We all hope to see him return fully recovered.

Bro. Raymond, from the east end, is covering second trick at East Lyme during the absence of Bro. McCoy.

Bro. P. A. Hardaway, formerly of this division, and later with the B. & M. road, is again back on the system, located at Needham, Mass.

The new bridge at Connecticut river was put in service August 5th, with Bro. F. M. Wilcox looking after details from the new tower at Lyme.

The first paragraph, Rule 18, of the revised schedule, is a concession that all telegraphers at interlocking towers should take advantage of, and not spoil it for those who are anxious to see it enforced. Notify your superintendent when your tower needs cleaning, and keep a copy of the correspondence so in case he does not comply, you can turn the matter over to your local chairman.

It is reported that improvements are soon to be made at Bramford in way of straightening the bad curves at that place, and the erection of a new tower.

Hartford Division—

Bro. Kingsland, from Wallingford nights, has bid in "S" office, branch switch, Hartford yard, nights.

Three of our division night offices have been closed. North Haven, Yalesville and Windsor, on account of the company cutting expenses.

Bro. Fitzpatrick, from Yalesville nights, has bid in Wallingford nights.

Mr. Dwyer, from Windsor nights, is at present holding down Berlin nights. Am at present unable to say whether or not he holds a card.

Since the branch from Berlin to Middletown was electrified, Bro. Cooke, at Berlin, is kept busy with ticket business, which has almost doubled. The freight work on the branch is done between 12 midnight and 6 a. m., when it comes under Hartford Division, at other times it being under the control of the Connecticut Company.

Newington, on Hartford Division, has been closed as a telegraph office, and all wires and instruments placed in Highland Division office, where our worthy Bro. Reese is kept busy with two dispatchers.

The dispatchers are at present taking their vacations. Mr. Griggs, from Avon street tower, Hartford, substituting.

Mr. James O'Day, who left the service some time ago, has returned once again, and is filling in "F," Meridian freight house nights.

We have been after Jimmie a long time, but as yet he is outside the fold. "A 1."

Highland Division—

Bro. Reddish, who worked nights at Meridian Junction, is now located at Van Courtlandt Park, on the N. Y. C.

Bro. Steede, formerly of Meridian Junction days, is now working at Spuyten Duyvil, on the N. Y. C.

At last our old friend, J. Burke, at Waterville siding nights, has had a change of mind, and filled out the necessary papers. He is the boy who can tell of many thrilling experiences when he worked for the P. R. R., many years ago.

Bro. Mills, of "BX," Waterbury, has returned to his old job, after subbing nights in "SK," Hartford, for two or three weeks.

Bro. Virkler, of Meridian Junction, has gone to his home in New York State for three weeks, being relieved by Sister Cullen, from "WA," Waterbury.

Bro. Humphrey, of Bristol days, spent ten days in New York State, and reports a fine time catching bass. Sister Cullen held down the key in his absence.

Bro. Dunbar, of Danbury, is batching. His wife and children are enjoying an outing in Massachusetts.

C. N. E.—

V. M. Coe has been on vacation for two weeks; the position being covered by M. Joyce.

S. H. Flint is on vacation for three or four days; L. Wheeton, from Ashley Falls, in his place.

Clinton Corners is up for bids; $1.75 per day.

A. J. Whitman was appointed agent at La-Grange, N. Y., vice E. R. Schryver, resigned.

George House spent Sunday with friends on the New York Division at Port Chester.

Understand Bro. Wheeler, at Sanfordville, has a new auto.

The two new men at Norfolk have had the papers served on them, and we expect to hear from them soon.

Last month was the first month the C. N. E. has had a word in THE TELEGRAPHER in a long while, and now we have started it, why not keep it going? Let each one help our Bro. Terry out, and send him a few words once in a while. Boys, it's a long ways up here to get news from New Haven, so try and help him out a little.

I think I have done my share this month, so will ring off. G. S. H.

Providence Division, No. 35.

Once a year the members of Providence Division 35, elect a division correspondent. In their elation at having escaped this irksome duty themselves, they congratulate the victim, and assure him of their confidence in his ability to perform the duties of the position to the credit of both the division and to himself. His work is to be made easy in various ways. Large bunches of notes will come to him on the twenty-fifth day of each month from duly accredited sources. Items of interest to telegraphers employed on the New Haven road, as well as those in the employ of other roads. Enough to fill two or three pages in the railroad man's TELEGRAPHER. It looks like easy meat, and the newly-elected correspondent congratulates himself that his path lies in such pleasant places. Then comes the sad awakening.

This division correspondent stunt is by no means a new one to the present incumbent, and he is naturally suspicious of the "I'll help you out, Bill; go ahead and take it" promises, but along about the 25th of the month he begins to sort the mail carefully, looking in vain for the large, fat envelopes containing "notes" of general interest, and in large quantities. Nothing doing. He gets mad, and grabs the phone, calls up a few old reliables who do not promise, but who always know what's going on. Thus is the division letter fearfully and wonderfully constructed, and mailed, usually a day late, but it always gets in—such as it is.

The attendance and interest shown at the August meeting was equal to that of the past year. Applications steadily pouring in, and new candidates being initiated.

Several matters of vital importance to the membership were discussed, and action taken which will undoubtedly be referred back to them direct in the near future.

The O. R. T. on the New Haven road has grown since 1899 from one little division, located in this city, and a few members scattered over the road, to its present prosperous condition, with a membership of practically all the telegraphers employed thereon. There are five large local divisions, composed solely of New Haven telegraphers, and two or three other locals just off our lines with some New Haven membership. There are 13 divisions represented on our general committee.

Schedule negotiations, when prolonged, are expensive, and assessments are disliked as a matter of principle. It is therefore up to the organization to run itself as a business affair strictly. We are regarded in that light by the officials of any railroad company when we become strong enough to be regarded at all.

A movement is on foot and will undoubtedly be reported back to the local division before these lines are in print to put the organization on a strictly business basis, reduce the expenses to a minimum and to provide for the maintenance of the general committee in any emergency without the necessity of assessments or hurry calls for "cash." This can be done, and easily. It is only a question of the manner of doing it.

One of the pleasant features of the August meeting was the visit of several of the officers of the new C. T. U. Local, No. 133, recently formed in Providence, Bros. Murphy and Secretary Hockin, also Fleming, of Worcester. A recess was declared, and the brothers, in a very able manner, outlined the causes which led up to the present struggle between the C. T. U. and the commercial companies. They also gave reports from various parts of the country as to the progress of the strike. The members of Providence Division 35 can be of great assistance to this new local, and the boys assure any of us a hearty welcome if we should drop in at any of their meetings. Bro. Fleming, of Worcester, proved to be quite an orator, and when he once got into action made some of our local performers sit up and take notice.

The news that our popular and hard-working secretary and treasurer, Bro. R. A. Brown, has had to quit work for a time, came as something of a shock to many of the boys. It is doubtful if Bro. Bob will do much tower work for a time, but he has the heartfelt sympathy of every member on the road, and they all hope to see him speedily recover.

Div. Cor.

Worcester Division—

Bro. L. A. Bigelow, day telegrapher at Valley Falls station, has resigned to accept an agency on the Bangor & Aroostook, near his home. Sorry to lose him, but there's no place like home—a home down in Maine.

Bro. Aldrich bills the "hoss" shoes for a while.

Bro. Stevens back to Woonsocket tower nights.

On vacations: Bro. McCrohan, of "SK," South Worcester, relieved by Bro. Roberts.

Bros. F. Brady and Joe Graham, of "BA," Brayton avenue tower, partly relieved by "Slim" Green.

Norman Manchester, for many years with the motive power department at Valley Falls and Charles street engine house, has bid in Olneyville tower nights.

Bro. Weeks is at East Providence tower during the illness of Bro. Brown.

Cor.

Shore Line, East End—

Everybody happy and wearing the glad smile with either an up-to-date card or the papers on file. Once more we are solid to a man on the S. L., for which Bro. Lippincott, Division 35, and Bro. Bowler, Division 29, are to be congratulated. The other divisions will have to go some or take their hats off to us.

George Beatty, at Apponaug, has joined hands with us at last. He says since he has so many good neighbors he could resist no longer.

At Davisville we find the genial Eddy Smith, who has just invested in a new motor boat, which he has placed in Worden's Lake. He says there are ducks and fish enough to go around, and if any of the boys with up-to-dates, care to come down, they are welcome to a day's sport.

Bro. Paul Hardaway, formerly towerman on the Shore Line, now working extra on the Providence Division.

Old Gen Ham, of Kingston, away on a two weeks' vacation in New Hampshire. Bros. Young and Burns doubling.

Cor.

New Rochelle Division, No. 37.

There having been nothing in THE TELEGRAPHER for the last two or three months from this division, will try and let the other divisions know Division 37 still exists.

All the local trains from New Rochelle and seven from Portchester are being pulled by electric locomotives. It is the intention to have the electric trains from Stamford by September 15. The new electric engines have been a success, and made better time than steam.

New engines are being tried out every night between Portchester and Woodlawn.

Bro. Langdon, first trick at 76, was off for a few days to attend the funeral of his four-year-old nephew, who was accidentally burned to death. Bro. Risler working first trick, Bro. Lewis second, and relief, Bro. Rice, third.

Bro. Seaman attended the Thomas Jefferson outing recently.

Bro. Clay, of first Van Nest, attended the clam-bake, and by good luck managed to catch the last train home.

Bro. Wm. Mohrback, second Van Nest, has returned from a two weeks' vacation in the coal fields of Pennsylvania. He is much improved in his health.

Bro. Donovan, first at Mamaroneck, is off on his annual 30-day vacation. Job being covered by Relief Telegrapher Bro. Putnam.

Bro. Hill, from Long Island, is holding down second trick. Bro. Lynch, of Division 29, third trick.

Mr. Hoyt, former agent at Van Nest, is at Harrison days. Mr. Lynch nights.

Bro. McDonald is off sick at present. Relief Telegrapher Rice working his job.

Bro. Reif, nights at Cos Cob, has returned from a two weeks' vacation. When in the vicinity of Cos Cob get a pass from Mr. Jones, superintendent, and go through the company's power house there. It is worth seeing.

Bro. Collins, at Riverside, is enjoying a two week's vacation. Relief Telegrapher McCloskey working second while Bro. Collins is absent.

W. Brewer, who formerly worked second at Riverside and resigned a few months ago, has re-entered the service, working extra.

CERT. 106.

Springfield Division, No. 38.

It has been so long since there has been anything heard from this part of the State, that it has become a foregone conclusion that No. 38 had retired from the field, but am happy to state that we are still at 33 Lyman street, Springfield, Mass., doing business, and that the latch-string is always out for the brothers who may happen to be in our city. At our regular meeting, held in July, we had as our guests Second Vice-President Thomas Pierson, Bros. Manion, Leitch and Terry of Division No. 29. Their presence and oratory was greatly appreciated by all present. There was a very large gathering; in fact, the hall never held so many since No. 38 was organized. As one of the members said: it repaid him for the many nights when there were not enough to fill the chairs. Now that the good work has started, keep it up.

One word to the boys of the B. & A.: Get a little more ginger into your backbone; do not be afraid of your $1.50 per. The Boston & Maine and the New Haven road are looking for men; willing and anxious to pay a fair wage.

At our meeting in August there was a fair attendance, but not as it should be, with 150 members enrolled on our books. The boys on the west end should try and get out to the meetings; and as for the members who live in this vicinity, they should at least try and show up better in the future than they have in the past. Nine applications were read and voted upon, and we expect at the next meeting in September to have 25 more.

There is no news this month, as the brothers did not send in any, but we expect that 38 will be represented in the journal hereafter every month. If any brother has items of interest which he wishes to have appear, send them to Fred McCarty, 95 Everett street, Springfield, Mass., and he will see that they reach the proper person.

CERT. 16.

Camden Division, No. 84.

It has certainly been a long time since notes have appeared in the journal from our division, and it may be that some of the brothers in the outlying districts have arrived at the conclusion that Division No. 84 has been wiped off the map. Such is not the case. We are still at the same old stand, taking in new members, some of whom have been working for thirty years in the telegraph business, and have just found out that they want to become members of the O. R. T.

Now that there has been a liberality shown in regard to transportation, there is no excuse whatever for not getting into Camden once each month to attend the division meeting. While the meetings have never suffered for lack of members to fill the chairs and decorate the side seats, still we want to see you all present. There is enough room in the Division room to accommodate all who belong to Div. 84, some 300 or more, and when the room gets too small, we will move to larger quarters. West Jersey Jim sometimes goes out for smokers, and he likes to see all the boys get the benefit. He firmly believes in union brand goods, and consequently the boys of No. 84 receive the benefit of his experience in that line.

Our Local Chairmen have been sending out blanks to members and non-members, located on the W. J. & S. and Amboy divisions. Quite a few of these blanks have not yet been returned. It is the interest of all employed to furnish the information asked for, and it would be well for those who have blanks to return them properly filled out, to the brothers designated to receive them.

Kir.

Shamokin Division, No. 117.

No doubt there were quite a few of the brothers disappointed by not seeing anything from this division in our last journal. Yours truly was there with the goods, but I presume the items failed to make connections.

On account of being under the weather was unable to be present at our last meeting, but understand there was a pretty good attendance.

As I have received but few notes from the brothers, you must not be disappointed if this communication is brief. I would like the members to notify me if they know of any changes or promotions along the line. Just drop me a note. You may think it a small item, yet at the same time it may interest some of us. There are enough of us along the line to make some showing in the journal.

J. J. Kane, agent at Alaska, is enjoying a vacation.

J. W. Gonson, night man, was put on days in agent's place. He wanted to go back nights, but our chief said "nay," and he quit.

Bro. Crane, formerly Rupert days, is now regular night man, and Relief Telegrapher H. W. Brecken is agent pro tem.

Bro. Fisher is now regular days at "RU," and Bro. Sheats regular nights.

Mr. Runyan days, Grovania, is enjoying himself down in Jersey. He is still on the fence, but I think he will come our way in the near future, as he is too good a man to stay out in the cold.

Mr. Hosler, days at "BY," is on the sick list; is relieved by his brother regular night man at same place, and Mr. Hart, formerly flagman on train, is doing the night trick.

Bro. Fisher, "RU," days, was enjoying himself down on the beach recently.

There are quite a number of nons among us, and we should each endeavor to show them the benefits to be derived, etc.

Be prepared to give them all the information necessary. It would be well for each member to procure a list showing the amount necessary to remit to establish membership in the various months, and always have it handy, so if asked the question you can give the information.

Send notes for the next journal. You can each send at least one or two items. "Every little helps," you know. CHART. 15.

Boston Division, No. 89.

Providence Division—

Old home week was largely responsible for the absence of the ever-present, always-on-hand brothers, and those in attendance found it hard work to tear themselves away from the magnificently illuminated streets, fireworks and music, to take part in our meeting.

Much business was transacted and many applications read and accepted. The fruits of our last schedule are ripening into a greater and mightier brotherhood.

Many visitors were present, including Bro. Brady, chief of Division No. 35; Bro. Dowd, chief of Division No. 29; Bro. Culver, Division No. 29; Bro. Hannan, Division No. 37, comprising the committee to promote the office of paid general chairman on this system.

Bro. Mullen, of Ayer Division, made a very forceful argument against a paid general chairman, and gave us some points that set many of us to thinking. Notwithstanding all that was said to the contrary, a motion was passed and committee appointed to confer with like committees appointed from each division to devise ways and means for support of same.

Bro. Hardway, relieving Mr. Joseph Ellis at Broadway tower.

Bro. MacLellen received a badly-sprained wrist.

Bro. Kenyon, Yarmouth street tower, on three weeks' vacation. Relieved by Mr. Dixon.

We are glad to welcome an old, staunch member, like J. D. Stevenson, back to the ranks.

Mr. Joseph Laberge spent two weeks with his family at Montmagny, Quebec.

Bro. W. F. Marvells and family are spending vacation at Ocean City, Md.

Bro. Clark took a day off recently.

Doc. Dannell spent a week's vacation at Pemberton.

Bro. Corbett and family spent two weeks' vacation at Edgartown.

Bro. Wry is holding down third trick at Canton Junction.

Mr. Jerauld is the happy father of a bouncing baby boy.

Mr. Martin Kindler is relieving Mr. Geo. Knowlton, East Fexboro.

Plymouth Division—

The following changes have taken place during this month on the Plymouth Division:

Bro. J. N. Walker, Braintree station nights, to Braintree tower split trick.

Bro. J. McDonald, split trick Braintree tower, to Neponset nights.

Bro. J. M. Smith, Atlantic second trick, to Savin Hill, first trick.

Bro. E. W. Atkins, Swett street third trick, to Savin Hill second trick.

Mr. M. P. Riley, of Readville, to third trick at Savin Hill.

Bro. Clifford, Savin Hill, third trick to second trick Atlantic.

Bro. Tommie Prince, Neponset, to third trick Swett Street Junction.

Bro. J. W. Colbert, ticket agent at South Braintree, is on a month's vacation in the Maine woods.

Bro. J. J. Foley is relieving Bro. Colbert.

Mr. Lyons is covering the night trick at South Braintree.

Bro. H. G. Ford, Quincy Adams, is acting agent at East Milton in the absence of Mr. Bearse.

Bro. Lake, Mayflower Park, has returned from a two weeks' vacation spent at Douglas, Mass.

Mr. Riley, of Randolph, covered Bro. Lake's job.

The brothers are congratulating Bro. Dugas on his lucky escape from death at Campbells, July 28. Bro. Dugas was fireman on the passenger extra which collided with the Cape freight. Bro. Dugas went into the wreck with his engine, but escaped with a few bad cuts on his face and head.

Bro. Geo. Broderick, of Tremont, has bid in Sagamore.

Miss E. A. Murphy is covering Yarmouth temporarily.

Midland Division—

The brothers of the Midland Division, with one or two exceptions, were again conspicuous by their absence from the regular monthly meeting. This is, indeed, a poor showing for so large a division as the Midland. There are enough brothers who are employed days to materially swell the attendance, but for some cause or other refrain from doing so. Is it because they belong only for the monetary benefit derived? While this may show good business acumen, it does not fill the standard required of a good brotherhood man. The O. R. T. was not instituted alone to raise wages and shorten the hours of labor, but to elevate social, moral and intellectual conditions as well. This is done in the meeting rooms, where our morals are corrected. There we are imbued with the spirit of brotherly love, and divorced from selfishness. Essentially this will make us good citizens and good union men and employes. Let us, then, look forward to a larger attendance in the future, for many of us are in need of the above-mentioned graces.

The new tower at Putnam is nearing completion, I "13" this will be a first-class tower, motor signals, etc., and, no doubt, three tricks.

The brothers at "DU," East Douglas, were kept busy last month with the Baptist camp-meeting.

Mr. Raymond, of Woonsocket air line station, will ride the goat at the next meeting.

Bro. Dan Scully, of Milford station, has been transferred from Division No. 35 to Division No. 89.

The engagement is announced of Bro. Paul Gilbert to Miss Ida Campbell, both of Franklin.

Mr. Currie, agent at Ashcroft, has resigned to take up a business college course.

Bro. Moore, of Bellingham, has moved into his new cottage on the pond.

Bro. Cuthbertson is working days at Blackston, while regular man is off. Bro. Aldrich is substituting nights.

Bro. Frank Mosher is making his monthly rounds again as relief towerman.

The brothers at Putnam have moved into the new station. They are delighted with their new quarters.

The brothers of Franklin station and tower are enjoying the good fishing at Lake Pearl, where they have the use of Bro. Pendelton's commodious house boat and tender.

Bro. Sullivan is back to Woon Junction, after substituting at different offices.

Quite a number of the brothers visited Boston during Old Home week, where among the numerous attractions was a giant model of the original Morse telegraph key, outlined in electric lights, at the birthplace of Prof. Morse in Charlestown, Mass.

CERT. 226.

Olean Division, No. 135.

I will endeavor to represent Division 135 in this issue. If the boys will kindly send me news items I will try and write them up, having been requested to do so pending the appointment of a regular division correspondent. Not being very well acquainted, my success will depend to a great extent on the interest manifested by the members of this division.

Bro. W. C. Richards, at 45-mile siding days, we understand, has bid in Irvington days, on the river, and will soon be transferred to same.

We miss Bro. Brown, from the Nickle Plate station in Dunkirk. Understand he has taken day job at Brocton, on Nickle Plate, and that Bro. E. C. Stark is at "AK" now.

Bro. Salisbury is right after his day man at Plate, Mr. Kittleberger, and we hope to soon call him brother.

Mr. G. W. Dean, recently appointed agent at Lake View, will be in the ranks as soon as circumstances will permit.

Blasdel is held down by Bro. V. M. Taft, agent and telegrapher, formerly from Brocton nights.

Only two of the boys of the Chant Division attended the meeting at Olean July 16th they being Bros. Ide from B. S. and Thompson from Irving.

Our next meeting should be well attended as we need a chairman and local chairman over here, and there is other important business to be transacted. Let us all turn out and get acquainted.

Owing to my slight acquaintance south of Brocton, I will not attempt to go beyond that point, but if the boys from Oil City, north, will but lend a hand and send me news until a regular division correspondent is appointed, I will see that the Chant Division is represented each month in the journal.

CERT. 141.

Trenton Division, No. 85.

Bro. Palmer, at Phillipsburg tower, has returned from a four week's vacation, having spent most of his time at Lake Hopatcong. A few more of the brothers are enjoying a week to three weeks' vacation at different points.

The traffic is extremely heavy on the Bel. Del. Division this summer, which keeps the boys on the jump.

The events of the past few days have brought the telegraphers to a realization of the fact that they hold responsible positions, and the diet of seven days per week and only one relief day a month is a pace that will put most of them into "clear" after a few years of such work. TIP.

Woodsville Division, No. 45.

Not having seen any news from this division for several months, and thinking it rather strange that a division of this size should not be represented, I will attempt to mention a few items of interest.

Bro. W. H. Bailey has bid in the night job at Summit Siding.

Bro. Taylor has bid in the position of assistant and telegrapher at Wilder.

Bro. R. L. Lilly bid in the night trick at Norwich and Hanover.

Bro. H. L. Smith, formerly of Norwich and Hanover nights, has bid in the agency at Ely.

Why are our monthly meetings so poorly attended? They are held for our benefit, and we surely should take enough interest in our own welfare to put in an appearance occasionally. We certainly can not hope to advance our own interests if we all hang back and wait for the other fellow to do the work.

Bro. Chase has resigned the position of night telegrapher and ticket clerk at St. Johnsbury, a position which he held for seven years.

Bro. Chase is rather undecided as to what his next position will be, as he has several good offers.

Bro. Brown, of Newbury, had the misfortune to lose his house and barn, which were struck by lightning recently.

Remember, it is nearly time for our Committee to go to Boston for a revision of the schedule, and in order to make known what is desired, every member should make it a point to attend meetings until the committee leaves. We want your suggestions and advice. Let us all be present at Woodsville Saturday, Sept. 21st, and make it one of the best attended meetings in the history of our division.

CERT. 99.

Hocking Valley Ry.

The first meeting of the agents and telegraphers of the Hocking Division was held at Logan, August 5th, at the Ambrose Hotel. The meeting was well attended, owing to the fact that Bro. Tanquary, deputy president, was present. Meeting was called to order at 8:30 p. m. Bro. Tanquary made a very interesting speech, and complimented us on the progress we have already made. The overtime subject was discussed. This was not thoroughly understood previous to the meeting. The schedules of the different roads entering Ohio, including the H. V. Railway, were discussed. Several suggestions were made to the committee which will be taken up at the next meeting with the officials. The intentions are to hold meetings once a month. The meetings will be held at different cities, so as to allow all members to attend. The intention is to hold the next meeting at Cols, Ohio, with the Toledo Division boys. All members are requested to be present at this meeting. Bro. Mattison, day telegrapher at East Clayton, has been laid up for a few days on account of a bad cold; relieved by Bro. Jolley. Mr. Griffin, from Toledo Division, doing the owl stunt.

Bro. Applegate night man at Armitage, resigned recently. Understand he is going West in search of a better position.

Telegrapher Davis, of Hamley Run, still continues to have a lot of excuses. Think the boys are getting tired listening to them. We hope he will line up soon.

Telegrapher Smith, Old Town days, continues to have same old gag: "Going to leave the service," etc.

We invited the Toledo Division boys to attend the meeting held at Logan, Ohio, August 5th, but on account of train service they were unable to attend.

Bro. Miller made a business trip to Nelsonville this week.

Bro. Davidson, of "DU" office nights, has secured a house, and is going to move his family to Nelsonville in the near future, we understand.

The intentions are to hold a joint meeting at Cols, Ohio, in the near future.

There are still a few nons, but fail to hear them making any kick about their improved conditions and the increase they got through the O. R. T. F. E. M.

Chicago Division, No. 91.

Notwithstanding my request, made the last month through THE TELEGRAPHER, but one member on the Monon accepted my invitation to go fishing, so I suppose we will have to call the picnic off. It seems to be almost impossible to instill any life in our Monon brothers. Perhaps some of them can suggest some means by which we can get them together and do business. If we can organize the line up to about 90 or 95 per cent we will have another try for a schedule, but will have to get busy if we do anything this summer. By the time this appears in print our brothers will have a schedule on the C., I. & S., as at the present time (August 15th) their committee is in Chicago drafting one up for presentation to the management. Now, boys, you should understand one thing, a first schedule is never very satisfactory to the members, but, regardless of whether we gain any benefits from it at all, it gives us the right to go in year after year and build upon it. It gives us some rules and regulations to work under, and gives the men a chance to apply for the better positions when they become vacant. I say this in order that our members may not be disappointed and withdraw from the Order. Rome was not built in a day, and the Constitution of the United States needed a great many amendments before it became as perfect as it now is. What I wish every member to do is to pay his dues and assessments promptly, and get after every other member and see that he does the same, as it is a hard thing to get a road lined up for the second time after the members drop out. If a non member shows up in your vicinity get after him.

I am sorry that the brothers on the E., J. & E. and Monon could not have organized themselves to such a per cent that Fourth Vice-President Dermody could have taken charge of their negotiations at the same time he took charge of those of the C., I. & S.

I am in receipt of a long line-up from Bro. Barnes, which I shall have to cut out as it is against the rules to publish line-ups. All the telegraphers on the C., I. & S. seem to be fully alive to the situation, and don't think any of them let anything get by. A notable change is in the number of students. In February it was almost impossible to count them, now I believe you can travel over the entire system and find only two or three. Don't you see how you have already improved your positions, if only in the matter of permanently securing your positions? While some of the officials on the C., I. & S. are fair to the men, those who are not can not discharge a man for nothing, for the simple reason that they have no students to substitute for him, and it is almost impossible to secure a good telegrapher to take his place. The final result is that they have to voluntarily advance the wages and ameliorate the working conditions.

About one-third of the members of Division No. 91 are on strike at this writing; about that number are employed by the Western Union and Postal in Chicago, and every one of them walked out on the signal. The fact of the matter is, we have nothing to lose but our chains of servitude, and everything to gain.

Local Chairman Driscoll and the secretary and treasurer took a little trip around the terminals of the Indiana Harbor Belt, near East Chicago, on a rather hot day. After following the secretary and treasurer for four or five miles on a dog trot Driscoll cried, "Quits." It would be a good idea for divisions to put sprinters in as local chairmen, or else furnish them with speeders or automobiles. There was considerable difficulty in getting relief for the chairman from the Danville Division, which delayed our work for some time. I understand Bro. Wilmington has bought an auto. How about it?

Bro. Wilson is doing the relief work in the dispatcher's office.

We have several ex-Order men employed on the Danville Division, wonder why some one can't get them back into the fold?

We were very sorry to lose Bro. Newberry, our ex-local chairman, but believe we have a good man in his place. Am sorry to see so many of our boys leaving the C., I. & S. for other roads, but can hardly blame them at present, as their conditions are so materially bettered.

Well, boys, if you have any kicks make them and then when we satisfy you forget them and keep up the good work. In dropping the Order you injure no one as much as yourself. Would be very glad to have some notes sent me by the boys on the "J," Indiana Harbor Belt, Terminal, Monon, C., I. & S. and Pennsylvania lines.

Central of Georgia Railway.

Chattanooga Division—

It seems that our division correspondent has gone out of business, hasn't time, or something is wrong, so I will take a shot at it:

Nothing special to write about. Everything moving along very nicely.

Mr. Reid, agent at Trion, resigned; relieved by our traveling auditor, Mr. F. H. Naylor.

Our regular meeting was held at Lyerly on Sunday, August 18th, with a full attendance, and was enjoyed by every one present. We especially desire to thank Mrs. A. C. Powell for the dinner she furnished us. It was appreciated by every member present.

Bro. J. A. Lowe, of Felton, has just returned from a 15-days' trip to Texas. He reports fine time, and enjoyed meeting some of the good old O. R. T. boys in the West. Bro. Lowe is a wide-awake O. R. T. man, and never fails to speak a good word for the Order when he can do so.

Bro. S. O. Addison, of Buchanan, is off on a vacation to his old home in South Carolina; relieved by Bro. Mothershed.

Bro. A. C. Powell, of Lyerly, who has been off on a vacation for several days, has returned. He was relieved by Bro. W. M. Holmes. Unable to learn where Bro. Holmes is located now, but presume he will let us hear from him after he is settled.

Bro. Harris, better known as "Kid Harris," is back doing the owl act for Bro. Powell at Lyerly.

I notice our Savannah correspondent is "kinder ripping us up the back" for letting our correspondence get behind, but we will endeavor to do better, and not get in the background any more. It speaks bad for us, but we hope to be forgiven this time.

We now have a very encouraging letter from our brother correspondent on the Chattanooga Division of the Southern Railway. We are certainly glad to know that they are doing so nicely. We should all pull together and make this division one of the best on this system in every respect.

Our new superintendent, Mr. Cotter, and our traveling auditor, Mr. F. H. Naylor, will appreciate seeing this division put at the head of the list, and I am sure that none of us will ever regret it in any way. So, boys, let's get right down to business, and let's get on top, and stay there. It's easy if we will only try just a little. CERT. 43.

Savannah Division—

August TELEGRAPHER just received, and fail to locate any write-up from any division on this line, except the Savannah Division, and in order that we will be represented, as usual, and not run the risk of depending on the other divisions to see the Central of Georgia in print, will endeavor to give a few changes this month.

Understand Bro. B. O. Edwards, assistant local chairman, has left Milledgeville, and accepted a job in Mr. Carlisle's office at Macon. Haven't learned who relieved him.

Sister Holland, Dover days, off on a much needed vacation, visiting relatives in South Carolina. This is the first rest Sister Holland has had in some time, and, no doubt, she is enjoying herself.

Sister Sistrunk, Bloomingdale agency, has left the service of the company, accepting a position with the C. W. C. Railway. Bro. Shearhouse, of Gordon days, assigned the agency.

Mr. Jerome Kennedy left Halcyondale agency. Only stayed a couple of weeks; relieved by a new man, Mr. T. F. Brown. Haven't learned whether he is of the right material or not.

Mr. A. J. H. Williams has given up the Brewton agency. A Mr. Douglass relieved him and has already asked for blanks.

Mr. Williams, brother of Bro. N. A. Williams, nights at Dover for a short while, until Sister Holland returns.

Bro. B. R. Bloodworth has been on the sick list a few days; went to his old home, at Gordon to get well. Glad to hear him back on No. 8. Also Mr. A. L. Armstrong, who has been off for several weeks on account of a case of typhoid fever, has returned to "GO" office.

Bro. Mabre has left the service of the company. Haven't learned his whereabouts as yet.

The joint meeting with the S. A. L. boys proved a very successful one, nevertheless our boys let the S. A. L. delegation outnumber us. There was several of our boys who went to Savannah, but for some reason failed to put in their appearance at the hall. We were treated royally by the C. T. U. A. boys, who served refreshments, etc., and made us feel perfectly at home; so those who miss these meetings not only fail to learn the happenings of the division but also miss an enjoyable time.

It is hoped that every man on the Savannah Division will respond promptly to the call for assistance to the amount of $1 each for the C. T. U. A. strike fund. I feel sure before this is in print there will not be a member on this division but what has remitted the amount.

Let's hear from our sister divisions occasionally.

CERT. 3.

Elmira Division, No. 100.

Elmira Division, No. 100, met Friday, August 16, with eighteen members present, mostly from the north end. Bros. Baker and Brewer were the only representatives from the south end. Surely the train accommodations are as good south of Elmira as they are north, and the brothers from the south end can attend meetings with as little inconvenience as those from the north end.

Messrs. G. A. Knapp and F. B. Miller, now at Coal Switch tower.

Mr. H. L. Baxter, at Stanley nights.

Bro. C. M. Weeks on vacation. Bro. Davies working days during Bro. Weeks' absence.

Bro. Kyte, from Enderdale, was in attendance at last meeting.

Mr. Baker, late of Hall nights, has left the service per request.

Mr. R. J. Pollock, now at Snediker, where the work is light.

Bro. Dunning visited the Jamestown Exposition during his vacation, but he hasn't made any remarks as to what is to be seen there. However, if there was anything worth seeing, Bro. Dunning may be depended upon to have seen it.

No signs of fee or applications from Cogan Valley yet. An organizer will find fertile soil there.

Bro. Miller, of Trout Run, expects to start on vacation, August 19.

We may now call T. S. Blake brother, along with Bro. McLaughlin, and the Irish girls around "Q" tower.

Mr. Lundy doing ten days for No. 95 detention August 7, seventeen minutes.

Snediker on advertised list for a night man, also days for a while until Bro. B. T. Bryant, agent at Avalon, N. J., returns this fall.

Gillette night office now operated by phone. "13" it will be Bro. Laughlin's soon. Peterman, from Snediker, goes there also.

Bro. Bambury now at Fassett.

Bro. White, who has been on three weeks' leave of absence, resumes relief work.

Bro. Hayes, after a few days' vacation, is back, apparently as good as new.

Bro. Dunning resumed relief work on the south end August 5. This end seems to be pretty well off for telegraphers.

Phone offices at "NE," "FI," "GB" and "DR" nights. There are seven $49.50 and on relief day jobs on the south end.

D. B. Hanmer, from Watkins, now at Hall nights.

C. C. Lee, from Troy, worked at "K" tower two nights during Mr. Johnson's absence. Mr. C. B. Johnson, of "K" tower nights, was off three nights attending the burial of his sister.

Bro. C. H. Cayward, Pennyman nights, just back from a week's vacation.

While Division No. 100 may be in the infant class, we are coming to the front. Five applications last meeting is a pretty good showing, and when one considers that many of the men are not yet eligible, the fact that we have almost doubled our membership since May, looks encouraging.

The way some of the boys are getting after the nons is a caution, and the only way the poor non can acquire peace of mind is to join.

Both Johnsons at "K" tower have a two weeks' vacation promised in September. Mr. C. B. Johnson expects to go to Jamestown, while Bro. Johnson will put in his time picking his apple crop, and forking out his "spuds."

Bro. Davies, having been relieved by Bro. Weeks at Stanley, is taking a week off, having a good time, we understand.

Here's hoping the brothers from the south end will strain a point and have a stronger representation at our next meeting. They are missing a lot of good things by not showing up.

Div. Com.

Philadelphia Division, No. 102.

On the evening of July 27, Division No. 102 held a large and enthusiastic meeting, with Bro. H. B. Perham, our worthy president, acting as chief.

The large number of P. & R. boys who attended this meeting shows conclusively that they are wide-awake and are capable of bettering their conditions, which is coming their way in the shape of an O. R. T. schedule soon.

We had the pleasure of the presence of O. R. T. Organizer J. W. Riggins, of St. Louis.

General chairman of the O. R. T. General Committee, representing the P. R. R. lines east of Pittsburg and Erie, was with us, and helped much in making this meeting one not to be forgotten in a long time to come.

After the regular order of business was dispensed with, of which there was much conducted in the interest of the boys on the P. & R., the Old Reliable and Trusted, our worthy president, Bro. H. B. Perham, gave us a most encouraging and interesting address.

We also had with us Bro. Cunningham, of the Grand Division, who used to pound brass for railroad companies, but who is now working for Uncle Sam as postal clerk between Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

Bro. Lew Thurston, formerly of the A. C. Division, P. & R., now conductor for the Gloucester Traction Company, was with us. Lew is just recovering from an accident which befell him while on duty.

AN OLD VET.

Our regular meeting was held on August 24, at the regular meeting place, with Big Chief Mennig in the chair. It was noted that several members were absent who should have been present. They were the losers thereby, because they missed a very interesting meeting. Besides transacting the regular routine of business, we donated to the C. T. U. of A. the sum of $25. As the brothers all know, they are out on strike and their fight is also ours. A victory to them means a victory to us.

We are living right up to Bro. Quick's instructions of doing no more and no less. As a general rule it is very much less. Most of our regular patrons have stopped using the telegraph because Uncle Sam can give just as good service at the present time for less money.

I understand that there are only a few of our members who do not carry the blue up-to-date card. Hope that they will wake up and get in line. Also realize that they are not in good standing from September 1.

Division No. 102 was never so prosperous as it is now. The outlook is very, very bright. I am glad to say that every brother employed on this system is doing his duty, and the officials are beginning to realize that the O. R. T. man is the right kind of stuff. He can always be depended upon.

Bro. Rowan doing the night stunt at Valley Forge.

Bro. Mennig, our C. T., who is also a chief of the P. O. S. of A., marched at the head of his column in the parade, at the recent convention in Philadelphia.

Bro. Righter is working at Nicetown nights.

Southern Pacific Ry.

Salt Lake Division—

For the benefit of the telegraphers in the Middle West, I would like to publish a few lines regarding the "Short Line," a portion of the S. P. Co., and particularly the west end of the Salt Lake Division. The munificent pay of $77.50, with an occasional 25c extra for a meal hour, begrudgingly allowed, may look big to some of you; but the conditions are different. Most of the stations are located on the desert. I confine my remarks strictly to the district, Winnemucco to Sparks, one division 171 miles, having fourteen day and night offices on its time table. Of these, only four have what might be called towns, where a telegrapher can get board and room. A desert station is a telegraph office, with three or four rooms for the men to work, live and sleep in, a section house and some tie shacks for the foreign laborers or section gang, and a signal maintainer house. The nearest neighbor is usually the next telegraph office. Water is hauled in cans, and a cistern filled for common use; frequently empty on account of commercial freight taking preference over the wants of the employees. The telegraphers work twelve-hour tricks. If one goes to town for provisions, the other has to work extra.

Local freight rates are high and service slow. Often way-freight is three to twelve days coming from any town on the division. No post office. No express office, and the only way a telegrapher gets his mail is by special favor of some freight conductor.

The signal maintainer is furnished a good four-room cottage, cement foundations and cellar, kitchen sink with sewer, pantry, shelving, drawers, closets, good windows and doors. A modern building, and dust and cold-proof. Good woodshed and store-room. His average daily work is three hours. Has an annual pass, and goes to town any time. He is furnished with ice daily by the passenger train. Can eat meat, butter or vegetables during the hot weather. His pay is $75.

The telegraphers have a three or four room, cheap shack, not protected against heat, wind, cold or dust, and used in common by the two. He pays full first-class freight rates on his provisions. The section men or foreign laborers get a half cent a ton per mile rate, or 25c on two or three hundred pounds of provisions that would cost the telegrapher $3 to $5. He gets no ice and can't eat meat during the hot season, and uses butter out of a bottle. Fresh vegetables or fruit are unknown.

In the towns the pay of the telegrapher is inadequate. Last winter I saw two rooms occupied by a telegrapher in Reno, Nevada. Rent, $20. A sack of blocks from the planing mills cost one dollar, and would barely serve to warm the room and cook for one day. Bacon costs 25c per pound; potatoes have been 3c to 6c per pound all winter and spring.

The officials treat the telegraphers in the most cold-blooded manner. As an instance, Operator Merigan, a youth, the only support of a widowed mother, a good all-around boy, well up in station work, worked in Lovelock where the ticket sales amounted to $20,000 for February, last, was debarred from station work by the bond company on account of his age. He took an O. S. job at Parran nights. The weather was very hot last month and he found it impossible to sleep after 10 a. m., on account of the heat and flies. Three or four nights did him up. Not being able to get transferred, he quit. For this he was taken out of the service and properly blacklisted.

Two telegraphers, McCoy and Hoover, worked at Hazen last winter, during the time of the artificial coal famine. The weather was intensely cold, and because they went to the hotel to get warmth that they were not furnished in the telegraph office and refused to stay and work in a cold office, were taken out of the service.

Over a dozen such cases occurred within the past eight months. At one time nineteen telegraphers had their resignations in and waited weeks for relief. This was between Carlin and Sparks, two districts, 288 miles.

The telegrapher gets less pay, less consideration, does more work, and works longer hours than any other class of men on the Short Line.

Freight conductors make $200 to $220. Two freight brakemen on the local last month got $170 each, and the average pay of a freight brakeman is about $140.

Most of the telegraphers on this division are transient, pay their dues in St. Louis, and have no local interest in affairs; only to knock out a few months' pay and go elsewhere.

The Short Line makes this their policy. Keep the men going. Discharge as many as possible. Get new blood and give their men no chance to get organized and make a stand.

We have a State eight-hour law, effective since March 29th, last, but it is ignored by the Short Line.

CERT. 767, Div. 53.

Tucson Division—

For some time I have looked in vain for notes in our journal from this division, so at last have concluded to try my hand at it.

Tucson, the place where the division officials and our twelve trick dispatchers hold forth, and where we all have to go through "the mill" before starting our career on this division, is now provided with a fine new depot, with more commodious and pleasant accommodations for both passengers and employees. The boys working at that point appreciate the change.

Varous rumors of mighty hot weather along the line west of Tucson have been noised abroad of late. These may be all false, but we notice many a poor "owl" has come to grief lately, not being able to keep awake at night, on account of being unable to sleep days. If any eastern brother wonders why we get a little more money than he does and are asking for more, let him try a night job on the west end of the Tucson division of the Southern Pacific during the "warm" season.

Bro. Page, at Anapra, advises us he is soon to have a post office, and that he will at least get his postage stamps back in cancellations.

Agency at Deming is listed on the current bulletin. This will, no doubt, mean a move for several old-timers in the course of the next few months.

Bro. W. E. Moore bid in Lordsburg agency.

Bro. W. H. Lawrence and wife are enjoying the California sea breezes, while Bro. C. H. Ward checks the express and bills out the ore at Cochise.

Our worthy chief dispatcher, Mr. Stewart, is taking a well-earned vacation, with Night Chief Fairbanks relieving him. Mr. Hamilton, one of the new dispatchers, is acting as night chief in Mr. Fairbanks' place.

Bro. R. E. Cushman secured Dragoon agency on June bulletin, but is at present acting agent at Red Rock, on account of shortage of competent relief men.

Bro. H. A. Foster, of Estrella, is on extended leave of absence and "13" he does not intend to return.

Bro. A. G. Brinley, who figures on the incoming drags at Gila, is visiting friends in El Paso, being relieved by Bro. C. Q. Leslie.

Night office at Aztec is closed temporarily, and our Local Chairman, Bro. R. C. Weyer, says the overtime is a good thing, but that working twelve hours in the day time and meeting three passenger trains at night is no joke.

Red Rock agency appears on the current bulletin, and will fall to the lot of one of the old heads, no doubt. By the time some of us youngsters have worked our seven, ten and fifteen years on this division, we will think we should have first chance at the good jobs, too.

Bro. C. G. O'Connor, who has done the owl act at Mohawk so long, has taken unto himself the duties of a long-suffering station agent and bid in Sentinel, Mohawk nights being listed on August bulletin.

Bro. D. H. Inman, Wellton days, is on extended leave of absence, being relieved by Bro. W. C. Veyl.

Bro. Fred Ewing, who left the service some time ago, and who has been firing on this division since, is taking a vacation from his duties in the motive power department, and is doing a little extra work in "BY" office, Yuma, for a change.

Bro. J. T. Clayton, the genial agent at Yuma, is on the Coast, with his family, at present, and, it is said, that he intends going into business for himself in California, and will resign. Bro. C. F. Crane is doing the relief agency work until Bro. Clayton returns.

Many of the older men are leaving the service. Competent relief agents are as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth, and to quote from our non-union friend, Mr. Post, "there's a reason." Men who have ability sufficient to handle a large railroad station successfully can secure better salaries elsewhere; or if they have the capital, can often do well in business for themselves.

No doubt there are many items of interest that I have omitted; but, even so, a few items are better than none, and we don't want any one to get the impression that the Tucson district, Div. 53, is a "dead one," for it's not.

CERT. 766.

Cresson Division, No. 109.

The Cresson Division, No. 109, held two meetings during the month of August, 1907, the first meeting being held on Thursday evening, August 1, in Brown's Hall at Cresson, Pa., and the second meeting, held in Custer Hall at Conemaugh, Pa., on Saturday evening, August 24.

The attendance was good at the former meeting, whilst at the latter the attendance was somewhat below our expectations, due, possibly, to weather conditions, but we are glad to note that there were a few of the old standbys visible at both meetings in question, nothing daunting them, even though greatly inconvenienced to get there. We certainly admire such courage asserted among a few at least, and trust more of the boys will awaken to a sense of duty and favor us with their presence, as there is nothing so encouraging as a good attendance at our regular meetings.

The Cresson meeting was principally taken up with routine work, under the direction of Bro. John Kiger, of Pittsburg, Pa., who was a visiting member from Division No. 52, and this being our first regular meeting held since the institution of the new division, there were questions not clear to the presiding officers, therefore, Bro. Kiger's assistance proved very valuable to us. Bro. Kiger also favored us with a short address, defining his duties as local chairman, which was very instructive to the boys, and at the same time highly appreciated by them. Come again, Bro. Kiger. There were two applications presented and favorably acted on at this meeting, which added two more sisters to the membership of Division No. 109. Who will be next of the fair sex to get into the band-wagon? There is still plenty of room.

The Conemaugh meeting was similar in character to our Cresson meeting, there being four applications presented and all acted on favorably, which clearly demonstrates that we are gaining strength in our membership in this section, and, doubtless, bear us out in making the assertion that we propose making Division No. 109 the banner division in Pennsylvania.

Samuel K. Bosley, who formerly worked for the P. R. R. Co., but recently employed in the steel car department of the Cambria Steel Company, at Conemaugh, Pa., has again accepted a position with the Pennsylvania Railroad, in the telegraph department, and is doing extra duty at various points on the Mountain Division. We are glad to hear of his return to the service on account of the scarcity of telegraphers, and at the same time his name has been added to our membership roll as a solid O. R. T. man.

Bro. J. H. Ritter, second trick at "C" tower, was called very unexpectedly to Manheim, Pa., on account of the sudden death of his brother, Andrew J. Ritter, who died, after a brief illness, of paralysis. We, one and all, extend our sincere sympathy to this bereaved brother in his time of loss and sorrow.

COR.

B. & O. S. W. Ry.

Indiana Division—

I note brothers along the line asking off for dinner between the hours of 11 and 1, when they have only twenty-five or thirty minutes in which to gulp down the viands. This is not right. It's a direct violation of one of the most enviable concessions in our last agreement with the company. If you are unable to secure the full sixty minutes between the hours of 11 a. m. and 1 p. m., or 11 p. m. and 1 a. m., you should not ask off at all until after the 1 a. m. or 1 p. m., after which hour you are allowed thirty minutes, if feasible. It was only after hard work, of a month, or more, that our committee pried loose these concessions from the ever-vigilant officials, and they ought to be lived up to. They certainly were not gotten to be violated at will or with impunity. What makes it appear the more grievous is that the violation is being carried on mostly among the old "accuts," who should be setting a good example to the younger element, instead. The towermen and block telegraphers received instructions from the general superintendent that the meal hour would not be allowed them on account that they were to receive one day off each month with pay. Now, the two rules covering these two concessions can in no way be construed so they will conflict in this manner. The general understanding is that the towermen and block men being held to their work twelve consecutive hours, seven days a week, were, in lieu of their inability of getting any time off from their working hours, allowed one day off each month in addition to the meal hour, which they are compelled to work each day. Because towermen and block telegraphers are unable to get off for dinner they are not allowed the meal hour, and other telegraphers, who generally are able to get off for the meal hour, are allowed it, because they don't need it? I can see no logic in such reasoning, nor can any one else. Our General Chairman has the matter in hand and will evidently have the kink straightened out ere the reader gazes his optics on this article.

Every manipulator of the magic key is on the qui vive, anent the eight-hour day, which I feel will have arrived next March, the 4th. The railroad corporations will be there, of course, making the sad appeal that they are unable to lasso the desired number of brass-pounders in that short time, and in consequence, plead for a year's extension of time. But I feel sure that it will be no go, for I am of the opinion that certain gentlemen will step forward at the psychological moment and say "we can furnish the necessary number of telegraphers."

The company have been living up to the agreement of relieving the towermen and block men one day each month, all right. Porkopolis seems to be a center toward whence they all seem to gravitate on their holiday.

Bro. John Woods, recently day man at Lawrenceville, is now doing the stunt nights at Fern Bank, on the Big Four.

Bro. Leo Hicks has left the service of the B. & O. S. W. and is working nights at Crane St., Cincinnati, on the Pennsylvania.

Bros. "Red" Huntington and "Patsy" McKay have resigned and left for fields more remunerative.

T. P. Flanagan, formerly second trick on Cincinnati district, is now working a trick out of Parsons, Kan., on the Katy.

Bro. Everett Erwin, formerly telegrapher on the B. & O. S. W., is now working a trick out of Lima, Ohio, on the C. H. & D.

Bro. H. Russell Huffman, formerly night man at Cook's Tower, is now working nights in the yard office of the N. P. at South Tacoma. Huff has moved his family out there, and is very enthusiastic over that part of the Occident, presaging great things for that country in the future.

Bert Thompson, formerly employed on this pike, is now working for the Canadian Pacific at Medicine Hat, copying in the dispatcher's office. Bert was working for the W. U. at Montreal, but dutifully left his key when called out.

Bros. Arthur Richardson, Will Johnson, Bert Siemantel and Chas. Blackmore spent their holidays in Cincinnati. John Young spent his in Osgood. All report "this one day off a month" as fine "biz."

Will some kind brothers tell me how I can dispose of THE TELEGRAPHER after reading its fair pages. Time was when I could send it to various nons along the line, but now things are different. We are solid O. R. T. from stern to stem, which I am proud to chronicle.

Now, that I have broken the ice with a few lines from "home," let some more competent brother take up the cudgel and keep the ball rolling, so that we may be represented each month in our decidedly interesting and valuable journal.

CERT. 7.

Bro. Boileau had a pleasant visit in New York and the East for several weeks. Was relieved by Bro. Patmore.

Mr. Thos. Kesheimer has joined us and is a brother. He relieved Bro. Huber while Bro. Huber was enjoying fifteen days' leave of absence; also relieved Bro. Hutchinson, nights, for two weeks.

Mr. J. J. McGinnis promises to fall in line pay-day.

Only a few more nona left. Brothers, get busy and line them all up by pay-day.

Bro. Brown is now relief telegrapher.

Bro. Parker is doing first stunt at "NA," Bro. Howard second, and Bro. Keck third, Mr. Terrell leaving the service of this company.

New schedule took effect August 1st. Noon hour still pending, although the company agreed to give us an hour for meal time or overtime therefor. Hope by the time this goes into print matters will be adjusted by our committee.

Brothers, send in a few items. Every little helps. Seems like we are all afraid to write.

CERT. 262.

Mobile & Ohio Ry.

Murphysboro District—

In last month's issue of THE TELEGRAPHER appeared the first write-up of any kind I have yet seen from the M. & O. Of course, the write-up did not cover the entire road, but it helped to start the ball to rolling. If all the members will send me items of some kind each month relative to what is happening on the line, I will forward them for publication, and let the brothers throughout the country know that there is a solid bunch of O. R. T. men on the M. & O., with the exception of a very few. Now, boys, we have got to push; there's no use in talking, and if we don't get together and shove the same direction, we will accomplish nothing. What good is our Order to us if we don't use it? We notice a great deal in the journal relative to the eight-hour day and $75 minimum. If we don't get together and work to that end we will never obtain results. The officials are not coming around to us and say: "You fellows need a raise," and give it to us. Now, brothers, let's all get together and try and accomplish something; and whatever you do, keep the students out of the offices. They are not making you anything. Some of the brothers are liable to lose their cards if they persist in teaching students. We have no less than seven students on the Murphysboro District. If we ever hope to attain success, it must be stopped, and vigorous measures should be taken to do it.

Give the company your best service, and show them we appreciate our first schedule, and when we go for a revision it will not be so hard to get.

Bro. J. O. Bryant is back with us again, after his trip. Hope he will stick with us this time, and get a first trick shift, when the nine-hour law goes into effect next March.

Bro. Sisk, who has been at "SY" tower for the past 15 months, has gone to his home in St.

Charles, Ky., to enter the newspaper business with his brother. Good luck to him wherever he may be.

Bro. Stearns, our local chairman, will leave us the first to attend medical college. Understand Bro. C. B. Paynes, from the I. C., will relieve him as agent at Red Bud. Bro. Stearns has our best wishes for success as a physician. Haven't heard as yet who will succeed him as local chairman. We certainly regret losing him, as he assisted in securing our first schedule, and hope he will return when the term of school is out.

Bro. Geo. Habermehl has been successful in landing the position at Bixby, with the Cotton Belt, working six hours per day and Sunday off.

Bro. Chas. Kistner, of the Missouri Pacific, is visiting his mother in Union City, Tenn.

Bro. R. Bailey and wife, of Union City, have been visiting relatives in Bardwell, Ky.

Bro. J. S. Hayden, of Marion, Ky., is visiting relatives in Cairo, Ills.

CERT. 1024.

NOTICE.

To All Members O. R. T., St. Louis Division, No. 2, Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co.:

Having been appointed to the position of local chairman of the St. Louis Division to fill the unexpired term of Bro. Stearns, with your assistance I hope to make St. Louis Division the banner division of the system.

Don't fail to give me the tip when a non shows up, or when a brother from another division comes along; be sure to give me his name and address, same as you would a non. By doing this we can keep posted, and work to a much better advantage.

Any assistance I can render you in any way don't hesitate to call on me, and I will do my very best.

Soliciting your co-operation, I am,

Yours fraternally,

W. H. POLSGROVE, JR.,

Jordan, Ky.

Local Chairman.

Ayer Division, No. 104.

Bro. Dugdale is reported working for the Southern Pacific at Anaheim, Cal.

Bro. Collicutt, Marlboro Village, is away on vacation. Relieved by a Mr. Pickering.

Bros. Healey and Sinclair, of Clinton, took their vacations this month, doubling for each other.

Telegraphers Charlton and McCall, C. T. U. A. members, working at South Lancaster nights, while that job was up for bid.

Bro. Felch has been relieving in dispatcher's office, Nashua, for a few weeks while vacations are in order.

Mr. McCall has been working at Sterling Junction while Bros. Monahan and K. H. Bates were away on vacations.

It is reported that Bros. Sinclair and Healy, at Clinton, are to leave September 1 for Winnipeg, Manitoba, where they have secured positions.

Bro. Lucier is now located at Winnipeg.

Telegrapher Gokey bid in "AY," Ayer days.

Bro. Patterson bid in agency at Harrisville, and, after working there a few days, bid in South Lancaster, nights.

Bro. McLenna bid in "MU," Ayer days, Telegrapher Haggerty being promoted to assistant yard master at Ayer.

Telegrapher Defoe bid in East Littleton agency. Understand Mr. Defoe has made out an application for an "up-to-date."

Mr. Keniston reconsidered his resignation and is again working at Harrisville. CERT. 4.

Union Pacific Ry.

Western Nebraska Division—

Can't stand it any longer, boys. I've watched the U. P. write-ups for a year now, and have yet to see the first write-up from the West Nebraska. But we all take a pride in this district, and I am sure there are those who have been with us in times past who would be glad to see us represented here, even though it be the same old story that we hear the country over. Don't know that I could report any vacations, for, honestly, I don't know of a single man taking one now, and the number getting them at all this summer has been very few. Men of any ability are so scarce that it seems to be the policy of Mr. Anderson, our chief, to allow no vacations. If you want off you quit. While it is not his fault, it is very inconvenient to us fellows when we want off.

Haven't had a line-up of the district since spring, but at that time there were only three or four nons on the district, including branches, and I am confident it is as good now. Really, it would have done your loyal hearts good to have seen the way the boys obeyed that fake telegram, circulated when the C. T. U. A. boys first went out, purporting to come from headquarters, and asking us to handle no "W. U. biz." Not a man on this district handled them. The W. U. wires were completely tied up during the period those instructions were good, with the exception of Kearney and Grand Island, up-town offices, not railroad offices, which are scabbing. When the news came that the telegram was all a fake, the boys all raised a howl, and did not want to take them, but they showed their respect for their leaders' instructions, and gave in. All the messages are mailed from Omaha, and are as promptly mailed to the Denver Post, which shows through its columns, as that paper is printing these messages.

Boys, hang on; every one push, for we are almost to the top of that greatest hill, or thorough organization. When that is reached, the others can be surmounted with ease. Great and vital questions are presenting themselves to us as a profession. What stand is the O. R. T. taking? We must look to the Order as our only logical spokesman and representative. The people of the United States have a Congress to handle knotty problems, and we must have an organization to attend to ours, and that organization is the O. R. T. Like Bro. Johnson says in his introduction to the Burlington write-up for August, this talk of $75 minimum, etc., makes me tired. We must do something. Opportunity knocks once at every man's door; it is knocking at the door of our profession now. The nine-hour law has been enacted; all Congress could do, and will try to be side-stepped by the railroads. We must have the figures in rebuttal of the excuses they will make; in other words, must "show" the commission. I'll wager a good fat horse from my farm that you have never answered Bro. Perham's letter of some time ago inquiring about telegraphers in your neighborhood engaged in other business, and on what terms they would return to the profession. He must have this information, and the only way he can get it is through you. Wake up, now, and give it to him.

Agency at Miller, on the Callaway branch, and day telegrapher position at "GD," Grand Island yard office, open on last bulletin, caused by the resignation of Bro. Johnson at the latter, and Bro. Gard at Miller, getting Shelton days, as telegrapher on bid. Did not learn where Bro. Johnson went.

Bro. J. A. Manus resigned as third day telegrapher "GE," Grand Island relay office, and returned to his old home at Carbondale, Ills., or near there, for a visit preparatory to going to San Francisco, where he has a position in sight. Sorry to see him go, but here's luck to him. He was relieved by Mr. Richardson, of Kansas City.

Bro. Root, our local chairman, relieved a few days at Wood River agency. Understand to attend to Order business. Relieved by night man, whose name I did not learn. While Bro. G. C. Gabriel, from Callaway, on the branch, went to Wood River nights.

Bro. Freeman, agent at Shelton, bid in Spaulding, on the Eastern District, O. R. V. branch, and Shelton has been transferred permanently to Bro. Buskirk, formerly relief agent on the Eastern District. While we are glad to have Buskirk with us, we hate very much to lose Bro. Freeman, who, besides being the up-to-date man he is, had the "rep." of being the most tidy and neat station agent on the district. Those are the kind of men we like to point to with pride as Order men.

They have closed several night offices lately, including Alda, Buda and Shelton, on account of the new double track between Silver Creek, on the east, and Watsons Ranch on the west. The track is a great help in the dispatch of traffic. As for the cutting out the night offices that will inconvenience no one except, probably, Bro. Helber, at Alda, who has to hang two mails outside of regular hours, but as this nets him a dollar more per day, the old saying: "The jingle of the guinea helps the hurt that honor feels," will surely hold good here.

A new position, second day telegrapher, created at Lexington recently. Bro. F. E. Rice, of Brady Island, getting in on bid.

Bros. C. Winters, of Gothenburg, and Jas. Nagel, of Kearney days, each served a "term" in "GE," Grand Island office lately.

Bro. C. W. Horne, agent at Maxwell, just back from a vacation, being one of the lucky few to get a lay-off. He was relieved by Bro. F. A. Thornburgh.

Bro. G. F. Birmingham off on account of sickness.

As I haven't been in touch with the Ord branch since spring, don't know what is going on up there, but you can bet they are all lined-up about as solid as the main line.

Understand Bro. W. C. Stevenson, of Pleasanton, is taking a short vacation, but do not know his relief.

"P. T."

Wyoming Division, Sixth and Seventh District—

Western Union business temporarily suspended, awaiting the attainment of the desired results.

We regret very much that Bro. Peckinpaugh, of Laramie, met with misfortune, but trust that he may prosper elsewhere.

Bro. A. C. Donart, late from Indiana, has taken up his abode on the U. P., and we hope that his feet are not too tender for our initiating cactus.

Bro. Chism holding down the day job at Wolcott until the vacancy is filled on bulletin.

The "Boomers" are rather numerous on the pike, but Hanna nights, gets a majority of them.

Bro. Phligar, from Missouri, holding Hanna nights, at present.

Sister Horton at Lookout has adopted the block and tackle system to handle the interlocking plant at that point.

Seems that these interlockers could be so adjusted that it would not be necessary to resort to this kind of a contrivance.

Glad to note the sister has the pluck to stay with it, just the same.

Bros. Brackley and Klein are in a tool house with their instruments since the burning of their depot at Dana.

Bro. Stump, general chairman, we understand, is covering a part of the system.

Would be pleased to have him come out on the Wyoming Division, Western District. We need him.

There are quite a number of transfers being made from foreign divisions, and the nons are getting very scarce. Why not all brothers transfer to Division No. 6? We will endeavor to treat you as well, at least, as you could be treated in any foreign division; so, what is the object in paying your dues into a division from which you derive no material benefit?

Bro. Prentice has severed his connections with the U. P., and is now working for the S. P. in Nevada.

Double track now in operation between Solon and Rawlins. This will necessarily add to Bro. and Sister Ford's duties for the present, or until the track is extended farther west.

We are pleased to note that the rumor going the rounds to the effect that there was a scab employed in the Rawlins relay office was without foundation, as Bro. Knightlinger advises his office is solid O. R. T.

Bro. E. L. Duffy, who relieved Bro. Ablard at Bitter Creek, was in turn relieved by Bro. Colony; Bro. Duffy going to Latham nights. Later relieved Bro. Sherman at Creston, who took a few weeks' vacation back in Missouri and a side trip to Denver. On Bro. Sherman's return, Bro. Duffy left the service, headed for Arizona, we understand.

Bro. Ingham, Rock Springs nights, also enjoyed an extended vacation, being relieved by Bro. Miller. On Bro. Ingham's return, Bro. Miller transferred Latham nights. Says he is thinking of casting his lot with the S. P. in the near future.

Quite a number of C. T. U. A. men among us at present. Welcome to our ranks, brothers, but would be pleased to see you take out O. R. T. cards, as we need the money in our division.

Mr. Snyder, Wamsutter nights, met with a painful accident recently, having placed a quantity of dynamite in a tin can, stepped off a few paces and shot into it. Needless to say the dynamite exploded, and a fragment of the can lodged in his arm, necessitating his going to the hospital.

Mr. Long, Tipton nights, called home to Indiana, we understand, on account of the serious illness of his wife.

This is another non who has made faithful promises, but up to present writing is still "outen the fold."

Bro. Shaw, Wamsutter days, also called home on account of the serious illness of his wife. The brother has our sincere sympathy, and trust we will have the pleasure of welcoming him in our midst before many days.

Bro. Glasgow, of Wilkins, has also asked for relief on account of the illness of his wife.

Bitter Creek been bulletined over a month, but no assignment made.

Bro. Yantiss is in Denver attending a meeting of our general committee. The response of the membership to the general information letter sent out was far above the average, due to the untiring efforts of Bro. Burch, assistant local chairman.

Bro. Trapp, we understand, has left Green River for some point in New Mexico to take a trick.

Vacancies occur at Green River quite frequently on account of the work being heavy and living expenses high.

Telegrapher Strauss, one of the best that has struck this pike for some time, has resigned and gone to Indianapolis.

Bro. Cue advises the Green River office is solid; no card, no favors, is the motto, and any brothers coming in off the line will meet with a royal welcome from the brothers stationed there. We have no occasion to doubt the brother's hospitality, as he shows his genial good fellowship in his work on the wire.

CERT. 410.

Wyoming Division, Eastern District—

Bro. N. Johnson, ex-bridge dispatcher from Omaha, is working North Platte, "NO" office nights. With this exception the force stands as usual, and a fine set of boys, too.

Bro. F. L. Murphy, formerly days at Birdwood, is with the work train at the front on the North Platte Valley branch, since work was resumed there a few weeks ago. It is supposed that a train will be put on that line soon. Mr. W. H. Benham traveling freight agent for the Union Pacific, made a trip up the branch a few days ago, looking after the freight business.

Bro. M. J. Harrington, who was working nights at Birdwood, when Bro. Murphy took the work-train, was placed as day telegrapher, temporarily. Understand Bro. J. W. Carman, from Fort Steele, bid in the day job on bulletin. Night office is closed at present, Bro. Gilley having resigned a week ago, and left.

Bro. John Bock, newcomer from the Missouri Pacific nights, at Big Springs, while that persistent non, Mr. Mathers, who claims the reason he stays out in the cold is that he saw a couple of members of the Order take a glass of beer together, continues to work days.

Bros. Seibert and Hall, at Brule. A new station, with elegant living rooms, is just being completed at that point, and as the town is growing rapidly, promises to be a good job. Understand a depot on the same plan will be built at Roscoe this fall, which will probably enable the company to hold telegraphers there, as heretofore the "box-car batchelor" proposition didn't look good to them, and their stay was usually brief.

Mr. H. V. Hilliker has been appointed train master, vice J. F. Clabaugh, resigned, and Mr. O. W. Brandt has been appointed chief dispatcher, vice L. L. Brown, resigned.

Don't see very many bulletins lately. Boys must be very well satisfied.

We expect to have a revised schedule by October 1st, and expect some other points to be gained, which will make it all the more satisfactory. Now that the ball is rolling, why not get together and ask the Western Union for about 15 per cent to 25 per cent commission on receipts. They claim they are handling all the business perfectly, but messages continue to arrive by mail, and not a single effort is made to reach the office to which the message is addressed, by wire. It is easier to hire a "school kid" to lick postage stamps and address envelopes than to hire competent telegraphers to transmit messages by wire. But the innocent public pay the full price, thinking to get quick service.

It is very pleasing to note how well the Union Pacific is represented in THE TELEGRAPHER. A few months ago hardly a single division was in evidence, while this month (July), every division on the system is heard from.

There are two good men even in this small town who are competent telegraphers, but who choose other means of livelihood on account of long hours, short pay and the thousand other grievances the telegrapher has to contend with. When the nine-hour law goes into effect, if salaries are made high enough to enable one to make a decent living, these and thousands of other men all over the country will gladly return to their old profession, so there will be no scarcity of telegraphers, and no one should teach students because some official may put up a mournful cry about being unable to get telegraphers.

CERT. 616.

Kansas Division, Eastern District—

Mr. A. T. Palmer, our assistant superintendent, has been on the sick list.

Mr. Joe Johnson, our accommodating first trick dispatcher, had the great misfortune of losing his baby boy. Cholera infantum being the cause. We all join in extending our sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Bro. C. B. Plank, from the K. C. S., doing relief work in "GN" office, Kansas City, while Mr. Hawkins and the brothers there are taking their summer vacations.

Bro. Schuchman, "Z" office, Kansas City nights, taking his vacation. Unable to learn who is relieving.

Bro. M. L. Guyton, "JC" nights, was off for a couple of weeks, being relieved by Mr. H. O. Bird, from the Burlington claim department. Bro. Guyton has been transferred to this division.

Bro. C. C. Edgar bid in Tonganoxie; being relieved at Muncie by Mr. Heathman, the helper from Randolph.

Edwardsville holds the record for "spuds," having shipped over 150 cars with Linwood and Loring fighting for second place, and Lawrence third. Over 800 cars having been shipped from the Kaw Valley on this side of the river this season.

Bro. A. B. Campbell, who did the extra stunt along here a few months ago, was seen riding the plug a few days ago. Bro. Campbell didn't say, but it must have been Perry.

We received a card from Bro. H. Patton, one-time mayor, chief of police and agent at Fall Leaf, who is now located at Camp Meeker, California. The most important points of interest about the card being the busy agent with his big O. R. T. sign on one side and a fine large crowd of girls on the other.

We wish to thank Mr. E. L. Raines, a brother of Bro. F. G. Raines, at Williamstown, for services rendered this organization. If, at any time, you can return the favor do it.

Bro. Chas. Alexander, Silver Lake, comes to the front this month with two applications to his credit, in addition to helping the cause along in various other ways.

Mr. Hooven and Mr. Hendrix, of Wamego, both have their applications in. This makes the telegraph department at Wamego solid. Let's land Mr. Thomson, the agent, next.

Bro. G. E. Payne, second days, Manhattan, taking his vacation. Last reported from Los Angeles; being relieved at Manhattan by Bro. Ross, from St. Mary, who was relieved by the St. Mary's helper, Mr. Farrel. Bro. Ross was relieved at Manhattan by Mr. Bethmann, who was too light for the job, and was relieved by Bro. Marshall, from N. P., Seattle.

Bro. G. C. Shaefer, formerly of Russell, now taking care of the plaster at Blue Rapids.

Bro. Klasse relieving Bro. McDonald at St. George, who goes to Onaga to attend a M. W. A. convention, and from there to New Mexico on business.

Bro. H. C. Wiggle, from Division 93, now at Fort Riley.

Bro. Weeks, Belleville, taking his vacation in Minneapolis, being relieved by Mr. Bradley, who is in business on the Junction City branch.

Bro. Hughey, to Denver, with the committee, being relieved by the boys doubling at Junction City.

To look at him no one would suspect that Conductor P. C. Kinney was a poet. But such is the case. Recently a gem of his, which follows, was unearthed, which Kinney explains was written under great stress of mind to D. C. Leach, one-time general chairman of this division, who at that time was working a trick in Kansas City:

Was called to leave on the local train, 158,
With an order to meet an extra at Eureka Lake.
Sojourned one hour and forty minutes at Manhattan Beach,

Through the courtesy of trick dispatcher Leach.
Crew very much disappointed; naturally, a little sore,

And wondered what had become of the 1474.

—P. C. K.

At the present time the C. T. U. A. strike has put the lid on the Kaw Valley good and tight. Very few messages have been received at any of the stations on this end, and these few by mail.

I recently heard a brother "knocking" one of our division officers, and to a non-member, too. There is nothing that will hurt our organization more than this "knocking" and dissatisfaction in the ranks. Put away your personal feelings in the matter and work for the good of the Order. If you have a "knock" due you, go out in the woodshed all by your lonesome, and "knock" to your heart's content. If you don't like the way your union is being run, dig in and help run it, but don't be a "do nothing" and complain because others are doing the work you should help do. If a clique is running things, join the clique. They are the workers, without whom the local would go out of existence. Any one can be a "knocker;" it takes a good man to be a worker.

By the time this is in print our committee will have met the management. What they will secure for us is all speculation; of one thing you can be sure: They will get all that is possible. While they are working for us, let's all get busy and work for a solid membership. We can do it. There are only three telegraphers and two exclusive agents out of the fold, who can now be taken in. When you get your new schedule, don't sit down and find fault with it, but be thankful for small favors, and work for a better one next time. It may be a surprise to some of you, but it was next to impossible to get information blanks out of some the telegraphers. One man going so far as to say he would send it in if we wanted him to. I wonder if he thought it was an ornament? There were some almost useless. Ho.

Bessemer & Lake Erie Ry.

Will make another effort to represent our division as correspondent.

Bro. S. P. Duffy is off duty on account of sickness in his family. Mr. J. H. Hogg is filling the vacancy.

Bro. H. C. Walters, of "VE" tower, is taking his yearly allowance, a ten-day vacation.

Bro. R. G. Loveday, night man at "VE" tower, taking days, and Mr. W. L. Craig, only with this company one month, is working nights.

Bro. E. G. Resinger, from supervisor's office, gave the south end boys a visit recently.

Bro. Fitzmartin, of Pittsburg Junction, has been off attending the funeral of his brother, who died in Ohio.

Bro. G. H. Hilliker, transferred from Blacks Run to first trick at "XB" tower; relieved by Bro. Elder from Division No. 52.

We have the applications for membership of E. F. Kingdon, Plum Creek nights, and W. Wadsworth, second trick at "XB" tower. This makes Plum Creek and North Bessemer solid.

Mr. D. S. Braden is working nights at Horne.

Bros. C. W. Smith, of Springboro, and C. R. Lupper, of Girard, have returned from a ten days' vacation. Mr. Wright was doing the stunt as helper, with the assistance of Bro. Lloyd as telegrapher, while Bro. Lupper was absent.

Bro. M. C. Hahn has transferred from "RX" tower nights, to "NA" days.

Bro. H. C. Herrick, transferred from Springboro nights to the agency at Cranesville.

Mr. Walls has resigned at Pennside to take up his life of travels again. Bro. Cassidy is filling the vacancy.

Bros. Smith and Fleeger are still holding down Springboro, with Mr. Spear nights. We hope to call Mr. Spear brother soon.

Bro. Hill is doing the stunt at Exposition Park this season.

Mr. W. S. Filson is at "AK" tower. Am sorry, but "13" he has fallen by the wayside. Hope he will brace up, get wise, pay up and square himself with the boys.

Bro. Blake Smith is working all by his lonesome, as they have moved the block office from the station to a little hut north.

Bro. Smidtt has been transferred from "NA" tower to "JN" tower, third trick.

Bro. H. DeRusha, formerly third trick telegrapher at "KO" Junction, and days at Conneaut Lake, has resigned and left for the far West. Destination unknown at present.

Bro. F. H. Myers was transferred from the agency at Claytonia to the joint office with the Lake Shore at Osgood.

Bro. J. S. Nearman, day telegrapher for the Lake Shore, now working second trick at "KO" Junction.

There have been several applications for admittance to Division No. 51, among them are Mr. A. Bonner, Shenango; Mr. Boyle, third trick man at Butler transfer, and Bro. Pfabe, of Houseville, who joined last month.

List of nons and back-sliders on the Conneaut Branch for some reason seems to remain the same. Gilt-edged promises have been given from time to time, and in one or two cases sickness has prevented, but for those who are still out we see no good excuse.

Bro. R. R. Snyder has lost his happy home at Carter on account of that office being closed, and will take "HX" tower days. This will put Bro. T. S. Hughes back nights.

Bro. D. E. Langdon, employed on the Bessemer at one time, gave us a short visit last week, and is now employed with the B., R. & P. at Buffalo.

Bro. A. C. Bond, night man at Pittsburg Junction, has resigned, going to his home at St. Thomas, Ont., for a visit.

Bro. H. G. Kugler, first trick man at "YA" tower, is enjoying his yearly allowance—ten days' vacation.

Bro. Whitford is off on a ten-day vacation.

Bro. Wm. McClung and wife spent Sunday visiting relatives in Newcastle, and reports seeing Bro. C. A. Rood, of East Newcastle.

Bro. J. R. Patterson, general chairman of Division No. 51, resigned same, taking effect August 17.

Bro. Patterson has also resigned his position as agent at Hilliard, having bought a half interest in a hardware and lumber firm. Best wishes of Division No. 51 go with him in his new work.

The General Committee elected Bro. C. V. Patton to the position of general chairman. Bro. Patton is local chairman of District No. 3, and needs no introducing, as he has already acted as general chairman on several occasions.

Meetings of Division No. 51 have been discontinued during the months of August and September, on account of small attendance. Business too brisk for the boys to get away. Meetings will begin again October 18, unless otherwise instructed.

Div. Coa.

H. & T. C. Ry.

Division No. 57 has been considerably stirred up during the past month or so, principally on account of the eight-hour law and bulletin incidental thereto. Quite a string of positions were bulletined, mostly of the eight-hour class. Quite a number of changes will result, and, possibly, a few new vacancies, as we understand there is a prospect that a few may leave the line after the places have all been filled.

Boys, we have a lot of work to do and want to see you getting busy. A recent check of the line shows several non-members, twelve or fifteen members of other divisions who should be transferred to No. 57, and two or three C. T. U. A. men, who will take out O. R. T. cards if asked to do so.

We hope to be able to secure a suitable hall at Dallas before long and get our regular meetings scheduled. We will be able to add some twenty or twenty-five members who are working in Dallas and attached to the Grand and other divisions.

On Sunday night, after the commercial strike was called, I visited the C. T. U. A. meeting, by invitation, and promised them our moral support and sympathy, and told them if they needed it our purses would also be open to them. Such proved to be the case, and I wish to heartily thank our boys for the prompt and liberal response given to the call. When I made the promise I had not consulted a single one of our members, but I know them and knew that the appeal would not be in vain. We have turned over to them a very neat little sum, with another division to hear from. The division south of Hearne did exceptionally well.

That the response has been duly appreciated by our C. T. U. A. brothers and sisters goes without saying, and at a meeting held August 25, they passed a resolution warmly thanking the O. R. T. boys of H. & T. C. Division, No. 57, and the trainmen on the H. & T. C. for their support.

We all feel proud of the men working on the old reliable Houston & Texas Central. We are one large family, including all departments, and no call for aid, no matter who from, or what for, ever goes away unheeded, if at all worthy of attention.

We hope to see troubles all ended and the dove of peace perched upon the C. T. U. A. banner before this is printed, but if it is not to be the case, we will still be found doing all we can to assist them with substantial aid and good cheer.

Fraternally,

W. J. BURKE.

El Paso & Southwestern Ry.

Eastern Division—

It is so long since we have shone forth from the pages of the journal that some of the old timers will think this a false report, we hear so many false reports nowadays.

They are chiefly confined to the claims made by the El Paso Times regarding the commercial telegraphers' strike. None of the boys here have been much bothered with the Postal business since the strike began, and from all appearances the end is not yet. No use to say we are with them. They all know that and we all mean it.

Bro. I. W. Anderson, of Tularosa, has lately returned from a month's trip to East Texas.

Bro. E. A. Roberts, lately of the South American Cable Company, at Vera Cruz, Mexico, relieved Bro. Anderson at Tularosa, and is now on the owl shift at Rio Grande.

Bro. Jack Mooney is back at Rio Grande from a ninety days' leave. "13" he has been up in the northern peninsula of Michigan. He came back single, but answered all questions with a "not yet, but soon."

Mr. P. L. Rogers has been transferred from days at Rio Grande to third trick dispatcher at Carrizozo. If Pat can hit the ball on the diamond like he does on the third trick, he can sign with the White Sox next season.

There seems to be a professional prejudice against the Carrizozo "C" office. Can't keep track of the changes there at all of late. May be on account of the general scarcity of telegraphers in these parts.

If all of the boys will inform of the changes and any news of our division I will be glad to continue with a monthly write-up. For this time I am unprepared and submit what I can with hopes that it will start the boys into action and cause them to help me to get out a good report next month. Let us make brothers of our nons and we can all feel saintly for having done good deeds to the erring and unfortunate.

Business is good here. Our pike has much more than it can handle. The stockholders should be happy. Let us make our local organization thorough and when that is done we can demand better returns for our investment of brains and labor in this enterprise, and be happy and prosperous.

EL TORO DE LA SIERRA.

C. B. & Q. Ry.

Some criticisms have been made concerning my July article in THE TELEGRAPHER, but I have failed to locate anything therein which is improper. It has always been and, doubtless will always be, a fact that a telegrapher has to work very hard for the small salary he receives, therefore, I see no reason why any of us should endeavor to teach telegraphers the habit of doing nothing and expect a lot for it.

We must teach men to work for what they get, do their work well, have a system of doing it, and follow that system at all times, and thus shorten the time required to do a certain piece of work, and finally cut out the habit of working fourteen to eighteen hours for twelve hours' pay. There is no more reason why a telegrapher should work fourteen to eighteen hours for twelve hours' pay than there would be for him working forty-five days for a month. There are a great many stations that have plenty of work for two men and only one man to do the work, but that is no reason why the agent should work day and night. If he can not do the work in twelve hours, then he should be given help to do it. If he works over twelve hours a day there is no reason why he should not be paid overtime for the extra hours.

I do not believe in the policy of being niggardly about anything, but I do believe in the policy of working the number of hours you are paid for and no more, that is, of course, there is some little exception to the rule frequently, where circumstances warrant it, however, the policy of some men who work from one to six hours' overtime each day and donate it, is something that is certainly bad.

I have never in all my life heard any railroad company ask such a thing of their men, and, to be sure, I have never heard a railroad official instruct men not to do it either. A man is supposed to work twelve hours and work diligently. If, at the end of that time, his work is not done, then he has too much work for one man. Some might say his ability was not as great as some other man's. That may be true enough, but if railroads expect to fill all their positions with men of like ability, they may as well quit business, as it can not be done. I say there is no reason for this working so much overtime as a donation.

I do not want to be unfair, but I want to be right. I do not desire men to shirk their duty; let them do a day's work, not a half day's work, and when the day is up quit and do the rest the next day. Then, if the work can not be kept up, there is need for a good helper.

Some agents are furnished helpers that are not helpers, and are paid from $15 to $25 per month. They are helpers in name only.

I never was a believer in cheap labor, and I am sure I never will be. The evidence of cheap labor is too plainly seen to convince any sane man of its desirability. Thus, these cheap helpers are not only a drug on the market, but a detriment to the company.

There are a few men, as I stated before, who are not worth half what they are getting. Let me explain who they are, but first let me say that the man who toils on from day to day as we do are unquestionably worth a great deal more than we are getting. The class that I particularly refer to is the class that are much like the Irishman's flea, "Now you have got him and now you haven't got him."

In other words, it is the class of men who will not stick to anything, and are never known to have any money. Simply go from place to place, working here a few days and there a few days. These are what I term the bum element. I want to say right here and with considerable emphasis, that I have never permitted myself to defend such a class of men, and as long as my cerebellum and cerebrum contain the proper amount of avoirdupois I never will defend them on any pretext. Some may think it better not to discuss this class of men, but I say the more we agitate the question, I believe, the quicker we will rid ourselves of the element; surely, we can not dispense with them by giving them the same footing we do good, honest, sober and industrious men. One of the objects of this organization is to make a better class of men for railroads to employ; not to push forward any and everything that comes along, just so he can wear a button and "OS" a train. What we want is a good, sober and industrious lot of fellows that we are not ashamed of, and whom we can point to with pride and admiration. It is not the ordinary man, but the low class that is not worth his hire, therefore, if chief dispatchers and superintendents would assist the organization in ridding the country of the class of men referred to, and not give them work, they would be working hand in hand with this organization, and we would soon accomplish that which we have been working so diligently for these past few years.

I want to again say that the telegraph operator who makes telegraphing his business for a livelihood, and pursues it diligently, and does not wander all over the earth, is not being paid half the salary he should get for his labor. What is $45, $50, $60 or $65 per month, the way the cost of living has advanced?

The salaries are extremely low and no one can lay up anything for a "rainy day," that is certain; so it is that wages paid telegraphers must be materially increased within a short time or the number of telegraphers who leave the service to enter into other vocations of life will increase a hundred fold, and so cripple the service that it will be difficult to get a sufficient number of men. Let the salaries be advanced to the proper figure and there will be no trouble in getting a surplus of men.

I want to call the attention of the telegraphers and agents on the Burlington to the fact that a great number of them do not seem to understand the rules of the company regarding the number of attendants allowed to accompany live stock when being shipped in car loads to market or otherwise. There is a reckless regard given to the rule, and, as a warning measure, I would say that a word to the wise is sufficient. The law is very strict now and unless you pay strict attention and live up to the rule, and thereby obey the law, you will have to suffer the consequences. This is a reminder, that is all. One man in each direction, with two or more cars; two with five to ten cars, three with eleven or more cars, which is the maximum with any one shipment.

Some people still carry the idea that a telegrapher is a machine that can be run at pleasure, and when the old thing gets old and worn, discard it and throw it away. See that you get a salary large enough that it will permit you to lay aside enough each month, so when you get old you will not have to work every day, as you do now, Sundays and holidays included, in order to keep the wolf from the door. When a man tells me that a telegrapher who has to work for $50 to $60 a month is getting enough, I think he should be compelled to work for the same wages himself. If railroad officials could have the tables turned on them awhile, and have to draw the same enormous salary the telegrapher gets, I think we would soon hear a howl; it is the other fellow that is affected, hence they do not care. They do not have much regard for the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would wish to be done by." The time is coming when the telegrapher will not work for $45 per month. No man with any ability will now work for that wage; if he has ability he can make more money as a peanut vender on some street corner. There is but little excuse for men working for such salaries.

Brothers of Burlington System Division, No. 130, who are employed on the Burlington, when you have grievances file them at once with your local chairman. If dismissed from the service, immediately ask your superintendent for an investigation, do not put it off or wait for the local chairman to do it for you. If you do not take an interest in your welfare, how do you expect others to do so.

The following is a list of your local chairman, keep them in mind:

W. F. Denton, Wymore Division, Sterling, Neb.
E. G. Carter, McCook Division, Naponee, Neb.
J. T. Maddox, Sterling Division, Sidney, Neb.

F. R. Hubbell, Lincoln Division, Yutan, Neb.

H. Miller, La Crosse Division, Fountain City, Wis.

E. F. Todd, Aurora-Chicago Division, Leland, Ill.

Have you paid your dues for the term ending December 31, 1907? If not, why not? Get an up-to-date at once. Do not be the last.

M. J. Johnson, General Chairman.

Wymore Division—

Do you carry an up-to-date card?

Just a word to the brothers who have not paid their dues for the present term: Can you afford to longer put this matter off? It will not be a great while until it is time to pay dues for next term. Will you then pay for both terms or will you follow the example set by the majority of members who find themselves in arrears, and drop out?

You can not afford to do either, so come up with the cash and get up-to-date without further delay, then resolve that in the future you will pay your dues thirty days ahead of time. We are gaining new members rapidly, and I am sure none of the old members wish to handicap the work of the Order by dropping out, thereby casting a stumbling block in the path of those who are working for the interest of us all, but that is just what you will do if you do not pay up promptly.

Let us all pull together and have for our motto, "No card, no favors."

Bro. C. C. Vaughn, recently nights at Falls City, has left the service, and is now with the D. & R. G. We wish him best of success.

Bro. C. C. Robertson, from the Missouri Pacific, is holding down Fortescue nights.

Mr. Tipton, who has been working nights at Rulo, has been transferred to Wymore "SN" office.

W. S. Kinsey, formerly dispatcher at Wymore, was recently seen riding over the Wymore Division on the rear end of a Pullman, smoking a stogie and showing other evidences of prosperity.

Dispatcher Hammond recently made his regular trip over the division.

Mr. W. F. Sanders, a new man, on nights at Sterling, relieving Mr. Daley, who leaves the service.

General Chairman Johnson had the misfortune to lose his youngest child by death last month. Bro. Johnson has the sympathy of all.

Bro. Ed. Rosling, nights at Humboldt, was rather startled one morning recently when cinders from the burning depot commenced to drop down on him. He had but time to notify central, grab a typewriter, and hit the high places. Everything else, including United States mail and express, was destroyed.

Bro. S. P. Hamm transferred from nights at Sterling to nights at Rulo; was relieved by Frank Daley, with a C. T. U. of A. card.

Mr. Poe, agent at Bennet, reported to be on a vacation; relieved by Bro. Wyatt.

Bro. R. C. Zink, day telegrapher at Table Rock, and wife, have been enjoying a vacation in the wilds of Michigan; relieved by Bro. Ed. Cox, nights, while Bro. Reneau does the night stunt.

F. W. Quick, the genial agent at Belvidere, has decided that our way is the only way, and has filed his application and will be wearing the button before this appears.

Mr. Hadsell, agent at Geneva, has been on vacation; relieved by Bro. A. E. Miller.

DIV. COR.

St. Joseph Division—

The following new members this month: B. R. Newlon, agent at Clearmont; L. C. Matthis, agent at Nishua; G. W. Potter, nights at Bartlett, and J. F. Hillhouse, agent at Redding.

Not quite so many as last month, but prospects for next month are very bright.

You who expect to see a write-up of this division had better get busy and send in something. We came very near losing out altogether this time.

Bro. J. M. Cash is relieving Mr. Thiehoff at Wadron, on account of sickness.

Bro. Morgan, nights at Forbes, relieved a few nights by Bro. C. C. Lee. Bro. Lee also relieving Bro. Hull at Amazonia, while he takes a trip west for about thirty days.

Mr. Brown has returned to his old position as night telegrapher at Nodaway.

See if some of you can't come through with a few notes of interest not later than the 25th of September. Just a few items from each would make a fine write-up.

COR.

McCook Division—

Bro. Peterson, days at Orleans, is enjoying an outing in the mountains.

Bro. Carl Ketler returned from Edna, Kans., where he had been called by sickness, being relieved by Bro. A. L. Morris, an old-timer with the Burlington.

Mr. Morris has since been made cashier at Norton permanently.

Bro. T. Darnell, of Herndon, to Axtell, relieved by Bro. E. S. Lohr, formerly cashier at Minden.

Bros. S. L. Rohr, of Eckly, and F. Howard, of Traer, have traded stations. Transfer to be made at once.

A. W. Bauer, formerly of Funk, where he resigned several months since to engage in the mercantile business at Beaver City, has returned as night owl at Otis, with good prospects of landing the agency at Heartwell in the near future.

It is whispered around that W. Bardon (the non at Danbury) is to get Wray in the near future. How about it, boys, would you not like to see it bulletined?

I have it from a reliable source that one of the boys on this division has recently been let out for sleeping on duty and failure to properly block passenger trains. This kind of work is applying the brakes to our prospects. This is not the end of it. These cases are framed and sent to the general manager's desk and thrown up to our committee when they go in for a revision of the schedule.

Do not hesitate to let loose of that little old dollar recently asked for. This is the golden opportunity.

DIV. COR.

Aurora and Chicago Divisions—

Bro. Kebler, night telegrapher at Zearing, had the misfortune of breaking his finger while playing ball, and is unable to work.

Mr. Eck, agent at Malden, who is laying off on account of sickness, is improving slowly and hopes to be back to work about September 15. He says he is going to join the Order when he starts to work again.

Bro. Sandy, from Riverside nights, off on a ten-day vacation; relieved by Bro. Koffa, who just returned from the West. We understand Bro. Sandy is going to take in the sights at Denver while off.

Bro. J. P. Roosen, from Western Springs nights, on a week's vacation, says he is going to St. Joe, Mich., before he returns to work.

Mrs. Saunders, of Berwyn, on a six weeks' vacation, being relieved by Bro. Saling, from Ottumwa Division.

Mrs. Russell, from Berwyn, on a few days' vacation, relieved by new beginner from Earlville.

Bro. Pratt, agent at Sandwich, is taking a vacation. Mr. Karman is relieving him.

Bro. McNamara, of Plano, went to St. Joe last Sunday.

At 3 o'clock, August 5, they connected the telegraphers at Leland with the new interlocking plant, and if they don't get it to run a great deal better they will have a chance to connect some one else.

Mr. Butterfield, day telegrapher at Earlville depot, is filling out application blanks.

Bro. Filkins, of Montgomery depot nights, attended the Chautauqua at Aurora, Ill., Sunday, August 11.

Bro. Ranger, of Sandwich days, visited Bristol and Leland last week.

Bro. L. C. Russell, Downers Grove nights, will be asked to take the assistant local chairmanship of the east end. Bro. Russell is a hard worker for the Order.

Bro. A. P. LaCure was married last week at Aurora, Ill. Congratulations from the Order of Railroad Telegraphers. Bro. LaCure was at one time local chairman of the division.

Mr. Wilsey, formerly day telegrapher at Mendota, has quit the C, B. & Q. and taken a position as manager commission office at Mt. Sterling, Ill.

F. H. Homasser, the ex-telegrapher at Downers' Grove station has fallen from grace and is doing the stunt as a "scab" in Western Union at Chicago. If he does no better there than he did on the railroad it won't hurt the boys much.

Bro. Fred Ernest, at Princeton, has scratched his name from the "non list," and carries a new card.

Mr. A. F. Johnson, from Montgomery, is relieving Bro. Kebler at Zeoring. He says he is going to join as soon as he can spare the change.

LOCAL CHAIRMAN.

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, Death has removed from this life a son of our worthy general chairman, Bro. M. J. Johnson; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of Chicago and Aurora Divisions, C, B. & Q. R. R., Division No. 130, Order of Railroad Telegraphers, extend to Bro. Johnson our sincere sympathy in this, his hour of affliction, and be it further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, a copy forwarded to our brother, and also to THE TELEGRAPHER for publication.

E. F. Todd, Local Chairman.

Sheridan Division—

On account of our correspondent, Bro. Kesinger, taking a much-needed thirty-days' vacation, I presume I will have to give the pen a twirl myself.

There has been a number of changes since the last write-up, so I'll endeavor to mention them.

Bro. Forbes, agent at Dewey, relieved by Bro. Richardson.

Have no idea who relieved Bro. Kesinger days at Rozet, but Sister Clara Shaughnessy retains the night trick.

Mr. Mettz is away on a vacation. We are very glad to have Bro. Vacek back with us; says he enjoyed his trip fine and dandy. He is at his old stand as cashier.

W. H. Garwood will have the colors in a day or two. His wife comes in the first of the month.

We find we have two new men at Croton, both up-to-date men, by the names of Brasfield and Gannon. They relieved Bros. Vanlandingham and McCollich. Have not learned what became of Van and McCollich.

R. Bothwell, from Ranchester nights, to Ulm nights, relieving Telegrapher McKinley, the latter resigning to prove up on his timber claim in Montana.

Bro. Wogan, formerly agent at Felix, is now at Toluca.

Dispatcher C. J. Smith, from the N. W. Ry., is working the second trick on the Middle Division in "Z" office, relieving Mr. Gurley. The latter is on a vacation.

Dispatcher Lamb has returned from his vacation, looking the picture of health.

Our chief dispatcher, Mr. C. D. Peckenpaugh, was over the division last week, and we are all pleased that he found everything in a very good condition. That shows the advantage of dealing with O. R. T. men.

There are only a few nons on the Sheridan Division now. Brothers and sisters, let us lend our aid in making it one of the record divisions on the C, B. & Q. Ry. We have plenty of application blanks and they can be had for the asking.

Mr. S. Wilburn is our new roadmaster now, vice A. H. Sandusky, who resigned to go into other business. Anything but railroad work.

See how many notes you can scare up for next month's write-up. Only takes a penny to forward them. "SX."

Sheridan Division—

Bro. P. C. Ganley, from Upton, has been checked in at Frannie, as agent. Glad to have him among us.

W. A. Parsons, from Frannie to Lovell, August 10th.

A. E. Engstrom from Lovell to Clearmont, July 23d; was relieved by Sister Norton, from Basin.

Creston Division—

What's the matter with eight hours and thirty cents per hour? Let's hear from every one. We haven't very much longer to talk about it. Let's act.

A few new men drop in occasionally, but from the length of time it takes to get relief it seems they don't stay long.

Understand some of the brothers working nights are allowing youngsters to learn the business. This is in direct violation of our obligation and if persisted in charges will be filed.

A new man at Cromwell, vice Bro. Templeman, laying off. Temp. thinks he will see it all in Denver.

Bro. Thompson, who resigned at Malvern nights the 1st of July, is back at work, relieving Mr. Gillis, Corning nights.

Bro. Adkins is manager of the Nodaway ball tournament.

The Maryville Business College has a ham factory attached. Understand the professor can even telegraph. Isn't it strange that some farmers who know nothing about the business can turn out first-class telegraphers? Wonder why the railroads don't employ the men these fellows put out?

Mr. Jarvis, Barnard; Mr. Brownlee, Bolckow; Mr. Goforth, Maryville, and several of the other south branch men have been taking their "annu-als" lately.

Mr. Liser, Henderson, took his vacation a short time ago.

Where are those brothers who should be sent along the line when there is a vacancy? Have failed to see any for about a year. Has any one been receiving two at a time?

Understand Bro. Ennis, Malvern nights, took fifteen days a short time ago. He was relieved by R. A. Carson, who resigned upon Ennis' return.

Mr. Peterson, Emerson's days, is taking a lay-off now. Don't know who relieved him. Think he is a brother. Brothers are pretty thick along this old pike nowadays.

Bro. Mitchell, Balfour days, strained his back pulling on those levers and is taking a sick leave, being relieved by Mr. Brooks, his night man. Mr. Cook, Barnard, relieved Mr. Brooks.

Be sure and keep track of the time it takes to "OS" trains, and to block trains, etc. It may result in something to our mutual advantage.

Let's hear from the Creston Division every month.

CERT. 722.

Galesburg Division, Quincy Branch—

R. L. Storey layed off for part of the month; relieved at "YD" by Bro. Long for a few nights, who was in turn relieved by a Mr. Murphy, formerly of the Peoria Branch.

Bro. Long was not overly pleased with the raw-hiding at "YD," and one night supplied his entire desires. Don't know positively, but think he went to Galesburg.

Mr. Murphy was relieved by Bro. Cox, who recently returned from San Francisco, and was formerly nights at Bushnell.

I "13" Bro. Wizehart, at Saluda nights, has in his application for a short lay-off after pay-day.

Bro. Malone has in his application for thirty days after pay-day. He expects to visit his home at Kalamazoo, Mich. He has not been there for eight years, having served considerable part of this time in the telegraph service for Uncle Sam in the Philippines.

The signal "HF" can still be heard on the wire occasionally, which means, I suppose, that the incubator at "PM" is still in full blast.

Bro. Long took a trip to Denver, but has returned. He says Denver is swell biz, but it takes some junk to stay there.

Bro. Boyles is back at Quincy after a month's vacation.

Bro. Fred Roberts, of Macomb, has resigned his position and accepted a position with the Gravel Springs Company, at Jacksonville. Guess he gets considerable raise out of the deal. Very sorry to see Fred go, as he was one of our most earnest workers.

The new block machines are about all in now, but not yet connected with the wire.

Mr. Ray Holton, who has been working the "MF" job at Moline, is now working at Peoria yard office. Wonder why a good man like Ray is without a card.

The night offices at Tennessee, Fowler and Augusta are now closed.

Any member knowing of any changes of interest will greatly help our write-up by sending them to me.

R. N.

Burlington Division—

Bro. E. S. Hubbard, of Colusa, Ill., relieved Mr. A. C. Steffer, agent at Basco, Ill., during the sickness and death of his little baby boy.

New man at Hulls, Ill., for a few days.

Mr. O. D. Klitz, agent at Fall Creek, Ill., spent Saturday night with his folks at Marblehead.

Bro. M. C. Ray is laying off on account of the sickness of a child. Bro. E. S. Hubbard is doing the act at Ford this week.

New man working nights at "JC," Des Moines freight office, by name of McNeil. Do not know whether he holds an up-to-date or not. The local chairman is after him.

Bro. J. V. Datin, our worthy agent at Bussey, expects to go about the 12th of August for a twenty days' visit in California and Oregon. Says he has one of those great long passes and expects to ride it out.

Bro. J. H. Barnard, our worthy agent at Lovilia, expects to take about six weeks off as soon as he can get relief. He says he is going to see Denver in all its glory before he returns.

Bro. E. M. Cunningham, extra, is relieving Mr. J. McCoheney, regular telegrapher at Washington, who is enjoying a few weeks off.

We understand that some of the members in Division No. 130 are a little slow about paying upon the $10 basis, but, boys, you don't want to be so backward, it will all come back again in due time.

Our local chairman is glad to say that he has heard from eighteen of his men in regard to the pay-up deal, and they all say they are paid up to date. This is right, boys, the only way to show the local chairman that you are appreciating his work.

L. C.

Lincoln Division—

I trust all brothers will overlook my brevity and that each and every one will remember what our local chairman said relative to assisting the correspondent in securing items, thereby making our write-up in the Fraternal department as interesting as possible.

If each member of the division will send in one local per month we will be represented in every issue of the journal. We are always anxious to know what is going on over our division. A division of which we are justly proud. Let us keep in the lead. Great good can be accomplished if we all put forth an effort.

Bro. C. Tanner, of South Omaha office, visited with Crete friends over Sunday.

Bro. G. R. Fowler, of Berks Station, has resigned from this division. Understand he has been given a more lucrative position on Iowa lines.

Mr. Dillion, of "NI" office, Lincoln, visited in Dorchester Sunday, the guest of his parents.

Bro. Earl Denton, of Denton Station, was shaking hands with friends in Crete and Lincoln a couple of days this month.

Bro. A. H. Dean, day telegrapher at Crete, spent several days at Lincoln this week.

Bro. D. B. Bangert, of Farwell, off for a few days; relieved by Bro. Nye.

Bro. Kerblum got Palmer Station on bulletin.

Bro. J. W. Johnson, agent at St. Paul, is visiting in the East; relieved by Mr. Danielson.

Mr. J. C. Cogie, telegrapher at St. Paul, has promised to be among us pay-day.

Bro. H. Peterson, of Germantown, is now located at Dixon, Colo. Soon as Bro. Peterson is "twenty-one" he will return to this division.

Bro. Plots, of Hampton, is enjoying the sights in Iowa; relieved by Extra Agent Ticnor. C. J. Kauffman relieved Bro. Florence nights at Hampton. Bro. Florence resigned.

Mr. Welsh, night chief at Lincoln, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation in New York.

Lincoln Division has three lady telegraphers. Two are nons, we are sorry to say.

Bro. Rodgers, of Dorchester, transacted business in Lincoln this week.

Has it ever occurred to you, brothers, how much good would be accomplished if we had a meeting once a month? We could become better acquainted, talk over business affairs, and become more united. What do you think of this?

Bro. Baand, "owl" at Aurora, called home on account of sickness; relieved by Bro. Best, from Ashland nights.

E. B. Johnson, Grand Island, will soon be wearing the gold, papers in the 15th.

Bro. Geo. Eckhardt, Ravenna days, went to Hastings one day this week to attend a wedding. Not his own, however.

Ray Hoenshell, of Greenwood, spent a week with friends at Sheridan.

Burt Hazlet is now employed on Sheridan Division.

G. H. Murphy, agent at Aurora, transferred to Hastings freight house.

Agent Wagner, of Oakland, resigned to accept a position on D. & R. G. Ry. out of Denver.

Telegrapher Karns, of Oakland, will soon be wearing the wreath and sounder. He has asked for the necessary papers.

Bro. Abbott, cashier at Ashland, has taken the night position there.

Mr. Nichols, a new man on the pike, stationed at Fairmont.

Bro. Hufnagle, nights at Utica, returned to work after a two weeks' honeymoon trip. Here's wishing Bro. Hufnagle and bride all kinds of good luck.

Bro. Purington, Aurora days, off ten days in July recuperating; relieved by Bro. Nye.

COR.

Brookfield Division—

The greatest strike of the telegraph fraternity is now on, and I hope every brother on this division, as well as others, will lend their aid, financially as well as fraternally, to the commercial brothers and sisters. The call for funds should be answered as promptly as possible, as they have been out some time, and the salaries they have been receiving would not allow them to lay very much by for such a time as this. I am very much pleased the way the majority of the boys are handling the situation, and hope they will continue in the same spirit to the end.

The write-up will probably be a little short on account of the correspondent being too busy with other matters.

Bro. Rightmire is giving Bro. Skinner a vacation. E. C. Weatherby is working the night trick.

Bro. Ritter is now organizing ball teams and attending meetings of the City Council, of which he is president. Seems as though our services are needed by the public, as well as the railroads.

W. E. Quigley, agent at Cameron Junction, is on his vacation; Wigle is working as agent, Cramer as day telegrapher, and Bro. H. J. Rouse, from Osborn, working nights.

R. E. Lauck is working nights at Osborn; Bro. Jenkins working days.

Bro. Smith, from Nettleton, got Kidder nights, on the bulletin. Allen going to the Rock Island at Cameron Junction until September 1, when he returns to complete the course in school at Kidder. Allen has acted as assistant local chairman for the past few months, and while his work has not been without censure, he acted as he thought was best, and went the way of those who dare to do what they think is right.

Bro. F. E. Snow returned from his western trip, and reports a fine time and likes the country.

There are several other changes that will be reported next month.

The boys seem to have plenty of money, judging from the way they are laying off.

I wish to thank the brothers for the support they have given me, and, while I leave them, I am not far away, and my heart is always with them.

CERT. 294.

C., R. I. & P. Ry.

Indian Territory Division—

Many things have happened since last write-up, and I will endeavor to give you a few of them: It is gratifying to notice the way the telegraphers are waking up, and the way they are handling things demonstrates that they now mean business. Brothers, we have been holding down that back-seat too long for our own good, and it is time we were getting up in front. No other organization on a railroad, or elsewhere, has the means of securing and demanding consideration like the telegraphers. At last they have learned to value the power they hold in their hands, and it is safe to say are using it to good advantage. We have bent over the edge of the telegraph table for 12 hours a day, 365 days a year, too long, and as we are human, we have the right to enjoy the sunshine and recreation as well as anybody else. Men work to live, and not live to work, so let's get that which is rightfully ours; sufficient salary, eight hours per day and recreation.

What is the first thing in our way in getting this? It isn't the railroad company, nor the Western Union Telegraph Company. Then who is it that is in our way? It is the telegraphers themselves. Brothers, perfect your organization. You are the fellows who make it what it is. Make your Grand O. R. T. and C. T. U. A. solid with men that you know, then work together, and you can get this. When a man comes to your station to work, or on the line, for that matter, your first duty should be to get acquainted with him and find out whether he has a card. If not, and he is eligible, invite him to join. If he is indifferent, show him the advantages, etc., the O. R. T. holds out to him, and if he is broad across the forehead he will see the point and line.

Bro. Carter, Shawnee shops, has been on a vacation to Colorado, enjoying Colorado sunshine and Rocky mountains. Mr. C. L. Taylor has been relieving him. Mr. Taylor will, no doubt, be one of the crowd before long.

Bro. J. F. Emerich, of Shawnee passenger depot, has just returned from his honeymoon. We wish him much success, and a long and happy married life. J. F. Shirley relieved him. Mr. Shirley has left the telegraph service to enter another field.

Bro. Salmon, of the Frisco, is working nights. Bro. Salmon has been on the sick list, but is again back at the old stand. We are glad to see his smiling face amongst us again. Mr. J. E. Howard was relieving him during his sickness.

Bro. J. E. Rogers is now agent at Tecumseh. Bro. E. G. Mason has resigned.

Mr. J. E. Howard is cashier and telegrapher at this point. Mr. Howard will line-up as soon as he gets the coin.

Sister M. D. Alexander, Asher, Okla., has resigned, and is being relieved by Mr. Gilstrap. We regret to lose Sister Alexander, as she is an old-timer amongst us, having been agent at Asher a number of years.

Bro. J. F. Wilcox has returned to Earlsboro, Okla., nights, after a long spell of sickness. We are glad to see him back again.

Bro. J. Simmons, of Haileyville, I. T., is on vacation in Colorado. Bro. J. I. Poole acting manager during his absence.

Bro. Walters worked at Shawnee yards nights, while Mr. Taylor was relieving Bro. Carter at the shops.

At Wilburton, I. T., H. E. Allen days, relieved L. A. Stuart, resigned. Mr. Hooper, a new man, on nights.

If everybody would send us a bunch of news each month this division would be written up in first-class style, as Bro. Carter has the habit.

J. W. MARTIN, Local Chairman.

Nebraska Division—

About the first thing that I hear every time that I go up town, is: "How is the Western Union coming?" The only answer that I can give, and stick close to the truth, is "that it is neither coming or going, that I can notice." I think that comes very near being the fact, as I have not heard enough Western Union business pass over the line since the commercial telegraphers struck to pay to keep up the battery on a local instrument, and if it is that way all over the United States, I am sure that there will be no big dividend declared on account of the large profits made this month. Let us hope that the boys will win out in the end, and give them all the assistance that we possibly can.

We had a very interesting meeting at Belleville on August 17th, considering the attendance and the hot weather. On account of the train service the boys from the east end are unable to come to the meetings and get back to their work, but the local chairman advises me that he is going to call a meeting at Fairbury in the near future, and I hope that every one who can will attend.

There has been very little doing on the division in the past month in the way of changes.

Bro. Sheck, days at Belleville, back to work again, after enjoying a three weeks' vacation in Milwaukee and other places. He was relieved by a Mr. St. John, who, at present, is working nights at Kensington, while Bro. Henry rests up for a while.

Mr. Miller, who had the ticket job at Belleville, resigned, and Bro. Geo. Manion relieved him.

J. Oliphant, agent at Belleville, laying off for a while; relieved by Mr. Van Housen, who attended our meeting at Belleville to get acquainted with some of the boys.

Mrs. G. W. Barnes was given the station Richfield, on bulletin.

Dick Lewis at Pawnee for the present, relieving Bro. Shepherd while he is on his vacation.

Telegrapher position at Sabetha bulletined. "13" Bro. Fuller is going on the extra list.

Understand Bro. Goshert's wife has been quite sick, but is some better now.

Bro. Green, local chairman, advises that he has received application papers from N. W. Hubel, Kensington. This leaves the west end solid with the exception of three or four men. I trust it won't be long until we can say that there is not a non between Fairbury and Phillipsburg.

J. A. M.

St. Louis Division—

N. B. Stockton, agent at Summerfield, was off on vacation 10 days in August, visiting friends in St. Louis, Eldon, etc., E. F. Gidinghagen relieving.

J. J. Flint returned from his western trip August 2d; resumed work August 18th. Relief Agent Emmett Smith going to Windsor to work nights.

Former Agent C. H. Palmer, of Freeburg, who has been in business at Eldon for some time, was at Gartsite August 19th, prospecting. He expects to re-enter the railroad service again in the near future.

Henry Son is holding down Belle nights.

Telegrapher Holloway, formerly of Bowen, was working the day trick in Eldon relay office Sunday, while "ND" was seeing the sights in St. Louis.

Dispatching force at Eldon doubled up Sunday, August 18th, in order that Dispatcher Owen might have a day off.

Relief men are in demand on this division. Every one wanting a vacation this warm weather.

Your correspondent returned to work August 24th, after a three weeks' vacation, fully enjoyed visiting friends in Festus, Mo., and relatives and friends at the old homestead near Le Roy, Kans.

Agent W. Morton, of Windsor, took a flying trip to St. Louis August 24th and 25th; relieved by Mr. Geo. F. Reinhardt.

Bro. Emmett Smith started to Freeburg, Mo., August 25th to relieve Agent Ira B. Lakin for a few days.

S. S. Franse, night man at Versailles, got married one day last week, and is away on his honeymoon. We have not learned whether he will return or not.

There are still a few nons on this division, I am sorry to say. I would like to have every member on this division write me advising how many of these non-members he has written to, as requested by our local chairman. I am proud to say that our Order has won the confidence of the best men on this division, and I truly hope they will never have cause to regret joining hands with us to work for the improvement of our condition as telegraphers.

CERT. 480.

Des Moines Valley Division—

Where are those news items the brothers were going to contribute? Must say that I have only Bros. Brokaw and Huston to thank for the few we will have this month.

J. S. Chinn left for the northwest a few weeks ago, where he anticipates remaining if conditions are favorable.

E. L. Hughes is relieving Jim at Rossie, and he says he will be with us soon. Don't give him a chance to forget it.

The C. T. U. A. is now having the fight of their lives. While we are bound by contract to handle commercial business we can do a great deal by assisting them financially, which I am sure every member on the D. M. V. Division will gladly do.

Bro. H. L. Failing bid in Hartley, and reported for duty there August 3, relieving Geo. W. Jacobs, who went to Jamestown, N. D., to engage in other business.

Bro. Failing relieved at Harvey by Bro. S. W. Fowler, who, in turn, was relieved at Given by a Mr. Manning from the main line.

News comes from a very reliable source that former agent, J. W. Martin, who used to be at Moneta, is now "scabbing" on the "Katy" at Labette, Kans.

While this is not surprising, owing to his past record here, we hate to have it said that he came from the Rock Island lines.

Say, how do you like the ruling recently handed you in regard to scrubbing out? Guess that will help some. Now, let's see how neat and clean we can keep our offices and waiting rooms.

Traveling Auditor McCain paid a very high compliment to Bro. Huston, saying he had the neatest office in his territory.

Many will be surprised to learn of Mr. McCain's sudden death recently in Minneapolis. He had many friends on the High Line.

Local Chairman Brokaw writes that the necessary papers and funds were received from Chas. Dain, agent at Atwood, to enable him to be called brother.

Hoping every one will appreciate these attempts at furnishing the D. M. V. news enough to send me in one or more items before September 20th, I will ring off.

CERT. 695.

Arkansas Division, Booneville District—

Not very much news in this neck of the woods.

Bro. Jacklin, day telegrapher at Newport, is doing the agent's stunt at Newport in place of Mr. W. R. Thompson, regular agent, who has taken a leave of absence for 30 or 60 days. Bro. Cotney, of Grays, is filling Bro. Jacklin's place at the key at Newport.

I do not know who is polishing nail-heads and pressing brick at Grays in place of Bro. Cotney.

I regret to have to report the illness of Bro. H. L. Strickland, of Grays. Understand he is "chilling." Hope he is on the road to recovery ere this.

It is pleasing to look back over the line of battle and view with pleasure the many soldiers that have joined in the battle of unionism. We are 99 per cent strong on this part (W. B. Branch) of the Rock Island, but we have not stopped working. We are writing to non members on the main line, and are sending blank applications to our friends on other roads, even as far as Old Mexico, and what is more pleasing than to know that our efforts have borne fruit? Let us not confine ourselves to Division 126, but whenever we see a chance to land a man on another road, Do it! Recollect that when you secure a member, regardless of whether he is employed on this division or not, you are strengthening the "army of toilers," and it is to "our" interest that we should be well armed and fortified.

A CARD.

RICHFIELD, Neb., July 26, 1907.

To the Members of Nebraska Division, C., R. I. & P.:

Please accept my most sincere thanks for the beautiful flowers sent at the time of the death of my husband, Guy W. Barnes. It is a comfort to know that your friends think of and sympathize with you in the hour of death and sorrow, and hope you may all find such friends when sorrow comes in your homes.

Very sincerely,
MRS. E. C. BARNES.

Atlantic Coast Line Ry.

Norfolk District—

Correspondents seem to be scarce from this district; however, we have one consolation, that is we are considerable distance ahead of the Richmond District. Boys, this will never do. Wake up and see what is going on. There is no union or anything else that will progress unless some interest is taken. There is nothing in a union for you unless you are going to do something. Every man and woman should feel interested, if nothing more.

The great strike of the commercial telegraphers, as you are aware, is now on. Remember your duty to your employer, and nothing more. We are expected to do our duty to the railroad, then, if there is any favors left, they go to the commercial telegraphers. I am advised that Norfolk, "N," is still firm.

T. B. Capps is now working for the Western Union in "N" office.

Quite a number of changes have taken place recently. "Mr." Parker has resigned to accept a position on the Fayetteville District, and will be located at South Rocky Mount, I understand.

The boys are making a run on the Old North State who has been good enough to give them eight hours.

When a non-union man is sent to fill a position in your office you should consider it your duty to see that he is one of us before he leaves, provided he is desirable. Application blanks cost you nothing. You should keep on hand a supply ready for immediate use. There is nothing like thorough organization, and one man can not do it all.

Did it ever occur to you that the Seaboard & Atlantic Coast Line were among a few other lines who pay the poorest wages of all the others systems of the United States? Who has raised the pay of telegraphers on other lines? There is no reason why we shouldn't be allowed the same as any line east of the Mississippi river.

CERT. 381.

Savannah District—

Hope to see the applications rolling in within the next few days, as it takes men and money to do business, and this is a business organization.

Hortense agency bulletined July 28th, and bid in by Mr. W. M. Harvey, who was checked in as agent August 19th. Mr. Harvey promises to forward his papers next payday.

Bro. J. D. Harvey, who has resigned the Hortense agency, will go to the Waycross District, but have not learned to what point. We are very sorry to lose him at Hortense, as he has done some good work there, and leaves his sub-district solid O. R. T.

Bro. C. V. Yoder, formerly agent at Hortense, is visiting friends and acquaintances at that point the past week.

Bro. I. Lang, manager of "SD" office, in Savannah, and member of the local board in charge of that territory, has accepted a position with the Central of Georgia in dispatcher's office in Savannah. We lose one of the best men we ever had in Savannah, he having built up the Order until he had it almost solid in Savannah, and we are very sorry to lose him, but congratulate the Central boys on their gain.

Bro. Porter is now looking for some one. Bro. Lang's position on the local board in Savannah.

Bro. J. B. Simpson has returned to duty after being off sick quite a while. We are glad to see the brother back at the old stand.

Bro. Dawson Haylow is holding down the Wilmington quod in "SD" office.

Mr. B. D. Harrell, of Tifton, is working the split trick in Savannah office.

Mr. O. R. Hull has resigned his position with the A. C. L. as relief agent to accept a position with the Central of Georgia.

Mrs. E. C. Clark, wife of our clever first trick dispatcher, is visiting relatives in Millen, Ga.

Manager W. C. Mason, of the general telegraph office, Wilmington, and Manager Thomas, of the Waycross office, are visiting friends in Savannah the past few days.

Trainmaster Z. Middlebrooks resigned August 1st to accept a better position. We understand with the G. F. & A. as general manager. The best wishes of all go with him, and while we are sorry to lose him, we extend congratulations and best wishes for his success in his new position.

Mr. J. W. Daniels has been acting as trainmaster since August 1st, and we hope to see him get the position permanently.

Some of the boys are making it unpleasant for Bro. League, of Bologne, on account of his teaching his brother. For the information of all, and to prevent any further annoyance to Bro. League, I append herewith a copy of his official dispensation:

St. Louis, Mo., August 1, 1907.

Mr. Wm. A. League, Bologne, Fla.:

DEAR SIR AND BRO.—Agreeable to your request of recent date, official dispensation is hereby granted authorizing you to instruct your brother, A. C. League, in telegraphy.

Yours fraternally,

H. B. PERHAM, President.

Attest: L. W. QUICK, G. S. and T.

Bro. League, having complied with our laws, I trust he will experience no further trouble from this source, as this is the proper method for any member to pursue, and no censure whatever attaches to it.

Having received several requests for information relative to "fair" and scab magazines, etc., I wrote Bro. Quick requesting that he publish a list of the standard magazines that were union, and he advises he will do so as soon as the same is received from the president of the Typographical Union of the printers.

This is good unionism, boys. A dollar paid to a scab paper or magazine is a dollar paid to your enemy.

Bro. Hatchell, of Folkston, has just returned from his wedding tour. We extend congratulations, and wish them a long and happy wedded life.

Bro. L. M. Dixon, working Folkston during Bro. Hatchell's absence, went to Bologne, Fla., to relieve Bro. League, who took a short vacation to visit his home folks.

Bro. J. A. Daughtry, of Callan, called for two sets of blanks this month, and is getting busy among the nons.

Bro. Bennett continues to land his man every day or so. He has become one of our best pushers on the south end.

Mr. H. G. Vavasour, Andrews, Fla., and Mr. W. C. Renfrow, Hilliards, Fla, are both promising timber for the O. R. T. Can't some of you boys show them the way?

A Mr. Robinson and a Mr. Best holding down the Dyal job. Two more men who should be with us and Mr. Murray, at Callahan, is another we want to see take a seat in the O. R. T. bandwagon. These are all good men, and should be with us, and I trust some of you will be able to reach them, and get their papers in the near future.

Presume most of you will have received the official notice of our failure to secure favorable action on the eight-hour law in this Legislature, but for the benefit of those who have not, I will say that every effort was made that laid within our power, but the railroads were too strong for us, and we lose. However, we can not expect to win in every race, and it is quite an accomplishment to be a good loser, and we will try and profit by the experience.

CRACKER JOE.

Sanford District—

It has been some time since this district has had a write-up, and I think it is time we wake up and let them hear something from us.

I have just been appointed correspondent for this district, and have had practically no experience in this line of work, but I am not a man to shift my duties onto some one else. I am willing to do all that I can, and I ask all the boys on this district to help me in getting up the items and send them to me so that I can get them in the editor's office before the 20th of each month. Now let's try to have this district represented each month. I am glad to note that all the boys appear to be taking more interest in our Order. We want to constantly keep after the "nons," as this is the only way we will ever become solid. There are a few nons on this district, and we want them with us. Nothing would make me feel better than to know that every man on this district holds an up-to-date card. Not having sufficient time to get all the information, I would like to have, and rather than miss getting our district represented this month, I am sending in what I have.

The following changes have taken place since the last write-up:

Bro. J. S. Johnson, day copyist, dispatcher's office, has been promoted to second trick dispatcher. Bro. Johnson is a good man, and has our best wishes. Up until quite recently he was our local chairman.

Mr. Ferino (can't say whether he is a member or not), from the "YN" office, is filling the position made vacant by the promotion of Bro. Johnson.

One of the night men in the dispatcher's office has been taken off, and one man is now working both sides.

Bro. Searcy, of Longwood, is preparing for his vacation. Understand he will leave in a few days for Tennessee. He is being relieved by a Mr. Goodwin, a new man.

Mr. Goodwin is anxious to join us, but has not yet had enough experience.

Bro. Sigler, of Winter Park, returned some time ago from a month's vacation spent in Kentucky and Indiana visiting relatives. He was relieved by Bro. Norsworthy.

Bro. Braddock, of Auburndale, was granted leave of absence, being relieved by Mr. Bailey. Understand Mr. Bailey is now relieving Mr. Corbet, agent at Carters.

Bro. Bingham, formerly of Port Tampa, has accepted a better position with the Tampa Northern. We are sorry to lose Bro. Bingham, but glad that he has a better position. Bro. Bingham was relieved by Mr. R. D. Stevens. Do not know whether he has a card or not.

Bro. Hazen, of Thonotosassa, passed through en route to Wisconsin for a vacation. Unable to say who is relieving him.

Mr. R. C. Webster, nights at Ports Tampa, "KI" office, has asked for blanks, and will soon be with us.

The office at Carlow has been discontinued.

CERT. 111.

Canadian Pacific Ry.

Western Division, District No. 1—

Since the Western Division was last represented in THE TELEGRAPHER, a number of changes have been made, a few notes of which I will give later.

I am sure we all perused our "convention number" with interest, particularly in reading of the wonderful strides our Order has made during the past two years. Great as it has been, no doubt two years hence, in looking back, we will see even greater accomplishments, and the gain from "revisions" will certainly be due us. However, the success "to be" rests upon individual effort to quite an extent, so let us see that we neglect nothing; so that the retrospect at the next biennial convention in 1909 will be interesting history.

Well, to follow up in regard to changes. On June 1st the management created a new district, making three in place of two districts on the Western Division, the headquarters of the new district being Medicine Hat, where J. S. Lawrence, recently of Nelson, B. C., was appointed superintendent. Two sets of dispatchers were moved from Calgary to Medicine Hat, the staff being A. Allan, C. D., Bros. H. J. Humphrey, O. E. Barker, R. A. Sewell, C. H. Sherwood, S. W. Dean, Mr. H. E. Kelly and Mr. R. R. Smart. The latter are expected to renew their membership at once.

Bros. Meir and Bateson handling message business up-stairs, with Bros. McIntyre, Short and Manning clearing trains down-stairs. Do not propose giving a line-up, but simply make mention of these on account of change of districts.

A meeting was held in Masonic Hall, Medicine Hat, on Sunday, July 14th, with a fair attendance. Bro. Finch, of Dunmore Junction, not exactly (the father of us all) but the "dad" of the bunch, had charge, but owing to the absence of our newly-appointed Local Chairman, Bro. H. J. Humphrey, who was on committee work in Calgary, not very much business was transacted, not having any particular material to work on. However, one of the objects of the meeting was gained in getting together and talking things over. In future we hope to have some cracking good meetings. So, boys, write in good time for permission. Our chief will relieve all he can.

Ere next publication we hope to have a pretty fair schedule. Our General Committee is working hard on same at the present time. A revision is badly needed and we should at least receive as good salary as our brothers on the other side of the line working on competitive lines. The C. P. R. can hardly claim any inability to raise in the face of over $25,000,000 profits for the fiscal year just closed. CERT. 329.

Central Division, Fourth District—

This district is seldom represented in the journal, so mentioning the fact will, perhaps, rouse up the division correspondent, and bring him to a sense of his duty, so that he will see that this district is represented in each and every number of the journal.

The meetings recently held in Moose Jaw were remarkably well attended, and each and every man was chuck full of enthusiasm, for the good and welfare of the Order. This is a capital idea of Bro. Goulding's, the holding of these meetings once every month, bringing the men together, thus affording an opportunity for an exchange of ideas, not only regarding the Order, but also in connection with our work, which will be beneficial both to the company and ourselves.

Bro. Dean, day telegrapher at Estevan, has returned from a vacation trip to the Pacific Coast. He was relieved by Bro. Wilson, late from the Grand Trunk.

Bro. C. J. Ryan transferred from Estevan nights to Swift Current days.

Bro. W. H. Thompson has resumed duty at Estevan nights, after a prolonged absence on account of sickness in his family.

Bro. T. J. Lewis, lineman at Estevan, has received his transportation for a trip around the world and return. Most of his time, however, will be spent on the Pacific Coast. During his holidays he will be accompanied by a few old-timers whose names we have not yet learned.

Business is booming on the "Soo" Line division of the C. P. R. between Portal and Moose Jaw, with six daily passenger trains and many passenger specials with private parties, enroute to the Pacific Coast from points in the Southern and Eastern States. This is becoming a very popular route for tourists.

We are not very well posted on the doings of the Broadview and Swift Current sections. Understand there are some changes being made in the dispatching staff at Moose Jaw, but do not know the particulars.

T. A. Kellagher, night man at Wolseley, has been handed the necessary documents and is now one of the elect.

Bro. B. F. O'Toole, the C. P. R. representative at Belle Plaine, is enjoying a well-earned holiday at the Qu'Appelle Lakes, with his family.

Bro. E. L. Maynard has returned from a two weeks' vacation at Banff Hot Springs.

Bro. J. W. Webber, of Kisbey, is waiting for relief, and needs it badly.

Bro. C. E. Jestley, of Stoughton, is away on his honeymoon, being relieved by Bro. McElhone.

Bro. Crosby, of Heward, is also on vacation.

Mr. A. H. Gordon has been appointed agent at Creelman. CERT. 1,221.

Pacific Division, District 3—

Have been a reader of THE TELEGRAPHER for the past five years, and to my knowledge, have seen only one write-up from this district. Now, this should not be. There are some among you at least who could spare a few minutes of their time to let the outside world know that we are alive. A Division Correspondent was appointed at our last meeting, and favored us with only one write-up. What has become of him? Is he still on the pay-roll, or has he gone to toil at a more lucrative calling? This shows the lack of interest that is manifested by our fraternity in anything relative to labor organizations. Some on this division when having a just grievance will appeal to the officials for justification, as if it were a special favor, instead of what was their just due; and even some would rather trudge along with their rights trampled on than approach the officials and show them where the schedule has been ignored. Why is this? Are you scared of your jobs, or are you stuck on calling crews, checking cars, unloading way-freight, helping section foremen put in ties and labeling bad order cars? If you are, you're a poor specimen of an up-to-date union man. If you ignore one clause of the schedule, do they hesitate to "bawl you out" on it? No. They do not. Then, why should you beat around the bush in calling their attention to the same fact?

There have been several changes on this division of late.

Bro. Clements, agent at Grand Forks, has resigned, to accept the position of general yardmaster at Vancouver. Sorry to lose Bro. "C," but glad he has received well-deserved promotion.

Bro. Moir, from Phoenix, has bid in Grand Forks agency, while Bro. C. A. Arnott, from "Ry" office, Nelson, has bid in Phoenix. Understand Bro. Arnott had a hard time to break himself away from "Ry," and old associates. You can now hear him, in the balmy air of evening, singing Burns' melody of "Charming is My Jean."

Eholt Junction, as usual, has undergone more changes than any place. We find Bro. McPherson agent, with Mr. Fizee days, and Mr. Fraser nights. Don't think the latter two are brothers, but Bro. "Mc" will soon land them in the fold.

At Greenwood, we find Bro. Redpath and Bro. Baggs. Understand the latter does the relieving stunt in "WD," while at Boundary Falls, Bro. Helgason is doing the honors. "AH" says there is work enough in "BA" for six men and a lady.

Bro. Stevenson, at Midway, has taken on himself a side-partner, so there is no use in breaking your arm off calling "Mi." He is out driving with his lady fair.

Bro. Thompson, from Cascade, has bid in Smelter Junction agency, vacated by Bro. Schofield's resignation, the latter having been elected to Parliament last February, which shows that we have men of ability and influence among our craft. There we find Mr. Selleck on days and Mr. Bean nights. The latter has promised to come into the fold when eligible.

In Cascade we find Bro. Walmsley doing the "short" and "overs."

At Roseland we find Bro. Clark passing the "Havanas" over the arrival of a bouncing thirteen-pound girl. There we also find Mr. Mullin dishing out skeletons by the yard, relieving Bro. McIsaac, who has resigned and gone South.

In the dispatching office we find Bro. Harbor, our Local Chairman, first trick, and conceded by all to be the right man in the right place. Bro. Young, second trick, and Bro. Choate, an old Eholt war-horse, third trick, and Bro. Hyde writing up his "exams" for relieving "detrainer." It is not every dispatching office that can boast of a solid O. R. T. bunch.

In "Ry" office, Nelson, we find Bro. Sherman doing the local ticket reports, relaying and looking after Bro. Arnott's interest in general, but don't think his jurisdiction goes as far as the "News" office.

At Slocan City we find Bro. Helsby, swinging from barges, while Bro. Garret is taking a holiday before taking the agency at Eholt Junction.

Bro. McPherson goes to Granley when relieved at "Kn," and Dame Rumor tells us he is to be assistant manager at "WD" office, if Bro. Baggs don't butt in.

As dispatcher is calling vigorously for an "OS" I'll say "30." CERT. 1288.

Pacific Division, District No. 1—

We have a minimum of $60 per, with the majority of offices paying the minimum.

We are within a few hours of the greatest wheat producing country of the world, yet flour costs us $3.40 per hundred, or about 40 per cent more than it does those a couple of thousand miles more distant from the wheat belt.

West of us is Vancouver, where the largest salmon canning factories in existence have their plants. Salmon can be bought in Toronto or Montreal, 3,000 miles distant for 15c per can, while we, at $60 per, within 300 miles, are obliged to pay 20c for the same goods, and so it goes all down the list. New potatoes sold at 3½c per pound, yet at Ashcroft, B. C., they have a record yield about every other year. Farmers in Ontario claim they are well satisfied to receive 50c per hundred. Of tomatoes and other such vegetables, an operator, at the minimum, fearing heart disease, never ventures to ask the price.

Beef cattle pasture in thousands upon our prairies, within 100 miles of us, yet we pay more for fresh beef than is charged on the open market in London or Liverpool on these very same cattle when shipped across.

Our local merchants claim that the Canadian Pacific charges such high freight rates that they are compelled to quote prices accordingly. It looks to us as though what little the company hands us in the way of remuneration only changes hands temporarily, as a good percentage must return to their coffers through the merchants, and now they have told our general committee that our demands for a $75 minimum and double overtime is unreasonable to discuss.

The express company gathers in what is left over, if there happens to be anything. I know of one operator who was taxed $1 by them for bringing an empty 7-lb. rifle fifty-two miles. Almost two cents per mile for an article which took up less space than one of the messenger's feet, and doubtless weighed less.

Single men have to pay 75c per day straight for board, and pack around their own bed clothing and mattress. The board in outfit cars is, in the main, very fair, but sleeping accommodations are about as poor as can be imagined. Our brothers, the linemen, also have a very pronounced grievance on account of expense allowance of $1 per day being insufficient when absent on service from their base. Single meals cost 35c each in the majority of outfit dining cars. This amounts to $1.15 for three meals. Does the lineman sleep up a tree, or does he only eat twice per day? Most of our linemen are heads of families, clean, decent men. Surely, the company does not require them to sleep in between a brace of nice garlic-eating dagoes, or spend the hours supposed to be devoted to repose in scratching and sweating amidst a car load of Galicians or Doukhobors. One unfortunate brother complained this morning that he had been compelled to discard two suits of underclothing already this summer on account of vermin contracted sleeping among such company, and the season is still young.

He was on his way to do some work on a Hindoo lay-out, and has our sympathy, as this is one class of British subjects who consider it sinful to bathe.

Last, but not least, come the troubles of our long-suffering train dispatchers (all up to date), and we are not looking for either a hand-out or a dishonest call, when we assert that they are as square a bunch of sheet scratchers as exists. They have, for months, been trying to do business with several offices closed and about seven men short on the division. To make matters worse, they have had saddled upon them numerous so-called operators whose knowledge of even the first rudiments of the business is lacking, and who cause all sorts of confusion and delay by their ignorance, and, as is customary with this class, are possessed of the idea that they were put on that particular job to teach the train dispatcher his business. Will some one inform me how or why it is that operators of this calibre will not be allowed to handle commercial business, and are passed by a chief train dispatcher and permitted to butcher train orders. I figure it out that our remuneration and living conditions are such as to discourage good men from coming to us, and it is a case of nail anything that comes along. The funny part of it is we have so far been unable to dig up a sufficient number, even of dubs, to man our vacant offices.

The Pacific Division is also just now without a permanent chief train dispatcher. It is true we have men who have served the company ably and faithfully for years, and at times successfully but temporarily filled the chief's chair, yet now that the vacancy is a permanent one until a successor is appointed, the powers that be, have stated that they require sixty days to meditate upon whom to appoint. Encouraging to local talent?

Our General Committee is now in session at Winnipeg. We should have considerable coming to us. Let us not growl if they do not come out wholly successful. There is another year coming. Sit down and write your representative a nice, cheering letter, telling him to dig in and do his best. Also tell him you are behind him, win or lose. The job you have steered him up against is the reverse of agreeable, and we can assure you, from past and personal experience, that the assurance of your confidence and support will do more to stimulate his efforts than any amount of grumbling.

Have you paid your dues? If not, do so.

Michigan Central Ry.

At a meeting of our division, held in Detroit August 2d, it was decided to hold regular meetings each month, commencing with the third Monday in September, at 7:30 p. m., in Prismatic Hall, 140 First st., Detroit, Mich., and on every third Monday of each month thereafter. This will give our members within a radius of seventy-five or a hundred miles of Detroit a chance to attend, and it is to be hoped that all members who can will avail themselves of the opportunity, as there are many important matters to come up for discussion which can only be properly settled in our meetings.

Bro. M. Handley, who has worked at St. Thomas for a number of years in the capacity of telegrapher and chief, has resigned. Understand he is working at Jackson, Mich. We wish him success wherever he may locate.

Bro. Canfield relieved Bro. Farr at Niagara Falls for a few days, on account of sickness, but owing to sickness in Bro. Canfield's family, he was compelled to return home, being relieved by Bro. Gleason, of Perry.

Bro. Lorne Porter, owl at Montrose, is on the sick list, being relieved by Mr. Francis.

Bro. Bolger writes from Lima, Mont., that he is now working for the Oregon Short Line, and likes the country splendidly.

Bro. Langford, who has for the past two years been working as relief agent on the Canada division, has resigned, and is now working the day trick at Kinora, Ont., for the C. P. R.

Bro. Chas. Barnes has been transferred from Tilbury nights to St. Thomas.

Bro. John Abbott, who was badly shaken up in the explosion of nitro-glycerine at Essex, is reported to be doing fine. Also Mr. Stimers, the agent, who was seriously injured, is said to be in a fairy way to recover.

Bro. Seth Wilford, owl at Welland, is enjoying a vacation, he is visiting relatives in "dear old England." Bro. Rosehart is relieving him.

Bro. Milton Granger, Chairman for the Saginaw and Mackinaw divisions, stationed at Mackinaw City, has entered the ranks of the benedicts. The brothers extend congratulations and wish you a long and happy wedded life. "DOOLEY."

NOTICE.

Bro. G. W. Lewis, of Middleville, Mich., has been appointed General Correspondent for our division. Any member who has any items of interest will please forward them to Bro. Lewis. Now, brothers, every one of you assist him in keeping our division well represented each month.

Fraternally,

J. H. STALEY, Gen. S. & T.

Middle Division—

A local meeting of the members of Division No. 16 was held at Sauer's Hall, Jackson, Saturday evening, August 17. The "East End," Middle Air Line and Valley was well represented, as usual. The object of the meetings are to promote good-fellowship, the interests and welfare of the men, and the duty they owe themselves and their employers, and as the company agrees to furnish transportation and arrange as far as possible for the men to attend these meetings, it really seems as though more should be in attendance. Forty to fifty makes a good turn-out, and these are usually enthusiastic, and have a rousing good time, and feel that they have been benefited by attending, but seventy-five to one hundred would be a better turn-out, and those that have never attended, or have not attended of late, would not only enjoy themselves, but would learn of things to their advantage that is almost impossible to find out unless they attend, as matters that are of most importance to us are only discussed in the lodge room, and the best way to obtain the good that these gatherings bring about is to be there, and it is hoped that the brothers will give this more serious thought and put forth every effort to be in attendance at every meeting from now on.

Seaboard Air Line.

In picking up the journal for the month of July I regret to find that not one of the seven divisions are represented by even a small write-up. This is not encouraging. What has become of the several correspondents? The boys take pleasure in reading the journal, and when we fail to send in our letters they feel blue. "Every division but ours," is the cry. Now wake up, and let us have letters monthly.

Under date of June 20th, official ballots were mailed out calling for votes on increase of dues and paid general chairman.

July 19th Bro. Smith, local chairman Fifth Division; Pope, local chairman Third Division, and Benn, local chairman First Division, were appointed as board of canvassers to count ballots. Returns showed that nearly the entire membership voted, and that only seven voted not in favor of either.

This is very gratifying, and shows that the membership favors what we are badly in need of, and that which will greatly add to the welfare of the Order.

July 19th I was authorized to issue a circular asking for an assessment of $2 to defray the expenses of the general committee, which expects to convene at Norfolk on or about the 20th of this month. This was approved by the president.

This is a very important matter, and should be attended to promptly. Time for payment expires September 30th. All who do not reply favorably become liable to suspension from the Order.

Reason for levying this assessment is to avoid any embarrassment in paying the necessary expenses of the general committee during these meetings, and for the purpose of placing a paid general chairman on the road. I beg that all members respond cheerfully, and at once, to save further trouble.

What is the trouble with the members on the Birmingham Division? Wake up, and put your shoulders to the wheel, for we must have your co-operation to insure success for you.

You should not throw all the responsibility on the shoulders of your general chairman.

All other divisions have been active in procuring new members and holding monthly meetings, but we do not hear from the Birmingham boys.

The increase in membership from other divisions has been very gratifying, and we hope that it will continue.

In remitting please avoid using postoffice money orders as much as possible. These orders cause delay.

F. O. CUMMING.

Second Division—

I missed the August and also July number, but I had a good excuse for missing. Was sick for three weeks. When I came back to work I found more than I could do during the next two months. You all know how things go when you are out for two or three weeks, and relieved by an inexperienced man. However, yours truly is able to say well done; I am about straight, so here I am again.

Isn't the Second Division something to appreciate now? Never saw the roadbed, right-of-ways, sidings and stations so clean before in my life, and while you are reading and thinking about the conditions of the road, don't forget to think about how clean the division is of "nons."

Well, brothers, who are still on the other divisions, the membership on the Second Division surprised me. It began to look at one time like the entire division was going to sleep, but when the railroads commenced to nurse the corporation commission it reminded me of that old flag you all know so well: "Don't tread on me." Just so it was with the boys then. We went to Raleigh with flying colors, and carried signals, I think, in four sections, and every man made a round trip.

The clerk at the Yarboro House wanted to know of me: "What you fellows going to take away with you?" I said, "the good will of the public and corporation commission." Well, he says, what are you bringing with you? I says some startling facts, which will open the eyes of the entire State. Of course, the clerk expressed his ignorance of the meaning of these peculiar expressions, but the News and Observer, the always faithful, told him and the rest all about it the next morning. Speaker Justice, Judge Studwick and Upchurch did not go to Raleigh expecting to learn something, but they did learn something, and who says Justice didn't put a few of the officials in a peanut parcher and shake them until they acknowledged their guilt of fibbing. Well, it's all over, and there was fun for both sides. The railroads lost part of their requests and the telegraphers did not get as much as they thought there were due them.

I'll have to ring off now; my little Topsy has come for me to get out and swing the ax for enough wood for breakfast. Be good; remember it is your duty to give your faithful local chairman, Bro. Booker, all the support you can. He's going next week to fuss for more money and better working conditions for us, and I tell you, boys, he is absolutely without strength when he has a poor percentage. NORTH CAROLINA.

Sixth Division—

It seems to me that with the number of members we have who have plenty of time for such work, our division could have a write-up each month. Is there not a division correspondent down here? If not, why does our local chairman not appoint one? This should be attended to at once, as this is a very important matter. Then, when he is appointed, let each one do his share, and help him to make the write-up complete each month.

There is lots of work to be done on this division, as there are a great many nons down here, and it will take some hustling to bring them into the fold. Let's see who can get the greatest number of new members by the first of January, and bend every effort to make our division solid. Understand our committee has gone before the management, but haven't heard how they came out.

But very few changes of late, so far as I can ascertain.

Bro. Morris relieving Mr. Hough, days at Ocala. Mr. Hough gone to parts unknown.

Bro. McGeachy back nights at Tampa, vice, Mr. Lyvers.

Understand Mr. Cason, of Turkey Creek, intends leaving us in a few days to enter college.

They are now building a new and much larger coal chute at that place, and we understand they are going to put in about two miles of sidetracks.

Hope Mr. Cason's successor will be up-to-date, and also hope he will land the night man, Mr. Johnson.

Sister Frier, of Coleman, off for a vacation. Haven't learned who relieved her, or whether he has the "wherewith."

All of our dispatchers have been taking vacations recently, while Mr. Lipscomb, of Plant City, relieved them.

Hope we will have a better write-up than this next month.

Now, boys, get busy and do something to help our cause along. Seems as if some one would give us a report of the meetings at Wildwood.

CERT. 426.

Third Division—

As I have never seen anything from the banner division, thought I would "scribble a few," and let the boys know what's doing on this pike.

Our last meeting, held at Athens, Ga., August 11th, proved to be a grand success. I was surprised to see so many members out, but, at the same time I regret to say that we did not have a brother present from north of Mountville. I sincerely trust in the future they will attend from the north end, and help make our meetings a success.

Among the speakers at Athens last Sunday were Bros. D. May, general chairman; W. B. Pope, local chairman, and S. P. McDaniel, assistant chairman. Bro. May made one of the strongest and most instructive talks I ever heard, and a good many boys missed a treat by not hearing him. Bros. C. S. Compton, W. E. Crisp and J. D. Miller also gave some wise suggestions for the benefit of the Order.

Bro. R. M. Summey relieved Bro. C. S. Compton a few days last week. Compton has been out on a vacation.

Bro. Guthrie, agent at Cross Hill, is out on a vacation. Bro. G. W. Wright is relieving him. Wright is from the Fourth Division.

Mr. Nons, are you going to allow your fellow-workers to pay all assessments and you reap the benefit? You make all kinds of excuses, except good ones. Are you ever going to wake up and see what the O. R. T. is doing for us all? Haven't we secured several raises since 1904? Haven't we a schedule the same as the trainmen? And yet you make excuses that a baby would not listen to.

I heard an engineer say the other day that he admired a scab more than a non, on the grounds that a scab has helped the Order to some extent, financially, but crawled out when on the test for want of intelligence, grit or nerve, whichever you prefer to call it, and a non has never even tried to help the Order, and nine times out of ten would do the same as a scab. I know of very few nons on this division, I am glad to say, and I trust they will see the importance of the O. R. T. and become brothers.

We had the pleasure of meeting Bro. Ewing, of Atlanta, "A" office. He is anything but a dead member. CERT. 289.

Southern Railway.

Washington Division—

At our meeting, held at Charlottesville on Saturday night, the 19th, the south end was well represented, but on account of the fact that the local train from the north being late, Bro. Shelhorse was the only north-ender present. This was Bro. Shelhorse's first visit, as he was only initiated a few days ago. He was made very welcome, and hope he will come again.

The following officers were elected to fill the unexpired term:

Bro. C. W. Grim, chief telegrapher.

Bro. G. B. Dearborn, secretary and treasurer.

Bro. R. D. Saffell, first vice-chief telegrapher.

Bro. Nick Moore second vice-chief telegrapher.

Bro. T. C. Roberts, past chief telegrapher.

The following brothers were appointed:

Bro. L. M. Brittle, marshal.

Bro. Roy Lockett, outside sentinel.

Bro. W. M. Arrington, inside sentinel.

Bro. D. H. McLearn, division correspondent.

The meeting was a decided success, and greatly enjoyed by all present, and we hope to have a still larger number present at our next meeting.

Bro. J. L. Munday, of Coveseville, Va., who had lock-jaw, and was so very ill a short time since, has recovered sufficiently to be taken away from home to regain his strength and health. We were very uneasy about him for some time, and rejoice that he is now out of danger.

The meal hour overtime question has at last been settled satisfactorily, and all tickets which were turned down, and were referred to our local chairman for collection, have been paid. We are not to accept our meal-hours after 1 o'clock, day or night.

The middle relief position and the night position at Coolwell, Va., were bulletined this month. The relief has been accepted, but Coolwell still open for bids.

We were deeply grieved to hear of the death of the sister of Bro. J. W. Mays, of Rio, Va., and our hearts go out in sympathy for the loved ones left to mourn.

It is very encouraging to see that the majority of the few remaining nons are realizing the error of their way, and coming over to our side to join the united band, which is pressing onward for the advancement of the telegrapher's cause, which needs uplifting from out of the old rut of drudgery to the goal of success.

Hope the conflict between the C. T. U. of A. and the Western Union will terminate satisfactorily. These conflicts are not desired, and are only resorted to when all other efforts to obtain a peaceful settlement avail nothing. The strike puts the general public to a great inconvenience, which is regretted, but it is often necessary to resort to this in order to obtain fair treatment and a living wage.

Most of the roads in the United States are now scheduled, and it is to our interest to live up to the agreements, and to see that they are also fulfilled by the railroad company. We appreciate the treatment received from our railroad officials, and it is our desire to return good service. The dispatcher may have to do a little extra calling some times, but not often. It's rather tiresome to be buckled down to it for 12 hours. We live in hopes of seeing a shorter working day.

Here's hoping all of us may be able to assemble in the meeting room next time, and not be side-tracked on the way.

Div. Cor.

Atlanta Division—

Much interest is felt by our membership in the general struggle of our brother commercial telegraphers; their demands seem in all respects reasonable and just. They are making a brave stand for that which is due them. Not only does all organized labor realize this, but the justice-loving public seeing the united heroic efforts of this important body of men, join in sympathy and hope for their success. Although 90 per cent or more of their skilled telegraphers have left them in a body, pending justice, we find the officials of these unfair telegraph companies boasting that their business is not seriously affected; that they will not recognize this force of men except as individuals; that the strike is over so far as they are concerned, and even that they do not know a strike is on. The fair-minded public is, however, too wise to believe any such misleading statements. The writer personally knows of numerous villages and towns where ordinarily there is an immense number of commercial telegrams handled daily, that have not sent or received one message since the commercial telegraphers' strike was called, nor is there any hope for the public to again receive this service that is due them until these corporations shall have dealt fairly with the organized telegraphers. We, as railroad telegraphers, concur with the commercial telegraphers in their sincere regret that the public must suffer until such time as these stubborn corporations realize that there is really a strike on, and are willing to treat fairly with these deserving men and women.

We are urging our men, the railroad telegraphers, to be mindful of the duties they owe the railway companies to see that wires are given special attention; that railroad messages are handled without delay; that the movement of all trains be carefully looked after; and, in other words, not forget any part of our duty as employees of roads fair to our organization. This is done to guard against possible chances of railroad telegraphers neglecting some duty due the railroad company while so earnestly in sympathy with the commercial telegraphers. It is gratifying to note the manner in which the railway telegraphers have kept the company's interest at heart; not a complaint having been made by the railway officials up to date. It is hoped that before this shall have gone to press each member of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers shall have contributed at least $1 to the commercial telegraphers, and thus aided and encouraged them in this battle for justice. If they lose it means injury to all organized labor. They must win. Their battle is just. Many of the striking telegraphers have already secured employment on railroads, and if the Western Union and Postal don't "hurry up" with a fair settlement, they will no doubt fail to secure the service of many of their skilled, tried and true men.

Applications for membership continue to come, and the condition of our division is rapidly improving. Ere many more months have passed I fancy I can hear the boys saying: Atlanta Division is second to none in Division 59, and System Division 59 is equal to any in existence.

In July number of THE TELEGRAPHER I mentioned the list prepared and sent out over the division by Bro. S. E. Smith, giving the membership and its friends an opportunity to assist the local chairman in paying for a typewriter, recently purchased. This list continues to grow, and from the fact that this substantial aid comes without the asking, leads me to believe that the telegraphers appreciate my humble efforts to serve them as local chairman. I desire to thank those who have felt disposed to assist me in this purchase, and trust that not one letter may ever leave this mill of which you might be ashamed. Following is a list of the brothers, sisters and friends who have signed the list, practically all of whom have already forwarded 50 cents to $1 each:

S. E. Smith, H. H. Moon, J. S. Garmon, W. A. Foster, J. O. Underwood, W. J. Weatherly, J. M. Westmoreland, A. J. Vining, B. H. Harkins, J. O. Williams, G. E. Gill, E. C. Gentle, Tom Smith, Mrs. A. M. Scarborough, G. W. Clegg, G. A. Scarborough, H. C. Harris, A. R. Field, S. E. Graham, J. M. Barte, J. R. Winters, M. Doster, W. B. Foster, R. L. Burgess, J. N. Hanna, B. Powers, R. Gibbs, J. E. Brown, J. F. Rhodes, M. G. Clay, E. E. Swofford, H. L. Blair, J. I. Hardin, B. F. Blair, O. M. Nix, W. A. Beatty, J. S. Ridgill, C. H. Gheesling, W. G. Barber, H. A. Henderson, P. O. Parker.

Fraternally,
C. E. Moss, Local Chairman.

Macon Division—

The meeting of this division at Flovilla, was well attended, and while camp meeting at the old camp grounds held many attractions for them, they felt enough interest in the business of the Order to spare a few hours. This was much appreciated, and much good was accomplished, results of which are already apparent. Come again, boys; we need your help and counsel, and your presence is inspiring to the balance of us, and will do much to induce another brother to put a few hours with us when he can get off.

Sorry some of the boys who intended to come could not get relief. Next meeting will be held at Helena, Ga., and we hope all the north end boys who can get relief will attend. The south end will be represented by at least one man from every station.

A few items have been received this week, mostly from the north end, while I have failed to gather anything whatever from the south end. Boys, let me have a line or two, changes and such like from your end, if you wish to interest others in the welfare of the division.

Mr. R. L. Bray, days at Roseland tower, back again after a week's vacation. While off Bro. Huckaby, night man, did the day stunt, relieved at night by Bro. Oliver.

Bro. R. M. Cason, days at Constitution, has returned from two weeks' vacation to his old home, Warrenton and Chalker, Ga. He reports excellent time. Bro. Allen, nights, relieving him, and Mr. J. E. Guyton doing the night work. Mr. Guyton says as soon as he has passed the necessary age required, he will carry the up-to-date card.

Mr. J. G. Coleman, days at Ellenwood, has returned from a visit to his home, relieved by Bro. C. R. Stephenson doubling. Bro. Stephenson holds forth during the watch of the stars.

Mr. H. E. Guyton, formerly nights at Flippen, now nights at McDonough; he being relieved by Mr. J. E. Guyton, nights at Flippen.

Understand new night man at Jenkinsburg; have not yet learned his name.

Bros. Clifford Pitts, nights at Locust Grove, and his brother days, have returned from an extended trip to Mexico and other western localities. While away they were relieved by Bro. Huff days, and J. W. Chambliss nights.

Bro. H. L. Allen, nights at Constitution, has returned from two weeks' vacation to Brunswick and his old home near Forsythe, Ga. Bro. Allen was relieved by Mr. J. E. Guyton.

We don't want to make any complaint, but some are growing careless in their work, especially in handling "orders." Since last write-up our general secretary has received complaint from the general superintendent that no less than two collisions have occurred, and same traced directly to the carelessness of telegraphers handling "orders."

If we want to make an impression that will be of benefit to us, we must do our business right, and those that wear the "wreath and sounder" should endeavor to show the officials that the Order man is superior, both in intelligence and ability to the "non," otherwise they will prefer to employ the non, as he comes cheaper. Handle "orders" as though you realized what they mean, for you hold many human lives and often millions of property in your hand, and these should be handled as if they were valuables, indeed. Let us all try to see that this is not again charged to union men, and try to bring the standard up instead of letting it down, for it is low enough now.

Trouble with the Western Union does not affect us so much as long as we don't have any business to handle with them, but it leaves us in a very undesirable position.

From my point of view I think the complications that arise from this should be corrected by our committees at first opportunity, by getting the commercial business separated from the railroad business, and not require the railroad telegraphers to handle this business, when it should be handled by the company that receives the money for it.

We have many grievances, however, and they have been imposed upon us for years, and we can not hope to get all our troubles adjusted in a year, or in several years.

Let us look after the nons and keep the tardy members up-to-date. Get in line ourselves; stay in line, and get the nons in the same regiment; treat them gentlemanly, if they are worthy of such treatment. Be patient with them; explain all the advantages over and over again, if necessary, and in the end you will gain a loyal member.

Don't forget the meeting at Helena, and all who possibly can attend.

Bro. J. W. Crumpler, at Lumber City, will give you all the information you desire concerning it.
Div. Coa.

Knoxville Division—

August meeting was called to order at 8:30 p. m. by Chief C. N. Griffith, with the officers in their respective stations. Membership present numbering about 15, a smaller attendance than was expected. Nevertheless, we had a very good meeting. Those present were as follows: Bros. Gray and Sharp from Coster Division, Bros. Cord, Stambery and Harris from Chattanooga Division, Bros. Stafford, Vaughn, Chandler, Yates, Houston and Barkley from Knoxville Division, and some three or four others; I do not remember their names. At this meeting the writer was elected correspondent for Knoxville Division.

Will appreciate the assistance of any of the brothers who send in items.

Another matter I wish to impress on the minds of the brothers, and that is to keep all railroad wires working, and in good shape. We are not asking you to act as linemen, but watch your board and see that no wires are left open or grounded in your offices.

Four or five of the C. T. U. A. boys were present at our meeting and gave us a nice talk in regard to the strike that is now on. They are very well satisfied the way things are moving at the present time, and say they are in this fight to win, which is the hearty wish of all union telegraphers.

Bulletin came out during the month covering all the positions that were vacant.

Bro. Solomon away on 10 days' vacation; relieved by Bro. Leeson.

Bro. Vaughn off on 30 days' vacation; relieved by Bro. Olem.

Bro. Barkley on sick list; relieved by night man, Bro. McCubbins.

Bro. Thompson has gone to the N. & W.

Bro. Bibee away on 10 days' vacation.

No card, no favors. Drv. Cor.

Asheville Division—

While the boys are very earnestly discussing the $75 minimum I will try and give you a few dots from the Asheville Division:

Haven't heard anything from the A. & S. end since May. Won't some one or all send me a few items each month? Wake up and be doing. Show the other divisions that we are right in line.

Bro. Alexander, of Drexel, made a visit to Jamestown in July, and reports a fine trip. He also went to Washington on the committee in regard to reducing the salary of eight-hour offices and cutting out overtime. After failing to reach an agreement in two days the committee granted the Southern's wishes, the latter promising to meet the committee again the first of January.

Bro. Walker, of "MY," Salisbury, third trick, paid a few days' visit to his relatives in Rutherfordton last month, being relieved by Mr. J. E. Brookshire, of the Knoxville Division. After Bro. Walker's return Mr. Brookshire went to Morgan-town nights.

Bro. Winecoff, of Majolica days, has been confined to his bed several weeks with typhoid fever, but is improving. Wish him a speedy recovery. Bro. Winecoff is being relieved by Mr. B. D. McCubbins, who is a new man in the railroad world, but promises to get an up-to-date this month. He has been a commercial telegrapher some time.

Mr. Finlayson, of "MY," Salisbury, after being out quite a while, promises to come into the fold again this month.

Can't Bro. Alexander set a date for a genuine O. R. T. meeting? We are all anxious for it, and will do all we can to have a good attendance.

Bro. W. L. Gilbert, East Hickory, has returned from the hospital, where he had to undergo an operation. We are glad to see him back at his post. Bro. Gilbert is an enthusiastic member, and a hard worker.

He is getting out a journal now in the interest of Division 59, and in which members of same may keep posted as to what is transpiring on this system, and thereby keep in closer touch with each other.

He offers its columns to the officers and members of this division, and other near-by divisions for official notices and announcements, as well as other communications of general interest to members of the O. R. T. and C. T. U. A.

In his journal he will advocate, among other good causes, the building of a telegraph system, to be owned and operated by members and officials of the O. R. T. and C. T. U. A. Brothers who are interested should write Bro. Gilbert, Box 274, Hickory, N. C., ask for sample copy and give him their support and encouragement.

It is a matter of deep regret that your correspondent is compelled to report, on authority, that one of our brothers at Facil is teaching a student. It is also said that the agent at Claremont, also a member, is in the same business, and is drawing two men's salaries while doing so, at least, his student's name is carried on pay roll, and he does the work and draws the money. This matter will be investigated, and charges filed if the practice is not discontinued.

Then there is Booth, at Catawba, making it a regular business turning out hams. Wonder if h's students' names also appear on the pay roll? Shame on them all!

Telegrapher-ticket Agent Harry Little, Hickory, N. C., is off on an extended vacation in the west. It is said he is tired of holding a two-man job, and is not expected to return soon, if at all. His relief, Mr. Booe, is trying every means to be relieved, and may have to get sick. Truly the way of the transgressor is hard.

Moral: Repent at once and get a card.

Madam Rumor has it that Bro. A. E. Huffman, West Block, Hickory, N. C., is soon to join the order of benedicts.

Bro. H. A. Quickel, West Hickory, has resigned and accepted service with C. & N. W. at Lincolnton, N. C., his home. He was relieved by Bro. J. E. Hudson, who was relieved by Mr. R. L. Cooper on third trick. Mr. Cooper promises to get a card as soon as he is eligible.

Mr. D. K. Summers, of Catawba, to third, East Hickory, vice Mr. R. L. Huffman, resigned to engage in other business. Mr. Summers says he will have an up-to-date next pay day. C&RT. 581.

Chattanooga Division—

I have just returned from a trip over the division, where I have been working in the capacity of organizer, collecting dues and doing other things for the improvement of the service, and the upbuilding of the organization and Division 59.

I am glad to report that the Chattanooga Division is in good condition, there being a complete change in the past year, making us at least 90 per cent strong, and I feel safe in saying that our division is in as good shape, if not better, than any division of the system. We have as many again members as we had last year, fewer scabs, and above all, fewer students, which goes to show that the boys on the Southern are putting forth their efforts to bring things up to the standard, so they, too, will be in a position to demand some of the good things that are enjoyed by the brothers on other roads.

I do not wish to forget to make mention of the fact that we have as competent and intelligent a set of telegraphers on the Chattanooga Division as will be found on any division; a thing unheard of on the Southern in days gone by, but as time rolls gently on, and the organization is becoming stronger, conditions are changing, and today we can boast of a good set of telegraphers. There are several reasons for this, the chief of which is that the system is organized, and the men have learned the lesson that through organization they may obtain fair wages and just working conditions, and that this is their only hope.

The labor problem, so-called, is a part of the greater problem of life or relationship, and as such can not be well differentiated from that problem. The O. R. T. seeks to develop justice between the telegraphers and the company. It tries to teach wage earners that they can do better for themselves by trying to help lift one another up, rather than by following the policy "of each man for himself, and the devil take the rest." It tries to convince the employer that it is for his interest to treat his employees as men, rather than as parts of machinery, and that it is a wise policy to recognize the fact that there should be two sides to the labor question as well as to other questions. Organized labor is necessary to man. It is necessary to peace and prosperity of the country. Labor is merchandise that will not keep. Individually it is helpless, and must take what it can get. It can not go to another market, for when it leaves home the wife and children suffer.

Every movement of the union offers improvement of condition of its members. Helps and uplifts not only the non-union man, but adds materially to the social uplift of the entire human family. Labor has a right to do something better. It has a right to organize to get it; both are natural rights in perfect accord with higher principles that ought to control humanity, for the employee is neither a machine nor a beast of burden.

I want to impress upon each member the importance of doing his part for the upbuilding of the Order. At this time we should not sit idle and wait for the other fellow to get in the lead. May each and every brother keep engraved upon his heart the circular sent out by President Perham regarding this important matter, and the student question, and it will not be long until we will be close on to that long-looked for eight-hour day and $75 minimum. Don't build too much on legislation, as we may yet have to take things in our own hands before we realize any better conditions. If every man will do his part, and get busy, it is my opinion that next year we can all join in and sing: "Though many years have passed, we've won the fight at last." We can not expect our union to be powerful if we refuse to furnish the ammunition. Flowers will not bloom if neglected or abused. They must be watered, cultured and given constant care and attention. This is likewise true of unionism, which will not grow unless every member does his part. No victory was ever won without expending some effort, and I hope all will wake up and lend a helping hand to assist in reaching the goal.

A word regarding the non: It is a very common thing to hear a non condemn the union, but you never hear them condemn the union pay day; the increase secured by the union, the union short work day, the meal hour, the overtime, or anything else the union has secured for them, but they accept all of them, and when approached regarding their application, they will always give you a "spiel" to put you off. The non knows, and so do we that whatever the union gets for its members will also be given to the non who is employed in same class of service.

Wonderful changes come with the tide of time. Two years ago when I came to the Southern Railway the O. R. T. here was a very small item. There were some few members on this division, but they had no agreement with the company, and it was very seldom that you would hear any one talking unionism for fear of being dismissed from the service; in fact, there was one or two telegraphers dismissed from the service for being active workers for the O. R. T. I am well acquainted with the brothers and the particulars of both cases, and could give names of same, but prefer not to do so here, but will say, however, that one of the brothers was reinstated, and is still with the Southern, working for the upbuilding of the organization.

Two years ago a telegrapher on the Southern never knew what day some favored person would step off the train and take his job, regardless of how competent a man the telegrapher was, nor how long he had been in the service of the company, faithfully discharging his duty. This was frequently done, and at that time there was no way to prevent it. There was no schedule, no overtime, no recognition of seniority rights, no limit to the time you should work, but you had to take the medicine the officials wished to give you, or leave the service, and, of course, many left, and in every case bettered themselves. Under such conditions the life of a telegrapher on the Southern was anything but pleasant, but thanks to Providence and the O. R. T., that such a state of affairs no longer exists on the Southern Railway. We have an agreement. We get overtime, meal hour, seniority rules, and no more discharging a man on account of his affiliation with the Order. No more family pie business, and the officials can no longer send a friend or relative to take your job without just cause. Equal rights to all and special privileges to none, and the brothers should see to it that they get a square deal. Of course, we are far from what we justly deserve, but how much better is it to work under present conditions than under conditions that existed two and three years ago? But recently one of the oldest men in the service of the Southern said he would have never believed that such a turn of affairs could be brought about on the Southern Railway after the 1900 strike, but, he added, that it was all due to the men uniting, and could have been accomplished no other way.

Now, brothers, before I close, I wish to again impress upon you the importance of standing by your union. I turn the division over to you in good shape. I have worked hard to line it up since I have been local chairman here, and taking into consideration the many disadvantages with which I had to work, such as scabs, students and incompetent telegraphers, I feel proud that things are in such good shape, and I ask that you help keep the division in good condition. I think it is no more than fair and just that you brothers help in the work, and thereby help to carry the burden that I have carried almost alone for a year. It may be that I will not be with you but a short while longer, as I anticipate making a change, and you may need a new local chairman. However, I hope you will keep the Chattanooga Division in good shape, and though I may not be here with you I assure you that my heart will be, as I have always felt deeply interested in the welfare of the brothers on the Chattanooga Division. If I ever wanted to see a division climb up, it is the Chattanooga Division, and, in fact, the Southern System in general, and I assure you I have exerted my best efforts to bring this about, and all I ask in return for my services is an occasional thought from the brothers. I have stood up for what was just and right, always contending for that which was justly ours by virtue of our agreement, and claiming nothing that did not belong to us. The pathway of a local chairman is not always strewn with roses, as President Perham said in his report to the convention at Minneapolis last May: "A man who takes the lead in battles such as an organization like the O. R. T. has to fight, a local chairman or any other official of the Order, by the nature of his business, is bound to make for himself powerful enemies, and has trials enough to endure without feeling that he must be on his guard against enemies and traitors in our own ranks; those who ought to be our staunch friends and supporters." Like many others, I realize that I have faults, but since I have been acting in the capacity of local chairman, I have endeavored to do my duty, both to the members and the company, and shouldered a great deal of responsibility in behalf of boys on this division. Whether I get any thanks or not, I will always feel better for having done my duty, and a good work for the organization in general. To those who have been with me in this work I wish to tender my thanks with the assurance that it will repay you many times for your work. I may not be local chairman but a short while longer, but I assure you I will always be found working for the upbuilding of the organization, and expect to die as I have lived, with an up-to-date card in my pocket.

With best wishes.

Fraternally yours,

WADE H. CORD,
Local Chairman Chattanooga Division.

Danville Division, South End—

Our division correspondent has never given this end of the division a good write-up, and I am taking it upon myself to give the boys an idea of how we stand:

Mr. H. L. Griffith, formerly agent at Ruffin, now working third trick at Pelham Junction. We do not know who relieved Mr. Griffith at Ruffin. Bro. Fitzgerald is doing the owl act at that place.

Bro. Coleman, formerly day telegrapher at Sadler, is working second trick at Reidsville, being relieved by Mr. Aycock, formerly night man at that place.

Bro. Somers is working third trick at that place, and always carries an up-to-date card.

Bro. Crowder, agent and telegrapher at Denaja, has just returned to his post, after taking a few days' vacation; being relieved by Bro. Smith from Browns Summit, formerly regular night man at that place before the night office was closed.

Bro. McCain relieved Mr. Lee, who went to "MC," Greensboro.

Bro. Yoder went to Spencer to take an eight-hour trick at a better salary. We are sorry to lose him, but glad to see him get a better position.

Boys, we want to keep our eyes open. Let each and every man do his best to get the line solid.

"HAPPY JACK."

Danville Division—

Our regular monthly meeting was held in Greensboro, Saturday night, July 27th. Owing to the fact that we could not secure the keys to the Odd Fellows' Hall, our regular place of meeting, we secured a suitable room at the Hotel Clegg. The meeting was called to order about 8:30 p. m. Adjourned at 11 p. m. with Bro. Duncan in the chair.

Our general chairman, Bro. McDaniel's, was to have been present at this meeting, but for some reason he was absent.

Opening of the meeting was followed by a lengthy speech from Bro. Duncan, then followed short talks from Bros. Baxter, McCain, McLawhorne and Reed, which were approved by all present. The question of greatest importance was the much-talked of reduction of wages in all our eight-hour jobs. Are we going to stand by and see our salaries reduced to such an extent that we will barely earn enough to enable us to live, simply because the law of the State has given us an eight-hour day? I say "No," and I think every one else will say the same thing. We want to stand together and pull in the same direction, and we will soon have things coming our way.

The Order is just what we make it, and if it does not prosper who is to blame? We are, of course. Come to the meetings and help us along. Your presence in the lodge room is a big encouragement. We need you. There is no reason why at least one from each station could not be present. Come to the meetings, and you will know what's doing. Stay at home, and you will know nothing. It is your duty to attend, as we need your assistance and co-operation. Give us your ideas and let us know we have your support when the time comes for action.

If any brother knows of a non go after him by giving him a set of blanks and a good lot of talk, and I think you will be able to show him he is in the wrong boat.

We are glad to see a button bearing the emblem of the Order adorn the coat of Bro. Darden, of the "MC" office, which makes that place solid. Bro. Darden says he is with us to stay, and we understand the reason for his being a non so long was because he had been booked as a 1900 scab. As soon as Bro. Darden found this out, he did some tall "doings," and secured clearance papers showing he was not in the service at that time.

Our next meeting will be in Greensboro, on the fourth Saturday night of August, and we want to see a large attendance. We are to have regular meetings in Greensboro in the future. Understand this is to be every month, and on the fourth Saturday night, unless there is a change made, and if so you will be notified. So come along and bring all the new applications you can.

If you have not paid your dues, do so at once, and get one of the blue cards. Div. Cor.

"Between Knoxville and Bristol"—

Everything coming slow but sure on this end. Bro. Craig, who has been working nights at New Line, bid in the night job at Morristown.

Bro. Daily went from Morristown to New Line until New Line is advertised.

Operator Remine, from Johnson City, off on vacation. Bro. Stafford, our local chairman over on this end recently. Understand Bro. Mason, night man at west end double track, near Jefferson City, was injured by a freight train turning over on the office.

Bro. Solomon, from Bulls Gap, off on vacation; relieved by Bro. Leeson.

One thing we can say, we have most all paid dues and received new cards.

We have some good telegraphers on this end who ought to be in the Order, and I believe if we will do our part they will come in. I never could see why it is, but you can ask some of the brothers if Operator "So-and-So" is an Order man, and half the time they don't know. The idea! Block trains with a telegrapher and then not be able to state whether or not he is an Order man. Let's get out of this and get after the "nons," and show them we want them to be an O. R. T. man. This is too important to neglect.

"SUNSHINE."

Bangor & Aroostook Ry.

On August 11th we had one of the most successful and largely attended meetings at Houlton that we have ever had since this division was organized. And we can truthfully say that there were others who would have attended had they the opportunity to get away. It has been decided by all to have a little something doing before many months at least, and we are all thankful that the boys are all of the same spirit and got the push behind them to keep it up.

It's time Brownville days, Brownville freight office and Norcross and Schoodic were put up for bid. "NC" and "SC" nights, you "13." There will be two or three new stations for some of the boys when the Schoodic cut-off is completed, early this fall.

As to the changes, as far as we know:

Bro. Leighton is relieving Bro. Crozier, at Norcross for an indefinite time.

Bro. Taylor, recently at Searsport, is relieving Bro. McInnis at Stacyville.

Bro. Price, we "13" is relieving Bro. Donoghue at Sherman.

Bro. Buchanan has recently bid in Milo Junction agency and has commenced his duties there.

We all know our brother telegraphers, the C. T. P. of A., are out on strike and standing up for their rights, and why can't we, and all other divisions, give them moral and financial assistance. Help the boys out. They need it. Some time they may have a chance to return it, and will do so with pleasure. But that is not what we are thinking about. The main thing is to help them out. DO IT NOW!

Well, we are very near solid. Only a very small number of nons hanging around now, and some of them are going to see the better way of the world before many moons and get busy and get in with the boys and be somebody.

How is it, boys, come on and get busy and send me some items, won't you? I have been writing for THE TELEGRAPHER every month for over a year, and it is generally the same thing right over and over. It is hard to write up anything of interest when you are not informed as to what is going on, and if some of our brothers would just bear this in mind, they would help out wonderfully, and their kindness would be greatly appreciated.

Bros. Brown and Thorpe, members of Co. L, Second Maine Regiment, have returned from Portland, where the army maneuvers took place this summer. Both report a good time and plenty of work.

Bro. Kelley, of "KX" office, Houlton, made a flying trip to Brownville recently.

We will have to ring off, for the reason that I haven't any more news to write. You see, now, where some notes would come in handy. Let us not forget next month's notes and our brother telegraphers.

Yours for more pay and shorter hours.

Div. Cor.

Norfolk & Western Ry.Radford Division—

Another month has passed and gone, also another good O. R. T. meeting has been held at Portsmouth, O., which, I understand, was well attended. One of the most important things done at this meeting was the election of a system correspondent. This duty having fallen on Bro. M. G. Harper, of Bristol, and Bro. W. M. Jaynes, of Hamden Junction, O., appointed as assistant from Scioto Division. Assistants will be appointed on other divisions as meetings are called. This is something that has been badly needed for a long time, and if Bro. Harper is given the hearty co-operation he should have, it will undoubtedly prove very beneficial to the organization and we will have something every month from each division of the N. & W. in our journal. Those of you who have been appointed as assistants should get your notes to Bro. Harper not later than the 25th of each month as they must be arranged, and in the hands of Bro. Quick not later than the 28th. Now see that this is done, and done promptly, otherwise Bro. Harper can not handle the office successfully.

It is very objectionable to the men on the N. & W. to be compelled to handle Western Union business during the strike. However, they see that it is their duty to do so in justice to the N. & W., and in fulfillment of our present agreement, and are all handling this business with as little delay as possible, regardless of personal feelings in the matter. We are glad to see that our organization has complied with all instructions in regard to this matter, and we hope that proper appreciation will be shown for their loyalty when the general committee calls for another agreement.

One of our great needs at present is good telegraphers and good service. It has been talked by some of the train men, and even by some who are officials, that the service is not what it should be, and that the worst service is coming from eight-hour jobs. Now it will be expected, of course, that something of this kind should be said of eight-hour positions by some of the officials, and especially those who have not as yet ascended the ladder of railroad fame to a very great height, as we all know that it costs the salary of one more man to handle an eight-hour job than a 12-hour job, and, again, aside from the monetary standpoint, we, of course, have to take and expect the usual knocking that has been given the telegraphers since they began to advance in the ranks of union labor; therefore, the complaints that some have advanced have been long expected, and we are not at all surprised; however, I do wish to say right here that we must see that such statements can not be proven, and we must at all times use our best efforts to improve the service.

We note, with regret, that we have some who are not taking proper interest in the company's work; who are working as telegraphers, however, I am glad to state that the one to which I refer does not belong to our organization, but this makes no difference to those who are always looking for an opportunity to criticize the telegrapher. It's always up to us.

The case I have in mind is this: A train had two pieces of drummers' baggage for a station which was a flag stop. The conductor stopped the train for unloading this baggage, and found no one on hand but a young fellow apparently 16 or 18 years old, with a pencil prominently placed behind his ear, who informed the conductor that he was the night man on duty, but that he could not handle the baggage, and would have nothing to do with it; leaving nothing to be done but for the baggage to be carried to the next terminal and returned. This station was so located that after the baggage was unloaded to the ground, it could have been handled to the station platform by a 10-year-old boy. The platform being level with the ground.

Now, in my judgment, a man who has so little interest in the company's business should not be allowed to work. Still the officials will continue to employ such men (or boys, I should have said), and every complaint that comes from their poor service is charged to the telegraphers' organization. This is something that should be gone into carefully, and when our committee again meets the management, let it be distinctly understood that we will not assume any responsibility for the actions of such incompetent employees. However, I am thankful to say, we have very few of them.

Very little news this month on account of not yet having arrangements completed for getting notes from all divisions.

Bro. J. M. Hodge, one of the old reliables, who has been spending his vacation at Jamestown and New York City, has resumed duty, and reports a pleasant trip. He was relieved by second trick man, Bro. T. T. Parrish. Mr. Docker, who will soon be entitled to the "brother," working second. On Bro. Hodge's return Bro. Parrish also left for Jamestown.

Bro. Asbury, first trick man at Glade Spring, is spending his vacation in Arizona and Mexico. All the men at this place pushed up a trick with a new one; Gordon Allison as third.

CERT. 177.

Scioto Division—

Brothers, it has been quite a while since I have written an article for THE TELEGRAPHER, and am somewhat rusty at the business, but if you will be attentive for a few moments I shall endeavor, nevertheless, to give you a few points of interest and, perhaps, some of you will agree with my ideas:

Of course, you are familiar to a certain extent with the strike situation, and have your own ideas, but I want to give my idea: The trouble our sister organization is having with the telegraph companies is what might be called a thing of a serious nature. The probability is that they will win, and I am sure every member in the Order of Railroad Telegraphers is in sympathy with them, and feels they would do anything for them, while there may be a few who say: "The Commercial Telegraphers' Union has never done anything for us, and why should we inconvenience ourselves on their account?" But why? Because their membership has never justified it, they have not been strong enough, and only recently has their membership increased to a winning standard.

For the O. R. T. boys to strike would evidently prove beneficial to them, but why should we strike? We have no grievance; it would only be doing our employers a great injustice, and it would merely be going out in sympathy with them.

Get in line, all of you, and pay as many times as you are assessed. That's the way to help the commercials.

We are all aware that the commercial telegraphers, likewise the railroad telegraphers, do not make a salary equal to that of the foreigners who are brought here by the railroads and other large concerns, and most of them who have about as much of an education as a mule. Do we blame them for striking? Certainly not. They are entitled to much more than they are getting, and the telegraph companies have always taken advantage of them, and rated them to suit themselves.

Scioto Division is lined up in pretty good shape now, and the boys are due much credit. Stay with it, boys. If you realize that it's where we get our bread and meat, in a true honest way. I think all are satisfied with the conditions of the Order, and are pleased with our employers.

Would like to offer something of interest in the way of changes on the division, but there are none with the exception of the extra men, and they move as much as men in a checker game.

Let us have something from some other brothers, any time or anything.

Think I shall have to wind up. Trusting none of you tire of the contents of this item, I am,
"J. N."

Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie Railway.

Winnipeg Division—

Assistant Correspondent Dalton is on the sick list this month, and is on a 30-days' leave of absence; therefore, there will be little news from the Winnipeg Line.

Bro. Clark, of Viking, has just returned from a three weeks' trip through the western States, and remembered his duty to his fellow telegraphers, and told the correspondent of his experiences. In one point on the U. P. they were short five telegraphers, he says, and that all along the lines they are after good men that will stay with them. He reports the commercial boys as having a good time, and are well organized, and predicts that the companies will be the first to tire of waiting for something to happen.

Bro. Vergowe has returned from a trip South, and reports the same conditions prevailing there.

Understand Bro. Crandell has been awarded Bisbee. Nekoma and Conway are now on the board for applicants, and we understand there are a number after Nekoma. Who will say the seniority rights are not a good thing?

Bro. Cannon, of Adams, has been trying to get a lay-off, but in the last eight weeks has been unsuccessful. The same holds good in regard to Bro. Olson at Conway.

New man in a new office, "C," in connection with "DI." Have not learned the name of the brother working there, but we are sure he has a card. This fills a much-needed want, and will relieve our trick men of a lot of hard work.

Dispatcher Ellert has gone to Bismarck as chief, and while we are sorry to see him go, we are glad that he has been promoted, and we know the boys on the Missouri River Division will find him ready to help them at all times.

We wish we could hold this write-up until after the meeting at Glenwood on the 25th, but that would make it too late for the current issue, and we will have a report in the next issue.

Bro. Lewis, our general chairman, returned to work August 10th, after going over the greater portion of the line in the interest of the telegraphers.

Bro. Wilson, of Erskine, is relieving Bro. Donovan, of Lankin, and while Donovan is away the carpenters are building him a new home. The old depot was destroyed by fire some time ago. All the records and freight were saved through the heroic efforts of Bro. Donovan.

Agent Kruger, of Egeland, laying off. Can not say what is the trouble with Kruger. Was a good Order man on G. N., and since coming here has dropped out.

Third District solid, with the exception of Radium and Warren.

Bro. Herrick, at Thief River Falls, is back at work. Bro. Boyce goes on nights.

There is a good deal of changing going on, and I wish to call your attention to the fact that you must keep the secretary and treasurer posted in regard to change of address; this is very necessary so you may get your mail on time.

Wheat will be moving when you read this, and you must not forget the correspondent hears no more news than you do, so buck up and send in a few items to Adams, N. D. Div. Con.

Norfolk & Southern Ry.

The telegraphers of the Norfolk & Southern Railroad Company held a meeting in Norfolk, Va., on Sunday, August 18th, under very favorable auspices. The entire system was represented either in person or by letter, except a very few points where the telegraphers have grown gray in the service of the company, and feel that they owe a deeper debt of gratitude to the company than to their fellow telegraphers. We had several additions to the ranks of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, and several others expressed a willingness to come in with us just as soon as they can relieve a few local conditions which prevent them at present. These local conditions were fully explained to the meeting, and were accepted as reasonable excuses. We now have over 50 per cent O. R. T. throughout the entire system, and we feel that one or two more months will see us solid, with the exception of one or two undesirable men whom we will not again ask to become members of the O. R. T.

The boys over here haven't enough "git-up-and-git" about them to keep things moving, consequently, we have lost one or two good members who would otherwise have remained with us. We find that we have to keep "everlastingly at it" in order to accomplish anything in any business, and one single unguarded point places the enemy at an advantage over us which may never be regained. A wasted moment is irretrievable, and we neglect one single opportunity to mention O. R. T. to one almost persuaded, we lose a golden opportunity to work good to the Order and to ourselves. Boys, in view of this, let's all sing O. R. T. from early morn to dewy eve to every non within reach by wire, and write to those we can not reach in this way.

"Let us be up and doing,
With a heart for any fate.
Still achieving; still pursuing.
Learn to labor and to wait."

--CERT 506.

Erie Ry.

Susquehanna Division—

By the way our organization is progressing on the Erie, it is evident that the telegraphers are going to find it profitable, and have decided that, even with shorter hours, something better than starvation wages must be had.

The Commercial Training School at Elmira has enlarged its capacity of handling hams, and is now located in the Lyceum block, Lake St., Elmira. It is some consolation for the telegraphers to know that while, perhaps, fifteen or twenty of the raw material are trying hard to copy Morse from the wire running through the smoke house, they have no way of breaking the circuit.

According to accounts from the News sheet, of Binghamton, E. A. Baird, manager at that place, took a gang of "scab" telegraphers West to break the commercial strike. At this writing he has not made progress in doing so. We are loth to believe that all of the Bairds are crooked, and regret very much that another has gone wrong.

Edward A. Baird is a close personal friend of Superintendent of Telegraph E. P. Griffith, but this does not signify that he will break the strike. A man may work for the wage he choose, but when he takes a man's place at increased rate he rightly deserves the name of "scab."

East End—

Telegrapher Covert starts on a ten days' vacation the 22d.

Bro. Pete Shaughnessey, of Binghamton nights, is on the sick list, we regret very much to say.

Bro. Tom Creagh, days, has returned to work after a very pleasant vacation.

Bro. Nate Kinney, days, has been off for some time; relieved by Bro. Lawrence.

Bro. Smith has been off for a week; relieved by Bro. Conlon, he being relieved by Extra Telegrapher Collins, of Owego.

Ackerman has gone back in the signal gang and expects to stay this time. This will make a day job for some good man.

Telegrapher W. J. Malone has returned to work after quite a leave of absence.

The section foremen along this division received an increase of from $10 to $15 per month, commencing July 1.

West End—

Bro. H. Knickerbocker, of "DI," Addison, was absent five days on account of the death of a relative.

Bro. H. E. Blizard returned to "FD," Corning, nights, after an absence of thirty days, doing extra work at Waverly and visiting the Falls.

T. J. Ryan, "FG," Big Flats, days, took a vacation of five days in August; relieved by Bro. V. Hadley.

Bro. N. L. Geer, Post nights, took a vacation of seven days; spent in Norwich, N. Y.

Bro. Marsh, of "Q," Corning, took a week off; relieved by Telegrapher Walbridge.

Bros. Hadley and Horey, who returned to the Erie a short time ago, are contemplating taking positions in the capacity of brakemen on this division, who hope that shorter hours in the telegraph field will appeal to them after they have had a trial at braking.

No meeting was held this month on account of the warm weather, and many wishing to take vacations.

Since the passing of the eight-hour law the extra list is growing slightly, there being several new arrivals. Some tempting offers are being made to men in this vicinity, but they have decided to await the arrival of the eight-hour day before acting.

R. Varien has been promoted from No. 1 wire days in dispatcher's office, to third trick dispatcher on east end. Understand No. 1 bid in by R. P. Young, of Rathbone Station.

Div. Cor.

New York, Susquehanna and Western and Wilkesbarre and Eastern Districts—

Lest we forget, Bro. C. L. Bridge, of Deposit, N. Y., is our general secretary and treasurer. We presume he is glad to note that the S. & W. boys are prompt, as regards dues, and that we are turning over a number of new members to his care.

The following figures may prove interesting, especially to those of us who have grown corpulent and wealthy in the service. As most of us are aware, our organization was perfected in the latter part of 1902, and schedule obtained effective March 1, 1903. This schedule gave us an increase of 7 per cent, or an average increase of 12 per cent to the sixty-three positions affected. Revised schedule was secured, effective June 1, 1907, with an increase of about 5 per cent, or an average increase of about 10 per cent to the fifty-two positions affected. We also have an overtime rule that overtime will be paid for at a rate of twenty-five cents per hour.

Prior to 1903, the average salary of telegraphers on the N. Y., S. & W. R. R. and W., B. & E. R. R., was $42 per month; the average salary is now $46.77 per month. The above figures are as near correct as we can get them, and are not far out of the way. We hope that the attention of all the nons may be directed to the above figures, that they may try to figure out how it happened. To those who are not entirely oblivious they, the figures, appeal to reason.

A retrospect shows plainly that we can prevent retrogression and improve existing conditions only by maintaining and enlarging our membership. With a solid organization we can further improve conditions and increase salaries, as there is plenty of room for improvement, and most of us could stand a further increase of salary without being obliged to have our pockets enlarged.

We "see by the papers" that Mr. S. J. Hill, of "BS," has two months' leave of absence, being relieved by Mr. Wm. Fredericks.

Mr. L. Carpenter has been acting agent at Vreeland Avenue, in the absence of Bro. Wilkinson, who has become a benedict. We offer congratulations.

Bro. Roys' freight house is too small for his large business, but he finds time to talk O. R. T. when occasion requires.

Mr. W. D. Brown, of "CS," has been on the sick list; relieved by Gus Birkland.

Bro. Hoskins and Fredericks are rounding up the nons. "H" has his territory nearly solid and has sent for more blanks.

Bro. J. A. Dillon, of "HX" tower, spent the Fourth of July in Philadelphia, making the trip on his wheel. Bro. Van Delinda worked in his place a few nights, Bro. Ward working days.

The station, known as Passaic Junction, has been moved a few hundred feet east of its old location, making it more accessible to the public.

The number of nons on the pike is growing beautifully less, though we still have a few, most of whom we expect to have with us soon, as they appreciate the fact that they have been benefited through the efforts of our organization.

Two new towers going up. Here is the chance for high positions for athletes.

By the time you read this we expect to have covered the pike and gathered in all the available membership material that we can beg, borrow or kidnap. We walked nine miles, a few weeks since, and acquired three new members, several promises and a terrible thirst. We have attended to the new members and the thirst, and will look after the promises later.

CERT. 273.

Lima and Chicago Divisions—

For some time Lima and Chicago Divisions, as well as other divisions of the Erie Railroad, have been well represented in the columns of our journal, and, brothers, it is certainly gratifying to all of us to see something from our own division each month. It keeps us interested and makes us feel like we were up and doing something same as others. All keep a lookout for items and send same to your local chairman by the 18th or 20th of each month, and we can have a still better write-up. Remember, it only costs you two cents and a little time.

Division No. 42 has gathered in 185 new members since January 1. That is going some sure, and since our last write-up we have received several applications and the necessary coin to cover, and have a lot of promises on file to be acted upon later on. If promises counted, we would be 115 per cent strong, but we feel as if quite a number of the old hard-shell nons have at last made up their minds that they can not longer conscientiously accept the liberal increase and the five days' vacation which we have secured for them without coming in and paying their pro rata. We think that by the time another sixty days rolls around we will see most of them with up-to-date cards.

Any sane man can certainly see, at a glance, what the O. R. T. has already been able to accomplish for the railroad telegraphers, and if all will come in and help us we can get anything within the bounds of reason.

Mr. C. F. Hallar, nights at Kenton depot, has shown his appreciation of his increase in pay by handing Bro. Aldrich his application and the necessary amount to cover.

Bro. A. L. Dempster, nights at "HN" tower, accompanied by Mrs. Dempster, is taking in the sights in New York City during his five days' vacation.

Mr. A. L. Creps, agent at Westminster, says he could not longer accept the increase and five-day vacation without giving us his support, and has given his application and the long green to cover, and will hereafter be called brother.

Telegrapher L. C. Coomer, nights at "SJ" tower, expects to take his five-day vacation in September.

We understood A. J. Strode, nights at "SV" tower, has a student. That looks bad after what the brotherhoods of telegraphers, trainmen, conductors and engineers have done for him in the past few years.

Bro. J. V. McVey has resigned his position as agent at Bass Lake and accepted a clerkship at North Judson. Bass Lake agency now on bulletin board.

The new interlocking plant at Monterey will be in operation within a few days. This means more hardships on Bro. J. R. Sennett and the night man, Bro. A. E. Votan. Bro. Sennett is thinking of giving up the agency and taking a night job where there are no levers, as his health will not permit of his handling levers.

Bro. L. E. Coakley was off one day recently trying his luck after the finny tribe.

J. S. Witt, from Huntington, relieving Bro. Cookley. Bro. Cookley at present attending court at Warsaw, Ind., being relieved at this time by Extra Telegrapher C. A. Halverson.

Mr. Halverson shows himself to be a fair-minded man when he says he would not think of working with us and not help support our cause.

Bro. H. L. Aughenbaugh off duty one night recently, attending the funeral of a relative, being relieved by Extra Telegrapher Seitner.

Bro. R. A. Zellar, agent at Germany, off duty attending picnic at Leiters; relieved by Extra Telegrapher Seitner.

Bro. B. W. Lidgard, agent at Aldine, has resigned, and will accept a more lucrative position with the Southern Pacific in California. We regret to see him go, but wish him greater success in his new position.

Telegrapher R. C. McVey, from Griffith, now working at Aldine.

Bro. Anderson, nights at Delong, was off one night recently, being relieved by Extra Man Seitner.

The interlocking plant at Griffith Junction, recently rebuilt, will be put in operation at noon, August 29. The handling of the levers falling to the telegrapher, as a matter of course, making another very heavy job, as the telegraphers certainly had their hands full before the advent of the levers.

Bro. C. H. Appleman was taken suddenly ill recently, thereby spoiling his entire vacation. However, he has so improved that he is again able to be at the key. Extra Telegrapher A. F. Peebles relieved him.

Wm. McGrath, agent at Palmer, has left the service of the Erie and gone to some Western line; the Santa Fe, we presume.

Bro. L. C. Appleman, now agent at Palmer.

Bro. J. H. Nelson, the oldest telegrapher on the Chicago & Erie, expects to attend his family reunion the last of September.

Bro. Nelson has a record seldom enjoyed by any railroad man.

Bro. Z. McDowell, agent at Athens, is now on a ten days' vacation, being relieved by the extra agent.

Bro. G. L. Overmeyer is off duty, taking his vacation, being relieved by an extra man.

R. C. McVey and C. M. Sennett have promised to invest in a card at an early date.

Bro. Hamilton spent his vacation at Bass Lake, fishing.

Chicago & Erie section foremen now have a minimum wage scale of $60 per. Good for them.
ST SLOCUM.

Mahoning Division—

The notes of interest, as your scribe has been able to gather them this month for the old Mahoning Division, are as follows:

Sharpville nights advertised, and as this is at the extreme east end of the division your scribe did not learn what became of J. C. O'Neil, the night man.

Frank Fox, of Mineral Ridge, on Lisbon Branch, is off sick and is not expected to recover.

C. W. Mitchell, of Warren days, went to Mineral Ridge, but only stayed a few days.

F. E. Brooks, of De Forest tower nights, has gone to "SN" tower, Leavittsburg, days.

De Forest tower being held down nights at the present time by C. R. Musgrove.

W. S. Lowrie, of Leavittsburg, the manager of that office and also our local chairman, was off a few days on account of the death of his father. We all sympathize with Bro. Lowrie in his loss.

W. V. Saltsman, of Phalanx days, is off on account of his wife being seriously ill. Saltsman relieved by R. N. Babcock, of "SN" tower nights, and Babcock relieved by G. W. Taylor, night yard clerk at Leavittsburg.

Ray Cassidy goes from "SN" tower days to Brier Hill tower nights, on account of J. C. Johnson, of Brier Hill tower, leaving the service.

C. W. Morse, of Niles days, is off sick. This puts G. E. Morrell, the night man, on days.

Please remember there is a meeting at Warren the last Saturday night of each and every month.

Div. Cor.

To all Members of Division No. 42, Erie System:

This information for all members of Erie System Division No. 42. We initiated 153 members during the first six months of the year, and all the members are paying dues very promptly. We have started off for the last six months of this year by initiating thirty-three up to the present time, and good prospects of more soon, as all the boys are realizing their mistake and coming with us to help better the conditions of themselves, as well as others who are following the business.

We have a law, taking effect in New York State October 1, providing an eight-hour day for all telegraphers and telephone operators, of which we are justly proud. This should make some of the sleepy nons wake up and see what is going on around them. We can give our worthy general chairman credit for a good share of this.

Remain respectfully yours,

C. L. BRIDGE,
General Secretary and Treasurer.

Delaware Division—

Again we hear the ominous prediction of predatory wealth, that we are on the brink of a great business depression. They, who in their greed for greater gain, have been plundering the poor, stifling competition and driving many honest, industrious retail dealers to the wall, who, in fact, done as they pleased and considered the government as a tool to further carry on their illegal practices have recently been brought to realize that there is still a power higher than they; the working man is beginning to assert his independence, and their concerted actions in causing laws to be passed, and placing men in power to see that these laws are enforced, is filling predatory wealth with consternation and alarm, hence those direful predictions.

We, the railroad telegraphers, have awakened from our long slumber, and the results of a concerted and wide-awake membership is apparent on every hand, with much improved working conditions, yet far below what they should be, with the passage of the laws in the different States limiting the hours of labor, and also by the passage of the national nine-hour law, and a determination to see that these laws shall be enforced, shows what power the working man possesses, and which he is beginning to realize and put in practice.

Understand that the eight-hour law which takes effect October 1 in New York requires that there should be eight passenger trains each way or twenty freight trains. This cuts out the Delaware Division, as our standard does not quite reach this.

I am in receipt of the following items from Bro. W. A. Terry, who has taken "SR," Susquehanna, days, under the thirty-day rule.

Bro. Millard Teeple, late of the B. & O., has returned to his "old love," the Erie. He is relieving Bro. Callahan, of "SQ" days. Understand Bro. Callahan is going to be away about two weeks.

Bro. Kelly, of "SR," was absent the latter part of July; relieved by Bro. Hempstead.

Bro. Hempstead is holding "CP," Susquehanna yard, nights, during Bro. Crowley's absence, who is taking his vacation camping out.

Bro. Murray, of "BN," Stockport, tower days, is doing the owl act at "XR," Comstock, tower during Bro. Hempstead's absence.

Extra Telegrapher Lee is holding down "CP" days, in Bro. Downie's place. Understand Bro. Downie is on the sick list. We hope to hear him back at "CP" in a few days.

Bro. McGuane, of "GH," dispatcher's office Susquehanna, relieving the dispatchers in Carbondale while they take a vacation. Eli Van Aken, "NS," Susquehanna depot, relieving Bro. McGuane and Bro. Laughlin, of Forest City, relieving Van Aken.

Since our last write-up Telegrapher Swoke, of "UB," Long Eddy, has left the service. Understand he has started in business for himself.

Bro. Tyler bid in "UB" nights, leaving "OR," Lordville, vacant.

Bro. Geib is holding Lordville down until a man is assigned there.

Bro. Bridge, of "DE," Deposit, has been taking a vacation. Bro. Stiles doing the stunt at Deposit.

At the present writing the commercial telegraphers are on a general strike. Here's hoping they win out. Div. Cor.

West End—

Bro. J. E. Sinclair, night man at "W," Williston, is going home. He leaves September 1.

Bro. Weirick, from Limestone, on vacation; being relieved by Mr. W. J. O'Hara. We "13" Bro. Weirick is in the harvest field for his health.

Mr. S. F. Maris, regular night man at Oak Harbor, on his vacation, being relieved by Mr. W. F. Benien, who is from Pennsylvania.

Bro. Rinebolt, "B" office, Bellevue, off on vacation; "13" he was enjoying farm life in Michigan.

Mr. H. C. Fry, formerly day man at "Q" office, on Cleveland Division, has Huron Junction nights regular.

Bro. C. A. Kuntz, day man at "HX" office Huron, is laying off. Bro. C. S. Meek, regular night man is working days.

Bro. A. R. North, who is a member of Division 33, and, later, from the Erie, has Clarksfield nights regular, with the old stand-by, Bro. Mullenkop, as agent.

Bro. B. E. Miller, day man at Spencer, on vacation, being relieved by Mr. Benien.

"13" Mr. J. H. Homan as telegrapher and chief clerk at Massillon.

Bro. Kneffler, better known as "Nick," at Columbia yard office, on his vacation, being relieved by Bro. R. A. Brigmyer, from "D" office, Canton. "13" Bro. Brigmyer has accepted "DX" days, regular.

Bro. Crosgrove went to Scio nights, regular.

Bro. Ayers, formerly agent at Williston, now at "OD" B. & O. crossing nights, regular.

Bro. G. W. Robenette has agency at Williston.

Mr. Kronberger relieved Bro. Monbarren, regular nights at Sherwood. "13" Bro. Monbarren is going to B. & O. "73" to our brother in his new field.

Mr. F. C. McMillan, assistant telegrapher at "DX," goes to the east end yard office, Columbia.

Mr. Pete Burns, chief clerk at Bellevue, Ohio, has accepted the position of agent as Lodi. Mr. Herbert Wise filling vacancy at Bellevue.

Mr. D. W. Wells, formerly agent at Lodi, transferred to agency at Massillon; D. E. Lents, formerly agent at Massillon, to Adena. Regular agent at Adena resigned. Mr. Hoffman, relief agent, working Adena until D. E. Lents arrived. Mr. Hoffman lost, can't locate him.

Bro. Ed. Lines, who left some weeks ago to work for L. S. & M. S., has returned to his old position, acting "owl" at Williston.

Membership on W. & L. E. is slowly, but surely, growing. There has been a few of the boys turned in their iron men for a new card since we got the increase, which was the proper thing to do, while a couple of others are just as tight as ever, with the same old story, "no mun." Can't some good brother contrive some way to corral these fellows. There are a few more on the west end we can get if we just keep after them. So let us all keep our shoulder to the wheel.

I trust some of the brothers east of "RD," Hartland, will send me a few notes each month, so we can be represented regularly. Call the owl at "V," or drop me a few lines. All news will be highly appreciated.

Bro. Ream, on vacation, taking in the street carnival at Tremont, Ohio, also spending a few days with the finny tribe of the lake at Sandusky, Ohio.

"13" Mr. Burras, at "RD," Hartland, left the service.

Bro. J. L. Harpster, of Division No. 42, working "RD" days until it can be advertised.

Mr. J. E. Jesser, doing owl act at Pawnee. Don't know where Allen went.

Fraternally yours,
Div. Cor.

Georgia Southern & Florida Ry.

As time flits away into oblivion, and each day places one day nearer to the end of the number of years allotted to man, we become more educated, more thoroughly convinced that labor and capital should be in closer touch with each other, thereby making it possible for grievances to be properly and speedily adjusted, without financial loss to either side, and without placing the public to any inconvenience, such as is caused by strikes, etc. Strikes are very detrimental to all concerned, but how are we to avoid these strikes when the capitalist absolutely refuses to concede to our most humble demands. They object to our committee spreading the unfair conditions before them, under which we are forced to labor. I have never read or heard of a union committee asking or demanding anything that was unreasonable or unjust (only in the eyes of the capitalist).

The capitalist will say that we, as individuals, are all right, but not as a body. Why so? The reason is obvious. It is far easier to hold one ox in subjection and keep him from the sparkling waters of the little brook on a hot August day, than to keep a dozen or more under control. He realizes the fact that if we attempt to deal with him as individuals he can hold us in subjection.

With the exception of the telegrapher, nearly every other profession has enjoyed prosperity to its fullest extent for the last year or so. The telegrapher hammers along in the same old rut, while the salary of the telegrapher has been raised to some extent, the advance has not been commensurate with the advance in the price of the necessities of life.

So you see the great importance of appointing yourself a committee of one, to wait on the man next to you. Drop him a few friendly lines occasionally. Send him your journal and ask him to read it. Let this individual feel that way down in your heart you have a feeling for him.

You will find in your travels through life two distinct classes of nons, one is foolish from birth, and has never made any progress in the way of eliminating this blot which Providence placed upon him. The other acts foolishly through pure unadulterated ignorance. The first mentioned will laugh in your face and tell you that there is no good to be obtained through unionism, although he has just stored away in his jeans ten bucks which our committee secured for him. You will find the other individual not enjoying the true spirit of unionism, merely because he has not been intelligently tutored in the great and grand old workings of unionism. Place this matter before him in an intelligent manner. Show him that his only salvation is to fall into the union bandwagon, repent and sin no more. Occasionally you will hear some representative of the favored class place us in the category of anarchists because we unite in order that we may stand in one great body and demand that justice be meted out to one and all alike. But while they combine their "almighty dollars" that they may be enabled to raise the price on every necessity of life, place a price on the sweat of your brow far below the cost of living, that their coffers may be filled to overflowing, they call it financiering and manipulation.

The great telegraphers' strike is now in progress and the commercial companies have spent thousands of dollars in order to stamp out the telegraphers' union. Why should they spend so much money to stamp out of existence an organization, if it is of no benefit to the union men of this great country of ours? Why would they rather spend $50,000 or $200,000 to defeat the strikers than to raise the telegraphers' salaries a few paltry dollars, which would not amount to half the sum it will take to fight the strikers? They have an object in view. If they can whip the telegraphers into submission, they can soon make up the deficit caused by the strike, by forcing their employees to continue to work long hours for small salaries. "The man that dances must pay the fiddler."

Some of you still hold off and don't attend your meetings, the third Sunday in each month at Tifton. What is the trouble? How do you expect to get your neighbor interested when the fact is you show no interest yourself? We had a good many with us the 18th. Had a "cracker jack" good meeting, but of course it would have been better had all the boys put in an appearance.

We learn with regret, that Bro. Mallett, of Grandin, is contemplating leaving us at an early date. "13" he is going to the Southern. Should Bro. Mallett leave us, matters not where he goes, he has the best wishes of the fraternity.

Bros. Mahone, of Unadilla, and A. S. Wright, of Arabi, left this week for Jamestown to take in the sights of the fair.

Bro. J. M. Wooten, of Pinehurst, has resumed business at the same old stand, after taking in the Jamestown sights for over a week.

We take pleasure in announcing the improved condition of Bro. O. H. Watson, our secretary and treasurer. While Bro. Watson is up it will be some time before he will be able to resume duty. Bro. Watson has had quite a siege of it, and he has the sympathy of the boys. We learn with regret that Bro. Schneider, of Elko, leaves us this week. Am unable to say where he goes.

Pennsylvania Ry.Allegheny Division—

The meeting at Kittanning Sunday, August 25, though not very well attended, was a great success, and all seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly. The main topic discussed was, of course, the Commercial Telegraphers' strike, and all present expressed the hope that our sister organization would score a victory at an early date.

It is too bad that more of the members do not attend these meetings, when they are arranged for their special benefit. Your Local Chairman devotes his Sunday off to attend them, the committee takes the trouble to secure a hall, and it is very discouraging to have only fifteen or eighteen present. Try and do better in the future.

Bro. A. J. Rimer, of Rimerton, was off recently and it is rumored that he took unto himself a wife. If such is the case, we wish to extend our best wishes for a happy journey through life.

Bro. A. C. McCormick was off duty a few days recently, on account of an attack of rheumatism.

Bros. C. A. Shuster and W. W. McCollum spent their vacation in New York City. They report having had a fine time, but were glad to get back to the "simple life."

Bro. C. J. Rimer, of Mosgrove, has returned to duty after a short vacation.

Bro. C. H. McElhinney has returned to duty at Red Bank after spending a few weeks fishing and camping. Most of his time was spent at Templeton.

Bro. L. E. Swinney has a new job, having accepted the position of "car detective." He does amateur photography on the side.

Bro. M. A. Boyd secured the day position at St. Charles, relieving Bro. Winslow, who went to Falls Creek nights, a newly created position.

Bro. George Logue bid in "Md" Tower nights, and Bro. J. W. Campbell was the successful bidder for the day job there.

Bro. A. T. Conley went from "Md" days to Parker nights, in order to be nearer home.

O. T. Beatty, days, and Roy Stoner, nights, at Rock Run. Both have promised to fall in line soon.

Sister Blakely, of DuBois, was a recent visitor at Atlantic City.

Bro. H. G. Showalter is doing the extra stunt at Reynoldsville, while the boys take vacation.

Bro. H. T. Love has accepted the relief job on the upper end.

Bro. O. T. Arnold and wife just returned from a few weeks' visit to his old home in York State.

Bro. W. P. Burns, of "Bn" office, Pittsburg, has returned to duty after having been off nearly three months with typhoid fever. We are all glad to see him back at his post.

More later.

Illinois Division—

Bro. R. J. Hooks, who has been taking a thirty-days vacation, has resumed duty. Bro. Moss, who was relieving him, is not working at the present time, and is visiting his home at Marion, Ill. Understand he is going to retain the position as relief.

Spillertown agency opened up July 11, with Bro. S. Spurlin installed as agent. Understand the Spillertown mine will be in service in a short time, which probably is the reason an agency was opened there.

A day telegraph office has been opened at Ullin, Ill., effective July 23, with Bro. Davis installed as agent and telegrapher.

There is going to be a transfer made at Karnak the 15th of this month. Do not know who is there now, or where he is to take charge, but understand a Mr. Friend is going there.

We are indebted to Bro. J. M. Fitch for a good portion of this write-up, and ask him to come again.

Agent Dowdy, from Goreville, went to Chicago on business August 2d.

Mr. J. B. Shore, night telegrapher at West Frankfort yards, has asked for the application blanks, and will be one of us as soon as the blanks are received. Think that Mr. Maret will also be in line in a short time.

The position of cashier and telegrapher at Villagrove is bulletined at present. This is a good position and some good man should get it. Have not heard where Bro. Tucker is going, but hope he will not leave us.

What is wrong with having a meeting so that we can get together at least once a month, also arranging to give the members sufficient notice, so that they can arrange to get relief and transportation. This will create a better feeling and enable us to get acquainted with each other. I will venture to say that there are members on this division who have not been to a meeting in the last two years.

Another thing. How is our Committee going to know what we want if we do not get together and discuss our working conditions. They may be mind readers to a certain extent, but there is a limit to all things. CERT. 67.

Chicago Division—

Bro. D. M. Adams, formerly night man at Atherton, has been removed to "HY" tower. Also "13" that Bro. Geo. Hughes, night man at Jackson, has been transferred to some other point; unable to learn where.

Bro. A. W. Lanquist, day man at Lyford, has been transferred to Pittwood tower, and is doing the night stunt at that office.

Bro. L. E. Sherrill, formerly day man at Pittwood tower, has been transferred to agency at Pittwood.

Bro. J. H. Toler is at Woodland Junction nights.

C. R. Young, day telegrapher at Wellington, has been appointed Division Correspondent. Please send your items to him, and he will do his best each month to have our division represented in the journal. DRV. COR.

Now is the time to get busy. Get after the nons next office to you, or those who may be employed in your office. Let us support our grand and noble organization.

I have heard some swift ones on the wire often say, "get off, you ham." Boys, be careful. I think, and will still say, a ham as some of us have been called, is far superior to a non. If the ham has a little up-to-date blue card-board, I prefer him to all of the swift ones who still say the O. R. T. never did them any good.

I don't understand why we don't hear more of our division.

Each one should send what items he can hear of to his Division Correspondent. If you don't know where he is located, send them to our Chairman. He will see that they reach the proper place.

Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Ry.Houghton Division & Mineral Range Ry.—

Bro. Hoskins, Arcadian Junction, transferred to agency at Dollar Bay. Mr. E. T. Nelson is his successor, but can not say whether he is up-to-date or not.

Bro. Knepple, agent at L'Anse, was called to Wisconsin on account of the serious illness of his father, a few days ago.

Not a thing from the Western division this month.

Now, boys, remember the motto, no card, no favors. But sometimes it is necessary to draw a line. There are a good many times a man comes along who, through no fault his, can not pass up for inspection an up-to-date card, and if he be known to you as O. K., make an exception of him, and by so doing, you might win a good and worthy member to the Order. "FATTY."

Mackinaw Division—

Bro. Sheehan, of Union Depot, Soo, has transferred from G. N. division to No. 116, and we have only one non in that town, the owl at the freight office. Keep after him, as we need him and he needs us.

Bro. Guck, of Wellsburg, has been appointed freight agent as well as ticket agent, which is a welcome relief to Bro. Gilbert at Brimley on the freight deal.

Bro. Questand, of Soo Junction, expects to leave us in a short time, and will go to the G. N. or N. P.

Bro. Holmes, who has been holding down Munising Junction, has been transferred to Trout Lake agency.

Bro. Wallace, of Seney, just got in line, which makes that place solid.

A new man at Munising Junction. Unable to give his name.

Bro. Kemp has moved again, and is now located at Checolay, Tyega Junction having been closed. CERT. 10.

Pere Marquette Ry.Chicago Division—

Another month has rolled around and still no news items received. Well, I am going to have my own way once more and have an article in the journal in spite of you.

Telegrapher F. D. Keeler, "FK," has returned from a two weeks' fishing trip and is again slinging lightning via the "Vibro Route," from Grand Rapids relay office.

Telegrapher W. C. Blake, "K," made a two days' visit to relatives in Chicago.

Mr. Blake and Mr. Keeler are of the material that makes good union men and should give up that old "ain't got the money" excuse and join us.

Telegrapher H. J. Hall is holding forth at Waverly days.

Bro. Storey, agent at La Crosse, has a new day man, and I understand that he has a big bunch of cards on display.

Telegrapher Putnam is now working at Wyoming nights.

Dispatcher C. J. Bailey, new man, is now working third trick, south end.

Dispatcher Mitchell is again working his regular trick.

Telegrapher L. E. Blake relieved Mr. Keeler during the latter's absence, but has now left to take a position with the Santa Fe at some point in California.

Glad to see so many of the boys paying dues promptly. Those who have not done so should attend to this important matter at once. Also give the request from Bro. Quick, regarding the C. T. U. of A. your immediate attention.

Am glad to be able to say that a new schedule is being planned, and that the Committee will probably meet in Detroit this fall. It is high time that the boys on the P. M. caught up with our neighbors in this matter, and we can do it, too, as times were never better than right now.

E. M. O'Connor, former agent at Waverly, is now working nights at Benton Harbor. A first-class man, and it would be a great thing for this division if some brother could persuade Mr. O'Connor to take out an "up-to-date."

G. E. D.

Petoskey Division—

Bro. Hutchinson, day telegrapher at Kaleva, has been relieved of the position as U. S. mail carrier, and understand that that is looked after by the target man at that point. Hope the time will soon come when we will all be relieved in the same way.

Telegrapher Muschott, day man at Boardman dispatcher's office, has just returned from a ten days' leave of absence. Says he spent several days in Chicago, Benton Harbor and Holland.

Bro. Cunningham worked day trick during regular man's absence.

Dispatcher Kellar, first trick at Boardman, has resigned. G. E. D.

Saginaw District—

At our meeting, held in Saginaw, August 18, the writer was elected correspondent for the Saginaw district.

The above meeting, which was held in Trainmen's Hall, Saginaw, August 18, was well attended. There were thirty-five present. We were disappointed to learn at a late hour that Bro. C. I. Mead, General Secretary and Treasurer, could not be present, on account of derailment near Smyrna, which held him on duty.

After a few minutes' discussion of business matters, the meeting was adjourned and a flying trip was made to "Riverside Park," to take in a few of the sights.

Bro. John Lemley, our genial train master, has returned to his old position as agent at Belding. Mr. Blaine Garrett, former trainmaster, succeeded Bro. Lemley in same capacity.

Bro. T. H. Wallace, agent at Greenville, is on a leave of absence for thirty days, and has taken a trip to the Coast.

Bro. E. S. Higbee is relieving Bro. Fea at Breckenridge for a few days.

I understand Bro. Dygert, now agent at Ambler, has resigned and is going to work for the G. R. & I. R. R.

Sister Luella Eaton, telegrapher and ticket agent at Greenville, has just returned from Niagara Falls, N. Y., where she has been spending a short vacation. She reports a very pleasant trip.

Bro. T. E. Crane, telegrapher and clerk at Edmore, went to Ludington on an excursion on August 18th.

Let us arrange for another meeting at a point where it will be most convenient. There are several important things to be considered.

Bro. Lanham, former agent at Ann Pere, bid in third trick at Hallet tower.

Bro. Bohne, of Federman, is again heard, after a week's illness.

Bro. Coffe, formerly of Dundee days, has accepted a position in D. T. and I. dispatchers' office at Napoleon, Ohio.

Bro. West is holding down the agency at Lakeland, no one as yet having bid it in. Bro. Ide, of Whitmore Lake is helping him out.

Bro. McNamee, formerly of Lakeland, bid in agency at Alma, Bro. Barnes leaving the service.

Bro. Healy, who was relieved by Bro. Lanham at Ann Pere, has accepted a position with the P. M. at Fowlerville.

Bro. Herrick, of "OD, Owossa nights, is now at Vernon as agent, relieved by Bro. Kerwin, from Clare days. Both places filled by bid.

Bro. Coleman, agent at North Star, resigned to go West. Station bulletined and bid in by telegrapher C. C. Clark, of Elsie.

Bro. Gregware, formerly of "KI" tower, Clare nights, bid in days at "CH" Clare, relieving Bro. Kerwin. Bro. Gregware relieved by telegrapher H. A. Briggs, who says he has the papers all made out and will soon be in line. We will leave him to the tender care of Bro. Axford.

Telegrapher Hackett, of Marion nights, resigned to go to the G. N. Relieved by telegrapher W. N. Roof.

Bro. Batten, former agent at McBain, is reported improving, but is not yet able to resume duty.

Bro. Tirrell, formerly agent at Harrietta, bid in Ann Pere agency. Relieved by Telegrapher H. A. Briggs, who was in turn relieved by Bro. Underwood, formerly of Thompsonville days.

Bro. Bailey, at Thompsonville, is short a day telegrapher. The place is bulletined and should soon be filled.

"Prof." Reemsten is still conducting a ham factory at Beulah, but I have not as yet met any of his graduates.

Bro. Caldwell, of "VO," Frankfort nights, has accepted a position with the P. M. at Suspension Bridge. Place bid in by Bro. L. A. Potter.

Word comes from Bro. Heffernon, at the hospital in Detroit, that he is in very bad shape, having undergone two operations for stomach trouble.

Let us give all the support we can to our sister organization, the C. T. U. of A. during their trouble.

We are sorry to hear of the death of Bro. Axford's little son, and we extend to him and his family our deepest sympathy.

Our dispatchers are now taking their vacations, Local Chairman, Bro. Randolph having taken first, with Bro. Waterman going soon.

Bro. Godkins is filling second trick, dispatcher's chair, and General Chairman, Bro. Tobin, is doing third trick.

Every one seems to think well of our schedule, as it affects a great many on the overtime deal, and if we keep on as we have started, we will soon have as good a schedule as there is in the territory.

Have you a neighbor that is a non? If so, get busy, and don't stop till he hands you his application.

Your correspondent missed last issue, as no notes were received. Only one in to date, but somebody must make a noise, so here goes for a very little. There ought to be lots of news since there are so many changes. I hear of a great many, but can not get hold of the exact facts. Send in your notes and we will try and see that they get into print. The following is all that is known to date:

Bro. I. S. Draper, Chairman, has been transferred to Bloomington agency, vice Mr. J. T. Woodward, who goes into the right-of-way service.

E. C. Crossard is doing the night stunt at Solsberry.

Bro. H. O. Bean is laying off. It is rumored that he is searching for a lifetime companion.

Bro. G. P. Rutherford, of Bloomington, days, has returned from an extended trip through the West.

Bro. A. A. Howard, of Unionville, has been making frequent trips to Bloomington lately.

Every one is displaying the greatest interest in the C. T. U. A. strike. No other class of organized labor seems so closely related to us, and it is only proper that we give them our warmest sympathy and support.

It is time for another meeting, and we may hope for one soon. Train connection is rather poor, so that we can not all get together, but those who can should come if arrangements are made for the meeting.

Bro. Draper was relieved at Sullivan by G. D. Clements, former cashier at Bloomington.

With these few brief words I bid you farewell for this month. It is rather discouraging to try to send in write-ups without help. Let us have a few notes next month, and perhaps we can swell the size of our write-up.

Whatever you do, don't let up on the nons.

Chicago Division—

The regular monthly meeting was held at Gilman July 27th, thirty-five members being present from the Chicago Division, and six visiting brothers from the T. P. & W. Our General Chairman, Bro. Mulhall, was present, which was quite a pleasant surprise, and it being necessary for him to take No. 3 for the South, the members immediately proceeded to the K. of P. Hall upon the arrival of No. 25, and were treated to an informal address by Bro. Mulhall on the general condition of the Order, touching on many subjects of vital importance.

It is to be regretted that it was necessary for him to leave so early, it being our first meeting with him, and the impression he left was that he is a heavy-weight and will deliver the goods. He promised, however, that he would be with us at a meeting in the near future, and guide the goat around at the initiatory ceremony.

Just after Bro. Mulhall left, and we were getting down to business, we were again surprised; this time by quite a number of ladies arriving at the hall with ice cream, cake, etc—but not for us. It seems that unfortunately the dates had got mixed and the ladies' society of some kind had a meeting booked at the hall themselves, so we had to hike, finally landing at the City Council Chamber, where the business of the meeting was concluded, having to dispense with all secret work, on account of the publicity of the place. We trust the next time we meet at Gilman we will have better luck.

We were glad to see the T. P. & W. boys out and hope they will come again. The attendance, however, at this meeting, was disappointing. We should have had at least fifty present. Gilman being a centrally located point, accessible to both the main and Gilman line, we should have had a much larger attendance. Get the habit, boys, it will do you good to get out and meet each other once a month. Ask the superintendent for transportation in good time, make arrangements and then go. It's up to you to make Division No. 93 the banner division, and not the other fellow. Always remember that.

There are two or three fellows on this pike who might well be termed "invincible nons," drawing from $5 to $10 per month more in salary secured by the Committee. They take the money with as good grace as if they had been instrumental in securing the increase.

Just a word right here to the nons and has-beens. Don't think for a minute that the company values your services so highly that they are increasing your salary from $2.50 to $5 per month occasionally. Just let the rest of us go to sleep and drop out of the Order like you have done; then watch how quick you will drop back into that little old $45 per month "rut" that we were so long getting out of. Then, who would be to blame? Certainly not the company. And don't think for another minute that we don't know who you are. It might be a good plan to publish the names in these columns once and let the members know just who the shirkers are.

Get wise, be men, and get in the Order where you belong, and stand for your part like a man, thereby commanding the respect and esteem of your fellow workman. You certainly can not do so so long as you continue to dead-beat your way. This may sound pretty strong, but it's business and the truth.

Bro. Will Davis, at Kankakee "Kb" tower, is off for the West on a thirty-day vacation, being relieved by Mr. Schneiderjon.

Bro. Dugan, from Chebanse, leaves in a few days for a thirty-day vacation, being relieved by Bro. Baugh. Understand that Bro. Dugan is going west to buy a few more farms.

Bro. E. J. Wolfe, at Clifton, is also off for the same purpose, being relieved by Bro. Dan O'Connell.

Bro. Hupp has returned from his vacation to the agency at Ashkum, relieving Bro. Hobbs.

Bro. Flora at Gilman nights, coming from Paxton nights.

Bro. West has returned to the agency at Buckley, relieving Bro. Phelps, who has again resigned and is going to try the wild and woolly West some more. Hope he has good luck.

Bro. Hubbard is relieving Bro. Flora nights at Paxton.

Bro. Carbaugh, at Ludlow, is taking a vacation. Not able to say who is relieving him at this time.

"Stag," otherwise known as the "Mascot," at Kankakee "Hn" office, and sometimes called "Freddie," has taken himself up to Monee as helper.

Bro. Pendergast, at Merna, is off for thirty days' vacation. Relieved by Bro. Potts. Bro. Potts has been working at Graymont for Bro. Buckley, who we are glad to say, is able to be at the old stand again.

We hope to see a fine, large crowd at the meeting at Champaign next Saturday night, August 24th.

Gilman Line—

The time is approaching to mail our items, if we wish to be represented in the next issue of the journal, and as we have failed to hear from any of the boys along the line, the write-up will be, as usual, "on the bum." It is quite a task to settle down to chronicle the events on a district when you do not hear a word from any one, and are not in a position to travel to take notes. We have no other complaint, except would like to see the Gilman Line better represented in next meeting.

Bro. Poe, of Laurette, made a flying trip to Holder one day last week. Bro. Newman, owl at Belleflower, doubling, did the lever act while Bro. Poe was absent.

Bro. Sam Newton, of Weedman, went to St. Louis last Sunday.

Boys, try your best to attend the meetings. There is always important business transacted, and you will be greatly benefited by attending. It is worth your time just to see the boys and hear what they have to say.

Freeport Division—

Mr. J. W. Swords relieved Bro. W. R. Keister at Hart nights. Mr. Swords promises to make good as soon as he gets straightened around.

Bro. F. H. Kochsmeier worked a few nights at Haldane. Mr. Boyer filled Mr. Kochsmeier's place at Seward nights.

Mr. J. McGowan received Wenona nights on bulletin. Mr. R. J. Steele relieved Mr. McGowan at Plato Center nights.

Bro. W. T. Jones is at present doing the stunt at Corbin days. Bro. Jones is from Division No. 23, and has applied for transfer papers to this division.

Mr. John Eickman is at present doing the night stunt at Corbin. Mr. Eickman has not yet worked the required time to become a member, but will make good as soon as he has.

Bro. A. B. Fretze is at present enjoying a two weeks' vacation, taking in St. Paul and Omaha.

Bro. W. R. Keister, who was successful applicant for East Junction nights, relieved Bro. Fretz at East Junction nights.

Bro. Geo. Cox is going to take thirty days' vacation.

Mr. H. E. Dresser worked a few nights at East Junction while Bro. W. R. Keister was at Genoa moving his house hold goods.

Bro. F. H. Kochsmeier was successful applicant for position as day telegrapher in "DR" office, Freeport.

Bro. B. T. Ireland was successful applicant for position as day telegrapher at Dixon.

Bro. F. H. Kochsmeier was successful applicant for position as night telegrapher at Hart, relieving Mr. J. W. Swords, who worked there while the same was on bulletin.

Mr. J. W. Swords relieved Bro. Kochsmeier at Haldane nights.

Mr. J. A. Engle was successful applicant for position as night telegrapher at Corbin.

Bro. Wm. Powers was successful applicant for position as night telegrapher at Rockford.

Mr. Eickman relieved Bro. Powers at Corbin nights.

Bro. Wm. Powers is at present taking a vacation, being relieved by Bro. E. A. Norville.

Bro. M. P. Layton returned to work at Minonk days after a five weeks' rest. Bro. Kelly, who was relieving him, returned to his old night stunt. Bro. C. G. Schultz, who was relieving him, resigned.

Bro. F. Carrithers, of Hudson, has been laying off for a few days on account of the serious illness of his son.

Mr. C. G. Shepherd, of Rutland, one of our strayed sheep, has again returned to our fold. He says he is going to keep paid up hereafter.

Bro. B. C. Barber, formerly nights at Wenona, has resigned, his intentions being to re-enter school. Seven days per week is too much for him, so he is going to fight his way to something higher. May success follow our brother.

Bro. Howard, of Lostant, was visiting a few days on the Chicago division. Upon his return the local freight tried to "loop the gap" at the interlocking plant, seriously injuring engineer and fireman.

Bro. Blackwell received Amboy nights upon a recent bulletin.

Some unknown parties broke into the depot at Rutland and smashed up the safe. They secured twenty cents in pennies and fifteen or twenty sticks of gum out of the gum machines.

We have a few changes on our official list. Mr. M. G. Flanagan, formerly chief train dispatcher on this division, was appointed train master on the Amboy district, vice Mr. G. E. Patterson, who went to Kankakee as train master. Mr. C. O. Richards, formerly first trick dispatcher on the east end, was appointed chief train dispatcher, succeeding Mr. Flanagan. Mr. T. Davis was appointed first trick dispatcher and Mr. L. S. Taylor third trick dispatcher, and Mr. Wm. Lane second trick dispatcher.

Bro. F. A. Henion is at present doing the extra stunt at Buckbee days, while Bro. Norville is working at Rockford nights.

Mr. W. C. Silvey, formerly at Munger days, is scabbing for the W. U. in Chicago. "13" he is getting $76 per. Guess they are not particular about the product if this is the case.

Bro. J. P. Haire enjoyed a few days' vacation, being relieved by Mr. Dorse.

It is time that something was done to stop the foolishness on the wires at night, and the day time also, for that matter. This has been going on now for several months, but has become more noticeable at nights here in the last few weeks. They do not seem to be satisfied with breaking someone in a conversation, but have begun to use profane language over the wires. Be careful. The company has a spotter out, and you are sure to be caught in the end. "A word to the wise should be sufficient." "SHORTY."

Tennessee Division—

We are sorry, but we could not avoid missing out last month. Continued sickness in the family of our correspondent was the cause. In the future we will try and get as nice a write-up as possible. If the boys will help out a little by sending what items they may have to the correspondent, not later than the 20th of each month, it will be greatly appreciated. We like to see our division represented, so let us all make a note of anything of importance and send it to the correspondent at Halls every month.

Bro. McMillen, new yard nights, is off on a few days' vacation. Relieved by Bro. T. I. Allen. Bro. Allen is recently from the West, but used to be with us about eight or ten months ago. We are glad to have him back in our midst again.

New man working days at new yard. Have not learned his name, nor seen his card.

Bro. Curd, at block office, Fulton, says he expects to resign soon, as the work is too heavy.

I "13" our chief dispatcher, R. M. Alford, is off on a vacation. May his vacation be a pleasant and beneficial one is our wish.

Bro. Glisson, agent at Polk, is off a few days; relieved by Mr. Sommerville, from extra board. Mr. Sommerville is an ex-telegrapher, also an ex-member of the O. R. T., but dropped his membership when leaving the service about two years ago.

Bro. Reeves, from Covington days, has been appointed regular man in "FU" office, Fulton, Ky.

Hams are getting pretty thick again. It is another production of those over-faithful student teachers. I wonder they don't get rich soon, as business seems to be pretty good all the time with them.

Bro. C. Jackson is again on the extra list, on account of his regular job being made a non-telegraphic office.

Boys, we can do better next month if you will all send us in a few items. Div. Com.

Omaha Division—

J. A. L. Burnett, up-to-date, from the Mo. P., decided he would try the I. C., and is now doing the owl stunt at Rockwell City.

Bro. Garrick, who has been working as relief agent at Blairsburg, is back to his old stamping grounds at Parkersburg nights.

Bro. F. G. Kitchen, who was relieved by Bro. Garrick, at Parkersburg, is in turn relieving Bro. L. James, nights at Cedar Falls. Bro. James is laying off to take a trip to his home in North Dakota and also a trip to the West before coming back to work, when he will relieve Bro. L. Markussen, days at Cedar Falls, who will take a run out to the wild and woolly West. Understand Bro. Markussen will relieve Bro. J. H. Myers, agent at Cedar Falls, for a month or so, when he returns. Unable to state where Bro. Myers will spend his surplus "wampum."

Glad to hear that we can extend the glad hand of brotherly friendship to Bro. C. N. Thwing, agent at New Hartford. Feel sure he will never regret that he has seen the light and come into the fold.

Bro. Kiler, from Iowa Falls nights, is now working the side-table nights, in dispatcher's office, Ft. Dodge. Bro. T. H. Conway, from the C., M. & St. P., Mapleton, Wis., relieved him at Iowa Falls.

Mr. G. W. Newcom, new man, agent at Boyd, is with us in spirit, but has not worked long enough to get in. Will be with us as soon as he is eligible.

Bro. F. W. Bennett, formerly agent at Wilke, is now agent at Blairsburg, which he got on a bulletin.

Bro. H. A. Dodge has resigned from the service and has gone into business for himself at Blairsburg. Success to him.

Bro. W. R. Foster, agent at Webster City, who has been out West on a vacation, has returned to work after a pleasant trip. Unable to say where Mr. T. H. O'Donnell, who has been relieving him, has gone.

Bro. E. A. Liapple got Ackley nights on bulletin. He has been working extra there for some time.

Bro. J. S. Weiss, from agency at Blairsburg to day telegrapher and leverman at Rockwell City.

New man at Wall Lake nights. Unable to learn his name.

Bro. Holderman, new man at Tara nights.

Sister M. Gibson, days at Tara, is off on a vacation.

Believe this covers all the changes. If I have missed any, will have to ask you to overlook 'em, and will try to get them next month.

Noticed on a list which Bro. Empie kindly furnished us, that some of the brothers are behind in dues; not very much, but just enough to be behind. Now, brothers, if you haven't already squared yourselves up, you'd better "hy." Think, if you will stop and consider a minute, you will find out that the O. R. T. is a pretty good investment, aside from the friendship and brotherly feeling which it creates. You know yourself how you feel when you hear some one say: "Well, I used to belong, but I just dropped out. I'm going back in again as soon as I get a stake." Don't you feel as if he was a sort of a "moocher."

Will get "25" now. Please send news of any kind. Address me by U. S. mail at West Belt Junction, Waterloo, Ia. "W. Q."

Since our last write-up we have added quite a number of new names to the roll, and now the third and fourth districts are very nearly solid; only a few left.

There have not been as many changes of late as during several previous months.

We find Bro. Cowen transferred from Abbottsford yard nights to dispatcher's office, Abbottsford nights, in place of Mr. W. F. Bryan, now on the sick list. Bro. Carr, of the C. & N. W., relieved Bro. Cowen at the yard office.

Bro. Lake has resigned as agent at Butternut, and expects to go on the south end in the near future. Mr. J. P. Temby, holding down Butternut, has promised to come in before long.

Bro. Seeley, day man at Hurley, promoted to the agency there, and Triff Goodwin now has the day telegrapher's position.

Agent Schwindt, of Prentice, has resigned and "13" he expects to move to the southern division. He promises to join our ranks soon. Bear that in mind, boys, and see that he does. Have not heard who got Prentice.

Bro. O. R. Barber, of Allenton, Local Chairman, first district, is taking a much-needed vacation. Do not know who is relieving him.

Bro. Mochross, of New Richmond nights, and Bro. Rave, of Stanley nights, have exchanged places. This brings both of the boys closer to their homes.

Bro. Beebe, of Owen, is taking a trip to Oregon, and is being relieved by Mr. Goodrich, formerly agent at Curtiss. He has been in business at Lubin, Wis., for the past year. Mr. Goodrich used to be a brother, and says he will come in again if he decides to stay with the road.

Mr. Van Alstine has been doing some relief work as agent at Prentice, Boyd and Cadott.

The brothers at Boyd and Cadott (I think it is brothers) have been enjoying a vacation.

Am in receipt of a letter from our former General Chairman, Bro. A. D. Rouse, who is now located at San Francisco, Cal., with the Prest-O-Lite Co. He says, "The work I am now doing is like a big vacation as compared with railroading, and expect to take charge of a new office in Los Angeles soon. I shall keep up-to-date in Division No. 121 and will look for items for the W. C., of course." Bro. Rouse is a first-class fellow, and one who will make good wherever he is. We wish him much success.

Understand some of the exclusive agents say it is no business of the O. R. T. if they did get a raise in May. Wonder how many of them would be getting that extra $5 or $10 if our committee had not gone to Milwaukee?

The greatest war ever known is now in progress between labor and capital, i. e., the Commercial strike. Our No. 117 wire seems to be unusually quiet, which goes to show that the strike is making a lot of difference in the amount of business done. The loss in revenue since the beginning of the strike would have undoubtedly paid the small increase and other concessions asked for for several years. Although we can not join with them in the strike, they have our sympathies and all assistance, which we can consistently lend.

It has come to my notice that there is more or less discontent among the boys in regard to seniority. Younger men are getting preference jobs while the older ones are turned down. Now, boys, don't be afraid to speak up when you are not getting what is coming to you. The company will never change its attitude unless we kick and show them that we expect them to live up to their part of the schedule and we will do likewise. This was the intention of Mr. Potter, our general superintendent, when he signed this schedule.

Of late no bulletins have been issued for vacancies at various points, which is a disadvantage to a number of the members.

These failings should be reported to the General Chairman in order that he can take them up with the proper official for adjustment. The following suggestion has been made, which I think is very good: If when any member leaves a position he would drop the General Chairman a note, giving this information, also where he was going, the General Chairman would then be able to check these names off against bulletined jobs and keep track of the situation. Members at neighboring stations should watch out to see that this is done, and this would undoubtedly be a great help in getting things righted.

You know it is impossible for one man to keep track of all these things, no matter how hard he tries, and he must give him a little individual help. It costs little, only an occasional postage stamp and a few minutes of time. It will work wonders. Try it. Also a little of the same kind of push to help round up the few remaining nons, and furnish the correspondent with an item or two for the write-up each month.

So far, I am indebted to four or five of the brothers only for items, of whom Bros. Ensinger and Andre take the lead. Commencing next month there will be a correspondent for the south end and one for the north end districts, which, I trust will bring forth better write-ups.

How about meetings? Talk this over with your neighbor and see if we can not arrange for regular meeting nights, and then be sure to attend.

I must now bid you adieu.

Yours fraternally,

CORRESPONDENT.

Queen & Crescent Route (South).

N. O. & N. E. District—

We looked in vain for a write-up from this division in the July number, as it was generally thought by the boys that our general chairman, Bro. Shields, would have something to say about his trip to Minneapolis, but we suppose when he came back home his time was taken up with the Senatorial or Gubernatorial race, and he didn't have time to write.

Isn't it time we were beginning to think about and figure on what we want in the revised schedule?

There are several places where the old one needs filling in and equalizing, and the best way for us to let the general committee know what we want is to find out ourselves just what we need and then advise the committee so they can arrange to get what is needed all over the division, instead of in a few places.

Six new members by initiation, and two admitted by card is our record for July.

If we are to do good work towards securing a better schedule, we should all have up-to-date cards, and be prepared to ask for what we want, and no man can do that with the force it should have if he is behind with his dues.

Our relief agent, Dearman, is again in the fold, after having "drifted with the wind" for over a year. Seems like they just can't let a good thing like the O. R. T. pass.

There are still several nons on the N. O. & N. E. Some of them have promised to come in, but for some cause they are slow about keeping their promise.

If any brother having any news will kindly send it to the general secretary by the 20th of each month, there's no reason why the old 69 shouldn't be represented in each number of THE TELEGRAPHER. Try this.

DIV. COR.

C. G. W. Ry.

W. M. & P. Division—

Those who failed to attend the meeting at Oelwein August 11th, missed a very interesting and instructive meeting, as well as a royal good time. We appreciate the fact that a great many of the boys on this division are so located that it is nearly impossible for them to get away; but those who are more fortunate should make it a point to go. You don't know what you have missed until you have attended one.

Elysian bulletined for an agent and Mankato for a telegrapher this month. "13" Mr. J. S. Hall has been assigned to a permanent position at Elysian, and that Mr. Gibson goes to Mankato as telegrapher.

Unable to say what berth Mr. Temanson gets, but understand he will relieve Bro. Peery at Racine for a few days.

Don't forget to send in that special assessment, for "money makes the mare go," and she has sure got to go some this fall.

When you get those information blanks, sit down and fill them out properly and carefully. The information called for in there is for the use of the General Committee, and each question should be answered fully, and at the same time give only such information as will aid the committee in getting a clear understanding of the conditions on the different parts of the system.

Our dispatchers are having their annual vacation this month. Mr. T. G. Connors, off for a couple of weeks the first of the month, has returned and is now working first trick while Mr. Alexander takes his vacation.

Understand the boys have a new schedule, granting them a raise of $5 all around. This looks good; only sorry it was not more.

Bro. Berg, of Altura, off for a few days, relieved by Mr. R. J. Neill.

Mr. S. O. Harris, of Kansas City, has taken charge of Rochester station permanently. We hear "SO" on the line quite frequently, but have been unable to find out if he carries the little paste-board.

Now, boys, don't allow your interest to lag. Keep after the nons and get them lined up. The time of reckoning is near at hand, and we need the assistance of every one of them. If they don't answer your first letter, write another and call them up on the wire. If you can't get them loosened up in any way, turn them over to some one else, and so keep the ball rolling. There are several on the division who have promised to come in "soon or next pay-day." When you get a promise like that, make it your business to see that they keep it. Don't you know that the reason some of them have not come in before is that they were not sufficiently urged.

Wish to thank Bros. Potter and Beardsley for items sent in this month. Let us see how many will respond next month.

Keep busy.

DIV. COR.

Northwest Division—

At a meeting held at Oelwein, Iowa, August 11, resolutions were passed to make a demand on the railroad company, beginning March 1, 1908, that no agent or operator be obliged to handle the U. S. mail, and that this be published in our journal so that all other divisions may act on the subject. It being burdensome and unreasonable on the part of the railway companies to ask telegraph operators and agents, who are also telegraphers, to perform these duties. Who else will make this stand?

A very social and beneficial time was enjoyed by all who attended the meeting, as matters of vital importance were discussed by the members. We had a fair attendance from all the divisions except the Ft. Dodge. Bro. Hodges stated that on account of the train service members from that division were unable to attend.

Transfers and changes:

Bro. F. L. McKinston, day operator at Sumner, Iowa, gets Hayfield agency on bid.

Bro. Kindree, nights, gets Sumner days, on bid.

Bro. J. B. D. Day is relieving Bro. Soterstram at Randolph, Minn., during his vacation.

Bro. Day has just returned after a two months' vacation, and all welcome his old-time fist on the wire.

Understand Bro. Grannis, our worthy Local Chairman, has stirred up a hornet's nest amongst the nons, and they all say pay-day. Hope it will be so.

CERT. 83.

IN MEMORIAM.

Bro. A. A. Hayden, of many railway and commercial acquaintances, who has been a sufferer from tuberculosis for the past year, answered "I," "I" to his final call on Sunday evening, August 25th, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hayden, of this city.

His last telegraph service was while in the employ of the C. G. W. Ry. at Sycamore, Ill., in November, 1906. On account of failing health he was compelled to come home, where he remained for a time, but finding no relief, decided to go West in hopes of regaining his health. Accompanied by his father, they left last June for Salt Lake City, Utah, but not being benefited by the change, he returned home, where he spent the remaining days with his loving parents and friends.

He was a model son and brother, and a member of the Grand Division, holding certificate 4,418. The members here, including the C. T. U. A. members, assembled and went to his home in a body to pay their last respects, and to present the beautiful O. R. T. emblem wreath. A meeting of telegraphers was held, and the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom to call to his last home our brother, A. A. Hayden; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, brother telegraphers, extend to his bereaved family our sincere sympathy in their great sorrow; and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the official organ of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, and a copy sent to the bereaved family.

Canadian Northern Ry.

Fourth District—

Information regarding our new schedule seems to be hard to get. However, we presume the matter is being pressed as far as is expedient.

Correspondents have fallen down, hence the lack of news in our write-up.

Humbolt Division—

Bro. J. A. Whelhan, night telegrapher at Humbolt, appointed agent at Veregin, succeeding Agent Bryden.

Bro. Dixon, night telegrapher at Invermay, gone to Innisfree Pit for the summer.

Bro. Russell, agent at Wadena, appointed agent at Humbolt; succeeded by Mr. Robinson, relieving agent.

Understand the latter is up-to-date.

Telegrapher H. Squibb, who recently relieved our local chairman, Bro. Lister, of Langham, is now acting agent at Watson. "13" he is going to fill out his papers soon.

Night telegrapher has been put on temporarily at Watson on account of work trains at Watson Pit. Don't know his name.

Bro. McMillan, late agent at Humbolt, resigned, and has gone into the hotel business at Humbolt.

Bro. Schwolm, agent at Invermay, has been appointed to represent the east end of the Fourth District on the board of adjustment.

Night telegrapher at Humbolt promises to join the ranks shortly.

Battleford section has but two exceptions.

Vermilion Division solid.

Edmonton Division is in fair shape, with one or two delinquents.

Q. L. L. & S. Branch—

Glad to shake hands with Bro. W. Y. Grene, Bladworth, who has sent in the necessary.

Bro. Bryce has returned to the Hague, after three weeks' fun in Winnipeg.

Bro. Henning, Davidson, left for two months' holidays in western Ontario; relieved by his assistant, Bro. Meraw.

Understand the men at Dundurn and Bethune are changing jobs.

So far I have received no encouragement from the boys to help make an interesting write-up. Why can't we hold a meeting at Saskatoon some Sunday to talk over matters of interest to us? Let's work up a little enthusiasm. Everything may come to those who wait, but it will come much quicker if we go after it.

What's the color of the card you now hold?

I have to thank Bro. W. R. Fowler, Osler, for above notes. Get busy, and help him hold a meeting.

Mineral Range Ry.

It has been a long time since I have seen anything in the valuable journal from the Mineral Range, so I will give a few items as far as my knowledge will permit:

The Keweenaw Central is making quite a showing these days, running four passenger trains daily, and doing all kinds of business, too. They run over our tracks from Mohawk to Calumet. Union depot.

Mr. Galby, late of the W. U., in Chicago, is located at Snowshoe.

Calumet yard office is short a night telegrapher on account of scarcity of men, and Bro. Gibson is making considerable overtime. He recently underwent an operation, so, likely, he can use all the "lucre" he can get for doctor bills.

The dispatcher's office is now located over the freight office, with Mr. C. I. Bashore, chief, and C. A. Johnson, trick dispatcher.

Excuse my haste. May be able to do better the next time.
Cor.

Vandalia Ry.St. Louis Division, East End—

While all the boys are very anxious for better working conditions and salaries, and should stand firm in working for these things, a good union man never overlooks the fact that the company pays him his money; that his superior officers' wishes must be respected, and that the company wants, above all things, careful, conscientious service. In fact, the writer, after talking with several employers of many men, found that their main objection to unions seemed to lay in the fact, as they claim, that union men become arrogant, and that it was almost impossible to maintain discipline. We mention this so that our boys may guard, as much as possible, against giving our company grounds for such a complaint. We all understand that a certain amount of discipline is absolutely necessary, and must be maintained by the company, and should be accepted without complaint, as it is meant for the good of the service. But, aside from this, we are strongly of the opinion that the more attractive the telegraphers' positions are made, in the way of salary and working conditions, just so much more highly the positions will be prized, and just that many more reliable men will engage in, and stick to the profession; as a result, to maintain a highly disciplined set of men will be comparatively easy.

We have it from a reliable source, that the conference our committee held with Superintendent Downing, on August 13th, was very satisfactory. You will all have heard before this is in print what the agreement is. The writer is confident that every one will be pleased, and is also assured that the company is well satisfied, asking only that we give good service.

Bro. H. C. Barnes, "KR," Terre Haute, rights, has accepted "DS," Terre Haute, nights. Mr. H. B. Morse, who has been working this trick, accepted the "owl" trick at "KR."

Bros. C. H. Johnson and C. C. Johnson, "RS," Reelsville days and nights, were off on a vacation about all month, visiting their home at New Paris, Ind. Bros. R. H. Yates, F. A. Goodwin and M. T. Tobin worked days, and Bro. H. S. Miller nights during their absence.

Bro. C. C. Chesterson, "SU," Summit, nights, was off a few nights visiting at his home at Crawfordsville, Indiana. Bro. O. M. Coffin, "FM," Fillmore, nights, relieved him. Unable to find out who relieved Bro. Coffin.

Bro. H. L. Hearn, "KV," Knightsville, nights, after spending a couple of weeks with his people in Illinois, has returned to work.

Bro. R. H. Yates, extra telegrapher, who worked last at "RS," Reelsville, has resigned. We are sorry to see Bro. Yates leave us.

Twice this month the Big Four trains have been detoured over our line on account of accidents which blocked their tracks.

Mr. H. B. Morse, "KR," Terre Haute, was sick one night. Bro. H. C. Barnes, "DS," Terre Haute, nights, relieved him, and Dispatcher Cotton relieved Bro. Barnes at "DS."

Bro. D. R. Ransburg, "GA," Eagles, days, returned to work, after having spent a month visiting his people at Pleasant Lake, Indiana, and traveling through the East. Bros. O. O. Scanland and M. T. Tobin relieved him.

Bro. J. W. McCollough, "HN," Harmony, nights, was sick one night. Extra Telegrapher Clark relieved him. Unable to find out if Mr. Clark has a card.

Bro. W. A. Vaughan, "NE," Greencastle, days, was on No. 33 the other night headed west.

Bro. Geo. Stevens, "GN," Greencastle, days, was off for some time on account of poor health. His night man, Bro. E. C. McCollough, worked in his place. Unable to find out who worked the night trick.

Bro. B. A. Watts, extra telegrapher, was seen on No. 34 the other day, having been to Limesdale to visit with his people there.

Bro. J. N. Jones, "KV," Knightsville, days, was off for a couple of weeks. Bro. O. Wilbur, an extra telegrapher, relieved him.

Bro. C. R. Shortridge, "CO," Coatesville, was off duty a week. Bro. O. M. Coffin, "FM," Fillmore, nights, relieved him.

Bro. W. L. Darner, "FN," Farrington, nights, was seen on No. 34 one day this month, having been to Limesdale on a visit.

Bro. D. F. Wilson, "BR," Brazil, nights, was off duty a couple of weeks this month. Bro. C. A. Wilson, "WA," Watson, nights, relieved him. J. W. Gornett relieved Bro. C. A. Wilson at "WA."

Bro. J. H. Harrold, "J," Limesdale, days, was off duty for a week. Bro. F. A. Goodwin, extra man, relieved him.

Bro. Fred Farris, "HK," Hamrick, nights, has accepted "MD," Almeda, nights. F. I. Stanberry is holding down the "owl" trick at "HK."

Bro. O. Hixon, "SV," Seelyville, nights, was off duty a couple of weeks this month. Bro. B. H. Byrd, extra telegrapher, relieved him.

Bro. V. A. Woodward, "NE," Greencastle, nights, was off duty a few nights. Bro. B. H. Byrd relieved him.

Mr. J. E. McNeeme, "CO," Coatesville, nights, was off duty a couple of weeks this month. R. D. Elliott, Mr. Allen and Bro. J. Stewart relieved him. Mr. Elliott went to "GM," St. Louis, to work. Unable to find out whether he had a card.

Bro. A. J. Luty, "BD," Ben Davis, days, off duty a couple of weeks. Bro. Francis, "HB," Hobbs, nights, relieved him.

Bro. Benefiel, "BD," Ben Davis, nights, was off duty a couple of weeks. Bros. I. S. Hixon and O. R. Ball relieved him.

Bro. B. H. Byrd, extra telegrapher, has resigned on account of his health. We are sorry to lose Bro. Byrd.

Bro. O. R. Ball, extra telegrapher at Gibson, was relieved on account of being sick by Mr. Clark.

Bro. B. H. Byrd, "SV," Steelyville, having resigned, Bro. O. O. Scanland relieved him.

Telephones, from tower to each end of passing track, are being installed at all remaining block stations, where heretofore their use had been considered unnecessary.

An inspection party went over our end one day this month in the Vandalia observation car.

We wish to impress upon all the boys the importance of promptly answering all correspondence or messages from our officers asking for information or a vote. Some of the boys do not realize how important these things are, and even neglect to answer at all, leaving our officers uncertain as to either their support or sympathy.

The correspondents find it difficult to get all the items without help, and have been endeavoring to get the boys to help out by sending them in, but have failed to receive any so far. We wish the brothers would help us out in this by sending all the items they can get to our secretary and treasurer.

Cor.

Middle Division—

I failed to see much in the journal last month from this division, but we are still with you, just the same. The boys seem to wait on one another to do this work, and, consequently, not much is done.

We still have a few nons, but they are getting scarcer every pay day. Now let's keep after them, and we will soon have them all on our side.

Bro. J. Q. Adams is back at Effingham nights, after being off a few days to get the kinks out of his legs.

Bro. C. B. Beck, Smithboro days, is contemplating a trip to Denver, Colo., in September. We are sorry to see "CB" leave us, and only hope he will return to the Van.

Bro. C. U. Hutchison, Jewett nights, is laid up with rheumatism. Extra Telegrapher T. O. Grissom is relieving him.

Bro. L. McFadden, nights at Vevay Park, is off for a few days. Ex-telegrapher D. V. Carter is relieving him.

Carter quit the Van some time ago to accept employment with the Ohio Oil Company, south of Casey, but it evidently did not suit him, as he soon came back to the Van.

Whatever you do, stay awake, and give your work preference over everything. Remember, you have a number of lives in your hands, and let your motto be: "Business before pleasure." Let's see what a good record we can make for ourselves, and not have any unnecessary delays marked up against us.

Bro. W. P. Hiner, days at Schoyer, is going to lay off during fair week at Indianapolis.

New man at "WB," Woodbury, nights. A non, I "13."

Bro. R. Danner, days at Marshall, is back at the key, after a few days off.

Bro. W. G. Anderson is back at work, after a short vacation. Bro. W. H. Fuller, who relieved him at Farrington days, has taken to himself a wife. They have our best wishes.

Bro. O. L. Setty, formerly of the Van, now of the Big Four at Danville, Ind., is at home at Jewett visiting his parents.

Bro. J. L. Brown and wife, Jewett days, were very much surprised on returning home the other evening. They found the house full of their neighbors and friends, with five gallons of ice-cream and well-filled lunch baskets, it being Mrs. Brown's birthday. A very enjoyable evening was spent. Music, games and recitations were rendered by those present, and it was in "the wee sma' hours" when "J" and wife retired, with wishes for many more years of happiness and prosperity ringing in their ears.

Our chief, Mr. E. A. Hallinin, was on the pay-car last month, shaking hands with the boys and inquiring after their welfare. CERT. 63.

Great Northern Ry.

Minot Division—

Failed to find a single item in the last number from Division 70, so I have appointed a committee of one (myself) to do the necessary.

We are not dead on the G. N. by any means. We are very much alive. Our worthy brother and organizer, Mr. Delaplaine, thinks so, as he found this pike pretty solid after the house-cleaning it had in 1905.

Look at the new schedules that are blossoming out? Are we going to be content to sit and sound brass 12 to 16 hours per day like our forefathers in the business? We all say: "Something must be done." But unless we get busy, we can not say: "Something has been done." Now, for a finish: Let me say to each and every brother, if you have a non near you work at him night and day until he shows a card. Don't be afraid to talk O. R. T. to him. Shove it at him in chunks. We must have him, and when we once stand solid, we will raise our colors again, and rally 'round the flag.

Mr. C. E. Leversch appointed superintendent, vice G. S. Stewart, transferred to Breckenridge Division.

The stock rush will soon be on, and then we work some more.

Bro. D. H. Roberts, nights at Rigo, formerly at Penn.

Bro. Burnside made a flying visit to Rigo from Wheelock. Charley always wears a smile and a button.

Mr. H. L. Chranch, an old-time telegrapher and conductor, at Tagus while W. P. Vannoy is away on vacation. Mr. Chranch holds an up-to-date O. R. C. card.

B. F. Aikin, night man, goes to Lone Tree August 1st, as agent. Blaisdell to be opened as an agency as soon as can secure a man.

There are only one or two nons on the east end now, and will have them soon.

Now is the time to get your vacation.

Bro. D. C. Burnside, formerly night man at Wheelock, was relieved by P. J. Carrico. Did not learn where Burnside has gone.

"13" from Bro. Klabo that Wheelock will be solid after August 20th. That's good news.

The glad smile of Bro. Delaplaine has been among the west end boys the last few weeks.

Wonder who will be the lucky man to represent us at St. Paul this fall?

Bro. R. Patterson, formerly of Granville, now night owl at Rugby, with Bro. W. J. Kelly days, and Bro. F. G. Wells at the new passenger station days.

Our committee is now in St. Paul, and will soon have a schedule in shape.

Just had word from Bro. E. E. Delaplaine, from Kansas City, where he was called on account of sickness in his family. We all hope for a speedy recovery of the sick one.

Wish to thank the brothers on this division for the news items, and request that they drop me a line any old time they have a word for the next issue.

Let's see a write-up from the other divisions.

CERT. 601.

Kalispell Division—

The writer has looked long and anxiously for news from this division in THE TELEGRAPHER, but so far has been disappointed. The best way to have a thing done is to do it yourself, and so, at the request of the local chairman, we have promised to get busy. Don't think because we have not been represented every month, that we are not getting lined-up. We have been so busy after the nons and doing a big "biz" for the company that we have hardly time to write, but hereafter we intend to be represented every month. We are solid on this division, with the exception of about half a dozen nons, and we are after them hot, and expect to have them lined-up before the next journal is issued.

Our committee is now in St. Paul.

We want to get every one on the roll of honor who is not there now, so, boys, wake up and get after the few scattering nons, and bring them in'o the fold.

Our old chief, Mr. Wingate, has resigned and gone to Spokane to take a trick on the Spokane Division. Sorry to see him go, but Mr. Glennan, who takes his place, is a fine fellow, so we can not kick about the change.

Bros. Hodges and Downey, who have been holding down Hillyard for some time, have been transferred to Troy terminal.

Bro. Easterly, formerly day telegrapher at Browning, has been transferred to the agency at Jennings.

Bro. Mansell has been transferred from Summit to Jennings as telegrapher. Bro. Mansell hails from the far east, and says he likes the western life fine.

Bro. Klemo has been transferred from Jennings to Rexford nights.

Bro. Neuman, from Syracuse, N. Y., is holding down Fernie nights. His wife has just started back home on a visit. It will be a little lonesome up in the hills alone for a while.

Bro. Mead, day telegrapher at Midvale, has taken unto himself a wife, and quit this batching life. The O. R. T. extends congratulations.

Sister Robinson and Sister Shields, of Fielding, have just returned from a trip to Chicago and Zion City.

Sister Robinson is at present working in "WF" office at Whitefish.

There has been several new offices opened lately: Highgate, Skyland, Java and Peola. I have not as yet found out who has been appointed.

Better come out in the hills, boys, where the water is pure, big game is plentiful and the foxy trout roams the streams.

COR

Wabash Ry.

St. Louis Division—

The time for a revision of our schedule is fast approaching and will soon be upon us again. We will then be entering upon our third year as a scheduled road. How wonderful it sounds to us old-timers, who have been with this company some ten or twelve years, when we hear the Wabash mentioned and classed as a "union road." How well we remember the time when you could not find a union man on the road with a microscope. When some one spoke of organization they met with little or no encouragement. They were told "You can never do anything here." The old saying, "You never know what you can do until you try," has been again verified. We did do something here. The results of our efforts have been very gratifying, both from the standpoint of remuneration and working conditions. As we continue on in our march of progress the questions that appear before us with which we have to deal with become more difficult. This is common in all things where advancement is made by degrees, the simplest problems are taken and disposed of first. Among the questions that will be brought before the committee this fall is the one of abolishing commissions on local tickets and putting the agents on a straight salary. To the average outsider at 5 or 10 per cent commission on local tickets looks fabulous, and I don't think you need any argument here to convince you that you are the loser on the commission plan. For instance, you are paid a stated salary of say $30 and 10 per cent on local tickets. It looks as though you ought to make at least $65 to $75 per month. The first thing you are up against is the mileage book issued by the passenger department. Seven out of ten traveling men carry mileage. You check and handle their baggage and sell no ticket. About the next thing you are up against is a competing line building into your town or touching your territory, taking away a large portion of your ticket sales, or an interurban line comes into your town, and again, the two-cent fare enacted by the State goes against you in the latter case. Many of us were very fortunate to have a guarantee of $50 per month.

For the purpose of understanding this question more fully, and hearing all sides to it, I think it necessary that we have a meeting at some convenient point, say at Montgomery. All interested should be able to attend a meeting there, those west of Montgomery could take No. 64, and those east No. 51. As these meetings do not occur very often, we should not hold back for fear of losing one night's sleep. We have other matters of importance to discuss, among which is the "student question." The question of raising our dues is another. It is an established fact that on roads where the best wages are paid and working rules exist, dues are $10 to $12 per year.

It takes money to carry on and keep up an organization. There has been but one assessment made on the Wabash for committee work since the organization was started here some four years ago, and that assessment was for $2.50. Raising our dues to $10 a year would do away with special assessments for schedule work, as the extra $2 would be sufficient to cover that expense.

I will try and arrange with one of our officers in St. Louis to be with us at this meeting, and have him open up hostilities that evening. Think our secretary, Bro. Le Fever will gladly help us out.

Bro. F. Krome, of St. Charles nights, is working at Bridgeton as agent, while the place is being bulletined. He was relieved by Bro. C. B. Maddox.

Bro. Sam McCoy has resigned the agency at Bridgeton, and contemplates going south to work.

Bro. B. D. Erwin, agent at St. Peter's, resigned the agency there to accept the night job at Wells-ville. He was relieved by Mr. Smith, from the north end. If Mr. Smith will examine the records at St. Peter's he will find the salary at that station has been increased from $3 to $5 per month through the organization, and we think the Order is now entitled to some of his money.

Have you remitted your contribution to the relief fund for the C. T. U. of A. men? If you haven't, do so at once. These men are asking for only what is right. Their interests and ours are closely allied, so that you are practically contributing to your own cause when you give to them.

Wonder what broke loose on the Sixteenth District last month. This is the first communication that has appeared from that locality. On many occasions I have asked certain members to act as correspondent from that district, but without success. Cert. 562 ought to keep things going now that he has broken the ice.

Bro. E. Bane, who worked at Benton City a few years ago, is now with the Union Pacific at Hershey, Neb. He says that nothing but O. R. T. goes out there.

Wish every one who is interested would write me regarding our proposed meeting. Would like to have this meeting some time in October. After enough of the employes make known they desire to hold a meeting to discuss things pertaining to our betterment we can then arrange the date. We should by all means have a meeting before the committee goes in this fall. Let me hear from you.

LOCAL CHAIRMAN.

Peru Division—

I was honored the other day by almost a day's visit from our division correspondent, Bro. J. K. Lipsett, who is at present enjoying a two or three weeks' vacation. He was en route home from West Lebanon, where he had visited friends (?) awhile, and stopped off between trains.

On account of Bro. Lipsett's absence, he informed me that it was up to me to fix the "write up" this month, so will do my best. I am in debt to Bros. J. F. Hetrick, B. S. Harris and G. C. Delamater for items.

The big war is on between the C. T. U. and the telegraph companies. I hope we all appreciate the close relation of this organization and our own, and that any call for financial aid will be cheerfully and substantially responded to.

In an attempt at a "write up" for July, in speaking of knowledge we had of certain nons who kept students, I said, "Under a competitive system we must protect ourselves and not flood the market with our line of goods." I wish now to carry that a little further, for the benefit of all, whether members or nons.

I assume we are all business men. It matters not whether we have investments made or not. It has been pretty generally understood that when you speak of a "business man" you mean some employer of labor, a merchant or some other such person. You might think I am becoming more or less dignified or "stuck up" when I say that when talking to any one, and they speak of business man, I ask, "what particular kind, telegrapher, section man, street sweeper or merchant?" It is necessary to designate "which" nowadays, if they talk to me, because if they are back numbers and still have the antiquated idea that laboring men are not business men, it's impossible to follow their train of thought or argument.

Now, brothers, it matters not whether we have a cent invested in stocks, bonds or real estate, if we are making only a living for ourselves and families we are business men. Our commodity on the market is our labor, which we sell in the labor market, and the sale of which is a business transaction.

The merchant in your little town that you say is a successful business man, is successful why? You say, "Well, he buys his wares at a certain price and sells them at more than they cost him," and I guess you are right. I now ask you, "are you a successful business man?" Let's see. Our ware, I said, is our labor. Do we sell it at more than it cost us? Study on that just a minute. We are not good retailers. We are not even wholesalers. We bunch it in job-lots and sell it at jobbers' rates, and in the immediate past we of the Wabash had very little to say as to even what price we would accept at that. In fact, we could take what was offered, even if it wasn't a decent living, or could let it alone. We laboring men have been a little slow at catching on to the modern business methods of protecting the market. Our little local merchants have their agreements as to certain prices and certain hours to open and close. The larger concerns have their trusts, which protects the market for them to a "queen's taste," and to a great many things that we don't taste. We can all testify to that.

Whether we are learning from them or whether we discovered it ourselves, it is true that we are learning. Bro. Lipsett and I were talking the other day about some of the business deals we, of the Wabash, have pulled off recently, and how it compares with a few years ago. We have a dinner hour now, where before we got dinner if we could do so, in a few minutes, or we could do without it if the few minutes could not be spared us. So we "threw in" that hour for good measure at the same cost to the purchaser of our day's labor. We used to "tote" switch lamps morning and evening, and "threw that in" to make sure somebody got their money's worth. A great many of us came to work long before 7 a. m. and remained on duty hours after 7 p. m., and were also called during the night, and if we protested had it carefully explained "that it was part of the duties of a telegrapher" and admonished "not to complain, that no doubt we would be president some day." So "in" that went for good measure.

Along with these presidential possibilities, and the like, there was some other stuff handed out to us about remaining out of labor unions, being good and doing all we were told without complaining, and we would get our reward when we died. But this "throwing in" business a large majority of us became tired of, and such remuneration as above mentioned we decided was "deferred payments," and, besides, we felt these "rewards after death" were coming to us anyway. These "rainbow propositions" and this "hot air" talk might do if we were living up in the air, but it takes something more substantial to clothe and feed our wives and little ones during our short stay in this particular part of the universe. So we commenced to have something to say as to the price of our commodity. Something to say as to the time of going to and returning from our places of business. Something to say as to the rights of those in the service. Something to say as to a minimum wage and as to a wage at the heavier positions.

You all know what I am driving at whether you be member or non. How did we arrive at the point of having any "say" as to these, our business affairs? Do you want anything to say as to the price of your ware on the market, Mr. Non? Or would you rather take what is offered, or what your craft's business association brings you? If the latter, you put yourself in the position of being a parasite. If you are abreast of the times you are up-to-date in your line of business. If you are in the oil business you are part of the oil trust. If a merchant you are in your local merchants' association. If you are a telegrapher, you should be in the O. R. T., because it is through that organization we have arrived at having a "say" and at the point of protecting our market.

We have only commenced, too. We are still "throwing in" for good measure lots of hard work that we should receive some remuneration for or some one else should do. We claim we should have an eight-hour day (and we see it coming in the near future). If this claim is right we are now "throwing in" four hours per day, most of us.

We are lugging mail to and from the postoffice, transferring it, loading it on and taking it off of trains, and assuming the responsibilities of its proper dispatch and care, with no allowance of pay, but a fine if we fail to do it. In other words, it is worth nothing to put a mail pouch on a train, but $1 if we don't. Great logic, ain't it? The United States Government has well-paid employees in the mail cars and post offices whose duty it is to look after the mail, yet many of us go through rain or snow, heat or cold, lugging the mail back and forth, while the postmaster is toasting his shins by the fire, or fanning himself in the shade, as the case may be. Gee, but we are easy, obliging, patriotic mules, eh?

It is drawing near the time when your committee is going after a revised schedule. Let me impress upon any brother who has not yet renewed his card to do so at once. Several who were out in the cold have done the necessary recently, as the August journal shows. Now, you few remaining nons should follow suit. Don't be a parasite. The amount of good things to be obtained depends upon the support you give your committee. The time has passed when the excuse of "not being able to pay the fee, or keep up dues" is a reasonable one. As has been said before, you are all, members or nons, realizing directly or indirectly from the organization more than it costs to keep up-to-date. This being true, how can you afford to remain out or become delinquent? How can you afford it financially or from the standpoint of manhood?

To remain a non makes it appear that you are laboring under the misapprehension that this country is still composed of independent citizens. This is a grievous error. It is composed merely of conditions and men are simply the atoms which go to make up the different clashing classes. The employer is but little more independent than the employed, each is governed by qualifying conditions, stronger than mere taste. The employer who is struggling to maintain his individuality among his jealous and crafty peers, is but little more to be envied than the workman who is struggling to maintain his very existence. The thing to realize is that the sooner this change, which is foretold by every reliable indication, takes place, the sooner all may settle down to a period of peaceful enjoyment of the fruits of their own toil.

No one does more harm than the parasite, who, for a temporary sop, is willing to prolong a conflict, the result of which is inevitable. Is there a man today who in looking back to the revolutionary period of our own history, would not hate to find that his ancestors were Tories—men who aided a foreign government in trying to continue the yoke upon the neck of this country? In glancing back at the struggle of the unions, it is impossible for a true-hearted laboring man not to feel pride in the position to which the union has raised him. But can a man who refuses to identify himself with the movement which is to result in raising labor to the dignified position it is bound to acquire, be called true-hearted? Is he, in fact, one bit better than the imbecile inheritor of income-producing property, who has not intellect or manhood enough to add to the world's good, yet, like a leech, sucks out the nourishment which should go to the true producer.

Tyrants have ever relied upon traitors. If every man would be true to his own cause there would be no tyranny. History proves this—select any portion you will and you will see the proof of this. Take our own militia, which is but a club for the employer, and it is recruited from the sons and brothers of the employed. And the irony of all is, that the tyrant invariably feels a contempt for the traitor, even when he uses him for a club. He marks him for a traitor and when he can once more avail himself of the services of true men he turns the traitor adrift with a sneer. It is no longer a question of choice, each man must study the class in which his own interests lie, and by aiding this class increase its strength until it can demand recognition. This will hasten the moment of adjustment and do away with the constant feeling of uncertainty in regard to the future. The great trouble has always been that all classes have been forced to get their news, their ethics, and their religion from the dominating class. But to-day there are papers which are capable of showing the true relation of every man to every principle, and a man who remains ignorant has no excuse. A man who continues to sit up and beg for his bone, after he has been taught how to demand his meat like a man, may continue to receive the spaniel's caress for a time, but, in the end, he will be kicked from the door and then he will be ashamed to look his mirror in the face. If we are men, let us act like men.

Mr. J. A. Cavanaugh, formerly agent at West Lebanon, has taken the day position as telegrapher at that point. Mr. Cavanaugh will, no doubt, do the necessary soon.

Bro. Brey, formerly agent at Marshfield, transferred to Andrews agency. Bro. J. F. Hetrick now agent at Marshfield, and M. J. Pryor, a new man on the Wabash, nights.

Mr. Jones, agent at State Line, off on vacation. Bro. R. E. Helwig relief man.

Bro. Dunwoody, Newell tower nights, off sick; relieved by Mr. W. H. Pemberton.

The brothers between Attica and Tilton have their hands full trying to keep the gravel trains moving, things balling up quite a bit nevertheless.

Wonder if the boys on the Second District all contributed their little "mite" to C. T. U., Division No. 3? Reports from the east end show that the O. R. T. boys responded freely to the call.

Very nearly a tie-up in Western Union business since the strike. The company is now sending "mailgrams," instead of "telegrams." How would you like to get a share of their dividends next time?

Mr. Wm. Marsteller, a new telegrapher on the Wabash, writes your local chairman that just as soon as able he will have a card, and does not think that will be long now. This shows the right kind of stuff.

Mr. Fackler, who formerly worked for the G., R. & I., and who has not been telegraphing for something like a year and a half, now working days at Hartman tower for a few days. Haven't heard if he is up-to-date or not, but hope if not he soon will be.

Bro. Tillock says he finds some of the boys do not know the secret work and fail to come back at him. How about it, brothers?

Bro. Tillock, at Thurman, is going to have a new house built which will make it more pleasant for him.

We understand Sister V. M. Baker, who has been away some time, is going to resume work at Blakesley before long. Probably September 1.

We are assured that Sister F. H. Schottenmeyer "RY," of Fort Wayne, will return to work again, and that any rumors to the contrary are false.

Bro. A. H. Barcklow is working "Z," Peru, during the absence of Bro. Lipsett.

Bro. R. R. Gladden, of Logansport, on vacation August 18 to September 3, visiting relatives and friends at Toledo and Chicago. Bro. D. C. Burke is doing the work days, Bro. W. S. Bandy nights.

Bro. Lichstein nights at New Haven. Bro. King off on vacation of fifteen days; relieved by ex-Telegrapher Herman Schottenmeyer, who has returned. Spent time in the wilds of Northern Michigan.

It comes from a pretty reliable source that the party in mind on the Second District who kept a student, has discontinued him, or will do so soon. Nothing heard from the others, and we hope the same has happened over there.

Telegrapher Avey has under consideration an offer of a position with an oil company at Port Arthur, Tex., and will accept if he can be relieved in time to secure it.

Bro. Agnew, at Butler, off for two weeks for rest.

Telegrapher Smith, who was at Prairie Switch, is now working at Cecil tower.

Mr. H. O. Eviston is working at Prairie Switch now, but has no card. Bro. Hanson has papers and thinks he will be O. K. next month.

Today Mr. Wm. Mahoney, one of Delphi's merchants, stopped me on the street to inquire as to the progress of the strike. After expressing himself strongly in favor of the C. T. U. A., asked me if I would take a contribution of $5 from him and get it to the strike fund. I told him I would be glad to do so and it is now on its way to Bro. LaFever. Mr. Mahoney was once a union cigarmaker, and has a warm spot in his heart for the brothers and sisters of the C. T. U., who are struggling for better conditions. This is the kind of public sympathy that counts.

Yours fraternally,

W. P. SHUTT, L. C.

Decatur Division—

Another month has chased and we are still doing what is in our power to better the Order.

Last month's TELEGRAPHER was an interesting issue and should be thoroughly read.

Speaking of the commercial telegraphers' strike now pending, I wish to thank the brothers, and also quite a number of nons for their loyalty to union labor, and for their good judgment by complying with all clauses in our schedule, and still doing what was in their power to assist the cause of our sister union now involved with the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies.

Mrs. Eslaman, of Staunton, and Mr. S. Shugart promise their applications soon.

Mr. A. Moore, Raymond, has tendered his application and remitted the necessary, and we may now extend the fraternal greeting to him and call him brother.

Bro. E. J. Carroll, who was stationed at Blue Mound, resigned his position and departed for Denver, Colo.

Bro. Logsdon resumed duty at Clarkdale after being off on account of sickness; relieved by Bro. A. Townsend, of Southern Pacific Division No. 53.

A Mr. E. S. Gaston, holds forth at Edsville Junction nights, and promises to affiliate with us in the early future. This time it is "we are after you, Gaston," instead of "you first, Gaston."

Bro. Wm. Norvell, of Chicago Ridge, visited his parents in Raymond the last month.

Bro. Stone, of Litchfield, en route to Decatur several weeks ago, dropped in and introduced himself to your correspondent.

The following telegraphers doubled Harvel night position until Bro. Bergen returned from his trip to Indiana: Bros. Lovell, of Taylorville; Montgomery, of Stonington; Cash, of Decatur; Griffin, of Harvel; Moore and Hendricks, of Raymond, and Bro. Townsend, a new comer.

Bro. Montgomery celebrated his thirty-seventh birthday working Harvel night job. Your correspondent does not recollect the date, but nevertheless, we wish him many more birthdays and happy years to follow.

A man by the name of Brewer is holding forth at Stonington nights.

Bro. W. W. Renner, of "H," Decatur, enjoyed a well-earned vacation, which he spent in the Queen City, Cincinnati. Bro. Tightmaster relieved him.

Understand Bro. C. Y. Walton, of the dispatcher's office, is working nights in "H" office since he has made the rounds relieving the several dispatchers.

Mr. L. E. Groves resigned Philo position. Unable to say where he has drifted. A Mr. Reynolds holding Philo for the present.

Another meeting will be held in the near future and all brothers should be prepared to attend when the summons appear.

Mrs. Grewell has resigned Granite City night position. A new comer holding forth.

Mr. Debele, formerly of Brooklyn days, died in the Decatur Hospital, Thursday, August 22, after suffering and lingering for the past year. He was an honest and upright gentleman, always fulfilling his duties and, although not a member of the Order, was always interested in our welfare. He will be missed from our ranks as a telegrapher, and our sympathy is extended his bereaved relatives, who mourn his loss.

Bro. Moore doubled Raymond nights while Bro. Hendricks held forth at Harvel, while Bro. Custer acted as agent and telegrapher at Raymond during the shifting.

Chas. Whitmer, formerly agent at Morrisonville, is reported to be filling a position with the St. Louis Terminal at Madison.

A Roy Brown, who filled a position in the Terminal office at East St. Louis Relay Station, was dismissed by that company and we understand he is now holding forth with the Southern Railway at East St. Louis, Broadway office. Be on the lookout for this party and put him on the unfair list, and show no "scab" a favor.

Bro. Childers, of "JO," Decatur, crossed the river and was sight-seeing in St. Louis recently, and reported he attended a meeting of the C. T. U. of A. Am not in position to say what induced our brother to vacate "JO" position, and sincerely hope he has not departed from our ranks.

Understand Bro. D. L. Giffin has resigned Harvel agency and contemplates departing for the northern portion of the United States soon. Bro. Giffin was a faithful brother and employee, and we regret to forfeit him, but wish him success in his new field, and an occasional line from him would be appreciated.

Bro. Bergen, of Harvel, was called to Brooklyn, Ind., to the bedside of his father, who, later, died. Our sympathy is extended in his sad bereavement.

Bro. Aikman and wife, of Honey Bend, spent Sunday, August 25, visiting friends at Litchfield

Mrs. Grewell, the wife of Bro. Grewell, at Granite City days, is holding down day position for the Big Four at that place.

Business seems rather dull since the commercial strike, as very little is being transacted on the Western Union message wires, and the old click of the sounder will sound familiar when a settlement is reached.

The agents of the north end, Sixth District, can vouch for the generosity of our worthy local chairman. We enjoyed a good feed about August 1 at his expense, and are thankful for the same.

New man, named Guy Moreford, from Windsor, working days at Cerro Gordo. Mr. Wingate doing the night stunt.

Several changes in agencies have recently taken place or will in the near future, viz., Bro. W. F. Ayers, of Sannemin, goes to Morrisonville; Bro. Schwarz, of Staunton, to Blue Mound; Bro. Ball, of Mansfield, to Staunton; Bro. Brakhane, of Ivesdale, to Homer, and Bro. Soper, of Milmine, to Ivesdale. However, Ivesdale and Staunton have not been bulletined.

The following stations will soon be bulletined: Mansfield, Sannemin, Milmine, and Hammond. Am unable to say what has caused the vacancy at Hammond. Hope our good brother, J. Loren Lewis, has not left us.

Everything on the Eighth District is progressing nicely. Have had the promise of two new applications.

We welcome Mr. Powers, from Homer, to our district. Do not know whether to call him brother or not. He bids in Sullivan. Mr. J. W. Patterson deceased.

We had a general manager's special the 23d of July on this district. The officials did not make any local stops, but made it a high-ball run. Guess they saw that all were O. R. T. boys and had things up in good condition.

In conclusion, I may add that the lookout for increase of membership on this division appears favorable, considering the few nons existing, and we can justly boast of our increased membership during the past few months, much credit being due Bro. Hefner and those who assisted.

Div. Cor.

Detroit Division—

Bro. Carl Spicer, regular man at Belleville, is off for a short time; relieved by Telegrapher J. L. Phillips, a beginner on the Wabash.

Bro. W. H. Sellers, regular man at Romulus days, is working the agents' job at Britton. Agent W. J. Clark is taking a few weeks' vacation with his son, Bro. G. W. Clark, who is regular day man at Britton. Bro. Clark was relieved by Bro. Roy Van Nest days, and Bro. Van Nest by Bro. Frank Beatty nights.

Bro. W. C. Curry working days at Romulus, G. S. Shannon nights. This change is while Bro. Sellers is away.

Bro. F. J. Jones has returned to work at Delray, after several weeks off on account of sickness.

R. A. Bethel bid in Victoria Avenue nights, on the last bulletin of that job. Mr. Bethel has promised to do the necessary.

Bro. L. A. Yoder, nights at Milan, is off sick with a fever. We hope to see him back at work soon.

Sister Wiley (?) has returned to work after a few days' relief at Cone days, and Bro. C. W. Shoup has resumed night work.

Bro. G. S. Davis, agent at Holloway, has been relieving Bro. G. F. Gund at Adrian days, for a while. Bro. Davis relieved by Bro. John Bloom, regular night man. Am unable to say who is working nights.

Notice there are some new fists at Sand Creek and North Morenci, but am unable to name them. If they will just furnish me with this data I will be glad to insert it.

Telegraphers Ward Ritchie and C. Lowe, who have been with other lines since they worked here, are again in our midst.

Bro. L. J. Miller bid in Westville nights, and Telegrapher Hilton took Whittaker, but understand he is going to Ennis. Don't know who will line-up at Whittaker.

Louie Jonas and G. A. Shultz both carry up-to-date cards. Don't forget to extend to them the right hand of fellowship.

Bro. C. J. Marsh, regular night man at Kingsbury, has been doing relief work at Montpelier and superintendent's office at Detroit for the last month; relieved at Kingsbury by Bro. F. Smith, who worked three nights and was taken sick. Smith relieved by Telegrapher Miss Olga George.

Bro. E. I. Crossley doing relief work at several places along the line, now holding down "MD" office at Detroit, and understand he has asked for Montpelier night office on the last bulletin. Bro. Crossley is a good worker and we wish him luck.

The journal for July did not contain items and can't say whether the August number did or not. Have not yet seen that issue, but trust they will appear each month. The regular correspondent did not know why they were not in, though perhaps they were forwarded too late for publication.

We note that Telegrapher C. Lowe, who came back to the Wabash to work in June, is now extra dispatcher at Montpelier, and it looks like he has got in quickly, there being two other men in this office much older than he is. Trust the boys will all insist on their rights, and if you don't you have no one to blame but yourselves.

If the brothers would send in a few items each month it would help out in the making of the writeup for the journal, and then they would not have to wonder why we are not represented in each issue. Being on one end of the line it is hard for any one to get what is going on at the other without assistance. I hope that each brother will help us out in this matter.

LOCAL CHAIRMAN.

C., St. P., M. & O. Ry.

Nebraska Division—

Quite a few changes have taken place on the division this month, and I will try and enumerate them all. If I leave any out it will not be my fault, as I have done the best I could, with no help from anyone at all. Seems the members do not care whether there is a letter from this division each month or not, but I will try and keep the thing going as long as I am working.

Bro. Shellington, dispatcher's office, Omaha, working branch dispatcher's wire days. Mr. Taylor now has trick regular, our good friend Hallisey having left the service and accepted a $140 job dispatching on the G. N., up in Western North Dakota. Bro. Shellington has bid in side wire days for a permanent job, and ex-Bro. Hamblin is working the night trick side wire at present. A man from the M. & I. Division signs "VC," working St. Paul wire temporarily while the boys are taking their vacations.

R. A. Coyle bid in Florence Station, and has a vacation all the time now.

Bro. J. F. Ballinger, of Emerson agency, was assigned to the agency at Tekamah, recently, and has taken charge. Mr. C. H. Hamblin, for many years agent at this point, has taken the cashier's position, which will not be so arduous, and his responsibility will not be so great. Mr. W. B. Jacobson, who has performed the duties of cashier here for sometime, has taken the examination and gone on the extra list as relief agent and telegrapher. We wish him success. At present he is relieving the agent at Concord, who is taking a few days' vacation.

It is "Brother" P. P. Hayes days at Bancroft now, he having made good and now wears the button, along with that smile of his.

Mr. Pinion, agent telegrapher at Thurston, bid in agency at Newcastle on last bulletin, and will soon transfer. We hope to have him among the seekers after an O. R. T. card in the near future.

Bro. F. B. Smith, who for several years has so ably held the telegraphers' desk at Emerson, has been promoted to the agency at that place, made vacant by transfer of Bro. Ballinger. This is a deserved promotion and we hope Bro. Smith will have success. Mr. H. I. Smith is holding the wire down days until it is bulletined. Mr. Smith is almost a brother, as he has the necessary papers, and says he will send them in very shortly.

Bro. Hutton, agent at Coburn, took a couple of weeks' vacation recently, and visited his sister and family at Des Moines, Ia. He reports a fine time. He was relieved by an old-timer, Mr. Fersle, who is now located at Wakefield days.

Mr. H. I. Smith was sent to Wakefield for a week and was relieved at Stock Yards by F. R. Sherman, a new production from the U. P.

Bro. O. F. Bubb has resigned from the service and has gone to Denver to engage in other business with his brothers at that place. Good luck to him, hope he will strike it rich.

Bro. D. C. Leamer, the good old standby from Wakefield, is taking a much-needed vacation of sixty days, and ought to be as good as new when he returns. Do not know where he journeyed, but will venture that he has a good time-wherever he goes. Relieved by P. N. Petersen.

Bro. L. S. Wise, agent-telegrapher at Newcastle, has resigned, and says he will try braking on the road, if he can get a position. We hope he will do well, for he deserves to if anyone does.

The C. T. U. of A. brothers are still out on strike, and we hope they will eventually win out. A little assistance in the way of money at this time may be of great importance, and help them to gain their point, and we should all be liberal and do the little that each one is able to. Be prompt, brothers, and make your remittance at once if you have not already done so. Also, don't forget to pay up your dues, if you have not already done so.

Div. Cor.

Minneapolis and Iowa Divisions—

WINDOM MEETING.

Sunday, July 28, will go down in history as a day long to be remembered.

No. 3, being late, brought the west end boys to Windom a few minutes ahead of the east end boys, and the big button was very much in evidence when train No. 3 pulled in, and the crowd that was unloaded from the east end should be complimented on the turn out, there being fifteen from the east end and nine from the west end. However, it is to be regretted that some of the boys turned down our meeting for a local picnic, or some other trivial matter. They should emulate the example of Bros. Beyer, Atkinson, Pluedemann, Everett, Wenemark, Axt and Price, who were compelled to lose sleep in order to attend the meeting. Bro. Beyer was compelled to leave home at 5 p. m. Saturday and was not able to get back until noon Monday. Bro. Atkinson had to make a drive of thirty miles to attend, and Bro. Pluedemann came from Montrose, S. Dak., losing sleep, and also being at considerable expense. If some of the boys who live on the main line would make half an effort to attend we could have meetings that would be both beneficial and profitable.

After the arrival of trains Nos. 3 and 4, the boys were loaded into busses and driven to that most beautiful and popular resort at Swastika Beach, just forty minutes drive from Windom, and the way they enjoyed themselves was good for sore eyes. We were treated to a steam launch ride around the lake, returning to partake of the refreshments from the up-to-date refreshment counters located on the beach. Many beautiful and pleasant summer cottages adorn the banks, together with a dancing, or speaker's pavilion.

We returned to Windom about 7 o'clock, and as the inner man needed attention we repaired to the famous hotel known as the Pioneer House, for supper. Having done justice to the repast that was spread before us, we adjourned to the hall, where we were royally entertained by Messrs. Glick and Wagner. Meeting was called to order at 9 o'clock and much important business was handled. There were twenty-seven members present and from the remarks we feel safe in saying that no one regretted being there. Meeting adjourned at 11:30 p. m.

Bro. Beyer carried off the prize for the best story, while Bro. Glick was voted the "best what-is," in the musical contest.

The report of the custodian shows a healthy treasury, and the local chairman reported the Omaha as having the largest number of paid-up members in the history of the organization on this road.

Bro. Tenney reported having secured fifteen new members, eight of which became members the 1st of July, and seven have banded in their papers to become effective the 1st of August. Some one remarked there would be only one non left when the committee went in this fall.

We all returned to the depot to await the arrival of our trains, and although somewhat sleepy and tired, we all felt that the day had been well spent, and that we would return to our respective stations thanking our obliging officials for having allowed us to attend this meeting. Those who stayed away lost one day of perfect enjoyment.

Our next meeting will be held some time in October, and was voted to have the invitations include the wives and sweethearts of the agents and telegraphers. So now, if you have no wife, it behooves you to spruce up a little and look for a best girl, so that you will be in line for the next meeting.

After a short visit at St. James, Bro. Spatgren returned to his former duties, nights at Merriam.

Bro. C. A. Fielder, of Farmer, was called suddenly to Longport, Ind., on account of the serious sickness of his mother and his brother's family. We learn that the sickness was caused by eating canned fruit. Bro. Fielder was relieved by Bro. E. L. Klingelhofer.

Bro. Colfax, of Fulton, returned from his Western trip and resumed work July 20. Mr. A. G. Lane taking his much-needed vacation.

Bro. Tenney reports securing fifteen new applications as a result of ten days' spent with the boys along the line.

Mr. A. G. Lane spent Sunday, the 1st, at Wilder. He later visited with his parents at Slayton.

Bro. C. N. Williams, from Division No. 119, now at Shakopee, has asked to be transferred to Division No. 76.

Bro. C. B. Casperson, of Stone, has just returned after four weeks' vacation, during which time he visited his parents at Milwaukee, and took in the sights at Duluth, Superior and Minneapolis. He feels the trip has done him much good, and enters upon his duties of pounding brass with a new interest.

Bro. Zimmerman, of Kasota, relieved at Man-kato nights, allowing Bro. Funk to take a short vacation. Later, Bro. Zimmerman took a two weeks' vacation, visiting Chicago and Milwaukee. Bro. J. J. Long relieved Bro. Zimmerman at Kasota.

Bro. Hamilton, of Belle Plaine, leaves the 2d inst. for a couple of weeks' visit with his former friends at Austin, Minn. Unable, as yet, to learn who his relief is.

Bro. A. R. Mann, who has been relieving at Lake Crystal for the past two weeks, took up his assigned position at Windom, July 30.

Bro. J. H. Nelson, of Sioux City freight office, has been relieving at Mitchell. Returned to his former position August 1.

Bro. Reed is relieving temporarily at Slayton, thus allowing Bro. Beek to take a much-needed vacation. Upon Bro. Beek's return, Bro. Reed will take up his assigned duties at Lake Wilson.

Bro. Tenney and our friend, N. S. Costello, of Lake Crystal, made a flying trip to North Dakota the latter part of July, with a view of purchasing some of that land. Bro. Tenney tells us that he saw a vast amount of North Dakota sky while there, and if nothing happens, will be able to claim a small portion of that large State as his. Friend Nic was not so favorably impressed with the country, and boarded the first freight train back to St. Paul.

Bro. F. W. Larson, who relieved Bro. Jansen at Madelia during the months of June and July, relieved Bro. Tenney at Lake Crystal, later relieved Bro. Mann nights.

Bro. J. E. Smith and wife, of Bingham Lake, are viewing the sights at Seattle; relieved by Mr. E. E. Stolte, of Elmore.

Bro. A. E. Hyde, of Windom, is relieving nights at Brewster.

Bro. Beek, of Slayton, resumed work the 3d, releasing Bro. H. C. Reed. Bro. Reed will take a ten days' leave of absence, incidentally visiting the city of Winnipeg, and upon his return will take up his assigned duties as agent at Lake Wilson.

Bro. Warburton, of Humboldt, resumed work July 20. Bro. F. E. Anderson, who has been relieving Bro. Warburton, is now visiting relatives at Centerville.

Bro. Fiock, of Mitchell, resumed work the 1st.

Telegrapher Regan, of Bigelow nights, was called to Mendota on account of the present agent being sick. Bro. Hyde is relieving temporarily nights at Bigelow.

Mr. John Johnson has been doing the necessary at Barden for a few days; was relieved at Barden the 4th inst., and at present is relieving at Blake ley.

Night position at Brewster has been closed on account of the scarcity of men.

Bro. Fiock has resumed work at Mitchell after a long vacation. He reports a splendid time and is ready to get back into the harness.

Bro. C. W. Hamilton, of Belle Plaine, days, has returned from his trip through Iowa and Southern Minnesota. He reports making a visit to Bro. Ted Hales' new place of business, and says Ted has the biggest kind of snap, with nothing to do but take care of a few chickens. We are all glad to learn that Teddie is doing well and wish for his continued success.

Understand Bro. J. M. Linehan, of Ashton days, is taking a lay-off; relieved by Bro. J. H. Nelson.

Bro. E. L. Klingelhofer is back at his old stand at Luverne nights.

Bro. J. N. Alvord, of Mountain Lake, visited at St. James the 17th.

With individual effort there should not be a non left on the division when the committee goes in this fall. You all know that our concessions heretofore have been based upon the percentage of our membership, therefore it behooves us all to get busy and land the few remaining nons between now and the time the committee goes in.

Bro. Feyder and family and Bro. Enders and family, spent Sunday, August 1, at Truman.

Bro. H. L. Glick is now in his new position at the general offices at St. Paul; relieved by Mr. Lane.

Bro. H. G. Stumm is now doing his little stunt as night side wire man in the dispatcher's office at St. James. Bro. Fairfield goes on days, Mr. Slaker, the second side wire man, having taken a leave of absence for a few weeks.

Bro. C. W. Hartley is relieving Bro. Stumm at Heron Lake. Unable to learn name of the night man.

Our old friend and former brother, F. E. Slaker, was shaking hands with old-time friends on the Omaha the past week. Fred is now located on the Southern Pacific at Los Angeles, as trick dispatcher, and is doing well.

R. BEYER,
JNO. ATKINSON,
H. B. LEVERING.

Eastern District, Wisconsin Division—

Your correspondent has been too busy handling the extra business caused by the late storm to hunt up many items.

A few items drifted in and for such I am duly thankful. Yours truly has been very busy lately and were it not for these items this district would be but very poorly represented.

Bro. A. W. Hoffman, who has been working nights at East St. Paul, is relieving Bro. Goss at Altoona days. Bro. Goss is laying off sick.

Bro. H. L. Nichols is working nights at East St. Paul, pending the arrival of Bro. Fritz Kottke, who drew the job on July bulletin.

Bro. Kottke is enjoying a few days' vacation; relieved by Bro. Donahy, who just returned from a trip down home.

Northline night job was bulletined in error this month. It should have been Northline days, and same will appear on the next bulletin.

Mr. D. Kanar, East Seventh street nights, is now a full-fledged member. Good boy!

It's a pity McGarrah at Roberts, Rylander at Lake Elmo, and Locke at Beldenville, can't see it so, instead of persisting in drawing the benefits secured through the O. R. T. Yet they still refuse to help bear the burden.

Telegrapher Geo. O'Brien reported for work and think he is at Lake Elmo nights.

Bro. Davis, agent at River Falls, is off on vacation; relieved by Telegrapher Frost. He, in turn, was relieved by the night man from Solon Springs. Don't know his name.

Agent Krause, Baldwin, also off on vacation; relieved by Bro. Hurst. Don't know who is taking Bro. Hurst's place.

Bro. Gaffney, night man at Tunnel, drew Mills-ton nights on bulletin; relieved at Tunnel by Bro. Gray.

Mr. Stucke (non), day man at Tunnel, drew Zazel Park on July bulletin. Bro. Gray took the day job and Bro. Lamm, from East Seventh street, took the night trick.

Following are the assignments on the July bulletin:

VAN.

Wisconsin Division, Northern District—

The same time-worn complaint holds good, very few telegraphers have interested themselves sufficiently to write your correspondent a few lines as to what is going on in your immediate vicinity.

Bro. Kovarik has returned to his night work at Boardman, after spending a month's vacation in Minnesota.

Bro. Kleeman, from Boardman to Clear Lake nights, and Mr. Funne from Clear Lake to Warrens.

Bro. Marquette and wife have gone to house-keeping at Shell Lake, after a wedding trip which covered thousands of miles in the Western country. They paid visits to Yellowstone, Seattle, Portland, Salt Lake, Denver and Chicago. Bro. Marquette was married on July 16th to Miss Rosalie Beaudrie.

R. F. Barlow relieved Bro. Marquette at Shell Lake during the former's absence.

A. E. Cantley, Shell Lake, is off on account of illness; relieved by R. F. Barlow.

Chas. Beale laying off; relieved by Prof. Conrad at Haugen.

Bro. Berg, of Lakeside, taking a vacation; relieved by G. M. Morris, a beginner.

Bro. J. C. Wilkins drew Cable nights, on the July bulletin.

Understand that Mr. North has left the service, and Mr. Hollingsworth, of Cameron, has also bid us goodbye.

Bro. Balgord now performs as third day man in the Eau Claire office.

Bro. Blake, Itasca, is away recuperating, and Bro. Jacobs, regular night man there, working days. Don't know who is at Itasca nights.

It is with pleasure that we note the promotion of our ex-chief train dispatcher, W. J. Maloy, who has recently been made trainmaster for the Northern Pacific at Seattle, Wash.

P. M. Olson is back from Washington, where he had been employed with the N. P. P. M. now carries an up-to-date card and expects to be with us again in the near future.

Bro. W. J. Mills is back to work at Bayfield, after spending a few weeks at the bedside of his wife, who was ill.

Bros. L. C. Berg, A. W. Nordholm and L. McFarlane each spent some time at the Bayfield job.

Mr. Searing is back in harness again at Ashland Junction.

Bro. Kottke has taken up the duties of night man at East St. Paul, and Bro. Hoffman is now at Altoona, relieving Bro. Goss, who is on the sick list.

Bro. A. W. Nordholm relieved Mr. Posternock at Solon Springs, August 12.

When an appeal for help in a good cause reaches you, ponder seriously, then if you think you are not sufficiently strong to stand even a small contribution, throw the appeal aside and crawl into your shell. If there be a single man, holding an up-to-date card, who refuses to contribute, he has not yet mastered the rudiments of unionism. Help along these men and women who are in the present fight. Appeals for help will not be issued unless they are absolutely necessary.

New man, A. R. Chase, doing relief work now at New Richmond.

New names to add to the list of members: Bros. S. Ingebretson, R. C. Jones and W. E. Neitzel.

Most of the boys responded promptly to the first call by purchasing tickets for the benefit concert for Local No. 9, held at St. Paul on August 22. Div. Cor.

C., C., C. & St. L. Ry.

Cincinnati Division—

This division, like all others, has its quota of confirmed nons, and our greatest desire is to get them into line and a great effort is being made by a few loyal brothers to do so. But it seems as though they can not be convinced that it would be to their benefit to be the bearer of an up-to-date card, or else they will not acknowledge it. The character of some people is peculiar, indeed.

No doubt but what the motive of some of these peculiar characters in taking the negative side of this question is that it costs the sum of $9 to join the Order, and a matter of $12 or $15 a year to keep in good standing, and they think that they can reap the same benefit from the Order by remaining nons, as there are only a few of them, and they must admit that the man who contributes toward the cause, financially and fraternally, is just a little bit more of a man than they are.

The nons use various means and plans to shun the common-sense talk of an Order man. On one occasion a certain non on this division was approached by several of the boys, and asked why he didn't fall in line, and he said it was a good thing, and that he already had his application in, but it now develops that his application failed to reach headquarters, and he is still out in the cold. Certain telegraphers say they can not spare the money to join on account of sickness and other reasons. These excuses are three or four years old, and were dishd out when we attempted to organize on a former occasion.

The company is installing the eight-day lamps, and their coming is heralded with joy, as it means less walking and lamp cleaning.

Understand some of the brothers did ample justice to the pay-car this month on overtime, on account of having to double up.

Bro. Kehoe, days at Avenue, is off on a vacation.

Bro. Stewart, night man, is working days during Bro. Kehoe's absence. While a Mr. Compton, of Georgesville, is doing the owl act.

Bro. Justice, at Dennison avenue, is off a few nights. Being relieved by a Mr. Rowe of Columbus.

Bro. Dickinson, of Lilly Chapel, has charge of the agency at Catawba, Bro. Lippincott having resigned.

Bro. Shefton, of "ZO" nights, bid in the night job at Lilly Chapel.

Mr. Plymell, a new beginner, at "ZO" nights.

Mr. Harrison, Myers nights, resigned. Mr. Debolt, who hails from a W. U. office in Springfield, is doing the owl act.

Bro. Franklin, of Plattsburg, spent a few days in Columbus visiting friends.

Bro. Slagle, the night man at Plattsburg, is contemplating a two weeks' vacation.

Bro. Brown, of Brooks, resigned to go back to the green hills of West Virginia, where eight-hour jobs are plentiful.

Bro. Howser, an old C., H. & D. man, at Brooks nights.

Bro. Stabler at Brooks, had to double a couple of nights on account of no night man.

Bro. Rogers of "AK" tower, Springfield, took a trip to Sandusky the other Sunday.

Bro. Armstrong the night owl at "AK" tower, Springfield, is contemplating a two weeks' vacation in August.

Bro. Laughrey, of "YK" tower, took a trip to Detroit, Mich., on the D., T. & I.

Among our loyal brothers along this pike we have a jeweler, Bro. Runyan, at Moorefield, ready at all times for a job of watch repairing.

Bro. Stephenson, of West Chester, and Bro. Bestel, of Middletown, spent a day at the Miami Valley Chautauqua at Franklin, in company with a couple of estimable young ladies of Plattsburg.

Bro. Littler, of Lackland nights, has resigned and gone to Nebraska to oversee his farm.

There is quite a scarcity of telegraphers on this division on account of the eight-hour inducements existing on other roads.

"Q" office, Miamisburg; "BM" office, Middletown, Lilly Chapel and Brooks nights, and Catawba days, bulletined open.

Bro. Engle has resigned at "Q" tower to accept a position with the Friend Paper Co. He was relieved by Bro. Hayes.

Bro. G. W. Whitlock did the night stunt at West Carrollton while Bro. Stevick was off on his vacation.

Bro. Smith, of South Siding, is relieving Bro. Swartz at Dayton yard. He is enjoying a vacation.

A number of positions were advertised during the past month which were, with the exception of one, all interlocking stations, and are paying overtime which amounts to $7.50 per month. Brothers, these are promotions if it's the cash you are looking after.

Mr. W. H. Keever, night man at Osborn, has asked for the necessary blanks and will be found with the proper credentials soon.

Bro. Holtzman, of "Q" tower, spent a few days with Bro. Justice at Columbus.

Mr. Stork is filling the position at Catawba nights. Have been unable to find out whether he has a card or not.

Bro. Dickinson, of Lilly Chapel, bid in the agency at Catawba. Bro. Lippincott having resigned. Div. Cor.

Peoria Division, West—

Bro. Schlosser, our genial and efficient local chairman, has resigned, and we understand has accepted a better position on the P. & R. May he ever prosper and his light never grow less, is the wish of the "boys" on the P. & E. This brother has served us faithfully and worked untiringly to help us pull through our struggles of the past year, which he has done very successfully. Furthermore, in this brief sketch we wish to thank him again for his straightforward services and sincerely say, "Well done."

While we regret losing Bro. Schlosser, the vacancy of local chairman has been filled by just as efficient and loyal a member in the person of Bro. Peckenpaugh, day telegrapher of Troy, Ohio. Now, boys, get acquainted with our new officer, and give him all the support possible. Let us be ever ready to assist and pull together. Remember, let's keep the grand old O. R. T. banner floating full to the breeze, and be with the crowd at the front.

Bro. Peck, regular "boss" at Lilly, has been working at Mahomet until Relief Agent Mr. Geo. Newlin, of Newcastle, could be on hand to relieve him. Bro. Peck was relieved by Bro. Rollings, of Rising, who was relieved by Bro. Hemming from the east end. Bro. Peck is a hustling member and has been appointed by the local chairman to look after the nons around Pekin and Peoria personally. They certainly need attention.

Bro. Houligan has taken up the agency work at New Ross, relieving Bro. Meade, who resigned to seek other employment. We are sorry to lose Harry, but hope he has a position that brings him more compensation.

Bro. Livengood relieved by Extra Agent Mr. J. B. Howard for a couple of weeks, has returned to his regular duties. Bro. E. E. reports his vacation a very pleasant one and finds the lake breeze quite invigorating.

Bro. Deakin is absent from his duties until about October 1, or an indefinite time to improve his health, which we are glad to hear is much better, and hope he will soon be with us a "blooming sound man." Chicago has been his resort for three weeks, but at present writing has returned to Fithian to visit relatives.

Bro. Firebaugh is off on a week's vacation; relieved by Mr. Howard, relief agent. He, likewise, expects to spend a few days of recreation at the "Lakes."

Bro. Pinegar is rejoicing over the remodeling of his depot, which the company have completed lately.

We have one veteran member on the pike known to your correspondent, Bro. Smith, agent at Muncie, a "grand old man," owner of up-to-date cards since 1886, beginning with Indianapolis Grand Division, and working for different railroads ever since. Was with the Chicago and Northwestern for fourteen years, during that time they got their first schedule.

Bro. Vance, telegrapher at Mound City Pit, met with a very serious and painful accident which was a narrow escape from death. He was in the act of delivering an "order," and in some way fell under the wheels of a fast-moving freight train, almost severing one of his limbs, that member being removed at Burnham Hospital at Campaign, where he was taken after the accident, and is now getting along nicely, we are more than glad to hear. He will be in condition to be with us soon. He certainly will be given our welcome.

Bro. Smith has been off duty at "DH" tower days, the past three weeks, visiting his parents, Bro. Smith and wife, at Muncie. He will return to work August 10. I am unable to learn who was relieving him.

Mr. E. T. Linn, of Mace, and Mr. C. W. Martin, night telegrapher at Urbana yards, have both promised to be members soon.

"Skidoo" for the students and nons. What can be their hope on the P. & E.

The social meeting of recent date at Fithian office with Bro. Berkeley, was quite an enjoyable one. Several of the boys were present. Refreshments were served and a good talk on unionism was made by Bro. Schlosser, who was present. Another such meeting will be held soon at St. Joseph with Bro. Firebaugh. I would urge all who can possibly do so to attend, as I believe such meetings will prove a benefit to the members. Notice of date of meeting will be given.

Bro. Berkeley is making arrangements to be off on a couple of weeks' vacation, spending a few days at the Jamestown Exposition, Washington, D. C., Chicago, and at home for a short time before returning to work.

I think it is a good plan if the members would just drop a line or two to the local correspondent every month, to be sent with the write-up for THE TELEGRAPHER.

If any have been left out in this write-up, please don't blame the writer, for news are exceedingly difficult to secure when one can not hear from the members. CERT. 398.

P. and E., East End—

We have missed one or two months' write-up in the journal for the reason that no one seems to care whether there is any news from this division or not. One man can't keep posted on all the changes without help, so please help out, so we can be represented in each month's issue.

Bro. Cecil, who has been doing the night stunt at Durbin, has left us and returned to the Illinois Central, Mr. J. J. Scofield taking his place. Mr. Scofield promises to be with us in the near future.

Bro. T. C. McCaslin, agent at New Carlisle, will leave us in a few days. He is going to work for the Pennsylvania Company. We wish him luck. Have not yet heard who is going to relieve him.

Bro. E. P. Cooper, night man at New Carlisle, has also left us, says he is going West. Bro. E. N. Bower, from the C. & E. I. Division, No. 34, is relieving him.

Bro. N. F. Stork, Troy nights, has left for the East, Bro. G. N. Kerr relieving him. Bro. Kerr at present is laying off on account of being sick. Mr. Fragan, of Ludlow Falls, is doing the owl stunt. Mr. Fragan will be with us as soon as he has worked long enough at the business.

Bro. J. E. Miller, day man at Arcanum, had quite a narrow escape a few days ago during a storm. The lightning struck the telephone wires and ran into the depot, and, as Bro. Miller was working on the wire at the same time, he got the full benefit of the shock, laying him up for a few days, but he's back again performing his duties.

Bro. Earl Odell, days at Lynn, was off on a few days' vacation recently.

Understand Bro. V. T. Johnson is going to leave "RN" tower nights, to take charge of Marion days, on the C., C. & L.

Understand Bro. E. C. Spittler, at Losantville, intends taking a vacation soon. We wish him a pleasant time.

Bro. R. E. Lund has been off on a few days' vacation.

Bro. J. C. Fraizer, Newcastle nights, has resigned. He is going to Baltimore.

Have not heard who takes Bro. Fraizer's place.

There are a few of the boys who are not paying up as they should. It is the first thing one should think of. Pay up so that when you get among the boys you will not have to give them some kind of a hard luck story to square yourself. A card is not the only thing it takes to make an Order man, it is the work you put behind it, and the interest you take in the work. CERT. 564.

St. Louis Division, East—

Another month has rolled away, and it is with great pleasure and satisfaction we look back and see how our noble Order has grown on this division in the last six months. We are almost solid at this writing, and in six months more we will be solid from one end of the line to the other.

Of course, we still have a few nons left, but they are all ready to come in soon as they see the pay-car a few times.

Understand there have been some changes made at Avon lately, Wm. Barker has been appointed agent and Bro. O. A. Hurin day telegrapher, and Bro. E. C. Bales night man. Perhaps Mr. Barker will take out a card later on.

The night office at Sunny Side has been closed for some time.

Mr. M. O. Denny, at Danville, and Mr. B. Tincher, at Hadley, both promise to be members long before this goes to press.

Bro. R. N. May transferred from Hadley to Perth nights, relieving Kid Allen.

"13" G. E. Gray, at Fontanet, can be called brother now.

Telegrapher R. M. Hall transferred from "JB" to Fontanet. He promises to fill out the papers pay-day.

Ed. Allen, of "D" days, is relieving Third Trick Dispatcher Walker on the west end for a few days. Ed. was relieved by Telegrapher Buchanan.

Bro. L. C. Adams is back, after a thirty days' vacation. It was a mistake about him leaving the service.

Bro. Hammer, of Burnett, resigned; relieved by Bro. Ball.

Telegrapher J. B. Reynolds, alias Tullis, transferred from Burnett to "FS" nights; relieved by Bro. R. E. Cowger, from the C. & E. I.

Div. Cor.

St. Louis Division, West—

Bros. Tonkinson and Davis, Lenox tower, off for a few days; relieved in turn by Mr. Huebner.

Understand Sister Mary Carroll, Nameokj days, has gone to Missouri.

Bro. Delong, Dorseys, visited at Piasa Chautauqua.

Bro. Robbins, Granite City, laying off; relieved by Bro. Smith.

Bro. W. C. Carroll, from Hillsboro tower nights, to "DI," Mattoon, days, while boys in that office are laying off. Will probably be signed regular nights at "DI."

J. W. Munday, extra man working nights at Hillsboro tower, will be carrying a card and wearing a button as big as a saucer before this gets into print.

Bro. J. B. Taylor, "SI" days, left for parts unknown; relieved by Mr. Henderson, who manages to subsist on about two meals in twenty-four hours, pumping a car two miles for them.

Mr. J. W. Crouch, an ex-brother, off for a few days; relieved by night man, Bro. Cook, who in turn is relieved by a Mr. Scott, another man fallen from grace, but promises to make good soon.

What got wrong with E. A. Hill. He used to carry a card, but since he got to be agent at Gays, he don't seem to need one, and also feels it his duty to carry a few students as a side line, just to make things interesting for the rest of us along the line, especially about practice time.

Can any one say why McLean and Shanks, at Tower Hill, can't be induced to come across. Both old heads, and have had at least $10 raise on strength of the work of the O. R. T., and now they are making some more good money on meal hours daily, more than enough to pay all dues, now just why?

Wanted, a good receipt for putting the lid on the famous old ham factory town of Windsor.

Cor.

Sandusky Division—

Telegrapher Evans, who has been working at Belle Center for some time, has resigned to accept a position on the Cincinnati Division.

Bro. Stokes, night owl at Huntsville, was off for a few nights on account of sickness in his family. We are unable to learn particulars.

Mr. Smith, night man at Kenton, has been taking a few nights off, with Telegrapher Long, of Forest, relieving him.

Bro. Huston, formerly with the Big Four at Kenton, now night man at T. & O. C. Kenton was around with old friends a few days this month.

Bro. Royer, day man at Tiffin, made a business trip to Fort Wayne, Ind., a few days ago.

New night man at Green Springs Junction, Nickel Plate crossing, but we are unable to find out his name at present.

We were pleased to gaze upon a fine schedule, lately secured by the T. & O. C. Ry. Let the good work go on.

We are now having quite a number of excursions to Cedar Point on Sandusky Bay, over this division, and all seem to be crowded.

Let us keep an eye on the present strike of our brothers, the commercial telegraphers, as they have the right idea, and victory is sure to be theirs. This strike will show what a factor the telegraphers are to the business world. If called upon to help in any way let every one give them hearty support.

Not much doing on this division this month, so our news will be a little shy, but will try to do better next issue. CERT. 364.

Cairo Division, South End—

The first meeting of the Cairo Division was held at Mt. Carmel, August 5, and was enjoyed by all who attended, although I "13" the attendance was rather small. For the first meeting they had a good time, and got acquainted just the same. Now, boys, as our meetings have just commenced we should do all in our power to make them a success and a pleasure, and we can do this by regular attendance.

I am very sorry I did not get to attend our first meeting, but think I will have the pleasure of attending our next one, which takes place at Mt. Carmel, September 2.

Now, let's go and see what they do at an O. R. T. meeting. I never was at one and I am sure I will learn and be benefited by going, and so will everyone else who attends.

Bro. Duncan, former agent and telegrapher at Texas City, resigned to go to the Illinois Central. The vacancy was filled by Bro. Lewis, an up-to-date man. We regret to lose Bro. Duncan, as he was a good worker and assisted us wonderfully in our write-ups. We wish him success wherever he may land.

Bro. Thompson, former telegrapher at "DS" nights, resigned to go West. Vacancy filled by Bro. Moreau, an old head.

Bro. Moreau has a brother working nights at "CA," who is an up-to-date man also, and I "13" he is after his partner, Mr. Gus Schrader, non, and several more nons in his locality. Mr. Schrader seems to have a very hard shell, as most everyone has failed to crack it, but I hope he will see that he is deriving as much benefit from our struggles as any one, and come through. We hope to make this division solid in a few weeks. I have the promise of two applications, Mr. Gwin, owl at Gossett, and Mr. Carter, owl at Eldorado, just as soon as they can get the dough, and I know these boys mean to join, too.

We have a lady working with us now on the night shift. "13" she is a non, but we hope to convert her soon.

Mr. Moore, nights at Cowling, "CG," has sent for his card.

Bro. Kisner, who was married recently and took his honeymoon on the Niagara Falls excursion, has resumed duty. We wish Bro. Tony worlds of joy, success and happiness. Mr. Hart, who relieved Bro. Tony, has sent for his card, so I "13."

Bro. Allen, regular night man at Texas City, "CX," is off for a few nights on account of the sudden illness of his sister. He is being relieved by Mr. Fagen, non. Mr. Fagen says he will join as soon as he gets the dough. Nobody.

Michigan Division—

Our constitution requires that each division have a local board of adjustments, therefore our local chairman, Bro. E. L. Becker, of Goshen, has appointed the following brothers to act on said board: Bro. E. L. Becker; Bro. Geo. Larengood, of Alexandria; Bro. H. S. Walters, of La Fontaine; Bro. R. Leffel, of North Manchester; Bro. C. M. Long, of Leesburg, and Bro. E. E. Middlekamp, of Jonesboro. Bro. Geo. Larengood to act as secretary.

The above has been forwarded to the general chairman for his approval. We trust that this selection is perfectly satisfactory to all, and in return can assure you that your grievances will be adjusted in the best way possible.

Glad to report that Mr. Joe Michael, agent at Milroy; J. W. Ferverda, telegrapher at "HN," and J. A. Walters, of Silver Lake, can now be taken off the nons' list, and be listed as up-to-date men.

The writer wishes to receive items from the boys on this division. It is almost impossible to keep posted as to all the changes without the aid of the members. I'll assure you anything you can scare up at all will be highly appreciated. Send your notes to "WA."

I would like to call your attention to the fact that we have too many students along the line. Brothers, go after the man next to you, and if he has a student give him a song that will ever remain fresh in his memory. We must put more vim into this business. Don't go to sleep and leave one or two of us to do all of the work. Worry the life out of the nons, that's the only way we can ever secure their applications.

The following positions have been advertised in the past month: Soders, agency; Goshen nights, and North Vernon nights.

We are grieved to hear of the serious illness of Bro. Becker's sister. All wish her speedy recovery.

Bro. King, who has been doing the owl act at Goshen, has been transferred to "VN" nights.

Two or three more old trainmen have been laid off because they could not come up to the standard on examination on colors. Boys, give this a deep thought, are we getting enough so we can put aside something for the time when our eyes, too, shall fail. Think it over.

Enough said for this time. Please let me hear from one and all, so the next issue will teem with news from Michigan Division. Ed.

Indianapolis Division—

Owing to making a change last month it was impossible to get anything to the journal, but as I am settled down now at this busy little "OS" burg, where the excitement sometimes runs to fever heat, especially when a train stops to drench some hogs, I think, with the boys' help, I will be able to get something written every month. We are getting them lined-up in good shape, and with the several who have promised to go in in September it ought to make us pretty solid. That's the proper spirit, boys, as we'll need you next winter.

Come on in, the water's fine.

Cut out the students, boys. Don't be an incubator.

Bro. Hanks, from the T. & O. C., called on us a few days ago. Says everything solid over there.

Bro. Hess took in the meeting at Indianapolis the 26th.

Bro. Rookey King is now at Versailles nights.

I can't get a line from the boys east of Bellefontaine, so I guess they will have to look out for themselves.

Bro. Neff, from the C. & O., is home on a visit. He says that's the place to work, and good treatment is accorded.

We notice some of the boys are not taking advantage of the meal clause, only at times when they think they can make the overtime. Don't do this, boys, demand your forty-five minutes every day, or they will think we do not want it.

Bro. Arbuckle, on a vacation, has returned to Harrisville as brown as a berry. De Brosse returned to nights.

Bro. Lee Foster is no longer a volunteer, but a regular at East yards. Former night man has resigned.

Bennett is back at "DX" tower. McCarthy, who relieved him, has been sent to Elroy nights.

Chief Train Dispatcher Buchanan has been laid up for a few days with a fever. We all hope he will soon be O. K. again.

Division No. 138 held an interesting meeting at Indianapolis, July 26. Fourth Vice-President Bro. J. J. Dermody favored us with his presence, calling the meeting to order about 2 o'clock p. m. About fourteen members were present. Brothers, this will not do. You missed an interesting and instructive address by Bro. Dermody. If you would attend these meetings you would learn something to your interest.

More next time.

Bro. Lampkin relieved Bro. Dore at Warrensburg, Bro. Dore going to Gasconade as agent.

Bro. Canfield, formerly at Gasconade, relieved Bro. Clifford at Little Blue until Bro. Davis is able to resume duty.

Bro. Clifford relieved Bro. Taylor at Lamonte, a few nights.

Bro. W. H. Davis, owl at Gasconade, off a few nights; relieved by W. D. Davis, of Berger.

Bro. Reid, agent at Strasburg, is taking thirty days off, and is being relieved by C. Clawson.

Bro. Williams, Lupus nights, on sick list; relieved by Bro. Bass.

Bro. Bobbitt, agent at Blackwater, is off on vacation, being relieved by Bro. Crockett, of Boonville.

Bro. Johnson, agent at Napoleon, is seeing St. Louis, and is being relieved by Mr. Barnhouse.

Bro. E. R. Collins, an old Missouri Pacific boy, but now at Pacific on the Frisco, visited his old friend, Bro. Dore, at Gasconade recently.

E. F. Maus has secured the day job at Cole Junction, regular.

Bro. McClain, nights at Holden, is seeing Colorado, and is being relieved by Bro. Clifford.

Bro. Cromer, nights at Pacific, who has been on the sick list for several weeks, made us a visit of several days.

Bro. Thompson, nights at Greenwood, has been on the sick list, and was relieved by J. K. Hobbs.

Mr. Hobbs is now holding down the yard at Sedalia until Mr. Canfield gets back from Little Blue.

Bro. F. J. Conger, formerly telegrapher at Rock Creek, has resigned, and gone to work for Uncle Sam at Kansas City. Bro. Conger says he does not expect to return to railroad work until conditions are much better, and salaries some higher.

We are very sorry to lose Bro. Conger, but of course we are glad to see him better his condition, and wish him much success.

At Terminals, St. Louis, we have Bro. Zetche, relieving Bro. Sitzman.

At Tower Grove we have Bro. Powell days, Bro. Smith nights.

Bro. Bonnell, Lake Junction, is touring the East, and is being relieved by Bro. J. H. Glynn.

Bro. J. H. Glynn is being relieved at Kirkwood by Bro. J. J. Glynn. Bro. O'Meara is holding down the day job at Kirkwood.

I had the pleasure of riding as far as Independence with Bro. Seal, one of our committeemen, last week.

I am just in receipt of a copy of our new schedule, and our committee is to be congratulated, as well as all the boys on the system.

It is getting to be a chestnut to ask the boys to furnish me with the news at their respective stations, as they seem determined not to do so, but I would appreciate it very much if each member would take the time and trouble to do so.

I am under many obligations to Bros. Davis, Palmer, Crockett and Jones for the interest they take, and only wish that we had a few more members who would take half the interest in the Order these members do. I have my work to do, same as the rest, and it's an impossibility for me to secure all the news, and the brothers can blame themselves if they are not mentioned.

W. L. W.

L. and S. Division—

Many changes have taken place at Webb City in the last month, and can not keep track of them. That office seems to be a hoo-doo, but the $10 raise will probably draw some man into it permanently. Night office at Webb City seems to be closed indefinitely.

Bro. C. H. Walz, day telegrapher at Carthage, took a ten days' vacation and spent it in the mountains of Colorado.

Have great hopes of landing Mrs. Baker, of Jasper, on the strength of the new schedule.

E. S. Slater has taken Lamar days regular.

Mr. J. H. Chenoweth took Lamar nights for a short time, but is now at Butler nights, relieving Bro. Pullaus, who took the day trick at that point in place of Mr. Geiger, who went West to settle on his claim.

Bro. C. V. Rowe, of Irwin, has been on the sick list quite a spell this past month, consequently his duties as local chairman have been neglected. During his absence he was relieved by his worthy better half.

Mr. C. B. Wildman, our former trainmaster at Nevada, has been transferred to Van Buren, and Mr. L. B. McQiery, from the N. & M. Division, takes his place.

Mr. D. H. Robinson, former chief dispatcher, goes to the N. & M. as trainmaster. Understand Dispatcher Jack Furgeson takes the chiefship.

The boys in general regret Mr. Robinson's transfer, as all considered him a very fair and impartial chief, but will probably find Mr. Furgeson to be O. K.

Mr. A. G. Guinn, agent at Panama, keeps saying he will come across, although he has let two or three pay-days float by. Still, we hope to land him when he looks at his increase.

Bro. P. K. Lane, day telegrapher at Rich Hill, is off on a vacation, being relieved by Mr. Fortune, former night man.

Bro. Joe Livesay is doing the owl trick at Rich Hill.

Bro. R. E. Patterson has bid in the day job at Adrain.

Bro. McNamara having gone to Mound City as agent the night office at Adrain is still closed.

We received the first news of our new schedule today and the boys seem to be very well satisfied with the work of the committee. We wonder how the nons feel. Don't hardly see how they can withstand the pleadings of our brother members to get them to join the O. R. T., but we suppose the same old "hard luck" story will be shoved at us.

CERT. 481.

Southern Kansas Division—

Brothers: Didn't see anything in the August TELEGRAPHER from the Southern Kansas, but, nevertheless, we yet claim to be the banner division in all that pertains to support of the organization. Since last writing, Bros. R. L. Livingstone, Lorne E. Gartley, G. H. Fish, and R. G. Meringerode have taken service with this company and have showed the right spirit by getting their up-to-dates. Have two or three others coming, and, possibly, now that we have the new schedule, granting them increases, Agents Stryker at Buffalo, and Jones at Belleplaine, may feel ashamed of accepting something from us, and giving nothing in return, and meet us on the square.

Remember we still have the two "Katy" men with us, L. Pelton at Niotaze, and Ernest Sharp at Milton.

Our ex-brother, M. A. Spencer, agent at Peru, who has been drawing $85 and $7.50 per month overtime for so long, must be in bad with the management, as he suffered a $10 cut in the new schedule. Too bad, we get so short-sighted.

Our new schedule went into effect August 1, but is still far from what we should have and will get, if you will adopt the war cry of our commercial brothers in their hour of distress, and "stick." What a world of meaning is contained in those five letters. What an organization we would have been had we always "stuck," and what a flood of bitter memories it brings up to the "old-timers" on the Missouri Pacific, who haven't "stuck."

For fifteen long years we have been working under a schedule, ours is one of the very first roads ever scheduled, and instead of being a leader, we have been a follower, ever waiting for some other line to blaze the way.

Let us be thankful for what we have. Give both the company and the organization the best there is in us, and prepare for the future.

Take "stick" as your motto. See that there are no nons, and get our general committee in by the first of next March, instructed to stand out for law enforcement and for one day's rest in seven.

SWAIN, Local Chairman.

Northern Pacific Railway.

Yellowstone Division—

Up to date have not received any notes from any of the district correspondents for the next journal, so guess it is up to me to see what I can do.

Bro. Smoot is in St. Paul again, expect he will be back at Mandan in time for the next write-up, and would like to have the correspondents mail their notes to him in the future.

Bro. Follansbee returned from Pasco, and says the Yellowstone Division is good enough for him. He worked at Rosebud for a few nights and is now at Forsythe.

Bro. M. J. Anderson transferred from Forsythe to Glenullen days.

Telegrapher Hartley from Glenullen to Waco. Hartley was a former brother and we expect him to be signing up the papers again soon.

Bro. Pope, days at Glenullen, is away on a vacation.

Two new members on the Third District that I know of for this month, Sister Sullivan at Hoyt, and Bro. Pederson at Rosebud. This makes the Third District solid, with the exception of Long at Fallon, and Miss Swinehart at Tusler. Miss Swinehart may have signed the papers, as she has been intending to do so. As near as I can find out the whole division is in about as good a condition, and hope we will soon be able to say that the Yellowstone is solid. Let every one work to that end.

At present we are all very much interested in the strike of the C. T. U. of A. boys, and from all we can hear they are in a very fair way of winning out. We should give them all the help possible, as their victory will be a great help to our Order.

We receive W. U. messages here by U. S. mail. That shows the company's story of everything being in a normal condition, to be very far from the truth. Here's hoping that the boys win out, and we should all be ready to aid them in a financial way if called upon to do so.

Bro. Greene, days at Huntley, is away on vacation. Bro. Nippert, formerly on night shift, now days, and Sister Pennewell on nights. There have been a number of changes lately, but have been too busy to keep track of them. This is something the correspondents should do for their districts. They should also ascertain if the new men coming on their districts are members, and if not should take up with Bro. Smoot.

This will be all for this time, and hope you will all help Bro. Smoot to have a good write-up next time, and that he will be able to tell us something about our new schedule.

H.

Fargo Division—

Bro. Stevens is showing his fist at Oriska now days.

Bro. Sprague, Sanborn days, off on a vacation, night man relieving him and Telegrapher Miles working nights.

New man at Eckelson nights, name Anderson; off Soo Line. Don't know how he stands, but hope he is O. K.

Bro. Sprague, Mapleton days, off on vacation. Bro. Burnett, night man at Mapleton, working days, and Bro. Cheadle on nights.

We notice several changes in offices at Fargo. Names not known.

There seem to be several hams going out to work in the last few days. It surely can't be that some good O. R. T. brother is making a ham factory out of his office. If so, he ought to know by this time that it never will pay him as well to do this kind of business as it would to put a stop to them blocking trains and doing nearly all the wire work.

Telegrapher Spencer from nights Eckelson to LaMoure days.

If the rest of the boys would send me a few lines it would help a great deal.

CERT. 711.

St. Paul Division—

Bro. Walters has accepted agency at Westport.

Bro. Hark, from Cable days, to St. Cloud to fill vacancy left by Bro. Walters.

Bro. McDonald, Rives nights, to Cable days. "13" Bro. Durgin, from Watab, will go to Cable as soon as he returns from his vacation, which he is spending at his home in Iowa.

Bro. Larkin is relieving Bro. Durgin at Watab.

Bro. Quinn has just returned from a ten days' vacation spent with his brother at Winnipeg. Reports a good time.

We are much pleased to hear of the speedy recovery of Bro. Boon, at Sartells, who had to undergo an operation. Bro. Weber relieved him and will probably be assigned the position permanently.

Bro. McDonough, Little Falls, took a few days off; relieved by regular relief agent Lowe.

Lady operator at Cushing nights. Unable to learn her name.

Understand we have several offices resembling ham factories, and brothers managing them, too. Cut this out, boys, or you will hear something more definite in the near future. One brother on the east end seems to think there is no harm in it as long as they are nice young ladies, with an ever-ready smile for him.

Bro. Smith relieved Bro. Quinn at "UK." From there to Big Lake nights.

Understand Anaka nights is open at present.

By the time this goes into print we will probably have reports on what our committee has done. They are in session at present, and expect to meet the management in a week or two.

Was unable to get any items from the west end or branch. Some of you boys wake up and let us hear from you every month.

CERT. 782.

St. L., I. M. & S. Ry.

Arkansas Division—

Well, brothers, the time that we have all looked forward to has at last arrived. With a revised schedule that benefits every telegrapher on the system, some more than others, according to the stations that mostly needed it. We waited a long time for this increase in pay, but it comes in good when we get it. Too much praise can not be given to our worthy committee that represented us in St. Louis, and secured an increase that far exceeded those of the past. Now we should show our appreciation by remitting our dues and extra assessment promptly. And, again, let us show the company that we appreciate the increase by giving them first-class service. Answer the dispatcher promptly, and be ready at all times to give the dispatcher any information that will assist him in moving trains. I do not say this because I think we are being overpaid, as that is not the case. The telegraphers, as a whole, are yet an under-paid class of men, but our committee has seen fit to accept this schedule as our present working conditions and wage scale, and we are in duty bound to render good service in return, not only that, but it pays to do it. How much better is it for our representative to be in a position to say, when he comes to arguing your position, "We have a good, reliable man at that place worthy of more pay. He knows how to take care of the company's business and does it. We can not afford to lose him."

The telegraphers who have supported us in the present schedule deserve thanks for their support. It takes time, hard work and money to secure a new schedule, all of which must come from the telegraphers.

Now, let's see if you nons don't see your mistake and fall in line; all of you received an increase. I know you are not going to refuse the increase, and you should act in the same manner in securing an up-to-date card.

There have been only two brothers sent me items during the past two months. Now you know I can not give you a successful write-up in the journal without your assistance. There have been numerous changes all over the Arkansas and Pine Bluff Divisions in the past month. With the exception of two instances I have not received a line relating to any of them. It only takes a few minutes of your time each month to do this. You certainly can give that much to a good cause. Mail me your items before the 25th of each month, and give me a list of changes at your station.

There has been quite a change in hours and salaries in "CF" office, Little Rock. Bro. H. F. LeGrande, manager, $110; hours, 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. Bro. J. W. Quiggins, chief, $95; hours, 4 p. m. to 12 midnight. Mr. Baldwin, $92.50; hours, 12 midnight to 8 a. m.

Bros. W. D. Laing, H. F. Villars, J. A. Ward, W. B. Sowell, J. T. Turnipseed, W. A. McCully, and Telegrapher T. A. Rice, $90.

Bro. W. T. Puller, $87.50; Bro. H. G. Breneman, $87.50; Bro. J. F. Smade, $85.

These are a few of the increases our general committee secured for us. Now, boys, quit your knocking, pay up your dues and stand by the Order. If you can not say something good of your brother telegrapher, say nothing. Don't be a knocker.

The committee also secured one additional telegrapher in "CF" office, and a minimum of $85. The telegraphers in "CF" are very thankful for their increase.

Before ringing off there is one more item I want to mention to those that it concerns, "the ham factory," our very worst enemy. Now, brothers, there is no use of my going into details on this serious question. You know it is wrong and the harm that will come from it. In the first place you are violating your obligation with the Order; again, you are only cutting your own throat. The very person you teach will, in nine cases out of ten, take your job in case of trouble. It has been proven time and again. The man who spends his time teaching students, not only neglects his duty to the company and Order, but also to his family. Better not get too many irons in the fire, you may burn your fingers.

C. A. LaFORGE.

Illinois Division—

The Illinois Division seems to have an opening for a real live division correspondent. Don't all speak at once.

Bro. C. J. Kennedy has quit us at Bixby. Understand he has gone to work for the Cotton Belt as a clerk.

Quite a number of changes just prior to the new schedule, but the boys will likely settle down now.

Valmeyer has two new arrivals, both up-to-date. They are Bro. O. F. Hall, days, and Bro. H. H. Hall, nights, from Frisco Division, No. 32.

Bro. Gwinup, at Prairie du Rocher, is very much pleased over his increase, and he has about decided to make it permanent. Bro. M. J. Flannigan is the new night man there.

Bro. G. W. Stonington was lately transferred to Modoc agency, from Prairie du Rocher nights. Modoc also got a good increase.

Mr. C. E. Allen and Bro. Renfro both have left Chester for other fields.

Bro. Brenneman, from Gorham, goes to Chester days, in place of Mr. Allen, and Bro. I. D. Underwood, from Bush, takes the night job.

Bro. F. A. Roberson goes to Gorham days, regular, and Bro. Cooper, from Bush, returns there nights.

Bro. Dodds, a new arrival from the Big Four, goes to Bush days, and Bro. Deshon to Bush nights.

Bro. A. T. McKenzie, at Herrin, has renewed his standing among the boys, which we are all glad to see.

The Illinois Division is strictly up-to-date. Only two nons left after Bro. Holman's visit.

Bro. W. A. Lippard has accepted the agency at Gorham. We are glad to see him promoted, as he deserves it.

We are going to give you something from the Illinois Division regularly, as this duty of division correspondent has been neglected long enough.

R. A. F.

Pine Bluff Division—

I have searched each publication of THE TELEGRAPHER diligently for a write-up from the Iron Mountain, but all in vain, so I take it upon myself to let the boys know we are still in the land of the living.

Things are running smoothly, at least on the Pine Bluff Division. Everyone seems to be well pleased with the new schedule.

Our division is solid, with the exception of three or four, and they have promised to join us soon. However, suppose they are enjoying the full benefits of the new schedule.

W. L. Smith, working nights at Varner, has recently filled out application blanks.

Let's keep the good thing going, and don't stop until we are solid through and through.

There has been several changes lately.

Telegrapher Wall, days at Samples, goes to Redfield for a few weeks, relieving Bro. Coleman, who has gone to the hospital. Have not learned who relieved Mr. Wall.

New office opened at Gould and being held down by Mr. A. A. Byarlay.

"13" Agent Tillar is on the sick list.

Bro. D. F. Byrd, formerly nights at Pine Bluff, is now working days, relieving Bro. Ellis Bryan, who resigned and is now with the H. & T. C.

Bro. Byrd relieved by Bro. Hart, formerly of Argenta.

Now, boys, let's not stop with our $5 and $10 raise, but keep on and get the eight-hour law enforced. It is the law, why not obey it. Texas has it, why not Arkansas? VOLUNTEER.

B. & O. Ry.

New Castle Division—

The eight-hour rumor is with us again, and we hope it develops more strength this time than it did when it was with us in June.

Bro. Robinson, New Castle Junction days, has returned to work after an absence of three weeks in the Northern woods, and reports a fine time. Bro. Woods, who relieved Bro. Robinson going to New Castle side-wires, second trick, while Bro. Pfeil relieves Mr. Griffin as wire chief, Mr. Griffin taking a vacation.

Bro. J. L. Johnson, from Erie, No. 42, is working nights at Lowellville, Bro. Maloney not being able to resume duty. We hope for Bro. Maloney's speedy recovery.

Bro. Flory having resigned from Haselton nights, Mr. Hynes is working the "snap" while position is being advertised.

Bro. Davis, Ohio Junction days, has gone on a three weeks' vacation in New York State; relieved by Mr. T. C. Cahill.

Bro. Taylor, agent at Wayland, was assigned to "FS" tower nights, on last bulletin, but has not yet taken the position, Bro. Fisher still doing the night stunt.

Bro. Green, first trick "NE" tower was obliged to turn down a tempting offer from the Pennsylvania Co. of a position in their signal department on account of sickness in the family.

Bro. Reid, agent at Monroe Falls, is taking a vacation in the upper lakes; relieved by Bro. Alexander, clerk at Cuyahoga Falls, Mr. Fowler working alone during Bro. Alexander's absence.

Lake Division is still doing a large business, 675 cars of ore being loaded at Fairport in one day, which is a record for that point.

Mr. Ashwell, State Road nights, has resigned, but have not heard who takes his place.

Bro. Bob Childs Warren, P. P. & F., has been given a clerk, which he has needed for so long.

Changes on Lake Division being few, our write-up this month will be rather limited, but Bro. Browning is always on hand with the Lake Division doings.

The balance of these items are what were furnished (?) from west of Akron.

UNCLE TOM.

Cleveland Division—

Bro. "Si," the regular write-up artist, is enjoying his annual vacation, and it puts it up to some one else to represent the Cleveland Division this month. I'll make a stab at it and give you a brief write-up of events since the last issue.

At our meeting, held in Massillon, August 16, a fair number of the boys turned out, but not as many as were expected. Sorry to say I was unable to be present, but my excuse is no doubt acceptable, as sickness prevented me from being on hand. This, however, is not the cause for several of the other boys not showing up. Entirely too many do not consider the importance of attending meetings. You are aware of the fact that you are not in touch with division affairs if you fail to attend meetings. One brother, I can refer you to who is able to get to Massillon almost any night during the month, but can not get there meeting night. The new brothers who have recently joined have not put in an appearance. Would like to see all on deck the next call. The time is not far distant when our committee goes to Baltimore to meet the management. Come with your grievance and do your knocking to Bro. McCoy, and he will take your case up. After the schedule has been revised and signed, there is no opportunity for kicking for another year.

A new brother, R. H. Johnson, has been appointed agent and telegrapher at Boston Mills, relieving a Mr. Huber. The Valley boys will be happy to see this change, as Mr. Huber could not be induced to join our ranks.

Bro. Tom Davis, formerly on Bridge 80, is back for a short visit with friends around Massillon.

Bro. Darland, of Canton Scales, who has been working side-wire in "CS" office for two months, has returned to the old job at Canton. The new man taking his place signs "M." Don't know his name.

Bro. Stafford, Lorraine days, is taking a long-needed rest; relieved by Mr. Snyder, of New Philadelphia, who promises to be with us next pay-day. Bro. Stafford will be off one month.

Bro. C. C. Kilway, dispatcher T. & P. Ry., at Big Springs, Texas, is going over the line shaking hands with the boys.

Bro. Frank Landis, Columbia days, off a few days on account of sickness.

While the other divisions of System No. 33 are reporting their dispatchers as joining the O. R. T., we are right with them and can produce a ninety per cent bunch in Cleveland office. This should be a pleasure to the boys on the line. Appreciate it by giving them good service.

Z. Monbarren, a new brother, coming from the W. & L. E., has gone to Benton nights, relieving Mr. Oakes.

Bro. S. B. Shafer went to work at "ND" tower after three weeks visiting with friends and relatives in Indiana.

Bro. F. X. Sengs, after doing Eastern Cities and the Jamestown Exposition for several weeks, returned to North Industry about pay-day; also resumed duty at the old stand.

Bro. C. W. Curtis off for two weeks, blowing in the celery commission. Did not say where he was going, but he is not around New Berlin.

G. H. McCoy transferred from Columbia days to Bridge 80 days. F. W. Landis nights at Columbia, goes on day job. O. R. Baumgardner from Bridge 80 nights to Columbia nights. M. Walker to Bridge 80 nights. All of them brothers except Mr. Walker, who has not followed the profession for two years, but can show cards while in the business, and promises to come in if he decides on staying at it.

Bro. Van Horn, I understand, has resigned as night man at Lester; telegrapher Rice, from Uhrichsville, is to relieve him.

It is rumored that double track will be extended east from Bridge 80 in the near future; also that work will begin on new cut-off from Uhrichsville to Tennant's Tunnel.

J. B. Mears, of Uhrichsville, an old ex-order man, is now running the ham factory at Uhrichsville. "163."

Chicago Division, West District—

We are sorry to note the turn affairs have taken at Garrett, but feel that this is a matter that all interested should be made acquainted with, especially the telegraphers on the Chicago Division.

Our chief night dispatcher, F. N. Shultz, has taken upon himself the notoriety of conducting a ham factory in addition to his regular duties as night chief dispatcher, and at present has quite a number of students. Of course, this can be overlooked to a certain extent, as we all know his salary is such that he needs the money, but we do not need the material that he is manufacturing. His assistant is E. H. Loomis, who is working nights in Garrett telegraph office.

Loomis' favors for such conduct are being heavily showered upon him as the boys along the line get wise. There are several that are not fully acquainted with the particulars and we take this means of enlightening them. We are glad to state that thus far, the professors have not been able to produce anything able to hold an "OS" job, although one was given a trial and had to be brought back to Garrett to be recharged, and has not got out again.

Understand Bro. W. S. Yeiser, of "AB," Albion nights, is taking a vacation. Do not know where he went.

Bro. E. W. Leslie, "MX," Milford Junction nights, married recently. Wonder what's the matter with all the telegraphers. Seems as though the matrimonial fever is contagious. Hearty congratulations to Bro. and Mrs. Leslie.

There have been several changes at "JD," Wolf Lake nights, in the last month. Seems as though no one wants to stay there. This has always been a hard place to get any one to stay any length of time. "C. S." CERT. 1,401.

East District—

Bro. Moore, of "RA," Chicago Junction days, bid in night copying job in Garrett dispatcher's office, and is working there days while the dispatchers are taking their vacations. Bro. W. D. Walters is doing the night trick copying until Bro. Moore goes on regular.

Bro. O. E. Lane, "RA," Chicago Junction, who has been night telegrapher for a number of years, relieved Bro. Moore, getting the day job regular.

Bro. F. M. Minard, "BI," North Baltimore days, has returned to work, after taking a three weeks' vacation, and brought a wife home with him. Best wishes from all the boys.

Mr. A. C. Alwine, who has been working nights extra at Deshler, Ohio, relieved by Bro. J. C. Shoults, to accept the relief agency which was made vacant by Mr. A. D. Winner, who took the agency at Hamler, O., regular. Mr. Alwine has been making faithful promises for the past four or five months to get an up-to-date card, but has failed thus far to do so. He was induced by one of our energetic brothers to fill out the necessary papers for a card some time ago. We have learned since that he later tore up the papers and was heard to say the O. R. T. was no good and never got him anything. Seems as though he likes to work for a road that has one of the best schedules in the country—wonder where this schedule came from? He was also heard to express a desire to get up a class of students and teach telegraphy while he was in Deshler, O. Too bad he didn't get to remain long enough to carry out his desire.

Bro. G. W. Smith got Hamler night job regular on application.

Mr. C. M. Hildred, Hamler days, promises to get on the right side soon. Something we are pleased to hear, as this will help to cut the number of nons down to almost nothing on the Eastern district.

Bro. C. N. Suman, "HG," Holgate days, has just returned to work, after being off a month on account of sickness.

Bro. O. A. Pherson is regular relief man now, between Hamler and Hicksville, and is being helped out by Bro. H. A. Snider, as there is more territory than one man can cover each month and the boys on the block system are always glad to get their two days.

Bro. W. H. Cook, who has been night telegrapher at "DR," Deshler, for the past five years, transferred to "FC," Defiance days, on application. Glad to see Bro. Cook get a day job, as he has surely worked long enough to deserve it.

Bro. C. F. Long gets Deshler nights, regular, on application. CERT. 1,401.

Philadelphia Division—

A meeting on this division was held this month at the home of Bro. W. Edgar Frasher, in Wilmington, Delaware.

Last April Baltimore Division, No. 17, elected five members on the Legislative Committee in Maryland, and previous to that asked the B. & O. to elect five to co-operate with them. Up to date, the B. & O. has one of that committee selected.

We have waited long and patiently for something to be done in this direction, but, apparently, our committee is as far from being elected as ever.

Baltimore Division, No. 17, and the telegraphers in Maryland certainly have shown great patience in being put aside in this way. A suggestion made last April by Chief Skinner, of Baltimore Division, seems to be the only thing left to do, and that was, in case of failure on the part of Division No. 33 to co-operate with their committee, a meeting of all the telegraphers in Maryland should be called and this committee selected by them. This should be done at once, so that each telegrapher in the State can have a voice in selecting this important committee.

Baltimore Division of B. & O. Ry., No. 33, held a meeting July 29, 1907, in the Caswell Hotel, Baltimore, Md. A suggestion was made that a meeting be held there each month, and the date published in THE TELEGRAPHER. But the date was omitted from the August TELEGRAPHER.

Bro. Richardson, of "GO" office, made some interesting remarks. Bro. W. Edgar Frasher was also on hand and told us some interesting incidents about the recent convention.

The report in the August TELEGRAPHER of the P. R. R. and other lines placing their offices through the West on an eight-hour basis, and the salary for them is higher than some on other roads for twelve hours, is an interesting item. This brings up before us the fact that the offices in Maryland the P. R. R. were compelled to place on an eight-hour basis, when the eight-hour law became effective, that they reduced the wages, and even today they are paying less than some of the other lines, which goes to show that the railroads are trying to influence legislatures and the people that it is unnecessary for them to pass laws for a shorter day; that they, of their own volition, are creating new eight-hour positions with higher pay. But still, the telegraphers in Maryland where the P. R. R. were first compelled to place on an eight-hour day, are being paid low wages—lower than other lines. But there are other causes for this, and it is hoped they will eventually find it out for their benefit. The sooner they get together and demand their rights, the better.

Electric Division—

At last, we have struck our gait, with the assistance of the legislature. Gov. Hughes signed the telegraphers' eight-hour bill July 20, 1907, which was introduced by Mr. Northrup, and is effective Oct. 1, 1907. This bill, being a State law, puts all towermen on an eight-hour basis, which should have occurred long ago. The efforts of our committees in the past to create more eight-hour positions have always met with strong opposition from the officials of the company, probably never taking into consideration the long hours of duty, particularly during the very hot summer months, when it was very trying to remain awake at night, after being unable to sleep during the heat in the day time. Considering all this and the low rate of wages paid, and large families to support, it certainly was a hardship to be a towerman.

There have occurred a great many wrecks recently, due to many men overworked, as statistics will show. This is probably the view taken by the Assembly and Senate members. Public sentiment certainly would demand that a man work not more than eight hours per day during any twenty-four hour period, covering the duties of a towerman. For the reasons explained above, for our Governor to fail to sign this bill, and put himself on record to say a man in the tower service shall continue to work twelve hours per day, as we have done for a great many years, would place our governor in a very embarrassing position in the opinion of the public and our craft.

It is my opinion that this bill is one of the greatest humane acts that ever has happened for the benefit of our craft. For it will give us that which we have long craved, more hours for rest and recreation. Twelve hours on duty each day, including holidays and Sundays, and less than ten hours for sleep and recreation, is a life we long had to endure, and a very miserable one. A twelve-hour day is a very bitter pill; it puts me in mind of the old saying, "you must taste of the bitter before you can taste of the sweet." When you have worked an eight-hour job for a while, no doubt you will fully understand this comparison. Let me offer my thanks to Bro. J. B. West for his efforts, and also thank the legislative members for passing this bill, not overlooking Governor Hughes. CERT. 536.

Hudson Division—

Little old New York has made good. An act, fostered by the banner bearers of the good O. R. T. ship, and fathered by a real live labor man, the Hon. Frederick Northrup, whose photo should appear in this issue, has made thousands of hearts and homes happy. By this act, which terminated in a State law, the telegraphers and signalmen will now realize in reality what they long ago hoped for, but never expected. They will be able to see their homes and families in the light of the sun, and enjoy the comforts of the homes they are toiling to maintain.

I congratulate you one and all on this great achievement, an achievement that six months ago was considered impossible; but, brothers, I am going to say to you, shake that "Doubting Thomas" disposition. Take an object lesson from this act, and see what we can do when we try. Don't think that railroad companies or corporations are coming round to hunt you up to hand you something nice on a silver platter, without a hustle and effort on your part.

Again I will ask a small favor of each member, and that is, each one appoint himself an organizer. Do a little hustling for the Order that is always hustling for you. If there is a lon within 'phone distance of you, get him in line. He will have to be pretty hard-shelled and thick-skinned to offer an excuse or argument now.

At this writing inspectors are hustling getting men to put towers on eight-hour basis, and I predict before you read this you will all be enjoying the luxury. Block signal men are available, but not such good picking with telegraphers. Just a little more money to coax these good men back.

On an eight-hour basis means every one on their job, giving their best service. Discipline will be in order and strictly enforced. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Bro. Oneil is now entitled to all honors that goes with an up-to-date card, having paid the last installment.

Here are a few of the names that we would like to see get cards and be with us: Mr. French, B. S. 36; Mr. Cummings, B. S. 37. There is no visible excuse for these men. I will also mention Mr. Groves, B. S. 46. All of these enjoying the benefits of our past efforts without contributing or offering any assistance, and now, through our efforts they will enjoy an eight-hour day. It should hardly be necessary to solicit their membership; it should come voluntarily.

In signing our eight-hour bill, Gov. Hughes is quoted as saying, "of all the bills I have signed, none gave me the pleasure that this bill does."

W. U. office is to be taken out of P. D., and this office to handle R. R. business exclusively. This will make these men eligible to our Order.

Brothers, if you know of any little items that will interest the boys, send them to me.

Every one get in line to make the eight-hour ball a grand success, and the success of it depends on every one disposing of as many tickets as possible. Before we have this ball hardly launched, the press heralds it to be one of the grandest affairs ever held in the State. It is up to you to do your part to make this assertion good.

I will cut out by saying that the past few weeks I have been working overtime, sending out receipts and filing applications of new members.

CERT. 525.

Mohawk Division—

Bro. Grant Johnson, of "GS" office, Utica, is city ticket agent at Lake Placid for the summer, and Bro. J. S. Reed, of "UT" office, is his assistant. Bro. Reed thinks Lake Placid is quite the nicest place on top of the earth.

Bro. A. B. McDaniels, of Saranac Lake, recently spent Sunday with his mother in Utica, incidentally witnessing the ball game between the home team and the New York Giants.

Bro. Mudge, formerly at Syracuse depot nights, is now at Utica depot days.

Bro. Sidney Smith, of "DW" office, DeWitt, has resigned.

Bros. J. W. Dorey and F. M. Rulison are holding down "DW" days, and Bros. Garraghan and Edwards nights, until Sister Gorman returns from Saranac Lake.

Bro. J. M. Owens is back in the superintendent's office, temporarily.

THE BRAVES OF No. 8.

All along the Mohawk Valley, where the winding river flows,

Now runs the Central's four-track, where the red men drew their bows.

Now, in this same old valley, where the Indian roamed so free,

Roams a bunch of red men, known as the O. R. T.

The "Big Chief" calls a meeting, at the right time of the moon,
And to each "brave" he sends a greeting, "there'll be doings soon."

Then they gather in the court house, in a well-known junction town,
And the "Big Chief" calls "attention, now, boys, let's gather round."

From each brave he hears their troubles, and also what they ask,
As the smoke goes up like bubbles, in the atmosphere to bask.

Big Chief Wally, from the city, is not able to be there,
But he writes to Big Chief Loring, what he wants is something fair.

Big Chief Morey, always smiling, brings along the pipe of peace,
And he says, "now boys, let's start filing in our New York Central lease."

Big Chief Cavanaugh, comes with greetings, from the rocks at Little Falls,
And says he the braves who come not to our meetings ought to get their "13" calls.

Bro. Lynch, from the Big Wigwam, at a camp out in the woods,
Takes a trip to this big city, but he always has the goods.

Bro. Schenemeyer goes a hunting, from his camp near spring "Great Bear,"
And he says the price of living, is agoing up for fair.

Bro. Salisbury, who shares a wigwam with our big brave, Brother Lynch,
Says to keep the thing agoing on 60 per is by no means a cinch.

One big chief don't like the plumbing of the wigwams on the pike,
And he says it is stunning why the boys don't start and "hike."

Now, there is a lot of red men, who never come at all,
But they expect the chiefs to help them at the big council in the fall.

So, when all the big chiefs gather, at the company's hunting grounds,
Let us hope good luck will bless them, with ten thousand for the rounds.

But if the big council don't make peace, and the thing looks kind of grave,
Let us hope the chief will find each warrior to be an Indian true and brave.

Before we ring off for this time, let us call your attention to instructions by our former chief dispatcher, who asked us to be sure that the circuit is not being used before opening keys for any purpose. It is a fact that there is a great amount of breaking going on at present, which causes confusion, especially to the dispatchers. Please let us all strive to improve on this point and see if just as much work can not be accomplished.

Div. Cor.

At his late home in the village of Stittsville, July 28th, at 1:40 p. m., occurred the death of our esteemed friend and brother, Ralph Raymer. In the death of Bro. Raymer we lose one of our most jovial and brightest workers in the Order. He always had a pleasant word for every one, and many a dreary day has he brightened for us all, and we shall miss him greatly. He had the welfare of the Order always at heart and had great confidence in its future.

The funeral was well attended, and several of the O. R. T. boys were present to pay their last tribute of respect to our departed brother. One of the many beautiful floral pieces presented was from the O. R. T., representing three telegraph poles and wires, with one wire broken.

It is impossible to express the depth of sorrow we feel, or to tell how greatly his presence will be missed by us all, but we should all try to pattern after his bright and jovial disposition and kindly ways, so that when we come to travel the road over which he has just departed, perhaps in some small way a few of the many kind things said of him may be said of us.

EDMONDS.

CARD OF THANKS.

CANISTEO, N. Y.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to N. W. Sheldon and other members of Division No. 42, O. R. T., who contributed the beautiful floral emblem of the Order, and their loving words of sympathy in our sad bereavement, in the loss of our dear son.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN N. PRESTON.

C., M. & St. P. Ry.

S. M. Division—

As my former effort ran the gauntlet safely, will try again.

Not much doing in the way of news, but perhaps I can chronicle a few events that will be of interest to the members.

The meeting at Austin the 18th was quite largely attended by the S. M. boys, considering the train service.

There was an understanding that there was to be an extra for the special benefit of those on the west end, but at the last minute they were forced to ride all night on stock extra and No. 64 in order to attend. Not a very large delegation from the north end of the I. & M. attended, although they could ride the cushions both ways.

"Brose" Eggen, who was at Isinours for a number of years, had the misfortune to have to undergo another operation and have his other limb amputated. This is a serious affliction and Bro. Eggen has the sympathy of all the members.

Bro. E. J. Whalen, side-wire in La Crosse dispatcher's office, was off for a week or ten days, being relieved by F. J. H. and Welch, from Chicago office.

It is now Bro. Peter Berg at Isinours. Let the good work go on.

Some one ought to have strength enough to separate V. Gillot at Wells from a few shekels and get his application papers, but am afraid nothing short of a miracle would do that.

The first division, La Crosse to Ramsey, is now solid, with one exception. Pretty good percentage, but we ought to make it 100 per cent.

The second division, from Ramsey to Jackson, has two nons, one being the aforementioned V. G., who persists in retaining his bullion with a grasp like John D. The other non has promised to get onto the band wagon in the near future, provided he doesn't go into some other business.

Mankato line has one back-slider, and don't know what his reasons are for dropping out.

Some one with the gift of gab ought to round up these few stragglers and make it solid through and through.

Victor B. Gillott, near dispatcher on the bug, is taking his annual vacation, with time going on and pay stopped. Funny he can get relief when some of the men have to get down on their prayer-bones and beg for a lay-off.

Ed Malone is holding down Wells days in the absence of the old fixture.

Easton Station, bulletined some time ago, at present being partly held down by E. Q. Stanley, pedigree unknown, and from all appearances, a little light with the necessary, but may ginger up.

Mr. Jensen is laying off, but don't know who is doing the relief stunt at Delavan.

Have heard it rumored that "Shorty" Canfield, at Winnebago, was about to sever the tie that binds and strike out at something else.

Latest bulletin shows Bro. O. A. Laugen assigned to Lake Preston agency.

Sherburn station bulletined the other day, but too early to tell who gets it.

Bros. O. A. Laugen and Henry Laugen have returned from the Coast, where they went for a vacation and pleasure trip.

No authentic news items received from west end. In fact nothing whatever from that territory has reached me.

Have been able to gather a few items from rumor and other sources.

Bro. Lieser was off for a few days while he accompanied his wife to Rochester, being relieved by Bro. Olson, from Hatfield.

Bro. Elliott was called away by the illness of his mother. Did not hear who relieved him.

Bro. Harmon returns to Winfred from Lake Preston.

Bro. Snyder, from Jackson, to Flandreau, for six months. Jackson station open.

Bro. McKeon, formerly at Lake Preston, is now located at Spokane as traveling freight and passenger agent for this company. Good luck to him.

Any one knowing where some of these members go and where they are located, would be conferring a favor if they would let me know.

Many of the old men on this division are quitting and getting vacations. We are all interested in their welfare.

If I happen to stick Mr. in front of any one's name when he has an up-to-date card, just call my attention to the fact and I will try and rectify the mistake. Of course, I ought to know every one who is a member, but sometimes mistakes will occur.

Sorry I could not attend the meeting at Austin the 18th, but there was too much business and walking was pretty crowded.

Will cut out now.

Div. Cox.

Chicago & Council Bluffs, Iowa Division—

Bro. Nichols, agent at Aspinwall, and his wife have returned from their visit to Wisconsin. Nick was relieved by Bro. Carl Oleson, but he was later sent to Coon Rapids, to relieve the agent and Mr. Rose, owl at Aspinwall, took charge of the station, and he in turn was relieved by Bro. Elder.

Bro. DeVoe has been enjoying a much-needed vacation the past couple of weeks, and Bro. Huyck, day leverman at Slater, had charge of Atkins station during his absence.

Night telegrapher Marvin, at Elwood, now has brother attached to his name. Bro. Marvin is an old-timer and formerly worked a trick on the R. & S. W. Division for this company, and knows what the O. R. T. has done.

Bro. Taylor, second man in "Ma" relay office, Marion, and his wife, are enjoying out-door life in Northern Wisconsin and Michigan. That is, Bro. Taylor is enjoying himself, provided he has found any relief for his hay fever.

Boys, have you all paid dues for the current term? If not, you had better get "25" right quick and send Bro. Soyster the money for a new card.

There have been quite a number of changes on the division during the past month on bulletins.

Bro. Carl Olson landed Council Bluffs yard nights, vice Bro. Stuart, resigned.

Bro. Metcalf, extra, from the Eastern division, got Keystone nights.

Bro. House, from Collins nights, to Defiance nights, vice Bro. Hofstetter, who resigned to go to Dakota for a farm.

Bro. Cashman, extra, landed Herndon nights. Mr. Crowe, from Bayard to Templeton nights.

Bro. Renbarger, from day telegrapher, Madrid, to night telegrapher, Collins, and Bro. Hoesly, night man at Madrid, to the day trick.

Bro. Snyder, from Rockaway nights, to Vining nights.

Bro. Bethurum resigned as night telegrapher and leverman at Paralta, and is now working in Kansas, his old home.

Bro. Flansberg, recently from the C. & N. W., drew Paralta night tower job.

Bro. Frymoyer, who held down Weston nights for a couple of years, has left this pike. He was taken out of service and had his case up for adjustment, and after it had been fixed up, the C. D. at Perry was unable to locate him to put him to work again.

The meeting at Marion on August 14th was quite well attended, there being about thirty members present. Division Superintendent, Mr. W. B. Foster accepted an invitation to be present, and spent an hour visiting with the boys while they were waiting for trains Nos. 21, 9 and 108 to get in. He then gave us a very nice talk, and it is really too bad that every telegrapher on the division could not have been present. We were all pretty well acquainted with Mr. Foster when he was train master on the Middle and Western C. & C. B., and now that he has returned to this division as our superintendent, we are naturally feeling very well pleased and know that every man is going to get fair treatment and all there is coming to him. Now, boys, let us hustle for all we are worth. Be "Johnny on the spot" at all stages of the game, and show that we appreciate fair treatment. If we have been digging in about as hard as we thought we could, let us just try and increase our speed just a little more. Good, faithful and conscientious service is what will win out, better your working conditions and get more money.

General Chairman Renshaw was present and gave us a very interesting talk. General Secretary and Treasurer Soyster also gave us some very good advice and reported matters pertaining to his office in very good condition; boys paying up nicely, and nons being put out of business every day. Many of the other brothers also made nice talks and the meeting was a very pleasant, and, we hope, a profitable one.

C. & C. B. Ia.—

Bro. DeVoe, Atkins station, is taking his vacation; relieved by Bro. Hayuk, of Slater tower days. Bro. C. E. Miller, of Woodward, is doing the Armstrong act at Slater; relieved at Woodward by a Mr. Griswold, who tells us he has not worked at the business long enough to be one of us, but we trust he will do the proper thing when he has served the required time.

Bro. Sanders is on a vacation; relieved by A. H. Krasche, who we expect to be able to call brother by the time this is in print.

Bro. Renbarger, of Madrid days, goes to Collins nights, as soon as relieved at Madrid. Appointment at Madrid as day telegrapher not yet announced.

Bro. Whipple, agent at Slater, expects to leave on a vacation as soon as relief agent arrives at Slater. Bro. Whipple takes few vacations.

We have rather an unusual list of delinquents this month, considering the fact that the majority or almost all of them are among the oldest in the service of the company on this division. This certainly shows a lack of interest in the welfare of the Order. Brace up, boys, and perform your share of the work and share the expense, and thereby cut out the imposition you force on the loyal members.

Huxley has been opened again as a night office, with Jesse I. Carmany as telegrapher. Mr. Carmany has been but a short time at the work, but will be looked after at the proper time.

Pickering night office was closed for a few nights on account of shortage of telegraphers.

Young Elder is working extra nights at Aspinwall at present.

Bro. Anderson, of Dawson, made a two weeks' visit at Green River, Utah, and other places, where he is interested in real estate. NICK.

Third District—

Through a misunderstanding, the Third District write-up was not sent in last month, and the notes for both months are contained in this write-up.

Bro. Sherman, of West Ave. "C" office, spent a week the first part of July up near Ellis Junction, Wis., following the calling of Izak Walton, and he is a good disciple, as he returned with the proof, namely, some fine fish.

Bro. Jas. Hickey, of West Ave. "WV" nights, secured the agency at Hermosa on bulletin.

Bro. L. I. Perry, of Pacific Junction, second trick, has lost another child. This brother is surely having more than his share of trouble, as he lost a brother about four months ago, the brother leaving a wife and three children. Bro. Perry lost a child about two months ago, and now the second one was taken. He and his wife have the heartfelt sympathy of all.

Mr. McEntee was at West Ave. "WV" nights for a while, and is now at Walworth nights.

Dispatcher Larsen and wife spent a week at St. Paul, Minneapolis and Mankato. Report a very pleasant time.

Dispatcher Babcock spent his vacation in Chicago, thus indicating that he considers this city as good a summer resort as the next.

Dispatcher Hammond took a trip to the Jamestown Exposition, with some of the Savanna boys.

At the present writing Dispatcher Jordan is enjoying the scenery out West, and looking over the new extension. It is rumored he is married, but think this is a false report, as "WJ" did not show any signs of being "foolish" just before he left.

Extra Dispatcher Carrol has just recovered from an illness of a few weeks; came near having typhoid fever. All are glad to see him well again. He resumed work the 19th inst.

Bro. J. L. Bloss was on the side-wire days for the past few weeks, having given up Galewood "GT," as it is too much work and long hours for any one. Bloss is on a short vacation up at Green Bay, Wis., now.

Mr. E. E. Courlard, late of the "Q," from out West, was on side-wire nights for a few weeks. Understand he is going to the new office on the Oakwood cut-off for a short time. This man claims he used to belong to the O. R. T., and can see no good reason for him not getting in line with us. Some of the brothers look him up, and if he is going to stay on St. Paul, we want him in Division No. 23.

Some good work has been done among the tower men on the Terminals, as the applications of some have been secured, and we hope to have all of them in line in the near future, as they come under our schedule and are eligible, and should not stand back because they are not telegraphers.

The O. R. T. got an increase for each one of these towers the last time the committee was in, and it is no more than fair that the ones getting this benefit should help as well as enjoy the benefit.

Bro. C. E. Eckerly is at Galewood days at present. This man has been out of the business for quite a few years, and on returning took out a card at once. This should shame lots of the boys coming to the road as nons, and putting us off with promises from time to time. The prompt action of Bro. Eckerly is appreciated.

Bro. Tuffley, of West Ave "WV" days, is going to take a vacation, and he and his wife are going to New York. Bro. Murback, of Union St., wants to act as relief agent for Tuffley, but Union St. could not get along without "M," and besides, Tuffley would never get away if Murback came on duty before Tuffley was out of sight.

Bro. Soyster was in town over Sunday, looking over the Commercial situation.

Bro. Goodney, of Edgebrook is on vacation, and is being relieved by Bro. Beaver's son.

Bro. Brown, of first trick at Rondout, is on vacation and visiting his home in Ohio. Relief is a new man on this division.

Bro. Moshier, of second trick at Rondout, left for a position on the N. P. in Montana. Understand he is at Roseman.

A Mr. J. S. Wren took the second trick at Rondout, and is doing good work. First-class man, and we hope to have him in our ranks in the near future.

Was promised a write-up from north of Rondout, but the brother forgot his promise, so that portion of the road will have to be omitted.

Bro. Bandy, of Tower A 68, left the road. Don't know where the brother went, but best wishes go with him, as he was a good man. Did not learn who secured the job made vacant.

A good meeting was held at Libertyville June 29th. General Chairman Renshaw was with us and gave a good talk; outlined our position in event of the Commercial trouble that has since come to a show-down. Will not use any space on this subject as Bro. Renshaw has since advised all by letter. Our sympathy for the Commercial boys can be shown financially and in many other ways without breaking our agreement with the railway company, which we should live up to the letter, if we are to expect the same of the company.

Quite a lot of the boys from "CG" were in attendance at the meeting, and it does us good to see interest manifested by these boys, as it has quite an effect on the boys out on the line who never get a chance to meet these brothers except at an O. R. T. meeting. That office is very near solid, only three men working there without cards, namely, Mr. J. Perkins, who signs "J" and works the Kansas City wire; Mr. M. J. Hughes, who works C. & C. B. Ill. wire No. 24 and signs "M," and Mr. M. S. Carr, who works all the wires nights and signs "MS." Carr has promised to come in soon, and he surely will have all the chance in the world to make good. The boys working with these men should put in a word which will serve to let them know that we know their position, and that it is their duty to help support the organization that has raised their wages just as well as the rest of us. Let all O. R. T. men remember these three men, and not let up till they have made good or absolutely refused to join, so we can govern ourselves accordingly.

A resolution was introduced and carried that the importance of the semi-annual dues of $1 be impressed on each member. This money is to defray the expenses of hall rent, also to reimburse the Local Chairman of the C. & M. and C. E. Divisions and the Chicago Terminals for time lost. These men can not be expected to go over the divisions on their own time, and it is absolutely necessary that they acquaint themselves with the exact condition before the committee goes in, and it is up to the membership to pay this money promptly so that things can be run as they should be. This fund was also made to include the purchase of floral offerings (not to exceed $10) for any of our members when death shall enter their homes. This is entirely appropriate; as we will then be prepared when an emergency comes, and the burden will not fall on one man to see that floral pieces are secured; besides, it will not be missing many that are just as deserving and who, no doubt, have felt slighted. We, as a class, are not prompt enough to tell each other of death or sickness among our members, and we have the best chance of any body.

An especial effort should be made by all members to get all desirable nons into line now, as we are going to need as near 100 per cent membership when the coming schedule is framed as we possibly can get, as the new law will simply tear it all to pieces as it now stands, and if we expect what we are surely deserving of, we must be up and doing, and not wait until we are "up against it" to try and remedy our condition. It is much easier to guide a thing than wait till it gets near beyond control, and then lament our luck, when it has been to a great extent a matter of neglect as far as we, as a class, are concerned.

CERT. 1,129.

There are still four or five nons on this division, and trust they will soon see their mistake and come in the fold.

CORRESPONDET.

P. D. C. & Min. Pt. Division—

The county fairs are now on in full blast, and every body busy.

Mr. A. Wuster has returned to his old profession, after two years in the coal business in Milwaukee, and is relieving Agent Zimmerman, who is taking in the sights at the Jamestown Exposition and other Eastern points.

Our Local Chairman, T. L. Pagel, and Bros. Thurber, of Muscoda, and Robson, of Prairie du Chien, attended the meeting at Austin, Minn., on Sunday, August 18. They report a royal good time and an enthusiastic meeting.

Bro. A. J. Taylor received Milton Junction nights on bulletin, where he is doing two men's work, besides having to go to Janesville to board.

Quite a number of changes occurred on the P. D. C. Division this month.

Bros. Collentine and Kallslead have resigned and gone West, which left two vacancies, Lone Rock days, being filled by Bro. R. C. Black, and Prairie du Chien nights, filled by Mr. C. S. Owens.

The Commercial Telegraphers have been on strike now for about two weeks, although we R. R. telegraphers are on hand to do business, said business does not seem to materialize around these parts. I should think only about ten per cent of our usual Western Union work is being done now.

There is a matter that I hope to see taken up at some future time, and that is the practice of shippers loading live stock on Sundays. At some stations the telegraphers could be excused for at least part of the time on Sundays, if it were not that shippers persist in loading out live stock, a practice which is not necessary and hardly excusable in view of the fact that it forces others to work who would rather observe the day in a different manner.

Having been away on vacation part of this month, your correspondent will ask to be excused with these few notes, not having received much information from other offices on the division. I am going to write a letter to a lapsed member who is a personal friend, and ask him to come back to us. Can't each one do the same as soon as you have read these notes and the good things in THE TELEGRAPHER.

CORRESPONDENT.

Chicago & North Western Railway.Madison Division—

On July 27th, between 9 p. m. and 1 a. m., Labor Hall was crowded, and below are the names of some of the brothers who came to attend what nearly everyone claims to have been the best O. R. T. meeting ever held in Madison:

A. A. Babcock, Mt. Horeb; H. J. Christoffer, London; E. W. White, Deerfield; W. W. Brown, Monona yard, "FR;" A. E. Patterson, Platteville; T. A. Corcoran, tower "EA;" F. Johnson, Argyle, Ill.; E. L. Gross, Caledonia, Ill.; F. E. Wickern, Devil's Lake; F. E. Warner, Baraboo; L. M. Burt, Brooklyn; A. J. Warnock, South Madison; H. J. Ralph, Ridgeway; W. J. Doering, Lake Mills; A. G. Thomas, Mendota; J. A. Barnes, tower "PD;" W. H. Hansen, Evansville; A. L. Crump, Footville; C. L. Wilcox, Union Center; Chas. Regan, Capron; Sam Potter, Merrimac, "Z;" H. R. Pigg, Merrimac, "BR;" W. F. Briggs, Roscoe; D. C. Babcock, Wales; Edw. Welch, Klevenville; G. W. Ayer, Verona; W. F. Westphal, Helenville; W. R. Irwin, Lodi; C. B. McIntosh, Lodi; C. W. Wood, Necedah; W. Q. Eberts, Wyeville; W. A. Brown, Cobb; G. W. Richardson, Dane; M. H. Hansen, Evansville; F. L. Bonnell, Edmunds; P. M. Keefe, Jefferson Junction; C. H. Bennett, West Allis; L. F. Schneider, Dausman; M. H. Schleck, Wonec; C. N. Schleck, J. J. Schleck, Madison; C. E. L. Hansen, Monona yard, "M."

It is said that so many requests for passes were made that the supply in Baraboo ran out. We know a number who had to be supplied with wire passes, but what is the odds so long as we get there.

Bro. James Troy, general chairman, was unable to attend on account of two important meetings, one at Fremont and the other at Norfolk. He assured us he would be with us next time.

Brothers, we are not making much more than living expenses with the prevailing high prices, and we certainly can not work for any less wages than we are now receiving, and there is no reason why we should, with skilled labor throughout the country receiving from $3 to $7 per day for eight hours' work. In fact, most of us think and know that we are not receiving the wages we should, even compared with what other classes of railroad employees receive.

Anyone who has read the bulletin issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission, can not fail to see that the telegraphers hold the most responsible positions, still the railroad companies persist in hiring men to fill these responsible positions, and pay wages less than they are paying the Austrians, Italians or Japs. I base this assertion on schedules that have been revised to conform to the national and State laws. These schedules have a minimum of $55, covering this territory, and right here on this section are Japs working and receiving $1.75 per day.

Mr. F. H. Schuppener, agent at Stitzer, is off for a few days. The helper from Dodgeville is relieving him. This is a non-telegraphic station.

Telegrapher R. G. Lipscomb relieved Agent Leslie a few days. He is now enjoying a few days' rest.

Telegrapher Blann worked a few nights at tower "EA," from there he went to Evansville to relieve Mr. D. R. Roach, who in turn relieved Bro. C. R. Fisher, agent at Oregon.

Bro. Fisher is taking a short vacation and visiting relatives and friends at Hazel Green.

Bro. Barnhart, who took a turn at Lake Mills days, has returned to Caledonia nights, and Bro. Richardson, who was relieving him, is back at tower "EA" nights.

Telegrapher Joe Moudry, tower "DO" nights, is enjoying a vacation, visiting relatives near Manitowish.

Bro. J. J. Schleck has charge of tower "DO" nights at the present writing.

Bro. J. C. Van Aucker, Beloit nights, is on a vacation. He is relieved by Bro. M. M. Zeckes.

Bro. C. D. Butler has charge of Madison nights, extra. He reports a fine time on his trip to the Jamestown Exposition.

Bro. Fred Fisher is taking a vacation and is now at his home at Oconto, Wis. Telegrapher Steinhoff, a new man, is relieving him at tower "Z." Steinhoff says he will be with us in the near future.

Recently, Bro. Evans at Sparta, was taken suddenly ill and, being unable to go to work, Bro. Steve Fast put in the night for him.

Bro. C. H. Bennett, North Greenfield days, spent his Sunday off at Lancaster, visiting relatives.

Bro. Luedtke is holding down La Crosse nights, while on bulletin.

Bro. W. H. W. Page, agent at Bangor, is enjoying his vacation on his farm in Dakota. Bro. J. E. Dolbier forwarding "Hussas Best" meanwhile.

Bro. Wilcox, agent at West Salem, who was recently married, is taking a trip to the Pacific coast.

Bro. Chas. Adams had charge of West Salem during Bro. Wilcox's absence.

Bro. J. H. Bucklin, Jr., is spending a few days at home at Onalaska.

Bro. B. F. Edwards, agent at Rockland, is on his vacation. Have not learned where he is spending it.

Towers "CM" and "SD," on the north end, which were struck by lightning and burned several months ago, have been replaced by small offices, to be opened about September 1.

Bro. L. F. Schneider, our local chairman, spent a couple of days in Chicago recently. He was relieved by Bro. A. C. Matzek. He has resumed duty as agent at Wales, and Bro. D. C. Babcock went to Blue Mounds to visit relatives.

Bro. J. J. Schleck spent a few days at Highland. He also took in the "Beavers' dance" at Cobb.

Telegrapher Davenport, a new man, relieved Bro. Ebert for a few nights at Leyden.

The last bunch of bulletin jobs were assigned as follows:

Mr. E. G. Edwards, Benton days.

Bro. W. H. Hansen, Lancaster days.

Bro. P. W. Avery, Devil's Lake nights.

Bro. J. E. Dolbier, Summit nights.

J. J. Schleck, Oregon nights.

The current bulletin, No. 17, has the following positions: Baraboo dispatcher's office, T. and C. days; La Crosse nights, Kendalls nights, Mendota nights, tower "DO" nights.

I "13" our capable night chief, Bro. A. A. Pelnar, bid in Mendota nights.

John DeSautelle, of the dispatcher's force, is now enjoying his two weeks' vacation, and Purdy is patiently waiting his turn.

Bro. C. C. Hanners is again on duty, nights, in the dispatcher's office, after serving a few days at Lake Mills.

Bro. W. J. Doering, of Lake Mills, has been taking a few days' vacation recently.

Bro. Pat Keefe is acting agent at Jefferson Junction during the absence of W. F. Copeland, the regular agent, and Bro. A. G. Elsner is putting in his summer vacation as telegrapher at the Junction, while Pat does the business.

Mr. F. J. Heimerl, who was formerly agent at Jefferson, on the Northern Wisconsin Division, and who has been out of the service, has been relieving the agent at Evansville for some days past. Mr. Heimerl is a first-class man, and we are glad to number him with the men on the Madison Division. Now we want to get him in line with a card and number him with the elect.

Bro. M. Hendrickson is at Kendalls nights, since Bro. Dolbier got Summit by bulletin.

Bro. C. G. Porter is again at his desk at La-Valle, after several weeks' absence, being relieved by Bro. F. H. Main, who is at present relieving the agent at Rockland.

Bro. C. N. Schleck is off duty, and is taking in the Jamestown Exposition, in company with Bro. White, from Lancaster. Bro. C. B. Adams went to Madison to relieve Bro. Schleck, and Lancaster was assigned to Bro. W. H. Hansen.

Bro. Billy Jaehnke, of Ft. Atkinson, smiled on his Madison Division friends one day recently.

Bro. E. P. Colton, agent at Evansville, has resumed his labors after a short vacation.

Div. Cor.

Dakota Division—

Owing to hot weather and so much business on the division, the attendance at the meeting at Huron, August 9th, was very slim, but we understand that those present were very enthusiastic.

The Southern Minnesota Division of the C., M. & St. P. is solid, with the exception of three, and one of them is barred.

All get to work and see what can be done, and let us get solid.

Conductor Meacham, known and liked by all who came in contact with him, while switching at Harrold, was knocked down and run over. He died shortly after the accident.

The strike of the W. U. men is bound to help the railroads, as far as getting men is concerned.

Telegrapher R. E. Holbrook went from Garvin to Manchester, doubled right back to Balaton and relieved Bro. Zollar, who gets Northville agency. Zollar can get a taste of this competitive station work.

Bro. H. Griffiths, formerly of Northville, but now of the city of wild Indians and terminal of the once great Forest City and Gettysburg Railway.

Bro. B. E. Donnelly has again returned to Luden.

The brother from Ludden went to Manchester to relieve Bro. Donnelly.

I omitted to say that the Commercial Club rooms at Huron, in which our last meeting was held, are certainly fine, and another thing, they are tendered us free.

We are very short on items this month.

The busy season of the year is now approaching when everyone on the division will have all the work he can do, including the dispatching force in Huron, who try to get the trains over the road with as little delay as possible. We can all assist by trying to answer calls promptly.

Div. Cor.

Lines West of Missouri River, Eastern Division—
No card, no favors.

Our meeting in Fremont, July 28th, was not very largely attended. Some very important questions were discussed. The following attended the meeting: General Chairman James Troy, Jewell Junction; Local Chairman C. M. Wurzbacher, Tilden; Hans Jensen, West End; R. E. Cheeney, W. H. Earp, D. B. Wintersteen, Fremont; A. L. Hewett, W. R. Kelly, Arlington; B. G. Kline, Washington; C. A. Wiest, Irvington; L. A. Clark, Exchange Building, South Omaha; E. S. Agur, Exeter; A. D. Jones, Beaver Crossing. Brothers, we ought to turn out better, as these meetings are a benefit to all.

Bro. R. E. Cheeney made a flying trip to Lincoln on August 2d.

W. S. Holmes, Houston by bid.

Bro. Bigham, from Wisner nights, to Scribner nights, by bid.

Bro. Busch, Scribner days, by bid.

Bro. Don Brown is the night owl at Battle Creek. He was formerly with the C., B. & Q.

Bro. W. J. Thomas, day telegrapher at Atkinson, agent at Inman by bid.

Bro. J. B. Bailey, who has been working relief for about a year, landed Pilger by bid.

Bro. Hendricksen, Stanton nights, was on a vacation for two weeks on account of sickness; Bro. Brown, from "B.M.," relieving him.

Wisner nights, was recently closed temporarily. Bro. Bigham being on sick list, summer grip, we understand.

Telegrapher Hall, Fremont, visited with his brother at Linwood, on August 3d.

Bro. Cook, agent at Stanton, returned to duty the first of the month, after three weeks' visit in the East.

Bro. C. P. Donahue, from Division No. 49, is working nights at Hooper.

Attention, brothers! B. J. Drummond, manager for the Irie Dispatch in Omaha, went scabbing during the Western Union strike in Omaha. Here is his own words, "I used to belong to the O. R. T. some fifteen years ago, and they gave me the worst of it, so now I am glad to get a chance to get even with the operators." Brothers, remember this "scab" if you should happen to meet him. We have no earthly use for a man of this kind.

There has been so many night offices closed and so many changes of late that it is almost impossible to keep a line on them.

The new time card which went into effect Sunday, August 18th, gives some of us better hours and others less help.

Mr. Sharp, of Niobrara, and Mr. Foote, of Bonesteel, traded tricks for some reason.

Mr. Lewis, of Monovi, was called to Bradish on account of the serious illness of his father, who is agent at that place. We hope he will soon recover.

Understand Mr. Boiles, of Lynch, is now able to return to work.

Mr. Criss, of Stewart, is holding the fort at Dallas. Business is reported to be very good at that end of the line.

Mr. Ranck is working days at Herrick, and Mr. Imust at Burke.

Bro. Earp was laid up for repairs for a few days. Hope it was nothing serious.

How many of you boys have one of the new cards? They are certainly fine ones, and if you haven't got one you had better get one as soon as possible. A great many of the nons on this division are beginning to realize the truth of, no card, no favors, and the sooner they all see the folly of their ways and get in the band wagon the better it will be for them, as well as for the rest of us.

Bro. Zacek at Wisner nights, by bid.

The following night offices have been closed on the Bonesteel line: Bonesteel, Anoka, Spencer, Lynch, Niobrara, Vedigre and Plainview.

Bro. Sauers, Hooper, relieved Mr. French at Blair for a few days. Agent Cushman, we understand, had to do without a day telegrapher while Bro. Sauers was away.

Dispatcher Larsen visited with his folks at Sioux Falls, S. Dak., for a couple of weeks.

Bro. Hewett, agent at Arlington, attended the agents' meeting in Fremont, Bro. Kelly being chief cook and bottle washer during Bro. Hewett's absence.

"13" that Foster D. Lamphere, who was night owl at Wisner and Scribner, went to Chicago to work for the Western Union.

The meeting which was held at Norfolk, July 28, was well attended. Most of the brothers who were able to get away from their work were there. Superintendent C. H. Reynolds, Trainmaster E. O. Mount, and Superintendent of Telegraph Dailey were in attendance. These gentlemen all gave some very interesting talks on the important issues of the times as concerns our interests and those of the company. These gentlemanly officials made friends of all who were there, and each left with the thought that it was good to have been there. General Superintendent Braden was, through some unforeseen difficulty, unable to attend, much to the disappointment of all the boys.

Bro. Nicholas, of Petersburg, is back to work, having returned from the funeral of his mother, who recently passed away at her home at Geneva, Neb. We all sympathize with the brother and his family in their loss.

The brothers at Albion have had their hands full during the Chautauqua which was held there this year.

Bro. Still, of Lindsay, has landed Plainview on bid.

Bro. Zacek, who has been working nights at Inman, is at present relieving at Wisner nights.

Mr. F. D. Rhodes, at Newman Grove, was disappointed in getting away on his vacation on account of the man sent to relieve him being suddenly taken sick and unable to go to work.

Operator G. W. Crocker, from O'Neill, is now relieving Bro. Lewis at Bradish, who for some time has not been able to work, but has been obliged to stick to his post on account of the scarcity of relief men. Mr. Crocker was at one time an Order man, but has been out of the business for several years. He has the right spirit and promises to be with us again in the near future.

It is understood that Telegrapher J. S. Johnson, of Dodge street, has resigned to attend school in Omaha this winter.

Bro. Fowler is working the day trick at Round House, South Omaha. Understand he is from Inman.

James Knudsen, from Exchange, "SY," is working nights at Round House, South Omaha. Both day and night jobs are bulletined now.

No. 5 and No. 6 do not stop at Washington, Irvington and Bennington since we have our new time card, and it seems strange to see them go through at the rate of sixty miles an hour.

Mr. E. C. Eller is waiting to be transferred to the position of telegrapher.

The local chairman was a caller on the South Platte a short time ago. Wonder how many nons he got in line.

A meeting will be held in Fremont some time during November. Mr. Dailey, superintendent of telegraph, General Manager Walters, General Superintendent Braden, Superintendent Reynolds, Trainmasters Mount and Lapple, we understand, are going to be present. A special effort is going to be made to have as many attend as possible. Further particulars later. Div. Cor.

Galena Division—

Everything moving smoothly on the Galena Division.

Jobs, on last bulletin, up for bid are: Ringwood, agent and telegrapher; Chicago shops, day telegrapher; tower "HM," day and night; Aurora, day telegrapher; Hahnemann, agent and telegrapher; Proviso, night telegrapher, and Broadmoor, agent and telegrapher.

Am unable to say who secured positions on bulletin No. 5.

A very good meeting was held at Dixon, August 17th. There were about thirty brothers present, and three applications were turned in, showing that we are keeping the number of nons down to the minimum, and that we are alive and growing. Bro. O'Brien, from "CH," Western Union office, Chicago, was present and gave us a very interesting talk on the strike situation, and made us all realize just how much this struggle means to us. Bro. Brining, from "SJ" office, Chicago, added some good hints along the same line. Then followed a general discussion of the strike, after which the disagreeable task of settling the Bunzy case came up, and was handled ably by Attorneys Reagan and Taylor. The evidence was overwhelmingly against Mr. Bunzy. He was found guilty of the charge of "conduct unbecoming a member and teaching telegraphy," and was expelled from Division, No. 76.

Bro. R. E. Meador, Wheaton nights, is spending his vacation at home, Patoka, Ill., on the farm.

Mr. Burke, formerly baggageman at Richmond, is relieving Bro. Meador.

Bro. J. E. Price got No. 2 wire at "CU," Chicago, on bid.

Bro. J. B. Henning, of Hahnemann, goes to DeKalb days on bid. LOCAL COR.

Minnesota Division—

What is the matter with the Minnesota Division. I have looked for news from this division for at least six months and, as yet, I have seen nothing. Now, brothers, I want news. You all know where to find me and I have three wires you can call me on, besides the block. It's up to you.

I could not attend the last meeting, held at Mankato, so do not know what happened. I understand there was a good attendance.

Bro. E. J. Thomas, our local chairman, tendered his resignation, which was accepted. Bro. Thomas has about all he can handle now, as he was transferred from Sanborn to Tracy station, and you all know Tracy is not very slow in any line of the business.

We are all sorry to see Bro. Thomas go, as he has been a good worker for the cause, and has been with us since our first schedule, but we are equally as glad to welcome Bro. H. W. Brown as local chairman, and it is hoped that the brothers will assist him all they can, as the position of local chairman is not all pleasant.

Bro. B. H. Nixon has gone to Chicago to work a trick out of "SJ" office.

Bro. Christopher on the laying off list.

Bro. Bradish, Cobden, back again after a six weeks' sickness; says he is feeling fine now.

H. F. Hanson, from the Great Northern Railway at Niagra, N. Dak., has been calling on friends and relations at Essig, the past week. It will be remembered he used to be agent at Essig.

Bro. Murphy happy at Traverse as agent.

Bro. Carpenter laying off.

I understand J. W. Rice, St. Peter Junction nights, has handed over the necessary amount, and is entitled to be called brother.

Bro. H. J. Smith, Eagle Lake, on a lay off. Do not know man relieving him.

Bro. Wagner, Courtland, was off a few days this month.

F. C. Evans secured New Ulm by bulletin. Bro. Biersdorf holds same place during daylight hours. ACTING DIV. COR.

Wisconsin Division—

The meeting held at Milwaukee, August 11, was well attended, but some of the brothers from the north end failed to show up. The meetings at Milwaukee are to give you brothers from the north a chance to attend, and when you get another notice of a Milwaukee meeting be sure to be there, as you do not know what you missed. Bro.

Troy was there and gave us a very good talk, and we are always glad to have Uncle James with us.

We have initiated ten new members on the Wisconsin Division since July 1, and there are so few non-members left that if every one made it a point to talk to them there would be but few after next pay-day.

Bro. Peter Herman at West End nights, belongs to the singers, and had to be excused from the last meeting.

Bro. Smallwood, at Rockfield, is the busiest owl on the Air Line. He is working a side line of photos for postal cards. Any brother wishing to see his line will get one in return for one mailed to him. Always give your certificate number.

Bro. Litcher, from Eden, spent his vacation in Minneapolis.

Bro. Trinwith spent his vacation at Boone, Iowa. Baggage man Snyder, from West Bend, relieved him at Jackson during his absence. Mr. Snyder is now on the list as telegrapher, and will be with the boys when he gets even with the world.

We understand Bro. Andrews, from South Milwaukee, has left us to work for some manufacturing enterprise at South Milwaukee. All the good men going to work elsewhere means that we will have to get more money and better hours to keep them with us.

Bro. Geo. Zoch, from Lake Shore Junction, took a two weeks' vacation, Telegrapher Snyder doing the owl act.

Bro. W. A. Kraemer, from the dispatcher's office, spent a few weeks' vacation with his folks at Rockfield, Wis.

The next meeting will be at Waukegan, and we want all who possibly can to turn out, as there will be a watermelon feast and don't want anyone to miss it. Bro. O'Connor will do the carving and Bro. Scanlon will be the toastmaster. CERT. 66.

Northern Wisconsin Division—

Bro. McAvoy, of Plymouth, off on a ten days' fishing trip. He was relieved by Bro. Heinzelmann; Bro. Ward in turn relieving Bro. Heinzelmann.

Mr. S. C. Duley, of Sheboygan Falls, is off for a few days; relieved by Bro. Ward.

Bro. Noyes, of Appleton Junction nights, is enjoying a vacation at his home in Iowa, being relieved by Bro. J. S. Stark, of Kaukauna nights.

Bro. Haberkorn, of Fond du Lac days, is on a vacation, being relieved by Bro. G. Neitzel, "DU" nights, the latter relieved by Bro. Ransom. We "13" Bro. Ransom has joined the benedicts, if so we will no doubt smoke at our next meeting.

Bro. A. C. Lary expects to take a sixty-day leave and visit at points in Ohio, and take in the West.

Local Chairman Bro. Hackbert spent the afternoon of the 15th at North Fond du Lac, looking after matters pertaining to the Order.

Bro. Boller and wife of South Oshkosh, leave in a few days for an extended trip through the West, expecting to be gone about a month.

Bro. J. O. Sund off on a two weeks' vacation.

Several of the brothers attended the railroad picnic at North Fond du Lac. All seemed to enjoy themselves, especially Bro. Zuehlke, who took an active part in the ball game, even though he did get a battered thumb.

Bro. Morrissey, of Neenah nights, off for a few nights; relieved by Bro. J. S. Stary, of Kaukauna nights.

Bro. J. O. Sund has gone to work at South Oshkosh nights, while Bro. Flemming relieves Bro. Boller.

Bro. Stone, of Koshkonong, off a few days on account of taking over the postoffice at that point, making transfer of same; was relieved by Mr. J. L. Anderson.

The meetings of the past few months have been well attended, and we have had interesting subjects discussed. Let us have more of the south end men in attendance. Our next meeting will be held at Appleton, September 6th. General Chairman Troy will be with us, and to say that you will be missing a treat would be putting it very mild.

The voluntary assessment was taken up at our last meeting, which will go a long way to relieve the situation of our commercial brothers. Everyone expressed themselves as satisfied and willing to pay same. Let there be no delay in sending same in, as this money should be in their hands as soon as we can get it there. We hope they will win. Let every man on this division lend a helping hand and his hearty co-operation to Bro. Hackbert. There are a good many of the brothers who think the local chairman is the man to handle the whole situation, but this is wrong. It is impossible for him to do this without the support of every man on the division. Every member has a duty to perform outside of paying dues and attending meetings.

Keep after the non-members, see that the company is not infringing on our rights, and when you see that our agreement is being violated in any way just drop the local chairman a note, calling his attention to it. When you hear of a new man coming onto the division, find out if he is in line, and if not try and induce him to join. If we will all go after it in this manner our chairman will know that he is being properly supported, and that every man on his division is taking an interest in the Order, and he will feel that he is representing a solid and up-to-date membership. Let us give this a trial, and I assure you we will meet with success.

It is impossible for the men at the one-man stations to attend the meetings, but if these men would suggest things concerning their work and stations to Bro. Hackbert, these matters would be brought up and discussed at the meetings, and would give him a chance to investigate, and try and remedy them when in on committee work.

CERT. 100.

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, It has pleased an all-wise Providence to remove from our midst our brother and friend, L. B. Lewis, agent at Bradish, Neb., and while we bow in humble submission to the will of the Most High, who doeth all things for the best, and

WHEREAS, We, as an organization, feel that we have lost a most trusted friend and brother, the community an exemplary citizen, and the wife and family a devoted father and husband, and while his words of counsel, his cheerful presence, and his untiring devotion to the welfare of the people, will be sadly missed, we feel that our loss is his eternal gain. To the sorrowing widow and family we tender our heartfelt sympathy and consolation, and pray for the Comforter of the weary to give them strength and courage to fulfill their mission well. The absence of our brother at our meetings shall even tend to impress on us that we, too, must some day be numbered among the absent, and we hope for a meeting on the other side of the river.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes of our division, and a copy be published in THE TELEGRAPHER, and that a copy be sent to the family of our deceased brother.

HANS JENSEN,
W. C. DAY,
J. R. HOOD,
Committee.

Twin City Telegraphers' Club.

At the last meeting of the club we had with us part of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific committees, which, by the way, are here waiting upon the officials of these two roads, and expect to have a schedule signed in the very near future. That don't look so bad.

The club had installation of officers, after which we proceeded with regular business.

Bro. Lester was with us again, after an absence of one meeting night.

We had with us Bros. Newman, Holmes and Abbott, who gave us very interesting talks, which were well received and of much interest.

Bro. Liddane, the orator of the club, was with us and contributed the usual good advice on good of the order. He has at all times ideas and suggestions of interest to the boys in general, and they are always glad to hear what he has to offer.

Bro. Renshaw has not been with us for the last two meetings, but we hope to see him at our next.

Bro. Johnson, acting general chairman of Northern Pacific Division, No. 54, was at the meeting. Might also state that the brother is a member of the club, having taken out a card with the club with Bro. Emerick and other brothers of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern General Committee.

From the make-up of these committees, we think that both the Northern Pacific and Great Northern brothers are well represented, and that their interests will be well looked after.

We were all surprised to hear that our worthy brother, F. J. Winne, took unto himself a better half. We wish the brother much happiness in his new venture.

We installed our worthy President Beamer, and the club was much pleased to have the brother to act again as their president. He has made a very able president.

First Vice-President Foulkes, Second Vice-President Galvin, Sergeant-at-Arms Bassett, and Doorkeeper Lester are all good men, and the club chose well when they were fortunate enough to get these brothers to serve them. The new secretary-treasurer and acting club correspondent needs no mentioning, as he must do as the club directs.

We would like to see a few write-ups from the N. P. and G. N. in our journal. Both of these roads now have a complete set of local chairmen, and they ought to get busy. I think when the new general chairman, Bro. Johnson, gets going he may start some of them off. Let us hope so.

Our president having again overlooked the appointment of his club correspondent at our last meeting, he delegated me to act for this write-up of the club, but we expect he will find time at our next meeting to make an appointment.

ST. LOUIS TYPEWRITER EXCHANGE,

ESTABLISHED 20 YEARS

Home Office
808 Olive St.,
St. Louis, Mo.

New York Office
309 Broadway.

Simply a coupon. But send it NOW. Let us know that you are thinking about getting a new piano,—or that you might exchange your old piano for a better one. Do this for your own sake. We have an offer for YOU Don't think that the high Reputation of the Wing Piano means that the price is going to be exorbitant. Don't think that to get a piano at moderate price you must take a low-grade "Merchandise" piano. And don't rush to the other extreme, and pay an exorbitant price for a piano whose reputation is based only on its high price.

You must have the WING Book and the WING Offers, or you can't buy, or judge piano values, safely,—intelligently.

SPECIAL TERMS TO RAILROAD MEN

WING PIANOS

Are Pre-Eminently Musical Pianos. Manufactured in New York City for nearly 40 Years Past, They are Widely Known and Admired for Their Supreme Vibration, and the Flutelike Quality of that Vibration.

Delicate runs and embellishments are very pure in tone—free from the usual noise of stroke. A light, springy touch, not tiresome even to an invalid.

WE MAKE IT EASY FOR YOU TO TEST

We will send you any one of our numerous styles on 28 DAYS' TRIAL FREE, outward and return freights prepaid, in order to prove the remarkable qualities we claim them to possess over all others (and to this thousands of purchasers testify). Bear in mind if you will, our house has been in business 40 years and that our trade is ever increasing with no agents or their friends to help our business. The Wing Pianos have sung their way to fame for nearly half a century.

A TRUE ECONOMY

All the usual expenses of show-rooms, sal-men, agent's commission, local advertising, etc., is saved by the Wing System, and you get the whole benefit of it. The salesroom is your own home, the piano does its own talking and stands on its own merits. If your home requires a good piano our methods and capital save you a very considerable sum of money. The reasons we will fully explain in the printed matter we will send you. This saving will decidedly interest you. We do not claim miracles—we can't save you $2.00 on a $300 piano. We do save you at least $300 on a $500 piano; $75 on a $800 piano, etc., etc.

Compare the value we offer and the proofs we offer you. Compare not only the Wing Piano itself but the basis on which you will make your purchase.

It is not only what we offer, it is the way we invite investigation of our offers and the way our offers stand investigation.

YOU WILL RECEIVE ANYWAY

A large and handsome book, which we want to send you free by early mail (explains the entire subject of pianos).

A book of 156 pages—handsomely bound—it is called "The Book of Complete Information About Pianos;" it tells about the very first piano; the qualities of labor, felt, ivories and woods used in every artistic piano and compares high qualities with the cheaper kind used in inferior pianos.

It explains the devices of the average dealer and agent.

Illustrates the "Note-Accord" recommended by Paderewski. Describes what constitutes a musical piano tone.

You will want to see anyway the handsome books, miniature piano models, etc., which we send you free, so that you can think them over and can have them in your hands to compare with every other piano offer that may come to you.

Remember we sell these instruments at just about one-half the prices of the few others that most nearly approach the Wing quality of tone.

more Remington
Typewriters are used by

The Remington Typewriter

is the telegrapher's machine and the railroad man's machine. It is the machine for every man who has got to have a typewriter which can be depended on to stand up and do the work.

LINE INDICATOR & CARD WRITING ATTACHMENT

THE EXACT PRINTING POINT

☛ In addition to the fact that all of the writing on the Fox Visible Typewriter is always in sight, the line indicator not only shows the writing line, but it shows the exact printing point, so that the Fox Visible is just what we claim—

It shows the exact printing point.

Every feature that will facilitate rapid work (as far as seeing is concerned) is thus provided for.

TYPEWRITER EMPORIUM,

230 Fifth Avenue.

CHICAGO.

A RIBBON of three colors and a small lever that brings the color desired between the type and the paper—that's the three-color feature of which enables it to write black record for documents, purple copying for letters and red for emphasis or display.

The New Tri-Chrome Smith Premier Typewriter

It is so simple that the wonder is it was never discovered before. The ribbon-changing lever is as accessible as the keys, making it possible to change from one kind of typewriting to another in an instant.

A stenographer equipped with a Tri-Chrome Smith Premier can produce in proper manner every kind of typewriting any business office demands.

The price is the same as that of all Smith Premier models.

O. R. T. MEXICAN PLANTATION

My BROTHER:

Don't you believe that it is good, hard business sense for the members of the O. R. T. to go into business by themselves and for themselves! Don't you think that an

in the torrid zone of Old Mexico would be the very best business proposition that the members of our Order could enter! I do. That is why I am putting this matter before you, believing that you will later pay me for my trouble and expense. I am working as dispatcher for the C. M. de P. R. R. Have held this chair for two years and have been with this company four years. I am in no way connected with any land company or real estate agency. If you will write to me I will tell you as brother to brother, exactly how we can start a great plantation—a grand business in this new land of the tropics; in this new land of opportunity. Talk the matter over with the little woman. She will at least tell you to write and get my ideas. [Cert. 397.]

ALLEN FOUNTAIN BRUSH

THE ORDINARY OLD STYLE BATH BRUSH laden with filth, corruption and disease breeding germs, contaminated by the vile and poisonous excretions from the human body is fraught with untold dangers and to the man or woman of refinement is repulsive.

WASH RAGS and SPONGES do not open or cleanse pores, are superficial in action, unsanitary and germ breeding, do not refresh or invigorate.

THE ALLEN FOUNTAIN BATH BRUSH is SANITARY and SELF-CLEANING. Flushing of the bristles with pure clean water that flows through the Brush prevents contamination.

THE ALLEN is the ONLY BATH BRUSH possessing the "THREE IN ONE" essential functions, FRICTION, SHOWER and MASSAGE. The ONLY BATH BRUSH which at one operation opens the pores, thoroughly cleanses the skin, imparting a healthy tone and glow and puts one in condition to resist Colds, LaGrippe and all contagious and infectious diseases.

ITS USE PROMOTES clear complexion, bright eyes, cheerful spirits and sound refreshing sleep.

IN THE ORDINARY TUB BATH you rewash in water contaminated by previous contact with the body—water laden with dirt and impurities. With the Allen Fountain Brush CLEAN WATER ONLY is applied to any portion of the body at will. It secures all the scientific effects of the bath for the old or middle aged, for the robust and strong. The only safe bath for the delicate and weakly. A boon to womanhood—just the bath for the little ones.

PERMANENT VICTORY FROM TEMPORARY DEFEAT

No. 5.

IN the first round of litigation over patents on the mechanical transmitter, the lower court has held that the MECOGRAPH transmitters No. 3 are infringements of Martin's patent. We have appealed from that decision, and confidently expect to "land on top" when the appellate court renders its decision.

The Coffe Mecograph was the first mechanical transmitter placed on the market. (By mechanical transmitter, is meant one not requiring a battery.)

The Mecograph was received with such marked favor and worked such a revolution in telegraphy that, naturally, various other mechanical transmitters sprang into existence. Our temporary defeat brought on a violent brain storm, resulting in MECOGRAPH No. 5, one in no way affected by the litigations above referred to. It eclipses everything else in the line of transmitters, even MECOGRAPH No. 3.

It is the simplest, best made, most delightful transmitter an operator ever touched.

MAKE PAY-DAY

"SAVE-DAY"

ALMOST every one finds it hard to save money, yet admits that it is one of the most important things in life.

Like many other things, saving is largely a matter of habit.

Get Into the Habit of Saving!

Make a resolution today to lay aside a portion of your pay each week or month on pay-day, before it gets away from you, before "it burns a hole in your pocket," and deposit it in some reliable bank. There will then be no immediate temptation to spend it and you will also be receiving interest on your money.

One of the most reliable banks in the country, one that has withstood fire, financial panic and the test of time is

The Hibernian Bank

THE OLDEST SAVINGS BANK IN CHICAGO

It has a capital of One Million and a Half Dollars and a surplus of over One Million Dollars. It is now completing its forty-first successful year, having been established in 1867.

No matter where you live, you can open an account with THE HIBERNIAN BANK through its perfected system of "Banking By Mail." Send for circular. One Dollar opens a savings account. Interest is paid on all savings accounts.

THE HIBERNIAN BANK also has a large Commercial Department and has the best of facilities for handling open check accounts.

Its age and reliability make this institution an ideal depository for trust or society funds. If you are the trustee of any such moneys or know of any one who is, it would be glad to have you investigate its fitness for handling such. Your recommendation of this Bank to any of your friends will be highly appreciated.

The Commercial Telegraphers' Strike

SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS FOLLOW EACH OTHER IN RAPID SUCCESSION

President Small is Suspended from Office

SPECIAL CONVENTION IS CALLED

DEVELOPMENTS of the most sensational character have recently occurred in connection with the commercial telegraphers' strike.

On the afternoon of Saturday, October 12th, President Small sent the following telegram in cipher by Western Union to the officers of the various locals of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union throughout the country, a translation of which telegram was published in many of the leading newspapers of the country on the same evening:

"NEW YORK, Oct. 12, 1907.

"Prominent New Yorkers appealed to me to call the strike off.

"All efforts at negotiations are exhausted, and the companies' officials say they will fight to a finish. The treasury is depleted and no more funds are available. Requests for relief from all sides are heavy and urgent. The General Assembly can not meet them. The strike having been ordered without the President's sanction, I recommend that locals vote on the proposition.

(Signed) "S. J. SMALL."

The receipt of this telegram caused a profound sensation in the ranks of the striking commercial telegraphers, as it was looked upon by the rank and file as a recommendation on the part of President Small that the strike be declared off, and the fact that it had been sent by telegraph and its contents had become generally known through its publication in the various newspapers of the country added fuel to the flame.

The message was considered by practically every local of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union within twenty-four hours after its receipt, and advices from the headquarters of that union in Chicago at the time of going to press are to the effect that the locals have, without exception, voted to continue the strike.

On October 13th the General Executive Board, a majority of which Board has been in continuous session at the headquarters in Chicago since the strike was inaugurated, suspended President Small from his office, and the following telegram was sent him:

"CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 13, 1907.

"S. J. Small, Astor House, New York:

"Under Article XV, Section 7, of the Constitution of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, you are hereby suspended from the office of President, to take effect immediately.

(Signed) "S. J. KONENKAMP,
Acting Chairman.

"MICHAEL J. REIDY,

"JOSEPH M. SULLIVAN,

"General Executive Board."

A call for a special session of the General Assembly was then issued by the General Executive Board, which was addressed to all locals of the union, and which read in part as follows:

"Under the provisions of Article VI, Section 2, of the Constitution of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, you are hereby directed to elect delegates to represent your local at a special convention, to be held in the city of Milwaukee on Wednesday, October 23, 1907, at one o'clock p. m., to consider ways and means to make this strike more effective, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention."

The following notification was also sent the various locals of the action taken by the General Executive Board in suspending President Small from his office:

"CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 14, 1907.

To All Locals, Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America:

You are hereby notified that the General Executive Board, in due exercise of the authority vested in it, has suspended S. J. Small from the presidency of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. The strike will be conducted by and under the direction of the General Executive Board. You are directed to do everything possible to keep your striking brothers and sisters in line. It is the intention of the Board that in the future the strike shall be conducted by men who have red blood.

(Signed) "S. J. KONENKAMP,
Acting Chairman.

"MICHAEL J. REIDY,

"JOSEPH M. SULLIVAN,

"General Executive Board."

The commercial telegraphers have made a most excellent fight, and it is to be regretted that anything should have occurred within their ranks to in the least detract their attention from the main issue, but there seems every reason to believe that the special session of the General Assembly will result in clearing up the situation.

One effect that the present strike will have, regardless of its ultimate outcome, will be to materially reduce the supply of commercial telegraphers, as many have, since the strike was inaugurated, found employment in other vocations, and they will not return to the key. The Chicago American, in a recent editorial, ably sums up the situation in this regard as follows:

"Many of the telegraph operators who went on a strike a month ago will never return to their keys. They have found employment in other lines of work, and find it more pleasant as well as more profitable than telegraphing. It is said that fully one-half of the strikers will eventually seek new occupations. We predict that they will prosper.

"Telegraphing is, with the possible exception of printing, the most technical of trades. It demands more than ordinary intelligence to be a first-rate telegraph operator; it also requires years of experience. A really expert operator possesses qualifications which, if employed in other business, would bring in a great deal more than the average operator's salary.

"This is demonstrated in the fact that scores of men high in the railroad and commercial world began life as telegraphers. They abandoned the trade because they could exercise their ability to better advantage in other business. The strike will influence hundreds of telegraphers to a similar decision. There will be a scarcity of operators and the result will be an advance in wages, no matter how the strike ends.

"In almost all the other trades wages have advanced during the last ten years. Telegraphers receive less today than they got ten years ago. The determination of a large proportion of the strikers to abandon telegraphy altogether will remedy this injustice automatically by creating a shortage of operators.

"The telegraph companies may defy the principles of justice and humanity, but they can not ignore the law of supply and demand. They will have to pay bigger wages hereafter if they hope to get competent operators."

THE BOND QUESTION.

IN the September issue of THE TELEGRAPHER the Editor gave his views on "The Bond Question," which, in brief, were to the effect that the only solution of this much-discussed question seemed to be the formation of a bond company by the members of the Order who were interested in the question, by the establishment of a bond company with a capital of $250,000 divided into 25,000 shares of $10 each.

A few days ago a circular letter was addressed to all General Chairmen, requesting an expression of opinion from them on the plan suggested, and up to the time of going to press replies have been received from nearly one-half of them, all of whom, with one exception, announce themselves as in accord with the suggested plan. The one exception referred to failed to express his opinion on the subject.

The following extracts are taken from the replies received:

One General Chairman writes:

"Am in receipt of your circular letter addressed to all General Chairmen, in regard to 'The Bond Question,' and in reply will say that I think the plan suggested by you in the September TELEGRAPHER is the nearest solution we will ever get to the much-debated and perplexing 'Bond Question,' and believe we will have no trouble in getting a clause inserted in our schedule providing that we may be bonded in any reliable guaranty company of our own selection. Am very glad, indeed, to see that some action is to be taken on this question, and should the plan go into effect and the company be formed, will do all in my power to further and promote its welfare. Will want a few shares myself."

Another General Chairman writes:

"Your circular letter of the 5th inst. to all General Chairmen relative to the bond question received. In reply to same will say that I heartily endorse your views on the matter, and think that this is the only way we can possibly solve the bond problem, and it certainly should be looked after."

Still another General Chairman writes:

"I think the idea of organizing a bond company, to be composed of and for the benefit of the members of the Order is a good one, and I feel sure it will meet with the approval of a majority, if not all the members. I see no reason why the plan is not feasible, and if properly managed should prove successful."

Another General Chairman writes:

"Referring to the bond question in September TELEGRAPHER, I am heartily in favor of organizing a company as outlined. Believe it would be a good move for the telegraphers, and give strength to the organization and be a good investment for those who wish to take stock."

Another General Chairman writes:

"Referring to your circular letter of October 5th, I have not received my September TELEGRAPHER, and do not know what your remarks were on this subject, but do know that no more flagrant and unjust imposition, tyranny and burden was ever laid on men's shoulders than the present system of bonding railroad employees. I have personal knowledge of several good, honest and worthy men who are denied bond for the most trivial reasons, and when they made an effort to straighten the matter out with the surety people, they were arrogantly told that there was 'Nothing doing.' Our members have been smarting under the injustices of the various surety companies for many years, and they are a unit that we should be our own security. They all know that to be barred by one of these companies means to be barred by all, for they have a system that prevents one company from bonding any man refused by any other company."

A large number of letters have been received by the Editor from members throughout the country since the September journal was issued, heartily endorsing the proposed plan, and in them requests have been made that the matter be submitted at once, but it is deemed best to carry out the plan announced in the last issue that the subject would be held open for discussion until the January issue of THE TELEGRAPHER, in which issue a blank will be printed to enable the membership to decide whether or not the proposed company shall be formed.

ACCIDENTS.

THE number of persons killed in train accidents during the months of October, November and December, 1906, as shown in reports made by the railroad companies to the Interstate Commerce Commission under the "accident law" of March 3, 1901, was 474, and the injured number 4,940. Accidents of other kinds, including those sustained by employees while at work and by passengers in getting on or off the cars, etc., bring the total number of casualties up to 20,944, of which 1,430 were killed and 19,514 injured, classified as follows: Killed in collisions, 308; in derailments, 146; in miscellaneous train accidents, including locomotive boiler explosions, 20; in coupling and uncoupling cars, 84; in doing other work about trains and while attending switches, 79; in coming in contact with overhead bridges, structures at side of track, etc., 37; in falling from cars or engines, or while getting on or off, 263; from other causes, 493.

Injured in collisions, 2,960; in derailments, 1,517; in miscellaneous train accidents, including locomotive boiler explosions, 463; in coupling and uncoupling cars, 1,083; in doing other work about trains or while attending switches, 4,464; in coming in contact with overhead bridges, structures at side of track, etc., 425; in falling from cars or engines, or while getting on or off, 3,820; from other causes, 4,782.

The report shows that there were 180 passengers killed in train accidents during the three months covered, which is the largest number ever reported for a like period, with the exception of that for the quarter ending September 30th, 1904, when the number was 288.

The report shows an alarming increase in fatalities, both in regard to passengers and employees, as compared with the report for the preceding three months, as shown by the following figures:

Passengers killed in train accidents during three months ending December 31st, 1906, 180; passengers killed in train accidents during three months ending September 30th, 1906, 52.

Passengers killed all causes quarter ending December 31st, 1906, 234; passengers killed all causes quarter ending September 30th, 1906, 110.

Employees killed in train accidents quarter ending December 31st, 1906, 294; employees killed in train accidents quarter ending September 30, 1906, 215.

Employees killed in coupling quarter ending December 31, 1906, 84; employees killed in coupling quarter ending September 30, 1906, 81.

Total passengers and employees killed, all causes, quarter ending December 31, 1906, 1,430; total passengers and employees killed, all causes, quarter ending September 30, 1906, 1,182. Of the 180 passengers killed during the quarter ending December 31, 1906, 143 were killed in three accidents, which are described in the report as follows:

"A collision, causing the death of forty-three passengers and the injury of sixty-three, occurred at Terra Cotta, D. C., on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, on the night of December 30, 1906, between 6:30 and 7 o'clock. The night was dark and a dense fog prevailed. The leading train, No. 66, had just stopped at the station when it was run into at the rear by a following extra train, consisting of an engine and eight empty passenger cars, and its rear car was completely wrecked. The circumstances of this collision are under investigation, and the Commission intends to issue a special bulletin containing a summary of the facts and its conclusions therefrom.

"Collision No. 28, resulting in the death of forty-two passengers and one trainman, and the injury of 150 passengers and five trainmen, was between a westbound passenger train and an eastbound freight. It occurred about three o'clock in the morning during a blinding snowstorm. The engines were wrecked and took fire, and five passenger cars, one baggage car, and three freight cars were burned up. The bodies of the passengers who were killed, except two, were consumed in the fire. The passenger train was No. 47, second section. The first section of the passenger train carried green flags to indicate to freight trains running in the opposite direction that they must keep out of the way of the second section, but the freight in this case did not get, or did not heed, the signals, and started out from a side track, where it had been waiting, immediately after the passage of the first section. The signal lights fixed on the passenger engine close to the signal flags were not burning, and therefore the men in charge of the freight had no visual notice that there would be a second section of the passenger train.

"To provide against the failure of lights in such cases the engineman of the passenger train is required to sound a whistle signal at the point where he meets a freight train. In this case the engineman says that he sounded the whistle, indicating that he was carrying green signals, and the men in charge of the freight admit that they heard a whistle signal, but thought it sounded like a crossing signal. The signal which should have been given consists of one long blast and two short blasts, while that for a highway crossing consists of two long and two short blasts. Whatever may have been the character of this signal, the engineman of the freight, if he understood it to be a notice of a second section, should have acknowledged it by sounding the whistle of his engine. He did not sound this signal. This being so, it was the duty of the engineman of the passenger train, under the rule, to stop and give the proper notice to the freight train by word of mouth. This was not done, and the passenger engineman can give no excuse for his failure to do so. This engineman is reported as having a clear record for the five years preceding the accident. As to the extinguishment of his signal lights, he says that they were burning when he left a station about thirty miles east of the point of collision. The snow was falling rapidly at the time and the wind was blowing a gale, and he appears to have allowed the lamps to go out without paying attention to the fact. This engineman had been in the service of the road sixteen years, and had been on duty two hours and thirty minutes, after a sufficient time for rest.

"One of the most serious derailments on record was due to an unexplained fault in a drawbridge. The train, southbound, was made up of three cars, propelled by electricity, the leading car being the motor car. It was running at ordinary speed, probably thirty to forty miles an hour. At the entrance of the drawbridge the leading car jumped the track and, after running a short distance on the ties, the leading truck of the car rode over the guard timber at the outer edge of the bridge floor, and the car, with the two following it, fell into the stream below. Of the passengers in the cars fifty-six, with the motorman—fifty-seven persons in all—were drowned, and thirty-six passengers were injured. The drawbridge is of the "turntable" style, turning on a vertical axis. It had been opened for the passage of a vessel a short time before.

Preparatory to opening, the rails of the track at the end of the draw, which extend over a few inches onto the fixed span adjoining, had been lifted so as to clear the fixed rails during the movement of the bridge. When the bridge was returned to its normal position for the movement of trains the supports under these lifted rails were withdrawn, and the rails should have dropped into place by gravity. For some reason, not explained, one or both of the rails of the southbound track did not thus drop, though the bridge itself was locked in position; and this caused the derailment. The attendant in charge had failed to notice the fault, although he stepped to a point within a few feet of the end of the draw to take up a red flag which, according to the regulations, he had displayed on the fixed span as an auxiliary stop signal while the draw was open. Not seeing the misplaced rail, he took up the flag and notified the signalman in the cabin south of the draw that the fixed semaphore signals might be cleared for trains. These fixed signals were interlocked with the bridge, but not with the track rails, and therefore there was nothing to prevent the giving of the clear signal to this train, notwithstanding the imperfection in the track.

"The attendant at the bridge who thus wrongfully authorized a clear signal was sixty-five years old, a man of experience in positions of this kind, and with a good previous record."

One person was killed and five injured in a collision between two freight trains, which, the report shows, was due to an error in train order, the figures "95" being written for "75."

A collision is reported between two freight trains, in which no one was injured or killed, which is described as follows: "Signalman gave false clear block signal to westbound train; operator failed to deliver order to eastbound train. One of these men in service eighteen days, the other eight months."

Two persons were killed and thirty-three injured in a collision between a passenger and freight train, due to the telegrapher omitting the word "second" from a train order. He had been in service six weeks.

One person was killed and one injured in a collision between two freight trains caused by the telegrapher omitting the words "second 155" from a train order, though, the report states, he repeated it correctly to the dispatcher. He had been in service thirty-nine days.

Four persons were killed and three injured in a collision between two freights, due to failure on part of telegrapher to deliver a train order. The report states he decamped immediately after the accident.

Three persons were injured in a collision between two freight trains due to failure of telegrapher to deliver "meet" order on account of having fallen asleep. He had been on duty twenty-four hours.

One person was killed and thirteen injured in a collision between a passenger and a freight train, the cause of which the report describes as follows: "Dispatcher sent order reading 'No. 50.' Order delivered reading 'No. 52.' Impossible to decide whether error is chargeable to dispatcher or to the receiving operator."

Three persons were killed and three injured in a collision between two freight trains, due to failure of telegrapher to deliver an order. He had three orders for one of the trains and only delivered two.

RAILROAD STATISTICS.

THE nineteenth annual statistical report of the Interstate Commerce Commission on railroads for the year ending June 30th, 1906, which has recently been made public, contains much interesting information. It shows that the par value of railway capital outstanding was $14,570,421,478, or $67,936 per mile for the railroads in the United States.

Of the railway stock outstanding, the report shows $2,267,175,799 was owned by railway corporations, and of the railway bonds $641,305,030 are placed in the same category.

The report shows that the aggregate gross earnings from the operated mileage of 222,340 miles of lines were $2,325,765,167. Their operating expenses were $1,536,877,271. The net earnings aggregated $788,887,896, an increase of $97,007,642. The net earnings per mile of line average $8,548. The income attributable to other sources than operation reached $256,639.591.

Deducting fixed and other charges, the report says $385,186.328 is the net income for the year available for dividends or surplus. There was 799,507,838 passengers carried, an increase of over 60,000,000, and 1,631,374,219 tons of freight carried, an increase of over 202,000,000. The average revenue per passenger per mile was 2.002 cents. The earnings per train mile were increased both for passenger and freight trains, and the average cost of running a train one mile increased. The ratio of operating expenses to earnings was over 60 per cent.

The report shows 10,618 persons killed and 97,706 injured. There was a total of 1,521,355 persons on the pay-roll.

The report shows that one passenger was killed for every 2,227,041 carried, while in 1905 one passenger was killed for every 1,375,856 carried. One person was injured for every 74,176 passengers carried, as against one injured in every 70,655 passengers carried in 1905. For each passenger killed 70,126,686 passenger miles were accomplished, against only 44,320,576 passenger miles in 1905. One passenger was injured for every 2,338,859 miles, against 2,276,002 miles in 1905.

The report shows an average of 684 employes per 100 miles of line. There was an increase of forty-seven employes per 100 miles of line over 1905. Wages and salaries paid to employes aggregated $900,801,653, but it is stated that this amount is deficient by more than $27,000,000 because of the loss of railway records in the San Francisco earthquake. There were 2,213 railway corporations for which mileage is included. During the year railway companies owning 4,054.46 miles of line were reorganized, merged or consolidated.

The number of roads in the hands of receivers was thirty-four. The number of locomotives and cars in the service of the railways aggregated 2,010,584, of which 1,827,789 were fitted with train brakes and 1,989,796 with automatic couplers. Only 1.54 per cent of cars in the passenger service were without automatic couplers.

REQUEST TO KEEP AWAY.

DALLAS Local No. 549 of the Textile Workers of America has issued the following circular addressed to all organized workmen throughout the country:

"Since August 19th, 1907, our union has been on strike against the Dallas Cotton Mills at this place. We struck because some twenty of our members were discharged for their unionism, and we are determined not to go back until the safety of our union is guaranteed by a union-shop agreement.

"Though our union is composed largely of women and children, it has fought a splendid fight, and is determined to continue it.

"We want no money from you, but we need your help otherwise.

"The mills are leaving no stone unturned in their effort to get operatives. Let us leave no stone unturned in telling our brothers about the mills' hateful proceedings. We are paid almost the lowest wages in any industry, are worked ten hours per day, and have no say at all about the conditions under which we work. The union is our only hope of bettering our class. Every person who comes to work in the mill now hurts us all. The mill has already imported some fifteen Europeans who can not speak English. It has one woman in the mill whom we can not endure for our wives and daughters to associate with. Thus far no person who comes will do himself any good, but only harm us.

"What we ask is this: Remember that the Dallas Cotton Mills are unfair; that all the unions are fighting them, and that they are trying to ruin our union. Help spread this news. Tell this not only to your union brothers, but to all of your friends and acquaintances, especially in the country and in the manufacturing districts.

"Do this, brothers; and don't, for the love of unionism, just file this letter without any thought. Put up the enclosed poster in a conspicuous place and help those who will help you when you ask a similar favor. Our interests are one; let us help one another."

EDITORIAL NOTES

At the time of going to press, 34,825 members had paid dues for the current term.

Several articles on the eight-hour day and the $75.00 minimum were crowded out of this issue.

One thousand two hundred and thirty-four new members were initiated into the Order during the month of September.

It is stated that E. Holzworth, agent for the Rock Island at Hutchison, Kas., has gone into the student business.

The attention of correspondents is again called to the fact that line-ups are not published. Several were received for this issue of the journal, which were not used.

Earnest V. Seigle, formerly agent for the Wabash at Dalton, Mo., it is stated, has been scabbing for one of the commercial companies in Kansas City. He is not a member of the O. R. T.

The American Federation of Labor, at the request of the Coopers' International Union, has placed the Finsch Distilling Company of Pittsburg, Pa., on the unfair list. This concern is the producer of the "Golden Wedding Whiskey."

It is stated that Robt. L. Murray has opened a telegraph school at Shell Lake, Wis. It is further stated that Murray was recently discharged by the C., St. P., M. & O. Railway for incompetency. He should make an elegant "professor."

A superintendent of a southwestern road recently inquired of a subordinate as to the cause of more than an hour's delay in making up a train at a station. In reply to his message of inquiry he received the following, which no doubt was most explanatory: "Yard engine does not work Sundays; nobody works but the agent."

A wreck occurred near Bellaire, Ohio, on September 28, whereby eight people were killed and many injured, which wreck occurred on the Baltimore & Ohio Railway, and was caused, it is stated, by the lever-man throwing a "cross-over" switch contrary to instructions.

The annual convention of the American Federation of Labor meets in Norfolk, Va., on Monday, November 11th. President H. B. Ferham, Grand Secretary and Treasurer L. W. Quick, and Past President D. G. Ramsay, are the delegates to that convention from the Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

It is stated that Chas. P. O'Neil, who was recently employed at Lemars, Iowa, on the Illinois Central, is now scabbing for one of the commercial telegraph companies in Des Moines, Iowa. A member, in furnishing this information to the Editor, says: "He is not a member of the O. R. T., for the reason that he could not get anyone to sign his application."

In future the publication of a brief account of all wrecks, together with their causes, especially where telegraphers are concerned, will be made a specialty in these notes. Members are requested to furnish the Editor as promptly as possible with an account of any wreck occurring in their territory, together with all facts in connection therewith. It is believed that the publication of this information may be the means of preventing a re-occurrence in some other section of the country of the incident responsible for the wreck.

The Editor was recently the recipient of a box of O. R. T. cigars from Bro. R. H. Hays, member of the Grand Division, who is in the cigar business at Milstead, Ala., and who handles a special brand named after the Order. The cigars are in keeping with their name.

Oliver McKenzie, formerly employed by the Illinois Central at Makanda, Ill., and who, during his employment at that office, was benefited to the extent of $17.50 per month by the various schedules that were made on that line during the time of his employment there, in a printed circular announces himself as a full-fledged "professor" of telegraphy, and solicits students. The "lams" are only required to give up fifty dollars each.

A press dispatch from Moberly, Mo., under date of September 23, states that the head-on collision between two freight trains on the M., K. & T., which occurred near Paris, Mo., on that date, and through which four persons were killed and several injured, was caused by the failure of a nineteen-year-old boy at Paris to deliver an order.

It is stated that S. P. King, whose name appears on the Katy scab list, is now working days at Crucero, Cal., for the San Pedro Line.

One of the most deliberate cases of scabbing recorded during the commercial telegraphers' strike is that of Angie A. Walker, who is now and has been for a number of years employed in "GM" office of the Wabash Ry. in St. Louis. Although drawing $75 per month from her regular position she has been putting in all the time possible outside her regular hours at the Western Union scabbing. This is one of the most deliberate cases of scabbing on record, and will, no doubt, be remembered by the fraternity at large.

An Appleton City, Mo., newspaper publishes the following: "J. A. Gerard, who has been station agent for the M., K. & T. Railway at Appleton City since 1885, and who has been in the employ of the company since 1873, has tendered his resignation to the superintendent, to take effect as soon as another man can be provided for the place. While Mr. Gerard does not feel that he has reached the age in life where he is willing to retire from work entirely, he is compelled to give up the place here on account of the large amount of labor demanded of him, and the fact that sufficient help to handle the business of the road at this station has not been furnished him."

Another scab has met his "reward."

By request of several members of the Order, that part of the working agreement between the Commercial Telegraphers' Union and the Order of Railroad Telegraphers as regards the duty of one organization towards the other in case of strike is reproduced. It is as follows:

"That when a strike or lockout occurs where a joint demand has not been made, but where one of the organizations, parties to this agreement, shall be involved, it shall be compulsory, without further notice, for members of the other organization to protest against handling telegraph business other than that handled before the strike or lockout occurred, provided that nothing herein shall be construed to mean that a sympathetic strike can take place before being constitutionally legalized."

The Sioux City, Iowa, Journal publishes the following item under a Mason City, Iowa, date in its September 10th issue:

"A surprise party awaited the non-union machinists, boilermakers and helpers for the round houses of the Milwaukee on the return of the Grievance Committee sent some weeks ago to Chicago to ask for an increase of wages on their return to find out that this time the non-union men were 'pushed off the map.' They will not get the raise of 3½ cents per hour granted at the conference, but will continue with the same old wage, while their more fortunate brethren who are members of the union will get the benefit.

"The reason given by the committee is that the non-union men do not in any way contribute a cent to the union to help defray the expenses of the committee which secured the raise. Heretofore the non-union men received all the benefits secured by the union men in the matter of shorter time and wages, when it was given by the officials.

"The railroad decided to allow the union men 40½ cents per hour, while the non-union men will receive their present wage of 37 cents."

The statement issued by the Bureau of Immigration for the month of August, 1907, shows that there were 93,825 aliens landed at the various ports of entry in the United States during that month; that there were 1,083 debarred from entrance classified as follows: Idiots, 1; imbeciles, 6; feeble-minded, 13; epileptics, 5; insane, 11; loathsome or dangerous contagious diseases, 368; professional beggars, 1; likely to become public charges, 305; mentally or physically unsound, 118; contract laborers, 147; accompanying aliens, 25; under sixteen years of age and unaccompanied by parents, 14; assisted aliens, 18; criminals, 10; polygamists, 2; prostitutes and procurers, 11; without passport, 13; under provisions of Chinese Exclusion Act, 15. The report also shows that there were 269 aliens returned by the immigration authorities after landing. The total number of aliens landed in the United States during the month of August, 1906, was 81,592.

It is stated that injury in a riot was responsible for the introduction of the bill which later became a law, and which is known as the Erdman Arbitration Law. As is generally known, this law was passed by Congress in 1898 and was introduced by Congressman C. J. Erdman of Ohio. The Philadelphia Record, in publishing a history of this now famous bill, says, in part:

"In the great railroad strike in Pennsylvania in 1877, the Fourth Regiment, of which ex-Congressman C. J. Erdman was the adjutant, was sent to Reading, where rioting was going on. When the regiment arrived it came into collision with the rioting strikers in the now famous railroad cut, through which the regiment was marched, at Seventh and Court streets. In the fight Adjutant Erdman was rendered unconscious by a stone thrown by a rioter. When he recovered consciousness he found himself lying on a heap of dead and wounded strikers, his right hand in the crushed skull of a dead man, wet with blood. The adjutant calmly wiped his hand, and was then carried to the railroad station, where he was placed on board a train and brought to his home, in this city.

"From that experience he decided that something must be done in order to do away with similar occurrences. His opportunity came when he was elected to Congress. One of his first acts was to draw up and introduce the bill now known as the Erdman law. President Cleveland, who was heartily in sympathy with the proposed act, gave him every aid, and it soon became a law.

"Peculiarly enough, at that time the measure was opposed by the very railroads which now want to appeal to its provisions. Its strong feature is its absolute impartiality."

Boost the friends of labor.

Work is the pathway to worth.

* * *

Those who can not dream can not do.

* * *

To think well is the way to act rightly.

* * *

All that is gained by action may be lost by inaction.

* * *

Substantial prosperity never existed in a low wage country.

* * *

Prosperity is greatest where labor is prosperously employed.

Labor's problem would be solved if we bought no non-union goods.

Good wages with good conditions are the handmaids of contentment.

He is the greatest leader who knows and feels the needs of those who follow.

The most practical, most powerful friend of the workingman is his purchasing power.

Organization is the only expedient by which the worker can retain any individual rights.

* * *

The dentists are forming a union. There is no reason why they should not pull together.

* * *

Unless you stand up for your principles you need not expect to have them respected by others.

The destiny of the worker depends upon his actions. We are all expected to do our utmost.

Injunctions as issued against workmen are never used or issued against any other citizen of our country.

* * *

It is noticeable that anti-union employers find it expedient to offer union wages in order to secure non-union help.

Without organization, injustice will continue, disorder will continue, and government and law themselves will be endangered.

It is much easier to call a strike than to settle one, hence haste should be made slowly and careful preparation made beforehand.

Hours of labor have been shortened by reason of union men's agitation; wages are higher and liberties safeguarded because of what union men have done.

The New York Labor Bulletin, just issued by the Department of Labor, gives the number of organized men and women in the Empire State as 398,494.

It is not yet fully understood how much good the labor movement has already accomplished in the life of mankind, nor how much it is its mission to achieve.

The boilermakers' strike on the Mexican Central Railroad will be arbitrated by President Diaz, who has been selected as mediator by both sides to the controversy.

Say, boys, it is generally an enemy of an order that wants to stir up any sort of a discord. Keep that in mind when you hear some people "talking through their hats."

Every time a union man spends money he becomes an employer of labor in the broader sense. Which are you going to employ, Mr. Union Man, scab labor or union labor?

Every obstacle placed in the path of organized labor, in its onward march toward better and still better conditions, should be an incentive for redoubled effort and a greater determination to win.

Organized labor does not want strikes; it wants peace. It does not, however, want the peace that existed between the master and the slave; it wants the peace that comes from an understanding between employer and employee to respect each other's rights and to be just and honest with one another.

has no right to kick if he has to work long hours and receives low wages. Independentism means division and division invariably brings destruction.

All the clerks in the office of the master mechanic of the Rock Island at Goodland, Kan., have been discharged for refusing to don overalls and clean and dress cars during the one-day strike of the car repairers.

This is the peace of justice for which every true trade unionist hopes, prays and works.

So labor must not use its patronage as it will—that is, if Van Cleave, of Buck's Stove and Range Company fame, has his way. But what vested right has that company in the patronage of labor or of labor's friends? It is their own to withhold or bestow as their interest or fancy may direct.

An expert who has been compiling data on strikes declares that the greatest number of strikes occur in the building trades, and that the second greatest number is in the textile trades.

When the most sordid and vicious in the capitalist class combine to crush the hopes and aspirations of the toiling, wealth-producing masses, it behooves all the workers to organize, unite, and federate for the common good.

Referring to the attitude of capital toward labor, Lincoln Steffens says: "A man with $50,000,000 can understand why he wants a billion dollars, but he can't understand why a man who gets $2.75 per day wants $3."

* * *

Injunctions issued in labor disputes are not based on law, but are a species of judicial legislation—judicial usurpation in the interest of the money power against workmen, innocent of any unlawful or criminal act, the doing of the lawful acts rendering the workers guilty of contempt of court.

* * *

The writ of injunction is in itself a beneficent writ for the protection of property rights, but it never was intended and never should be applied to deprive men of their personal rights or the right of man's ownership of himself; the right of freedom of locomotion; freedom of assembly; freedom of association; the freedom of doing those things, which promote life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and which are not in violation of law.

You never heard a union man apologize for buying goods with the label on, but how often do you see one squirm and wriggle for an excuse to explain why he gives his union wages for the product of cheap tenement house or prison-made goods? A merchant respects a union man who calls for union labeled goods, but he has only secret contempt for the union man who is too weak to insist on getting union goods for union money.

Labor asks no immunity for any man who may be guilty of unlawful or criminal conduct. But we do insist that when a workman is charged with a crime he shall be tried by the same process of law as any other citizen. Any other method is repugnant to the constitution and the laws of the country. It is a shock to the conscience of our people; the spirit and genius of our republic. Against any other view we protest; with anything less we shall not be content.

It is eminently dangerous and destructive to the best interests of the individual wage worker to proceed as if there were no other wage workers; and infinitely to his advantage to seek for and adopt measures by which he may move so as not to jar and perhaps overturn himself as well as others.

* * * We declare that not only are organizations of workmen right and proper, but that they have the elements, if wisely administered, of positive advantage and benefit to the employer.

Let us concentrate our efforts to organize all the forces of wage labor and, within the ranks, contest fairly and openly for the different views which may be entertained upon the different steps to be taken to move the grand army of labor onward and forward. In no organization on earth is there such toleration, so great a scope, and so free a forum as inside the ranks of the American Federation of Labor, and nowhere is there such a fair opportunity afforded for the advocacy of a new or brighter thought.

Mark Jardine, who recently took his seat as Mayor of the city of Rockford, Ill., is a member of the Leather Workers' Union and past president of the national organization. He won a three-cornered contest, defeating the Republican and the Democratic candidates, and is recognized by the 40,000 inhabitants of Rockford as a straight out "labor" Mayor. The local press says that Mr. Jardine was elected by a combination of the solid labor vote with a liberal percentage of the temperance and church vote of the city.

Organized labor makes a higher standard of wages. This has a tendency to elevate the wage of unorganized labor. In the same degree the low rate to which unorganized labor is forced to submit has its influence in lowering the standard sought by organized labor. Thus, non-unionism is an obstruction to the prosperity of the wage earner and society.—Ex.

The man who joins a labor union and then begins to find fault with its management, criticise its officers, and otherwise to create doubt and distrust among members and non-members is to be pitied for his lack of horse sense. He wants the union to get results, but everything he does and says has a tendency to prevent the very thing he most desires. In fact, he is himself an obstacle in the way of progress, a stumbling block to his craft. Good results for any craft are never obtained by men of this character. The men who get results are the men who have confidence in themselves, in their fellow men, and in those who are trying to improve the conditions of their craft. These men prove their faith by their works, and win their goal by striving for it. They are the power which makes the vehicle move forward. The knockers who do nothing but doubt and complain are just so much mud on the wheels.

The men who fight the battles of labor, who make enemies of capitalists and corporations by what they do and say, have trials enough to encounter without feeling that they must also be on their guard against enemies in the very ranks of labor who ought to be their friends and supporters. But while it is discouraging to know that there are creatures so despicable as to seek to blight the good work of loyal men, it must never be forgotten that the sound sense and good judgment of the great majority of the laboring people can be relied upon to scorn the work of gossips and render futile the efforts of the falsifier who would willingly wreck every hope of labor's future that in the ruins they might find some petty hate or malice gratified.

MISCELLANY

THE ADOLESCENCE OF NUMBER EIGHTY-SEVEN.

THE prairie drift-snow shrilled and whined under the slowly moving wheels, as the engine for Number Three backed down to the ice-hung water tank. To Web Ross, up in the cab, it sounded loud and ludicrous, like the squealing of a trainload of hungry pigs.

In the thermometer against the wall of the squat little Canadian Pacific station house the mercury was frozen in the bulb. It was at least forty degrees below zero. Just how much colder than that it might be neither Web nor the thermometer could tell.

But as the high-shouldered young engineer swung down from the cab steps, with his oil can and his waste in his hand, he noticed that the snow crunched sharp and crisp under his boots, like dry charcoal, and he could feel the sting of the keen air in his nostrils.

"Cold work, eh?" said a voice, almost at his shoulder.

Web looked around, unconcernedly, as any man of solemn responsibilities should. Three months before he had been a wiper in the Moosehead roundhouse. To reach the throttle after only a quarter of a year of firing was unusual, tending, naturally enough, to give a man an undue sense of his own importance. But three months before, the engineer of the Transcontinental Express had been blown from the cab of his huge camelback by the bursting of a steam pipe. A trackman had found him with a broken hip, and sent the alarm east and west, to keep the road clear for the wildcat train. It was Web who volunteered to pull out of Moosehead on a special engine and take the rail ahead of the runaway, slowing down gradually, until he was able to jump from his tender to the pilot of the wildcat, and then scramble perilously up to the cab and shut off the throttle. So Web had accepted his subscription gold watch with a grin and taken a little pride in his promotion.

"Uncommon cold!" repeated the stranger, stepping a little nearer. His face was muffled in the upturned corner of his heavy overcoat, and he clattered his heels, boyishly, on the trodden snow.

Web was busy watching the black oil drip into the polished brass cup.

"Very cold!" he answered, offhanded.

"New engine, eh?" asked the black-coated stranger, not to be shaken off.

"Yep," said Web, with his handful of waste, as he petted the great shimmering piston-rod, very much as a winning jockey might rub down the withers of a race horse. "Yep, she's new enough!"

He looked up at her approvingly. She stood a good fourteen feet from the crest of the rail to the top of the boiler shell.

"He is a big fellow, isn't he?" remarked the amiably disposed stranger.

The driver of the twelve-wheeled monster snorted aloud.

"Fellow? She's no fellow! She's woman, through and through!" He pointed at her with his long-nosed oiling can. "There's her petticoat, to prove it."

"What's her speed, when you force her?"

"Her speed?" echoed the man with the oil can, as his arm went recklessly in among the great shining shafts. "Well, she's such a gawk of a girl yet, I hate to push her, for a while yet, anyway! So we've got to kind o' coax the speed out of her yet. She's touchy, too, touchy as a four-year-old girl!"

But he was proud of her; the stranger knew that by the way in which Web rubbed down the polished rods.

"I've seen her wobble along, in her sore-legged kind o' way, doin' her mile in forty-seven seconds."

"Then what would she do that run from Police Creek to Deerhead in, if she was pushed?" the stranger asked.

"You'll see her do it in thirty-five minutes tonight, if you're on board!" answered the young engineer. He turned to wipe a stain off her jacket—it was almost the same touch that a mother gives to wipe away a child's tear. "Just wait until she finds herself! She's still kind of ashamed o' showing her ankles now, which ain't good for a girl who's got to do the most loose-jointed work that steam and cylinder was ever set at." Web chuckled at his own personifying jocularity. "She's too skittish yet, and needs another month or two of pettin' down and coaxin' out, and then you will see that eighteen by twenty-six cylinder of her's getting in its fine work!"

The stranger was on the cab steps, peering about the tender and boiler head and cab windows.

"She's got to learn her table manners yet, too," said Web. He was young, and he liked to talk. "She eats coal like a hog—has the dirtiest habits of any Brooks I ever saw! But me and Tom's been teachin' her things, and she's willin', mighty willin' to learn!"

"I see you haven't got those white train markers on, instead of green!" laughed the stranger, waving his gloved hand toward the waiting express cars.

"No, by Gawd, but we've got two Winchesters and two picked men on board, and I guess they'll answer about as well!"

"I hear that Collins, who ought to be going out on this run, kind of flunked!"

"It's a lie," cried Web, "he's sick. He's damned near dead, that's what he is—wife sittin' up two nights, puttin' plasters on him!"

The reference was twofold. Some amiable lunatic had written to the Division Superintendent saying he needed a few thousand dollars, and desired the road, if they cared to treat with him before certain things might happen, to place white markers instead of green on their east-bound express. This in itself was nothing. But three times in two weeks switch locks had been tampered with, and a local and a lumber train had come to grief, and not without loss of life.

"Well, I guess there's nothing much doing, this kind of weather, anyway," remarked the stranger, with his muffled but companionable laugh.

Web swung himself up on the cab steps, for out of the clear, windless air of the late afternoon, they could hear the incoming west-bound scream, and scream, and scream again. Then across the open prairie glare they could hear the reverberant rumble and roar. A moment later she wheeled into sight, belching a pennant of pearl-colored steam, with rose-tinted edges, in the late afternoon sun. She staggered to a standstill, her great shoulders hunched arrogantly up, panting and blowing with what seemed a sense of her own importance.

A man ran crunchingly down the platform with a sheet of yellow flimsy paper in his hand. The black-coated stranger boarded the train.

As Web disappeared behind his oil-stained canvas curtain the burnished bell swung noisily once or twice, a cloud of pearl and old-rose steam surrounded the twelve great wheels, Number Eighty-seven grunted a response to the throttle and seemed to shake herself from her sleep. The drift snow shrilled and whined, and the great steel belly, in which a family might house, hissed forth her power, and the east-bound was on her way again.

Many eyes watched her curiously from the squat little station, for already the news that she carried two armed guards on board, and that her express car safes held $40,000 in Ashcroft gold dust had spread about the little frost-bound town. But as Web's friend had hinted, it was not felt to be exactly the right sort of weather for road agent romancing.

Web was happy. He found nothing depressing in the silences and the snowy desolation of the northern twilight. The snow glare, with the on-coming of night, had died down, and the endless, undulating plain of white had taken on a tint that seemed the softest of pinks. Now it was blue, lifeless, steel blue; and Number Eighty-seven and her train, to Web, seemed a feverish needle of life flashing across some limitless fabric and blue-tinted silence. It seemed warm and homelike in the cab, for Tom Wasley, who was firing for Web, had closed the overhead ventilator, to keep out the penetrating night air. He and Tom were facing what two other runners had shied at, yet each of them appeared unruffled, undisturbed, altogether at home. To them it was prosaic; all in the day's work. And old Tom did not even resent the younger man's presence on "the throttle-side." With one it was the recklessness of youth, with the other, the resignation of age.

As Eighty-seven took the sharp curve at Titburn Bridge, and the heavy coaches twisted and creaked in her wake, Web put a hand on the sand lever, squinted at his gauge, and let her take the up-grade wide open. Web knew that the working pressure of his eighty-seven-inch boiler was well over two hundred and ten pounds. She seemed so responsive, "so all-fired ready to learn," as Tom had put it, so eager to show her new-found speed and strength that Web, keeping a strained eye out for the switch lamps as they pounded down into Police Creek, felt a wordless resentment for the wreckers who had the heart to endanger so fine and finished a goddess of steel. He felt that she was almost human.

"I'd say she was slobberin' less than usual," he called to Tom Wasley. He turned from his window, and saw that the fireman was not in the cab.

Instead of Tom Wasley he beheld the black-coated stranger who had spoken with him at the beginning of the run. It filled him with a quiet and sullen wonder that this stranger should be menacing him with a glimmering pistol barrel.

"I want you to slow down," he said quietly, but firmly. Web noticed that through each swing and lurch of the cab the menacing revolver pointed undeviatingly at one point just between his eyes.

"I want you to slow down, and do it pretty quick, too," said the stranger once more.

"What's all this joshin' anyway?" demanded the amazed engineer.

"I'm not joshin'! Stop this train, and stop it quick!"

"What for?" demanded Web.

"To save your head getting a hole in it. Shut that throttle, you damned numbskull, or I'll plug you!" And he sealed his determination with a sharp oath.

Eighty-seven slowed down, shudderingly.

"Now you climb back and cut off this engine and tender—quick!"

Web had hesitated to weigh his chances in a hand-to-hand tussle, but the ever-menacing gunbarrel gave him no chance. He felt that perhaps his moment would come later. At any rate, he decided as he swung sulkily down before his oppressor, he would have to wait for that moment. Already the train men were marveling at the stop. Sixty seconds would give him a chance.

But the man in the black overcoat was wary, and Web knew that the hand that was reckless enough to hold up the Imperial Limited would not be apt to hesitate very long before a life or two, when he found his chances for escape cut off. But still it was worth the fight, if he could only get a chance.

He climbed back into the cab with nimble sulkiness, yet with that ever-present barrel of steel bristling somewhere about the back of his neck.

"Now, send her ahead, full speed. And I want you to remember, young man, that I know this road a little better than you imagine. When we're a mile this side of Deerhead, with the bridge and the little mission church on the left, I don't want any slowing up. I want you to go through that Deerhead station, pard, at a mile a minute. You understand?"

"I've got an inkling," answered Web, giving the lever another notch or two. He looked at the other man grimly, and grinned.

"Ain't this expensive work?" he asked.

"Maybe it is, but it's the kind I like," answered the stranger. He groped backward to the tender, and with his free hand flung down two heavy satchels and a canvas mail bag cut in half.

From the mail bag fell a little shower of letters. Web noticed that each one of these letters, for all the careless way in which the stranger kicked them together on the grimy cab floor, bore a registered stamp. Web assumed, from this, that the operations in the express and mail car had been carefully and thoroughly carried on. He wondered, vaguely, if the two satchels held the Ashcroft gold, and he also wondered if old Tom Wasley had been hauled back over the tender and locked in with the messengers and mail clerks. He questioned, too, if the one man had done his work alone. Then a still more appalling thought came to Web; he himself would be called up on the carpet for the part he had been forced to play in the whole business.

Web decided that nothing could at least be lost by talking. Sulking did no good. He must simply grin and bear it, and wait his chance.

He turned to the highwayman, who had guardedly flung the scattered mail into the open sack, and knotted it at the top.

"How far are we goin', anyway?" asked Web. He had been wondering how long it would be before the abandoned train crew had the news of the hold-up on the wire, and where the first interference from the outside world would come from. Eighty-seven wasn't flinging herself; Web knew she hated to leave her train behind.

"You're going just as far as I say," was the curt reply. "And from the looks of that steam gauge you'd better fire up a little."

Web had hoped for chance, with the heavy steel shovel once in his hand, but at every move he saw the lynx-like eye of his enemy following him. So he shoveled in sullen silence. After all, it was all in the day's work. It might have been another open switch, and another eight cars overturned. He had hoped, at first, that Number Eighty-seven would "lay down on him;" now, as he glanced out into the blue-white desolation of the frost-bound prairie, he knew that nothing good could come of being stranded in emptiness with the mercury on the lower side of the forty mark.

He watched the needle on his steam gauge go higher and higher, shut off the injector for a minute or two, and threw the throttle back to the last notch. He began to worry a little about the driving wheels—cast steel did strange things, sometimes, in sixty degrees of frost—but the man had asked for speed, and he was giving it to him.

"Keep this up until we're twelve miles past Deerhead, right through. When we get to the stretch of timber there I want you to slow down. When I drop off I want you to go right ahead—no running back to Deerhead—and I don't think you'll gain anything by being in too much of a hurry, either!"

Web grinned, and put on the pump again, for the steam was hissing and singing through the safety valve, blue and dry and hard.

"You'd better fire up again," suggested the highwayman.

"We're hammerin' her pretty hard," demurred the young engineer.

"It'll do her good."

Web glared across the swaying cab at his enemy. This was all he got for it; this was all his thanks for pounding the spirit out of her, and threatening those beautiful big six-foot driving wheels on that pounding track.

"I tell you I've got to save her crown sheet," declared Web.

"Crown sheet be damned! I've got to get past Deerhead before Sanderson gets his wire in, and, by God, it won't go easy with you if I don't, either."

"I tell you the water's giving out," yelled Web. This was a lie, though the young guardian of Eighty-seven almost wished it was true.

"Then push her through to the last foot and as fast as she can make it, too!"

Web was about to retort, angrily, but as his glance instinctively fell along the glistening line of steel under his pilot an idea came to him. He suddenly remembered that only one thing could happen if she took the switch at the Deerhead station yard at that rate of speed. Seventy miles an hour loose-jointed point-switch—there could be only one outcome! But it would put a stop to this high-handed traveling, and to the career of his black-coated friend, and she would go over on the left, he felt sure, so he could jump for it from his cab step.

Web's second idea was not such a happy one. It would mean the death of Number Eighty-seven. It would be killing her, to gain his point. It would seem like murder. It meant crippling and breaking her spirit—just when she was beginning to know what life was, just when she was beginning to answer to every touch, and obey every move and order. She would never treat him in that way!

But he must decide quickly, he told himself, for already he could catch the glimmer of the Deerhead yard lamps. Even at the best there was a risk in it; even at the best, he told himself, it was cruelty to the old girl.

"Pound her through," ordered the highwayman, as he called her a foul name, and clung to the swaying window rail at the other side of the cab, "and let her blow up when she pleases."

"What d'you mean by that?" cried the other man, leaping forward, white with rage.

"But that's orders."

"You take your order from me, this time! I don't want that whole town swarming down to the track, you fool!"

Web watched the switch lamp dance and swim up to them. He stood ready, waiting.

It was the unexpected that happened. He could feel the pound of the switch point, the quick lurch and swing. In another moment he expected to feel the shuddering thud of her wheels on the sleepers. Instead of that a mass of steel tore whistling through the left-hand side of the cab, carrying away iron and woodwork as it went. Then came another, and another.

Web understood what it meant. The huge rim of one of the great driving wheels had broken, and fragments of it kept cannonading up through the frail shell of the cab as the great mass flew madly round.

Instinctively Web's arm shot out to the lever, and he shut her off. He turned to explain why. He had, for a moment, even forgotten the presence of the other man. And that menacing gun barrel might have barked out at him by mistake, and it would have been all over, forever.

Web gasped, and the sound was like air rushing into an opened air pipe. The highwayman lay against the tender unconscious, with his cheek torn open.

Eighty-seven had got even with him. She had held him up! She had cannonaded him with her bolts of wrath! She had given him as good as she had taken!

The jolting engine shuddered to a standstill and over the dry, hard snow sounded the whirl of feet and the cry of excited voices. Web swung himself down from the cab steps. For all the cold, oily drops of sweat clung to his gray-white forehead, and the muscles in his jaw were working.

"What's hapened there? What's hapened?" cried the Deerhead night operator, running up with a lantern.

Web leaned against the driving rod, for under his oil-stained overalls his legs were shaking and quaking. Then he wiped his forehead, and cursed hysterically.

"I bust you up, old girl! I bust you up," he moaned.

He picked up a piece of broken steel, bright like silver on the raw edge, and gazed at it stupidly. Then he dropped it, and laughed a little. The first effects of his shock were passing away.

"What happened down here, anyway?" the operator was demanding.

Web looked at him, and then gazed at his disabled engine, regretfully. Then he pointed toward the cab.

"By God, O'Higgins, she's human," he declared, inconsequently, but with great conviction.

"Who's human? What's human?"

"This old girl of mine! She's human, I tell you—and I've gone and broken her spirit!"

He groped about the injured wheel sorrowingly, shaking a melancholy head. Then he looked up and called out to O'Higgins, the operator.

"There's a road agent up in that cab you'd better look after. Yes, I say a road agent. You may think I'm a fool, O'Higgins, but I'll blister in hades if Eighty-seven didn't turn and hold the cuss up, herself!"

The operator swung back the oil-stained canvas curtain and peered into the cab.

"Poor old girl!" said Web, fingering the raw edge of the broken steel. Then he wiped his forehead, and shook his head again.

"I'll get thunder for this," he said, dejectedly, taking still another spiritless look at his broken engine.—The Brotherhood Journal.

HIS VALUABLE VALISE.

RETURNING from New York City a few days ago I bought of the train boy a copy of a Cincinnati paper, in which I read a long account of the robbery of the ——— National Bank of L——, Ky., and the sudden disappearance of its teller, Harry W. Swope. As usual in such cases, he had been a trusted employe, a member of the church, and a society young man. The robbery was a particularly cool one, the gentleman having quietly slipped $90,000 in notes into a valise on the previous Saturday afternoon after bank hours and walked out into the cold world.

That was the last seen of him, and it was not until after the bank opened on Monday morning that anyone suspected anything wrong. The affair created an immense sensation. "Society" was shocked, the church scandalized, and the bank directors furious. The newspapers printed long stories of the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde sort of existence the young man had led for a number of years, and numerous friends of the "lately departed" knowingly shook their heads as they told reporters that they knew something like that was sure to happen soon.

This sensation so interested me that when I reached Cincinnati I scarcely realized the express was, as usual, an hour behind time, and had failed to make connection with the train to L——. I should, therefore, be compelled to take the last train going West that night, which would cause me to stop over night in a one-horse town in Indiana that did not contain a comfortable hotel.

I knew Mr. Swope by sight, having come in contact with him on a number of occasions while doing business with the bank of which he was teller. The L—— papers I bought in the Union Depot gave further details of the affair, and contained also the announcement that the bank directors had offered a reward of $1,000 for Swope's capture and 10 per cent of the cash returned, which would make a total of $10,000 if the rascal was caught before he got rid of his booty.

After eating an unsatisfactory lunch I took a seat in the general waiting room of the depot, and ruefully awaited my train. As I did so I noticed a young man approach my seat, and, placing his valise on the floor alongside my own, to which it bore a strong resemblance, sit down while he looked cautiously around at the clock on the wall and then at the officials moving about.

How long he sat beside me I don't remember, but after a time he slowly arose and walked over to the telegraph office at the farther end of the room. Before he came back a strong-lunged individual in uniform stepped up to me and bawled out the names of the towns which the train about to start was bound for. Hurriedly picking up my valise, I made straight for the gate, and was soon aboard my train for the West.

The journey was made with the usual discomfort and monotony. The depot at N—— Y——, Ind., where I had to stop over from 10 p. m. till 5 the next morning, had been rebuilt since my last visit to that town, and remembering too well my hotel experience there a year before, I resolved to spend one night in the depot waiting room with a few other passengers who shared my misfortune.

All that night the face of the stranger who had occupied a seat beside me in the Cincinnati depot haunted me. There was something about him that reminded me of Teller Swope. He was just his size and build. His mustache, to be sure, was wanting, but that he could shave off this appendage was to be considered a matter of course. The gold spectacles he wore very much resembled those I had associated with the face of the intellectual looking teller, and I had observed on his fingers a number of rings, jewelry that Mr. Swope was said to be very partial to. As I turned the matter over in my mind the more convinced I felt that I had lost a splendid chance of capturing the thief and securing a $10,000 reward.

When 5 o'clock at last came round I boarded the train for L——, not in the best of humor, and two hours later arrived at home feeling very blue. After taking a light breakfast, I went down to the office, where the big robbery was still the talk of the clerks. Each of them had a theory of his own as to where the thief had gone, and when they appealed to me for my opinion I dolefully recounted my experience of the previous evening. Of course, they unanimously agreed with me that I had very foolishly allowed the fugitive teller to slip out of my fingers.

Just before going out to lunch a messenger boy languidly entered the office and handed me a note from my wife. Thinking it was the usual commission to get a yard or two of "goods like the sample inclosed," I thrust it into my pocket and started out to dinner. I had not gone far before I suddenly stopped and took out the envelope the boy had given me, opened it and read it. At first I could not understand what it all meant; then I turned it over and went through it again. It ran as follows:

"Dear George—Come home at once. In opening your valise to get your soiled linen to send it to the laundry I discovered it packed with bank notes! What does it mean? Is anything wrong? Come home at once."

My first thought was to hasten home, but upon reflection I resolved to step around to the bank and acquaint the officials there of my discovery. I found the president of the bank in his private office engaged with several lynx-eyed individuals whom I suspected from their appearance to be, as it turned out they were, detectives.

When I was granted an interview and explained my discovery, it created, very naturally, a sensation. At first the old gentleman was inclined to regard me as a crank, but when I asked him to allow a clerk to accompany me home he seemed to be satisfied I was in earnest. He consented to my proposal, but after a moment's thought he said an escort was unnecessary, thinking doubtless that the handsome reward would be a sufficient inducement to insure the safe delivery of the precious valise.

As I left the bank and turned up the street in the direction of home, I was joined by a young man who came running out or the bank after me, hat in hand. He said the "old man" had reconsidered the matter and sent him to accompany me back with the money. This seemed to me to be quite satisfactory, and, as the fellow was a very genial young man, we immediately fell to discussing the robbery of his bank. He congratulated me on my good fortune and knowingly hinted that "that old gentleman" would treat me cleverly in the way of reward.

I said this young man was a very genial fellow, but somehow I soon began to feel an instinctive distrust in him. I plied him with questions concerning the habits and business methods of the missing teller, but he returned evasive answers. In one or two little things he contradicted himself, and finally, when I unexpectedly asked him how long he had been employed in the bank, he replied, after looking at me in a dazed sort of way, "Oh, about a year or two." At once the thought came to me. What if my "escort" was one of the young men I had seen outside the president's office. Perhaps he had overheard our conversation, and had planned this neat little scheme of playing the role of a clerk of the bank sent me for "protection," as he insinuatingly put it. If so, I readily saw that he intended to make an effort to get his hands on the valise and then seize the first opportunity to bid me good-bye.

This theory was strengthened when I noted that my "protector" seemed gradually to become very uncommunicative, and the conversation during the rest of the journey referred to passing objects and sights. Try as hard as I could, I failed to get anything satisfactory out of him concerning the robbery.

When I reached home I politely asked the young man to take a seat in the hall while I stepped upstairs to get a glimpse of the treasure. I found my wife at the head of the stairs very excited. In an adjoining room we examined the valise, and at a rough estimate we placed the amount at about the figure the newspapers said Swope had carried off with him—somewhere about $90,000.

I did not tell my wife of my suspicions of the young man downstairs, but I resolved at once to arm myself in order to be prepared for the worst. It is a well-known fact that in Kentucky the sixth commandment has long ago been declared unconstitutional, and I quickly made up my mind that if my bodyguard showed any signs of playing me false I would let him have a dose of cold lead.

Contrary to my expectations, the young fellow made no offer to carry the valise as we started on our journey back to the bank. At the end of the short street on which I lived we stopped to take a car. My friend had again become very affable, and as we stood on the corner he offered me a cigar. I took it, thanked him, and, placing my valise carefully on the ground between my feet, I struck a match to light it. Just as I was in the act of doing so I received a blow from the left that sent me staggering into the middle of the street. At the same moment my "protector" disappeared in the other direction.

"Look here, young man," said a gruff-voiced fellow in uniform at my side as he shook me violently, "I thought you told me you were going to take the train west tonight. It has just pulled out, and you're left."

Opening my eyes, I looked around the waiting room in a confused way and reached for my valise.

It was nowhere to be found!

My brusque arouser instantly took in the situation, and, with a look of intense disgust on his face, said as turned away:

"I guess that student-like sport who was sitting beside you has taken care of your baggage. He passed me a few moments ago on his way to the train with a couple of valises. Next time you go traveling, young man, you had better take some one along with you to care for you while you sleep."

—By ROBERT GILROY, in St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

At Preston, England, a company has been fined for stealing the labor of workmen. The theft was committed by putting back the hands of a clock to deceive the men into working longer hours.

WHY I FAILED TO GET THE REWARD.

IN the early days of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, when the iron horse with the flaming eye was still a source of wonder and consternation to the noble red man, I happened to be located as agent and telegraph operator at a point in central Arizona, which at that time did not aspire to be called even a village. A section house with half dozen inmates of various nationalities, the water tank and the pumper's shanty and the small station house comprised the layout.

The surrounding country, while comparatively level, was very rocky and broken by numerous deep canyons. As it was twenty-five miles to the next pumping station, all trains stopped here for water, which fact probably accounts for the selection of this point by the famous O'Neill gang for the robbery of the east-bound passenger train, supposed to be carrying heavy shipments of bullion from the California gold fields.

It was a cloudless night, as most nights are in that region, and through the rare atmosphere the moon shone with great brilliancy.

Not a soul was in sight as the train rolled up to the station platform. I stepped out to the express car door, more from force of habit than the expectation of being handed any packages. No sound, save the throbbing of the great engine, broke the stillness, when the cry of "hands up" caused the cold chills to run up and down my spinal column and my hair to stand on end. At the same moment a dark object flashed by me and disappeared through the station door. I glanced toward the engine, where I beheld the engineer and fireman, their torches lying on the ground and their hands high in the air, surrounded by what appeared to me in my excitement, to be about a dozen robbers. I took no time for a second glance, however, but with one tremendous bound, cleared the platform and disappeared through the office doorway close upon the heels of the dark object which had just preceded me. As I slammed the door a heavy load of slugs splintered the woodwork of the casing. I quickly blew out the light and closed the stove door to prevent the robbers from seeing inside the office, and then stopped a moment to quiet my nerves and endeavor to collect a few random thoughts.

I was not running any kind of collecting agency just at that time, but I considered the collection of a few "first aid to the injured" thoughts might be of inestimable value to me in the very near future.

While engaged in this soothing occupation a voice from the depths of the back room warned me not to attack the enemy. I assured the voice its warning was entirely unnecessary as, just at that moment, I was too deeply absorbed in considerations of the first law of nature to plan any brilliant maneuvers for capturing the enemy.

However, as numerous seconds passed and still no one demanded admittance, my globule pump gradually resumed its accustomed throb and with the return of normal pressure I began to think what could be done.

First, I blew a mental call to arms, and reaching up to the rack on the wall took down my Colt's magazine rifle, then my "sporting model" Winchester, which carried a bottle neck cartridge long as one's finger with powder enough behind the ball to puncture a conning tower, then my navy six-shooter and lastly the hand-axe from under the kitchen table.

With this formidable array of fighting implements laid out carefully on the little office counter, and still no offers of battle from the marauding party outside, my mind grew calmer.

The voice from the back room continued to urge me not to draw their fire, but with returning calmness came visions of that $300 per head standing reward for train robbers offered by the express company, gold medals as big as your hand, and probably an autograph letter from the company's president with a nice promotion.

As the dispatcher's office is the funnel into which most of the tales of woe in railroad life are poured, I considered it my first duty to advise that gentleman of what was taking place.

The telegraph instrument was located in a little bay window which was tolerably well lighted from the coaches standing outside, and the measured tread of the sentry pacing back and forth on the platform, warned me that my appearance there was very likely to create trouble and possibly disturb the gentleman in the back room. But watching my chance when the guard was at the far end of the platform I crawled along the floor across the room and crouched under the little table. Waiting until he had repassed the window again, I reached one hand over the edge of the table and quickly told the dispatcher the train was being robbed. Then as the guard's footsteps drew near again I withdrew my hand and listened. I heard the dispatcher ask "What's that?" but I considered it would be decidedly indiscreet to attempt to repeat the information, knowing that the guard had suddenly stopped just outside the bay window and for a few seconds my silence was intense. Knowing the thinness of the outside wall I expected at any moment to receive a ball from his rifle, and could almost feel the warm life-blood trickling down, but the expected didn't happen. He paused but a moment, probably attracted by the sound of the instrument, then passed on.

In the meantime the dispatcher was frantically calling up other offices on the line and asking if they had understood what I said. Evidently my information was conveyed in a rather palsied manner, probably due to my extreme nervousness under such trying circumstances, but I was relieved a moment later when I heard him order out a special engine with a caboose, and a stock car for horses, for I knew a posse would soon be on hand.

Having accomplished this much, awaiting an opportune moment I crept back to the safety of my arsenal and the cold calculation of how many dollars might be made out of this thrilling sort of sport. I figured there were at least a dozen robbers in the bunch, which at $300 per head, if I could capture the entire gang, would put me in possession of a snug little sum, to say nothing of numerous medals and maybe a gold watch or two with appropriate engraving.

With these sordid thoughts I took my largest gun and crept through the little bay window out into the shadow of the station house. To suddenly round the corner and come face to face with the entire gang which I knew were not more than twenty or thirty feet distant did not hold my attention for a moment as being a plan worthy of consideration.

Stepping to the other corner, which commanded a view of a small portion of the far end of the platform, I prepared to begin operations on the guard who continued steadily pacing back and forth. With rifle cocked and held firmly against the building to steady my shaking nerves I was ready to unload the big gun as soon as he came within range, but, alas, fate was against me. He came just far enough for me to see his elbow and the end of his rifle as he turned to retrace his steps. I concluded that what I needed was a dark spot, in fact I wanted an extremely dark spot from which I might pick them off one at a time without undue exposure of my own valuable self. But pale Luna seemed to be putting forth every effort in her power to dispel any dark spots lingering in that vicinity and I was about to give up in despair when I noticed the heavy shadow made by a large telegraph pole which stood some twenty-five feet from the building. I knew that from this point I could rake the platform fore and aft and I immediately essayed to reach it, but, alas, for the vagaries of human vision, when yet within several steps of the goal that shadow almost completely disappeared, the pole shrunk to the size of a fishing rod and I fled precipitately to the welcome shadow of the building.

As I crawled back through the little window that solemn voice from the depths of somewhere again urged me not to shoot and I decided that, after all, it might be good advice.

Meanwhile the robbers had completed their work, going through the express car and rifling the United States mail, but the passengers were not molested. Half a dozen shots served effectively in keeping them within the coaches.

For fear of being fired on as they left the train, the robbers compelled the engineer and fireman to accompany them to where their horses were hitched, whereupon they mounted and disappeared over the crest of the low rocky hills to the south.

When assured they were gone, my friend from the depths of the back room came crawling out. He proved to be an ordinary tramp, who quickly resumed his place on the blind baggage.

A few hours later the special train with horses and deputy sheriffs arrived and at daybreak they took up the trail. Southward toward Sunset Pass in the Mogollon range they followed, finding evidence at one place where the booty had been divided. One package broken open had contained a dozen or more glass eyes. The robbers evidently had no use for glass eyes just then, as they left them scattered on the ground.

Doubling on their tracks near Sunset Pass they re-crossed the railroad within a mile of the hold-up and struck the old Navajo trail to the north. They crossed the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and led the posse a wild ride of more than 600 miles, ending in Southern Utah, where the gang were surrounded and captured. There proved to be only five of them, who are now serving life sentences in the Arizona penitentiary.—By C. B. Yost, in the Commercial Telegraphers' Journal.

"PARSON PETE."

"PARSON PETE? Ever hear how Pete got that name, youngster? No? Tell him about it, Pete."

I still had twenty minutes of my noon hour left and lingered in the round house to hear the tale.

Peter McCloud was among the oldest conductors on the road in point of service. He was one of those jovial, happy natures who always have a smile and a pleasant word for everybody, and was perhaps more universally liked by his associates and patrons of the road than any other employe.

He had dropped into the roundhouse for an after-dinner smoke with the rest of us, and had been greeted by the yardmaster with the nickname "Parson Pete," by which he had come to be generally known.

"Well," he began, "that was back in '84. You remember the political landslide when everything went Republican over the high license issue. Well, you see, the boys up in Stonington had went and put me up for Justice of the Peace. Lord, I, nor nobody else, thought there was a ghost of a chance of my bein' elected, but the mornin' after election I woke up and found myself a regularly elected justice, and after I had sworn in, duly authorized to perform the duties and receive the emoluments of the office, if there was any. You see, I was just one of the pebbles as got swept along with th' general slide. How I laughed over it when they come and broke th' news to me. Well, one day Jake Brown, whose term had just run out, came over to th' station about leavin' time and handed me a little black book, and says, 'There, Pete, I want to make you a present o' that. There's more law in that little book than in all th' statoots in the country. If you ever have anything to do as a justice, just look in that there book and you'll find the kerrect forms and how to do it.'

"I thanked 'im kindly, put the book in my pocket an' clean forgot all about it.

"'Bout two weeks after that, I was runnin' 52, 5:32 p. m. out o' Placerville. I was standin' along side the tail an' with my watch in hand, 'bout ready to leave, when I see a feller an' a girl a comin' on a run. They skipped up to th' Pullman, up ahead, an' then th' feller steps back a few paces and looks up th' street. Then he turns and nods, kind o' quick like, to th' girl, an' they jumps aboard.

"Time was up, an' so I gave 'im th' signal, climbed on and we commenced to pull out.

"Lookin' back from the rear platform, I see a team an' a depot wagon acomin' on th' loop. It pulled up at th' platform and out gets Old Fillmore, th' president of th' A. & N. W., an' makes a sprint after my train, swingin' his cane at me. Th' train had him beat, though, an' I seen he'd never make it, but we had connections to make an' I wasn't goin' to pull up for anybody, much less an officer of our rival road; so in I went an' shut th' door.

"I went up forward an' started to work back, liftin' tickets. After a bit I came to th' pair. She was a pretty little chick with big brown eyes. Didn't look a day over eighteen, an' he was a manly lookin' feller, with a square chin an' a broad pair o' shoulders.

"They didn't have no tickets, an' as he handed me cash fares, he said: 'What time do you arrive at Freeport?'

"'Eight fifty-seven,' I replied.

"'You connect there with the C. & S., east, do you not?' he asked.

"'Yes,' I said, 'but not very close. The east-bound over th' C. & S. leaves 9:47.'

"'That's just what we want,' said the girl to him in an undertone.

"He thanked me an' I passed on.

"When I got my tickets up, I went back forward, an' as I was passin' the pair he caught me by the sleeve and said: 'There is no other train from Placerville arrivin' at Freeport before the 9:40, is there?'

"'Not on this road,' I replied, 'an' there ain't none regular on th' A. & N. W., but they got a fast line that stops at Placerville to let off, an' of course if she happened to stop an' anybody got aboard they'd beat us into Freeport, cause they got the short line an' she wouldn't make no stops.' The way them two looked at each other made me want to laugh so bad I had to cough. He thanked me again an' I passed up to th' front end of th' car an' sat down in one of th' end seats.

"After a while up comes th' pair an' plumps themselves down in the seats opposite me. He kind o' sizes me up for a while, an' then leans over and says: 'Is there any other place before we get to Freeport from which we could connect with the C. & S.?'

"'Nope,' said I, 'we only make one more stop now, and that's a little hamlet of a half a dozen houses—water station there, you know.'

"'Um,' said he, so solemn like. I was dyin' to laugh, but couldn't because th' poor little girl was all keyed up with excitement, and a tappin' her little boot on the floor.

"'No livery stable there, I suppose,' said he.

"'Lord, no,' I says.

"'Nor hotel?'

"'No, nor no parson, either,' I says, just because I couldn't keep it in.

"The girl got red to th' roots of her hair and drooped her head until her hat hid her pretty face from me, while she hunted for a hole in the tip of one of her tiny glove fingers. The young feller just stared at me for about a minute, 'thout sayin' a word and then it hit all three of us together. Him an' me just broke loose with th' kind of a laugh that makes you feel good all over, and I see th' little girl a shakin' in spite of herself. Then he reached over and grabbed me by th' hand.

"'Well, old man, we're up against it,' said he, 'that's all there is about it. There is no reason in the world why we should not be married except a certain estrangement of our respective families, resulting solely from business rivalry. We have waited a reasonable time for parental sanction and have plead, reasoned and besought in vain, and now we have taken matters in our own hands and intended to be married in Freeport and start east on that C. & S. train. However, just as we left Placerville I became aware that we were followed, and if a certain person from Placerville gets to Freeport before us, there would be a scene which I would avoid if possible. Yet, if we could find a minister and have the ceremony actually performed before encountering that party, I could not only assert my authority, but I know the old —er, that party would accept the situation peaceably.'

"My heart and soul were with the young folks. Anybody must be a fool to object to the marriage of such a manly looking chap, and a sweet little chick of a girl like this. Fathers' objections were nothin' to me, and the spirit of devilment on top besides. I began to think.

"'Well,' I said, 'I am with you, as far as that goes, but I don't know what to tell you to do. There ain't no place now between here and Freeport where you could find a parson, if I should stop and let you off. Let's see what time that A. & N. W. gets into Freeport,' and as I shoved my hand in my pocket for a time table, it came into contact with a little black book.

"I jumped to my feet. 'Lord, what a wild fool,' why, I could marry them myself. Was I not legally constituted justice of the peace and duly empowered to tie nuptial knots?

"I slapped him on the back as I pulled out the book. 'Here's your parson,' says I.

'Lord, I clean forgot my official character. I'm a justice of th' peace, man, and I'll make you one in schedule speed, an' here's the little book thet'll tell me how to do it.'

"It gradually dawned on them, and the handshake I got made me squirm.

"The book said I must have two witnesses, so I called in Jimmy Cook, the head brake and let the Pullman conductor into th' game. 'Why,' said he, 'I thought you were elected up in Stonington?'

"'So I was,' I replied, defiant like.

"'Well, you can't tie no knot here. You ain't crossed the line yet. You got to wait till you get in your own State!'

"You ought to seen our jaws fall. I was just nine minutes from the State line to Freeport, and I began to study my part.

"Minutes went by and the passengers began to get wise. When I looked down th' isle, I could see rows of grinning faces over th' tops of magazines and newspapers. But I was goin' to marry them two, if I had to lock up the whole car to do it. Finally, I jumped to my feet. 'CX' tower on the State line had flashed past and we were in my State.

"'Join your hands and stand up,' said I.

"Up they got. So did everybody else, and the whole car load began to crowd around. Some fellow in the back got out a cornet and began to toot the wedding march.

"Then I began to take the statistics. You could have knocked me over with a feather when he told me his name. 'Herbert J. Jordan, Jr.,' the son of Mr. Jordan, the president of our road. and hers, 'Marion K. Fillmore,' the daughter of the president of the A. & N. W., the rival line. Read almost like a consolidation of railroads.

"This over. I got my second wind and started to work, and in about six minutes the pair were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Jordan, Jr., in spite of the opposition of two railroads.

"Then everybody commenced to sing and shake hands, and in comes a grocery drummer and pours his whole lot o' samples of rice down their backs, and when we pulled into Freeport, that car sounded like a rollin' lunatic asylum. And into it walked Old Fillmore, who had gotten his fast line, beaten us in, but had lost to Cupid.

"I see him give one long look and drop into a chair. Then the girl just up and throws her arms around his neck and starts to cry. Women are durn queer some ways, and I cuts for the dispatcher's office.

"Well, of course, there ain't no bad feelin's 'tween the families nowadays since th' two roads consolidated and the Jordans and Fillmores are thick as batter.

"I done lots o' things with th' check I got for my first judicial fee, and so you know how 'Parson Pete' married the president of your railroad and won his name."—By HENRY M. LUMMIS, in Express Gazette.

BAD MAN TAMED.

A WAY back in 1876 a man named Turpin established a restaurant in Yuma, and among Turpin's original employes was a waiter named Job Straight, who could shoot with great precision, play draw poker with unvarying success and pack eighteen plates of miscellaneous grub upon one bare arm at one time. He could execute all the prevailing melodies either on piano or guitar, and he possessed the most tremendous barytone voice ever heard in Arizona—why, men sometimes went to Turpin's just to hear Job deliver gastronomic orders. No perfect description can be given of that voice, however, except to say that at times it really did make things clatter.

Once a fresh young cowboy from near Gila Bend entered Turpin's for a Christmas dinner, took a startling concoction as an appetizer and then dropped thud-like at a table and roughly shouted to Straight:

"Say, there, Baldy! Bring me some grub!"

Job was at first appalled, but recovering his reserve limit of equanimity, he brushed an imaginary bread crumb from the frescoed tablecloth and whisked a bill of fare from the variegated castor and placed it before the new young Terror of the Bend.

"Take it away!" cried the latter, in tones that could give Straight's ordinary everyday barytone a castle and checkmate it in five moves. "I don't want to read your darned old tract. I don't care a darn who came into the world to save sinners. Bring me some grub—g-r-u-b! Grub! Grub! GRUB!"

"What do you want?"

"Rattlesnakes on toast! And I want you to hump yourself!"

"What's that?"

"I've given my order, you bald-headed old cigar store sign, and I want you to get a move on yourself, p. d. q. Rattlesnakes on toast!"

"Rattlesnakes on toast!" cried Job to the cook, in accents that would have paralyzed Carl Formes had that old basso profundo been living and heard them.

"Rattlesnakes on toast!" was the reverberating response from the cook upon receiving the order.

There were a dozen or more people in the restaurant, and their eyes were at once turned on the young person from the Bend and the infuriated waiter.

In the meantime the cook had taken a big catfish and cut it into four strips and rolled these strips in batter, so that they much resembled the viand ordered; and, after placing them in the frying pan, he stuck his head out of the kitchen and shouted to Job:

"You want them rattlers rare or well done?"

The waiter repeated the interrogation in a cyclonic way, and the Terror replied, in as violent a tone and manner as he could command: "Well done, with plenty of gravy and Chili Colorado!"

And then Job thundered to the cook:

"Well done, with plenty of Chili Colorado, hot as hell, and moccasin gravy on the side and brochettes of sand crane livers and Gila monster lights!"

There was an instantaneously dead silence in that restaurant, and all eyes were again cast upon the Terror and the waiter. The former turned ashen pale and began to weaken perceptibly, while Job gazed at his victim.

"Maybe you don't think we can serve all the market affords," muttered Job; "maybe you don't like moccasin gravy or brochettes a la mode—maybe you ain't hungry!"

"Say! You've got me—I ain't hungry, so help me God! I couldn't eat a single hard-boiled egg. Countermand that durned order, old man, and I'll pay all expenses and set 'em up as long as anybody can drink. Beg pardon, gentlemen, all. My first attempt to be a Terror—pardon me, gentlemen, it's my last!"

And then he handed his revolver to Job, and added:

"Take that pistol, old man, as a present, and promise me that the next time any darned fool comes in here and calls for rattlesnakes on toast you'll shoot him dead."

But Straight was too raving mad all the way through to willingly emerge from a situation only tolerably triumphant. So he took the weapon, just as the order was being placed on the table, and, pointing it at the Terror, exclaimed:

"Now, then, my boy, dump yourself into that chair and eat them snakes—bones, skin and all!"

The young fellow did as he was commanded; but, after finishing his repast, staggered the uncompromising Job by shouting:

"I say, Baldy, bring me another plate of snakes!"—Denver Times.

HOW ONE KING BEAT FOUR QUEENS.

"DID any of you ever happen to sit into a game of draw where a king beat four queens?" inquired the sugar planter from Hawaii while the earlier arrivals of the poker bunch sat about on the porch of the bachelor's clubhouse on Paradise Row waiting for the beginning of the regular afternoon poker session, says the Detroit Free Press.

Nobody in the group had ever heard of its being done just that way, and they said so.

"Well," said the sugar planter from Honolulu, "I not only saw it done in that way but I was in the game when it was done. Worse than that, I was the victim of it.

"But the king, I ought to elucidate," went on the man from Honolulu, "wasn't a card. That is to say, he was a card right enough, but not a paper one. He was a sure enough king, and his name was Dave Kalakaua. Dave was the king of Hawaii, as all of you gentlemen know.

"Now, don't form the impression that I'm endeavoring to overwhelm anybody with the idea that I customarily play poker with kings or that I'm any stuck up over having played draw with King Dave Kalakaua.

Dave was the only king I ever dished a card for, and that's because he was one of my neighbors and pals.

"But Dave played poker and was pals with lots of folks down in the islands. I should state right here that most of us used to soak Dave right hard at draw. Not that he wasn't a good player, for he was, but he had the proverbial luck of kings at gambling. He never caught much to what he held out.

"He wasn't a natural born hand helper, and he was some reckless with the king's revenues on poor looking truck in the way of poker hands. That's why he had a big poker deficit at the windup of every poker year when he did his casting up.

"The only time I ever saw Dave Kalakaua get by with a big bluff was once when he hooked up with Mr. Ah Fong, the tremendously wealthy father of the famous family of Ah Fong girls—so many of whom married American men of standing. There were five men in the game on that occasion, and the turquoise sky of Hawaii was the limit. First, Dave himself.

"Let me straighten out a seeming familiarity. We called Kalakaua Dave in private. It was at his own request. He hated formality with friends. 'My name's Dave to you; you may call me that,' he would say.

"Well, then Kalakaua himself was one of the five. Then Ah Fong, one of the shrewdest business men and kindest gentlemen that I ever touched fingers with in my life. Sam Parker, who has grown up with Hawaii's growth, and is one of our big men, was in it, and so was Paul Neumann, Honolulu's leading lawyer. I was the other one.

"The king of all Hawaii was the last year's bird's nest in that game right up to the finish of the sitting, when he came like a Tahiti typhoon. Mr. Ah Fong had inserted a terrific dent in his kingly person once when Dave, dealing, dished himself a pat queen high flush of diamonds, and then, with great inadvertence, not to say carelessness, handed Mr. Ah Fong, who was right next him under the gun, an ace high flush of diamonds—a phenomenal occurrence, by the way, two pat flushes of the same suit out against each other in a five-handed game.

"The things that the big framed Chinese merchant-planter proceeded to do unto his liege right then and there, with his top flush of the same flush suit that Dave had, it were dismal to tell of. Dave sent 4,000 along after his little assortment of all one color queen high papers, and then Mr. Ah Fong, naturally concluding that the king had something considerably neater than his own, called.

"Kings must have looked chagrined at all stages of the world's history, but none of them at any stage of the situation could ever have looked quite so chagrined as Dave Kalakaua did when the Chinese planter sifted his ace high flush of diamonds down on the table and in the same motion hoed the chips over to his side of it.

"But Dave wasn't any bad loser nor quitter, either, and he stuck right around in the game, though many a good pokerist after a wallop like that would have become peevish and superstitious about it and cashed in for his. Dave wasn't that sort, and he stayed with it.

"He got another awful mean punch not many minutes after that. It was a jackpot, and Dave being under the barbet—me dealing—didn't pick his papers up at all, but passed blind for a play.

"Nobody opened it. But every one of us, on looking at our cards, muttered gloomily, for two of us had four flushes to draw to and two others were there with bob straights to pull to. Very foolishly Dave picked up his cards to see what he'd passed blind on. No man who passes blind ought ever by any chance to look at his tickets at all if the thing isn't cracked, for he's pretty liable to find mostly every time that he's ignored the real merchandise.

"I could see Kalakaua's features twitching when he picked up the mess he'd passed blind on, and then he threw them out face up on the board. There were only four tens in the layout. He relieved himself by making a few observations in the liquid Kanaka language, but I don't believe he was invoking the Goddess Pele of the volcanoes or any of the truly good spirits at that.

"Even this horrible experience didn't drive King Dave out of the game, for nobody was ever more willing to go the full cup distance at a poker seance than he. But it wasn't till we were about ready to break up at 4 in the morning that Dave oiled his guns for a final play.

"I was the dealer beginning the final two rounds of jackpots and each man skated $50 to the center. Kalakaua picked up the corners of his papers as I sifted them over to him and never took them into his hands at all before cracking the pot. He broke it for a hundred.

"Mr. Ah Fong, next man, tilted it and none of the rest of us had the least thing to make it worth while for us to stick around at a tilting match. So we dropped out in turn.

"Dave danced back at the Chinaman for $500 and Mr. Ah Fong was right there with a $1,000 push along. Dave boosted the Chinaman another thousand, which was seen, and then I was ready to hand them some papers.

"Kalakaua hadn't taken his cards from the table yet, having only pulled up the corners of them as they lay face downward and peeked at the margins of them. So when I asked him how many cards he wanted he pushed a stack of twenty $10 chips to the center to indicate that he was pretty well fixed as to papers as it stood.

"Mr. Ah Fong didn't think he needed any, either. He didn't say so out loud, but, instead of fooling around with chips, he said 'a thousand better,' and then, seeing that there was going to be doings, I got out a pencil and began to keep tab on the chipless raisers back and forth.

"What was in the center and what was represented on my penciled schedule of back and forth bets represented nearly $8,000, when, upon lending his ears to Dave's first $2,000 boost, Mr. Ah Fong gazed out of the pen window at the wimpling blue sea, with the early morning sunlight dancing upon it, and said:

"That's good, David."

"Let's call it a night as it stands,' suggested one of the party then, and as we were all fagged the suggestion went.

"'Dave,' said Mr. Ah Fong then, leaning back in his chair with his hands back of his head, 'the ordinary man hasn't any right if he wants to be popular to show a hand that he has used to bluff somebody out of a poker pot. But that privilege ought to belong to kings, especially when they don't do it voluntarily or gloatfully, but upon request. Dave, what did you have then? How good were you?'"

"Kalakaua pondered for a minute, evidently wondering whether he would be doing the right thing to show his cards in the circumstances. Then, not having yet picked them up to throw into the discard, he slowly turned his papers over.

"He had a pair of nines. Mr. Ah Fong had already faced his jack full.

"That's worth a gift—it wasn't so badly done,' said Mr. Ah Fong, with his winning Chinese smile, and he unfastened a huge emerald brooch, which he wore at his throat, and pinned it to the pleated band of Kalakaua's soft straw hat, which was lying on a table alongside him.

"Dave didn't want to take the huge and immensely valuable jewel from the Chinaman, but Mr. Ah Fong was a man with a manner that even kings could respect, and when he tendered a gift he meant it and his obvious intention stuck. And Kalakaua wore that emerald pinned on the scarf of his straw hat, just as the Chinaman had put it there, till he took to his bed in California and died.

"But this isn't unraveling it how a king—King Dave—beat my four queens.

"The same people were in that game, and there was one looker-on—a person of whom you may have heard, Robert Louis Stevenson by name. He had dropped into Honolulu harbor on his schooner yacht a few days before. He was an old friend and pal of Kalakaua, and he liked to look upon large pokerishness, although he only played a small game himself and preferred cribbage, at which he was powerful.

"The game took place on the lanai—that's what we call a veranda in Kanaka—of my house in Waikiki, a suburb of Honolulu. We sat in at 10 o'clock at night and played along till 3 in the morning. Stevenson sat coiled up crosslegged on a couch back of Kalakaua, sipping Scotch and burning up about a million cigarettes of his own manufacture in the progress of the play, and he stayed till the finish, when all hands went into the surf for a dawn bath.

"That was one of the nights when it was pretty hard to head me. I went out in front almost from the first dishout, and I stayed there, not even swaying or at any time beginning to curl up, till right at the finish.

"Then I got slammed by the king.

"He was dealing them himself, and, barring him, the dealer, I was the last man who had to make the pronunciamiento about opening the pot. They all rapped their knuckles on the board to indicate that they didn't see anything in their array of papers.

"I'm a great hand not to look at my cards in a jackpot arrangement till the fellows ahead of me have cracked it or passed out, and I generally pick 'em up one by one, which is irritating to nervous players around a table, but that is my kind of poker, and I pay the tolls, and I can't help it. I was some stunned on this occasion, I think I may mention, when I picked up four queens, one right after the other.

"I tossed a white bean, meaning a $5 one, to the center, and opened it with what I plumed myself upon being a fine simulation of indifference—the indifference, we'll say, of somebody who has a pair of knaves to open with and doesn't much care for the prospect of having folks stick along the draw against him.

"Dave, dealing, as I say, took a peek at the margins of his cards then, and then gazed reflectively at the ceiling for quite a bit. I'd seen him do that before—especially when, not so long before then, he'd chased Mr. Ah Fong to the cactus with his pair of nines. So I wasn't worried.

"I wasn't excited, either, except with the certainty of conquest, when he tilted it $500 to draw anything. The others couldn't see that, and there I was, all healed to stake the anointed king to the trouble of his whole poker career.

"Well, I was so far ahead of the game that money didn't look like more than fifty cents on the dollar to me, and so I handed Dave one of those $1,000 hoists. I'll say it to his credit, he just saw it, and that was all.

"How many?" he asked me, and I told him I thought I'd try to worry along best I knew how, with what he'd given me in the first place.

"Then he tossed the deck away and calculated that he, too, might traipse along without needing any strengtheners. I wasn't a bit worried—as why should I be with Helen of Troy, Cleopatra, the Queen of Sheba, and Catherine the Great, more than a hackload, in my hand?"

"It was my bet, of course, and I was just on the point of beginning the $1,000 stuff, when I had a sudden hunch. It wouldn't be decent, I reflected, Kalakaua had always been more than fair to me in a lot of transactions, and it didn't seem just the goods to get on fours of the size I was holding.

"I think, Dave," I said then, 'that we'd better call this a showdown. I've got you tied in here, and I like to be as decent as I know how in all my worldly relations. No gentleman ought ever to bet on—'

"On the kind of cards that I've got here," broke in King Kalakaua right there, to my intense surprise, 'and I was just about to say the same thing when you took the words out of my mouth,' and he spread his papers out in front of him, while I did the same.

"His was a five to nine sequence flush of hearts, and he could have put me in the poorhouse with it if he had not been—as he was—the squarest and best-hearted dusky man that ever ruled over an island kingdom."—Kansas City Journal.

SHOT HIS OWN HORSE.

JOHNNY COME LATELY—that's what we dubbed him. He certainly was splendidly constructed; about six feet tall, very fair-complexioned, and withal as handsome as a picture, with an easy boyish move and a merry twinkle in his eye, which it was hard for Johnny to hide even when he tried to look severe, for he was military, was Johnny. All West Pointers are, when they first join their regiment, Lieut. Biddle (our Johnny) being no exception to the rule, and when he joined our Troop K, Seventh United States Cavalry, at Fort Lincoln, D. T., in September, 1876, the above sobriquet was handed out to him and it stuck. He would do the funniest things, so we thought, but it was all strictly military; he didn't seem to realize at first that he had struck a regiment of real troopers and that we were there to protect the frontier, not look pretty. These nice little military points when Lieut. Biddle was on duty went against the grain, but he was a man, every inch of his six feet, and square; no favorites, only just a little too military at first. But that wore off in time.

After a hard campaign the following summer of '77 the Seventh, about the first of September, struck the Tongue River cantonment on the Yellowstone, and had only one little brush with the Indians, about 600 soldiers to eighty-four Indians. They tried to escape, but we captured them all except four, and they went to the happy hunting grounds. Now Johnny was all fire, didn't say much, but wanted to fight. After we corralled the Cheyennes we turned them over to Gen. Miles at Cedar Creek on the Yellowstone. This was in June, and Johnny certainly looked disappointed when he didn't even get a go at the Indians. Our troop that day was rear guard. A few days later we struck a herd of buffalo, probably 3,000, scattered over about ten miles or more of territory. Two men were detailed out of each of five companies to make a killing. All the officers knew Lieut. Biddle's desire for adventure and he was put in charge of the ten men. He rode a crackerjack of a horse; his eyes shone like diamonds, and before we struck the first few old bulls he called me to him and said: "Stine, you've been raised in this country, haven't you?"

"Yes, sir," I said.

"Know all about killing buffaloes?"

"Some little," I replied.

"Now, I don't want to go wrong on this hunt," said the lieutenant, "and I don't want any mishap, nor do I want the command to have the laugh on me. Now, I'm ordered not to kill over twenty-five, but there you see they are stampeding already."

"Just what you want," I said. "Hold your bridle with the left hand and carbine in the right; dash into the herd and keep going with 'em; don't stop; pay no attention to your right hand side, they will keep away from you. Now pick the cow—always pick a young cow, they can run faster and it takes a good horse to outrun them. Ride up on the right hand side, lean over a little toward the buffalo, throw your carbine in the hollow of your left arm and blaze away. But, Lieutenant, don't shoot too quick; wait until your saddle is just opposite the brute's hump, for the minute you hit one if it don't go down they'll turn quicker'n greased lightning and catch your horse in the flank as he goes by. Now, don't stop, whatever you do; just keep going with the herd and when you think you have killed enough, pull out to one side, if you get an opening, understand—"

"Yes, I guess so," said Biddle. "Now let's at them."

Well, the lieutenant watched me shoot my first cow buffalo and, sure enough, she didn't go down. As I said, she turned the second she was hit, but my horse had passed her and on we went. Biddle was riding on my right about ten yards away, and looking at me, smiled and nodded, then dashed ahead on his own account. His horse certainly was a hummer. Besides being scared he could go some, and in a few minutes he was somewhere in the herd, I suppose, away ahead of me. I had ridden about four miles with them, my horse being almost out.

So I thought I'd try to catch a young buffalo just ahead of me, and if I got him I'd quit. It had been a hard run and the buffalo, as well as my horse, was pretty well blown, but I was gaining on him very fast. He was only ten yards ahead and I was ready to drop him. I didn't have time to look about me, but "bang" went a six-shooter just ahead of me.

At the same moment I saw a horse drop just as dead as a mackerel. His rider hadn't had time to dismount. I pulled up and, would you believe it, there was Lieut. Biddle trying to get his leg from under his dead horse. The unfortunate chump had shot at my buffalo as it passed, but instead of having his horse face the way the buffalo was going Biddle used his six-shooter and shot directly over his horse's head. His horse must have thrown up his head, for he had actually shot the poll of his horse's head off. Dead? Well, that horse was sure a dead one.

The lieutenant looked at me with a sort of a silly, sickly smile, and said: "Well, I'm blamed—"

"How'd you do it?" I asked.

"Didn't you see?" That was all he said, but he stood looking sadly at his dead horse, occasionally looking back towards the trail over which we had come. He then said: "Stine, how far is it back to the command?"

"Oh, not far," I replied, "not over five miles."

Then he looked at his horse again. One could see he was ashamed. I wanted to laugh; but on second thought I thought discretion was better, as he was "military." Finally between us we managed to get the saddle and carbine off his dead horse. I offered him the use of my horse, but he wouldn't have it that way. So, putting his accoutrements on my saddle, we started back afoot, I leading my horse.

We hadn't gone fifty yards when poor Johnny turned white as a sheet and collapsed; but he wasn't altogether out. I grabbed my canteen and handed it to him. After taking a few swallows of water his color came back; he sat there a few minutes and said: "Sprained ankle; pull my boot off!"

Sure enough his ankle had swollen so that I couldn't pull his boot off, so had to cut it off.

"Take my horse, lieutenant, and leave the saddle here. I'll come back after it, for I can't carry it."

"I guess I'll have to," said Johnny. So we started back to the command.

Poor Johnny! His sprained ankle cost him dear; for a very short while after the buffalo hunt we met the great Nez Percés Indian Chief Joseph in battle at the Bear Paw Mountains, Montana. Lieut. Biddle was so lame that he could not take proper care of himself. He was shot all to pieces, as was his captain, Owen Hale, and twenty-four men out of a total of thirty-eight composing Troop K, Seventh Cavalry.—Sing Sing Star of Hope.

THE PHYSICIAN AND THE PIRATES.

ONE morning in September, 190—, there came to the office of Dr. Frederic Curtin, a young English physician in Hongkong, a native junkman from the Chinese city of Swatow, about 200 miles northeast of the English city. The junkman brought a letter to the doctor from an old acquaintance, the Rev. James Burren, a missionary in the vicinity of Swatow; and the letter begged Curtin to come and attend the missionary's young son, who was suffering from a puzzling and lingering illness.

As none of his patients in Hongkong demanded his immediate attention, Curtin was free to respond to the call. The Silver Moon, the trading junk that had brought the letter of appeal, was to leave on the return voyage the next day at noon; and as this junk offered the only means of reaching Swatow for several days, Curtin engaged passage on the slow-sailing, clumsy vessel.

There had been much activity that summer among the native pirates that infest the coast waters of the China Sea; and although the doctor did not expect to encounter any of these gentry, he took the precaution of placing in his valise two heavy navy revolvers and a quantity of cartridges.

The Silver Moon sailed on the morrow at midday, as scheduled, and driven by a wide spread of canvas, slipped through the deep blue, lapping water of this Eastern sea at a much better speed than the doctor expected. That evening a nearly full moon floated in the clear sky, and gave a glory to the ocean that Curtin had never seen surpassed. He sat on deck until late, and when he did go down to his cramped berth in the cabin below, he dropped into a sleep so profound that his first intimation of danger was when he was awakened by fierce, wild cries and the scurrying and trampling of many feet on the deck overhead.

He sprang to get his revolvers. But while he fumbled with the catches of the case, there was a rush of footsteps down the passageway outside; and the next moment the frail door burst in with a crash before the attack of half a dozen nearly naked Chinamen, who had American revolvers and short curved swords. The Silver Moon had fallen prey to pirates, and Curtin calmly submitted himself to the invaders.

He was allowed to dress. In the meantime the pirates rummaged through his baggage, including the rather portly black leather case in which he carried his medicines and surgical instruments. When he was hustled on deck a few moments later he found lying alongside the Silver Moon a huge junk, and swarming over the captured vessel a motley horde of evil-looking barbarians. The crew of the Silver Moon, awed and cringing, was huddled forward under guard.

But Curtin was not placed with the other captives. At a word from the thin, wiry man who appeared to be the leader, two of the pirates marched the doctor straight aboard the strange junk, where they proceeded to bind his arms and legs with ropes, and left him near the foremast to sprawl or sit on the hard deck, as he chose. As soon as everything of value on the Silver Moon had been transferred to the robber junk, the crew returned to their own vessel, and cast off, leaving their countrymen to go their way in peace. The pirate junk now headed to the northeast, following the coast.

Curtin, sprawling on the bare deck in his bonds, could only conjecture what was to be his fate. He knew that the native pirates often made a practice of holding prisoners for ransom, and he fancied that his captors intended to do so in his case, otherwise they would not have singled him out from all those on the captured junk. It did not reassure him to reflect that his bank account in Hongkong was an extremely modest one, and that he had few friends in the city who could place any large sum at his disposal.

About the middle of the forenoon his attention was attracted to one of the pirate crew—a big man who was restlessly pacing up and down the sun-scorched deck not far away, apparently in intense agony. On observing the fellow closely, the doctor saw that there was an angry, unhealed wound in the muscles of his bare left forearm, and noted that the arm itself was swollen to nearly twice its normal size.

At once Curtin's professional instinct was stirred. On the impulse of the moment he stood up awkwardly on his pinioned legs, and said in Chinese:

"That is a bad wound you have in your arm. I am an English doctor of Hongkong. Perhaps if you will let me see your arm I can relieve the pain."

The big Chinaman stopped his uneasy striding to stand and look doubtfully at the speaker. The pirate leader happened to be near, heard what Curtin said, and, the wounded sailor continuing to hesitate, signed to him to allow the doctor to examine his arm.

The sufferer obeyed stolidly, and one glance at the inflamed wound, which evidently had been made by a sword thrust, was enough to tell Curtin that he had to deal with a case of threatened blood-poisoning. But he thought that if the arm was immediately lanced the Chinaman would have a good chance for speedy recovery.

This he told the pirate captain, who had come over to stand beside his fellow cut-throat. He said that if the black case that had been seized among his other baggage that morning was brought and his arms were released, he would at once treat the wound, although he would not guarantee to cure the man.

To the doctor's surprise, the captain answered that he had lived in Hongkong, and knew of the skill of the English doctors, and that he would be much gratified if Curtin could save the sailor, as the fellow was one of his best men.

The medicine case was quickly produced, and the doctor's hands were untied. First ascertaining that the contents of the case were undisturbed, he prepared the wounded arm by pouring a little alcohol upon it. Then he took out his instruments and quickly performed the operation.

The look of relief that came into the sufferer's face was apparent, but neither the captain nor the other members of the pirate crew, who had gathered round to watch, made any comment. Curtin carefully dressed and bandaged the wound, and as soon as he had finished, his hands were rebound. His patient moved away without a word of thanks or appreciation, yet the doctor did not neglect to say that as often as was necessary he would attend the arm again. He was anxious to make a friend of this Chinaman; for a friend, he felt, would not be a bad thing to have among that barbarous crew.

Shortly after sunset that evening the junk reached the mouth of a narrow river, and a quarter of a mile from the entrance to this stream the sails were lowered and anchor was dropped. Curtin gathered from the talk of some of the crew who stood near him that the junk was to be taken up this river to an outlaw retreat, but that they would not enter the narrow channel until the high tide of the next morning.

Not long after the evening meal was over the pirates began to turn in for the night. Most of them merely threw themselves down on the hard deck. By 9 o'clock all were asleep, with the exception of a single watchman, whom Curtin could see strolling back and forth across the after-deck.

Hours passed, and as the doctor lay outstretched on the bare deck, he tried to work his hands out of the hempen cord that bound them together behind his back. He thought that if he could free himself from his bonds, the watchman might nap, and thus give him opportunity to slip over the side of the vessel into the sea and swim ashore. But he was unable to release his hands.

Not long after this, the watchman came forward and silently passed close to Curtin, and he was rather surprised to see that the lone guard was no other than the man whose arm he had lanced that morning. He wondered idly if the fellow had been chosen for the post of watchman for the reason that suffering had rendered him sleepless.

Then suddenly, as he looked up at the big yellow man, a new idea for escape germinated, grew to a hazy outline, and in a moment took definite shape in Curtin's mind.

In his medicine case was a vial containing a quantity of a certain very powerful anesthetic. He had told the pirate that he would dress the wound again when necessary. If on this excuse he could get his hands freed and the case in his possession, why would it not be easy to administer a few drops of the drug by a hypodermic injection, and almost immediately send the watchman into a coma that would last for hours—render him unconscious before he could rebind his captive's hands or think to make outcry?

Curtin fully realized the danger attendant upon so audacious a scheme. But he felt that as long as he was in the hands of these ruthless and merciless men his life was not safe from one hour to the next.

Immediately he hailed the watchman and asked him about his arm. The tall pirate paused and replied that it still pained him considerably. Curtin suggested that he bring the medicine case and have his arm treated there in the bright moonlight.

The watchman was slow in answering. Curtin began to think that the natural craftiness of his race had counseled him against the proposition, when with a gesture of consent he went to the companion-way and disappeared. In a few moments he came back, carrying the familiar case in his hand. Then the doctor's heart gave a joyous leap.

As soon as his hands were loosened, he quickly opened the case and took out the vial he needed and the hypodermic syringe. He poured into the syringe a few drops of the colorless fluid from the vial. Next, with hands that trembled with eagerness, he unwound the bandage from the wounded belt.

However, the doctor did not hesitate. He resolutely grasped the proffered arm, and carefully inserted the needle point of the instrument into the flesh so far above the wound that the powerful drug could have but little harmful effect upon the irritated region. Then, with even pressure upon the plunger, he completely emptied the vial.

He withdrew the syringe, and keeping a strong grip upon his victim's arm, began to replace the bandage.

He worked slowly, methodically, occupying as much time as possible in each step of the operation. The Chinaman soon began to show signs of a strange, unnatural drowsiness. His head nodded on his broad shoulders, his eyes were half closed, and he opened them with difficulty. All at once the doctor's vigilant eye saw a startled, apprehensive look flit across the countenance of the pirate. The next instant the man gave a half inarticulate cry and snatched out his sword.

Curtin threw up his hand to arrest the fall of the blade, but suddenly, in the twinkling of an eye, the Chinaman wavered, the uplifted arm dropped nerveless, the sword fell clattering to the deck from the grasp of the relaxed fingers. As the watchman toppled over under the influence of the drug, the doctor caught him in his arms and lowered him to the deck.

Then Curtin snatched up the sword, and with one slash of the keen blade, severed the ropes that bound his ankles loosely together. He listened just a moment. All was still on the junk. He stooped down and finished adjusting the bandage to the senseless outlaw's wounded arm.

But he did not linger long on the pirate craft. Throwing a rope over the side of the junk, he slid down into the water and swam away. No mishap came to him in the water, and soon he was following the sands of the beach to the northeast.

At daybreak he came upon a British gunboat lying a little way off the shore, and in response to his signals, a boat put out and took him aboard. That evening he was landed in Swatow. He found the missionary's son very ill with a stubborn fever; but Curtin took up the battle just in time, and at the end of a week had brought about the boy's recovery—By LAURENCE J. WAS ONE ON FATHER.

“CAMILLE CLIFFORD, who is going to marry the son of an English lord, is a Germantown girl,” said a New York manager. “In Philadelphia, though she used to be much admired there, no one ever thought that in London she would achieve fame.

“Yet in London, Camille Clifford, with her gowns, has become famous for some years, and there are many Englishmen who will envy Lord Aberdare's son his bride.

"Miss Clifford, when I last saw her, talked of Lord Aberdare's opposition to the match. She did not think this opposition would last long. Apropos of it, she told me a little story.

"She said there was a certain girl whose parents objected strongly to her sweetheart. The parents found in this girl's pocketbook one night a love letter, and, wild with rage, they summoned her before them.

"What kind of a letter do you call this?" the old father demanded, glaring at his daughter over his spectacles. "Listen to it: 'Light of my life!' Light of my life! Faugh!"

"But, papa—"

"Not a word!" the old man interrupted. And he goes on, 'I could not sleep all night long, love, for thinking of you.'

"Liar," said the mother. 'Fool and liar, to write so.'

"Then the lunatic says," continued the father, 'he says, "How happy we would be if only that pig-headed, narrow-minded old fool of a dad of yours would give his consent."'

"The villain," said the mother.

"Would I trust my daughter's future," said the father, 'to any man who was base enough to speak like that?'

"But, papa, if you'll look—"

"Not a word."

"If you'll only look, papa, at the date."

"The old man turned the page and read:

"Oct. 2, 1892.' Then a light dawned on him, and he gasped:

"Why, mother, bless my heart, it's one of my own letters to you."

"Yes," said the young girl; 'I found it in the cedar chest yesterday. I'd have told you long ago, but you wouldn't let me speak.'—Exchange.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC!

THE agent of this company is serving the public and not the company.

He never gets busy, and always has time to listen to your tale of woe, and is glad to hear all about your domestic troubles, and that your wife's people, or some other relatives, are expected to arrive on some night train that he never meets, and that he is expected to meet them, and show them where to go, etc.

He always has time to ask the dispatcher how the train is. The bulletin board in this office is not intended to give the public any information. It is there solely for the agent's benefit, just to give him a little practice in writing on a blackboard with chalk.

The clock in this office was never known to keep the correct time—it's useless to ask if it is correct.

The agent is always glad to have patrons of the road, as well as "sweaters," run right over the bulletin-board and come into the office where he is adding up a string of figures a foot long, to ask him how the train is, that is one of the joys of his position and shows him how thoughtful and considerate the public is.

He has nothing to do but sit and listen to the wire and keep right up with every train on the road, and be ready to tell every one just the minute it left the last station—that will make it arrive sooner.

He is the "crankiest" man in existence.

He always knows just who gets on and off of trains, where they went, and when they will return.

He is also a mind-reader, and can tell whether you have any baggage, without your check; or, can tell whether you have any freight or express, whether you tell him your name or not, it makes no difference whether he ever saw you before or not.

He simply delights in watching people sit in the waiting-room for thirty minutes before the train arrives, and then, when the train is whistling for the station, call for three tickets and a half-dozen pieces of baggage checked.

There are many other delights which are all his own, but space and time do not admit of enumeration.

This notice is very respectfully referred and promulgated to the public in general, for the purpose of letting them know a few (very few) of the joys of the "high mogul" in the average railway office.

Mother's Way.

Mother makes a lot of fuss,
When the children start to play;
Says they kick up such a muss,
Keep her working all the day.
Never gets a minute's rest,
Always overturning chairs;
Says the children are a pest,
And the worst of all her cares.
But I've noticed many a day,
She is sad when they're away.

Through the parlor, how they run,
Rumpling rugs where'er they go;
Mother's work is never done,
Chairs are lined up in a row,
Dust is flying everywhere,
Curtains rudely thrown aside;
Children never seem to care,
Back and forth they run and hide,
But I've found when they're away,
She would call them back to play.

Never know a mother who Didn't scold her romping boys,
For the mischief that they do,
And their clatter and their noise.
Seems it always is her way,
Just to scold, as mothers will;
But she always dreads the day
When the house is hushed and still.
Seems she'd rather work all day,
Than have her little ones away.

"A Man With An Aim."

Give me a man with an aim,
Whatever that aim may be,
Whether it's wealth or whether it's fame,
It matters not to me.
Let him walk in the path of right,
And keep his aim in sight,
And work and pray in faith alway,
With his eyes on the glittering height.

Give me a man who says,
"I will do something well,
And make the fleeing days
A story of labor tell."
Though the aim he has be small,
It is better than none at all;
With something to do the whole year through,
He will not stumble or fall.

But Satan weaves a snare
For the feet of those who stray
With never a thought or a care
Where the path may lead away.
The man who hath no aim
Not only leaves no name
When this life's done, but ten to one
He leaves a record of shame.

Give me a man whose heart
Is filled with ambition's fire;
Who sets his mark in the start
And moves it higher and higher.
Better to die in the strife,
The hands with labor rife,
Than to glide with the stream in an idle dream,
And live a purposeless life.

Little Brown Hands.

They drive home the cows from the pasture
And up through the long, shady lane,
Where the quail whistles loud in the wheatfields
That are yellow with ripening grain.
They find in the thick, waving grasses,
Where the scarlet-lipped strawberry grows,
They gather the earliest snowdrops
And the first crimson bud of the rose.

They toss the new hay in the meadows,
They gather the elder blooms white,
They find where the dusky grapes purple
In the soft tinted October light.
They know where the apples hang ripest
And sweeter than Italy's wines,
They know where the fruit hangs the thickest
On the long, thorny blackberry vines.

They gather the delicate seaweeds,
And build tiny castles of sand,
They pick up the beautiful seashells,
Fairy barks that have drifted to land.
They wave from the tall, rocking tree-top,
Where the oriole's hammock-nest swings,
And at night time are folded in slumber
By the song that a fond mother sings.

And those who toil bravely are strongest,
The humble and poor become great,
And from those brown-handed children
Shall grow mighty rulers of state.
The pen of the author and statesman,
The noble and wise of the land,
The sword and the chisel and palette
Shall be held by the little brown hand.

Dividing God's Day.

When good St. Peter came to earth,
 He held fingers three;
 Which span the parts of all man's work,
 Since three parts there should be.
 One-third for work and one for play,
 The other third to sleep;
 Obey the rule, whate'er men say,
 No time is left to weep.
 Up with your sleeve, and do your work,
 Then drop your work for play;
 Or should a dullness seem to lurk
 Why, tuck your bones in sleep away.
 For God who laid this kindly plan,
 Whereby we work and play and sleep,
 Has great pity for a man
 Who finds spare time to weep.—Ex.

Never Mind the Knocker.

Go ahead and make your play;
 Never mind the knocker.
 He's in every worker's way;
 Never mind the knocker.
 Every one who seeks to shine,
 If successful, he'll malign;
 'Tis of fame a certain sign—
 Never mind the knocker.

If you have a task to do,
 Never mind the knocker.
 Have your nerve and see it thro';
 Never mind the knocker.
 When your labors have been done,
 You may know that you have won
 If the pounding has begun—
 Never mind the knocker.

He strikes only those who climb;
 Never mind the knocker.
 'Tis success he deems a crime;
 Never mind the knocker.
 If he hammers at your name,
 Then be sure you're in the game;
 'Tis a species of acclaim;
 Never mind the knocker.

His low aim affirms his caste;
 Never mind the knocker.
 Fiercest storms most quickly pass;
 Never mind the knocker.
 When the knocker's course is run,
 When his jeers and scoffs are done,
 He'll be cursed by every one;
 Never mind the knocker.

Appreciation.

When I am dead, it men can say,
 "He helped the world upon its way;
 With all his faults of word and deed
 Mankind did have some little need
 Of what he gave"—then in my grave
 No greater honor shall I crave.

If they can say—if they but can—
 "He did his best, he played the man,
 His ways were straight; his soul was clean;
 His failings not unkind nor mean;
 He loved his fellow men and tried
 To help them"—I'll be satisfied.

But when I'm gone, if even one
 Can weep because my life is done
 And feel the world is something bare
 Because I am no longer there—
 Call me a knave, my life misspent—
 No matter, I shall be content.

The Old Farm.

When the busy day is over with its anxious hopes and fears,
 And the telephone stops ringing and the last clerk disappears,
 With a sigh I lean back weary in my swinging office chair,
 And my thoughts go back to childhood and the old farm that is there.

I can see the dear old homestead, broad and low beneath the trees,
 And the rows of shining milk pans sunning in the fresh sweet breeze;
 I can see the barn and horses, and the orchard
 on the hill,
 Where we gathered golden pippins for the old straw cider mill.

I can see the upland pastures dotted o'er with grazing sheep,
 And the wheat field waving golden, ready for the men to reap.
 I can see the old stone fences where the chipmunks used to play,
 And the cornfield, and the meadow with its piles of fragrant hay.

I can see the cattle standing 'neath the willows
 by the brook,
 Where I used to fish for minnows with a bent pin for a hook;
 And the pond where grew the lilies that my mother used to prize,
 Ah, the light of heaven's shining now within those dear old eyes.

And I sigh while fancy lingers o'er each well-known pleasant scene
 Of the happy days of boyhood thrown by memory on the screen;
 And I'd give all I have gained since, all my wealth and treasures rare,
 To go back again to childhood and the old farm that is there.

Both Right.

"I'm not expecting any package," said Mrs. Hamlet to the driver of the delivery wagon, who was persistent.

"This is the number," insisted the driver, looking at his book again. "Name's Hamlet, ain't it?"

"Yes."

"No. 74?"

"That's our number."

"Then it's for you."

"I think not. It must be a case of mistaken identity."

"No, mum. It's a case of beer."

What His Bumps Told.

"That man is a phrenologist, Pat."

"An', sure, what's that, sorr?"

"Why a man that can tell by feeling the bumps on your head, what kind of a man you are."

"Bumps on my head, is it?" exclaimed Pat. "Begorra, then I think it would give him more of an idea what kind of a woman my wife is."

The Other Gentleman.

An old Irishman who had recently recovered from a severe sickness chanced to meet the parish priest who had been summoned during his illness to administer the rites of the church to the dying, as he was considered to be near death's door, and the following conversation took place:

"Ah, Pat, I see you are out again. We thought you were gone sure; you had a very serious time of it."

"Yes, yer reverence, indade I had."

"When you were so near death's door were you not afraid to meet your God, your Maker?"

"No, indade, yer reverence," replied Pat, "it was the other gentleman."—The Tattler.

Her Experience.

Young ladies, with a fondness for infantile admirers, should be warned by an episode at a seaside resort last summer.

An engaging masculine of seven years became on exceedingly good terms with the belle of their particular hotel, a girl about twenty years his senior. One day the charmer asked the swain to go bathing, and after the bath, as they returned to their bathhouses, the small man suggested a race to see who could dress first. They entered the bath houses, which adjoined, and in a short time a youthful treble called, "Miss Ethel, oh Miss Ethel, I've got my stockings on."

A low contralto answered, "Yes, Robbie, so have I."

After a short pause the irrepressible again called, "Miss Ethel, I've got my shoes on."

Again came the answer, "Yes, dear, so have I."

Again a pause—then a triumphant voice shrilly proclaimed, "Miss Ethel, I've got my pants on."

The answering silence was oppressive.—Lippincott's.

Where They Go.

A temperance lecturer speaking in Keene, N. H., reminded his hearers of the story of Dives and Lazarus. The lecturer pointed out how Dives when in Hades did not ask for beer or wine or liquor, but for one drop of water.

"Now, my friends," said the lecturer, "what does that show?"

A voice from the rear of the hall instantly replied:

"It shows us where you temperance people go."—Ex.

A Long Dry Spell.

Captain Charles Marple recently returned to Omaha after a long sojourn in the Philippines. A friend, meeting him on the street, and wishing to be a good fellow, said:

"Let's go and have something, Captain."

"No, thank you," said Captain Marple. "I don't care for anything just now."

"On the water wagon?" queried the friend.

"Oh, not exactly," replied Captain Marple. "I'm a good deal like a friend of mine in the army of the Philippines. I saw him on a corner in Manila early one morning, and he was looking pretty seedy. Thinking to brace him up I asked him to have a drink."

"No, I'm on the water wagon," he said.

"I asked him how long he had been on the vehicle, and after thinking for a minute he replied:

"Day after tomorrow will be the third day."

The Difference.

"Gracious, Elsie!" exclaimed the little girl's mother. "Why are you shouting in that horrible fashion? Why can't you be quiet like Willie?"

"He's got to be quiet, the way we're playin'," replied Elsie. "He's papa coming home late and I'm you."—Philadelphia Press.

His Ticket.

A ticket collector on a Scotch railway got leave to go and get married, and was given a pass over the line. On the way back he showed to the new collector his marriage certificate by mistake for his pass. He studied it carefully, and then said: "Eh, mon, you've got a ticket for a lang, wearisome journey, but no' on the Caledonian."—International W. W.

His Version.

A Brooklyn Sunday School teacher had occasion to catechise a new pupil, whose ignorance of his Testament would have been amusing had it not been so appalling. One Sunday she asked the little fellow how many commandments there were.

To her great surprise, the lad answered glibly enough, "Ten, ma'am."

"And now, Sammy," pleasantly continued the teacher, "what would be the result if you should break one of them?"

"Then there'd be nine," triumphantly answered the youngster.

Where They Went.

A group of workmen were arguing during the dinner hour. A deadlock had been reached when one of the men on the losing side turned to a mate who had remained silent during the whole of the debate.

"Ere, Bill," he said, "you're pretty good at argymen. Wot's your opinion?"

"I ain't a-going to say," said Bill. "I thrashed the matter out afore with Dick Grey."

"Ah," said the other artfully, hoping to entice him into the fray, "and what did you arrive at?"

"Well, e-venchually," said Bill, "Dick 'e arrived at the 'orspital an' I arrived at the perlice station."—London Tid-Bits.

Our Correspondents

"NEGLECTING ALL GOOD IN FUNDAMENTALS."

THE New York papers, for September 14th, gave us a sketch of the life of one of those men to whom we give the power to accumulate immense quantities of wealth. For about fifty years he had the opportunity of doing that, commencing with partnership in an important concern in New York, with which his father had already been connected for many years. At his death, in the middle of September, the son in question was an important official of fifteen large corporations, besides partner in the commercial house we have mentioned. He had the philanthropic spirit, and part of his annual earnings were, for years, poured in charitable channels, and in the public improvements of at least two wealthy towns in New Jersey, where he became something of a permanent visitor. His public improvements in one of those towns reached the sum of $250,000. In the course of a few years the real estate of that town increased in value. That is invariably the case with all increased improvements, private or public, under our crooked economic conditions. The potentate we are dealing with was the owner of a large mansion, lands, etc., in the mentioned town. His taxes were then increased. That brought a great sorrow to the old gentleman, who, with many of his friends, considered it a great ingratitude on the part of the town he had so much improved.

When some of our friends mentioned that to us, we could not make them understand that the increased taxes on our poor multimillionaire represented simply an act implying a certain degree of public justice.

The whole story embodied in the two preceding paragraphs is intended to convey, not only the great ignorance of many of our good, intelligent people, but the idiocy of our own industrial conditions. Also the miserable way with which we confuse the two elements of private and public rights, and so of private and public duties, or refuse to know all about the latter.

The philanthropist we are talking about was an estimable man, no better can be found anywhere, as a private individual, as a private Christian, so to speak. But, is Christianity a mere private, narrow, selfish undertaking which has nothing to do with public citizenship duties? Charities and prayers, prayers and charities, public or private, mere wealth lavished right and left, is that all we owe to God and to each other? Should we go on placidly through all life terrestrial, willing to let all forms of legalized iniquity prosper and expand, and demoralize all classes of men because of the rotten social environments we create; forcing everybody, saint or sinner, to develop in defiance of all principles of plain honesty in all our industrial activities? Not even the worst heathen nations could have any worse mental attitude or religious philosophy than we seem yet to have, in all that relates to all the essentials of our combined life.

Just as the religious philanthropist we have mentioned was one in a group of 100 or more men controlling fifteen large corporations, and so about $200,000,000 in certain forms of wealth production, transportation and exchange, so 20,000 similar good, religious men control 2,000 or more corporations with forty billions of wealth in production, transportation and exchange. Those 2,000 or more corporations are but as many boils or brutal manifestations of the idiotic, distorted, brutal industrial conditions we manage to have, with which to satisfy our insane desire to get on top of each other in wealth accumulation or higher earnings; all in utter disregard of a certain golden rule principle given to us for us to actualize, and not for us to perpetually trample upon.

Every corporation rests on a law of privilege, legalizing a certain slice of industrial robbery in favor of this or that petty group of men and curtailing the natural earnings of the grand totality of useful workers in each nation. Each corporation comes from the beggary of the powerful, addressed to our corrupt legislative bodies, the beggary of this or that manipulation by which to interfere with the equal natural rights of men. Each corporation is an additional wheel to increase the industrial despotism, commenced in rudimentary forms, by the old nations in Asia and Africa, unfolded, in finished and most cruel forms, by the present generation, during the last three or four decades of our precious and barbarous progress.

Charities and philanthropy in lieu of justice and fair play! The mean, selfish love which is made to condone, excuse, justify iniquity by wholesale, in place of the unselfish love which we owe to God and humanity for good and joy universal! A stone in lieu of a loaf of bread! That is what all progress was centuries ago. That is what progress is yet today. It often looks as if that is what progress was going to be up to end of time. All because of that perverse optimism of the good and the wise of our days, and ever before, assuming that progress is but a question of change in the aspects of our materialistic development, some variations in our religious sentimentalities, a few additional so-called comforts among certain groups of men, and so on to the end of human follies and conceits, the conceits and follies of an education which hides from all of us the fundamental crimes we insist upon having in our social groups, and so the fundamental duty by which we could rapidly suppress all social wrongs, fundamental or incidental, all personal, private imperfections, poisoning our lives and badly curtailing or suppressing all our high joys.

Ever since man appeared on the face of the earth have we neglected the fundamental principle of all human growth. "If any man come after me, let him deny himself." Do you suppose that refers to the mere petty incidents of our own personal, private life? That is the conception yet carried by the distorted Christianity we insist upon having. We have to deny ourselves of the materialistic longings after the cruelties of a sinful progress. We have to follow Christ in His altruistic perceptions of duty towards all men, in His brotherhood ideals and combined of human growth. We still deny Christ; we, grouped in nations and churches, or away from churches and nations. We still discard the altruistic Christianity of Jesus. We still follow our mean egotistic perceptions of social and industrial life. In forms direct or indirect, conscious or not, we still neglect all good in fundamentals, assuming that some good in incidentals is all we need for what we call salvation in the beyond. Some of us, important people, those advanced in years, anyhow, may need something else for salvation anywhere, whatsoever salvation may mean.

JOSE GROS.

GET IN ACTION.

I see the $75.00 minimum and the eight-hour day is being discussed in the columns of THE TELEGRAPHER as warm as ever.

Now, I say let's cut out this chewing business and get down to "business," and make some move towards getting this eight-hour day and $75.00 minimum we talk about.

I see in the September TELEGRAPHER Bro. Quick has taken the bond question up in the editorial columns, and suggests that those who are interested in that subject discuss it in the columns of THE TELEGRAPHER for the next three issues, and then, if the plan he has suggested therein meets with the approval of a sufficient number to warrant the action, a blank will be provided in the January issue so that some decisive action can be taken.

Now, I propose we all get busy and write Bro. Quick urging him to put the same proposition up to us on the $75.00 minimum and eight-hour day question, thus putting an end to this hot air which appears in every issue of THE TELEGRAPHER. And by getting at this immediately, we will be decided by March 4, 1908, when the national nine-hour law goes into effect.

Let us not wait for Uncle Sam or any other man, to do anything for us, but go after it ourselves, and then we know we have it, for, can we not see in several States the boys are being beaten out of their just rights, and they are working just the same as they did before their eight-hour law took effect?

It looks to me like the same thing will be attempted when our national nine-hour law goes into effect, so let's be ready, for the day is coming. CERT. 1478, Div. 126.

MORE ABOUT THE BOND QUESTION.

I note Bro. Quick's editorial in the September number of THE TELEGRAPHER with regard to the bond question, and I heartily endorse his plan to take a vote on it and decide if something can not be done towards organizing a company among the members of the O. R. T.

Until a man has had the misfortune to run up against these bond companies, he does not know what it means to be refused a bond and have to seek other employment, or accept a position at a greatly reduced salary, just because some one has told the bond company that he was not what he should be.

This is a question which vitally concerns each and every one of us, as there is no telling when you may be the one that will be refused bond. Any one who has had any dealings with a certain bond company, whose office is located in Montreal, Canada, and can not be reached in a U. S. court on account of being a Canadian organization, know how hopeless a task it is getting any satisfaction out of them in case they see fit to turn you down. A more heartless, cold-blooded concern never existed. The Standard Oil crowd are no comparison. By all means take a vote on the bond question, and let every loyal member of the Order be ready to take one or more shares of stock in the company, in case it is decided to organize one. It will make us independent of these "soulless corporations" and at the same time it will be a good investment financially. A great many would take ten or twenty shares; certainly among the thirty or forty thousand members of the Order there would be no difficulty in disposing of this amount of stock.

I would be in favor of limiting the bonding to railway employees only, for the first year or two, at least. At the end of this period, if thought advisable to bond others, it could easily be arranged. I do not think it would be advisable to limit it strictly to bonding members of the Order, as that would necessitate some agents and clerks who are not operators giving bond in some other company. Of course, the railroad companies prefer to deal with one bond company as far as possible. This would give them a chance to bond them all in our company if they so desired.

Yours fraternally,

CERT. No. 1,818.

APPROVES ARTICLE ON BOND QUESTION.

I am sure that the plan outlined in the September TELEGRAPHER by Bro. Quick will meet with general approval of the members, and I would suggest one clause in the by-laws of the corporation and printed on the face of stock certificates, and that is that the O. R. T. Bond Company stock is non-transferrable, except to members of the O. R. T. This would prevent the company being absorbed by outside capital, and would always leave the stock in the hands of those most vitally interested, and as for bonding outsiders, it would be all right and permissible, if the party applying for bond is a member of some good labor union—otherwise my policy would be "no card no favors;" and to bond employees of all railroad and telegraph companies, whether members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers or not. The black-list is worked by the big telegraph companies through the bond companies, just the same as it is by the railroads, and if a man is a "union" man and is O. K., by all means give him bond.

Let us have that blank in the January issue, Bro. Quick. It will go with a whoop that will be very quickly heard by the bond companies that make a practice of knifing honest men in the back.

Yours for justice and a 30-cents an hour minimum. CERT. 1573.

THE BOND QUESTION.

At last we have before us a solution of the bond question. Bro. Quick's editorial in the September TELEGRAPHER touches the point exactly, and I trust will meet with the approval and have the support of each and every member of our great and glorious organization. The plan: Capital, $250,000; shares 25,000 of $10.00 each, issued only to O. R. T. members. The company to bond only members of the O. R. T. By this plan we would run less risk and would always be in closer touch with, and have a better knowledge of the character and habits of applicants for bonds than if we took in outsiders. I would also suggest that the number of shares of stock be limited to a given number for each subscriber; say, ten, twenty, or thirty shares, but not over fifty shares, and thereby not allow a few to gain control. I would also suggest that the bond company be made a part of and operate from our St. Louis headquarters, if not by any of the Grand Officers, that they have some jurisdiction over said bond company, so that the two organizations would be in close proximity, that they may be operated with the least possible expense.

Now, let's hear from all the members on this question, and show Bro. Quick that we want a bond company, and I am sure that we will get all the assistance needed.

V. E. PINCKLEY,

CERT. 4, Div. 79.

COINCIDES WITH EDITORIAL ON BOND QUESTION.

The plan proposed by Bro. Quick in the editorial of the September number of THE TELEGRAPHER, on the bond question, is one I think that is very good. The bond question is getting to be a serious one for operators all over the country. There should be no trouble in getting members to subscribe for the proposed stock, and, if each division would insert a clause in their schedule providing that operators and agents be allowed to give bond in a reliable company, I think almost every member would prefer the "O. R. T. Bond Company."

I would favor only bonding members of the Order, as I believe them to be more reliable, and this would cut the losses down to the minimum. Should a man jump his bond, he could be advertised, and very few would get away.

The bond question is one that is keeping a great many men out of good positions. I am one of the many, although I never checked up short or had to make good any shortages, yet I am out and can not find out the reason. This is the case with many others. They could give bond in such a company as is proposed. This would also break the monopoly the bond companies have.

I have talked to several members in the past in regard to this question, and those to whom I have spoken were in favor of it, and I think if a blank is issued, it will meet with popular favor.

CERT. 1,177, Div. 130.

IS SOLUTION OF BOND QUESTION.

Bro. Quick's editorial in the September number of THE TELEGRAPHER, under the caption of "The Bond Question," is one of the best and probably the most tangible of any that has appeared in our journal on this subject.

We are all acquainted with the high-handed and unjust methods of the various bond or surety companies. And this question of bond is of vital importance to a large percentage of our membership.

The plan outlined in this article is entirely feasible, and I think should receive immediate support from every member who is interested in this most important issue. All of us should be. For who among us is not working for promotion and better positions, with better conditions? If we attain this end, we will very likely come in contact with one of these bond companies. The most worthless loafer has sufficient influence with a bond company to have one's bond canceled.

There is scarcely any doubt but that the railroads would be willing to accept bond from any properly and legally organized institution.

Under the plans suggested by Bro. Quick, it would be a strictly O. R. T. institution. Not only would our members then be securely protected, but it would be a safe and paying investment besides.

Nearly every member could at least purchase one share, at $10.00 per share.

The writer of this article is ready and willing to purchase ten shares of this stock as soon as the movement has assumed definite shape.

Let's one and all get interested in this movement and give it financial as well as moral support.

A. L. NORRIS,
CERT. 555, DIV. 93.

THE TIME IS RIPE.

Just a few words on the $75.00 minimum. I realize that it is useless for me to attempt to cover the ground on this subject that has not already been fully covered by the write-up that have appeared in THE TELEGRAPHER, but wish to have the brothers know just the stand I am ready to make for our rights when it comes to a showdown. I am here to stand back of the committee in making a demand for that which rightfully belongs to us before the management.

I am sure that the brothers of this division will corroborate my statement when I say that we are just barely able to eke out an existence on our present salary. Boys, let's go to work now and secure for ourselves what we should have had years ago. What we want and what we can have by March 4th, next, is a minimum of $75.00 per month, and an eight-hour day. Why put this off longer? The time is now ripe to make our demands, and make them strong. Get what belongs to us, or quit work until we do get it.

It was but a few years ago when $50.00 would go as far in the purchase of the necessities of life as $75.00 will at the present time. Nearly every commodity we are obliged to use in our every-day life is advancing in price, and at a rapid rate. We must place ourselves in a position to meet these prices.

Let us draw a few comparisons. It has come under my observation, where a man has been taken from the farm and placed in the service of a railway company as a brakeman, and drew as high as $65.00 for his first month's pay. Not so with the telegrapher. We can safely figure that the majority of operators were out $1,000 before earning a dollar. He must first lose a year, or, perhaps, more of his time to master the art of telegraphy, besides his expenses during this time. He can then secure employment at from $40.00 to $50.00 per month, which will be the limit for the next twenty years, judging the future from the past. I am at present filling a joint agency, doing the work for two companies, both local and joint work, and am getting a salary of $10.00 less than the section foreman at this place. Compare his requirements with that of a telegrapher, who at a one-man station must be telegraph operator, baggage agent, freight hustler, mail carrier, freight clerk, janitor and a bureau of information. Brothers, let us awake from our sleep, and say we must and will have $75.00 per month, or stop work until we do get it. It is useless to simply ask, but demand what is ours, and we will get it. It is our own fault if we do not get $75.00 per month within the next six months. The question is, will we have it, or will we continue to work under the present conditions? Here's hoping this may find its way into THE TELEGRAPHER, and be taken for what it is worth.

CERT. 317, DIV. 16.

RAILROADS AND UNDERPAID EMPLOYEES.

There is, perhaps, no line of business requiring a greater variety of employes than is found in connection with the operation of a great railroad system.

Presidents, superintendents, general managers, chief engineers, master mechanics, inspectors of various departments, conductors, engineers, brakemen, switchmen, flagmen, baggagemen, yardmasters, station agents, towermen, block signal maintainers, train despatchers, telegraphers, etc., and among all the entire list there is not one from whom so much is expected and to whom so little cash is paid for services rendered as the railroad telegrapher.

On duty twelve hours each day, seven days in the week and not permitted to leave his chair for a minute without permission from some one at headquarters. He sits in front of his instruments day after day every day in the year, with hardly time to eat as he should, engaged in a nerve-straining occupation that wears out both body and mind in a very few years. On his shoulders rests the grave and awful responsibility of handling train orders, a single wrong word or figure in which might mean a loss of life so appalling as to shock the world. Every day that a railroad telegrapher works at his key he takes upon himself the chance of error that will place him behind prison bars for a long term of years, and the possibility of these errors is made greater on account of the extreme long hours he is required to work, and all this for less pay than is given to any other department in connection with railroad operation. Even the lamp-lighters in connection with block-signal departments get more for their services and do not put in half the number of hours on duty. Cost of living has increased about fifty per cent during the past few years, during which time the pay to the railroad telegrapher has increased about fifteen per cent, while the work becomes constantly harder owing to the increase of business on all railroads. So that while the duties of the telegraphers are becoming harder all the time, cost of living on the increase and wages at a standstill, the revenues to the companies are at least thirty per cent higher than they were two years ago, and this increase done with the same equipment, at the same cost of labor.

Without taking extreme cases into consideration, it may be said that the sense of hearing in a telegraph operator is two and a half times greater than an ordinary person. Again, in telegraphy, the continuity of the nervous stimulation, the monotony of sounds and the fixity of attention are further causes of exhaustion. It is found also that during forced work the operators' breathing is affected, his heart's action precipitated, and his brain becomes congested when subjected to such long hours of duty. As a result of all this, it is noticed that a general decline of the organism follows, ending in tuberculosis. According to a well-known authority, the death rate among men for tuberculosis is 13.8; that of telegraph operators is 46.6; exceeding the mortality by 13.5, of men engaged in manual labor.

I have seen bright, healthy young men enter the ranks of railroad operators, and in five years' time they were either dead from lung or nervous troubles, or physical wrecks, unfit for any kind of occupations. Long hours; no holidays; insufficient rest and small pay, are a few of the causes, and also the cause of a majority of railroad wrecks. And this condition of affairs will exist so long as railroad companies are permitted to treat this class of employe in this unfair manner.

While a great number of railroad wrecks are caused by the over-worked, under-paid telegrapher, there are always, of course, wrecks occurring from causes over which the telegrapher has no control, and are classed among the "unavoidables."

On railroads where trains are supposed to follow at a certain safe distance apart, it is not an uncommon thing to see them dashing along at fifty or sixty miles per hour, within three minutes of each other, without any form of block system for protection, and still the public wonder why so many wrecks occur.

Railroad officials are well aware that these things are being done, but, in their desire for speed records and advertising prestige, they are willing to tamper with the lives of human beings for the accomplishing of results that will bring about an increase of revenue.

The man who does the most hard work, gets the smallest pay, and commands no respect, comparatively, from the lowest official. This seems to be one of the standard rules of railroading, and, no doubt, always will be, while the high-paid man usually has little actual work to do, and commands the respect of all, from the general manager down. CERT. 550, Div. 93.

ANOTHER PLAN.

As all railroad officials are only too anxious to get next to our every movement, I would like to say to the brothers through the columns of the journal that I am satisfied that too much publicity is being given our ideas which our officials, of course, read so that they may be better prepared to thwart our plans. While such articles are intended, and do, cause more or less enthusiasm, at the same time it lays open our ideas, which our officials, of course, will oppose in every possible way.

Boys, read the official journal of other labor organizations, and you will notice that all their plans are not exposed, but, instead, are discussed in their lodge rooms. 'Tis true, we can not attend meetings quite so often, and in such large numbers as some other classes, but almost as many of us can, if we would exert ourselves a little. But whether we attend meetings or not, if we should be possessed of an idea that we think should be acted upon, why not give it to Bro. Quick and let him act on it?

I'll venture to say, if we put forth a good suggestion, he will air it to the advantage of all. If you think a certain date the proper time for action and a certain minimum due us, then all hands flood Bro. Quick with letters to that effect and see what he says.

It seems to me that a better subject to write on for officials and the public to read would be the "Nons and Scabs." Work your pens overtime to show these poor individuals the folly of their ways. If we could only get them to reading and get their eyes open once, we would be making much progress.

Now, boys, it is well enough to publish the conditions under which we are struggling, compensation received, etc., but never divulge our plans and means of bettering those conditions. If you were going into battle with an enemy, and were to cause your movements and plans to be known by the enemy, you would be promptly court-martialed and shot as a traitor. We are wage slaves, half-paid, half-starved, on one side fighting for freedom and what should be ours; the railroads are on the other side, profiting enormously from our labors, and trying to hold us under their heels and deprive us of our just dues, and why should we give to them, in black and white, every suggestion that comes to our mind as to how and when we should start the fight for what should be ours, and better conditions. I do not mean to say you are traitors who write such articles, neither do I believe a good brother would turn traitor for any consideration, but believe this has not been given the thought that should have been given it.

I can not help believe that one reason we are the poorest paid employes of a railroad is that too many operators are promoted to high positions in the railroad world. After working in our ranks for years, they get to know our class of employes better than any other, through association, and naturally know about what we will stand for, and upon being promoted their first thought is to "make a name," and to do this they turn traitor, and we are soft enough to stand for it. Wake up! My opinion is conditions would be much better for those who remain at the key if operators were never promoted. This, of course, we can not govern, but, brothers, devote more time and space to nons and scabs. Show them how contemptible they seem to all thinking people who have the manhood to stand up for their rights.

Go after them, boys. Do not get too impatient, nor get angry and drop your membership because you think our progress too slow, but work.

D. MOHLER,

Member Grand Division.

THIRTY CENTS PER HOUR.

I have just been reading what Cert. 409, Division 33, had to say in the September TELEGRAPHER, and I think he hit the mark exactly.

Have you read it? If not, dig up your journal and read it. It is well worth your trouble. The time is nearing when a move of some kind will have to be made, and I think a schedule of thirty cents per hour minimum, and with time and a half for overtime over eight hours would be sufficient for a starter. In my opinion, unless something is done to secure hourly pay, we will be working the same number of hours this time next year that we are at the present time.

Many of us were sadly disappointed at the way the eight-hour law has operated in Missouri up to this time.

Are we going to sit idly by and let them kill the national law in the same manner? Have not the railroads with their money and influence, secured the passage of many laws which they wished passed? Can't they fight to have this law repealed in the same manner that they fight to secure the passage of a law? Now, brothers, as Cert. 409 said, let every one of us write Bro. Quick, telling him exactly how we stand regarding better working conditions, and more pay for the telegrapher. Tell him just what you want. Could you expect him to secure "something" for you unless he knew what that "something" was to be? No! If every one will do his part we will surely succeed, and unless you do, you can't expect much.

CERT. 379, Div. 32.

"HOURLY PAY."

Too much talk about the $75.00 minimum and eight hours, and not enough done.

Brothers, for the sake of your poor wife or mother (who lives by herself that you may earn the large (?) sum of $55.00 per month), wake up. Quit your wind-jamming and write Bro. Perham what you want. Do you suppose you could sit down and read our journal through and decide what we want? No, you could not, and you would be in danger of contracting brain fever if you were to try it. Bro. Perham, or any one else, can never decide what the majority of us wants until he has a vote on the question. Then, why not write him? All write. Make out a little form of what you would like, and send it in now. Here is what I want, and am willing to walk out and stay out forever, when Bro. Perham says the word, if we don't get it: On Sunday 60 cents an hour, one hour at noon for day telegraphers, regardless of trains. If all other corporations can give their men Sundays off, the railroads can give us one hour to take one meal with our families, anyway. One hour between 11:30 p. m. and 1 o'clock a. m. for night telegraphers, or 60 cents for the hour, and 25 cents extra.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday 35 cents an hour; one hour between 11:30 a. m. and 1 o'clock p. m.; one hour between 11:30 p. m. and 1 o'clock a. m., to eat, or 35 cents for the hour and 25 cents extra. All skilled labor works by the hour, and none are working for less than 33 cents an hour, and if we are not worth 35 cents an hour, we are not worth anything to ourselves and families.

Working by the hour we would save the railroad companies a great deal of trouble trying to convince the government they can not get telegraphers enough to only work them nine hours each.

Next is the $75.000 minimum question. Don't you know that one-half of the telegraphers are receiving $75.00 per month now? Do you think they would like to walk out for something they have already got? And, again: While $75.00 in some places would be good money, in other places it would only be a living. If you are going to take it by the day or month, better make it a per cent raise, and give all a little taste.

Chop off so much of this talk, brothers, and the next time you have anything to say, let it be about "what" you wrote Bro. Perham, then when our dear old journal begins to get full of "What we wrote Bro. Perham," every one will be writing Bro. Perham, and Bro. Perham will soon see that we mean business, and by counting and assorting our votes, he can tell what the majority of us wants, and begin to act. Brothers, we must act now.

Write now, every one; give Bro. Perham your vote on "Hourly pay," in any shape you would like it, so it is a help to our cause; also how long you would work on a farm for your board, if it be necessary to walk out in trying to gain this cause. When Bro. Perham sees we are ready and willing to stand by him, then he will be ready to act on any proposition that would benefit ourselves and families. "VANISHED."

CAN A MAN BE A RAILROAD TELEGRAPHER AND NOT BE A MEMBER OF THE O. R. T.?

I don't see how he can.

It seems to me that if I had never become a member of this grand and noble Order, after becoming aware of the good it has done for the telegraphers all over the country I would not accept the many increases that have been secured by it. If we will only reflect back a few years we can see many wonderful improvements that have been made, all of which have come through the untiring efforts and earnest determination of the noble hearted men that are representing us in the Order. Our working conditions have all been improved, and we are glad of the fact that we may take our little grievances to our committees and have them adjusted, as we have done many times.

How can any man accept the benefits of a schedule and the raise in salary that is secured by our committee, and then not become a member of our grand Order?

It is very encouraging to see so much interest manifested through the columns of our journal, and see so much enthusiasm over the new laws that are being made effective. Let us try each day to improve in our work, and prove to our superiors that we are worthy of more than just a mere pittance of a living, and that we are going to have something better, not only in our salaries, but that we will have better working conditions, and have a few hours to call our own, and not be a slave for the railroad corporations all the time. I wonder why our brothers do not discuss the question of Sunday work more than they do? Surely it is not for the reason that we have more important subjects to discuss, for we are certainly entitled to at least a few hours' rest on each Sabbath to attend church or spend at our homes. Surely every other station could be closed on Sunday, and thereby give each man a few hours to spend with his family, as well as to rest, and it would not work any hardship on the dispatchers nor be in any way detrimental to the train service, and I believe if our committees would take the matter up in the right way that they could secure it. I would suggest that we take this matter under consideration along with other matters, and not consider it lightly, either.

VERNON, CERT. 90.

TO ACT IS A DUTY.

Ever since the telegraph was invented by Professor Morse, its need has been omnipresent. Never has the telegraph proved a detriment to anyone, anywhere. Civilization has advanced materially, at least, although I can not say morally. Possibly so, possibly not. Suffice it, however, to commit it to the stars for decision.

The strife waged between capital and labor has increased in equal velocity, closely following the heels of increased material civilization.

Laborers in nearly all vocations of life have enjoyed a far better remuneration for their work than the telegrapher. Why is it? Is it because he performs duties that an ordinary Italian laborer could perform with the same results? Or is it because he has not been appreciated? Or, still deeper, is it because he does not realize his value? The man who, after toiling successfully (as far as his ability is concerned), for a number of years, suddenly becomes aware of the great fact that he is worth more to his employer, is not an arrogant man. Far from it! He has discovered something which only himself cares to discover. His employer, nowadays, does not care to discover it. Why should he? It would be his loss and some one else's gain!

From about $35.00 or $40.00 per month his wage scale has been augmented $15.00 or $20.00 per month; so that now all the operator has to do is place his feet upon the stove (if he is lucky enough to possess one), wait for his pay-check, pay his bills, and then borrow enough collateral to keep him until next pay-day. So it has gone on from hand to mouth, day after day, ever since telegraphing became a profession under the supervision and rap of the grasping trust.

Luckily, however, the telegrapher has retained possession of his mental faculties to a certain degree, and has, through the aid of the O. R. T., brought the wages of the telegrapher to a point where it affords an unmarried young man the opportunity to save a trifle each month; but what does the present telegrapher's salary hold out to the married man; the man with the family, and possibly an aged mother or father dependent upon them?

It affords a possible living, but far from a certainty. What man is there who can pass a peaceful and restful hour with the knowledge of the uncertainty of the where-with to buy his next meal? Would we not all enjoy to carry a bank account, something to show for our labor, and something to convince ourselves that we have not labored in vain? Or would we rather be free from any pecuniary care, and only receive a sufficient amount to cause life to be one continual enigma as to where we will eat, or who of our more fortunate, unskilled laboring friends will trust us for the price of a meal ticket or a week's lodging?

Boys, ask yourselves these questions. Answer them in your own minds. Ponder over them, and see if conditions are not practically as I have portrayed them in the foregoing.

Is it not true that telegraphing has been attended with such penuriousness on the part of the officials toward the operator that the "profession" has become to those who have spent some time at the drudgery a virtual side-line, and only put to use by them when "in a pinch," or when they are strangers in certain parts of the country, and wish to work long enough to obtain a few dollars, through the aid of which they may be enabled to reach a point where they may enter into a more remunerative and lucrative profession? Would such conditions exist if there were no causes? Insufficient compensation is the cause, coupled with the death-hastening twelve-hour day.

The pages of THE TELEGRAPHER have been full of monotonous suggestions, all sincere enough, no doubt, but not sufficiently effective to stir up the proper feeling among the boys. Action has been repeatedly suggested, but no one offers to broach a time. When, then, is the time? It is now; this very minute! Not tomorrow, nor next week, but now!

Have you not become disheartened and disgusted long ere this with respect to the degradingly low salary you receive? Why, boys, don't you realize that a man's time alone, excepting any labor whatever, is worth more than $55.00 or $60.00 per month? What, then, should his time be valued at when he is responsible for hundreds of precious lives daily; when he is cooped up, literally speaking, in a telegraph office, some scarcely large enough to turn around in, twelve long hours to the day, and wasting his precious life away in such a manner? Is it any wonder the C. T. U. A. took the action they did? Whether they lose or not, does that release the responsibility you owe to your dear ones; those dependent upon you?

Would you not be willing to do something decisive for their sakes? When you see you are unable to provide properly for them, when you see you are being out-matched on every hand by men of unskilled professions and trades, when you see the life-blood of opportunity slowly ebbing away, only to live through a decisive action on your part, and to die through your neglect and thoughtlessness, then is it not the proper time to redeem yourselves?

You who are married and love your respective families, you who harbor the idea that you are exerting yourselves to the utmost in providing for your dear ones, and who think you have done your duty, and consequently resign yourselves to present circumstances; it is you who are guilty, and you who I charge with gross negligence and cruelty. Gross negligence, because you are letting the grandest opportunity of your lives slowly slip through your fingers, until soon it will be no more. Not merely do I charge you with negligence to yourselves, but with negligence to your families and to the dear ones from whom you are taking the little pleasures and petty luxuries by your failure to thus far grasp the golden means between a life of uncertainty and worry and a life of happiness and ease.

'Tis evident the railroad companies are decidedly short of operators, inasmuch as they have and are yet establishing schools for the teaching of telegraphy. If operators were not in absolute demand it would be no object for them to entail the extra expense of these numerous schools for teaching the student telegraphy. In short, there would be no object in them founding them at all. Is it, therefore, not obvious that these schools will be the death of the "old-timers" and present-day operators if you do not take advantage of this golden opportunity and demand your just dues before the telegraph schools established by the railroad companies become paramount, which is so much desired by the railroad officials.

You are members of an organization banded together for the purpose of discouraging the student, and thus promote the "general welfare of yourselves and your posterity." You have all, undoubtedly, advocated the cause, and it is right that you should. You have, and are paying each, approximately, $9 per year for the sustenance of the Order and the augmenting of your salary, and the furtherance of your general welfare, with respect to working conditions, etc. Is it not high time your hopes and aspirations were being realized? Is it not time your air-castles were turned into realities? Is it not time you were receiving some substantial and lasting benefit from the money you have expended in the past, all toward one goal: the realization of your air-castles? Your petty advances in pay recently have been but mere stepping stones to some guerdon more reasonable and substantial; they have been mere corpuscles in the living whole. Something substantial, lasting, satisfying and reasonable is what you should aim at now that the golden opportunity is awaiting you.

We must all grasp this great and grand opportunity which is so peculiarly paramount at this stage of the game. It is your only safe chance. There may be others sometime, but such will be uncertain. If we allow the deadly railroad telegraph schools to accomplish their purpose, which is only too evident, and likewise imminent, there will be little hope for the present-day telegrapher.

The railroad telegrapher is and must be a responsible person, and a virtual "minuteman." He must be a first-class operator, capable of proceeding with his business with a certainty acquired only through experience. It is plainly to be seen that "fresh hams" could accomplish nothing inhibitory, or in any way dangerous, with respect to aiding the railroad companies in event of a walk-out. We can all see the truth of that statement demonstrated every day by the few "hams" that may be situated on your different lines. Students five or six months of age on the road show peculiarly their lack of ability and want of required feeling of responsibility which every competent operator should possess. That is Point Number One in our favor.

Secondly, the present commercial men, on account of their strike, and inasmuch as the operators holding railroad positions are everywhere giving them their aid, we easily arrive at the conclusion that they would not go to the aid of the railroad companies in event of a strike. Even should good "key-men" give succor to the companies their inefficiency on account of stepping into new positions, important tower jobs, terminal offices, and the like, would place the railroad in a very desperate position.

Thirdly, your organization is so complete that should there be any "scabs" to remain in their positions the harm they would do to "the cause" would be, from a practical standpoint, ineffectual. Railroad companies demand quick work and good service, and there are two things which they will not get if we should be obliged to walk out as a means of attaining our purpose.

I am a telegrapher, holding a good position as operator, but though the wages are higher than the major portion of the men are receiving who work for this particular company, still the salary is decidedly below what it really should be. And, as I said, although I am receiving above the average operator's salary on this road, still I do not intend, nor will I, make telegraphing my life occupation, as I see far greater opportunities awaiting me in other fields of work. I am only using telegraphing as a means by which I may lay up a little money in order to accomplish my aims. As I am unmarried, this is a possibility; but, I repeat, if I were married I could not support a wife properly on the salary I receive. Remember, a general walk-out would affect me just the same as yourselves, as it is my means of subsistence now, and will be for a few years to come. Do not think I would advise a rash movement, as my loss would be greater than the loss sustained by the rest of you, although as far as loss is concerned I do not fear it, nor should you. Remember, "I know whereof I speak."

I am also the son of an old telegraph operator, who is broken down in health, caused by long hours and close confinement. To say that his pay is insufficient is to say the very least. Instead of being able to go home of an evening and spend a pleasant time with his family, he wanders home semi-conscious, tired, worried and thoroughly disheartened, all on account of the penuriousness of the unfeeling railroad officials.

Similar characters may be found on every hand. Operators who have given the summer and fading years of their lives in the service of the railroad look back over the long line of years which they have spent in close confinement, earning hundreds of dollars per day for their employers, can but shake their weary heads, and say, "So it is;" and then, looking around them, they see the more cheery and happier faces of their more fortunate acquaintances, who were lucky enough to "steer clear" of telegraphing, and say: "Thus it might have been."

But sentimentalities will not call you to action. However, they all add striking tints to the one horrid picture, as unreal as it is horrid. Unreal, I say, because it is not in accordance with the dictates of God and nature. They never meant it to be so. It is a human product, in direct rebellion to the intentions of the Almighty. A miracle, as in days of old, will not change it. Miracles are past. Action, resoluteness, uprightness and firm convictions are the workers of modern miracles.

Boys, I call you to action! Do your duty by your wives and children. If you are not married, you will be some day. Grasp this shining and brilliant opportunity to put you on a level with men of education and skill, where you belong. As it now stands, unhappy thought, you are little better paid than the Italian laborer. Stand up for your rights! Stick!

Earnest as you may proceed with this, and regardless of your enthusiasm, deal with the railroads fairly, which is eminently more than they have done for us. Show them we have manly qualities if they have not. Present your claims in writing to Mr. L. W. Quick, St. Louis, Missouri, stating what you consider a fair increase: 20, 25, 30, 35 per cent, or whatever you think a just and reasonable demand. Also the hour question, and regulation of clerical work to be done (if any), by telegraphers. The latter should be made a red-letter factor of your demand for labor regulation.

After all the demands are in, Mr. Quick can judge the per cent increase, etc., which he would consider satisfactory to all concerned, advise the local chairmen accordingly, appoint a board of demand, and they could, in turn, call upon a joint meeting of the railroad officials, making known their demands, and, if refused, after reasonable time for deliberation, then show the companies how thoroughly aroused you are, and how solidly you mean to stand by the cause.

Boys, if you wish to remove the stain of gross negligence from your lives, do it now! Show your mettle, display your quality: Don't wait until the life-blood of Dame Opportunity seeps away. Take her unto yourself while she is yet in the blossom of her girlhood. Such a move would not be a rash move, boys—far from it. Too long a time has been taken already for deliberation. Such a step would be the result of years of deliberation. It would not be stupidity or folly, but the height of reason and justice. Not an insane, chimerical idea, but the awakening of dormant equity. Nature demands it! Your posterity demands it! Duty demands it! This demand must be made before March 4, 1908. "Time and tide wait for no man." Act!

W. P. R.

'SIMULTANEOUS ACTION.

I have been a close observer of what has been said through the columns of THE TELEGRAPHER for the past year with regard to better working conditions and better pay.

So closely have I watched its progress that I have become disgusted with hearing it and seeing nothing done.

I feel at times I can almost see the smiles of mirth playing over the wine-soaked cheeks of the railroad magnates as they pick up a copy of THE TELEGRAPHER and read the different plans which are promulgated by the different brothers, being fully aware there is no plan, no matter how good, which will ever reach into their coffers unless there is some action taken to put it into effect.

It only excites mirth with the railroad magnates when they see us lying still, turning over a few old dry chips while they are preparing a new force to take our places at a future time when we do wake up and get busy.

In the name of God, if we have not talked enough about high minimums and short hours, when may we ever expect to get through? Is it not time for some kind of action? Or, shall we go on ranting about it until we lose the golden opportunity? Never, in the history of the Order, was the time as ripe for action as now. We should, by all means, prepare to celebrate the first anniversary of the federal law with a move that would wake up nations; one that would forever settle any difficulties between the telegraphers and capital. At that time we should not only demand that the railroad officials of this country be law-abiding citizens, but that they give to us for our services what the law of supply and demand calls for.

It seems to me I hear some brother say we must be careful, and not ask them to give us all that is coming to us at one time, for they might get mad and not give us anything. To that brother I wish to say this: That this Order is today 40,000 strong, and we don't have to fear making some railroad company mad. We are men, not cowards. We are now able to stand up and demand justice, and I am in favor of doing it.

What right have we to sell our labor for half or one-third what it is worth to the railroad company? What moral right have we to steal that which justly belongs to our families and those depending upon us, and give it to some corporation?

It is absurd to think of asking less for our labor than its market value. It would only show cowardice in us to do so. If we can force them to do anything, we can force them to do justice.

It is nonsense to be howling about what is the smallest amount we can possibly exist on. Why should we measure what we should have by a mere existence? Is it possible we have declined in the state of evolution to a point at par with domestic animals? Have we no right to a surplus above a scanty existence? To my mind we are lessening the dignity of our position when we mention such matters. What we want is to be men, and brave enough to stand up and demand our rights as citizens of this free government, and not chant over a few bones from the rich man's table.

I consider that the future of this organization depends largely upon what it does within the next year; during that period will be the crisis in the telegraph world. The federal law becomes effective in March, 1908, and the railroad companies are now preparing for this by organizing schools. These schools will not stop when the present demand is supplied, but will go on until they create a surplus that they may be able to hold down our salaries. For this reason now is the time that we should settle our demands, and be sure we demand what we are worth; establishing a price on our labor in keeping with what other skilled labor gets, and not dragging it down to a mere existence.

The time for action is now at hand, and delay only means adding fuel to the flames that are burning away the foundation of our opportunities.

It has not been so with other organizations. We have seen them making strides towards bettering their conditions until we are left in the rear so far it is necessary for us to use a glass to see them.

I will not try to tell how would be best for us to commence action in this matter, but I do believe we have officials at the helm of this organization that are able to solve the problem correctly, and when they decide to make the move in that direction I wish to assure them they will have the undivided support of Hoosier Division, No. 27, with her 300 members.

Not only that, but judging from what I read in THE TELEGRAPHER, and what I am able to ascertain from surrounding roads in this locality, I feel safe in saying they would have the undivided support of the entire membership of the Order. With this grand army it is possible to revolutionize the conditions of the telegrapher of the present day from a legalized slave into a happy, prosperous people.

No doubt in order to get this great army in shape to act together it will be necessary for us to wait for a number of schedule contracts to expire, but in the meantime would it not be a good plan to make new schedules expire not later than the time of expiration of the newest ones now in effect, so we could be able to present our demands jointly as an organization, and not as small systems of railroads?

I presume there are very few contracts made for a longer period than one year, so it would be possible for us to arrange matters so we could act jointly within one year's time, at the farthest.

Now, why not each division of the Order take the matter up with our president and try and get a line on this matter, and see what is the best plan to pursue, and after we have found out all, diligently pursue it?

CERT. 19,475.

U. S. MAIL.

I noticed some items in the August journal concerning the U. S. mail. I think it worthless to contribute items each month for the journal if that is going to be our only effort to right the wrongs imposed upon us by being compelled to carry the mail. It should not be our duty to carry the mail to and from the postoffice. We receive no compensation for it, unless the company considers the salary we receive as part payment for such service. If so, I consider we are very poorly paid for service we render the railroad company. How are we going to right this evil? Let every O. R. T. member advise his local chairman that they will positively refuse after January 1, 1908, to carry mails to and from the postoffice. Our local chairman can advise our worthy president accordingly, and he can gently break the news to the railroad companies. Then, after receiving this information from our president, if they wish to contract with the government for their employes to look after the mails, they will do it at their own risk. If they try to compel us to perform this duty, have them to understand that we will go out, and stay out until we are relieved of this imposition. If the railroad companies can afford to have their business tied up completely in trying to force this work upon us, why, we can afford to go out and stay out until they are thoroughly convinced that we mean business in demanding our rights. What is the postmaster paid for? To sit behind his little cage and ask us when we go in with a load for an ordinary mule: "Is it heavy?" It would be another question if we could not prevent this imposition? Then we would have to make pack-mules of ourselves. We can prevent it, and very soon, if we will only go after it in the right way. I am one that would go out and stay out until we are relieved of this duty. I think we contribute enough each year in promoting the interests of the railroad for whom we are working without receiving fair compensation, but when it comes to contributing toward promoting the interest of the postmaster who receives nearly double the salary we do, without receiving a cent, only to be fined about three times a year for not delivering the mail-pouch to trains, then I am a natural born kicker, and will kick as high as the next one to put such duties out of existence. We all know the attitude of the postmaster toward us. Will they deliver us the mail-pouch five or ten minutes before time in order that we may get back to our office and wait upon the public, and do other necessary work without rushing ourselves half to death in order to complete it before the train arrives? I say no; they will not; simply because they are afraid of losing a few pennies in cancelling a stamp after we are gone, otherwise would be mailed on the train. What should our attitude be toward the postmaster, and doing service for him without a penny for it, which is their duty to perform, and not ours? Cut it out, boys, once and forever. That is my attitude forever. CERT. 228.

MUST ACT.

I would like to say a few words in regard to the national nine-hour law and the $75.00 minimum. We have talked and written on this subject until it is old. It is my candid opinion that now is the time for immediate action. We all know that this is what we need, but the problem that now confronts us is: "How to get it?" Brothers, I believe this subject has been studied by every member of our Order until there is not one of us who could not answer it promptly. My answer would consist of only two or three words, viz.: First ask for it, and, second, demand it. Why should we leave this all to Congress and Legislatures to prepare for us?

Who is in a position to know our needs better than the telegrapher who works twelve hours each day and 365 days a year, as many of us do? Of course, the railroads, with their millions of dollars, will fight this law to a finish in order to reap a greater reward from the products of our labor, and we, the prime factors in this great commercial world, with the numerous responsibilities of our positions, have been willing all these years to accept even less than trackmen and many others who can scarcely read and write their own name.

Brothers, is it not time to wake up? In my opinion some of us who are now young in the business will be old and gray before we get a just compensation for our labor and for working hours if we wait for Congress and Legislatures to arrange the whole program. It surely will take years to accomplish it in this way, besides a vast sum of money to keep up our side. Let's go after it right.

We want the eight-hour day and the $75.00 minimum. I am in favor of a vote of the entire membership to be taken by the local chairman of each and every division, and sent to Bro. Quick so he would understand just how the land lays. I would suggest that we have the above-named compensation after March 4, 1908, or quit the business until the companies get ready to raise the flag of truce and sign a treaty.

Let us prepare for war in time of peace. The question that now confronts us is the most important one in the history of our Order. Let everybody work, and father, too, this time. I also favor any assessment that it may be necessary to levy in preparing for this battle.

If we need one of our good, competent brothers to go over the division and line-up the nons, let's have him; one dollar a month from each member ought to do this right.

E. W. G., CERT. 1002, DIV. 33.

WANTS ACTION.

Under the above caption, on page 1296 of the August journal, we find an article that is well worth reading again, and on which we would like to offer a suggestion. In stating "what we consider a just compensation for performing said duties," I would beg to suggest a rate of wages per hour, instead of per month, and, also, that every telegraph position be classified, say, by letters: A, B, C, D, etc. For example, Class A positions should pay, say, 30 cents per hour, on an eight-hour day basis. This would be $2.40 per day, which, multiplied by 365 (days) equals $876 per year, and the latter divided by twelve (months) makes an average of $73 per month. Class B, 35 cents per hour, would average $85.17 per month. Class C, 40 cents, $97.33. Class D, 45 cents, $109.50. Class E, 50 cents, $121.67. Class F, 55 cents, $133.83. Class G, 60 cents, $146. Class H, 65 cents, $158.17. Class I, 70 cents, $170.33. Class J, 75 cents, $182.50 per month, and so on. Under this plan there should be a distinct understanding that eight hours would be a minimum day's work, and they should be eight consecutive hours, and not an hour picked out of the twenty-four, here and there, by some over-zealous petty official. Also, at "one-man" stations, where he has to hustle out, say, at 6 a. m., and is required to remain until, say, 9 p. m., he should get paid for every hour from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. at the regular rate per hour.

The hours, as noted above, should include convenient meal or lunch hours, where practicable, but where impracticable, as is the case at many places, we should accept the inevitable with good grace, as the dispatchers now do.

If Class A wages be too low for some of the territory, then make Class C or some other class the minimum for that territory.

There is ample room on the ground floor of this proposition for every branch of the telegraph service; for the train dispatchers, the commercial, cable, press, brokerage, and every telegrapher in every kind of business; and with an organized membership of 90 per cent of the telegraphers employed in each branch of the service thus assembled for a uniform schedule of wages, we would be a unit of force that would be irresistible, if proper handling and discipline were observed.

That the commercial telegraph and railroad companies are a unit (100 per cent strong), is not to be questioned, from the fact that the owners of the telegraph stocks and bonds are also the owners of the railroad stocks and bonds, and the men constituting the boards of directors of the former also occupy similar positions with the latter. Even the sturdy old Pennsylvania Company has ceased chopping down Western Union telegraph poles, and entered into a new contract, and President McCrea, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, is soon to be made a member of the Board of Directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

We want more thorough organization, and a closer alliance between all branches of the craft, and all to act in unison, and then, as viewed by the writer, such a plan as the one suggested in this article, if followed up, should lead to a peace conference composed of the grand officers of the O. R. T., on one side, and the executive officers of the railroad and telegraph companies on the other side, where there would be no limit to authority, and matters could be handled more effectively, and local committees would thus be relieved of one of their most disagreeable and expensive burdens.

With the rate of wages per hour, instead of per month, there would be no trouble in securing the eight-hour day everywhere within the jurisdiction of our organization, and bridge companies and others employing only a few telegraphers should be given special attention.

THIRTY-FIVE CENTS PER HOUR.

Have just finished reading the September issue of the journal, and notice a great many expressing themselves on the $75.00 minimum and eight-hour day. As I think each and every member should give his views on these two important subjects, I would like to give mine through THE TELEGRAPHER: I am in favor of a 35-cent hour pay, with an eight-hour day, and then, if the companies wanted to work us overtime, give us double time for it. I am in favor of Bro. Perham taking a vote on this at once, having each member say whether he wishes a $75.00 minimum of 35 cents an hour, with eight-hour day, and have the total number of votes published in November journal, and if the majority are in favor of these, then Bro. Perham can present them to all the railroads in the United States and Canada, giving them sufficient time to grant such demands, and if not complied with, then let us all walk out, and stay out until we get what we ask for. I also agree with Cert. 112, Division 91, in regard to making an extra assessment so as to have sufficient funds to run on should we have to go out. These extra dues would not be missed, and if we got what we asked for, it would only be a few months before we would be more than repaid. Let us all get to work, and go after something at once, and be ready for March 4, 1908.

CERT. 1280, Grand Division.

SHOULD ACT NOW.

The September TELEGRAPHER is before me, and it is so brimful of good things in the way of suggestions for securing more pay and shorter hours, that it seems strange to me if our grand officers can not work out a general plan of action, to be followed on or before January 1, 1908. Most of the suggestions are good in their way, but the one that strikes me the most forcibly, and the one that I believe would bring the best results in the shortest time possible, is the one made by "Florida Agitator," that the country be divided into two sections, and that the general committees of the different railroads comprising each section, present their demands to the officials for "all the traffic will bear." Twenty or 30 per cent, with eight hours, is not too much, considering the responsibility of a telegraph operator, and the present inequality of our pay, compared to other skilled workers. Let these demands be presented simultaneously all over the country, and it is my opinion that the railroad companies would soon come to time. All this talk, however, is not going to accomplish anything. It is time to act. It must not be supposed that the railroad companies are idle these days. They are laying all kinds of plans and subterfuges for the purpose of showing that they are unable to secure operators to carry out the provisions of the law, while we know that it is purely a question of paying the price. If they were to announce that they would pay operators anything like the wages that an engineer or conductor gets, they would be overwhelmed with applications for positions. True, some of the railroads are making a show of getting ready to comply with the law now by creating eight-hour positions, but they are not paying any more money, and in some instances they are making a reduction in the pay. And if we are not up and doing we will wake up out of our dreams some fine morning to read a general notice to the effect that all offices have been reduced one-third.

Before closing this, I want to say a word about another contribution in the September TELEGRAPHER: I refer to the one by Cert. 455, Division 32, entitled, "More About Government Ownership." Contributions of this kind are highly educational, and I would like to see more of them in our journal. If we could educate about 7,000,000 voters in this great country to see things as this brother sees them, then we would put into practice a system of government that would do away with employers and employees; when every citizen would be a worker, and millionaires and paupers would become entirely unknown. Come again, brother.

CERT. 107, Div. 52.

SHOULD MAKE IT HOURLY PAY.

I have read every article in the September TELEGRAPHER and every one seems to be of one accord, and I like the plan suggested by Bros. Van Auken and Knapp, on page 1492, to take a vote. Print a blank in the journal and insist on a vote. My vote would be eight hours for a day, thirty cents per hour, time and a half or double time for Sundays. Cut out this monthly wage business. I have been working by the month for twenty years, and have spent considerable time investigating other branches of union labor and have come to the conclusion that the monthly wage scale has been one thing that has held our progress back as much as anything else, so when we make a move I ask our president to consider the by-the-month basis, and cut it out. Make our work per hour. On all roads the engineers and all others in the train service are paid by the mile or trip. Section men and all common laborers per hour; machinists per hour. Why should not the telegraphers be paid per hour? Then the longer the day the more the check, the same as the train men. You don't hear them kick, but listen to them say: "I'll make two hundred this month, if it keeps on this way." Why not the telegrapher? If he should work fifteen hours it will be $4.50 for his day.

Again I say cut out the monthly pay basis. Make it per hour; graduate it according to the job, but nothing less than thirty cents per hour minimum.

"OC," CERT. 81, Div. 118.

THE TRAIN DISPATCHER.

I noticed an article in the September number of THE TELEGRAPHER which seemed to call for an answer, and as a dispatcher of several years' experience on several of the big roads of this country I would like to put the Milwaukee brother wise as to why a dispatcher gets more than an operator, if he really doesn't know. As far as the "glory" is concerned, if Cert. 10 had ever worked in a dispatcher's office, he would know about how much "glory" there is in it.

To begin with, when a superintendent wants to promote a dispatcher, who does he go to? To the most promising operator he has on his division, doesn't he? To the operator who knows things. Not to the man who sleeps all night and answers inquiries to the tune of "I don't know." Therefore, who are train dispatchers other than operators who have by good service and ability won something better? Good train dispatchers are now about as scarce as good operators, and if Cert. 10 has the proper amount of "get up and get" about him and the ability, I can tell him of a number of roads who are looking for dispatchers. That's the answer.

No one is getting more than he earns these days. The reason for a dispatcher getting more than an operator is for the same reason that the engineer gets more than the fireman, the conductor more than the brakeman, the captain of a ship more than the mate. There are great chances nowadays; all a man has to do is to make good. If some man is getting more than us, up to a certain amount, we can make up our minds that he has earned it through hard knocks or superior natural ability. This "sour grapes" attitude will never get you anything. Hit the ball, do it in a cheerful manner and you will get what's coming to you. You can make up your mind that as long as there are operators and train dispatchers, dispatchers will get more compensation than operators, superintendents more than dispatchers, and so on.

As far as the responsibilities of the relative positions, every man who is employed in the operating department of a railroad is responsible, and as Cert. 10 has evidently never held the position of a dispatcher I fail to see how he can judge as to the responsibilities of one. If he thinks it's a "bed of roses" these days when every big single track road in this country is taxed to its utmost capacity, he's wrong.

DISPATCHER.

SHOULD PREPARE STATISTICS.

I see a great deal of talk from different brothers in THE TELEGRAPHER about the eight-hour law recently enacted in Washington. The numerous articles "show which way the wind blows." They show that the boys are beginning to get awakened to a realization of their power and also awakened in regard to what skilled labor ought to be paid.

Cert. 1224, Div. 93, in the August TELEGRAPHER, has hit the nail on the head when he says now is the time for us to act. I note what this brother says about the supposed scarcity of men and agree with what he says, and here is what I have to offer in addition:

Now, when the railroads put up their talk to the Interstate Commerce Commission about not being able to get men, it is liable to have the effect they want it to have, if we don't have something on hand to offer contrary to what the railway officials will say. Now, why would not the following plan be feasible: Let each brother list all the operators he knows, who are out of the service at present, but who would go back if a $75 or $80 minimum, with eight-hour day, was assured, and send this list to our headquarters at St. Louis to be compiled to show the Interstate Commerce Commission that the railroads are simply "bluffing" when they say they can not get men to do their work. Now, we all know that there are plenty of men in other lines of work who would return to the ranks of the telegraphers if, as Cert. 1224 says, "there was a living in it," but our simply knowing this fact and doing nothing or making any sort of a showing is not sufficient. We should have some sort of statistics right at hand when the matter comes up, and it should not be hearsay, either. Each brother that made a list should not list anyone whom he is reasonably sure would not re-enter the service provided the desired conditions were secured. And then we should not confine our attentions to the operators of our immediate acquaintance, but when we meet a man who is an operator just make it a point to find out all we can about him, whether or not he would go to work under the conditions we are after.

Of course, this plan would not be absolutely a correct statement of the number of operators in other lines of business, but it would be near enough for all practical purposes.

It seems to me that March 1, 1908, is the time we should begin working eight hours and at a $75 minimum. If it was thoroughly understood by the railroads that the operators would not work longer than eight hours after March 1, 1908, I think they would come to it all right.

Yours for the eight-hour day and $75 minimum.
CERT. 2369, GRAND DIV.

GET BUSY.

Have just finished reading the September journal. It is full of good suggestions as to how to get the "$75.00 minimum and eight-hour day" we have been working and waiting for so long. We seem to be getting nearer the eight-hour day, but the increase in wages does not come very fast, and, brothers, we do not want to feel too sure of being granted an eight-hour day, unless we put this thing to a vote and be ready to bring it to a focus the fourth day of March. Don't get it into your head that the railroads are going to grant this unless they are compelled to do so. They are trying to, and are evading some of the State eight-hour laws. If we don't keep our eyes open and get busy this national nine-hour law will meet the same fate. I say put this thing to a vote, and every brother and sister be ready to move camp the fourth day of March, if our rights are not given to us. Go out and stay out until the victory is ours. God forbid that any one scab. I have seen quite a few of the pests in the last two months, and they are a sickly looking set, and on the day we all answer the roll-call, I am of the opinion that the scab will be told to take the next elevator down to his last resting place.

I, for one, am ready to go out and stay out until our noble Order says return to duty, and if they never give the signal, I can make as much, or more, at something else. I have made a living this past summer without working for the railroad, and could keep it going.

CERT. 655, DIV. 132.

"WANTS IMMEDIATE ACTION."

Why do we slumber? The harvest is waiting. Brothers and sisters, we must get busy, if we would accomplish what we should by March 1, 1908. Let's know what we are going to do, quick, as our time is limited. Now, if we must strike for this, let's all stand as strong as the rock of Gibraltar. All we need now is some one to start the ball rolling. Why not start now? Then, when we get it rolling, let's keep it rolling. "Now is the accepted time."

I am a new member, but am in dead earnest. Don't you know there are skilled workmen who get as much when they were learning their trade as we get now, after having mastered our profession? This should not be so. Let's all work. We have talked enough.

CERT. 1294.

POWER OF THE BALLOT-BOX.

Bro. Amos Munson's write-up in the August TELEGRAPHER looks good to me and many other articles of interest from the boys along the line in regard to our working conditions. The $75 minimum and eight-hour day, the flooding of Congress with signed petitions and many other suggestions have been offered. I would like to answer some of these with a few suggestions myself.

The history of the human race from savagery to civilization is one constant struggle for existence and to better the conditions for the coming morrow. That has been the all-absorbing thought of the masses in every age. But the human race as a class has always looked to some one else or some other power than themselves for relief.

We as a race have always relied too much upon what we were told was customary or legal, as being right, without investigating for ourselves to see if it was right or not.

I call your attention to the following conditions:

That we have for a time submitted to and afterwards through enlightenment have changed. There was a time when mothers threw their children into the river Ganges to appease the wrath of a supposed ruling power. It was customary and legal, but was it right? There was a time in our own country when they hung people for being witches. It was customary and legal, but was it right? There was a time when they sold children from mothers' arms in the South. It was customary and legal, but was it right?

Now there is a time when about 84 per cent of our population are workers or producers who by combining their labor with nature's raw material produce all the wealth and all the commodities there are; and the remaining 16 per cent, who are known as capitalists, who produce nothing, but absorb or withhold from the 84 per cent about four-fifths of what they have produced, through what is known as "interest, rent and profit." It is customary and legal, but is it right? Let's see if it is right. You certainly have had experience enough to know that what you can save as a worker by the wage system would never make you a capitalist. Therefore, capitalists are produced by some other process. They are produced by customary and legal conditions which enable a few to withhold from the many the larger part of what they have produced. Now, in this light, is the capitalist a benefactor to society at large and is he really a man who furnishes the work, or is the laboring class the benefactor of society and incidentally the creators of capitalists, through a condition that has become customary and legal? Now, I ask in all honesty and candor, do you really think it's right? If it's not right I then ask you, one and all, will petitions to Congress change it? I want to ask all who work and read this, which is the wisest plan for the 84 per cent of our population to accept, to vote for a capitalist candidate and platform that makes the above conditions customary and legal, or vote for one of our own class and a platform to the end that legal conditions would become favorable to the 84 per cent instead of the 16 per cent?

Now, some people say it can't be done. Why? If the 16 per cent of the people can so arrange the legal conditions of the country as to enable them to become capitalists, and live a life of ease and luxury off of our labor, it seems to me that the 84 per cent could change conditions so it would become customary and legal for us to at least have justice. If not, why not? Suppose we all take one think a day for a while and see what the results will be, and if I have made any mistake in this diagnosis I will be pleased to have some one of the brothers correct me.

CERT. 237, Div. 2.

LA HUELGA.

Fenomena economico que ha tomado gran desarrollo en todos los paises y cuyos avances son a diario causa de trastornos en las empresas fabriles e industriales, fenomeno que como todos los que tienen una influencia, general sobre la sociedad, tiene tambien sus limites, tiene tambien su esfera donde solo le es dable subsistir, pues sobrepasandola, se convierte en una violacion, en un atentado nunca tolerado por la razon y jamas permitido y consagrado por la ley.

Donde no tienen existencia legitima las corporaciones que atano produjeron tantos males, donde no tienen existencia los monopolios, donde se garantiza la suprema libertad del trabajo como unico medio del progreso individual, donde se reconocen los derechos de asociacion para procurarse la fuerza que dividida seria infructuosa para fines, nobles y altos, tiene necesariamente que existir, como manifestacion de todas esas libertades, donde quiera que aliente el trabajo del obrero y surja la lucha del capital, tiene que existir, digo, lo huelga, mas esta debe ser la consecuencia forzosa, la consecuencia directa de un conflicto que tenga, su apoyo en la razon. La lucha entre el trabajo y el capital sera siempre intensa, ambos procuran desarrollarse, ambos procuran alcanzar las mayores ventajas posibles, pero entre esos dos impulsos naturales, no debe alentar el animo de destruccion, puesto que ambos elementos son indispensables para el crecimiento de la riqueza.

Tenemos un ejemplo elocuente y magnifico; la huelga de nuestros hermanos los telegrafistas comerciales, que su principal objeto es producir el equilibrio, equilibrio entre el salario y el trabajo, entre las energias gastadas en dicho trabajo y la remuneracion, entre las horas de actividad y la equivalencia equitativa y proporcional en efectivo. Esta, huelga es justificable porque la provoca una causa razonable y no el simple, disgusto de cualquier operador influente o pretensiones exageradas o en desacuerdo con la productividad de la Compania a que sirve. Es de valor legitimo, porque mo es un atentado promovido por la union, porque no es de esos que la conciencia rechaza y la ciencia y el derecho condenan. No es una pretension que va mas alla de la equidad no de la proporcion que exigen las circunstancias de las Companias telegraficas; es solo una pretension basada en la propia dignidad y grandeza del trabajo.

El trabajo y el capital deben ser inseparables: ambos unidos deberan producir riqueza. Uno sin el otro son notoriamente infructuosos. La huelga, lucha entre el trabajo y el capital, debe ser justificada, debe tener por base un principio razonable, una conveniencia benefica a ambos elementos, no un principio de preponderancia torpe. Asi como considero legitima la huelga de nuestros hermanos, por tener bases firmes, asi como les aplaudo porque los apoyan pretensiones que tienden a su mejoramiento sin detrimento del capital, tambien rechazo, asi como todo mundo, las que no llevan otro fin que el de proporcionarse ganancias exageradas a que no se es merecedor.

Las huelgas causan inmensos perjuicios. Constituyen un derecho, pero este tiene existencia en tanto no se convierte en un atentado al derecho ajeno.

JOSE CANDELARIO VALDES (O. R. T.).

"IT'S UP TO US."

If all the members of the O. R. T. would refer to the article in our August journal written by Cert. 33, I think all would feel as I do and say that this brother has struck the keynote. His subject was a good one and well explained and should appeal to us all. This has been my idea for years. We are all well aware that we are to get shorter hours on March 4, 1908, therefore it is up to us to say whether or not we are going to continue to work for the same rate of pay that we are working for today. We can not keep our dear ones for less salaries than we are now receiving. Let every organized road in the country send their committees to the management of the various roads at the same time and make a demand for the $75 minimum. If 50,000 or 60,000 operators made the demand and walked out if it is not granted, the railroads of the United States would be tied up and business would be at a standstill; the railroads could not stand it, and it is my belief that we would get our demands. Why not do this before March 4, 1908? The railroad officials are not coming to us and saying: "Your services are worth $75 per month, and will be increased to that amount beginning March 4, 1908." Unless we make this demand we will always be working for the little sum of $45 to $65 per month.

Brothers, it is due time for us to wake up and make the start. Why not begin at once? We are all in favor of shorter hours and more salary, but we can not get them by discussing the matter through our journal. Now is the time to make the start. Why not set a date and make the start at once?

D. O. MARTIN,
CERT. 26, Div. 82.

BE UP AND DOING.

The time has come when we must be up and doing. There was never a better time to make the commercial companies come to time than now. My idea of the matter is, when we make our next agreement with the different railroads throughout the country is to have it in our agreement that we will not handle commercial business only by agreement drawn by and between the different railroad telegraphers' committees and the commercial companies. In this way, in case of a strike, we will not be laying the railroads liable, as we now are. Then the railroad companies could not tell us we had to handle the business. It would be entirely up to us, and not the company for which we work.

It has been stated by officials of the commercial companies that they would not recognize a union or meet a committee of telegraph operators for the purpose of drawing up an agreement. I think this would cause them to change their minds. Now, as the time is here when we must begin to figure out just how we want our new agreement to read, I will give you an outline of a new clause that I think should be added to every schedule. Perhaps it can be worded a little different and still mean the same:

"The operators of the railroad system do not agree to handle commercial business only by agreement drawn by and between the operators' committees of the railroad system and the commercial companies."

I think a clause of this nature would fix it. As the time is short we can not discuss this through the columns of our journal very long.

I hope that every new schedule from now on will have this clause in it.

CERT. 80.

EMANCIPATION.

I conceive that the now pending difficulty between the Postal and Western Union operators and the Postal and Western Union Telegraph Companies could be made to be the last so far as concerns the operators were the operators disposed to help themselves. And to help themselves would require little, if any self-denial. If any self-denial were necessary, then such self-denial might be the nucleus of a competency at a later day.

It is quite improbable that the exorbitant tolls exacted from the public for telegraphic service is other than extortion; that extortion to pay interest upon property that is not in reality, but rather upon what is known as "watered stock." The public is not the only victim, but the operator suffers as well by reason of a certain percentage being deducted from his wage to help pay the unjust interest.

Were the operators so disposed they might organize a telegraph company, each operator to subscribe for a share of stock at $100 per share, each share to be paid for at the rate of $5 per month until the $100 has been paid, the proceeds to be used for the construction of a telegraph system of wires between the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, with feeders to and from the North and South, and for the equipment for offices and so forth.

There are, approximately, about 100,000 operators in the United States and Canada, and a share of stock to each at $100 a share should net $10,000,000. This sum expended to build lines, equip offices, etc., should give equipment and facilities to far surpass the present ones; give the public a lesser rate per word for service, and a better employment and a more remunerative wage for the operator. Strikes then would be a thing of the past and the operators could then pay themselves the just wages their arduous services deserve.

Is this a dream or will it some day blossom forth in all its virility, the emancipator of our fraternity?
P. H. C.

MORE ABOUT A $75.00 MINIMUM.

We all know a $75 minimum would be a nice thing. But the question is, how are we going to get it? It is a certainty our respective roads will not make us a present of it, so what are we going to do? However, we are all positive of the fact that if we keep right on working in the same old channel and make no effort to better our conditions financially, it will be a long time before we reach this goal. Again, we feel sure that our employers are not going to come to us and ask us if we want $75 per month; that would not be a business proposition.

We only have to stop and review history for a few minutes to illustrate to ourselves that our country has won many great victories by the hand of war. Victories that have made our country one that will stand forever. Now if we all, as American citizens and intelligent workmen, volunteer to fight for our rights, there is no question but that victory will be ours. Our wage scale today is what we have made it. Of course, it has been improved some at different times during the past five years, but it still needs amending before we can say we are getting what is due us for services performed.

Now, brothers, before we proceed any further with this, let us stop and talk with a few of our friends. Here comes our friend, the farmer, for instance; we might spend a few minutes with him. First, we will ask him how much he is getting for his services. He will say without hesitation $3 per day. We might ask him why he don't work for $1.50 per day? His answer would be, the farmers have got to harvest their crops and we won't work for any less.

After learning what we have from the farmer, let us turn to our own organization, bearing in mind what the farmer has just told us, and we may be able to realize at once how we are idling away our time and experience, when we are one of the strongest organizations in the world.

Now, let's get busy, and go after the nons. And when our committee goes in, let's not be afraid to tell them what we want, and assure them that we stand ready to fight in case of war.

Mohrback, third, Van Nest, to third Bronx River; Whitehead, first Westchester yard, to first Pelham Bay; Allen, Mt. Vernon days, to Pelham Bay second; Tiffany, Pelham Bay days, to same place third; Westover, Pelham Manor days, to Bartow Junction third; Decker, of New Rochelle Junction third, resigned; bid in by Storm, of second, same place; Donovan, of Mamaroneck, to Mt. Vernon first; Reif, Cos Cob nights, to Mt. Vernon second; Sweetman, Mt. Vernon nights, to third there; Bradner, second, New Rochelle yard, to Mamaroneck first; Dewitt, second Rye, to first Harrison; Lynch, Harrison nights, to second same place; Whartow, "GC," to Harrison third; McDonald third, Rye, to first Westchester yard.

The towers in electric zone have been equipped with rubber mats in front of interlocking machines.

Wm. Sinclair, of first, Greenwich, after nineteen years' service, resigned to go into the poultry raising business in New Jersey.

Relief Telegrapher Christianman enjoyed a two weeks' vacation in Pennsylvania. C.R.T. 106.

Providence Division, No. 35.

Attendance at the September meeting of Division 35 rather slim on account of rainy evening.

Very little business to transact outside of action on a few applications and reports of committees.

Bro. Joslin looked familiar in the secretary's chair, and the manner in which he handled the job showed that he had not forgotten his early training.

A representative of the Hatters' Union gave a fifteen-minute talk on union and non-union hats, which was entertaining as well as instructive. The outside sentinel has been instructed to inspect the hat-rack at frequent intervals at all future meetings.

The members of Division 35 were much in evidence at the benefit C. T. U. A. ball, held in Music Hall, Providence, last week. Their presence and their efforts to make the ball a success were appreciated by the members of the local C. T. U., and they did not hesitate to make it known.

Several of the boys employed on the P. W. & B., as well as some of the Fall River C. T. U. contingent missed the last train home, but as

Smith and McDermott got it, the branch opened up for business at the usual time the next day.

Bro. Bob Brown, local secretary and treasurer, who has been on the sick list for the past month, reported as slowly improving.

The death of Bro. Frank R. Chadwick, agent at West Barrington, came as a shock to his many friends in the train and telegraph service. Bro. Chadwick was for many years dispatcher on the Worcester Division, and was transferred to the agency at West Barrington, his home, a few years ago. His health has been failing for the past seven or eight years, and despite long vacations and medical treatment, he gradually passed into a decline that finally resulted in death.

Worcester Division Notes—

Bro. Con Sheehan, of Northup avenue tower, bid in second trick helper at "WB," East Providence.

Bro. Gardner, of Adamsdale, bid in second trick at Northup avenue.

"Olney Giggins," of South Worcester, off sick.

Bro. Gore, of Adamsdale days, off on thirty-day vacation.

Mr. Buttrick, of Woonsocket ticket office, also sick; relieved by Bro. John Stevens.

"Genial" relief towerman is covering Bro. Stevens' job.

Bro. Welch, of "PN," Promenade street tower, just back from two weeks' absence on account of illness.

Taunton Division Notes—

Mr. F. E. Baker, agent Assonet station, bid in the agency at Randolph.

Bro. A. B. Winslow, assistant agent at Assonet, bid in the agency at that point. Assistant agent at Assonet up for bid.

New man breaking in at Wattuppa, Bro. Joe Cunningham having resigned to accept an important position in the freight department.

Relief towerman job up for bid, Bro. Bickerston having bid in the towerman's position at "FY," South Framingham.

Bros. Thurrott and Beaton represented the Taunton Division at the September meeting of Providence Division 35.

Bros. Ross and Walker will be presented each with a new pair of shoes if they will bring their old ones to a meeting of Providence Division, as evidence of a duty well performed. The war-path on the Taunton is a rocky affair, and hard on the shoes, and while the division will not undertake to repair the road-bed they tore up, or replace the three inches they wore off the bottoms of their feet, they will stand good for the shoes.

Bro. Wheeler, a new member from Bristol Ferry, reports the O. R. T. has brought him good results "so quick." Moral: Join the O. R. T.

Bro. E. B. Beaton took a trip down on the cape recently, and did a little missionary work on the side.

Shore Line Division Notes—

Bro. Wilcox bid in first trick Saybrook Junction. Wood River filled by spare man.

Several new men on the division. Get after them, boys, and find out how they stand. We were solid before they came, and we need them to keep up the standard.

Bro. H. A. Cook away for a two weeks' vacation. Mr. McCarthy filling in at Niantic during Bro. Cook's absence. We understand he carries a C. T. U. A. card. That is almost good enough, but not quite. We need the good men.

There is a man on the road, just arrived, who has a bad record. Just through scabbing a Western Union job. Take care of him, boys.

Div. Com.

New Haven Division, No. 29.

The September meeting of Division 29 was held at the usual meeting place, Red Men's Hall, on regular meeting date, the first Friday of the month, which date fell on the 6th inst.

All officers were present, and more than the usual amount of business was introduced and disposed of.

Many applications were received and committees appointed for investigation preliminary to the ballot for their reception as members.

The local affairs of the telegraphers appeared to be progressing in a satisfactory manner, the only disconcerting reports being that the inconsiderate hand of operating expense retrenchment had been laid upon every department of the road, and that many telegraphers, as a consequence, were laid off. Of the several telegraphers deposed I have to learn of but one who left the road to secure employment. Thanks to the recognition of the fundamental and inviolable principles of industrial and commercial economics, and the practice of the same there is no surplus material on hand; all is used in the absorbing demand, and the supply is governed with the exactness and approval of the same inexorable laws.

This great object lesson should ever be observed, and no departure made from it; not in the least iota. How much different now than not so many years ago, when the road was a veritable "ham factory." Every office and station on the road had anywhere from one to a half dozen students, all anxious and eager to scuttle the industrial ship. The agents and operators were consciously or unconsciously buccaners; the piratical black flag was their banner, and all ignorantly preying upon their own interests.

The depredations made upon the commerce of their labor has, in comparison with the existing ruling wages of skilled labor of the same class, set it back twenty years, leaving it in numerous instances in the same wage scale of the unorganized menial laborer and nowhere in comparison with the wages paid the organized laborers of the same class. The craft is heir to all of the whimsical vagaries, the insidious caprices, the insipid manhood, the vaulted vanities, the obtuse pessimisms, etc., that inhabit the breasts of the numerous individuals that compose it. As the inverted objects of the terrestrial and solar globe are reflected in the waters of the earth; as the stages of civilization are reflected in the laws of each succeeding period, so the character of the individuals are reflected in the craft, and that of the members reflected in the organization. Let them be without a purpose, effeminate, slothful, indifferent, careless alike of prosperity or of progress, then the same characteristics will mark the craft on the retina of the industrial fabric; but let them possess a well-defined and unmistakably manifested purpose, manliness, wide-awake activity, self-concerned-and-bound-to-win-ambition, thoroughly perpetually organized (as distinguished from incomplete and sporadic) and these features will raise them out of the chaotic industrial state to the inspiring prominence of well becoming and disciplined order, a Chimborazo of impregnable strength above the plains of solicitude.

The special committee composed of Bros. Dowd, McCormack and Culver, reported further progress in the special matter they have in hand. They have visited Divisions 37, 35 and 89, and have secured their concurrence in the matter; each division appointed a committee to act in conjunction with this committee, and the committee combined will formulate some plan for the members' consideration. The subject that they are engrossed with is that of increasing the dues for the purpose of having a salaried general chairman, and recompensing the general secretary and treasurer. The work of these two offices has, since their inception, demanded salaried officers, but our inadequate financial status deterred us from the undertaking, but now, with an established betterment in the wages of the telegraphers in all cases, there is no logical reason why our most important affairs should not be elevated to a plane of well conducted business practices. The amount of the increase per year per member would be comparatively insignificant to the great benefits received, the safe-guarding of our contract interests would warrant the outlay and the returns from the energetic oversight of every telegrapher and position on this populous system would guarantee the accrual of greater dividends on the investment. All other well organized and business managed roads have, for a long time, been operating under a similar arrangement with the best of results and satisfaction to all concerned. It is time we imitated their wise practice in adopting a system of equal efficiency.

The strike of the commercial telegraphers occupied the attention of the meeting for a complimentary period. The causes leading to this revolt are so justifiable that we are mystified to understand why our commercial brothers stood the indecent abuses and tyrannical oppression so long

Under the revealed state of facts they should have begun this fight twenty years ago, and kept striking every year; had they done so, perhaps by this time they would have received different treatment and wages commensurate with their skill and the amount of labor performed. Of their culpable disregard of their vital interests and the selfish indifference of the welfare of others when they misguidedly thought they were attracting beneficence from their gluttonous employer, they are now visibly cognizant; they permitted the monster to grow to abnormal proportions, in the accumulation of a vast surplus (blood money now used for extermination of the bodies from which leeches), increase of capital stock disproportionate to the value of assets, bribing of countless of public servants by the gratuitous and bountiful distribution of "complimentary franks" (paid for by the slaves who toil and the public who pay) until now it devours with a thousand mouths and tramples with a million hoofs. At this time we know not what the outcome will be, but there is this much assurance gleaned from the records of civil as well as industrial history: There never was a strike as yet lost, each of them, no matter how disastrous the settlement in the end, no matter how dishonorable the conduct of the participants or demoralized their return, has been a gain in the scale of industrial progress.

One hundred dollars was voted to the C. T. U. of A., and a voluntary weekly contribution asked for from the members.

It is rumored that General Superintendent Mr. O. M. Shepard is to be relieved from the general superintendency by Mr. W. G. Baird, who is en route from Panama, where he has been for some time in charge of work on the "ditch," or the Panama Railroad. Mr. Shepard, it is said, is to remain in an advisory capacity. It is hoped that this, if true, will in no manner discount any of the interests now so satisfactory to all. Mr. Shepard graduated from the ranks of the profession, and his retirement from official prominence takes the last of the "old New England" men, from which road has come some of the greatest railway men of the time.

Bro. Griffin, who was working "NH" office nights, when the reduction of help order came, it is reported, is working for the Erie at Jersey City, temporarily.

One man cut out of New Haven office, "NH;" two men out of "KY" office (New Haven Terminal); "FX" office, day and nights, Freight House, New Haven, closed, letting out two men; West River, day and nights, closed, on the Berkshire, near New Haven Terminal, letting out two men, is some of the changes we learn of in this immediate territory. Many others are reported on the several divisions. Not having space this time, their line-up will be omitted.

Bro. A. A. Carroll, one of the brothers affected by the "cut" at "KY," was appointed to second trick crew dispatcher. This is a better position than that of "brass-pounding," and we are glad that "Arty" was fortunate once in reaping profit from the blowing of ill wind.

Bro. Rockfellow, who was at "KY," having just moved to West Haven with his family and goods, was caught in the freshet of the retrenchment deluge, and washed away to some hospitable place on the New York Division. Div. Cor.

Indianapolis Division, No. 27.

On account of so many men being off, the boys at "SF" tower and the P. H. yard office were put back to twelve-hour tricks for a short while. It was like old times to go back to twelve hours, but we knew it could not be helped, and we just "grinned and bore it." Am glad to say that we have been put back on eight-hour tricks now, and hope it will not be interrupted.

Bro. Weakley was put on days at "WN," Union Station, for a week or ten days, while the regular man there, Mr. Fait, a non, was off in order to get married. Mr. Fait carried a card a number of years ago, and was a strong supporter of the Order, but something happened to shake his faith in the organization, and he has never since taken out a card, and all efforts to this end have proven unsuccessful.

The office at Eagle Creek, "GS," has been discontinued on account of the new track being laid, connecting the I. & V. main to the St. Louis Division main, west of Warman avenue, and switch tenders put in to take care of all switches in that territory.

Mr. Glasscock, regular days at "GS" has been visiting relatives and friends at Paris, Ills. He returned the first of the month to find his office had been discontinued during his absence. He is counting on working one of the tricks at "DE," P. H. yard office. He is preparing to fill out the necessary papers which will make him an "up-to-date" man.

Mr. Wm. Graney, who is working second trick at "DE," is counted on as taking third trick at "SF." Bro. Reynolds, who is now working this trick, has the promise of the night trick at his home town, Martinsville. Mr. Graney has promised to come through with the "necessary" this month.

The attendance at the last meeting was not what it should have been under the circumstances. The boys in general are complaining that they do not know what is going on. We can not publish all that is going on, for several reasons, and we can not put it in the circular letters, so the best way to get "next" is to attend the meetings. If you fail to get the desired information by not attending, do not blame any one but yourselves. That is what the meetings are for, and it is your duty to put forth your best efforts and go.

As much territory as we cover we ought to have more "news" in the columns of our journal. If you do not know who to send your items to, send them to your secretary and treasurer, who will get them together and send them in for you. Even if it is only two or three items, that would "help some." There has been very few items from the Vincennes, Peoria and Michigan Divisions. Boys, get busy.

CERT. 3.

Harrisburg Division, No. 3.

Not having seen anything in the journal the last few months, we desire to again come to the front, and say, while we have spared some thirty members who have gone to strengthen our sister local, Lancaster Division, No. 9, we have to our credit the distinction of being one of the many generous locals existing in the country, especially on the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie. We yet enjoy the distinction of being one of the largest locals on the system.

The boys on the Tyrone and P. & N. W. branches have always done, and are still doing, excellent work for their craft, from which points the local is being greatly increased.

Bro. Thomas Peace having resigned the chairmanship of the L. B. of A., our good Bro. O. M. Harvey is now very creditably filling the unexpired term. We realize the work is very arduous, yet believe in the ability of Bro. Harvey to be a credit to the trust we place in him, knowing that if it be possible he will have all the petty grievances pending in his district adjusted to the satisfaction of his constituents.

Our good Bro. W. B. Hall, from McGees Mills, was with us this month, and reports much of the student problem being eliminated. The situation is growing better.

Sister Cora Pearce, of Phillipsburg, was one of the unexpected attendants on our rostrum last month.

Houtzdale, Olivia, McGees Mills, Punxsutawny, Bellefonte, Howard, Mill Hall, Osceola Mills, are among some of the busy centers in O. R. T'ism.

We are pleased to welcome our old local organizer, Bro. C. F. Klingler, back among us. He has done very efficient work in days past.

Bro. Shelley, of Duncannon, and Bro. Alberts, of Fort Hunter, who have been off duty some length of time on account of illness, are back at work, and have the best wishes of the craft.

Bro. Hunt, who is doing good work in the East, occasionally drops in to see us, and in his usual way, drops a word of encouragement.

We keenly sympathize with our good brother, C. E. Miller, of Newport, Pa., who mourns the loss of his mother, Mrs. Cora A. Miller, who departed this life not long since.

Our good brother, Chief J. S. Leyder, too, mourns the loss of his father, and has our sincere sympathy.

We hear it said quite frequently that railroads have difficulty in securing competent telegraphers to fill vacancies. While this may be true, the shortage is caused by insufficient salaries, and not a lack of men. Any one can come in off the farm, and from the very first day's duty as a brakeman, draw not less than $90 per month.

Only of late have the salaries of telegraphers advanced slightly, but not in proportion to the advanced cost of living.

We learn that our good Bro. Shelley, of Duncannon, has been compelled to lay off on account of sickness. We hope he will soon recover.

The secretary reports dues paid up for the current term, almost to a man.

OLD VER.

Campbellton Division, No. 61.

Things are very quiet on our division. I. C. R. telegraphers are watching the proceedings on C. P. R. with much interest.

There are not many changes on this division. Red Pine being the only place not yet filled.

Sorry to hear of Bro. McEarcher's illness. Bro. Hamilton relieving him at Doaktown.

M. Hendry, agent at Gibson is also on the sick list; relieved by Bro. Corbett.

Bro. Humphrey, of Newcastle, is still on leave; relieved by Bro. Smith. Also Bro. Brown, of Jacquet River; relieved by Bro. Ellis.

Our committee is about ready to meet the management again relative to our new schedule.

Every member should be up-to-date, and endeavor to secure new members.

RESTIGOUCHE.

Baltimore Division, No. 17.

Our meetings have been exceptionally interesting and beneficial to all attending. We are, indeed, glad for the fellowship that we have been permitted to enjoy with the brothers of Division No. 33, and inasmuch as the Legislative Committee, composed of the following: F. F. Sullivan, president; Dr. J. B. Sebastian, secretary and treasurer; Geo. Hartman, attorney; J. F. Richardson, Geo. W. Fowler, E. E. Hurdle, Wm. T. Rollins, W. B. Brenize and Wm. M. Skinner, will hold its regular meetings immediately following the meetings of Division No. 17, and while the business will be done by the above-named committee, all brothers are invited to remain as advisory members. The committee seeks to serve you to the very best advantage, but must know your wishes before they can intelligently legislate for you.

This departure of our organization is yet in its infancy, but since we are enjoying the benefits of an eight-hour law, would it not be just and proper that there should be a law requiring the fulfillment of God's law, who, when creating the world, said: "Six days shalt thou labor," etc., resting on the seventh day, but the corporations these days say 365 days a year shalt thou labor, and no rest. We recognize the fact that under the present system of railroading we could not possibly all have Sundays, but we should all have at least one day a week for rest.

It was our good pleasure recently to welcome several of our former brothers back to Division No. 17, viz.: Good, Day and Smith at Lemoyne, Glessner and E. M. Miller at "DY." Now, brothers, this makes the upper end almost solid. Go for the remaining "nons" so we will have a solid front, and let our worthy chairman, Bro. Rupley, know that we are with him.

Mr. C. F. Eicker is with us again.

The two block offices, north and south of York, "JS" and "CO," have been reopened; made necessary by the new block rules. At "CO" we have Mr. Beck and Bro. J. K. Glatfelter; at "JS" Bro. Hoover and Mr. J. L. Elsesser. It is rumored that several more offices will be reopened as soon as men are available. "Come up with the coin," and there will be no trouble about the men.

Bro. Ritter, a commercial man, has cast his lot with the Baltimore Division.

Glad to see Bro. S. S. Glessner back to work, after being absent with a broken ankle.

We have the promise of the younger men who have recently been placed on the division, to wear a button as soon as their year is up. "Don't forget it, boys."

Bro. T. F. E. O'Neil, formerly of Calvert station, has resigned, taking a position in the court house of Baltimore.

Bro. W. L. Jones, of Odenton, has again undergone a surgical operation. Glad to hear the same was successful, and hope it is a permanent cure.

Bro. Jos. Rollins is improving slowly. Hope to hear him back at work again ere long.

MONTEBELLA.

Pittsburg Division, No. 52.

Allegheny Division—

There is little news of interest to be written up this month; few changes, and everybody hoping for eight-hour jobs to be established.

Bro. O. J. Ritchey, of "BR" office, Pittsburg, has returned to duty after a three weeks' vacation, spent in the national capital and other eastern cities.

Sister Reitzel, of DuBois days, was off on a short vacation recently, being relieved by Sister Blakeley.

Bro. E. A. Shuster has just returned to duty at Monterey. Can not say where he spent his vacation.

Bro. McFerron, of Red Bank, White Rock and elsewhere, has resigned and gone to Buffalo.

Bro. A. T. Conley, of Parker nights, was a recent visitor at Pittsburg.

Bro. McCracken has been holding down Reynoldsville days, during the temporary disablement of Bro. Showalter. Particulars missing.

Bro. Rockwell has again entered the service of the "Valley." We hope he will stick this time.

Bro. M. H. Curran was the successful bidder for Kennerdville nights.

Bro. Arndt is back at his post at Foxbury days, after an extended visit "back in York State."

Before I close, I wish to offer a few words of caution to the members in reference to the practice of changing off without permission. This is very much objected to by our superintendent, and I think when the proper authority can be so readily obtained in all worthy cases, the practice should be stopped at once. Another thing: When eight-hour jobs are actually established there will be absolutely no excuse for not being on hand at all times, day or night, and the company can very properly insist on prompt and efficient service. There is some excuse when a telegrapher works twelve hours, but when these hours are reduced to eight, the excuse is no longer valid.

Applications continue coming in at a satisfactory rate, and the most encouraging feature is the fact that there are so few who allow themselves to become delinquent. So far, there are but two, and I am confident that ere this sees print they will have paid up.

The striking commercial telegraphers have adopted the word "Stick" as their watchword during the struggle, and it occurs to me that it would be a good slogan for us to adopt. Stick to the organization, and stick to your jobs. Think it over and "stick."
BRIGHAM.

Wilmington Division, No. 58.

Wilmington Division, No. 58, met September 18, 1907, with a good attendance. Bro. Chief Kennedy in the chair, as usual, Bro. Melvin filling the secretary and treasurer's chair. Bro. Holton, our regular secretary and treasurer, not present on account of illness, but we are glad to note he is growing better. Had a very interesting meeting. We want all the boys to come out and help shove things along. Now, please don't forget our next meeting. Surely we ought to be able to spare one night a month to attend meetings. If you can not, stay away, and find fault with those who are trying to run things to suit everybody. We have one of the finest lodge rooms in the city; large, bright and comfortable.

Bro. Chief Kennedy has returned home from a visit to Elkton.

Bro. Truitt is the stuff. He never comes to a meeting without several applications. The boys came near putting him in the secretary and treasurer's chair, but he had them flagged at Farnhurst.

Bro. Vernon says he will give us good, substantial by-laws to work on. Let's hear from him next meeting.

Bro. MacDonald was on hand to help keep things moving.

We had a visit from Bros. Lair and Frazier, who made some interesting remarks.

Bro. Rudolph has returned from a trip to the Jamestown Exposition and Atlantic City.

Bros. Cosden and Brown have returned from their baseball trip over Market street bridge.

Take notice of the change of our secretary and treasurer in back part of THE TELEGRAPHER, and be governed accordingly.
MEMBER.

Washington Division, No. 60.

Since my last contribution to this department, there has been many changes on this end of the Maryland Division caused by the eight-hour law becoming effective.

The following are the new eight-hour offices:

"BG," Fourteenth street—First trick, Mr. L. A. Hamilton; second trick, C. T. U. A. Bro. Reits; third trick, Bro. J. E. Blader.

"J," Seventh street—First trick, Bro. H. R. Barnes; second trick, extra at present; third trick, extra at present.

"HF," Washington—First trick, Bro. H. L. Simcox; second trick, Bro. J. T. McKean; third trick, Bro. J. E. Vandegrift.

"ND"—First trick, Mr. H. H. Hurlock; second trick, Bro. R. C. Elliott; third trick, Bro. L. H. Sparks.

"JU"—First trick, Mr. G. N. Barbour; other two tricks extra.

"BH"—First trick, Bro. A. A. Jardon; second trick, Bro. J. B. Milton; third trick, Bro. D. B. Johanner.

Bro. J. T. McKean has returned from his vacation, which was spent traveling through Scotland, his home.

We expect some great changes in this vicinity in the near future, when the new union station is completed. This station is one of the finest in this country, if not in the world; costing nearly $8,000,000 for the station proper.

Now, brothers, we want to gather in some more of the nons around Washington. There is nothing to prevent them from joining our forces, and assisting in bettering conditions.

Our local organizer, Bro. Blader, has done some very good work in the last month or two, and it is very gratifying to see that the non-members are coming in, and aiding a just cause.

I also understand that every member of this division has an up-to-date card.

This division held a special meeting September 4th, at the home of Bro. Vandegrift, for the purpose of rendering financial aid to the commercial brothers who are out on strike. The sum of $25 was donated to the local union of commercial telegraphers. May they win.

Your correspondent would like to have some notes from the brothers out on his road to enable him to make his contributions interesting as well as beneficial.

Div. Con.

Boston Division, No. 89.

The mass meeting, August 25th, held in Faneuil Hall, Boston, Mass., was a grand success from trades union point of view.

The demands of the C. T. U. A. were advertised to the public. It was a gathering of intelligent men and women that listened to prominent speakers from many labor organizations. The remarks of Peter W. Collins, grand secretary and treasurer of the Electrical Workers of America, on organization, education and legislation, won much applause. The O. R. T. on this system has been trying to organize and educate the nons for some time, and, although we legislate for them, they do not appreciate the fact.

It is the custom each year for all railroad brotherhoods to hold a social or dance. These dances have always been financially and socially successful. There is no reason why Boston Division 89 should be behind other brotherhoods in this respect. We have a large number of good dancers who could handle the affair in grand style. Some one should take this matter up at one of our meetings.

Bro. Jack Ludy, ticket agent at Campello, is on a two weeks' vacation.

Bro. Kenney, nights, is covering Bro. Ludy's job.

Bro. J. F. Thomas, North Abington, is covering night trick at Campello.

Bro. Geo. W. McCue is summering among the hills of old New Hampshire.

Bros. Tommy Prince and J. J. Foley spent a week at Provincetown.

Div. Con.

Chicago Division, No. 91.

It is with extreme regret that we are compelled to record the fact that we were asked to accept the resignation of our genial secretary and treasurer, Geo. F. O'Brien, in that capacity.

While No. 91 has been fortunate in the past in the selection of officers, I believe that we will all acknowledge that we never had a more conscientious, cheerful and hard-working brother in this division than Bro. O'Brien. The manner in which he cared for the welfare of this division, and the attention he gave our cause, whether it pertained to local or national affairs, was always a matter of comment among the membership.

Through overwork his health was impaired to such an extent that he found it necessary to take a much-needed and deserved rest.

The past half year has been a most gratifying one to us all. A clear gain of over 117 members.

We understand that Bro. Driscoll, of the C., I. & S., is greatly elated with the progress he is making as general chairman in his negotiations with that road for better working conditions, etc.

We are again brought into public view, the strike of the commercial boys of this city being the center upon which all eyes are turned, and as many of them hold up-to-date O. R. T. cards, it will be readily seen that No. 91 is again in the limelight. Our chief telegrapher, G. Dal. Jones, being on the executive board of the local commercial organization, is deeply interested in the outcome.

I would like to have some news from our out-of-town members who are unable to come to our meetings on account of the time-card. Boys, please wake up and send in to your secretary any items you may be able to get. Kindly remember that your officers need a little encouragement, as well as an expression as to your wishes. Without these, they are placed in a very embarrassing position, not knowing your desires.

Introductions now being in order, it is with great pleasure that we turn our attention to our new secretary, W. F. McDonald. In this brother we have added to our official family one of the staunchest union men in the city of Chicago, and one of the most energetic workers for our cause. Now, brothers, it's up to you to help Mac along the thorny path of officialdom. His position calls for a great amount of routine work, and very little recognition.

Am just in receipt of a very distressing note in which the sad news is conveyed that the beloved wife of our worthy chief telegrapher is dangerously ill. This intelligence is a severe blow to us, and it is our earnest prayer that her illness may be of short duration, and that she may be spared to one of the most unselfish of men.

Boys, when there are vacancies on the road on which you are employed kindly drop our secretary a note, who will see that sober and reliable men are sent to such positions.

Don't forget that there is a strike on all over the United States and Canada with the commercial boys, and try and help all deserving applicants.

CHIC. 83.

Meridian Division, No. 94.

Our membership is scattered over so much territory that it is impossible for some of our members to attend meetings, and, therefore, I hope every member of this division will read this article as I expect to make some statements of interest to all.

In the first place, I want to state that the Southern Railway in Mississippi, has been added to the territory of this division, and Bro. R. O. Nunnery, of Columbus, Miss., has been elected local chairman for that section of road which extends from Columbus, Miss., to Greenville, Miss., including Webb, Belzoni, Napanee and Richey branches. All members on this division of road should consult freely with Bro. Nunnery regarding any matters that will tend to improve the service or the conditions of employment, as he is your duly elected representative before the railroad officials and the Order, and I am sure it will be his aim to improve the service and conditions of employment.

Since January 1st, of this year, we have added thirty-seven new members to our division. We have lost by transfer six, and dropped eighteen, leaving a net gain of thirteen members. We have at present 110 members, ninety-eight of whom have already paid dues to December 31, 1907, and we hope the other twelve will remit in a few days. Reader, if you are one that has not remitted, please let your remittance go to the secretary-treasurer at your earliest convenience, as it's time all these remittances were in.

The following amounts have been contributed by our members and their friends thus far to help the commercial operators who are on strike:

Division 94.....	$10 00
J. R. McLemon.....	3 00
W. M. Terry, B. B. Brannon and J. T. Burney	30 00
J. E. Jones and W. H. Bagkin.....	9 00
J. M. Howell.....	3 00
J. C. Hughes.....	3 00
R. L. Howell.....	1 00
Tunstall Lumsden	1 00
Raydon Fincher	1 00

Total$61 00

Now, brothers, those that have remitted at all have done splendidly, but every member of the division should send at least $1 to Bro. Quick, and more, if possible, and these remittances should continue as long as this strike lasts. The strike must not fail for the want of money.

Send your money to Quick,
And help the boys to stick
'Till the sounders fail to tick;
And then the big stick
Will settle the strike quick.
So stick, boys; stick, stick.

The members of this division are not attending meetings as they should, and I fear it is for the want of leave of absence and transportation. If this is a fact, there should be a clause inserted in our next schedule to the effect that members will be relieved when possible, and given passes to attend meetings. See to it that this is done.

Another thing you should see to is this: Have some one to write up the news from each section of road, or, rather, from each wire circuit division, as follows:

Circuit No. 1—Mobile to Meridian.

Circuit No. 2—Meridian to Okalona.

Circuit No. 3—Artesia to Tuscaloosa.

Circuit No. 4—Tuscaloosa to Montgomery.

Circuit No. 5—Columbus to Greenville.

Circuit No. 6—Webb, Belzoni, Napanee and Richie branches.

This would require six correspondents, who should send their copy to your local secretary and treasurer to be consolidated and forwarded for publication in THE TELEGRAPHER. We would like to have volunteers for this service. Who will help us? Your secretary has entirely too much work to undertake to do all the writing for THE TELEGRAPHER, and as no one has offered to help, we seldom ever have a write-up.

Our treasury is in good condition. All debts paid, and a few hundred on hand. If any of you want a more definite report write the treasurer, or attend meetings and get it, as it is not for publication.

What we need now is new members, and we can get them if every one of you will pick out just one man and go to work on him, and keep after him continually until he joins. Try it, and let's see how we will grow.

Yours fraternally,
R. L. HOWELL, S. and T.

Cobalt Division, No. 99.

As our division is just in its infancy, and has not as yet had a write-up, I thought this would be a good chance to start the ball rolling.

At our last meeting, held at New Liskeard, August 31st, a new chief telegrapher was appointed; Bro. C. D. Chatterton, dispatcher at North Bay, succeeding Bro. Dufour, who has retired from the company's service, but we are pleased to say, not from the Order. Bro. F. G. Campbell was appointed past chief, succeeding Bro. Dumas, who has also left the company's service. Nominations were made for general chairman to fill the vacancy created by Bro. Aubin resigning from this office. Bro. G. H. Teeple, of Cobalt, and Bro. J. J. Campbell, of North Bay, were nominated for this position. Ballots are now out for the election, and as soon as elected, our schedule will then be taken up with the company.

Our division today, I am pleased to say, is 99 per cent solid, and we expect that by next meeting this division will be solid O. R. T.

We trust that there will be a larger turnout at our next meeting, as we expect there will be some important business to transact.

Bro. H. Wolf, of New Liskeard, we are pleased to say, has been appointed relieving dispatcher, and is now holding down third trick at "H," filling in, while Bro. R. L. Lamb, who has been hit by Cupid's arrows, is away on his honeymoon. We extend to Bro. Lamb our congratulations.

Western Maryland Railway.West Virginia Division—

It is now time to forward notes to THE TELEGRAPHER, so I will get busy and try and give a short write-up. Although I am not now in the service, my business requires me to travel over the road, therefore I get to see the boys quite often, and feel it the duty of some one to write a few lines.

Bro. G. W. Hoover, who has been working nights at Rawlings, has resigned and is now taking a course in law. We all wish Bro. Hoover success in his new undertaking.

Bro. Lahan, of Westernport days, who was ordered by a physician to take absolute rest, is still off duty. We hope he will soon be able to resume work. Understand a new man has taken his place, who, by the way, is a non. Unable to give his name.

The conditions along the line are not what they should be, as there are several nons in evidence. I think, brothers, if we get after them in the right way we may be able to get them in the ranks.

Bro. McKane relieved Bro. Fraley while he was on his honeymoon trip.

Now, brothers, there is no reason why W. M. Div. 82 can not be represented in every issue of THE TELEGRAPHER. Would like for some brother who is better posted to do the writing in our next issue. I think we are indebted to Bro. Fraley for a nice bunch of items this month. With best wishes for all who carry the up-to-date card.

CERT. 26.

Twin City Telegraphers' Club.

The regular meeting of the club was held at Midway Saturday night, September 14th, and among the business transacted a new correspondent was appointed. Guess the former brother was too busy to look for news, so they sent the job down here where there is not much work. We had a rousing old meeting and one of the best in line of attendance since the club was organized. That is what counts, and we hope to see the boys turn out in big bunches and keep it up now that winter will be here soon.

I wonder what was the trouble with our Minneapolis boys? Only a couple turned out for the meeting. We had hoped to see more present to help us welcome the C. T. U. A. brothers, who turned out to pay us a visit. Anyway the Commercial brothers have promised to come often in the future, so we will have many meetings as good as the last one.

The greater part of our opening exercises were dispensed with, as we had several fine talkers with us and every one was anxious to hear them get at it. Bro. and First Vice-President Newman was called on first and gave a very nice talk on the topics of the day and the future prospects of the Order. Bro. Liddane, generally the long-winded orator of the club, was next called on, but during the speech of Bro. Newman Bill had spied one of his Omaha side partners in the hallway and nothing would do but that he should speak in his place, so Bro. Liddane introduced Bro. Byers, of the Omaha Railway, one of the oldest telegraphers of the United States. Bro. Byers was no stranger to us, as most of us had the pleasure of listening to the worthy brother during the trouble on the N. P. and G. N. two years ago, but he certainly can talk, and Bro. Liddane made most of his chance to rest for an evening.

Bro. McVickers, the president of the C. T. U. A. Local No. 9, was called on and made a very able speech and presented their side of the trouble in such a way that a person can not help but see they are in the right of a great struggle for living wages and better conditions. If the boys throughout the entire country put up the front that the boys of Local No. 9 do there can only be one way for the trouble to end and that will be in their favor. We were glad of the chance to hear these brothers talk on this subject, as the news handed out by the majority of our papers is pretty rank stuff and always paid for by the big money corporations back of them.

We were also favored by a visit of part of the N. P. committee, but No. 6 being late kept a couple of them at the depot until too late to come out to the hall.

The benefit dance given by the striking C. T. U. A. boys on September 13th was well attended and every one reports a good time. The club purchased twenty tickets to help the good work along and make up for the members that could not attend. Hear reports of another to be given in the near future, so every one who can, turn out and support the boys in every way.

CORRESPONDENT.

Albany Division, No. 78.

Bro. Kemp, our genial local chairman, was badly injured in August by falling from the platform on "W1," Watervleit tower, breaking his left leg between the knee and ankle. We certainly lost a helper, for the general committee was in session at Albany when the accident happened. The boys all sympathize with him, and wish him a speedy recovery.

Bro. Stevens, from "Z," Fort Edward, was called to serve on committee during negotiations, and did himself credit.

Mr. Flannery, at Ft. Ticonderoga "CG," was the successful bidder on "RS," Glens Falls freight, but declined. Bro. Stevens being next bidder, was assigned, after finishing labors on general committee.

Bro. G. Ramsdell is holding down "Z," Fort Edward, days, temporarily, until same is advertised. Mr. Mangan relieving nights. We expect to call Mr. Mangan brother before long; so, "Geo.," hurry necessary along.

We are reliably informed that Mr. Spencer, at "SA," Sandy Hill, secured a raise out of committee's effort, and hope he will see his way clear to join us and help keep the ball rolling.

Bro. J. C. Nicks, of Division 132, who has been working on steamer "Sagamore," Lake George, the past summer, has returned to "A. C. Line" for the winter.

The new schedules, effective the first of September, are distributed, also positions under eight-hour law bulletined.

Bro. "J." Potter, at Watervleijt "OW," will now have a night man.

Mr. Pierson, at "GY" tower, Ballston, will go on eight hours. The committee has done something for him, and he should show his appreciation by establishing his membership.

Now that we have a fine schedule, let's all continue to give good service, for it is certainly appreciated by the officials. A little extra effort to watch wires will not hurt us, and will be much to help us in the future.

On account of Bro. Kemp being laid up, we had no correspondent, this being the reason no notes from this division, but I take pleasure in coming to his aid on this work. It would be a great help if every one would send an item or two for publication in the journal. Without help it is almost impossible to have our division well represented.

Regarding passes, Bro. Moat, general chairman, has this up with the officials, and expects an answer by our September meeting. The company's attitude seemed to be in favor of granting them, but on account of Mr. Sima's absence from the city, had to postpone business and communicate by letter. Here's hoping we secure them.

Bro. Pierson, our worthy second vice-president, certainly gave us some needed advice, and was with us from start to finish. CERT. 35.

Wabash Railway.

Detroit Division—

The regular correspondent has been off sick for some time, and asked me to see to this part of the work, and I have very little to offer.

We are nearing the time to go for a revision of the schedule, and it is our duty to respond promptly to all questions asked by the committee, and the ones who are not in the O. R. T. wagon better put on the badge and help the good cause along.

Bro. L. A. Yoder, nights at Milan, has been sick for some time with typhoid fever, and is now out again. Saw him a few days ago, and he was thinking of going to Colorado to visit his folks until he is able to resume work.

Sister E. M. Jackel was given the worst end of a deal when, by order of the superintendent, a transfer was made, giving the agency at Hand to a Mrs. J. Holliday, formerly agent at that place. Mrs. Holliday took another position when she left Hand, and was offered the agency when it was up on bulletin, but refused it, and when her office was closed she made application for this place, and received it; in this way one of the telegraphers who had accepted Hand on bulletin, was put out in the cold, and no bulletin of the office given. If this kind of work is to be practiced we might as well hang up our fiddle, for no one knows when they have a job. If some office is closed, and the telegrapher asks for some one else's job, he will get it, perhaps, the superintendent being the judge. I trust this matter will come to some kind of a head, so we will know just where we stand.

Bro. W. M. Sellers has resumed duty at Romulus, and Bro. Curry has gone back nights at that place.

If the brothers will send in a few items each month they will assist very materially in giving a good write-up from this division. It is impossible for me to know all that is going on, but if you would send in what you have we could have one of the finest columns in the journal.

Please try it.

Yours fraternally,
V. N. Wood, Local Chairman.

Decatur Division—

This writing consists more or less of items contributed by our faithful Bro. Harte, of Bement. Also indebted to Bros. Hefner and Youell, and some one failing to leave identification marks.

The first item will, no doubt, be of interest to those on the Thirteenth District, and, although a man may choose his profession regardless of the world, we do not endorse the following article:

For a number of years a Mr. C. G. Barnwell, with the assistance of several qualified instructors, has conducted a business college in the city of Litchfield, and met with fair success.

In a recent issue of a Litchfield paper he has inserted an advertisement stating he has opened a branch for telegraph students, the hours being of an evening, and expects to enroll 100 students by the fall term.

It is vouched that the "professor" is unable to receive at the rate of eighteen or twenty words a minute, so you can readily form an opinion as to his ability as an instructor in telegraphy.

The writer is personally acquainted with Mr. Barnwell, and as a telegrapher, advises him to discontinue his telegraph course if he expects his school to hold its former reputation.

Any man that will take the responsibility to teach others an art he himself has not mastered, is discriminating against such class of labor, and should be branded as an outlaw.

A wandering spark from a passing locomotive cast its burning embers upon the station at Litchfield, and had it not been for the timely arrival of the fire department the building would have been consumed by fire. The station is minus the roof, and our Bros. Stone and Harwood are conducting the wire work in the baggage-room, while Agent Corneau is handling the passenger traffic and using Superintendent Daily's office as a ticket office.

Traffic was delayed several hours at Raymond recently on account of Train No. 71 running through an open derail.

Bro. Hendricks handled the wires, and during the rush had the pleasure of greeting eight visiting brothers.

The wreckers from Decatur and Litchfield were pressed into service, and under the directions of Mr. Handshy traffic was resumed as speedily as possible.

As you all are aware of the various changes in the official list of this division, it is not worth while to give an account, but in Mr. Handshy, our former trainmaster, who accepts the position of general superintendent of transportation for the McKinley System, we lose a good and fair official, who, during his reign as chief dispatcher and trainmaster, always worked to the interest of all concerned in a fair-spirited manner. We regret our loss, but congratulate Mr. Handsby upon his promotion and good fortune, and wish him only the success that goes with a fair and worthy man.

Mr. Helm, the newly-installed trainmaster of the Ninth and Thirteenth Districts, has our due respect, and we welcome him to this end, after having been absent since his reign as chief dispatcher.

The train men appear well pleased with the promotion of Conductor Robinson to trainmaster of the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Districts, and he should make a promising official, regardless of the past.

Referring to a certain ex-member who recently expressed his disapproval of unionism, we think he talks contrary to his opinions. We regret to lose a brother, but feel relieved when they are dissatisfied with our organization, and can only offer a petty excuse for withdrawing.

The Decatur Division is cursed with one knocker. However, he is rather to be pitied than despised, as he has never had a glimpse of the wide world; his vision having been cut short by the little forest which skirts the Sangamon river. Having been born and raised among wild weeds, we must not censure him too severely for his short-sightedness. Nevertheless he has received courteous treatment. He has often been appealed to, and his membership solicited by men who have tried to raise him to a higher plane. Not only has this been ignored, but the climax was reached when he was asked to contribute something to the striking telegraphers of our sister organization. He gave vent to his wrath by calling down condemnation on the organization, and accusing Bro. Hefner of being a grafter, and said the organization is robbing you poor fools. Speaking of graft: Was there ever a greater display of graft than for one to sit idly by and enjoy the benefits of organization without doing anything to assist; not even to the extent of remaining neutral.

He apparently thinks the organization is of no benefit to a man who possesses the superior knowledge that he does, and this consists of his familiarity with the signal "31" and "19," copy "3." I have never been disposed to look on the dark side, but this case seems to be hopeless.

It has been some time since our schedule went into effect, and now as the time is nearing for a revision, it is necessary that we comply with any request made by our chairman pertaining to the schedule and its revision. It is the duty of every one to assist the chairman by giving all information possible at an early date. Accuracy in answering queries is the first important step, and one should not exaggerate nor misrepresent any statement in the least. Give a true and accurate statement, and suggest anything you are of the opinion would lead to the betterment of the Order in general or the members individually.

It has been a year since your correspondent accepted the honor to act as scribe for this division. During that time, although it has been but a short period, considerable has been gained by the Order, and we have been working under one of the most prosperous administrations inaugurated. It has always been my desire to offer interesting and intelligent items, and through the columns of THE TELEGRAPHER I desire to express my appreciation and thanks to those who assisted me in this cause. Another fact very noticeable is that our membership has increased fully 25 per cent or more. This may appear an exaggerated statement to many, but if you are aware of the fact that the Decatur Division is practically solid O. R. T. you will not censure me for making such an assertion.

Many are not aware of the fact that Bro. Hefner, upon assuming the office of local chairman, was inexperienced in that line, but we can safely assert that the person who can now excel Bro. Hefner in his scope is to be congratulated upon his superiority.

Very few nons remain upon this division, and it is the desire of all that they identify themselves with this organization by taking out membership. The few remaining nons appear to be hard to convince, but with persuasion and continuous examples of the good accomplished by the Order, it is hoped they will affiliate with us. It is hoped all agents will give Bro. Hefner a definite and accurate reply to his inquiry of several weeks ago. This is important, and should be given prompt attention. Do not delay or hesitate with your replies, as your salaries are to be based upon the facts submitted.

One of the contributors for this writing forwarded quite an interesting page, but gave office calls in place of station names.

Your correspondent is somewhat familiar with the calls, but is at times at a loss to locate the stations referred to. All items are received with an appreciation of the fact that the contributor has taken interest, and I would thank them to please insert station names in preference to the call.

Rumors indicate that we are to lose Bro. Vance, of Lotus. He contemplates emigrating to the West, as does Bro. Parish, of Emington.

Mr. Calvert, formerly helper at Cardiff, is now acting as the official "doper" at Galesville, and promises his application soon as he has been in the telegraph service the required length of time.

Information reaches us that Bro. Ruchards, of Osman, is having his difficulties breaking in new wire-workers.

Mr. Engel, formerly at Osman nights, transferred to Horse Creek, same shift; relieved by a Mr. Lowry, of Strausburg.

Bro. Kelly, agent at Blue Ridge, makes frequent visits to Champaign.

Bro. Vance, of Chicago Ridge, succeeded in landing Mansfield agency.

Bro. Sansom returned to the Gibson agency after enjoying a western tour. He visited Bro. Morris, a former Banner Route employe. Unable to say who acted as relief.

Bro. Guy McNabney, formerly of Gibson, is now holding forth with the C., B. & Q. at Custer, S. D., and expresses only a good opinion of that country.

Bro. Downs, of Foosland, resumed duty after a month's absence through Pennsylvania seeking a healthful climate for his wife, who is in very poor health. The change apparently benefited her none, and she returned with her husband.

Bro. Martin Nelson acted as relief during Bro. Downs' absence, and is now stationed at Boody nights.

Bro. F. Sommers took a ten days' vacation prospecting around St. Paul, but returned to his old stand at Gibson days, after due consideration, claiming the northern country not as desirable as this section.

"13" that Bro. Wingate, of Cerro Gorda, goes to "BX" tower days. Can not say when transfer will be made.

Bro. Lowell, Taylorville, spent a few days visiting home folks at Dalton City during September; relieved by Telegrapher Tomilson, who, at present is holding Knights tower during the dark hours.

Mr. Case, now of "BX," relieved agent at Carpenter one day while the latter was absent from duty.

Bro. Giffin was recently relieved of his so-called burden, the Harvel agency, and departed for St. Paul.

Bro. Meglitch filling the vacancy until assigned some one possessing more seniority.

Mr. Morrow, of the C. T. U. of A., holding Staunton nights, for the present, relieving Bro. Meglitch, who bids fair to get Harvel agency.

Smith, of the C. T. U. of A., is holding down a vacancy in "XD," Decatur office, while others are enjoying a vacation.

Our chief, Mr. Ocheltree, is enjoying a needed vacation in the northern atmosphere with his family, and returns in a few weeks.

Bro. A. H. Martzhoff, upon reporting for duty, after being on a vacation, acted as relief agent at Honey Bend, relieving Bro. Aikman, who enjoyed an extended vacation of several weeks.

Upon resuming duty Bro. Aikman took charge of his old stand; Bro. Martzhoff returning to his former position at Homer days.

Put John A. Pfoff, at Gibson nights, down as having done the right thing. This makes Gibson job solid, with Bros. Sansom as agent and Sommers as day telegrapher.

Bro. Childers holding down "BX" tower days, with a Mr. Case, a beginner, on nights. This is a newly-created office, and rumors afloat assert this is a good strong-arm job.

Bro. Yates, night man at Saunemin, has been granted an indefinite leave of absence on account of the serious sickness of his father.

Bro. Sopher, who for the past three years has been agent at Milmine, has been transferred to the agency at Ivesdale, which carries with it a substantial increase in salary.

Bro. Wolf, who has been agent at Lovington for the past year, has resigned, and left the service of the road. He intends to take a course at Bloomington, Ill., business college, and enter some professional calling other than railroading.

The latest official "dope" out, is that, commencing September 1st, what is now known as "Green's train," otherwise Bement, Effingham passenger run, will not run to Effingham, but will make Altamont its southern terminal. This move is made on account of the unprofitable mileage (seven miles), Shumway Junction to Effingham—then, again, this piece of road is sadly in need of extensive repairs. We understand it has been leased to a party at Effingham who intends to operate it with some kind of a light motor car.

Bro. Brakelane, of Ivesdale, who was relieved by Bro. Sopher, transferred to Homer.

Agent Hays, Pontiac, off for one week visiting friends the latter part of August.

Bro. Lichtenberger, Forrest, has been acting agent at that point for the past few weeks, ending September 7th. Before returning to his old berth as day telegrapher, is, with wife and children, making a few days' visit at dear old "Gorda."

We are in receipt of a letter dated recently from Tacoma, Neb., from R. W. Shepherd, who, up to a few months ago, held down Sidney. He speaks very glowingly of experiences out in the "wild and woolly West." He feels quite satisfied, and says present position as operator pays him $77.50. He expects to remain out in the West this winter, at least.

Bro. Renner, days at "H" office, Decatur, is back after a few days off the latter part of August.

Bro. Rock, who has been agent at Effingham for the past two years, ceased to bear that honored title at that point September 1st, for the reason the Wabash has closed that station, having abandoned what was known as the Shumway-Effingham Line, seven miles in length, because of costly repairs needed and the revenue not justifying the expense; hence Bro. Rock finds himself without title, at least at that point. He left for Saunemin September 10th, where, for thirty days, he will act as relief agent. No doubt he will "fall heir" to something equally as good as his old position.

Bro. Thompson, of Monticello, made a short visit with friends at Gibson Wednesday, August 28th. Ye "night-hawk" filling Bro. Thompson's chair during his absence.

Bro. Dixon, of Philo, off a week the latter part of August. Spent the time visiting home folks and fishing at Lovington. He reports a fine time and a good catch.

Bro. D. G. Jonson, of Southern Pacific Division 53, assigned to Granite City night position, vice Bro. Hecox, transferred.

Mr. E. C. Woodruff, recently with the C. & E. I., at Mitchell, and formerly a Wabash employe, spent a few hours with your correspondent.

Bro. Hecox transferred from Granite City nights, to Edwardsville Junction, same shift. He expects to return to his former position as agent at North Ritchie in the near future.

"13" Bro. Gaston, from Edwardsville Junction, goes to Carpenter nights, to handle consists and do other numerous "chores."

Bro. G. D. Cole holding forth at Nameoki nights, reports a warm reception with the Wabash wires on one side and Big Four on the other. He says it's a busy job, but he can handle the business. He expects to send for his wife soon, as he is permanently located. Bro. Cole hails from the Frisco aggregation.

J. A. Gay, formerly with the Wabash at Taylorville nights, but now with the C. & A., at Bloomington, Ill., spent a few hours with your correspondent, but left without saying he would affiliate with us.

Understand Bro. Darner, who was stationed at Carpenter, has forsaken the Wabash ranks and entered those of the Big Four at the same place.

A Mr. Smith, from the Big Four, filling Blue Mound night position at this writing.

Bro. Renner's fist was heard working wires in "XD," Decatur office, one night the past month. Presume he is back to "H," Decatur office days, again.

New man working "JO," Decatur office, nights. Unable to reveal his identity.

Quite a number of up-to-date brothers are deserting the Wabash ranks, and are accepting better-paying positions with foreign roads.

After our new schedule is granted, we are of the opinion the old Wabash will pay as good salaries as competing lines, and men will remain steady, and cut out the boomer idea.

Bro. J. H. Custer, Raymond, is contemplating a vacation, and will visit his brother, "A. I.," formerly agent at Raymond, who is now a physician and surgeon of Indianapolis. He will also visit other home folks in old Indiana.

We understand New Lenox and Steele stations were minus an agent several days the middle of September, on account of the agent working these two stations being on the "skip," with the sheriff in pursuit. We don't know where he's going, but he's on his way. No particulars available at this writing.

Trainmaster Helm and Traveling Auditor Zoellner acted as relief agents for a few days until a man was checked in.

Mr. Johnson, formerly agent at Brisbane, and late manager of the Western Union pole yard at that point, has returned, and is again filling Brisbane agency.

Agent F. H. Steinbarger, of Oak Lawn, purchased a home a short time ago.

Those working in the suburban district can only appreciate the value of a modern home, as being a tenant is an expensive necessity.

Geo. Braun, of Worth, and a former Wabash telegrapher, recently recovered from a severe attack of malarial fever, and has not decided as to the future.

Bro. Ishmael enjoyed a lengthy vacation the past month, visiting home folks at Pana, Ill., and calling on friends, resuming duty the latter part of September.

Mr. Morrow, an ex-O. R. T. member, and an up-to-date C. T. U. of A. man, and prior to the commercial strike an assistant chief in Chicago office, acted as relief, and left a good impression upon your correspondent.

Bro. Bergan resigned night position at Harvel, departing for Bloomington, Ill., to accept service with the C. & A. Relieved by Mr. Brewer, a "Quad" man.

Bro. Logsdon, of Clarksdale, off a few nights the forepart of September. Telegrapher Tomlinson doing the "graveyard stunt" during our brother's absence.

There are 1,521,355 persons on the pay-roll of the railroads of the United States, so a recent report states.

The railroad vote, united, would mean something at a national election, and by a good union vote we could easily obtain control of the country, if every union man would pledge his support to a union ticket.

Bro. Bandy and his beaming countenance, of Morrisonville, was seen upon the streets of Raymond recently.

The new double track between Knights and Taylorville was opened for traffic recently, relieving our brothers of the work-train graft and numerous additional duties.

At this writing can not say who has been regularly assigned to Blue Mound day position, but a Mr. Legg is at present holding the position, and has been for some time.

He is not entitled to the position, as his seniority will not permit the promotion, and if you have a grievance on this write Bro. Hefner, explaining.

Understand a Bro. Hogan has accepted service with this company, but can not give his location at this writing.

Various changes during the past month, but unable to chronicle all. Drop me a line and I will insert your contribution.

"Oh, Mister Non, don't make a fuss,
For you failed to affiliate with us.
You are out in the cold,
And can expect nothing from our fold.

"If no increase last year came your way,
Write Bro. Hefner to secure a raise in pay.
To get this, Mister Non, just listen to our plea:
Make application, remit, and join the O.R.T."

In conclusion, I request that all perform their duties to the best of their ability, and comply with the instructions issued by the officials pertaining to our work. As to the commercial business, I ask that we assist our sister union morally and financially, and abide by instructions issued by the executive officials of the Order, and by our general and local chairman. "73." Div. Com.

Mobile & Ohio Ry.

I will try and give a few happenings and think this is all that has been sent in from this division in the last eight months. We need individual interest on every part of this division and right now is the time to act. I do not believe there is a telegraph office where there is three or more men employed that does not contain an Order man. If there is a non working with you, keep working on him and do not give up until you make good. There is no excuse he can give you but what you can counter him with proof in favor of our organization.

Bro. H. C. Gilmer, agent and telegrapher at Fruitdale, took a vacation from the 16th to 30th of August, and visited in Missouri and Illinois. Bro. L. C. Collins, day operator at Vinegar Bend, relieved him.

Bro. J. D. Flournoy, agent at Vinegar Bend, is taking a much-needed rest. Bro. Booth, from the Mobile Bay Shore Division, is doing the agent's stunt in his place.

The brothers on this division seem to be doing all they can in the way of contributing to help out the commercial brothers. It is hoped that they will get what is rightfully due them, as it is a known fact that all telegraphers are underpaid. Since we have our new schedule everybody on this division seems to be better satisfied.

According to our schedule every opening is to be bulletined, which is not done. There are several of the best positions being held by new men and the older ones were not even given a show at them. Why not have this done?

Bro. J. P. Godfrey, who has been working in dispatcher's office at Meridian as day telegrapher, has been set up and is now dispatcher working south of Meridian. Glad to see this, as he has done some good work for the road and is one of the oldest men on it.

The new station at Yellow Pine is about ready to be occupied, and Bro. Delbuono is proud of it. He has been in box cars long enough.

Bro. S. J. Billheimer has resigned his position at Chicora, and is now located in California. Do not know who is in his place.

We still have a few nons on this line. Why not everybody do their best and get them into the fold. Of course, one or two of the old heads we never can do anything with, but anyway, keep after them all, especially the new ones.

Now I have written a little this month. Let some other brother write for the next journal. This division should be heard from every month.

Canadian Pacific Railway.

District No. 2, Western Division—

Sunday, September 15th, was a red letter day for the good number who were fortunate enough to be present at our regular meeting, held in the Odd Fellows' Hall, Red Deer. Our worthy Chairman, Bro. W. L. MacDonald, in the chair.

Let us say a few words to those who, through unavoidable causes and a greater number through causes of their own, were not there. Those who are regular attendants know that our meetings are a success in every sense of the word; the greater the attendance the more thorough is our organization. Matters of the most vital importance to each and every one are discussed and as we have all seen in the past and have a fair illustration at this present juncture that, being thoroughly organized, is most important, we should stand pat and be there to a man.

Some of the important matters of this meeting was the support awarded our C. T. U. A. brothers, particularly financially, each member present giving voluntarily sums, and the practice of collecting from outside sources, as mentioned in our Grand Secretary's circular, was recommended.

The schedule fund also was greatly added to at this meeting, particularly due to an effective appeal from the chair.

The question of meetings was decided at this meeting, which is as follows: That the meetings shall be held on the third Sunday of each month. Two consecutive meetings will be held at Red Deer, the third meeting will be in Calgary. The hour of meeting at Red Deer will be 14 o'clock. The Calgary meeting hour is usually arranged by the committee in charge.

Bro. Finkle, of Didsbury, away on six weeks' holiday. We expect to be extending congratulations ere this appears.

Tourist business at Banff abated sufficiently to allow Bro. Gunn to be with us.

Bro. Hughes relieving Crossfield, Bro. Nicolls transferred Innisfail, ex-Bro. Jackson who goes to Lacombe, Bro. Pennock, resigned.

With the resignation of Bro. Pennock comes the news of his appointment to a very lucrative government position. While we are all very sorry to lose Bro. Pennock from the ranks of the "agents," we can not but feel delighted with his success, and also to know that he will always be prepared to present you with an up-to-date card. Another illustration from an old timer of the appreciation of "The Good Old Order."

Banff days, and Cochrane nights, bulletined; at time of writing not filled.

Bro. Whitlock doing relief at Wetaskiwin, Bro. McMannus away on an extended and well-earned vacation.

I would request and deem it a favor if the brothers who have any clippings of interest would kindly send them to your division correspondent. There is scarcely a month that every brother has not had some item that will be of interest in this column. If this is complied with we will always have a few words to the credit of District No. 2 in THE TELEGRAPHER.

Concluding, I would again remind you: Do not forget the date and place of the meetings. The next meeting to be held in Calgary will be the third Sunday in November. Endeavor to get to them all; make application early, and lastly, be there.

Div. Cor.

District No. 3—

First class joint meeting of Districts 2, 3 and 4 held in Brandon, August 29th, attended by about sixty members, and at which the proposed new schedule was thoroughly discussed. All the boys appeared to be in favor of a decided change in the working conditions. Keep your shoulders to the wheel, boys, and it will be just a matter of a short time.

Understand we are losing some of our best brothers to warmer climate, among them Mr. G. S. Hyde, of Virden, who, we understand, is going to the Kooteney country to rejoin his father; also a brother who went from Russell about a month ago; also Bro. McTaggart, from Oak Lake, going to the same parts. Evidently Manitoba winters do not agree with them. Best wishes for their success.

Quite a lot of changes lately, the following places having been bulletined and filled: Russell, by Bro. Miller, from Balcarres; Balcarres, by Bro. Potts, from Solsgirth, relieving dispatcher, Bro. McGeough, from "AD" office; Govan agency, Bro. Blair, from relieving agent. Nokomis and Oak Lake also bulletined, but no official appointment made yet.

Quite a number of the boys are away on well-earned vacations, taking in the opening of the shooting season and other pleasures, among the number being Bro. Sewell, of Strassburg, spending two weeks in Minnedosa. Bro. Davidson, Abernethy, relieved by Bro. Hay, who has just returned from a trip to the coast. Bro. Buchanan, Moosomin, relieved by Bro. Baldwin, Whitewood, and Bro. Scott, Lipton, who, we understand, has gone East to bring back a partner in his joys and sorrows. Bro. Baynham, Elkhorn, has also joined the benedict class. Best of luck.

May think by the few times we have had anything from this district in our magazine we are all dead, but can assure you it is merely sleeping, as we are about 95 per cent strong, but are all kept busy preparing for the big wheat rush in a month or so. CERT. 1188.

N. Y., O. & W. Ry.

Sunday, September 22, Div. 20 held a meeting at Cadosia, N. Y., for the purpose of reading the schedule which went into effect August 1, 1907. There was about thirty-five members present, which included some that had never put in an appearance at any former meeting. About twenty-five of the boys went on an automobile trip to Hancock. All reported a good time.

The ball committee reported that all arrangements had been made for our first annual ball, which will be held at Linden Hall, Middletown, N. Y., on October 23d. About 1,000 tickets have been printed and it is hoped that an effort will be made by all to dispose of them. Let this, our first effort in the entertainment line, be a howling success.

The secretary reported 205 members, which is a fine showing for our line, and with the exception of three or four, all have paid dues for current term. Our treasury is in a healthy condition and is growing fast.

Let each member keep his eye on the nons and use every fair means to get them to come in. There is no one but what is receiving the benefit of the organization, and therefore every one should help to support the institution. Any man who will continue to take the increase in wages secured from time to time, and enjoy the benefits of the last revision giving all twelve-hour men twelve days' vacation each year without loss of pay, besides the overtime, passes, etc., and other privileges that have been granted through the organization's efforts, will steal pennies off a dead man's eyes.

Now, boys, that we have again secured our revision and everything is in smooth running order, don't get into the old rut of lying back and doing nothing and leaving all the work to be done by our general and local chairman. Remember, they are getting no more benefits than are the other members, and that they receive nothing from the Order for all the work they have to do, so let every man see that his dues are paid promptly when due and all take the same interest in the affairs that we do at the time when the committee is in session and we are waiting to hear with what success they have met. At such times we are all very much alive. There is no reason why we should not show the same amount of energy at all times and thereby make it a pleasure for ourselves and officers. How many on reading this will make a firm resolution to do as above outlined?

Bro. Z. H. Winters and wife, of Centreville, have been spending a few days visiting the Jamestown Exposition. Bro. Winters was relieved by a new man; have not been able to learn his name.

On account of high living expenses Bro. Mermin, who recently bid in the position as ticket agent at Wickham Ave., Middletown, has given up that position. We understand he is to return to High Falls, although the notices have not been posted as we write.

By the time this appears in print five of our offices will be working under the eight-hour day system, according to present indications, the offices being Burnside tower, Campbell Hall Station, Main Street tower at Middletown, "AV" office, Middletown, Crawford Junction tower and Summitville Station. It is understood that there will only be two men at "RF" and "AV," each working eight hours and these offices will be closed for the other eight hours. "Madam Rumor" has it that several other offices have received word they are to be made eight-hour tricks as soon as competent men can be secured. Let the good work go on.

Mr. F. A. Day, agent and yardmaster at Cadosia, has resumed work after a leave of absence and Bro. John Fox, who has been at Cadosia, is relieving Bro. Fish at Franklin.

Bro. G. E. Wilson, agent at Mountindale, called on old friends near Handen recently. Bro. Allen kept the "tribes of Israel" straight in his absence.

Bro. Holley, of Summitville, has been taking a ten days' vacation to rest up after the strenuous summer's business. Mr. Francisco, of Middletown, relieved him.

Bro. Barber, days at Main Street tower, Middletown, is taking a few days off, visiting old friends up the line. Mr. Francisco is relieving him.

Don't forget the telegraphers' ball to be held at Middletown, October 23d. Anyone wishing hand bills, tickets or information can have same by addressing Bro. C. E. Downie, at Fallsburgh.

C., R. I. & P. Ry.

Bro. W. F. Kay, 211 North Hickory Street, Joliet, Ill., has been appointed Local Chairman of the Illinois Division, vice Bro. R. W. Teeter, resigned.

Bro. W. L. Woods, Rexford, Kansas, has been appointed Local Chairman of the Colorado Division, vice Bro. Wm. Hansz, resigned.

Bro. A. F. Beranek, Morse, Iowa, has been appointed Local Chairman of the Cedar Rapids Division, vice Bro. S. S. Worley, resigned.

Bro. C. P. Varney, 308 North Choctaw Street, El Reno, Oklahoma, has been elected Representative of the general telegraph offices with jurisdiction over all offices under the Superintendent of Telegraph.

In the latter part of July, a schedule covering the C., R. I. & G. Ry. (Rock Island lines in Texas), was signed up in Ft. Worth, with an increase in salaries amounting to 17 per cent.

During the past nine months we have initiated 401 members and transferred 212 members of other divisions to this division. This is more than double the number initiated and transferred during any previous year. We have yet three months to go.

We have increased our initiation fee to $5.00, the cost of joining this division during the month of October being $7.15.

Notices of dues for the term ending June 30, 1908, will be issued October 30. Pay up early and avoid the rush.

M. E. SCHOOLER, Gen. Sec. & Treas.

Iowa Division—

You fellows who stayed at home should have been at the meeting in Des Moines September 21. Try and come out next time and reap the benefits.

Mr. H. D. Rad, the new agent at Newton, checked in over two older men who wanted the place.

Bro. E. C. Thomas is doing extra work at Altoona, while Bro. Chittendon is enjoying a vacation. Bro. Thomas has been out of the telegraph service for some time.

All those who have not sent in their information blanks will please send to the Local Chairman at once. If there are any new arrivals, please report them promptly, and find out whether up-to-date or otherwise.

Who said the two-cent fare wasn't a winner? Every old guy and all young guys ride now just to get to ride for two cents per mile. Traveling auditor reports big increases in ticket sales all along the line.

Everybody rides but father,

He has to work every day;

Twelve hours or more is the limit,

With or without any "hay."

Farmer takes a trip, ditto hired man,

Everybody rides nowadays but my old man.

He doesn't have any Sunday,
Holidays are under the ban;
Tickets set him crazy,
Still he does the best he can.

Merchants take a trip, ditto Preacherman,
Everybody buys tickets from my old man.

Save your money for rainy days; they are sure to come to one and all sooner or later.

Bro. O. J. Knapp, night telegrapher at Marengo, was called to Bertram, Iowa, Sept. 5, by the serious illness of his father, who, we learn, died Sept. 13.

The members of Iowa Division extend their sincere sympathy to Bro. Knapp in this bereavement.

Bro. W. R. Neal, a member of the C. T. U. of A., from St. Louis, relieved Bro. Knapp at Marengo.

Bro. C. D. Hibbs, of Iowa City, Burlington Street Station, and Bro. E. A. Studer, extra telegrapher, Iowa City nights, expect to leave Sept 19th for Portland, Ore., and other Coast points on a sixty-days' outing. They will undoubtedly have a fine time.

Bro. C. W. Plumly, agent at Marengo, Iowa, accompanied his wife to Kansas City Sept. 7, returning next day, Mrs. Plumly going on to Greenfield, Mo., for a month's vacation.

Bro. M. B. Quire is back at his old stand, Grinnell nights, after a sixty-days' vacation in Montana and Idaho. "QN" reports a fine time.

Bro. W. F. Cooper, formerly day telegrapher at West Liberty, is relieving Bro. R. T. Ray, day telegrapher at Oxford, who expects to be absent about thirty days on a pleasure trip.

Bro. V. B. Davis is holding down the day telegrapher's position at West Liberty until regular man is appointed.

Bro. R. N. Whitley, day telegrapher at Iowa City, returned to work Sept. 16th. Bob has been laid up with rheumatism for the past six weeks and returns to work feeling much better. He visited in Minneapolis and St. Paul, and also visited his father in Nebraska while he was absent.

Bro. Christ, of Green River, Ill., passed over the East Iowa Division August 25th, going to Des Moines to attend the State Fair.

Bro. W. P. Masters, night telegrapher at Iowa City, resumed work Sept. 18th, after a pleasant vacation and business trip of sixty days in Colorado.

Bro. R. O. Clark, day telegrapher at Anita, passed over the East Iowa Division, returning from a pleasure trip to Kansas City. He stopped at Newton for a few days' visit with his mother.

CERT. 290.

Des Moines Valley Division—

News very scarce or exceedingly hard to get hold of.

Nothing doing from my assistants on Washington line or K. D. What's the matter?

Had another good meeting at Sibley Saturday, Sept. 7, and am glad that so many of the boys turned out. They were glad to get away from their duties long enough to get acquainted with their neighbors.

CERT. 695.

Seventh and Eighth Districts, Missouri Division—

On account of your correspondent being away on a little vacation, no write-up appeared in last month's journal.

A great many changes have taken place during the last sixty days, and as I have received no items from the Seventh District, and have not been able to get the many changes in night men on the Eighth District, this write-up will not be complete.

The agency at Cotter, Iowa, is vacant. Did not learn where Bro. Carson was going, but presume he has made application for one of the many other positions that have been bulletined.

The agency at County Line is also vacant, and I can not say as to where Bro. Argo is going.

The following positions were bulletined for night telegraphers, many of them being new positions opened up on account of the block system being put into effect. Laddsdale, Floris, Paris, Numa, Allerton, Mercer, Alvord, Spickards, Tindall, Hickory Creek, Jamesport, Blake, Gallatin, Highland, Weatherby, Maysville, Pierce Junction.

The following positions were bulletined for both day and night telegraphers: Sharon and Platte River.

Bro. H. M. Bowers resigned the agency at Edgerton to accept a position with the Burlington in Nebraska. After being in Nebraska for a short time, Bro. Bowers decided that Missouri and the Rock Island were good enough for him, so he returned.

Bro. J. B. Plum, Winston, was off for a few weeks, visiting in Oklahoma, Bro. Bowers relieving.

Bro. J. T. Hanley was given the agency at Edgerton on bulletin.

Mr. S. T. Brown was appointed agent at Perlee, vice Mr. W. S. Fox, resigned. Can not say whether Mr. Brown is up-to-date or not.

Mr. C. F. Deem is working the day trick at Highland.

Mr. E. R. Benner, working nights at Cameron Junction. These men are both nons and should be looked after.

Mrs. M. S. Ingalls, a member of the C. T. U. A. is working at Trenton office. We are glad to welcome her among us.

E. M. Oliver, days, and B. E. Critchman, nights at Blake.

Bro. Irvin, regular night man at Jamesport, is working Jamesport days, and Mr. J. H. Hendricks, I understand, a Postal man, from St. Louis, is working nights.

Mr. J. C. Morrow is working nights at Maysville, and promises to come in on pay-day.

Mr. L. A. Swain relieved your correspondent while he was in Colorado. Mr. Swain has lately been doing clerical work for the Cudahy Packing Co. Upon being relieved at Edgerton Junction, he went to Numa for a few weeks, he having been appointed regular relief agent, at a salary of $75.00 per month. Mr. Swain promises that he will be one of us soon.

Mr. Clyde L. Foster is working nights at St. Joseph yard office. Mr. Foster will also soon be counted as an up-to-date member.

Bros. H. A. Johnson and K. K. Kenderdine, both of the St. Joseph yard office, were taken in to Trenton office.

Bro. C. C. Griswold, from Winthrop, was sent to St. Joseph yard office to work days.

Following are notes that were sent to me by your Local Chairman, Bro. Stewart, and they were too late for last month's issue:

Allerton, Mr. Mitchell acting as night telegrapher.

Mr. Smith is doing owl act at Mercer. Can not say whether they are brothers or not.

Mr. West nights at Tindall.

Bro. Hughson is back at Spickards nights.

Bro. White bid in the agency at Udell, Bro. Shilling taking the agency at Fruitland.

Fruitland has recently been made a night office and is being filled by Mr. B. H. Carson, son of Bro. Carson, of Cotter.

Bro. Fox, of Perlee, resigned, and was relieved by Bro. Brown, of Princeton, who, in turn, was relieved by Bro. Wilson, of El Reno.

Bro. H. O. Sawyer has returned from an extended trip through Colorado. He was relieved by Bro. Haines, regular day man at that place.

Mr. A. H. Masters, night telegrapher at Harvard, has left for Altoona, Kansas.

Now, once again, I wish to say that those of you that like to look over this little space each month must send me some items or you will not have the privilege. It is hard enough to get the news from the Eighth District, let alone try to get it from places where you have no wires.

Brothers, there is a hard fight on now with the telegraph companies and the commercial men, and they certainly need our financial assistance. The winning or losing of this strike means a great deal to the telegrapher, whether he be a commercial telegrapher or a railroad telegrapher, and it is your duty to lend them any assistance that is within your power. I firmly believe that if they can hold out for a while longer that they will win, but they have got to have financial assistance in order to hold out. Don't think that the rest of the telegraphers all over the country are remitting and that there will be plenty without yours, but send in your remittance at once, and see that it is a good-sized one, too. CORRESPONDENT.

Nebraska Division—

We had a very interesting meeting at Belleville on the night of September 21, with fourteen members present. Bro. Schooler, our General Secretary and Treasurer, was with us, and gave us a very interesting talk. Among other things he explained a number of the remarks made by former General Chairman Gerhart, in his little book, entitled, "A Few Observations," which he had the kindness to mail to all of us. Some of the boys were asked what they thought of it, and they replied that they could not make any head nor tail to it, and could not see what he was driving at; and I guess that was the way with most of us. Any man that will publish a book like that is not worthy of any consideration at all, and anything that he publishes should be thrown into the waste-basket without being read. I think those who heard Bro. Schooler's talk fully understand the matter, and those who did not, can get a very good insight into it by reading over the proceedings of the General Committee when they were in Chicago last fall.

There has been a number of changes on the division during the past month, and I will try and give you the most of them.

Bro. C. H. Fuller, working relief at Ellis while J. J. Alford, the regular agent, spends his time and money in Colorado Springs. Do not know who took Fuller's place at Sabetha.

Bro. Carl Temple bid in the night job at Belleville. Can't say who is nights at Phillipsburg.

Some one tells me that Mr. P. T. Whittemore, former agent at Mahaska, is out in Dakota on his farm. A Mr. Carlisle is relieving him.

Bro. McKenzie, Munden, is relieving regular agent at Hebron, and Bro. Wells is holding down the Munden job. The boys traded jobs on account of Bob's home being at Hebron, and Wells' at Munden. So they are both working and having a vacation at the same time.

Applications for membership from Mrs. E. C. Barnes, Richfield; N. W. Huble, Kensington, and E. G. Wolford, Gladstone.

Mr. Wolford is relieving Bro. Graden, who is laying off for a short time.

Understand there is to be a cable at Jansen, with a thirty-strap board. I guess that Local Chairman is getting popular.

The east end lineman has resigned, "13" to go into the train service as soon as he can be relieved.

There is only one non working regular on the east end now, and that is C. E. Beymer, at Jansen, vice Bro. Coffman, who was given Athol on bulletin.

There are three or four nons west of Fairbury working regular, so let's see if we can't get them to come in and make the main line as near solid as possible.

F. W. Yoacum, days at Smith Center, sent in his papers the 21st.

Bro. Evans has been promoted to the position of wire chief at Trenton, Mo. Glad to see him get the promotion, but very sorry to see him go.

Bro. Sleeper, days at Mankato, is taking his vacation. Can't say where he went. Bro. Henry is relieving him, and some new man working nights. J. A. M.

Kansas Division—

Everything is looking up on the Kansas Division. The few nons here have either promised to join October pay-day, or are already making out blanks. It is up to us, boys, to see that they keep their promises to line up sure October pay-day. Word comes to us that the Illinois Division is solid and the Iowa, Des Moines Valley, Missouri, Nebraska, and, in fact, nearly all of them are nearly so.

Our last meeting in Topeka, Saturday evening, September 21, was well attended. Bro. Brown, our General Chairman, was attending a meeting at Des Moines, and Bro. Schooler, Secretary and Treasurer, was at the Belleville meeting. They promise to be with us at one of our meetings in the near future.

Bro. Brown is kept busy going from one division to another, and he leaves evidence of his good work wherever he goes. It's no "moonlight picnic," either, getting up all hours of the night, eating hurry-up lunches and getting to bed, perhaps not at all.

Bro. Lloyd Selfridge and Miss Winnie Murray were united in marriage by Rev. C. H. Wareham on Thursday evening, August 1, at the home of the bride in Wichita. After the wedding they left for a tour through the West, going as far as Ogden, stopping off at Salt Lake City, and returning, they went East for a visit with relatives in Kentucky and Indiana. Bro. Murray is agent at Aulne. We all unite in wishing the happy couple a long and happy married life.

We understand that Bro. Nottorf, of Lost Springs, has just returned to work, having been away for some time on account of the death of his mother. Bro. Nottorf has the sympathy of all in his bereavement.

Bro. Wm. Luke, regular day man at Bishop, took extra work at his old-time home, McFarland, and later decided to stay there rather than go back to the box car at Bishop.

Bro. S. E. Miller, the Bishop owl, resigned some time ago, on account of being unable to get a leave of absence.

Bro. I. M. Rathburn, from the El Paso Division, the lower end, at that, filled the day position at Bishop until the regular assignment could be made. Rathburn says they don't treat a fellow right on the El Paso; sent him to Polomas before the office was fitted out, thermometer about 30, no stove, no clock (he soaked his watch), and not even a chair, and no place to eat.

Bro. J. R. Whitlow, from nights at Volland to Bishop days, regular.

Mr. R. Badski, from the Western Union to Bishop nights, has left for parts unknown, and the position is being filled by Mr. C. D. Overbay until regular assignment can be made. He promises to fill 'em out as soon as he has served his year.

Bro. J. A. Hawkins, from the Santa Fe, appointed regular nights at Valencia.

Bro. J. C. Weygandt has left the service at Willard, and the vacancy is being filled by a Mr. Baker.

Bro. M. J. Coughlin, from extra at Latimer, to Paxico nights regular.

Bro. Rathburn has just been appointed to Volland nights on bulletin.

Sister Dora Breckenridge, lately from the El Paso Division, from extra Valencia and Alma nights, to Latimer nights regular.

Bro. C. W. Smith is back at his old stamping grounds at Volland, after a six weeks' vacation. J. J. Peason, regular nights at Holton, relieved him.

Bro. C. H. Weidner, who has been doing extra dispatching at Topeka for a few months, is relieving the dispatchers at McFarland while they are taking their vacations.

Bro. J. A. Ouderkerk is again at his old post, McFarland days.

Bro. R. W. Dunahugh, of Hoyt, is taking a few days off, Bro. J. W. Hart, of Elmont, relieving.

Elmont, Straight Creek, Agenda and Zyba have been made non-telegraphic stations. Bro. Hart is still at Elmont, but we understand he contemplates going to the Iowa Division. Bro. Green, of Straight Creek, has applied for Morganville. Bro. Stone, of Agenda, has gone to the El Paso Division and is now agent at Mullinville. We understand that Mr. Larse, at Zyba, remains there.

Bro. O. E. Bonecutter, of Corbin, has been assigned to Maple Hill, relieving Bro. Stoyell, who is now in the train service on the Union Pacific.

Bro. L. D. Potter, of Dwight, relieved Bro. Bonecutter, at Corbin, who in turn was relieved by Bro. Stewart.

Bro. Connor, of Paxico, has been transferred to the agency at White City. He was relieved by Bro. T. H. Woolsey.

Bro. A. M. Tucker, of Clifton, has been transferred to Manhattan.

Bro. Keplinger, of Peck, relieved Bro. Tucker, at Clifton. Have not heard who relieved Bro. Keplinger at Peck.

Bro. C. N. Harned, a new arrival from the Mo. Pac., has been assigned to Clyde. Have not heard what became of Bro. Wheat.

Brothers, when you bid on a position that is vacant, don't fail to send a copy of your letter to Bro. Brown, at Whiting, so in case that your seniority rights entitle you to the position, and you are not assigned to it, you can find out why. Also notify Bro. Schooler when you change your post-office address.

We would like to see the brothers on the Clay Center line at the meetings in Belleville on the third Saturday evening of each month. The brothers on the Nebraska Division have a nice hall there, and you will always find a jolly bunch from the Nebraska Division.

Have you mailed your information blank to Bro. Brown? If not, get busy.

We could make this more interesting with a few notes from the South End and Clay Center line each month. Can't you help out on this, boys?
CERT. 1,898.

St. Louis Division—

Bro. M. H. Shelton, agent at Eugene, is off for a few weeks' vacation, relieved by Bro. E. Smith. Bro. E. F. Fidinghagen relieved Mr. Neff at Henley one day and went back to Bland.

Bro. M. H. Shelton is back at work at Eugene. Reports a fine time hunting and fishing while away.

Mr. Neff, of Henley, has left the service and gone to Illinois. Relieved by Bro. Emmett Smith.

W. Morton, agent at Windsor, was off three days last week on account of the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. P. M. O'Riley, at Maryville, Mo.

Just received a letter from Bro. C. B. Smith, now located at Sherlock, Washington, on Northern Pacific. Says he is doing fine. Is now telegrapher, ticket and express agent at Sherlock, enjoying the best of health, and advises that Bro. W. E. Hinton is expecting to make this country a visit in the near future. We are glad to hear the boys are doing well.

Two new night offices, or, rather, two reopened, which have been closed for a long time.

Slaughter holds the owl trick at Leale and Burlingame, the one at Argyle.

If the write-up is slim, sail in and send items. Received items from but one brother this time.

CERT. 480.

Illinois Division—

Items that would be of interest to the brothers are scarce and hard to get hold of. I have been able to glean the following from the boys along the line:

Bro. Biggs, who has been holding Atkinson nights, has been transferred to Rock Island ticket office nights as ticket clerk.

Bro. Eckerty, a new man on the division, relieves Bro. Biggs at Atkinson nights. Bro. Eckerty is a member of Division No. 59.

Bro. Carmichael, days at Sheffield, has just returned to work after taking a two weeks' vacation. Bro. Hamilt, nights at Sheffield, held the day trick while Bro. Carmichael was away, being relieved by Bro. Girl.

Bro. Girl is now working nights at Missouri Division Junction, just west of Davenport.

Bro. Marshall is now working nights at Mokena.

The new automatic block signals have been put into effect as far west as Bureau. This closes the night telegraph offices at Peru and Utica.

Mr. Murphy, our third trick dispatcher, has returned from his vacation, being relieved by Bro. Thayer.

Bro. Condit, agent at Tiskilwa, is taking a much-needed rest. He is going to take his family to the mountains for a few days. Hope they have a very pleasant trip. Have not been able to learn who is relieving him.

Bro. Voss, nights at Annawan, has returned to work after a month's vacation spent at his home at Geneseo.

Bro. Phillips has been working nights at Spring Valley for the past three weeks, relieving regular man. Failed to learn regular man's name, but think he carries the regulation pasteboard.

Bro. Allen, nights at Bureau, has been off for a few days on account of sickness. Relieved by Bro. Andrews.

We are glad to be able to prefix the name of Bro. to the efficient clerk, B. C. Phillips, who is clerk at Bureau, and is an old-time telegrapher. He now carries an up-to-date card.

We are all sorry to lose our hard-working Local Chairman, Bro. Teeter, as he certainly was a hustler, but Bro. Kay will be there just the same.

and he has the reputation of being a glutton for hard work, so we may expect to hear of something doing soon, as I "13" he is going after the very few nuns that we have on this division, and think he will land them.

Bro. Wagner, nights at Joliet, has just returned from a month's vacation, having been relieved by Mr. Hicks.

W. J. Herrold, agent at Blue Island, is now in possession of an up-to-date card.

Nothing doing much on this division in the way of news, but we are all waiting for the eight-hour day to come, as we think we may then be able to get some pleasure out of life.

I will now cut out for this time.

CERT. 1,314.

W. & B. Branch—

Not very much news from this neck of the woods. I am sorry to say the boys over here are rather slow in sending news for the journal, so they should not be offended if some of the happenings fail to appear. I report everything that comes under my observation, and anything that may be overlooked is caused from my not being in possession of the facts. I sincerely ask the assistance of every member.

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to quote the following:

"Mr. W. R. Worford, agent at Auvergne, has been given 20 merit marks for spirit shown during cyclone at his station. The storm completely demolished the depot, and Mr. Worford, after considerable hard work, recovered all the station records and stationery, and succeeded in protecting all his on hand freight from damage by the elements. Such action as this is always appreciated and can not be too highly commended."

The above was printed in the last Discipline Bulletin, issued by the Rock Island. I am glad to say that the Mr. Worford in question is Brother Worford.

Bro. Worford is the youngest man in service on this part of the Rock Island, but I feel that I am not saying too much for him when I say that he has placed an example before us that will be well for us to heed, both for our personal benefit and the benefit of our Order.

Bro. Kimbrough, of Weldon, has been on the sick list, but am glad to report that he is on the road to recovery.

At Grays we find Bro. W. H. Strickland, who is relieving his brother, H. L. Strickland, regular agent. I do not know what Bro. "Fayette" is doing, but suppose he is being kept busy keeping up with the duties of postmaster, mayor, constable, merchant, alderman, etc.

ASST. L. C.

E. P. Division—

Bro. Penland, of Logan, was sent to Guymon, to work a few days until a telegrapher could be found to fill the place.

Bro. Jno. Young, who resigned at Stratford, and who was figuring on going back East, went to work at Guymon until the commercial strike is over.

Bro. Argo, formerly agent at Medora, has gone to Optima, Okla., and opened up that office for a short time, during the melon rush; also looking after his claim, near that point.

New office opened up at Goodwell during the melon rush. Bro. M. E. Holliday is holding forth.

I understand that our chief, E. P. Ryan, at Dalhart, is taking a vacation, and has taken unto himself a better half. Here's best wishes and congratulations.

Mr. Hollman is working third trick, while Night Chief Rice is filling the regular chief's chair, and Chy Young is on the night trick.

Mr. Carrick is now working nights at Guymon. Sorry to hear that he is not up-to-date. Mr. Carrick is a new man in this country, having come here from the East and from a non-scheduled road, but at the same time he should line up. Possibly this is one reason for the road not having a good schedule on account of having so many men working on it who do not carry up-to-date cards. There is only one way to do it. All get up-to-date and then get the schedule.

Bro. Arnett, who has worked at Guymon for some time past, has resigned and gone to St. Paul, to accept a better position. Good luck to him.

"13" that Bro. Gwinn, at Hooker, is still trying to get relief. He has been trying since last October. The good things come to those who wait, so I hope that the brother will soon be able to get away.

Bro. P. G. Vernon, formerly nights at Hooker, was transferred to Stratford, taking the third of the eight-hour tricks. He has been away on a visit to his home in Rock Island, and on his return found that he was to take the second trick, Bro. Davidson taking the first and Mr. Hunley working the third. The boys say that these eight-hour tricks are "fine biz." Those who are not so lucky are waiting patiently until the national law becomes effective; then we will be able to participate in the good things.

The new schedule, which went into effect July 1st, along with the eight-hour law in Texas, is very much appreciated by the boys along the "G."

Bro. J. O. White, at Hutchinson, is working nights, while Bro. Kelly is visiting in Iowa with Bro. A. R. Lee. Bro. Lee is one of the C. T. U. A. boys.

Understand there is a new man at Preston on account of former agent, Woolsey, leaving the service.

Mrs. Jett, day telegrapher at Pratt, is on the sick list, and is relieved by Mrs. M. Lusk. Neither of these ladies are up-to-date, I am sorry to say.

Bro. A. R. Davis, at Mullinville, has been trying to get relieved for some time, having resigned some three months ago.

Bros. Williamson and Farrell, now at Bucklin, will, no doubt, be moved to Pratt September 1st, with the balance of the force, when the change takes place.

Bro. McLain has been appointed agent at Naravisa, relieving Bro. Jagers, resigned.

Bro. Jagers has resigned at Naravisa and is now working for the E. P. & S. W. at Duran, N. M.

Bro. O. J. Dettle, at Goveland. Understand he has the pump to handle.

There are a great many changes taking place on the E. P. Division, and it is hard work to keep track of all of them. A few lines from the boys now and then will assist in getting some news for the journal and keeping their L. C. posted on the changes.

I am in receipt of several of the books just out, called "A Few Observations," issued by our past General Chairman, which have been sent me by some of the boys along the line, who fail to find out what they are issued for on account of the poor argument and failure to come to the point on any subject whatever. His main object in issuing this little booklet is very plain, and his only wish is to cast reflections and cause all the trouble he can among the members of Division 126, as well as any other division or members, if he can. I think that the majority of the boys will look at this issue in the same light as those who have sent their books to me with the remarks of "Where's the point?" "Isn't it slim?" and so on. As for myself, it is very amusing to look it over, as I can read between the lines and see where the writer has left out some of the most important parts, of which there was no credit coming his way.

New York Division, No. 44.

At the last regular meeting all the officers were present.

Order of business about as follows:

Reading petitions for membership. Twenty-one applications accepted. Eight candidates initiated, and sixteen instructed in the work.

Reading of bills. Ordered paid.

A substantial sum voted to Division No. 16, C. T. U. of A. to aid striking brothers; also, a sum voted to the Banquet Committee in Poughkeepsie who have charge of the banquet to be given by the O. R. T. telegraphers of New York State in honor of Assemblyman Northrop (our eight-hour champion).

Over seventy members attended, and every man took part in the work.

Bro. Fuller was present, as usual, but reported sick.

R. H. Baldwin has at last been installed as agent at Port Jefferson. Bro. Scofield is acting as assistant for the present, and Mrs. Hawkins is the ticket agent and telegrapher.

J. E. Albright has accepted the agency at Cold Spring.

Our old friend, Bro. Pete Loftus, has returned to the Island after a short stay up State, and has taken Bro. Robinson's place as agent at Bridgehampton. Bro. Robinson has gone into the lumber business in that town.

P. J. Voss, agent at Massapequa, has been off duty sick for several weeks. His place is filled by D. Cloutier.

Bro. M. E. Southard has resigned as agent at Rosedale. Stanley Brower took the job.

Bro. J. N. Brennan, of Smithtown, is off sick. At this writing we have no information as to his condition. W. W. Albright is relieving him.

T. J. O'Connor has resigned the agency at Bushwick Junction. E. S. Havens took the place.

Bro. J. J. Fitzgerald, who has been off duty on account of sickness, has returned very much improved in health. C. C. Cary relieved him during his absence.

Bro. Gibona, of Hempstead Cross switches, has left the service of the company. He has accepted a position in Pennsylvania.

Our S. & T., Bro. Hellar, has gone to his old home in Pennsylvania to spend his vacation, Mrs. Hellar accompanying him. Bro. E. J. Morrill, of the C. T. U. of A., is working in Bro. Hellar's place during his absence. It's a long time since Bro. Morrill did any railroad work, but he knows how.

Bro. Jack Martin, of East New York ticket office, is spending a two weeks' vacation hunting, fishing, boating, etc., down in Maine. Our worthy chief, Bro. Van Nostrand, is working in his place.

The work of the general committee is about completed for this year, and their report is now in the hands of the printer, and will be mailed to the members as soon as received.

New York Central Division, No. 8 (members on the Electric Division of the New York Central System), will hold a grand reunion and ball on Monday night, November 11, 1907, at Murray Hill Lyceum, 34th street and Third avenue, New York. All members of Division No. 44 and their friends are invited to attend. The Electric Division boys on the New York Central are a good lot of fellows, and all who attend will be sure of having a good time. The tickets are 50 cents, and may be procured from our secretary and treasurer, Bro. A. F. Hellar.

"SCRIBE."

Ayer Division, No. 104.

Very little news to record this month. Western Union business on the bum in this section; what little there is being received by mail, and from two to three days late.

Bros. Mullen and Willard attended the C. T. U. of A. mass meeting in Boston, August 25th, and report a very enjoyable and well-attended meeting. Bro. Mullen made a very interesting speech.

Ayer Division, No. 104, by a referendum, has voted to assess each member $1 per week for the assistance of our commercial brothers.

Mr. F. M. Defoe, of East Harrisville, has bid in East Littleton.

C. E. McCall relieved Bro. Riley at "BC," Worcester, for a week.

Mr. Charlton has been working for a few days at Pepperell. Both are members in good standing of the C. T. U. of A.

It's now Bro. W. E. Baker, of Fitchburg, and Bro. H. R. Willard, of Leominster.

Bro. Foley has returned to Nashua, his home, awaiting the outcome of the C. T. U. of A. strike.

Let the "cart-wheels" roll toward the secretary's office every week, boys. The money will be properly used.

Carr. 4.

North Adams Division, No. 139.

Meeting of September 14th called on time, and was well attended. But can still say there seems to be some vacant chairs, and would like to see them filled every meeting. Don't understand why some of the day men can not attend these meetings. Some of the brothers seem to understand what "brotherhood" means, and are giving the C. T. U. A. a helping hand. That is the proper thing to do. Any member should gladly contribute what he can, as there may be a time when we will need help.

By the time this write-up is in print I presume the boys will have eight hours per day in York State. That is good, and I hope to see every station get it without delay. Do your best to show that you appreciate it when it does come, and don't abuse it, as good things are far apart, you know.

Bro. Aiken is to return to the old pike once more.

What's become of Spean? He is missing the meetings quite often of late.

Mr. Vandenburg, who worked side wire at McVile for some weeks, is now at East Portal, and claims he likes the position very well.

Bro. Moak, formerly of "FX," Siberia, has accepted the position as side wire second trick at McVile. Good luck. Cor.

Elmira Division, No. 100.

Fifteen members showed up at our meeting, September 20th. Bro. W. A. Carr, of Penn Yan, reported sick, so we had to excuse him.

Bro. Quick also too sick to attend, and Bro. Davies missed the meeting on account of the illness of his wife.

Bro. Johnson, of "K" tower, took two weeks off; relieved by Bro. Bennett, of Canton.

Understand Mr. Bristol, of Bellona, is having his troubles trying to handle commercial business. After a struggle, lasting an hour or more, he had to use the phone to get clear. This is the man who has a card posted in his office declaring his office to be an open shop, and holding forth the opinion that every man should be free to work without dictation from any labor organization. We all appreciate his fine sentiments.

Sister Kinney informs us that her father will be with us shortly, and she will then attend our meetings. Both will be warmly welcomed.

Applications are coming steadily, and the younger men are only waiting on time to come across.

Mr. Ray Cupp, of Trout Run, held down "K" tower during Mr. C. B. Johnson's absence.

Mr. C. C. Lee was handed his pay not long ago, and has left for parts unknown.

Bro. Maynard, who worked at Stanley nights, a few months ago, and who left the road, is back again, and working nights at Horsehead. We are pleased to see such men come back.

Bro. Kyte, nights at Ennerdale, leaves October 1st. Understand he will go to Frisco for the winter.

Brothers will do well to talk of the work of the Order only to O. R. T. men in good standing. It is rumored that the work is known to the railroad officials as soon as to the members. Surely it is not to our good to have them know all of our business. It is hardly to be believed that the leak is intentional, but care should be exercised in such things.

Cogan Valley ham factory still doing business. Bill Evans has taught all his brothers who are old enough, and while waiting for one to attain the proper age, he is instructing a trackman during spare hours. And still Bill Marquardt can't see the bright side.

Bro. Miller, of Trout Run, enjoyed a four days' vacation last month, taking a speedy trip to Atlantic City.

Bro. Holloran was called away for a few days last month to attend the funeral of a cousin. He was relieved by Bros. White and Vickery and Mr. Patterson.

Mr. Ryan had his vacation last month, being relieved by Mr. Decker and others.

Why can't he see the light, and get the prefix "brother" in front of his name in our book?

Bro. Skelly may run into meetings, now that the baseball season is about closed.

Understand Mr. Lundy, of Roaring Branch, is to leave us soon.

Mr. Ryan, at "A," also expects to go.

Bro. J. R. Brewer is counted a lucky man. "13" he leaves "PC" soon.

Bro. Pettingill, late of Troy, goes to "QC" October 1st. Glad to see a good man come to the front.

Understand Bro. Baker, of Troy nights, has accepted an agency with the New York Central, near Buffalo. While we are sorry to lose him, we wish him good luck.

Bro. Owens, of Cross Roads, left us last month, going to the Erie. Understand he took Mr. Malone, who, we "13," is now Bro. Malone, with him. Bro. Owens is at "RA," Elmira station, and Bro. Malone is at "VO" tower, Eldridge Lake. These changes let Bro. Blake go home to Cross Roads.

Bro. Bambury took his vacation last month, but did not learn destination.

Bro. Hayes still doing twelve-hour stunt, but before this appears he will be awarded eight hours there.

Bro. Hopeman, of the shops, took a vacation last month.

Seems the Elmira Division boys all go away at the same time. Bro. Collins starts on his about the 15th.

Relief annulled until further notice on account poor passenger train service. Leaves Bros. White, Hammond and Dunning "23" to some steady job, or to buck the list.

Four eight-hour jobs in reach of Elmira October 1st will help some.

Bro. Dunning resumed work on Labor Day, after a two weeks' sojourn at the Jamestown Exposition, Atlantic City and Philadelphia. He reports a fine time. Div. Cor.

Boston Division, No. 41.

The meeting, September 14th, left nothing to be desired, either in point of numbers or enthusiasm; in fact, it was the banner meeting since Division 41 broke away from Division 89, and started in business for itself, and the scribe has nothing but praise this month. The meeting was called to order at 8:30 by Bro. Chase, there being seventy-five members present, Bro. Lehan acting as warden, Roberts as second vice-chief, and Bro. Childs as inside sentinel. As it was to be a joint meeting, there were about 150 members of Local No. 4, C. T. U. of A., waiting to join us as soon as our business meeting was over. On this account the regular order of business was suspended, that we might not keep them waiting too long. Five applications were received and acted upon. They are coming in every meeting. At this time Bro. Pierson entered the council chamber, followed by Bro. Cunningham, of Andover. They received an ovation. After a little more routine business, the question of aid for the C. T. U. of A. was brought up, and every member got busy at once. A number of the members took part in the discussion as to the best way of helping them, and, after a few remarks by Bro. Pierson, it was voted to give the local division $150 from our treasury at once, and to take a referendum vote as to whether the members would assess themselves $1 per week during the continuance of the strike, and the secretary was instructed to send out notices. A rising vote was taken as to the spirit of those present in this regard, and every member responded. No doubt the vote will be in favor of this assessment when returns are in by September 25th.

After this the meeting adjourned, and the C. T. U. of A. boys and girls were admitted, and it was a goodly gathering to look upon. Bro. Chase presided, and on the stage were Bros. Pierson, Bode and Tuck, of Division 41; Mannion, of New Haven, and Messrs. McGarty, Haggerty and Shannon, of the C. T. U. of A. Local, No. 4. The boys and girls had their pictures "took," after which Bro. Chase opened the meeting, and was followed, in turn, by President McGarty, of the local council. A few remarks were then made by Bros. Bode, Mannion and Shannon. Bro. Pierson was the last speaker, who made one of his characteristic speeches, full of common sense and good advice, and held the closest attention of the brothers and sisters of the commercial union, many of whom had never had the pleasure of listening to him before. The joint meeting then closed with cheers. It was a grand success all round.

So much has been written about the commercial brothers' strike that it is unnecessary to say much in this letter, but, brothers, it is a common cause. Their fight is our fight, and although we have a schedule with our company that we should live up to, still we can aid them materially in a financial way, and we should do this willingly, and to the best of our ability. The telegraph companies will spend millions in order to win this fight. They will go to any extreme to beat the laborer, and we, as fellow-craftsmen, should dig down deep to help our brothers and sisters out, and by the looks of things September 14th Division 41 will do her share.

Among the changes since the last letter, are Horseman, at North Cambridge Junction, vice C. J. McDonough, who goes to Massabesic; N. H. Kennedy, of North Cambridge nights, to Concord, Mass.; his place being filled temporarily by Abbot, spare man; Davis, of Waltham nights, goes to Stoneham, Mass. JAV.

I. & G. N. Railway.San Antonio Division—

I had hoped to procure items from the whole system, and give a complete write-up for one time, but, so far, only one brother has sent in anything, so will have to do the best I can under the circumstances.

Bro. R. D. Barnes, formerly at Buffalo, is relieving Bro. W. Garland at Lytle, Bro. Garland being called to Nashville, Tenn., to attend court. Understand Bro. Barnes remains at Lytle regular, and that Bro. Garland gets something better. Bro. A. J. Gidley relieved Bro. Barnes at Buffalo. Am unable to state whether he remains at Buffalo, but trust such is the case, if he desires to do so.

Bro. R. B. Adams, our efficient secretary and treasurer, is still at Jewett, and I suppose will get Jewett regular, as no older man seems to want it. Bro. H. P. Williams is now nights at Jewett.

Night office has been opened at Oakwoods, and Mr. McLean has been sent there as telegrapher. Understand Mc is coming in next pay-day.

Bro. L. H. Hungate is still holding down Marquez, and is always loaded for nons. Bro. Joyce has taken third trick at Valley Junction.

Bro. J. E. Hyland, at McNeil, is laying off; being relieved by Mr. J. M. Sargent from Round Rock nights.

Bro. Mims has accepted New Braunfels ticket agency, relieving Mr. W. H. Leek, who was promoted to traveling passenger agent. Bro. T. H. Barnes, formerly at Jewett, relieved Bro. Mims at Round Rock.

Bro. W. T. McLean, formerly at Colorado Bridge office days, is now working in "MS," San Antonio.

Bro. L. J. Rummel, the "old reliable," is now holding down second trick at Buda.

Bro. Wm. H. Wright, formerly with the Rock Island, is holding down third trick there. Bro. Wright has been transferred to Division 25. Glad to have him with us.

Bro. E. B. Luder is now working days at San Marcos.

Mr. H. D. Gode, at Hunter, and Mr. J. R. Evans, at Goodwin, have both promised to join us in the near future.

Mr. B. C. Nelms, second trick at New Braunfels, has also promised to come in pay-day. Understand Mr. T. R. Keeton, at Devine, is also coming in soon.

Bro. N. E. Powell relieved Bro. Juvenal at Artesia; Bro. Juvenal going to Millett.

Bro. T. C. Berry, at Encinal, is laying off; being relieved by Bro. E. C. Tuffly.

Letters from Bros. W. H. Holzmann, B. C. Walker and F. S. Penny on Fort Worth Division, showing that the boys are busy after nons. That's right, boys; keep the ball rolling.

Bro. O. L. Carroll, of Georgetown, has been off on an extended wedding tour through seventeen States and Canada.

We have had replies from many of the boys to our recent line-up circular, all expressing their intentions to get busy and help make Division 25 the banner division on the list.

This is about all this time, but before cutting out, wish to say if each member will send in one or two items we could have a line-up each month. Will try and see if we can't get some of the boys on the Gulf and Fort Worth Divisions to send something also.

Yours fraternally,
F. W. Lyon.

Toledo & Ohio Central Railway.

As there has been no items from the T. & O. C. lately, I will endeavor to contribute a few notes of interest to the members:

Everything seems to be going along smoothly since we secured our schedule. Some complaints have arisen regarding schedule agreements which will have to be investigated. Seems as though there has been a misunderstanding on the part of some one, but it will no doubt come out all right in the end.

We yet have a few nons left on this road. Some of them seem to be old-timers on the line. They have done no kicking since the boys got busy and secure? raise for them. They are contented, as they have no dues to pay. They belong to that class who believe in the old song: "You dig while I watch." Some have fine propositions to make. One may say: "If you will insure me a raise of $15 per month I will be willing to join the O. R. T." Now, what do you think of that? Others will not even answer letters. Some have given promises by the dozen, only to break them. Keep at them. Give them no peace, and when you find out that it is no use to further appeal to them, cut them out, and brand them as genuine parasites, as perhaps the Order would be better off without them.

For the benefit of the members on the T. & O. C. Division we give below a list of brothers who can furnish information, and who compose the committee on matters pertaining to the division or grievances:

Bro. C. F. Sayre, local chairman, First District, covering Hicko to Broad street, Columbus, and St. Mary's branch.

Bro. C. C. Stackhouse, assistant local chairman Second District, covering Toledo to Centerburg, inclusive.

Bro. R. S. Dougherty, assistant local chairman Third District, covering Croton to Thurston, and South Columbus to Corning, inclusive.

All members in these districts are requested to correspond with the above brothers, and give all the information possible to strengthen the Order and keep it moving forward. Do not let interest slacken, but work with the end in view of making our division solid. Whenever a new man comes on the road drop a note to your chairman advising the name of the new arrival, where from, and whether a member. Do not fail to do this, as it is important.

C. F. SAYRE,
Local Chairman.

St. Louis & S. F. Railway.

It has been some time since I saw a write-up from this division.

We are all broke and happy, and not dead, for business is rushing.

Mr. S. B. Craine, cashier at Sikeston, has gone to St. Mary's for sixty days, as agent. Mr. Craine is an old O. R. T. man, and says he will soon be in line again.

Bro. Watts, agent at St. Mary's, is off for sixty days.

Bro. H. A. Huckleby, night telegrapher at Sikeston, has taken the cashier's job there.

Bro. H. L. Stark is now night telegrapher at Sikeston.

Bro. A. Brackins, who was night telegrapher at McBride, has gone to the Cotton Belt. "13" he is now at Dexter Junction, nights.

Bro. W. P. Armstrong, who has been very ill at the hospital, has resumed work at Wittenberg. We are glad to have him back to work again.

Bro. S. J. Frazier, out of "GM" office, was at Wittenberg while Bro. Armstrong was off, but has resumed at "GM."

Mr. E. Keith is now night telegrapher at Wittenberg.

Bro. Edward Blomeyer, night man at Crystal City, has been off for a few days, but unable to say whether he has resumed yet or not.

Bro. Edward Buetell, days at Silica Pit (a lonely spot), was in St. Louis a few Sundays ago.

Bro. C. A. Emory, chairman and agent at Sikeston, has been out on the road looking after the eight-hour business.

Come across, boys, and help our brother telegraphers to win the strike which they have been out on so long. Let the people know who we are, and what we are about.

Hope to see a write-up from this division every month. Now let us go after the nons, and make a showing, for we need all the members we can get. "73" to all.

CERT. 1208.

B. & O. S. W. Railway.

Block District—

I was surprised not to find a single line from this district in last month's journal. The boys must think that since they have received a nice increase, all they are supposed to do is to simply sit down and wait until they are moved by the spirit. This is a matter that each one should take an interest in. You know we must be alive and energetic, with up-to-date cards when we go up for another increase.

There have been several changes during the past month, but I am not aware of all of them.

Bro. Woodmansee, agent at East Norwood, has returned from an extended trip through the Northwest, and reports having had a fine time.

Bro. Snyder was off Labor Day; being relieved by Relief Telegrapher Bro. Brown.

Telegrapher Terrell, extra dispatcher who was dismissed by the company, says he was not allowed a fair shake, and tried to plead his own case, but sank to the bottom without the aid of the Order, as he was a non. Now, boys, please take warning, and get in line.

We have a very few nons on our block now, and hope to have them, each and every one, in line in the near future.

Bro. Kasenheimer has taken out a card, and is now doing the night work at "HM," Madisonville.

Bro. Kasenheimer, "HM" nights, worked one night at "KY," Oakley; being relieved by Extra Telegrapher Dundon.

Bro. Murphy, Bro. Marsh, Bro. Huber and Telegrapher Mrs. Pollock relieved one day each last week by Relief Telegrapher Bro. B. W. Brown.

Bro. Patmor is doing the first trick at "RH" tower during Bro. Blue's vacation; being relieved by night man, Telegrapher Kelley.

Bro. E. E. Parker, second trick "NA," to first trick. Bro. Howard, third to second trick, and Bro. Keck, new man from the C. & O., to third trick.

New arrival working nights at "K," Remington, but unable to get his name.

Bro. Batters working nights at "CK," Winton Place.

Bro. Doty, agent at "BH," Bond Hill, has resigned, and "13" he is going to telegraphing on the C. & O.

Bro. Slough has accepted the agency at Bond Hill, and we hope to see him make good.

Now, boys, let us try and have a little write-up every month, as I believe we would all take more interest in it. Appoint some brother as correspondent, and let each one of us furnish him what help we can.

CERT. 191.

Indiana Division—

It has been many moons since our district was represented in THE TELEGRAPHER, but we are still pushing the good work along.

Understand there is some trouble in regard to the meal hour, and that Bro. Peck is now in Cincinnati looking after same.

Several changes, and it's hard for your humble servant to keep tab on the boys.

Bro. Wiedemann, oldest in the service, holds forth at Storrs yard, Cincinnati, while Bro. Tolliver does the owl act.

Bro. Richardson, of Milan, nights, makes periodical trips to Cochran.

We were all glad to see Bro. Gallagher, of Mitchell, days, line-up.

Bro. Gorman, agent at Georgia, is a staunch member.

LIMERICK.

It is with deep regret we have to announce the death of the mother of Bro. A. W. Morrow, which occurred September 27, 1907.

Bro. Morrow has been in the service of the B. & O. S. W. for the past several years, and has been a loyal member of Division No. 74, holding responsible positions, being now our general secretary and treasurer.

Our division procured a beautiful floral design which was presented for the occasion.

To the sorrowing family we tender our heartfelt sympathy and consolation, and pray for the Comforter of the Weary to give them strength and comfort.

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to invade the family of our Bro. A. W. Morrow and remove therefrom, by death, his kind and faithful mother; therefore be it

Resolved, That although we bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well, we feel the loss this death has been to the brother and family, as it has removed from our midst a loving, faithful mother, and one who was loved by all who knew her; be it further

Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved brother and family our heartfelt sympathy in this deep affliction, commending them to the All-wise God, in whose words alone we can find comfort and hope; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy spread upon the minutes and a copy forwarded THE TELEGRAPHER for publication.

Vandalla Railway.

St. Louis Division, East End—

As you all know, we have been notified that the company has given us a raise, which took effect September 1st. The question is: What do you all think of it? The writer does not think it has proven at all satisfactory; in fact, most of the boys we have talked with seem to think that instead of receiving a "plum" we have been handed a "lemon." That the company made an agreement with our committee, and then totally ignored it; relying on satisfying us to a certain extent with the raise, at least enough so that we would not care to stick for our union schedule and recognition.

Although the boys all appreciated the raise as far as it went, still there isn't a single man on the division who is satisfied with the manner in which it was given. What, then, must our aim for the future be? The writer thinks it should be this: Stand solidly behind our committee in whatever they may decide to do in regard to the company standing by the agreement made with our committee.

Our chairman would like for all to write him regarding every question under consideration, without his asking. Give your opinion, not in a long letter, but simply state that you are or are not in favor of the move under consideration. Nothing is ever done without the approval of a majority, nor will our officers know what our wishes are unless we write them freely, thereby keeping them posted. And, by the way, our chairman has his hands full, so don't expect too much of him. Don't write him a "sorthead" letter the first time he doesn't let you know every time he makes a move; simply stand by him and our committee in whatever they do; they are doing their best for us, and we should encourage them as much as possible, and think twice before criticising.

Although we are very anxious for all the boys to get cards, and thus make us 100 per cent strong, still we respect the fact that occasionally a man is placed in a position where he can not join us at present. For such a non we have no ill-feeling, but when a man, besides being an "excuseless" non, lowers himself to the position of a spy (we could give him a better name), we absolutely lose all respect for him. We have it straight that a "non" on this end has even turned in personal letters—some being frank—personal appeals to join us. We take it that he figures our C. T. D. will either "like" him better or will treat him with more consideration in return for these services. It seems to the writer that any intelligent man could not fail to see the lack of principle in a man (?) who would lower himself to such business.

A meeting was held in the Mayor's office at Greencastle, Friday evening, September 6th, and to say that we had a good time does not cover the ground at all. A great many matters of importance were discussed in a manner very interesting and instructive to all. Nearly every office on the east end was represented, making quite a bunch of us. The writer wants to say to those who have never attended one of these meetings, that they have missed a treat in the way of a jolly good, sociable time. The cigars were passed around, and about the time the room began to get good and smoky the boys cut loose, each one giving his opinion on the questions under discussion, and that this was very interesting goes without saying. All should attend these meetings whenever possible, if for no other reason than to get acquainted with the boys. Our superintendent is quoted as saying that the chief weakness of telegraph unions is that the boys, being so scattered out, do not get personally acquainted with each other; as a result they do not have the amount of confidence in each other that it requires to win out, and which can be gained only by personal acquaintance. So let everybody attend the meetings and get better acquainted.

A special train was run over the division this month examining telegraphers on the train and block rules. That they took a half day for each bunch goes to show that they did a good job. Bros. F. P. Sebree, F. A. Goodwin and H. S. Miller were relieving telegraphers.

We understand that Bro. G. T. Beaver, who has been working nights at "SV," Seelyville, has left the service, and taken a position in Colorado. We are very sorry to see him leave us. Mr. D. V. Carter relieved him. We understand Mr. Carter has promised to get a card pay-day.

Mr. J. S. Dowling, agent at Greencastle, was off a couple of weeks; being relieved by day telegrapher, Bro. W. A. Vaughn. Bro. V. A. Woodward, the night man, relieved Bro. Vaughn, and Bro. C. C. Chesterson, regular night man at "SU," Summit, relieved Bro. Woodward at "NE" nights.

Bro. F. P. Sebree, "BR" days, was off a couple of weeks; being relieved by his night man, Bro. D. F. Wilson. Bro. C. A. Wilson, regular night man at "WA," Watson, relieved Bro. D. F. W. at "BR" nights, and Bro. J. W. Gornett relieved Bro. C. A. W. at Watson.

Bro. A. J. Luty, "BD," Ben Davis days, resumed work. Mr. Francis, who has been relieving him, has returned to his regular position at "HB," Hobbs.

Bro. F. Farris, "MD," Almeda, nights, was off duty a couple of weeks; being relieved by Mr. O. Wilbur. Mr. Wilbur is going to get a card as soon as he has worked the required length of time.

Mr. W. C. Gilbert, who has been off duty for a couple of weeks, has returned to work.

Mr. J. E. McNeeme, "CO," Coatesville, nights, has resumed, and Bro. J. Stewart, regular night man at "GB," Gibson, but who has been relieving Mr. McNeeme at Coatesville, returned to Gibson. Several different men worked at Gibson during Bro. Stewart's absence, but could not get their names.

R. D. Elliott relieved Bro. C. C. Chesterson at "SU," Summit, nights, while Bro. Chesterson was working at "NE," Greencastle.

Bro. J. T. Colburn, "HN," Harmony, days, was off a few days. Bro. T. O. Grissom relieved him.

Bro. W. A. Vaughn, "NE," Greencastle, days, was seen on No. 21 the other day.

Bro. C. N. Jones, who was off a couple of weeks, has resumed. Mr. O. Wilbur relieved him.

Bro. Ernest Colbert, "SV," Seelyville, days, was off a couple of weeks. Bro. N. E. Browning relieved him.

Bro. B. J. Hershey, "HB," Hobbs, days, was off a couple of weeks on a vacation. His night man, Francis, relieved him.

Mr. H. Hopkins, "SU," Summit, days, was off duty a few days; his night man, Bro. C. C. Chesterson, relieved him. A Mr. Hall did the "owl" stunt.

The new double track between "EY," Terre Haute, and "SV," Seelyville, is now being used for fast speed, it being as smooth as any piece of track on the road. It is said that this is the best constructed piece of track in the State.

Mr. Francis, "HB," Hobbs, days, relieving Bro. Hershey, has left the service to attend school, we understand. We are sorry to have him leave us. Bro. O. Hixon is relieving him.

All those having items to send me, please send them in time so they will reach me by the 15th of each month, so I can get them out with my regular bunch of news.

We understand that Bro. I. S. Hixon has left the service to accept a telegraph job with some other road.

Bro. H. C. Barnes, "DS," Terre Haute, was off a few nights; Mr. R. D. Elliott relieved him. Unable to find out whether Mr. Elliott has a card.

Bro. George Challis, nights "EY," Terre Haute, was off duty a few nights; Bro. N. E. Browning relieved him.

The tower at Seelyville, "SV" office, has been moved about a half mile west, making it stand near the station, where it will be used until the new interlocking tower is ready for business.

Bro. E. C. McCollough, "GN," Greencastle, nights, visited his brother, Bro. J. W. McCollough, night man at "HN," Harmony, one day this month at Knightsville, where J. W. M. lives.

Bro. J. J. Summers, "FO," Terre Haute, days, was off a couple of weeks on a vacation. Bro. O. O. Scanlon relieved him.

Mr. H. B. Morse, "XR," Terre Haute, nights, was off a couple of weeks. Bro. F. A. Goodwin relieved him. Cor.

Vandalia Division, West End—

Should it appear to any member on the Vandalia Division that the monthly write-up is not just what it should be, do not blame your correspondent for it, but blame yourself for not furnishing him with the necessary news. Remember that one item from each member would make a good write-up.

Bro. C. H. Wilson, our general chairman, was off a week in the latter part of August on business for the Order; relieved by Bro. C. B. Beck. Judging from the interesting meeting held at Effingham on the night of September 15th, he doubtless found business, and plenty of it.

Bro. Morrow, of Mulberry Grove, worked nights at "BO" while Bro. Wilson was off looking after the interests of the Order.

Allow me to remind each member to be more prompt in answering letters received from the general chairman or secretary and treasurer. It is not very encouraging to them when it takes from two to three letters to get an answer as to "how we stand on any certain subject." Let us remember, and be prompt, and show them that we are taking as much interest in the Order as they are.

At the meeting held at Effingham on September 15th, it was decided to have Bro. Thompson purchase a $30 printing machine to get out circular letters for the benefit of the membership.

The meeting was attended by Bro. Wm. Clancy, secretary to President Perham, who made a very interesting talk. The county judge of Effingham County, an old I. C. telegrapher, who still keeps up his membership, also addressed us.

The visiting members from foreign roads were Bro. Thompson, of the Southern Pacific, from Texas, and the day man at "FE," L. C. station at Effingham. There were twenty members present, and all enjoyed sandwiches and coffee after the meeting.

Bro. D. Rule has been granted leave of absence; relieved by night man, Bro. V. F. Baughman; he, in turn, relieved by Bro. J. W. Gornet.

Mr. J. A. McManemus, days, off a couple of days on account of sickness of wife. Mr. Hartlieb working days, and extra man, Mr. O. A. Pierron, relieving Mr. Hartlieb. We understand that Mr. Hartlieb has sent in his application. This,

I presume, is the effect of the Effingham meeting.

Bro. C. Miller relieved by Mr. W. E. Berger; Bro. Parks relieving Mr. Berger. Bro. Parks has been doing the owl stunt at Willows.

After several months' visit through the State of Washington, we find Bro. E. E. Pierron back at Willows days, very much improved in health.

Bro. C. B. Beck and wife are expected to leave the first of October for two months' visit in Colorado on account of the health of his wife.

Chattanooga Division—

Have you stopped to look over the Chattanooga Division recently? If not, you will be surprised to see what a line-up of members we have at this writing. Since Bro. Cord made a trip over the division in the capacity of Organizer, the division looks good to me.

Now, brothers, remember, it took hard work to get things lined up, and the results are due to just one or two of the men on the Chattanooga Division, who have had to do it all alone. Now that you hold membership, let me plead with you not to drop behind. As long as you can raise $4.50 every six months, don't allow yourself to become delinquent. It will mean much to us next year when the new national eight-hour law takes effect to have a solid division. You, of course, can see the importance of this, and I know that you will keep the goods in your pocket.

Remember, we still have a few nons who claim they can't see any good in the Order, notwithstanding the fact that they are getting from $30 to $60 per year more than they did before the representatives of the O. R. T. went to Washington and secured the new schedule. Besides this, they are getting overtime, seniority rights, and the pleasure of taking a full hour to enjoy dinner. Remember, it takes money to run an organization like the O. R. T. It costs the General Committee something to call on the management and get these concessions, yet the nons continue to reap the benefits without contributing one cent, and go home after business hours and lie down and sleep soundly. It doesn't seem to worry them. It's a shame to take the increase and refuse to support the organization that represents your interests.

One non said he would join us, but there were some in the Order that he did not like, and he did not think they should be in it. Now, isn't this a very flimsy excuse? How small a man's union principles to allow anything like this to keep him out of the ranks of one of the greatest organizations in the country, an organization that is doing more for the welfare of the telegrapher than anything else has or will ever do. This Order endeavors to secure everything that is just and fair—better hours of labor, better wages—which means that you will have more with which to buy food and clothing for the loved ones at home. If every man would join the organization that represents his interests, he would be working eight hours per day, thus enabling him to spend more time with his family, and receiving a salary sufficient to purchase the necessities and comforts of life.

I am glad that I am a union man. I have been for years, and expect to be as long as there is a member left in the ranks of our beloved Order. If I was not a union man, I could not help but feel that I was a traitor; I would never feel like a free man, either at home or away; I would feel that I was not only doing my fellow workers an injustice, but my wife and children as well, and if you will only study the matter over, you will see it in the same light.

I shall do all in my power in the future, as I have in the past, to bring our wages and hours up to where they ought to be. I shall continue to express my opinion and do all I can for the up-building of the union that represents my interests, and in after years my fellow workers and my wife and children can not say that I sat still and refused to lend a helping hand to better our conditions.

DIVISION CORRESPONDENT.

Charlotte Division—

Sorry to say there was not a line from North End Charlotte Division in last month's journal.

The recent meeting at Charlotte was one to be long remembered. Everybody enjoyed themselves, and those who were not present certainly missed a treat.

Bro. Trautman, who has been on the sick list, is back at his old post again.

"13" Bro. Beitlen, of Taylor, is going to leave us. Sorry to see him go.

Bro. J. G. Pethel, former day man at Roselle, has been assigned to Concord second trick.

Bro. Burns secured day trick at Roselle on bulletin.

Boys, come to the meeting. There is no reason why one man from each station can not attend every meeting. Come one, come all.

CERT. 692.

Knoxville Division, East End—

Nons are getting to be few in number, and I hope very soon all the ham factories will be shut down. Brothers, let us see if each of us can not get a member between the time this comes out in THE TELEGRAPHER and the next write-up, and show the brothers what we can do, if we will only try.

I notice several articles in the journal in regard to eight hours and $75.00 minimum. I will have to say that I am with Cert. 409 of Division 33, in favor of hourly pay, and that we should be paid 30 cents per hour, but if we can not get 30 cents per hour or eight hours and a $75.00 minimum at a bound, I believe it would be best to climb the ladder a round at a time, and while we are climbing, let us get all the nons to come into the fold and get old Division 59 solid.

We are only two years old and I think we are doing well, considering everything.

We have had several changes during the past month, and positions bulletined and bid in were as follows:

"FS," second trick, Bro. Hendricks.

"CN," day and night telegraphers, Smith and Richards.

"WV," agent and telegrapher, Bro. Webster.

"MJ," night telegrapher, Bro. Daily.

Bro. Houston is off on twenty days' vacation, taking in Jamestown. Relieved by night telegrapher, Bro. J. P. Bradshaw, with dispatcher, Bro. F. M. Leeson, doing the owl trick.

Bro. B. H. Line is off on fifteen days' vacation. Relieved by Bro. C. C. Craig.

Bro. Kennady is away on thirty days' vacation. Relieved by Telegrapher Greenlee.

Bro. E. E. Marshall has quit telegraphing for a while, on account of his health. He is at the present time running as express messenger.

CERT. 237.

Macon Division—

Bro. Mayes, agent at Holton, resigned. Relieved by Bro. White, from Virgin block office days. Bro. White relieved by Bro. Finney, nights at Virgin. Mr. Vandzant relieved Bro. Finney.

Bro. J. F. Huckaby, formerly nights at Rose-land Tower, is working days.

Bro. J. F. Eden has resigned as agent at Stock-bridge. Relieved by Bro. J. W. Crumpler, formerly days at Lumber City. Bro. Crumpler relieved by night man, Bro. Brannen, and Bro. Brannen relieved by Bro. John Lawson as night man at Lumber City.

Dispatcher J. W. McLendon, who has been sick for some time, we are glad to know is all right again and is now working second trick.

Bro. C. R. Stephenson, formerly nights at Ellenwood, is now working the day trick on account of the illness of Mr. Coleman, day man at Ellenwood. Bro. Stephenson relieved by Bro. Shields.

Bro. E. H. Boutwell, of the G. S. & F. R. R., now nights at Cork.

Bro. Huff, nights at Jackson, resigned, to accept position with S. A. L. Relieved by Bro. Moseley, of the Central R. R., Division No. 46.

We are glad to note that an improvement in the handling of the train orders placed at different stations is noticeable. Keep it up, boys, our efforts toward the improvement of the service is attracting the attention of the officials, also the nons, as shown by the recent additions, especially south of Macon.

Only a few nons left, and despite the efforts of the officials to convert the telegraph offices into "ham factories," the boys are having very little trouble with them. Only one reported on the line now, and the telegraphers are kicking, while the agent insists upon him remaining. This practice is extremely dangerous, especially in the "block." The telegrapher is responsible for his work, and besides the danger to lives and property, his reputation is at stake, and once on the "black-list" it is very hard to withdraw from this undesirable record. We do not have to teach telegraphy, and it is a duty we owe ourselves and families that we see that none of it is forced upon us, now or in the future. We all know that the supply of telegraphers is far in excess of the demand if the salaries were sufficient, and no danger of a scarcity in fifty years to come.

Let us do our duty toward the company. Handle the business as though it was our personal affair, and give no opportunity for them to "kick" on our service. In this way alone can we convince them that the O. R. T. emblem on the coat represents a competent man, sober, industrious and reliable; and then our troubles will be over, for the non will go out of existence.

The meeting for October will be at Flovilla, Ga., third Sunday, at 3:30 p. m. All who are able come out and see what is doing.

Hope all the boys will contribute liberally to the cause of the C. T. U. A., as money alone can now tide them over their troubles, and then a great victory will be won that will not only affect the C. T. U. A., but the joint commercial and railroad offices along the different lines. This is our fight as well as theirs, and we hope all will assist.

Would appreciate news from any of the brothers as it is difficult to keep up with the changes on the South End especially. Drv. Cor.

Southern Ry. Between Knoxville and Bristol—

Bro. Line, Morristown days, off on vacation.

Bro. Flagg, Bristol west yard, on vacation.

Bro. Brown, Bull's Gap, off for a few nights.

Mr. Haws, Midway, off for a few days. Relieved by Telegrapher G. R. Harmon.

Understand Bro. Dailey has left the service.

Telegrapher "Line," Alpha, off on vacation.

Telegrapher Hickey, who has been working at Talbott, has gone to California. Relieved by Mrs. Reams, wife of Day Telegrapher Reams, at that place.

New office opened between Talbott and Jefferson City. Do not know who went there.

Understand the telegraph offices at Jefferson City and Talbott are to be discontinued in the near future.

Bro. Teague, Embreeville Junction, and Mr. Teague, Telford, are off on vacation.

Understand Bro. Porter, Mascot, is off on vacation. "SUNSHINE."

Memphis Division—

Good many changes going on bulletins, and everything seems to be moving along nicely.

Bro. Sanders, of Scottsboro, bid in Collierville agency, and Bro. Towles bid in night job there. Agency at Scottsboro bid in by Mr. Canterbury.

Bro. Enoch, agent at Stevenson, has been sick for some time, but am glad to hear that he is now improving. Mr. Woodall, relief agent, has been working for him, but he was called away by other duties, and Bro. Monk, from Cherokee, is there now. Bro. Harris is filling Cherokee during his absence. Bro. Monk also worked for Mr. Martin, at Iuka, while he was off, taking in the exposition.

Bro. Bryan resigned his job at Middleton and I understand is working for the I. C. at Bolivar.

Think Bro. Hathcock bid in Middleton days.

Bro. Whitfield, former agent for the N. A. Ry., is now working at Brownsboro, while Mr. Hunt takes in the sights at New York and the exposition.

We still have several "ham" shops along the line. Boys, can't we get rid of them. This will make it hard on you; better cut 'em out.

Mr. Bibb, of Leighton, has been off quite a while on account of sickness, Mr. Canterbury relieving him, but is at his post again.

We have been having a lot of wire trouble lately. Look out for this and let's keep them straight.

Bro. Wilson intends taking a trip to Asheville on the 25th.

Out of twenty-three members on the division, all have got new cards except one, and he failed to get the last before this. Looks strange when they get a little better job they drop out of the Order. Those kind don't amount to very much any way, for any one who is afraid to wear his button would not be much force in the Order.

The following brothers attended the joint meeting at Chattanooga Saturday night: Simpson, Sanders, Branum, Hodges and Wilson. All had a nice time.

Only a few eligible nons left on this pike. Get after them and let's get them lined up. If you have no application blanks, call on Bro. Wilson. He will gladly furnish them. Remember, it is your duty, as well as the duty of the Local Chairman, to try to get these nons lined up.

CERT. 910.

Washington Division—

At our meeting, held in Charlottesville Saturday night, September 21, to our surprise we found the seats of the faithful boys from the South End for the first time vacant. There must have been some attraction elsewhere; but there is nothing more attractive, and I am sure nothing more important, than a big crowd of brass-pounders assembled in the lodge room for the interest of the O. R. T., which has carried us over the rocky way and made our path brighter. Of course, all of us can not attend every meeting, but it is the duty of each one to make an effort to be present. The boys from the North End turned out very well. Hope to do better next time. We have several sisters along the line, and would be glad to see them out if possible.

We left the meeting room about one o'clock, and did not think it worth while to go to bed at that hour, as our train would leave at four o'clock.

Bro. Abbott enjoyed his rest very much, curled up in about four crooks around the braces of the benches in the waiting room, while the balance of us doubled up in knots on the seats.

Montpelier was bulletined this month (Sept.), but at this writing am unable to say whether it has been bid in by any of the boys or not. It is a shady place, right in the woods. You can hear the squirrels cracking nuts, if nothing else.

Charlottesville yard block office has been discontinued, closing Bro. McConchie out at that point. Do not know what joint he expects to land. At the present time he is resting up and roaming around for his health. Think he expects to take in the sights at Jamestown before resuming regular work.

About ten or fifteen of the boys have paid Jamestown visits this month.

Barboursville was cut out one night, but it was found difficult to do without this office, and it was reopened, with Sister Hamm and Bro. Hudson still at the helm.

Fairfax has also been discontinued as a block office at night, closing Bro. Harrison out at that point. He is off, sick, at this time.

Bro. J. R. Culp, of Remington, is off on a vacation for a couple of weeks. Bro. R. W. Featherston is filling his place during his absence.

Bro. Geo. Dearborn has been working in "CD" office, Alexandria, for the past week or so, making the boys scratch at a lively gait.

Bro. J. L. Sullivan, of Calverton nights, is off for the Warrenton horse show. He is also taking in the sights at Luna Park.

During the heavy rain of the 22d and 23d, we had several slides and wash-outs along the line, but glad to say none of the trains got into them.

Any little happenings along the line that you would like to see appear in THE TELEGRAPHER, send them to me and I'll do the rest.

Div. Cor.

Asheville Division, A. & S.—

I was sorry to note that our Division Correspondent failed to get in a few lines from this division in the August journal, and "13" he has left our ranks.

Mr. C. G. King, our chief dispatcher, has been appointed trainmaster, with jurisdiction over the A. & S. and Toxaway line, vice Mr. J. A. Bolich, resigned.

Mr. D. W. Johnson has been appointed chief dispatcher, vice Mr. King. The boys were all very sorry to lose Mr. King, because he was always ready to give them a fair deal. Equal rights to all and special privileges to none was his motto.

This change gives Bro. McLain third trick dispatcher's place on East End.

Bro. N. C. Cotner, ticket agent at Hendersonville, resigned, to accept a position at Greensboro. Relieved by Bro. F. Johnston.

Bro. Frank Rymer transferred from Melrose nights to third trick at Hendersonville.

Bro. S. C. Crumpton, Spartanburg Junction (Charlotte Division), resigned, to accept Arden nights.

Mr. R. H. Morgan, Landrum days, has been taking a few days' vacation. Relieved by Bro. Fain, of Campabello.

Am sorry to say that Mr. Morgan is still on the non list, after having several sets of blanks furnished him, at his own request.

Bro. W. E. Grubbs has returned to his post at Tryon after a two weeks' vacation.

Bro. D. A. Hutts, after several weeks with the S. A. L., has decided the Southern is the place for him, and is working second trick at Biltmore now.

Bro. H. G. Alexander, our Local Chairman, was over the line a few days ago, looking after the interests of the O. R. T. Our second trick dispatcher, Mr. Chapman, was kind enough to notify us of his coming, and all the boys were ready when the train rolled up to give him a hearty hand-shake and exchange a few words with him.

CERT. 365.

Murphy Division—

In the last writing from the Murphy Division, I note I stated that Mr. West and Mr. Curtis were both nons. This is a mistake, and with due apologies to these brothers, I wish to say that it is my understanding that they are both loyal, up-to-date members. Am very sorry the error was made.

Our Local Chairman has been doing good work, notwithstanding the fact that his brother (who is staying with him) has been operated on for appendicitis, and required his close attention.

The following new members have been secured since last month: John McHan, Hominy, N. C.; P. W. Kincaid, Dillsboro, N. C.; and G. C. Ward, Almond, N. C.

There are a few nons left, and we ought to keep pounding at them until we get solid. Wouldn't it sound nice to hear the old Murphy called solid?

Bro. Clark, of Murphy, is off for a while, being relieved by Bro. E. A. Hill, late of the N. & W.

Bro. Howell is relieving Bro. Crawford, of Sylva, who in turn is relieving Dispatcher Geo. Sandlin.

It is my intention to arrange to have monthly meetings at some central point where the most of us could attend and I would be glad to receive suggestions from all the brothers on this subject.

CERT. 718.

Cresson Division, No. 109.

Cresson Division, No. 109, held two meetings during the month of September, 1907, that having been decided as the proper course until the division gets in working condition; also for the accommodation of those who are anxious to become identified with the Order before the close of the present year. It is the intention, however, to hold our meetings monthly, instead of every two weeks, on account of the approach of winter, coupled with the great inconvenience some of our brothers would be put to in getting to and from the meetings. I wish to impress upon every brother and sister the fact that the future of our organization and the success of our division representatives depends, not alone on their ability, but on the activity of every individual member, who should avail themselves of these meetings, as they are a good thing, and will help us more than we think. Enthusiasm is what we want to insure success, and unless we have good attendance at our meetings there will be a lack of interest. These meetings are held for a purpose, some of them being imperative in their nature, for the transaction of important business pertaining to our organization, and unless we turn out and express and exchange views, some of those absent may be displeased with actions taken on important matters, hence your presence is desired.

Our first meeting was held at Cresson, Pa., on September 5th, and the second meeting at Conemaugh, Pa., on September 21st. The attendance was reasonably fair, yet not what it should have been, possibly due to weather conditions, which were somewhat against us. Especially is this true of the last meeting in question. No doubt there were some who overlooked the date, or at least I am so informed by a few of the brothers.

The usual routine work was taken up at both meetings, which included a few applications for membership, and a tip from one of the brothers that he expected to present six applications at our October meeting. Thus it will be seen we are slowly but surely gathering the nons into the fold. May the good work continue.

This is the middle of the vacation season, hence there are many of the brothers and sisters availing themselves of the privilege, where it is possible to get relieved from duty.

We regret to say Bro. John C. Gallagher, working first trick at "DM," Conemaugh, Pa., was suddenly called home by the fatal illness of his aged father, who resides at Lansdale, Pa., whose death occurred on the 16th inst., due to dropsy. We, one and all, extend our sincere sympathy to Bro. Gallagher in this his hour of great bereavement. It also becomes a painful duty to chronicle the death of the twin babes of Bro. Black, third trick telegrapher at "SX."

Our worthy secretary and treasurer, Bro. Lewis Biter, our past chief telegrapher, Bro. John A. Fleck, and Sister Edith Morgan, all of whom have been laid up by sickness for several days, have returned to duty.

I will conclude for the present by requesting each brother and sister to furnish our secretary and treasurer with any news items coming under their observation. In this way we can greatly assist the division correspondent. Cor.

Renovo Division, No. 110.

Here we are, after missing the September write-up on account of no assistance from the members, notwithstanding numberless appeals for anything in the shape of news. Happily there are a few members who consider the isolated locality in which the correspondent abides, and come to the rescue or Division 110 would seldom be represented in the columns of our journal. I shall expect contributions from Waterford, Erie, Warren, Kane, Ridgway, St. Marys, Johnsonburg, Wilcox, Emporium and Renovo for next month, and hope the brothers and sisters will respond, even if they only chronicle the weather or local election returns. Give us the idea, and we will do the rest.

The regular September meeting was held in Oddfellows' Hall, Emporium, September 18th, and the attendance was fair, but could be improved upon. We look for a larger attendance next meeting.

Bro. H. Vance, of "RA," Renovo, had the misfortune to have his best suit stolen from his room in the Renovo Hotel, while he was at supper Thursday evening, September 26th. As Bro. Vance is a strict church-goer, and as his other clothes were in Warren, he was obliged to borrow a suit from Bro. Prosser for the time being. It was a tight fit, but he was at church Sunday.

We understand that four lever interlocking plants will be installed at "KS" tower, Sinnema-honing, "HU," Hulings and "OR," Cooks Run towers.

Bro. R. I. Price, of "RM" tower, Emporium, after a rest of two weeks, during which time he visited relatives at Clearfield, is again in the harness. He reports a good time.

Bros. Goodwin, O'Leary and Gould attended the new play at the opera house in Emporium recently.

Probably the most energetic of our members are Bros. Page and Krape, of "F" tower, Cameron, as they have each completed courses in the Scranton school, besides attending to two large farms, and doing their regular twelve-hour stunts at the tower. How is that for a summer's work?

Several vacancies on east end of the division lately: Rathbun, Driftwood, Hulings and Wistar being filled by new men. We do not know any of these parties, but hope that the majority, if not all, are union men, and wear the button.

There are also vacancies in the Renovo office, filled by new men, but this may be on account of there not being any qualified applicants. Wouldn't that jar you? We understand that none of the older men have had opportunities to bid on these jobs.

Telegrapher Bennet, who was formerly day man at Hulings, has taken the third trick at Driftwood office. Mr. Bennet is an old dispatcher, and his work shows that he is strictly up-to-date. He promises to tender his application in the near future.

Bros. Sullivan and Getchell, of "HY" tower, have been suffering from their regular attacks of malaria, but are on the road to recovery.

Telegrapher Foster, of Renovo office, has resumed duty after a three weeks' leave of absence, during which time he was caring for sick relatives in New York.

Bro. O'Leary is visiting relatives in "Yawk State." Mr. Cupp is relieving him at "JN" tower, Emporium.

Bro. E. T. Wells is on the sick list; relieved by Bro. Willie Peters.

Bro. Goodwin, our worthy secretary and treasurer, has returned from his vacation looking fine as a fiddle. He visited Buffalo, Jamestown, and other points while away, and looks forty pounds heavier since his well-merited rest. Bro. Getchell wielded the pen while he was absent.

We understand that Bro. Lem Daugherty will soon return to his old stand at Rathbun. He has been in Colorado for the past six months, where he had taken his wife, who has been in very poor health for some time. We hope she has regained her health and strength.

Train Dispatcher E. G. Young has returned from his vacation looking well.

Sister Neylon, of Renovo office, is becoming very efficient on her new vibroplex, and handles the business first-class.

We understand that "AD" tower, Ridgway, will be placed on the eight-hour basis in the near future. Congratulations. Div. Cor.

C., B. & Q. Ry.

Wymore Division—

Another month has rolled around and we are pleased to note that several of the old hardshells have removed the scales from their eyes and filed applications for membership. This should show the faint-hearted that they can secure an application if they will only persist in showing the non he is on the wrong road. Most of them know it well enough, and simply need a little showing before they will acknowledge they have been in error all these long years. Let us all keep pounding away at them until we have no such person as a non among us.

There are new men arriving almost daily. Keep an eye on them and if they hold cards in other divisions secure certificate and division numbers and send this information to W. A. Henry, Ericson, Neb., who will see that they are transferred to this division. This is very important, as it means considerable revenue for us in the form of dues, which rightfully belong to us.

T. A. Majors, agent Endicott, has at last been converted and will be carrying a card by the time this appears.

Bro. Harvey Grimes, nights Falls City, recently spent vacation at his home, Sterling, Neb.

V. R. Hannen, a new arrival, has been doing the night stunt at Salem.

Bro. R. E. Jones, nights Superior, has been on two weeks' vacation in Colorado. Relieved by Bro. Hal Baker, from the Missouri Pacific.

Bro. J. F. Ford, Firth, on vacation. Relieved by Bro. Henderson, nights, who in turn was relieved by Mr. M. Louderback, from the Rock Island.

Bro. Ilgen, agent Highland, has been on vacation; relieved by Bro. Jessup.

Mr. Pope, agent Rulo, is away spending some of the money he has saved by avoiding payment of O. R. T. dues and laying away the increase the Order has secured for him. Relieved by Bro. Reneau.

Bro. H. R. Atkinson, formerly of this division, recently passed over the road, shaking hands with old friends.

Bro. Ockerman, agent Ong, has been enjoying a hard-earned vacation. Relieved by Mr. McNew.

Bro. Will Hitchcock recently transferred from agent Kesterson to agent Iowa Point. Bro. Joe Litty, recently agent Burress, landed Kesterson.

Mr. Ford, nights Liberty, advises he will make good as soon as his ship arrives.

Bro. Dempsey, who has been holding down Dawson nights, landed Burress Station.

Mr. Bamer was transferred from agent Iowa Point to agent Daykin.

Bro. R. E. Mullis, from the Illinois Central, has been relieving Bro. Grimes, nights Falls City. Grimes been relieving Mr. Ayers, days at Beatrice.

Bro. Pickard, agent Preston, recently on vacation; relieved by Mr. Jessup.

Bro. Yocum, formerly of this division, now agent Ehuling, saved up enough dough to take a thirty days' vacation and was recently visiting at Roca.

Bro. Greenlee, agent Byron, has been away on vacation; was relieved by extra agent McNew.

Bro. Weatherhogg is sojourning beneath the sunny skies of California. Bro. Heskett is meeting the competition at Hickman during his absence.

Bro. C. S. Cole, who has been holding down Palmyra station, has resigned to take a course at the State University. We wish him success in his new venture.

Bro. J. E. Gum has been transferred to Table Rock, nights.

Mr. Shandy, from Lancaster, assigned Sterling, nights.

Changes are so numerous and rapid on this division it is next to impossible to keep up with them.

W. F. Sanders, agent Helvey, was recently married at DeWitt. He says he will surely file his application at the end of his year.

Mr. Williams, day telegrapher Wilcox, has resigned. "13" he goes to the McCook Division.

Div. Cor.

Sterling Division—

Bro. Fleming has returned to Angora and reports a fine visit to points in Kansas.

Bro. C. P. Wilson now doing the day act at Bridgeport, with a card in Division 76; going to transfer soon.

Bro. C. H. Ziegler has resigned at Grover and gone West. We wish him success. Relieved by Lovested, who is new at the work and deserving of our help.

Some time when you are resting turn again to the August write-up by our Grand Chairman, Bro. Johnson, read it, and you will find there is something more you can do. Make an effort to do some one thing, and do it well.

Through the kindness of Chief Coughlin and Dispatcher Marvin we recently got away long enough to spend a few hours in Sterling. We found Bros. Davis and Canny too busy for conversation and Bro. Cozad trying his best to supply the heavy demand for stock cars. Bro. Clifford was doing the second trick while Bro. Mothersead took his two weeks' rest.

It seems the recent bulletining of several stations did not result in any changes, the acting agents being retained permanently.

Bro. A. L. Johnson, days at Sterling depot, has severed his connection with the Union Pacific and is headed for Southern California, where he will line up with the boys on the Southern Pacific.

Bro. W. T. Dauterman is the smiling joint agent at Sterling now, coming from that good old Swedish town of Lindsborg, Kan. Bro. B. A. McAlpine does the cashier act. Bro. Moore relieved Bro. Johnson days, while Bro. D. W. Sleater does the owl trick.

Bro. Bruce Delahoyd, of Sterling, has been enjoying a few days' leave of absence, spending his time on the Guernsey line and at Bridgeport.

Boys, are you getting wise to the fact that the necessities of life have almost doubled in cost in the past decade? Have your wages likewise doubled? No one can rightly oppose a just division of the fruits of labor. Are you getting yours?

Understand Mr. J. T. Rivett will soon sever his connection with the Bridge and Building Department, going into business for himself at Angora, Neb. We are sorry to learn of this change and hope Mr. R. may see fit to change his mind before being relieved.

Bro. Wm. Feary is now the congenial agent at Curtis. Bro. Hire does the cashier act and the name of the night man we failed to learn.

J. T. MADDOX.

Lincoln Division—

What good excuse can any of the brothers offer for quietly sitting down and not helping the division correspondent out? Three brothers came forth with items, for which please accept my "heartly thanks." No pleasure in trying to locate the movements of our division from the hill tops of Denton, and I want you to get busy. I expect the brothers to co-operate with me in getting up news for the division. This month finds us with a very small amount of news. However, will do the best we can with what we have.

I "13" there is quite a number of the brothers on this division who are late remitting their dues. That is not doing business right, so let us all see how prompt we can be in securing up-to-date cards. You all know we have a larger membership here by far now than we have ever had before and, therefore, let us all strive to do the thing that is the most essential, keep it where it is, and boost it if possible.

Bro. G. E. Long, who has been working for the past month at Bardolph nights, went to Quincy to relieve Bro. Boyles, who is going home for a few weeks. Bro. Long relieved at Bardolph by Bro.

We have been very busy building a new house and have had something to do with nearly every spare minute of our time, hence the brevity of this communication. I have only received help in getting news from one or two brothers. When you know of any changes or anything of interest, please drop a note to me and it will help the write-up very much. Some one near Quincy please send something.

Everybody who has not remitted dues, do so at once and let's see how many up-to-dates we can have by next month.

R. N.

Brookfield Division—

Sheridan Division—

Before this is in print we will have held our first meeting for a long period, and we are in hopes that everything will turn out favorable. The results will no doubt be in the next write-up of this division.

We welcome to membership the following new members, who were initiated the first of September: R. C. Conley, nights at Felix; R. W. Maris, cashier at Newcastle; M. J. Fox, nights at Upton. Still they come.

Bro. C. C. Robertson, from the B. & O., to Dewey nights.

Mr. F. D. Lamphere, resigned, relieved by Bro. Edsall. Latter relieved by a man named Dodge.

Mr. G. B. Ford, Ulm nights, who filed application for membership, was rejected on account of his name being in the scab list with a big star ahead of it.

Bro. Fluke has gone to Ballantine as agent, with a man by the name of Chillson nights. Mr. Chillson was a member at one time, but dropped out for some reason. He promises to line up again.

Bro. Mason is back at his old stand at Cowley. The Local Chairman has asked Bro. Mason to keep that branch in good shape, so we will rely on him for this work.

Can't some one get hold of that man, McClung, at Worland? He has been promising to join for the last two or three years.

Mr. Neel, dispatcher, was over the road last month, all dressed up in his Sunday clothes.

Hear Bro. Needles has bid in for Echeta when it opens up. We hope he gets it.

Bro. Holstedt is trying to secure a few that he knows do not carry up-to-dates.

Mrs. L. F. Morrow will be with us this month. Her application is now in the Local Chairman's hands.

Brothers and sisters, when you hear of a new man on the division, you will be doing a great favor by securing his name, whether a member or a non. If a brother, ask him his certificate and division number, and forward the information to your Local Chairman.

Bro. Langley, one of the C. T. U. A. boys, who formerly worked on this division, is working nights at Newcastle.

We are sorry to lose Bro. Hickey, at Moorcroft days. He was relieved by Bro. Hazlett nights.

Bro. Likewise, nights at Rozet, to Dietz nights. He was relieved by Sister Shaughnessy, who has been working days while Bro. Kesinger was away on his vacation.

Changes seem to be coming thick and fast now. The boys of the C. T. U. A. are drifting out this way and relieving the shortage of telegraphers that has been on for some time in the past. It is easier for those that want a vacation to get relief.

I hope all the boys responded to Bro. Quick's last appeal and sent in at least $2.00 for the C. T. U. A. fund. This is something that is important and should be attended to at once. We want them to win out, as it will mean a great deal for the profession in general.

Bro. Bennett, at Gillette days, during the absence of Bro. Carpenter, who was called to the bedside of his mother, who is seriously ill. Bro. Lemka, formerly telegrapher there, has gone on his homestead, near Upton. Div. Cor.

There are yet a few scattering members who are slow in paying their dues. The number is very small, however, but there should not be one. We hope those who have not paid up to date will do so without further delay. We are picking up the non members right along, and you will help out by keeping in line.

Crawford, Assistant Local Chairman, Kewanee, Ill.; D. E. Watson, Neponset, Ill.; C. E. Shimel, Kewanee, Ill.; W. D. Galvin, Western Tube Co., Kewanee, Ill.; O. D. Lottinville, Kewanee, Ill.; A. F. Johnson, Zearing, Ill.; C. A. Johnson, Montgomery, Ill.; C. E. Hade, Malden, Ill.

A meeting was held at Downers Grove, Ill., on the same evening, same being in charge of Assistant Local Chairman L. C. Russell. The new schedule was discussed at considerable length.

Bro. Ranger, formerly day telegrapher at Sandwich, has resigned and is now working for the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific R. R. at Guymon, Okla. Our best wishes are with Bro. Ranger, he being one of the oldest members in Burlington Division No. 130.

Bro. Brower, formerly nights at Sandwich, has resigned his position and accepted one in the State of Texas.

Bro. Dillon, formerly nights at Leland, got Somonauk Cabin by bulletin.

Telegrapher Peaco, of the C. & O. R. R., is working at Leland nights.

Bro. Todd, our worthy Local Chairman, formerly days at Leland, got Sandwich days by bulletin.

Bro. Koppa, relief telegrapher, worked a few nights at Leland while Bro. Dillon became a benedict.

Among the new members are Bro. Watson, Neponset; Bro. A. F. Johnson, Zearing; Bro. O. H. Beardsley, Meridan.

There is a change at Plano nights, but at the present writing do not know what it is.

Local Chairman Todd and Assistant Local Chairman Russell were also in Chicago in conference with Supt. Ryder August 31.

Bro. Sawyer, of Earlville Tower nights, was calling on friends in Leland Monday, Sept. 16.

CERT. 1,246.

La Crosse Division—

Although several postal cards were mailed, asking the boys to "come across" with notes, none have reached us so far, so be satisfied with what follows.

Just a gentle bawling-out won't hurt. Some of the boys don't seem to be doing their best, causing those who have to do the calling to buy some of the "wonder oil" for "glass arms." This is not the way to get new schedules. Always do your best and let the company know that you are not a dead one; then it will be considerably easier for your committeemen to secure a good schedule. Do your best, and if you don't like your job, quit, and give some other fellow a show. To make this story short, just be governed by Bro. Johnson's write-ups.

Bro. "Ned" Brodt, Savanna Station days, has at last departed on his long-looked-for vacation. He intends taking in Denver on the trip. Too bad he couldn't stay and see the "Solid" base ball game. Some C. T. U. A. brother from Spokane is relieving him.

Bro. Watts, of St. Louis, who is an old-time Order man, is holding down "CU" Savanna yards nights.

It is hoped that Mr. Jay, Savanna Station nights, will soon be with us. He would make good timber for the Order.

It is now Bro. Graves, agent at Galena Junction. Hereafter, do not call him Mr. He doesn't like it.

Bro. Riese and Bro. Schrunck, of Cassville, were visitors in Dubuque recently. Bro. Schrunck is to play in the benefit game.

Mr. Groff, day telegrapher at East Dubuque, says he will be with us soon. East Dubuque is a solid non-union station. Just the same Bro. Quick received three substantial replies to his circular from this point, which shows that their hearts are in the right place.

A Mr. Sanderson, who at one time held a position as chief dispatcher on the C., M. & St. P. at Dubuque, is now doing the scab act at "DI" Dubuque Postal office. This man at one time held an up-to-date card and had a number of friends, but now—well, he went from one thing to another until he got so he could not hit the ball—and they decided to run trains without Sanderson. "13" he is a first-class booze and dope comedian, and he most assuredly looks the part. A party standing in the vicinity of this office, not long since, counted nine breaks in ten minutes, which goes to show the meaning of the postal-card motto, "If you can't go whisky and business together, give up your business." This man, Sanderson, has been unable to secure a job, until recently (he has one now), where he need not be afraid of being bumped. W. Norman holds the title of manager in this office. He at one time held exactly the same position on the C., M. & St. P. as Sanderson. Luckily he (Norman) is not married, so he has no wife to be ashamed of him. Two old chiefs marked down in the "Lost" column.

This office certainly shows a difference since Bro. H. H. Stringer, the former manager, left.

Bro. Correll, a former telegrapher in this office, is doing the "whoopee" act out on a North Dakota ranch.

Bro. Sullivan, also from this office, is busy talking base ball.

On September 25, at the "Three-Eye" League Park, the C. T. U. of A. will play the O. R. T. in what promises to be a whirlwind game of the national sport. Out of the fifteen hundred tickets printed, only a few remain unsold. The boys out along the line who are unable to attend, bought liberally of the tickets. Frame them, boys. They will make dandy souvenirs of the strike of 1907. Results of the game will be given in next month's TELEGRAPHER.

Bro. Ragatz transferred to East Winona nights.

The following jobs are on bulletin: Day and night at Losey, day and night at Purdy, day and night at Rusk, day and night at Charme, day and night at Dewey, day and night at Blake, day and night at Rutledge, day and night at Blanding, day and night at Marcus. Above jobs pay $57.50 per. One night job, Savanna yards open, pays $73.00 per.

It is hoped Bro. H. W. K., of the Galesburg Division, will come out of his shell and continue to do the write-up act for the "Stormy."

HIGHPOCKETS.

Philadelphia Division, No. 102.

The last meeting of the division was held at the regular meeting place on the 28th of September. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather we had a record-breaking attendance, a large number of the brothers present being newly initiated. Everyone was very much interested, and, judging from looks, there has been an awakening on this system. We took great pleasure in balloting and accepting thirty-two new members, among them being men of more than twenty years' service with the company, also several agents from the larger and more important stations. Some of these new brothers have a great influence with the company, as well as with the men.

This is the very best kind of evidence that everything is bright for our schedule. If we continue at the present rate, it will not be very long before we can hold up our heads just as high as any of the brothers on the more thoroughly organized systems.

Our secretary advises there are still a few of our brothers who have not paid dues for the current term. This should not be the case. How can we expect to accomplish anything by being indifferent?

I hope to hear of these delinquent brothers coming up with the necessary just as soon as possible. Now that there is such efficient work being done here, there is not excuse whatever. There is only one way to gain our freedom from the shackles which are binding us at present, and that is for every man to be a good union man, and then stick through thick and thin. It takes hard work and effort to accomplish things nowadays. Every man must have the good of the Order at heart, and live right up to union principles.

Bro. Hunt gave us a very interesting talk about unionism. It was right to the point, and every one present was very much impressed by it.

Mr. Dale has been transferred from Norristown to "OW," Stagers office, Philadelphia. Mr. Livergood, from Manayunk to Norristown, and Bro. Dechant from Conshohocken nights, to Manayunk. Bro. Boyer, one of the C. T. U. of A. strikers, working at Conshohocken in place of Bro. Dechant.

Send your notes to the secretary, and he will see that they get to the proper place. "CHRIS."

Canadian Northern Railway.

Second District—

We notice space in our most esteemed journal always available for our brothers on the Fourth District. With only one or two exceptions, we all bear the union label, and it is only by submitting our views and ideas for publication that our brothers can form an opinion of what is going on around them. While the efforts of our committee are slowly bringing forth fruit, it may seem to some a long time to wait; but I would like to say for the benefit of such that our committee has made very successful moves in attaining what we have secured so far. To illustrate the matter in question, I have only to mention the $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent increase on local express, which, without a doubt, is a sufficient amount to more than pay all our dues in the Order. Bear in mind that our Order did this, and then some of you bone-heads ask yourselves the question: "Why are narrow-minded, selfish, pig-headed individuals such as we are, still nons, when the Order pays our dues?" The answer is: You have no thought for the welfare of others. You sit down and let others finance and do the work. You change your manner very quickly when there is some increases to be handed around. Why not send in your dues, which is only a trifle, and then stand up and say: "I can look the whole world in the face, for I owe not any man."

Have any of you noticed how promptly "Q" office responds when we call him for commercial business? I presume the superintendent of express and telegraph must have been making investigations on the strength of information in the hands of our local chairman, Bro. Mitchell, which was laid before the superintendent on the arrival of the committee in Winnipeg in June. We did not blame our commercial brothers for this. We were under the impression that the staff was not sufficient to cope with the ever-increasing business. We are glad to have such material as Bro. Willis and

Bro. Mitchell to draw upon when we have a matter to lay before the higher officials, which we desire shall terminate successfully.

Wishing all a pleasant time during vacation, and hoping that their happiness may be extended for many years to come, will close with "73" to all.

Charlottetown Division, No. 47.

Nothing has appeared in our magazine for some time from the "Banner Division of the North," and in case there might possibly be some who are under the impression that the dry-rot has set in, it now becomes my duty to contribute a few notes, which I trust will escape the mark of the "blue pencil," and appear in the next issue.

With the exception of one stray sheep, all are in the fold calmly partaking of the good things organization has brought them. Even if they have dissensions occasionally, it is only, as Artemus Ward would remark, "human natur" cropping out. But what about that sheep eating outside the pasture, and apparently quite content? Let the wolf come, and where is the protecting staff of the shepherd? He then stands alone, and his isolation appeals to us in vain.

There are some of the young men who have come into the service of the road during the last few years who do not know what the conditions were a few years ago, when, for instance, we had a minimum of $27.50 and $60.00 for dispatchers. The same boys would now think they were robbed if they did not pull $60.00 to $70.00, and the dispatchers $110.00. I am not going to say we do not appreciate our improved conditions, but do we never stop to think what placed us clear of starvation wages? There is only one source we could possibly have drawn on for the necessary strength, and that is organization, and organization for the railway telegraphers means the O. R. T., and no other order. We want the boys to appreciate what has been done for them, especially the younger members, and even if the earth is not cut up and distributed among them, they must remember the struggles of those who had a hard fight for even recognition.

Let every member, therefore, take an interest in the affairs of the Order. Keep enthusiastic, and be ever ready to give the Order your support, and have confidence in the officers elected, especially in your committees. If they are not doing what you think is O. K., just drop the chairman a note.

There was a general feeling of regret when it was known that our good friend, Bro. Ollie McLeod, had to leave for Los Angeles in the hope of improving his health, and the feeling among the boys found an outlet for itself in a nice present, which Ollie much appreciated.

To the members of the Order in the vicinity in which Bro. McLeod will reside, we can cheerfully recommend him, and can assure those who will have the pleasure of his acquaintance that they will find him "white." We are sorry to lose him, even temporarily, but will wait in the hope that a few months' residence in a sunny land will completely restore his health.

Bro. George McCormack spent a well-earned vacation at his home in Souris during August.

Bro. E. J. McTague has returned from his vacation trip to Boston.

Bro. A. E. Clark spent his holidays among the lakes on the north side, and caught, as usual, a large number of trout, but we regret to have to report that none have yet reached the division correspondent.

Sunbury Division, No. 12.

Division 12 is still gaining, and has 97 per cent of the telegraphers within her lines. One would suppose the remaining 3 per cent would apply, but all can not see things in the same light. While we are working for the interest of all, they are well contented for us to pay the bills.

Business is heavy on the Shamokin Division.

Sorry to hear of Sister Seid being indisposed for the last few days, and hope she will soon be well.

We hope our general committee makes a success of their visit to Philadelphia.

Bro. Minter, from "GC," has resigned, and gone to his home at New Oxford, Pa.

We can accommodate branch brothers for the next meeting, and wish they would visit. Come on No. 67, and return on No. 4. See what nice meetings we have. We have a standing aid committee, and all cases of sickness, destitution, etc., should be reported promptly to Bro. Riegel.

Sunbury and Lewistown Branch—

Bro. C. B. Wetzel, of Beavertown, off on a week's trip to unknown parts; relieved by Bro. Hawbecker.

Bro. E. S. Boyer, of S. Grove nights, off on a ten-day vacation; relieved by Telegrapher Carey, who, in turn, was relieved by Bro. Cleaver.

Bro. Burns, of Selinsgrove days, spent a two weeks' vacation visiting and fishing.

Noticed quite a bunch of the boys on No. 68 on the night of the 12th, bound for the meeting. Reported a good time, plenty of important business and eight new applicants. The non will soon be a thing of the past on the Sunbury, Lewistown and Shamokin Divisions.

We are sorry to hear of the illness of Bro. C. F. Wagner's mother, and hope for a speedy recovery.

Have noticed quite a bit of fooling on the wires of late. Hope it is not a man who wears the button.

"13" there was a sick committee appointed at the last meeting, but have not heard the full particulars.

News scarce this month, so will cut out.

CERT. 15.

Branch Notes—

Our regular meeting called to order by our worthy chief, Bro. Riegler, with all the other officers present, at 8:30 p. m. About thirty-five members on hand. After the boys had emptied their pockets the secretary and treasurer had eight applications on his desk to dispose of. Mr. A. D.

Ludwig and Mr. W. T. Dyer, who were waiting in the ante-room, were brought in and introduced to "Billy," who put them in to clear, and they were made brothers of the craft. We were favored with several selections on the piano by Bro. Grant. Bro. Burns, of Division 52, sang several solos. Bro. Gill, of the grand division, was with us, and gave quite an interesting talk, which was enjoyed by all. Bro. Schoffstall, of Division 24, was with us, and gave a nice little talk on the good of the Order.

If the boys from the branch would take an interest in the meetings, and turn out like the S. & L. boys, we would certainly have to get a larger hall. Now, boys, why can't you come down on No. 67 and back on No. 4 in the morning. The Sunbury boys would try and accommodate you.

We were certainly pleased to receive the applications of the four lady telephone operators from the S. & L.

Our local board of adjustment had a very agreeable interview with Mr. Gearhart, division operator, August 30th, and Mr. Allibone, superintendent, September 9th. Your local board of adjustment would like to see every member do his best to give good service. The better service we give the company the easier it will be for your committee to secure concessions.

Bro. A. D. Ludwig has bid in Nescopeck Junction nights.

Bro. Cornelson, of "AG" tower, is doing extra work in "SB" office, Sunbury.

Boys, we want to get busy and try and get as many out to the next meeting as possible.

Our efficient local chairman, Bro. Kase, and Committeemen Walker and McCracken visited Sunbury on business recently.

The boys of Sunbury office are availing themselves of the opportunity to take their vacations. Bros. Ashworth, Blecker and Montgomery and Miss Diehl have enjoyed this pleasure, while Bro. Miller is rusticated in Denver, Colo., and vicinity. Upon his return Bros. Riegel and Otto will seek recreation in the country.

Local Chairman Kase will attend a meeting of the general committee at Philadelphia. While the boys of the Sunbury Division have had indirect representation at previous meetings, we feel that our interests will be well protected in this instance by Bro. Kase.

We have a number of brothers (and a few others), who persist in fooling on the wires. They use terms which gentlemen would not use, and while they think they are clever, do not possess the polish and horse sense of an experienced telegrapher, and only bring discredit upon themselves from their subordinate officers. A student's first ambition is to fool on the wires, but when he attains manhood it is presumed that he will discredit such childish practices.

J. M. Gallagher, recently employed, holds a card in the C. T. U., at the expiration of which we hope to have him affiliate with Division No. 12.

Boys, get after Telegrapher Hall, a new recruit, working on the branch.

A recent circular to all telegraphers and signalmen, brought forth very prompt and favorable replies, with one exception, and that from an individual who appears to possess a remarkable amount of the famous "mollycoddle" instinct, as follows:

Q. "Are you satisfied with your present conditions?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Q. "How does the amount of business done by you now, compare with that done during the ten-day period, March 22 to March 31, this spring?"

A. "About 50 per cent less."

Q. "Are you willing that we represent you in any negotiations for increased pay, etc.?"

A. "I will look after that part myself."

This, in the nineteenth century, from a man who has followed the profession for years, at a $35 and $40 salary, until recent efforts of the O. R. T. secured for him an adjustment, a 10 per cent raise, an annual pass and better working conditions, not to mention the one relief day he enjoys each month, with salary. Is such beastly obstinacy displayed by the intelligent or the illiterate? If, through misfortune, this individual should lose his left wing reaching for more concessions, which we may secure for him, we pray he may retain his pedal appendages, and thus enable him to kick for his portion. Who is he? Is he a "non?"

Our brothers of Lancaster Division, No. 9, were much elated upon the admission of a "Miss" at a recent meeting, whom they believe to be the only lady on the East holding a card. They may become enlightened by referring to page 1256, August issue of THE TELEGRAPHER. Miss Carrie P. Seid has long held a card in Division No. 12. Moreover we have had a young lady working in "SB" during the past seventeen years, who has about concluded that it would just be delightful to possess a nice blue card. This will put us one ahead of our Lancaster brothers.

If any of the brothers desire notes inserted in THE TELEGRAPHER please forward same before the 25th of each month to the correspondent.

CERT. 46.

C., St. P., M. & O. Ry.

Nebraska Division—

We have been very fortunate this month in having several bunches of news sent us, for which we are very grateful. It is a pleasure to send in a write-up when one has some material to work on, and when one feels that at least some of the others take an interest, and want things to move along briskly. Don't forget to send in notes whenever anything turns up. If you take a vacation of a few days or more, just drop me a line and say where you are going, and who relieves you, and how long you expect to be gone. I will see that it gets into the journal, and thank you in the bargain.

Bro. Pranger, agent at Dakota City, is taking a short vacation; being relieved by Bro. I. W. Marr, agent at Fordyce.

Bro. Wassum, agent at Ponca, made a short visit to his old home at Arlington, Neb., over Sunday, and was shaking hands with old acquaintances along the road.

Mr. Paul Pinion is now installed as agent at Newcastle, and Bro. Wise has left the telegraph service. Hope he will be successful in whatever work he undertakes.

Bro. F. B. Smith, agent at Emerson, is taking a well-earned vacation, and visiting his parents in Princeton, Ill. He and his wife will no doubt have a very enjoyable time. He is being relieved by P. N. Peterson.

Bro. D. C. Leamer has resumed his duties as agent at Wakefield, after a few weeks spent in rural pursuits, and having a good time with his "kid band," of which, by the way, he has cause to be justly proud. They handle their music well, and give promise of developing into fine musicians in the near future.

There seems to be a good many changes of late in day telegrapher at Wakefield. At present writing Bro. Twiss, a C. T. U. man from Chicago, has bid in the job, and is certainly making good at it. This is the kind of timber that the C. T. U. has, and it is just this kind of material that is making life a burden for the Western Union people. Give them all the encouragement you can, brothers, and they will be working under better conditions before long.

Mr. Strauss, telegrapher from Crofton, has bid in the agency at Concord, and Telegrapher Jacobsen has tendered his resignation. Do not know what he intends to do at present.

Bro. Germain and wife, of Hartington, have returned home from their trip, and report a fine time. Bro. Hoyer resumed his regular position as day telegrapher, and Mr. Ferber went to Coleridge for a few days to relieve Bro. Wilson, while he hid himself to Norfolk on business.

Bro. Meyer and some boon companions made a trip to Bloomfield recently in an automobile to attend a ball game, and he reports making the return trip in sixty minutes—twenty-three miles.

Bro. Marr, agent at Fordyce, has been taking a vacation, and was relieved by Bro. R. R. Larson, a recent addition to the Order.

Telegrapher Cross has been working days at Crofton for some time. Do not know where he is from. Hope he wears the right color.

Bro. Hayes, days at Wayne, has bid in the night telegrapher position in dispatcher's office, Omaha, and was relieved at Wayne by Bro. Cooper, former wire chief in "XD" office W. U., Sioux City. Bro. Hayes will fill the bill, all right, and we are glad to see him advance. Bro. Cooper is built of the right stuff, and we hope to see him and all other worthy C. T. U. brothers win out in their struggle with organized capital and greed. Bro. Cooper also relieved Bro. Crouch, local chairman, at Tekamah for a week, while the latter was resting up some and taking in the sights at the Interstate Fair.

Bro. Wallahan, who bid in the agency at Thurston on last bulletin, received a message from his home in Iowa that a relative was very sick, and he was relieved for a few days by Mr. Whitaker, late of the freight office at Blair.

Bro. Slinger, days at Pender, is enjoying a thirty days' leave of absence, hunting in the wilds of Montana; relieved by Bro. Elias, recently with the Western Union at Omaha.

Telegrapher's position at Lyons is vacant temporarily, since Bro. Wallace took Thurston. Understand Mr. Reed is trying to "manufacture" a telegrapher for the place before the next bulletin comes out. It's "awful nice" to have everything kept in the family.

Old-timer, Bro. D. W. Marr, agent at Fort Calhoun, has broken the record, and taken a two weeks' lay off, going into Colorado and other western points; relieved by Bro. I. W. Marr, a nephew.

Bro. Carney, days at North Yard, took a few days off recently, and was relieved by the night man, Mr. Clifton. Don't know who relieved nights.

By the way, Mr. Clifton has made numerous promises to come in with us, but as yet has not made good. We hope he will soon be in a position to give us his support in a substantial manner, after getting the benefits that he has for over a year now.

Mr. Taylor has returned from his vacation, and is again doing stunts on branch dispatcher's wire. Bro. Shellington resumes day side wire to St. Paul, and, with Bro. Hayes, night side wire man, they have a fine working force in our dispatcher's office.

Bro. Frost, agent at Craig, has bid in the day telegrapher position at Emerson, made vacant by Bro. F. B. Smith taking the agency at that place.

We hear that Mr. A. C. Gibson, formerly a telegrapher on this division, and more recently with the Milwaukee, at Mapleton, Iowa, and Fair Grounds, Sioux City, has quit the service of the railways and entered upon the duties of a scab at "XD," Sioux City, Western Union office, and is trying to break the strike at that point. We are of the opinion that if he gives the same kind of service for the Western Union that he did for this road, they also will very soon be glad to drop him. It's a good thing he never got into the O. R. T., as his conduct now shows very clearly what his principles are, and the O. R. T. does not need any of that kind.

Again I wish to thank those brothers who so kindly contributed to this month's items.

Div. Cor.

Wisconsin Division, Northern District—

Brothers on this division will be very glad to learn of the change recently made in the local chairmanship. The office could not have fallen into better hands than those of Bro. S. S. Brodt, of Clear Lake, who will now do the necessary. The present correspondent will continue to call upon you each month for items. Bro. Apelquist, of Turtle Lake, continues to be the mainstay in the news-gathering line, and keeps your correspondent posted over a considerable territory. Aren't there a few more who can easily write a few lines weekly or monthly?

Bob Murray passed up the line the other night with fifteen instruments, and had the temerity and gall to ask one of the Omaha boys to come up and wire his instruments for him. Now what do you think of that? Guess Bobby won't do much harm, excepting to one or two tens he may get.

The following assignments have been made public: New Richmond, day telegrapher, Bro. Leding; Deer Park, agent-telegrapher, Bro. C. D. Berg; Nettleton avenue, day telegrapher, Bro. A. C. Dimock, and Cameron, night telegrapher, Bro. J. D. Fouts.

Bro. Peterson, formerly agent-telegrapher at Deer Park, has left the service, and is spending a vacation at Gordon, Wis.

Bro. C. C. Anderson, owl at Comstock, and later agent there, has resigned, and is now second trick man at Albany, N. Y., for the N. Y. C.

Bro. G. L. Gray has resumed duty at Comstock as agent.

Bro. H. E. Harbour, Cumberland, was away a week visiting the old folks at home; relieved by Bro. C. G. Anderson, and he, in turn, by Bro. P. M. Olson, just back from Washington, on the N. P.

Bro. VanMeter, Hudson, was up to New Richmond to take in the fair one day; relieved by Bro. P. M. Olson.

Bro. O. C. Gullickson, Clayton, with his wife, sojourned in the Twin Cities a few days. Bro. P. M. Olson held the chair down during the former's absence.

Bro. Stanton, at Rusk, had to come back to the key before his vacation had expired to allow Bro. Gaarden to go to Turtle Lake to relieve Bro. L. W. Kirchner, who went to the bedside of his ill mother in Southern Wisconsin.

Bro. F. D. Sinclair back to the key and levers at Trego. H. L. Sinclear off on a vacation, and that good friend of the telegraphers, J. W. Quinn, takes his place.

C. Kennedy, Trego, thinks there is too much graft in the O. R. T. How about the overtime and $60 a year you are taking, my dear boy?

M. G. Morris is holding down New Richmond nights, awaiting the next bulletin.

General Chairman Liddane made a trip over the line early in the month, and called on Bros. Quinlan and Brodt.

There are a few who have not paid their dues for the second term. What a shame.

Have you done anything to help the striking commercial telegraphers?

Why do you not send a news item or two? They help.

Div. Cor.

Wisconsin Division, Eastern District—

"Gradually the nons become fewer on this pike, and it won't be long before we can present an almost solid front. There are a few that nothing short of a can of dynamite would awaken. How any fair-minded man can set back and enjoy the fruits procured by the united efforts of his fellow craftsmen, and refuse to assist them, is beyond me. There is Rylander, agent at Lake Elmo; Locke, agent at Beldenville; Frost, day telegrapher at River Falls; McGarroh, night man at Roberts. Can any one of these men give any kind of a plausible excuse for not belonging to the Order? No, they can not. There are times when it seems a hardship for us to remit dues, as any one is liable to be short of money, but that little card entitles us to the friendship, good-will and help of millions of united laborers. Any union man will give you the good right hand if your card reads up-to-date. It is worth a whole lot to you to be a union man.

I attended the benefit concert given by Lodge No. 9, Commercial Telegraphers Union in St. Paul, August 22d, and enjoyed a very clever entertainment. That blue card was the opening wedge into all the good time that evening, and right now, boys, the C. T. U. are showing us a great and glorious lesson in unionism. Not a break. Not a single desertion in St. Paul Lodge No. 9 since the walkout a month ago. There's faithfulness and loyalty for you. Some of the young lady members who were receiving the princely sum of $40 per month, and some the only support of their families, obeyed the call, and are still out. Too much honor to be a "scab."

The Wisconsin Division local committee voted $10 out of the local treasury for the purchase of tickets for the benefit concert of striking telegraphers. Bro. Quinlan and yours truly also had the pleasure of selling quite a number of tickets. The total contribution from this division amounted to nearly $50.

A lot of these items should have been in last month's write-up, but I was in a hurry, and sent it in early. This month I went the limit.

So many are laying off that it is impossible to keep them lined-up, as very few ever say anything.

Bro. Brown and wife, of Roberts, started August 29th, for a trip of a month through California; relieved by Bro. J. R. Kidd.

Bro. Vosburg, at Northline, was off for two weeks; relieved by Bro. Donahy; who, in turn, was relieved by Bro. Larson.

Yours truly was off for ten days; relieved by Bro. R. M. Olson, who holds an up-to-date card on the N. P. He says he will be transferred to No. 76 if he decides to stay.

Bro. Liddane has returned to work, after being off about three weeks.

Bro. Gauss has returned to work at Altoona.

Bro. Hoffman relieving Bro. Showater for a few days.

Bro. C. O. Marske is now working nights at Fairchild, after receiving a month's vacation on account of sore eyes.

Operator Funne, Clear Lake nights, to Warren in place of Bro. A. K. Satterfield, who, I think, is laying off.

Bro. H. Garden has returned to Baldwin, after a couple of months' servitude on the Northern District.

A. M. Wold, B. R. Falls, is now a full-fledged member.

A. C. Dimock has filled out application papers, and by this time should again be an up-to-dater.

Mr. R. F. Norser, of Eau Claire office, has accepted a position with the N. P. at Jamestown, N.

D.; relieved by Bro. O. T. Balgord on assistant car job.

We received notice the latter part of last month of the death of Bro. J. T. Halvorson, who formerly worked on this division, and who was a member of Division 76. The notice was received too late to go in last month. There are probably a number of you who were acquainted with him.

Business is picking up, and the ten new freight engines are coming in just right.

Result of August bulletin:

Tunnel, day telegrapher, J. A. Kneer.

Wright, day telegrapher, P. S. Peterson.

Augusta, day telegrapher, D. A. Campbell.

Turtle Lake, night telegrapher, J. C. Applequist.

Comstock, agent-telegrapher, G. L. Cray.

September bulletin:

Wright, day telegrapher, H. H. Adams.

Wilson, agent-telegrapher, J. J. Bailey.

New Richmond, day telegrapher, W. C. Ledding.

Deer Park, agent-telegrapher, T. A. Berg.

Nettleton avenue, day telegrapher, A. C. Dimock.

Cameron, night telegrapher, J. D. Fouts.

At this writing the Western Union strike is still in progress, the men showing a wonderful determination to stick it out to the bitter end. It is no doubt the intention of that company to beat the men, as they did in 1883; in fact, President Clowry remarked that they would win as they did at that time, and thereby secure peace for another twenty years. Will this giant octopus be able to protract this struggle indefinitely without regard to public welfare, just for the purpose of whipping their employees into submission, and then subject them to a further degree of the slavery which they have been gradually injecting into their system?

Have not the people been robbed long enough by the juggling of stocks of this octopus whereby millions of watered stock have been made to pay dividends? What are the telegraphers and station agents doing throughout the country in the way of carrying on a campaign of education among the people for the government ownership of the telephone and telegraph wires? The government has no trouble with its employees. They have the eight-hour day and from two weeks to a month's vacation each year, with pay. The first year in their lowest grade of occupations the wages are about the same as the highest paid a telegrapher, but they are increased yearly until about $100 per month is reached. With the government in control of the wires the same condition would prevail in the telegraph service, and the strikes and lock-outs would be a thing of the past. Of course, some of the degenerate scions of the nobility of Europe would miss the millions that are taken out of this country with the marriageable daughters of the millionaires, but what do we care for this?

The president of the International Typographical Union has this to say in regard to the eight-hour day, a movement for which that organization fought so valiantly, and won: "We find that wherever the eight-hour day has been in effect for a year or more, the wages have been increased with comparatively little friction."

The strike of the Bell Telephone operators in Toronto finally resulted in the appointment of a government commission to investigate the merits of the controversy, and the statement issued by this commission was of a startling nature from the fact that the investigators found that the girls were not paid a living wage, were required to work in unsanitary buildings and had to submit to most everything that was debasing to womanhood. There was no regard shown for the welfare of the girls, other than what dividends they were able to create. The commission recommended legislative action as a remedy, and it is now said that a corrective law will be placed on the statute books at the next session of Parliament. So much for the strike.

There is much speculation as to what course the railroads will take in connection with the national nine-hour law. Will they endeavor to nullify the law by trickery and other devices at the hands of high-priced attorneys, or will they submit to the provisions of that law? The question arises: What will the telegraphers do to see that the law is enforced. Are they to sit idly on their chairs and wait for something to happen when the whole question rests within their hands to settle? We demand an eight-hour day and six days to constitute a week's work.

Western Division—

I wonder how many on this division have looked over the Fraternal Department of the journal for the past year, and on failing to find a few notes from this division, sighed a sigh that could almost be heard from Niles to Chicago?

Were you ever visiting on other divisions, and, when asked what division you were from, and you replied: "The west end," notice that the first thing you were asked was: "Why don't some of you fellows up there get a few notes in the journal so the other divisions will know what is going on there?" Yes, that is the first fire out of the box, and I tell you it makes a fellow feel rather abashed.

Let us try and see if we can not have a few notes in the journal every month.

Bro. Moon, of "JI" tower, came into the fold a few weeks ago, but resigned his position to try the Wabash, we understand. Our best wishes go with him, and we hope he keeps the colors flying.

Since Bro. Barton left "DO," Chicago, the first of September, there has been three different telegraphers at work there. Must be something wrong.

Bro. Herran, our new dispatcher, has taken unto himself a wife. We all extend our best wishes, and hope his married career will not make him nervous on "31's."

Mr. Van Riper is doing the owl trick at "JI" tower since Bro. Moon's departure. We hope to soon call him "brother."

Bro. Dell, former agent at Dyer, has landed the agency at Tolleston.

Bro. Glover, who, for the past two years or more, has been day telegrapher at Porter, bid in the agency at Dyer. We understand he is very well satisfied with the job.

Bro. Benton, former night owl at Gibson yard, has gone back to Michigan to work for the P. M. Mr. LeClear is filling the vacancy.

Bro. Ed Stoeckle, who has been holding down the second day trick as dispatcher at "TY," made a few friendly calls along the line on the 2d. Glad to see him, and hope he will come again.

We feel sorry that our division superintendent, Mr. M. B. Snow, has left us, but rejoice with him in his promotion to assistant general superintendent. Mr. J. H. Snyder, our former division superintendent, is again with us in his old position, and we extend to Mr. Snyder the hand of welcome.

There have been so many changes of late on the division that it is hard work for our local chairman to keep a record of all.

Have not had a meeting for some time, but expect to hold one soon, and hope every brother will attend and come prepared to do his share toward making these meetings a success.

Now, boys, if you hear or know of anything that will be of interest to all, make a note of it and send to your local chairman, and he will do the rest. Let us all contribute these notes in the future, and make them of interest to all.

CERT. 156.

Middle Division—Valley—

The brothers can not expect to see very much in the way of items this month, as they have not given me any news. Really, it does seem as though you might inform on the other fellow if you feel too modest to tell on yourself.

Bro. Hardke resumed duty Monday, September 23d, after having a two weeks' vacation; Bro. Mead relieving.

Bro. Rosenbrook is spending ten days with friends and relatives at Concord and Cassopolis. This seems to be the way the fellows are finding time to get more acquainted with their wives and children; quite a scheme, and a good one, too, under existing circumstances. Bro. McIntyre is acting agent and telegrapher during Bro. Rosenbrook's absence, and Bro. F. W. Chapman, a new man from the C., I. & S., is doing the night trick.

Bro. Potter had the pleasure of spending a couple of days at his home in Marshall, taking in the Calhoun County Fair last week.

Bro. Wilks, formerly of Niles, has been appointed day telegrapher and dispatcher at Kalamazoo, vice J. G. Griffith, a veteran long in the service of the M. C. Under what circumstances Mr. Griffith retired I have been unable to learn as yet.

Bro. Slighter, nights at "CJ" office, Grand Rapids, has resigned to accept a better position with a commission firm. Bro. Fitch is now turning the night trick at that point.

Bro. Hathaway "UP" office, Grand Rapids was called away suddenly on account of his brother-in-law being killed at Stratford, Ont. No particulars.

COR.

Georgia Southern & Florida Railway.

The writer is yet feeling good over our last meeting, September 15. We have never had a better meeting since we organized, but the attendance might have been greater. We are to a great extent careless, indifferent and negligent in this matter, which is of vital importance to all concerned. Do not expect the faithful few to keep the machinery of the organization oiled and running as smoothly as though you were lending your assistance to the cause. Come out to the meetings; let us see and get acquainted with you. Come out and express your views; you might have something up your sleeves that would be of much interest to us.

On my way down to our last meeting I questioned several who were not going to attend the meeting. Some gave reasonable and plausible excuses, while others were so flimsy they would not stand an acid test.

Did you know or had you ever thought that this one thing makes schedules difficult to secure on some roads? Show me a pike where all the boys have lost all interest in their organization, and I will show you an army of men working under a schedule worse than no schedule at all. Suppose the B. L. E.'s and O. R. C.'s were to look upon their union with as much indifference as we apparently do ours? Figure the results for yourself. Their union would be looked upon as a very small thing, and to ask for a decent raise would be simply out of the question. How do you expect your superintendent to show proper respect for your union when you yourself ignore everything that it takes to make it strong? Show him that you are greatly interested by asking permission from your chief to attend your monthly meetings. Let me impress upon you the importance of looking out for yourselves. This one thing has been the means of the capitalist growing stronger and stronger each year. Have you been looking out for your interest? No! Your very condition shows it. Your home shows it, and the whole world knows it.

Are you ashamed of your organization; do you feel a delicacy in requesting a pass to attend meetings for fear of discharge? Well, now, don't let that worry you any longer. If there was any virtue in such a version as this, the faithful few would have long ago got it in the neck. We have appealed to you in every manner possible to attend meetings, and we are gratified to learn that not all have turned a deaf ear to our appeals. But, for the stubbornness of a few, we have adopted another plan. We ask you to look from now on at the financial side of the question. We have adopted a rule that you are to pay a fine of $1.00 for non-attendance, unless some providential excuse is rendered. I think this will bring about a material change with the boys, and from now on I think we can look forward to a good attendance. We want you to attend. We had rather have your attendance than thrice the amount of $1.00.

Every organized road should meet once a month and transact all business pertaining to the Order, look after the "back-sliders," attend to the nons, tell their troubles, and have the evils rectified. Have a specified Sunday in each month to meet on each division; give every member to understand that his or her presence at these meetings is of vital importance.

There is another thing of vital importance to the station telegrapher, that should by no means be overlooked, and that is the treatment accorded the public by us. While I readily admit that in most instances the public is given more consideration than the station agent receives, at the same time this is just one of the ten thousand things that you are expected to accept as a part of your duties and digest it as best you can.

Suppose that you were acting in the capacity of station agent, with not a friend in town, and from some cause there was a strike called on your line; do you think that the people in your town would feel any the worse off on account of your having walked out on a strike? Not a bit. If a scab was sent to take your place, the people there would to some extent breathe a sigh of relief. Be ever ready to answer all questions with a smile instead of a look of importance. Have a good word for every one with whom you come in contact. You will not only make friends with the public, but raise yourself in the estimation of your employer. The company prize all such men, and will make concessions to retain them in the service. To cut a long story short, always make friends wherever you go. You will never lose anything by so doing.

Be prompt in answering your calls and correspondence. Get daily and monthly reports in on time. If you see that you are not going to make it, write the auditor and advise him that you are going to run a few days late, and to kindly overlook same. Give all the officers to understand that your card means something.

There has been much said in reference to telegraph schools, and how to stamp them out. We all know that there is nothing good comes of these schools. They are a humbug from beginning to end, and with but few exceptions those who attend never amount to anything unless taken in and finished up by an agent.

I will proceed to give you a few notes of what has transpired since the last write-up.

Bro. Watson tells us that he is getting along nicely and that, barring a relapse, he will be ready to do business at the old stand soon.

Bros. C. H. Mahone, Unadilla, and J. M. Wooten, Pinchurst, have returned from Jamestown, and report a fine time.

Bro. W. G. Barnes, who has been relieving Bro. Watson, at Sofkee, during his protracted illness, has returned to Dakota, being relieved by Bro. W. A. Hair.

Bro. L. G. Cox, we "13," has left us for a few days, not knowing whether he will be with us any longer, as he has something up his sleeve for a place in Fitzgerald. We regret to see Bro. Cox leave us.

Bro. Schneider, at Elko, has been relieved by Bro. H. M. Martin, from the L. & N. Bro. Schneider is going into the insurance business.

It has been rumored that Bro. A. Green, at Worth, would vacate that neck of the woods and relieve Bro. Bobbie Beard, Bro. Beard quitting to attend school. We have not learned who will fill Bro. Green's place at Worth.

Our meeting at Tifton, Sept. 15, was largely attended, and a rousing good meeting was enjoyed by all present. Members present were as follows: O. H. Watson, Sofkee; L. D. Hamilton, Tifton; J. L. Roberts, Valdosta; E. O'Quin, Tifton; C. Avriett, W. R. Hayes, Lake City; A. J. Roberts, Hahira; J. M. Wooten, Pinehurst; W. O. Wilson, Vienna; P. O. Lee, Cordele; W. B. Tracey, Lake City (S. A. L.); A. H. Fussel, Tifton; W. B. Whipple, Albany (A. C. L. Division 132); L. G. Cox, Ashburn; L. J. Hall (A. B. & A.), Tifton; C. H. Mahone, Unadilla; S. E. Turner, Unadilla; R. H. Sasser, Kathleen; C. P. McIntyre, Tifton; C. J. N. Clark, Wellston; R. B. Kimball (A. C. L. Division 132).

Bro. A. S. Wellons, of Sparks, tendered his resignation, and asked that we accept same, as other duties left him no time to devote to the place of S. & T.

Under the circumstances we accepted Bro. Wellons' resignation. Bro. W. R. Hayes, of Lake City was nominated to succeed Bro. Wellons as S. & T. south of Tifton. Matter was voted on. Bro. Hayes was elected.

Meeting adjourned at 4:50 p. m. until the third Sunday in October. "Rzd."

Electric Division—

The Electric Division will hold a grand reunion and ball at Murray Hill Lyceum, 34th street and Third avenue, New York City, on Monday, November 11th.

Murray Hill Lyceum was chosen, as it is conveniently located for the members and friends of all the railroads in and around New York City.

Bros. Noon, Neumiller, Dooley, Lester and Vernon have charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Stegman, mother of Dispatcher Bro. H. Stegman, died on Tuesday, September 10th. We extend our sincerest sympathy.

Was glad to see the large number of brothers present at the C. T. U. benefit. Read Bro. Quick's second letter, and get busy. Now is the time to show your generosity. The commercial telegraphers' fight is also your fight.

Bro. Ed Neumiller has been appointed instructor of towers. This position was created on account of the new electrical machines on the upper part of the Electrical Division "X."

Trains changed running from left to right hand on Sunday, August 25th. Everything worked in good shape. Automatic signals are installed from 98th street to Mott Haven Junction. Towers at 125th, 135th and 140th streets discontinued; 106th street towers remain on account of the switches. Telegraphers have been placed at the south end of Harlem River draw-bridge, "new VN." All the men displaced have been placed in the new towers on the "X" part of the Electrical Division. The men would like to have the positions in dispatcher's office advertised. It doesn't seem fair to put brand new men into the dispatcher's office, when there is an abundance of material along the line.

The regular monthly meetings of the Electric Division will be held on the third Wednesday of each month, at 8:30 p. m., Room 54, Colonial building, 67 and 69 West 125th street, New York City. Every third meeting will be a day meeting. Next day meeting December 18th, at 10 a. m.

Where are those promised vacations?

T. F. Noon.

CARD OF THANKS.

I wish to express my appreciation and thanks to the brother telegraphers of the Electric Division, N. Y. C. Railway, for the beautiful floral piece and messages of sympathy in my recent bereavement.

Faternally yours,

H. G. STEGMAN.

Electric Division N. Y. C. Railway.

Mohawk Division—

At the meeting held at Fonda on the 18th of September, there were but eleven present. On account of No. 74 being over an hour late, the members from west of Fonda were unable to attend. Nevertheless a very enthusiastic meeting was held, and many subjects of importance were discussed. Five applications were handed in at this meeting.

Bro. Maricle B. S. 24, is at Buffalo looking after his father's business during the latter's illness.

A few of the nons we line-up as follows: G. W. Suits, B. S. 18; C. Knowlton, Amsterdam; H. K. Hoyt, Amsterdam; F. S. Beedleson, Canajoharie; E. D. Teller, B. S. 4; F. H. Greene, B. S. 22; J. L. Miller, "CQ;" H. C. Dowling, St. Johnsville, W. S.

It beats all that some people love to reap and not sow.

Among the changes the following have been reported from the east end:

Bro. Swan, from B. S. 20, third trick, to B. S. 3, third trick.

Bro. Lawson, from B. S. 20, second trick, to E. Clarks Mills, first trick.

Bro. Van Alstyne, from B. S. 20, first trick, to third trick same point.

Bro. M. P. Kyser, regular relief, to B. S. 20, second trick.

Bro. J. H. Goeser, extra signalman, to B. S. 25, second trick.

Bro. W. E. Geary, B. S. "RJ," second trick, to B. S. 19, first trick.

Bro. J. J. Batte, B. S. 21, first trick, to B. S. 35, first trick.

Bro. A. J. Moak, B. S. 17, third trick, to B. S. 44, second trick.

Bro. H. H. Long, B. S. 23, first trick, to B. S. 25-A, third trick.

Bro. J. Ward, B. S. 29, second trick, to Clarks Mills, first trick.

Rowland Thomas, formerly general yardmaster at Utica, has recently been acting as special officer, protecting the scab telegrapher employed by the Postal Telegraph Company, escorting him between that company's office and the Yates Hotel at Utica.

Miss Sabine, at one time a telegrapher at Utica passenger station, and later in the ticket office at same point, is now scabbing at the Western Union office, Utica.

The news that several positions which have been recently made eight hours, are to be cut in salary, beginning October 1st, is not relished by the telegraphers, and is causing quite an amount of discontent. Rather a hard matter to support a family on the wages paid at present, and a cut would, in a measure, work a hardship on many.

Five or six telegraphers with up-to-date cards, have recently arrived from the Western Union at St. Paul and the Great Northern, and been put to work on the "Mohawk." Among them is Bro. A. H. Comstock, who holds both the O. R. T. and C. T. U. cards. He is at present covering the night trick at Utica yard office.

There are many rumors regarding eight hours for telegraphers who do not handle signals, but nothing officially. The latest is that the entire Mohawk Division is to be made eight hours. Seventy-second street, New York, was made eight hours on the 13th of September.

Local Chairman Bro. H. B. Morey is receiving the congratulations of the fraternity on his marriage, which took place September 7th, at Utica. Perhaps the best account is given by one of that city's papers, as follows: "In the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom, Horace B. Morey and Miss Lavina Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Freeman, were married at noon today at the pleasant home of the bride's parents, 241 Steuben street, by Rev. S. W. Brown, pastor of the South St. M. E. Church. The bride and groom were unattended, and the happy occasion was entirely devoid of unnecessary display. Mr. Morey and his bride stood beneath a wedding bell of golden rod while the ceremony was being performed, and the house was charmingly decorated with the bright flowers of autumn. Mrs. Leon Moore and Chester A. Moore, sister and nephew, respectively, of the bride, played the wedding march which ushered the bridal couple to its place in the front parlor, where the ceremony was performed. Immediately following the ceremony, and after the few guests who had been bidden to the wedding had extended their congratulations and inspected the beautiful array of silver, cut glass, table linen and bric-a-brac with which the bride was favored, a sumptuous wedding luncheon was served. Mr. Morey and his bride took the afternoon train for the East, and will spend their honeymoon in New York and Boston. Upon their return they will be at home after November 1st, at 102 Jefferson avenue.

The groom has charge of the West Shore station in this city, and is a young man who is regarded as having a future before him in the railroad business, should he care to continue his activities in that field of endeavor. The bride is a young lady who has endeared herself to everybody with whom she has come in contact by the many graces which are hers.

Bro. Tom Joyce has been transferred from Chittenango station to the new W. S. eight-hour block station at that point.

Here's hoping that all brothers will have a like portion meted out to them soon. This may look like an expensive matter to the company, but 'tis the scribe's conclusion that each and every one of the telegraphers in their employ will put forth their best efforts every minute of the eight hours on duty, thus offsetting the extra expense.

Div. Com.

Hudson Division—

I have been requested by Bro. West, our local chairman, to see that the Hudson Division is represented in the journal this month, owing to the fact that his time is taken up with matters of importance.

The long-expected time has arrived and every block station on this division is working eight hours. Can you realize what that means? Perhaps some of you younger men in the service do not, but we who have been here a few years remember the twelve long hours, without a day off, 365 days a year, and the $40 salaries. We now feel that at last the telegraphers and signalmen are on a fair road to better conditions. What a difference it makes in our homes. How our families smile when we come home to enjoy an evening or a few hours with them, which was impossible when we were obliged to pass just one-half of our lives in block stations. But now, with all the pleasures of the eight-hour day don't forget you each have a duty to perform. Show the officials that it is appreciated by simply giving the best service possible. They have done their part by putting us on an eight-hour basis one month before the law went into effect. We should now get busy and land the non members on this division. If every man would make it a point to secure one or more applications we would soon present a solid front. Show the erring ones what the Order has done for us, and that there is still more to be accomplished if we can only make Division No. 8 solid.

I can not give items from the south end, but if some of the brothers will send a few notes to Bro. West I am sure he will look after it each month.

We are very sorry to chronicle the death of the mother of Bro. Snyder, who is located at B. S. 68. She had been a long and patient sufferer, and Division No. 8 extends to him its deepest sympathy in his sad bereavement.

The inspectors have been busy breaking in new men. Don't be slighted if they haven't called on you.

Rector at 67, and Alger at 86, have come in out of the wet.

We are having fine meetings at Poughkeepsie the third Tuesday of each month. The members should attend, and by so doing encourage our local chairman in the grand work he is doing. Not only that, but you will spend a very pleasant and profitable evening yourselves. We always have a good attendance from the north end, as far as Albany. Why can't the south end be represented?

CERT. 356.

A. C. L. Ry.Sanford District—

I will try to give this district a write-up once more, but I have very little news, only one of the boys contributing this month.

Everything seems to be moving along pretty well down this way at this writing. Wish that some of the men could see more clearly, and let us have their applications. Possibly they will in time, but it is hardly right for others to work and they enjoy the benefits without an effort.

There are several jobs open at present: Port Tampa scales, nights; Ybor City, nights, and Altamonte Springs agency. Hope the men that fill these places will hold up-to-date cards.

We are glad to state that Bro. Searcy, of Longwood, will be back at his old stand some time this month. He has been enjoying a month's vacation in the mountains of Sunny Tennessee.

Bro. Drawdy, of Altamonte Springs, has resigned.

Bro. Lord, of Loughman, is awaiting the coming of his relief. He is probably going to spend a week or two in "good old Georgia."

Bro. Cameron, of Winter Haven, is being relieved by Bro. C. D. Goodwin, who is an old-timer on this road, but was working for the Western Union at the time of the commercial telegraphers' strike.

Mr. Webster, night man at Port Tampa scales, has resigned, and is leaving the service.

Bro. Johnson, dispatcher, is at home sick with fever. We hope that he will soon recover.

Several of the boys were asked to send a few items, but I presume they overlooked it, as only one complied with my request.

I hope that every member on this district responded promptly to Bro. Quick's request for contributions for the benefit of the commercial telegraphers.

CERT. III.

Savannah District—

The following new members have been taken in since my last write-up, or had not previously been reported, owing to information reaching me too late:

Messrs. R. W. Best, W. L. Robinson, L. J. Courson, J. L. Leigh, E. C. Wasden, J. E. Johnson, W. M. Harvey, J. H. Sweat and F. J. Coniff, all of whom are now wearing the little button with the wreath and sounder.

The boys are taking such an interest all over the district that desirable nons are rapidly becoming "few and far between."

Bro. L. M. Branch, of Ludowici, has left the service to attend school at Barnesville, Ga. We wish him success, and congratulate him on the opportunity he has to educate himself.

His place at Ludowici was filled by our old stand-by, Bro. D. R. Warren, who we are glad to see with us once more.

Bro. P. H. Raiford and wife, of Ludowici tower, have just returned from a thirty days' vacation, spent at White Sulphur Springs.

Bro. E. L. Porter has just returned from a ten days' vacation spent in the mountains. He was accompanied by his wife and little son.

Bro. W. W. Currie, of Race Pond, is off for a ten days' vacation; being relieved by a Mr. Vickery.

Regret to note that Bro. W. L. Hatchell, of Folkston, is having serious illness in his family. His wife has been ill for several weeks. We hope to hear of her improvement in the near future.

Many of the members along the line are having sickness, either themselves or their families. This seems to have been one of the worst seasons for years in this section.

Some fine work in organizing is being done by the boys on the south end at this writing. Bros. Bennett, League, Leroy and Daughtry have from one to three scalps to their credit this past month.

The south end is now almost solid, there being only two or three desirable nons left for the boys to work on, and I expect before this reaches you they will have finished up the work.

Bro. Porter has appointments pending to fill the vacancies on his local board created by Bros. I. Lang and J. D. Harvey leaving the service.

There is room for some good work between Savannah and Jesup. Several promises from that territory. Wish some of the brothers would get busy and have them filled out.

Bro. J. B. Simpson, of "DE" office, Savannah, is handling the local board business at that point until Bro. Porter makes a permanent appointment, and is doing good work.

Bro. C. R. Yoder, former agent at Hortense, Ga., and wife, were visiting friends at that point recently, and attending the big camp meeting. We understand Bros. Yoder, W. M. and J. D. Harvey and S. M. Howard all gave the meeting close attention.

Bro. E. F. Hull met with a severe loss about September 10th, having his safe blown open and $115 stolen from the joint agency at Offerman. The work was evidently done by experts, as every precaution was taken to prevent noise, and at the same time get the safe door open.

We understand safes are being blown all over the line, and also on the A., B. & A. All seems to be the work of the same gang, and it is hoped the secret service department of the two roads will be able to round up the culprits in the near future.

CRACKER JOE.

G. & S. I. Ry.

We have secured a new schedule since the last write-up from this division.

Bro. J. H. Keeyton, of Hub, is to be married Sunday, October 8th.

Mr. Hale, who has been relief agent, has accepted the agency at Wiggins.

Bro. R. B. Batson, of Lyman, is away for a few days; relieved by Relief Agent Bullock.

All the boys are requested to report to division correspondent all items of interest to the Order.

D. M. DAVIS, Div. Cor.

Chesapeake & Ohio Railway.

The meeting at Huntington, September 28th, was not very well attended, but what we lacked in attendance was made up in enthusiasm.

The Huntington meetings have been held regularly, so if we have had no write-up in the journal lately, don't think we are out of business.

Since the Western Union strike we have been able to secure all the telegraphers needed, and the boys have been able to lay off as often and as long as they desire.

With a minimum of $58.10 (including Sunday overtime), the C. & O. is numbered with the desirable roads to work for. About 35 per cent eight-hour jobs, and committee soon to go to Richmond.

On the last bulletin Bro. T. J. Nancy caught "RU," Cabin, second trick, and Bro. R. C. Corbin, Garrison, third trick.

Bro. G. F. Willis off on sixty days' leave of absence in Colorado with his family for health.

Bro. S. B. Tully laid up with malarial fever, and Bro. W. H. Glenn doing the agent act; selling ties and stone, and acting as chief dispatcher on the K. & F.

Bro. J. B. Francis got Augusta nights, on bulletin, and Bro. G. B. Rinehart "SV," Cabin, nights, on same. CERT. 88.

C. & N. W. Ry.Ashland Division—

Our meeting at Antigo Sept. 28 will be history before this meets the eyes of the brothers on this division. We will say something more about it in next month's journal.

Business is rather quiet on this end just at present. Not so many trains as formerly owing to a great deal of the traffic having been diverted via Eland Junction and the Lake Shore Division that formerly came this way. We are looking for it to pick up some when the snow commences to fly.

We are pleased to state that the members have paid their dues more promptly for this semi-annual period than ever before. There are only three or four delinquents out of the total membership on the whole division, and we expect them to pay up this pay-day. It is a very good sign and very encouraging to your division officers.

As most of you probably realize, we are up against a fight to retain our present standard of wages when the eight-hour law goes into effect January 1, and in preparation we want to get every available non into the organization and stand together. Your General Committee has received no notice from the management to convene in Chicago, and their present intention is to await instructions from them to that effect. In the meantime, please get after the nons and endeavor to bring them into the Order, for it is natural to assume they will be equally interested with us in preventing a decrease of their present salaries, which are none too high when you consider the increased cost of living.

Bro. Hollister, at Larsen, has resigned. We do not know what his future intentions are. We wish him good luck.

Bro. Maloney, at Hortonville, is on a vacation for a few weeks. New man relieving him.

Bro. McDonough, days at Clintonville, also off on a vacation. Being relieved by Bro. Rogers.

Bro. Krumrey, day man at Wausau, is at present laying off to take a rest. He is relieved by Bro. Schutte, regular night man, who in turn is being relieved by Bro. M. J. Johnson, who has just returned from a two weeks' vacation at St. Paul, where he attended many of the meetings of the striking telegraphers of that city. He reports every one sticking like glue, and the situation in general very good.

We may now call Mr. Midnight, at Wausan Junction, brother.

With the exception of one, we are glad to say that the Marshfield line is solid.

Bro. Sharpe, agent at Edgar, was recently married and spent his honeymoon at Milwaukee. We extend congratulations to the happy couple.

Mr. Van Gilden has returned to work on the Ashland Division and has been acting as relief agent at Split Rock.

Bro. D. R. Treat, Hortonville, was off on a month's vacation, spent at his old home in Michigan. He was relieved by a Mr. Keyes.

We are indebted to Bro. Jones, of Whitcomb, and Bro. L. E. Smith, of Monico Junction, for some of the items in this write-up.

Bro. Ira Drumm, at Kaukauna, just returned to work after a three weeks' vacation, being relieved by Bro. J. J. Jacoby.

Bro. J. D. Laughlin visited his brother, T. E. Laughlin, at State Line last week.

Bro. H. W. Bruss, of Three Lakes, is off on vacation. Relieved by Mr. Downe, from Watersmeet. Unable to say if a brother or not.

Bro. P. L. Lethenstrom received Pelican days on bulletin. Relieved at Monico Junction by Bro. J. E. Gartner.

Bro. R. C. Ziebel is back to work at Eagle River after a short vacation.

Bro. D. E. Lanon, of Conover, who obtained Marathon City on bulletin, left for there this week. Relieved at Conover by a new man from the C., M. & St. P. Ry. Unable to learn his name.

Bro. Gehr, recently from the Nickel Plate, is relieving Bro. Gartner at Monico Junction for a few days, while "GA" attends his sister's wedding.

Bro. Penny is still doing the "owl" act at Rhinelander.

Bro. T. E. Laughlin is now among the Indians at State Line, having relieved Bro. J. L. Green there.

Bro. R. Seyler, agent at Pelican, is establishing quite a fish record. Understand he is making some great catches.

Bro. E. G. Manthey, our correspondent, is off on his annual vacation, being relieved by Bro. J. B. Duvall, from Ashland dispatcher's office.

Bro. Fred Merrick relieved Bro. Duvall at Ashland dispatcher's office, on the night clip job. Bro. Merrick is a newcomer. Understand he is from the Galena Division.

Bro. O. A. Blodgett, new man at Wakefield. He relieved Miss Stromberg, who went to South End. It certainly looks good to see these new men carry up-to-date cards.

Bro. T. H. Schaefer, days at Saxon, has resigned, going to the Wisconsin Central with his brother.

Bro. Schillman, of Lac Du Flambeau, took his vacation the first of the month, being relieved by Bro. Atchison, from Tomahawk Lake, who in turn was relieved by Bro. Fletcher. Mr. Schillman reports a very good time.

Bro. Joe Schaefer, of Rugby nights, favored us with a pleasant call. Glad to see him prosper.

Mr. Geo. Turgeon, Ashland freight depot, is away on his vacation, being relieved by Bro. Fletcher.

The dispatchers are taking their vacations. Mr. J. E. Steckel is doing the relief work. Mr. Ralph Dickenson has the third trick, which was made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Isard, who is seeking greener fields. CORRESPONDENT.

Galena Division—

Our Division Correspondent, Bro. S. J. Smith, of Wheaton, is away on his summer vacation, and for fear he will not return in time to have items appear in our next journal, I have consented to try my hand, and if I fail to make mention of happenings, I humbly ask that you register no kicks, unless you kick yourself for not sending in items.

Our regular meeting, held at Dixon, Saturday evening, September 21, was not as well attended as it should have been; looked for seventy-five or eighty up-to-dates at this meeting, but could count only twenty-three. Our worthy General Chairman, Bro. James Troy, was present, and had many good things to tell us, and you who were absent need not think that he withheld his talk on account of your absence, for such was not the case, although he would have much preferred talking to a larger crowd.

We expected Mr. Beck, our superintendent, at this meeting, but he advises that he had just returned from a vacation and was snowed under with work, therefore could not be present; but we sincerely hope he will find it convenient to be at some of our future meetings.

Sorry to chronicle that Bro. L. F. Acox is very sick in the hospital at Elgin, with typhoid fever. We all hope for his speedy recovery. Will some near-by brothers call on him and see that he is well provided for?

Bro. J. A. Shaller, of Round Grove, who has been on the sick list for several months, is at present able to be up and about the house, but no marked improvement in his condition. We sincerely hope for his speedy recovery. Some near-by brothers call on Bro. Shaller.

Mrs. Aye, wife of Bro. H. E. Aye, of Dixon, collected and remitted to Bro. L. W. Quick $21.00 for the fund of the striking commercial telegraphers. This certainly was a fine showing. How many brothers' "better halves" did this?

R. I. Hamilton, at one time employed by the C. & N. W., later on worked for the M. K. & T., was a strong member at this time, acting as Assistant Local Chairman during the "Katy" strike, floated out to the Golden Gate City and joined the regulars, served his three years, secured an honorable discharge, and has returned to his old home at Nachusa. When seen a few days ago, said he was going to make application for a position on the C. & N. W. and square himself with the Order.

Bro. Henning, agent at Hahnman, gets DeKalb days on bid. He is now disposing of his live stock, making ready to move.

Bro. L. L. Goff is now doing the act at Hahnman, while it is up for bid.

Bro. Freeman, agent at Broadmore, got Rockwell street tower on bid and has taken charge of same.

Bro. E. N. Trautman is doing the act at Broadmore while it is up for bid, and I understand he has increased the ticket earnings at that station about 800 per cent.

David Clinnin, agent at Ridott, got Manlius agency on bid and has taken charge.

Ridott station has been made a non-telegraph station.

Bro. Blackwell, formerly of Rockwell street tower, is now handling the levers at tower "NJ" at Nelson.

Bro. Chronister, formerly at Elmhurst, has left the service. Sorry to learn this, but wish him success.

Understand Bro. Smith, of Wheaton, was relieved during his vacation by a lady. Unable to learn her name.

Judging from the way the few remaining nons have been converted and joined the Order of late, it won't be long before the Galena Division can boast of a solid membership. The last one to prefix the "Bro." is W. S. Yoder, agent at Radnor, Ill.

Bro. C. W. Cromley, formerly of the C. & N. W., now with the Ford-Bacon & Davis Engineering Co., at Birmingham, Ala., is at this writing spending his summer vacation among friends at Dixon.

Bro. Murray, of Geneva, had his "glad togs" on and was all ready to hike for the meeting, but Bro. Farrell, who had been spending the day at Elgin, failed to show up in time.

Agency at Oak Park is up for bid, Bro. Martin having been transferred to Appleton, Wis. The salary at Oak Park has been raised from $70.00 to $80.00, and the trimmings, whatever they may be. Understand the express agency has been taken from our agent.

Be mindful of your commercial brothers. They are making a great fight, with victory in sight; so don't let them want. Remember that their fight is our fight.

If you have not already done so, you would confer a great favor on your Secretary and Treasurer if you would square yourself on the ten-cent assessment. We need the money.

Our next meeting will be held at Dixon on Saturday evening, October 19, and it behooves every member to be present at this meeting, as there will be something doing from the opening to the close.

There are a few who have not as yet paid dues. This should have your immediate attention.

Union Grove has been made a non-telegraphic station, therefore Bro. Shaller has everything his own way, but it is rumored that the company has decided to reopen the telegraph office there.

CERT. 74.

Sioux City Division—

Regular meeting of Haymond Lodge was held at Sioux City Sunday, September 8, and on account of the few members who were present and also the fact that the Interstate Fair had commenced, the meeting was brought to an early close to enable some of the boys to take in the ball game, and, incidentally, other things.

Those present were Bro. Abernathy, Nokes, Long, Lambert, Haymond, Trumer, French and Baskin.

It seems that there was a general misunderstanding as to the date of our meeting, which accounts for the fact that there were no more out.

It is to be hoped that everybody will remember the dates in the future, it being the second Sunday in every odd month. Our next meeting will be November 10. Please don't forget.

The steel gang is at work between Wall Lake and Odebolt, putting down heavier steel, which has been something needed for a long time.

Mr. Kessler, who for several years was agent at Stanhope, died at Rock Rapids, Iowa, September 25. Have not heard the cause of death.

Bro. Gamet got Wall Lake on bulletin, Bro. French going to Onawa nights.

Strange how quiet the Western Union wires have been for the past six or eight weeks. Did anybody see the business statement given out at the last directors' meeting of that most august body? Haven't heard of it if they have.

It will take the Western Union and the Postal the next ten years to get over the effects of this strike, even if the commercial boys lose out.

Well, will have to cut out this time, as there hasn't been much news sent my way.

CERT. 231.

CARD OF THANKS TO ALL BROTHER TELEGRAPHERS.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to each and every brother on the Sioux City Division, and all others who rendered us such good and valuable service in our time of need and their expression of sympathy by the beautiful emblem which was sent. We have no words with which to express our thanks but will try to do so by deeds.

F. M. NOE AND FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, Death has come into the home of our faithful brother, F. M. Noe, of Auburn, Iowa, and removed therefrom their dearly beloved son, Ross Noe, and while humbly and sorrowfully submitting to this, the will of our Creator; be it

Resolved, That we deeply regret his tragic and untimely death. That Haymond Lodge, Sioux City Division, No. 76, extend to the bereaved parents and Bro. Tracy M. Noe our most sincere sympathy in their great sorrow, commending them with reverence to our Heavenly Father, who doeth all things well; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent the bereaved family, a copy be spread upon the minutes of this division, and a copy be sent to THE TELEGRAPHER for publication.

Northern Wisconsin Division—

News is scarce this month on account of not receiving items.

Wish the brothers would make it a point to send at least two or three items each next month, which will make a good write-up from our division.

Bro. Hardy, of Kaukauna days, is off on a vacation. Relieved by Bro. J. Stark, "KN" nights. He is being relieved by some unknown.

Bro. H. Stark is still holding forth at Little Chute and taking life easy without any wire work.

Bro. Hackbert, of Appleton, is off for a few days, taking in the Jefferson County Fair, getting a taste of old times. Relieved by Bro. McIntee.

Bro. Jno. Sund is holding down Appleton nights during Bro. Lary's absence.

Bro. Gilbert, at Neenah days, sold tickets for a week on account of car clerk being sick and the ticket agent doing the car chasing act.

Bro. Poller, of Oshkosh days, reports a fine time during his vacation. Relieved by night man, Bro. Flemming, who in turn was relieved by Bro. E. C. Neitzel, of Vandyne.

Bro. Teed, of Oak Center, is relieving Bro. Becker at Clyman for a few days. Both these points, with several stations on West End, made non-telegraph stations during the past month.

Bro. Harloff, of Chester, is helping out for a few days at Jefferson during the Fair.

The last meeting was well attended, there being about thirty members present, including our General Chairman, Bro. Troy, who gave us a fine talk, which was very much enjoyed by all. More of the members should have been present to hear it. We all enjoy and appreciate Bro. Troy's being with us as he always has something of interest to say.

Div. Com.

Minnesota Division—

For the information of members on the Minnesota Division, and all concerned, we wish to publish through the columns of the journal the following:

"Hereafter, when a position has been abolished, the telegrapher so affected is placed on the extra list, therefore he has no option to take such positions he should desire according to his seniority rights, except by bulletin only."

The foregoing was a decision reached by our General Committee of the C. & N. W. Ry. System, which body convened privately while in attendance at the late telegraphers' convention at Minneapolis.

A number of positions have been abolished on this division in the last few months, and I understand the men so affected took positions their seniority rights called for, thereby displacing men who had received these places by bulletin but a short time before. I, for one, think this decision is a just one, and I am sure the brothers agree with me. For example: Bro. Geo. Enteman, agent at Claremont, owns his house and other property there, expects to stay there, if not for the rest of his life, he wishes to stay there some time yet. Well, Bro. Wells, agent at Mankato Junction, has his position closed, therefore he is out of a job. Do the brothers think it would be right to authorize Bro. Wells to take Bro. Enteman's position because he has a few more years' rights? I do not.

Bro. D. J. Mahoney did a small stunt at the State Fair, being relieved by L. V. Smith.

The entire membership on the Minnesota Division rejoices because of the successful operation performed on Bro. Pfeiffer, agent at Wanda, for appendicitis. It was one of the sudden attacks, and the chances were slim for a while. Mr. E. E. Turner acted as agent during Bro. Pfeiffer's illness.

Bro. Krause, agent at St. Peter, assumed the responsibility of taking unto himself a life-long partner. Although late, we nevertheless extend our most hearty congratulations and a long and happy life.

Bro. Nixon is back again; couldn't stay away any longer. He is now stationed at Evan as agent.

Mr. F. C. Evans has returned to school, having taken up his studies at the Redwood Falls High School. G. E. Black relieved him at New Ulm and is still there.

Bro. J. P. Beynon, day telegrapher in Winona dispatchers' office, took a few days off the first of the month to make a raid on the feathered flock.

Bro. Beynon relieved by Bro. T. F. Carroll, Winona nights, who in turn was relieved by Bro. D. R. Carroll, Waseca nights.

Dispatchers Morse and Bosshard are taking a few days off, extra dispatchers Jordon and Beynon filling in the space.

A. L. Taylor, agent at Meriden, has the necessary papers in the right hands, and is now entitled to be called brother.

Bro. W. B. Murphy is now working nights at Mankato.

H. E. Dickenson, agent at Watertown, has been appointed trainmaster, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. M. J. Gormley.

Bro. Geo. Tallon gets Watertown agency by promotion. F. G. Humphray is acting as agent at Canby until bulletin expires.

Bro. N. W. Edwards, agent at Cambria, is at Midland, S. D., on the new extension. I "13" he will return.

Bro. F. A. Biersdorf, days at New Ulm, has finally secured a vacation, which he has been after for the last eight months. He is being relieved by Mr. L. V. Smith.

Bro. G. P. Skeels, nights at Springfield, was off for a night with an attack of appendicitis, but is back again. Bro. Dorn doubled the trick.

Bro. G. W. Cotton took a flying trip to Revere the 14th, on business.

Here are the positions allotted by bulletin since July 21st: Night telegrapher, Rochester, E. C. Ferris; night telegrapher, New Ulm, F. C. Evans; agent, Sanborn, J. J. Klein; night telegrapher, Sleepy Eye, C. C. Bolewine; agent, Milroy, W. A. Wagner; agent, Minnesota City, J. G. Johnson; agent, Canby, W. H. Ersley.

Positions open at this writing: Agent and telegrapher, Utica; agent and telegrapher, Courtland; and expect Judson to be bulletined soon.

I was unable to attend the last regular meeting at Mankato September 14, and can not get any one to contribute a few items concerning it, so will have to cut that out. ACTING DIV. COR.

Dakota Division—

There are still about twelve members who are behind with dues for the term ending December 31, 1907. Get your money in; it is going to come back to you before long.

Not much news this month.

Now comes the time while so much business is being handled that we must all get in the game and give good service. You will not lose by it.

Bros. Hodge and Shaffer are again at their home at Elkton, running the Elkton office and making themselves generally useful.

Mr. P. E. Long, from the Pennsylvania Ry., relieved Bro. Finnerty at Centerville while Bro. Finnerty was away visiting with friends at Duluth and Northern Minnesota. Long wears the button.

Bro. Antes, of Wakonda, has taken a four-months' vacation, to go out west of the river on a claim. Bro. Olson, of Arco, is the relief.

Bro. Schoenforth, day telegrapher at Yankton, is taking a few days lay-off, and incidentally taking in the sights around Midland, with a view of filing on a claim.

Bro. De Pew, of Volin, has resigned to take a position on the Sioux City Division. He is patiently awaiting relief.

Bro. Odell, of Ivanhoe, had to go to Arco and get out the reports for that station, the agent not being able to do the business.

One of our energetic helpers filed an order addressed to two trains before it had been delivered to the second train. Nothing happened.

Bro. Rodewald, of Iroquois, was forced to take a lay-off for a week or ten days on account of sickness. He was relieved by the night man from Arlington, Helper Pennington taking that job.

Iroquois, Lake Preston, Arlington and Hendricks all short of helpers at the same time. Some one had better start a school to teach this branch of railroading.

Bro. B. E. Donley, of Manchester, exchanged stations with L. A. Zakowski, of Ludden. Mr. Zakowski has filled out papers and will be up-to-date by the time this appears in print.

Bro. J. E. Noe, of Tyler nights, made an Arco turn-around one morning on 40 and 41. He went there to take care of the freight for that station on account of there being no agent there.

Bro. E. Finnerty, of Centerville days, took a lay-off and visited relatives in Duluth.

Bro. J. E. Noe, of Tyler nights, was called home on account of the death of his brother.

Bro. J. A. Dawson, of Salem, returned lately from a trip to Colorado.

Bro. G. F. Stow gave up Hetland and the C. & N. W. and left us without saying a word. P. R. Phinney handled things a few days until a regular man was sent there. A Mr. Anderson is now holding that job.

Div. Coa.

Peninsular Division--

Assembled in the grand old antique structure by the hillside, at Powers, Mich., which in itself, if it were endowed with the ability to talk, could speak volumes, being, I might say, the birthplace of O. R. T.-ism on the Peninsular Division, its historical record from an O. R. T. viewpoint is besprinkled with stirring incidents of the past. Meeting was called to order at 10:30 p. m. by Local Chairman, D. H. Mooney, and the echoes of the Chairman's gavel never before vibrated the ears of better O. R. T. material than that present at the call to order. It being some little time since our last meeting, an abnormal amount of business presented itself, the most important of which was the election of a Local Chairman to succeed D. H. Mooney, whose work is such that it requires most of his time at his station, thereby making it impossible for him to properly attend to the duties of the office of Local Chairman. Bro. Mooney closed his unexpired term as Local Chairman with an able address, portraying the shortcomings of the division and offering suggestions which were afterwards acted upon and carried. He was followed by our esteemed General Chairman, Bro. Troy, who needed no introduction. He launched into a lengthy discussion of the eight and nine-hour laws and other issues of vital importance, especially the urgent necessity of furthering the work of organization on the division. His address was interesting and instructive, and I regret very much that more of the boys were not present. He was heartily applauded, and in behalf of the boys and as a mark of respect, I wish to say that we fully appreciate the fact that we have for a General Chairman a man that is abreast of the issues of the hour and alert to our interests at all times. There is too much neglect shown in not attending meetings. You can not obtain the proper knowledge of the inner workings of our grand Order by neglecting to attend. Attend the meetings and discuss the issues that come up affecting us, which at present are numerous. We can not further our cause by talking to ourselves out at way stations. That is the place to soak up grievances, ideas, etc.; but come to the meetings to squeeze yourself.

W. J. Murray was elected Local Chairman; H. H. Little, Chief Telegrapher; R. A. Moran, Secretary and Treasurer. Further election of officers of the local lodge was deferred until the next meeting, which is subject to the call of the Chief Telegrapher. Try and be on hand at the next meeting, which will be very important.

A vote of thanks was extended to Ex-Local Chairman D. H. Mooney for his efficient service in the past. He displayed true blue in acting in our behalf when our Order was in its infancy. That he made good and was instrumental in placing us on a higher plane can not be denied.

Organization is the paramount issue, the rest will come out in the wash. This division has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. Stop and think what this means. It means that we are growing indifferent to our own interests. It is high time we were awakening from the slumber we were indulging in on this division. We must support our committee or expect meagre results. We are grateful for past concessions, but we must not be indifferent to the needs of the future. Upon our committee devolves the duty of hewing out new concessions and the final way to emancipation. It behooves us to get the non members in line.

CORRESPONDENT.

Madison Division--

The regular scribe being away on his vacation, the Madison Division will likely fare rather slim in the line of items this month, as we have not had much chance to look up the doings of the brethren, but will jot down a few notes for your edification. We were not represented in the columns of THE TELEGRAPHER last month.

The eight-hour law has got most of the brothers guessing, but let's cross the bridge when we get to it. For my part, I think we will be working and no bones broken on the 2d day of next January. Nothing like being optimistic about these matters. Everybody smile.

There are lots of changes going on, but we have a line on only a few. Send in your items, if only one or two. They all help out.

Bro. Hansen informs us that there are several who have left the employ of the company and dropped their membership, and that there are several others who have been dropped from the roll on account of becoming delinquent in dues. He states that the names of delinquents will be published after this month, as was agreed on at our recent meeting. Better get in out of the cold, boys. There are also a number who have still to pay their semi-annual dues. Please be so kind as to hurry this up and help out the officers in their work, as it delays the work of all departments when there are so many behind. It will be greatly appreciated by all concerned if we will all be more prompt in this matter. We are sorry to see that any one has been dropped on account of non-payment of dues, and believe it is just carelessness on their part. Come in.

Bro. A. C. Matzek, who just started to work after an extended vacation, is again enjoying the life of a retired agent for a few days. Arch likes to lay off, it seems. Bro. Main is relieving him.

We have recently had letters from Bro. F. L. Crivits, at Las Vegas, New Mexico, and from Charley Bonnell, at Hattton, Wash. Both like the country in which they are located, and send their "73" to all the boys. We wish them both their meed of success. Bro. Crivits is not as yet well enough to resume work, but hopes to be able to do so soon.

George Berlin, who has been working the third trick north for some time past, has resigned and left for pastures new, having a job on the Lake Shore, at Chicago, where he will be able to get home oftener. Mr. Glenn Cole, who has been working at Antigo, comes to Baraboo to fill the vacancy on the North End.

Bro. Pat Keffe, day man at Jeff Junction, spent Sunday in Dousman.

Bro. W. H. Williamson, agent at Sullivan, has been enjoying a vacation for some time past, being relieved by Mr. Johnson, who says he will soon be in the ranks.

Bro. Walter Langenhan gets the tracer job at Baraboo on the last bulletin, and Vernie Harding, also stalwart O. R. T., is at present acting as private secretary to the chief dispatcher, who is a busy man fourteen hours a day.

Bro. C. E. L. Hansen, our genial and hard-working Local Secretary and Treasurer, is enjoying his vacation, and is in the West, on the new extension from Pierre to Rapid City, and will visit a number of different points on his trip.

We have several new members this month in the persons of Bros. S. W. Hannum, Geo. J. Teskey and John R. Hughes. Glad to have them with us.

It seems that the Madison Division can not furnish good enough timber to make dispatchers of, for some reason or other. This doesn't seem right, as it is a noticeable fact that the Madison Division graduates who have gone to some other line are almost in every instance holding first-class jobs, generally as train dispatchers, but they never get it here. Why? There certainly ought to be enough material on this division to keep this office of ours in Baraboo filled up with dispatchers, and good ones, too. You fellows who have any desire to take a hand in this should make it known to Mr. Schooff, and there is no doubt that he will be willing to give any man who really desires it a chance in the office. It should not be necessary to have to import men for the jobs that pay the most money on the division. Get busy.

We are shy on news this month on account of the regular correspondent being away, so we send a little effusion of Bro. Tommy Corcoran's, which may please the boys; anyway, those who are in the limelight.

ON THE MADISON DIVISION.

The boys are working on the pike
From early morn till late at night;
And they are hoping day by day
That they will surely get more pay.

Briggs, at Roscoe, pounds the key,
As if a dispatcher he will be;
And he is married now, so 'tis said,
So now the broom will pound his head.

Tracy, at Kendalls, runs the show—
The ladies say he's rather slow;
If he would join the O. R. T.
A lady-killer he would be.

Crump, at Footville, holds the hill—
The girls all claim he's quite a pill;
To Africa he says he'll go
To fight the Boers "Nit, you know."

Schleck, at Madison, holds it down,
And Madison is an awful town;
Poor Charlie, he is spliced now, too,
Sometimes he sends till things are blue.

Bro. Kilts from Baraboo has gone away,
To California, so they say;
The wages for him were too small,
And others will be gone by fall.

At Capron, Hartwig took Lee's place,
For which a fine he had to face;
In Boer Land, that's where he should be
For going against the O. R. T.

Both Hansens are at Evansville,
And there's the two that can't keep still;
You'd think the whole town was on fire
When they let loose upon the wire.

Gross, at Caledonia, is not so slow,
He's married, now, that we all know;
It's hard to fool him on the lay of the track,
'Cause he was born in Merrimack.

At Caledonia nights, it's the same old stone,
Barnhart's his name and Dousman's his home;
So to make a long story short and not tell it wrong
Barnhart and the Constable can't get along.

Lines West of Missouri River, Eastern Division—

Bro. Hales was doing the relief stunt at Stuart for a few days recently.

Bro. C. W. Golden was sent to Dodge Street days.

Bro. Sours worked at Rawhide until regular man was appointed.

J. H. O'Conner, day telegrapher at Rawhide, to South Omaha freight yard by bid.

We made a mistake in our last write-up by saying Bro. Busch had gotten Scribner by bid. "13" that Bro. Poperler, from Bonesteel, drew the lucky number.

In some of our former write-ups we made a mistake in putting the prefix Mr. in front of some of the names which should have been brother. We hope the brothers will pardon us for this.

Bro. Beeson, Anoka agency, by bid.

"13" that Bro. Cushman, agent at Snyder, has resigned to go into business for himself. Here is success. Later, "13" Bro. Cushman has withdrawn his resignation.

We are informed that Bro. J. P. Ryan bid in day telegraph job at Albion rather than have the agency at Bonesteel on account of not enough help.

We are told that about six of the agents on the Bonesteel line have quit on account of taking their help away from them.

Bro Wintersteen left on August 28 for his new position with the N. P.

Bro. Hess, day telegrapher, from O'Neill, has been doing the relief stunt at Stuart for a while.

Dispatcher Dussendorf has been sick and Mr. Hall has been working his trick on the South Platte, Bro. Willard taking Hall's place.

Bro. Lister, day telegrapher from Oakdale, is doing the relief act at Bradish.

C. F. Harvey from Shickley to agency at Bee by bid.

G. K. Todd, agent at Brainard, is off for a short time on account of the illness of his father. Mr. Brobst, of Council Bluffs, is relieving him.

Bro. W. H. Frost from Plainview to Shickley by bid.

We understand that Night Telegrapher Fletcher, at Arlington, has quit and is going to York, Neb., to run a bucket shop.

One of the late additions to our ranks is R. C. Burnham, night telegrapher, dispatcher's office, Norfolk.

Bro. Gregerson is working days at O'Neill.

Dispatcher Donnerthorp was sick for a couple of days, Dispatcher Larson doubling one night and Dispatcher Hauptli working all the lines the other.

How many can hold up their hands and say, "I sent one dollar to help out our W. U. and Postal brothers?"

It seems queer about these nons. We tried to get one of them to line up the other day, and the reply we got was, "going to quit soon." It's the same old song this man has sung for the past ten years. Wonder when he's going to change the tune of it.

Bro. A. J. Kelley, from U. P. Division No. 6, is relieving Bro. Lister. Bro. Lister is doing the stunt as agent at Bradish.

Bro. Whitney, of Battle Creek, was off for a couple of days, taking in the sights at Omaha. Bro. Brown acted as agent.

Bro. Sours is holding down Arlington nights, Mr. Satterlee taking his place at Rawhide days.

Telegrapher Pelster, nights at Blair, has quit and is going to college to finish up his studies. Bro. Earp took his place.

Bro. Hales was off on a five-days' vacation trip recently.

We are told that Bro. Kelly, days at Arlington, drew the lucky number for Bradish.

Bro. A. J. Hurst, who landed Lindsay by bid, is well satisfied with the change.

Mr. Kempster is at present relieving at Albion. "13" Bro. Hicks, from David City, has been assigned to Albion days.

Mr. F. D. Rhodes, agent at Newman's Grove, is off on a vacation, being relieved by Mr. Nicholas.

Bro. Nelson, agent at David City, has resigned. We regret very much to lose the brother from this division, but we are always glad to see any one better their condition.

It seems as though it is about time we were getting another bulletin. There are a number of good positions that must be vacant now that have not as yet been put up for bids.

E. C. Eller, cashier at York, to cashier at Hastings on September 18. Bro. Anderson gave notice to be relieved by July 15, and has been over two months getting it. Wonder if it would take that long if he had been discharged?

Mr. McFadden, agent at York, has had a very sick daughter. "13" she is improving slowly.

Mr. Foster, night owl at Lincoln, to cashier at York.

O. J. Nelson, agent at Goenher, relieved Sept. 15th for fifteen days, to take his wife to the hospital for treatment. We hope for a speedy recovery.

The C., M. & St. P. boilermakers, machinists and helpers secured from that company an increase of three and one-half cents per hour for union members, this month, making them forty and one-half cents per hour. Non-union members will work at the old scale. What do you think of that, you nons? It's coming to you soon. You'd better get busy. No cards no favors.

Have you remitted for the commercial fund? You won't miss one or two, or even five dollars.

Bro. W. H. Earp, who resigned on September 4, quit on the 18th. We are unable to say where he is going or what he intends to do.

We are told on good authority that W. T. Busch, who formerly worked at Scribner nights, is scabbing for the Postal in Omaha. We thought Busch a nice fellow, but we have changed our mind. It seems he got sore at the railroad company and quit them, and that did not satisfy him, so he got sore at the Order and went scabbing. We are afraid that this man will see the day that he will be sorry for turning to be a scab. We hope so.

Telegrapher Knudsen, from South Omaha, Exchange Building, is working at Blair nights. Exchange Building closed.

Bro. Dolisto, night owl at West Point, was called to Hooper nights on September 20.

Bro. Heilman, day telegrapher at West Point, is doing the owl act at that point. This leaves West Point and Hooper without day telegraphers.

I wish to thank the brothers who have been so liberal in sending news items.

Bro. Burwell from Inland to Winnetoon by bid.

Bro. Hill from Winnetoon landed Stuart by bid.

Bro. H. W. Bigham, night telegrapher at Scribner, resigned, and left the latter part of September for a visit in the East, after which he will return to his home in Oklahoma. Bro. Bigham expects to take life easy until after the holidays.

A meeting will be held in Freemont some time in November, but we are unable to learn the date. A big attendance is expected, as a good many of the officials will be present.

Bro. Bigham called on Ye Editor while passing through the West End September 23.

On account of Bro. Popeler not being of age, and Bro. Bigham leaving so suddenly, Agent Foster had to wear the night owl's clothes at Scribner for one night.

Bro. R. B. Spangler, an old-timer from this division, and Bro. D. B. Wintersteen, who left here the latter part of August, are working at Livingston relay office for the Northern Pacific—$75.00 per month and eight hours work. Glad to hear that the brothers are doing well.

Bro. Brown, night telegrapher from Battle Creek, is working nights at Scribner. Battle Creek nights closed.

Bro. Willard is figuring on going out West in the near future, to go to work for the Great Northern.

Since the first of February, 1907, we have had six new time cards. We will bet the other divisions will have to go some to beat it.

On September 9 we had four trains of Barnum & Bailey's circus go over this division from Omaha to Norfolk.

Our assistant correspondent on the Bonesteel line failed us this month, for some cause or another. He has generally been prompt.

Telegrapher W. L. Nicholas is working at Hooper days.

Mr. Cris, of Stuart, got Dallas by bid.

Bro. Vestal had the misfortune to have his instruments burn out lately.

Bro. Brown, of Bristow, got Lynch by bid.

Understand that Bro. Boiles has accepted the position as ticket agent at Deadwood, S. D.

Bro. Hartong, of Verdigre, has resigned.

Bro. Still, from Albion, got Plainview by bid.

CORRESPONDENT.

D. & R. G. Ry.

First Division, South End—

Here it is almost winter, and the most of us begin to wonder what has become of our summer's wages. I can very easily explain what became of most of mine. I spent it having a good time in the Rocky Mountains, in the cities of Denver, Pueblo, Salida, and a few other places.

After one has worked twelve hours a day for 365 days, he feels like getting out in the hills and having a good lay-off, and the most of us have a few friends whom we enjoy visiting at least once a year.

Can't understand why it is that more of the boys are not out to our meetings. We don't have them very often, and I think when we do each and every one ought to get out and get acquainted, and hear the different opinions. Last one we had was fairly well attended, but there should have been more present. I can say that those who missed it, missed a big thing, as Bro. Tanquary was there, and gave us a very interesting talk. He proved that he knew what he was talking about.

Bro. Tanquary met with a bit of ill-luck shortly after he returned to Pueblo the last time. His home, which was near Pueblo, was destroyed by fire, and he was unable to save anything. Too bad, but accidents will happen to the best of us once in a while.

I notice there are a good many of the boys wanting to get away on vacations, but there are only a few who have been successful so far. The rest of us are waiting for our chief, Mr. E. E. Gray, to scare up something that can make a noise like a telegrapher.

The detailed statement below will show you who have been the lucky ones and who was used as relief:

Bro. F. L. Reynolds, agent at San Carlos, was away on his vacation about two weeks, but has returned. He was relieved by Mr. C. A. Caldwell.

Bro. J. E. Farrell, of Division No. 29, has been at San Carlos nights, for the last few weeks, until relieved by Bro. P. D. Newlin, who got the job on the recent bulletin.

Bro. F. M. Jones, of Verde days, resigned some time ago, and departed for Texas. Mr. Hedrick worked days a while, but was later relieved by E. J. Kemp, who is still working there. Both these gentlemen have sent in applications, and will be with us before many moons.

Bro. Farrell is now working at Verde nights.

Bro. A. S. Prettyman, at Salt Creek, has been having a great many new night men lately, and have been able to get a line on a few of them.

Mr. W. C. Wrenn was there a few nights; relieved by Bro. P. D. Newlin, who, in turn, was relieved by Bro. H. E. Happy.

Bro. D. C. Kennedy, agent at Graneros, has been lucky enough to get relief, and has gone to his old home in Maryland for an extended visit. He will take Verde days, on his return.

Bro. Kennedy was relieved by Bro. T. M. Petty, of the grand division.

Bro. E. J. Duncan resigned at Graneros nights, and went to Green River, on the U. P., to accept a better position. He was relieved by Mr. A. M. Chapman, who will do the right thing October payday.

Bro. C. W. Edson, agent and Mayor of Larimer, has been away on vacation forty-four days, and relates some very startling experiences in the tall and uncut of the Rocky Mountains. Bro. Edson was relieved by Mr. J. C. Park, from Kansas City. Mr. Park being transferred from Larimer to Canon City, as cashier, was relieved by Bro. R. J. Parsons. Mr. L. A. Strange, present night man, has sent in his money and application, and will very soon be one of the family.

•Bro. T. C. Bailey, of Huerrano, accompanied by his wife, has gone to Jamestown. Bro. Bailey was relieved by Roy Duffenbaugh. Bro. C. L. Helber has been wanting to get away so he could go to Salt Lake City, but Mr. E. E. Gray says: "Nothin' doin'."

Bro. H. E. Jones, of Cuchara Junction, is away on a vacation. He and his family have gone to the far east to visit friends and relatives. Bro. Jones was relieved by Bro. Butler, who is regular night man. Bro. Butler relieved by a man by the name of Welborne. Don't know how he stands.

We got a new brother at La Veta nights, but can't find out who he is, or where he is from.

Bro. H. H. Wiles, agent at Rouse Junction, is on a lay-off, and has gone to the mountains to hunt and fish. He was accompanied by his family, who are visiting him from Alabama. Bro. J. S. Lank, who is regular night man, is working while Bro. Wiles is away. Bro. C. A. Lind has been working nights, but has resigned to go to Texas.

Bro. W. B. Kenney, who was with us so long, before he resigned to take a job with the Canon City Royal Gorge Electric Line, is back with us once more, and is working as agent at Trinidad, while Mr. G. M. Forrester is enjoying a visit with his home folks in old Missouri.

The next time we have a meeting in Pueblo or Salida, or wherever it is, let's all get out and see if we can learn something new. We want to know how everybody feels about the eight-hour law that will be in effect before many more months. If any of you are satisfied to work the same number of hours you have been all your lives, why, of course, that is up to you. But now let's hear from some one else next month. It will only cost you a little piece of paper and a two-cent stamp.

"BILL."

Have you paid your dues? If not, why not? Your dues and insurance should always come first. Why? Because, if it were not for the Order you would not be getting enough to meet your other bills under present conditions.

Our Order, then, if such is the case, should be protected first of all, because if it should pass out of existence in a fortnight, in a less space of time a large chunk of your salaries would pass along with it so smoothly you would not know how it all happened.

Quit making excuses; pay your dues promptly, and be with the majority. Such excuses as "sickness in the family," "I have been in hard luck," "I have been out of employment," etc., don't sound good to me. I want to say to those who have had trouble of serious nature that it is a very easy matter to have their dues waived, giving them the privilege of holding continuous membership.

If there is any person on earth who should be ashamed of himself it's the non-union telegrapher. Not only the telegrapher, but every one who is eligible to membership in the Order. Would they go into a man's house day after day and eat, and never even say thank you? No! Why? Because if they were not manly enough to pay part of the expense, they would be turned out. Simply because the union man is a big, generous hearted fellow, the non will skulk along behind with his purse closed tight as a clam, and take everything the other fellow secures and pays for. It looks to me like those who pay the fiddler should have something to say as to who should dance. Why should we associate with those who have not regard for us, or the betterment of our condition? We should not tolerate them any more than we would an able-bodied man coming to our home and eating up our provisions without even the courtesy of a thank you. I don't think the day is far off when the non on a system division will be a thing of the past. That day will be hailed with joy by every good, honorable, fair-minded man.

Be a man among men. Consider your division first of all. Possibly the other fellow can not afford to carry you as well as you can carry yourself. Any way, it is not honorable to ask him to do so. If you are a member, pay up when it comes time. If you are a non, get busy and hand in your application. You won't be doing right until you do. You can bank on it that you will hear from your old bald-headed friend in good plain words until you do that which is right and just.

I don't want those who read this to think that I believe in securing members by coercion. Oh, no; such members would be no good to us. I do believe that we should not work or associate with those that are not inclined to help support the cause.

What have you done for the good of the Order this month? Think it over. Have you helped to get transfers? Have you tried to get that fellow to join whom you know to be a non? Watch yourself. If you have overlooked these things, get down to business and be a worker. The result will surprise you.

Faternally,

J. W. AIKEN, G. S. & T., Div. 49.

R. G. W. Ry.

First District—

Realizing that our local chairman can not be expected to write up our district without some support from the members on his division, I, for one, feel that we should all give him a little write-up each month, if possible, of the happenings in our immediate localities. The Western is hardly represented at all in our journal, and I know all the boys appreciate reading something from their own "diggins." Taken as a whole the R. G. W. is quite well rid of nons, and the fellows all seem to appreciate the good of our Order, and are giving their support thereto; still there are a few who have the gall to take all the raises in wages that our Order secures for them, and then say the O. R. T. has never done them any good, and they don't believe in paying out money for nothing.

Understand Bro. W. W. Jones, Ogden union depot, desires a change. Hope he will find something suitable with the R. G. W., as he is an old timer, and would hate to lose him.

Bro. J. B. Linsley, of Kaysville, is back from his vacation, and reports a fine time.

In the dispatcher's office at Salt Lake we have a fine bunch: C. W. King, chief, has just returned from his vacation. Dispatcher Upton acting as chief during his absence. There are now Three sets of dispatchers in this office. Cooper, McClurg and Leinbaugh, on branches; Upton, Holloway and Nelligan, main line, west end; Hoover, Racey and Marsh, main line, east end. Telegraphers Jandebauer, Sullivan, Mann and Hewitt doing the heavy stunts in "UN," with Leibengood as manager, are all up-to-date O. R. T. men, except Hewitt, who is a C. T. U. man in good standing.

Mr. J. F. Hindman, day telegrapher, relieving Bro. L. R. Vertrees, now agent at Lark.

Mr. F. E. Ubil, Garfield Junction, at one time a member of the O. R. T., has again filled out application blanks, and will soon be up-to-date.

We "13" "Billy" Rid, who has been doing the act at Cuprum, has been transferred to the agency at Bingham.

Bro. O. M. Bailey, formerly of Fruita, now agent at Heber. We hope the change will improve his health.

L. E. Simmons, working nights at Springville, relieving Bro. W. M. Forney, who has sixty days' leave of absence, visiting friends and relatives in Ohio.

Bro. F. B. Hubbard, agent at Mammoth, away on vacation; being relieved by Bro. W. Gregory.

Bro. Ira Overfelt is relieving Bro. Ben Rasmussen at Marysville for sixty days. Rasmussen is going to take a trip to Chicago.

Bro. Esperson is holding down Sevier.

Mr. Murphy, agent at Gunnison, has been appointed high bishop, and is preparing to enter Mormon mission field. It is against his teaching.

Bro. J. M. Aldrich is walking three miles each way per day to hold down Spring City.

One of our (?) on the Santa Fe branch is running a ham factory, and to show the loyalty of our dispatchers, I heard one of them tell the "hog" that if he didn't take a club and kill that student he would get his job for him.

Bro. F. A. O'Brien, day telegrapher Soldier Summit taking fifteen days' vacation, and visiting his parents in Minnesota; relieved by the night man, Bro. C. S. Scott. Mr. Luckey, a C. T. U. man from Salt Lake, doing the owl act for the present.

Bro. Foster has been assigned to day job at Kyune, while his wife is working the owl job. Hope the brother will have no trouble in convincing the "Mrs." that she should become a member.

Bro. J. E. Toohey is relieving Bro. C. H. Funk at Scofield. Mr. A. H. Bartle day operator.

Now, boys, all pull together and help our general secretary and treasurer and local chairman whenever possible. Pay your dues, and keep an up-to-date card at all times. CERT. 136.

Mo. Pac. Ry.

L. & S. and N. & M. Line—

Bro. Nance has been over this pike shaking hands with the boys and looking after the "nons."

A Mr. Walton is performing the agent's duty now at Hannon. Bro. Miller has left the division. Mr. Walton has promised to come across with the necessary in the near future.

Bro. Rouse, agent at Chetopa, was down to Bronaugh a day or so last week, shaking hands with old friends.

Mrs. Sawrey, wife of the agent at Bronaugh, can be heard on the line occasionally. She will have a piece of pasteboard when she goes on the pay-roll.

A number of the nons have awakened since the raise was given them, and have actually began to feel like they are getting something for nothing, but can only offer promises so far. Better let loose of some of that coin the Order secured for you. Don't all speak at once, for it might cause some confusion.

Bro. Frank Kuhne, days, Webb City, has returned to duty after a thirty-day leave. He was relieved by Mr. Watkins, who is now at Sheldon relieving Bro. C. M. Wood. Bro. Wood also on a thirty-day leave.

Not much trouble to get a good man to stay at Carthage nights, since the $15 raise went into effect.

This month's pay checks look good to us. Nons ought to be scarce articles now.

Bro. J. W. Livesay has bid in the night job at Lamar.

Night job at Butler has been bulletined. Hard telling what will become of Bro. Chenowith, who is owl there now.

The wife of Bro. C. H. Cannon, days at Harrisonville, recently lost her father.

The sympathy of the boys is extended to her in this hour of bereavement.

Bro. P. K. Lowe, of Rich Hill, is again on duty, days. Mr. Fortune, who relieved him, has resumed night work.

Bro. Guinn has resigned the agency at Panama, and Bro. Allen takes charge.

Bro. Gunn goes to Colorado, or farther West, to try his fortune. CERT. 481.

Wichita Division—

Having been on the Wichita Division sixteen months, and never having seen a write-up during all this time, with the exception of a few short notes several months ago, which, by the way, I took upon myself to send in, I think it time somebody was getting busy.

Everything moving along nicely, and everybody apparently satisfied with the new schedule, as I have heard no comments. The "increase man," however, missed two or three of the boys on the division, evidently thinking their positions were paying well enough.

In spite of the commercial telegraphers' strike, and the increased salaries, there seems to be plenty of vacancies.

Men at Durand moving fast, as usual.

Bro. Russell, at Iola, resigned to accept a better position with the Iola Portland Cement Company.

Bro. H. W. McGregor, of Indianapolis C. T. U., relieving Bro. H. W. Dean at new yards, Wichita.

Bro. Glenn Cunningham, late from the R. I., at Fairbury, Neb., has accepted a position in dispatcher's office, Wichita.

Bro. Wm. Ledgerwood, of Yates Center, off on sick leave.

Bro. Kasier, of "SR," Fort Scott, just returned to work, after taking a month's vacation.

Bro. Ed Abbott, night man at Eldorado, had quite an exciting experience Sunday night, September 8th. Ed was held up about midnight by three or four masked men, who blindfolded him, taking him about three or four miles from town, and turned him loose to find his way back the best he could. The robbers secured quite a sum of express and railroad money. No trace of the robbers has yet been found.

Bronson agency, Iola days, Yates Center nights, Wichita new yards days and nights, are a few of the positions on bulletin.

Hope some one will come forward next month with a nice write-up. CERT. 1040.

Bro. E. L. Powell has resumed as agent at Tower Grove, after an absence of thirty days.

Understand Telegrapher Welch has resigned his position at Twenty-third street, and has gone to Colorado.

Dispatcher "Denny" Wilkes, third trick man on the River Division, is in Colorado on a vacation.

September 7th fire partially destroying the dispatcher's office at Jefferson City, the dispatchers were compelled to move to the passenger depot until their office could be repaired.

Bro. J. O. Lessell, who has been relieving Agent Phillips at Hermann, has resumed duty nights, at Morrison.

Bro. Lampkin has taken the split trick at Sedalia.

Bro. J. W. Arnold, agent at Syracuse, is taking ten days off, and is being relieved by W. D. Canfield.

J. D. Jones bid in the day job at S. W. Junction; Patterson getting the night position.

Therser, who has been at S. W. Junction a few nights, has gone to the yard office at Osawatimie.

We understand that Bro. Waters is going to Illinois next month, and it is rumored that he will bring a helpmate home with him.

Now that we have been granted an increase in salary, the boys should endeavor to do their work to the very best of their ability.

As I am off duty, making arrangements to start for Colorado with my wife, who is too ill to make the trip alone, I have probably missed some of the items mailed me by some of the brothers.

W. L. W.

St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Ry. Arkansas Division—

How did the first few months' increase loom up on your checks? It certainly looked good to me. I think we should all feel proud of what we secured in our last revision, but we still hope for better things to come. We have a great many things yet to adjust in order to elevate our profession to the ranks in which it belongs. With our general chairman devoting his entire time to the interests of the Order, it should not take Division 31 very long to be in first-class condition. There should not be a non on the entire system.

Your individual attention and co-operation is earnestly requested. What benefits the Order will benefit you. I would ask those who do not believe in organization to take up their grievances as individuals and note the results.

We have very few nons on the Arkansas Division, and the majority of these have promised to come in pay-day. There is a class of nons commonly called "hard-shells." Of this class we have three on the entire division. One on the Hoxie District and two on the Texarkana District. All three of these "mollycoddles" recently received increases ranging from $5 to $10; yet they can not afford to join the Order. "It's too expensive, and it's not beneficial enough to them." Of all the hogs on earth I think the hog who don't give credit to the source from whence good things come, is the biggest.

I understand the O. R. T., B. R. T., O. R. C., Engineers and Firemen Unions intend to get out posters giving the names of all the hopeless "hard-shells" working on this system who refuse to become members of the union. By doing this we will know who are our friends and who are not.

The matter of bulleting vacancies was taken up with our division operator, G. H. Cooper, and he advises that all vacancies will be promptly bulletined in future. The following offices or open for bids: Texarkana, day and night; Malvern, day telegrapher; Minturn, night telegrapher; Higgins, night telegrapher; Clear Lake Junction, night telegrapher.

Hosie District—

Bro. J. C. Langston relieved Bro. A. N. Beville, agent and telegrapher, at Minturn.

Bro. J. M. Gritton relieved Bro. D. T. Aaron, nights at Newport. Bro. M. E. Doyle still on the sick list. Has not been able to resume work.

Bro. J. M. Ashley is now doing the agent's stunt at Olyphant. Bro. C. W. Williams working nights. Bro. Holman secured the latter's application on his recent trip over this division.

Night telegrapher at Bradford, L. E. Whitlow, did the right thing last month, and handed Bro. Holman his application.

Bro. Harry Morton, from Division 54, relieved Telegrapher A. H. Downs, a C. T. U. of A. striker, days at Malvern. Bro. Downey working nights. Am sorry to see these C. T. U. of A. boys have to leave us, as they have already shown they are 18-karat.

Mrs. M. A. Briggs is now agent and telegrapher at Smithton; relieving Bro. T. F. Hughes, resigned.

Bro. R. L. McClain relieved Bro. S. Nelson, night telegrapher at Prescott. We are sorry to lose Bro. Nelson. He was a good, reliable man for the company, and a hard worker for the Order. I hope our loss will be his gain.

Bro. B. Proctor, now night telegrapher at Hope. Am unable to say who he relieved.

Bro. E. G. Sponenberger, agent and telegrapher at Fulton, is spending a month's vacation in Kansas with his relatives. He is being relieved by Bro. J. B. Bruce, from the I. C.

Pine Bluff District—

J. O. Davis relieved Bro. Scott, night telegrapher at Higgins. "13" Bro. Scott has accepted a position on the R. I.

Bro. E. B. Wall, agent and telegrapher at Samplers, has resigned, and is going to enter the University of Arkansas, at Fayetteville. He is being relieved by Bro. J. A. Wall.

Bro. D. F. Byrd and S. L. Hart, now day and night telegraphers at Pine Bluff.

We are sorry to learn that Bro. Coleman, agent and telegrapher at Redfield, lost one of his children. He has the most sincere sympathy of the members on this division.

Following are a few of the scabs working for the Western Union and Postal in our vicinity: E. E. Jonson, Poplar Bluff; T. J. Copeland, Newport; J. W. Morris, Batesville; Chief Operator Henry Freese, Milton C. Judd, formerly of "CF" office; old man Modisett, formerly from the Western Union at Helena; Mr. Gunn, J. Schuck and Thomas. The last six mentioned all in the Western Union at Little Rock.

W. A. Logan, an official from Dallas, opened up the Postal office in Little Rock, after being closed for a month. F. W. Hoyler and wife at Pine Bluff; Minnie Morrison, Old Martin and Bettie Ryan at Hot Springs, Western Union.

Helderman with the Western Union at the same place. J. C. Gilliam working for the Postal at Fort Smith. Fatty Stannard with the Western Union at same point. A. V. Dunn at Camden. R. A. Walls at Eldorado. J. G. Faulkner at Helena for the Postal. Friganza and his wife at Hope.

I wish to thank those who took enough interest to mail me items for the journal this month. If each of you would do this every month we would make a great deal better showing. Please try and do this hereafter.

P. S.—Eight new applicants received this month. Ain't that going some? Have you done your share towards securing any? LAForge.

Northern Pacific Railway.

St. Paul Division—

There have been a number of changes on our division lately, so I will try and write them up.

Bro. Quinn, of Sauk Rapids, is now out of service.

Bro. C. L. Gantz, nights at Lincoln, has resigned, to return to his home in Indiana. Not relieved at this writing.

Mr. Chas. Taylor, agent at Lincoln, at one time a good brother, has left the service. Relieved by Agent Cottingham, from Philbrook nights, who was relieved by Mr. Kleman, from Gregory nights. Mr. Kleman has promised to join in October.

Mr. Ferron, from Anoka nights, relieved Kleman at Gregory. Regular man back at Anoka.

Bro. Sporleder is back as agent at Gregory, relieving Mr. Rumerich, who went to Curtis days.

Mr. N. Ehr, the agent at Randall, is in the hospital to undergo an operation on his head.

Now that we have a new schedule, we should endeavor to do our duty to the best of our ability, as no doubt the officials will appreciate good service.

Can we not arrange to have a meeting at St. Cloud once in a while? Think it over and let's hear from others on this subject.

CERT. 467.

Dakota Division—

Owing to your correspondent being very busy, no write-up appeared in THE TELEGRAPHER last month.

Block system is now in operation on main line over the whole division, being extended from Dawson to Mondon Sept. 8th, and a number of new block offices were opened.

Bro. Miles, from Medina, in charge days at Grouse.

Bro. Christensen, day telegrapher at Cleveland, to days at Rankin.

Bro. Hoody, nights at Dawson, to days at Geneva.

Bro. Kuhn, nights at Sterling, to days at An-gora.

A day telegrapher has been put on at Driscoll, position being held by Bro. Evans, from nights at Eldridge.

Bro. Ebert, days at Dawson, was absent for a few weeks on vacation, being relieved by Bro. Kiblinger.

Bro. Stewart, nights at Driscoll, was promoted to the agency at Eldridge.

A Mr. C. N. Hendrix relieved Bro. Sundermeyer, agent at Driscoll, who went on an "extended" vacation to take in the fair and visit his folks in Iowa.

Bro. Murphy, days at Bismarck, resigned, being relieved by Mr. Morris.

A great many new men are coming on this division, and while our Local Chairman is away, each brother should appoint himself a committee of one to see that the men on both sides of him carry up-to-date cards. Would especially urge the brothers on the branch lines to get busy. The recent ballots showed that they, while not "dead ones," are certainly not awake to their best interests. General Secretary and Treasurer I. N. Holmes, at Hotel Foley, St. Paul, Minn., will cheerfully furnish the necessary blanks to all who will apply for them.

I "13" an election for Local Chairman is soon to be held. Look around for the best man for this position, and then use your influence to induce him to accept it.

A word about dealing with the public. Public opinion is a great factor in times of controversy between labor and capital, and every time we treat the public discourteously we turn public opinion against us, so that viewed only from a selfish standpoint it is better to treat them courteously, besides being a very much pleasanter way to do business.

As your correspondent is leaving the service, I trust the work will be taken up and carried on by abler hands, and that the grand O. R. T. may always flourish on the Dakota Division. With best wishes for all the brothers.

Yours truly,

A. F. SUNDERMEYER.

Seaboard Air Line.

A CARD.

I take this opportunity of expressing my heartfelt thanks to the members of Division 97 for their many acts of kindness and assistance during the illness of my husband, and assure one and all that they were appreciated, and shall never be forgotten.

Mrs. J. S. AUSBORN.

Sylacanga, Ala.

Union Pacific Ry.

Eastern District, Kansas Division—

Our chief dispatcher, Mr. Brownson, is back at his desk again after several weeks' absence on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Brownson.

Mr. Joe Johnson acted as chief during Mr. Brownson's absence. Mr. Amos was given a trick, and relieved Mr. Johnson. Later Mr. Amos was relieved by Mr. Grogger, ex-dispatcher from Ellis.

Bro. Shuchman is back from a six weeks' vacation. Bro. Cadwell, from down in Georgia, relieving.

Bro. Geary relieved Mr. Amos in "Z" office, Kansas City.

Bro. Clark relieving Bro. Cosley at Armstrong.

Bro. Sherry bid in Muncie agency. Afterward resigned to accept employment with the K. C. S.; being relieved by Mr. Robert Stepp.

Mr. B. C. Mierotta, from the Frisco, relieving Miss Sims at Lawrence.

Mr. Morrell, who made and broke so many promises at Bonner Springs, bid in Natoma; being relieved at Bonner Springs by Bro. Thos. Dehoney, late of the Burlington.

Bro. L. C. Stout is taking a few days' needed vacation; being relieved by Bro. Johnson, who, in turn, was relieved by Bro. Miller, who is back for the hunting season.

Mr. H. R. Walker, the Lansing helper, relieving Mr. Folsome at that place. Mr. Folsome is too hard up to do the proper thing by this organization, yet able to take a six weeks' vacation.

Bro. Klasse relieved Bro. Raines at Williams-town.

Bro. Enochs is back with us again at Grantville, having passed up California.

Mr. Ferrell, the helper from St. Mary, relieving Bro. Ross at that place, and Mr. Sharritt, from the Katy, relieving Bro. McElvaine.

Bro. Brady relieving Bro. Dunaway at Rossville. Mr. Webb relieving Bro. Brady, nights at Rossville.

Bro. Leger relieved Bro. Batchelor a few days at Manhattan.

Bro. G. E. Payne, second, days at Manhattan, bid in Ellis; Bro. Cadwell relieving.

Before this is in print we expect to have changed our headquarters, having bid in Manhattan, nights, Bro. Abbott, Ogdensburg nights, bid in Russell; relieved by Mr. Heathman, the helper from Randolph.

Have you paid your special assessment? If not, do so at once.

It is reported that Mr. H. Brandner, who was employed as helper at Loring at one time, has accepted employment with the Western Union at Kansas City. This party made application for a position as fireman during the threatened trouble with the firemen recently, saying he did not believe in unions. It is supposed that he touched Bro. Smith up for somewhere near $50 for this same reason. It pays to watch such cattle. There's a reason. It is also reported that Brandner has a sister scabbing in "KS."

What have you done in the past year or two to help your organization? There is more to unionism than merely holding a card. Take an active interest in the workings of your division. Be up and doing. In looking over the notes in THE TELEGRAPHER you can see where every correspondent calls attention to the great awakening that is going on among the telegraphers. Where have you been all this time, and where are you now? Don't expect your card to perform wonders for you without some effort on your part. There is no reason why we should not have a solid membership on this end in the near future, provided too many helpers are not allowed the use of the wires. It is reported that one good brother (?) has a girl student. We have nothing against the student personally, but in case this is true, a great deal might be said of the brother. Cut it out, brothers. This student business will get you down.

Some one suggest a plan whereby we may hold regular meetings. Such a thing would be difficult to arrange, I know, but in case it could be arranged, it would I believe do us a world of good. We all know each other over the wire, but it would be much better if we could become personally acquainted with each other.

By the time this is in print you will have probably heard from our new schedule. The proposed schedule is, in my estimation, better than any ever drawn up before. Just what will be achieved is at present all speculation. If you are not satisfied with the results, do not put up a big howl and tell your brother telegraphers what should have been done, for if you do not receive satisfactory results it will be, in a large measure, due to your own negligence. Push; don't knock.

In conclusion, I wish to make an appeal to all brothers to help me out a little by sending in items. All of the above notes were caught at odd times; not a single one having been contributed by any of the brothers. Each month, after my notes have gone in, I hear of something of interest. I would also suggest that some brother on the west end appoint himself official correspondent and hand us a little news.

Bro. Hughey advises that the following members were dropped from the rolls for non-payment of dues: Hubert, Sims, Paul, Richards, Harl, Joe Haney, Dugger and Robinson, all of whom have left the service, except Paul, Hubert and Miss Sims.

Where do we stand on the student question? It is a fact that we have entirely too many students for our own good. A month or so ago I wrote several agents, some of them brothers, too, about their ham shops. The replies received, indignant denials, excuses, etc., were masterpieces in a way. What is the difference between an out-and-out student and a helper, provided you allow the helper to do your telegraphing, clear trains, and do everything in your power to educate him? You brothers who have helpers and allow them to do your telegraphing and educate them to take your positions, are as guilty as the non-member who openly has a student. How many of you leave your student-helper to clear trains and "O. S." for you while you go to your meals? The schedule gives you one hour overtime whenever you are not excused for meals. Take your hour overtime and send your helper after your lunch, if you must work him. It is reported that one brother has, in the last twenty months, sent out from his office five helpers who are now holding positions as telegraphers. It is also hinted that this brother collected a small fee from each helper. I have in my possession a letter from this party wherein he advocates that we demand a universal schedule, and a few more impossible plans. To demand even the smallest concessions would be useless if a few more were to finish up five helpers every twenty months. As the matter is being investigated, no names will be mentioned at present. We all know in what relation the sneak thief stands with the public. The member who puts the finishing touches on some Janesville or Topeka helper stands in the same relation toward his organization as the sneak thief does toward the public. We have nothing whatever against the helper. If he wants to learn and can find some one weak-minded enough, who cares nothing for his own welfare or the welfare of his brother telegraphers, that's his business. If you must do this, at least own up to it so we can locate you without so much trouble, and after you have been located, don't come out with the old wornout excuse that you have permission from the superintendent. Of course you have permission from him, and could, no doubt, get permission from him to teach a half dozen or so more. That's part of his business. The question is: Have you permission from this organization to make a professor out of yourself? Your card doesn't entitle you to membership in the "Amalgamated Brotherhood of Professors of Telegraphy." That's entirely a different organization, and you have a long, hard road to travel when you start. Cut it out, brothers; every time you allow your helper to do your telegraphing you, so to speak, are digging down deep in your jeans and taking out good, hard-earned dollars. Ho.-

Wyoming Division—

News somewhat scarce this month; not because there has not been "plenty doing," but on account of the seeming indifference on the part of a great many members to help to furnish the correspondent with the changes, etc.

A few months ago we resolved to try to gather a few items for the journal each month, so that members on other divisions and on other lines would not have occasion to think we were a set of "dead ones," and since that time have been trying to establish a system by which items from all over the division will be furnished each month regularly, systematically and without having to personally call every office, and question them like an attorney questioning a witness to get enough information to know who is working and who is not. I have written to practically every member on this division earnestly requesting that they do this, but each month, with a few exceptions, the same old case of using the wires and "cross-questioning" has to be followed up to secure information.

Last night I called every office and asked that they send in their items without fail today, and, of course, all promised, but with the exception of Bro. C. F. Wheeler, at Chappel, not one made good their promise. This applies to night telegraphers, however, as they were the ones appealed to. This indifference is discouraging, disappointing and disgusting. Now, brothers, I want to make another appeal to you. Will you please make it a point to mail me a note each and every month, giving names of day and night men; if any changes, state where new arrival is from, and where one who relieved went to; give births or deaths in families of brothers. It is impossible for one to keep up with all the changes without assistance, and remember that this is as much your duty as mine, as I am getting nothing out of it; not even postage. I would be glad if some more able writer would do the corresponding, but no one seems to want the "job," and it falls on some one to take it up, or drop back to where we were a few months ago, when, for month after month, not a single item appeared from the Wyoming Division of the Union Pacific.

You certainly can not be so indifferent as to revert back to this condition. Just don't leave it to "the other fellow" to do, and we will have some kind of a report every month. Notes should reach me by the 23d or 24th of each month in order to reach St. Louis in time for publication in the following month's TELEGRAPHER. It is to be hoped that every member has promptly responded to the assessment notice to provide for the committee while looking after the revision of our schedule, also a generous contribution to the commercial strikers' fund, as their interests are our interests, and if they are victorious it will be the greatest victory that has ever been known. I can say for the boys on this division, however, that I do not think there can be a division found anywhere that has given the commercial men more loyal support, and especially the boys at North Platte. Everybody is enthusiastic and hopeful, and expect a satisfactory settlement long before this appears in print. When such settlement is reached, there will be no more discrimination against telegraphers on account of union affiliation. No more "pets" put into positions in preference to older men because they have a "pull" with the manager, or a thousand other items where telegraphers in the past have been imposed upon because they had no one to adjust their differences for them. To be able to maintain a committee recognized by the telegraph company for the purpose of adjusting differences will be a great victory, and one well worth fighting for, even if no increase in pay was obtained.

There are several new men on the line, but have not learned the names of all of them.

Bro. C. F. Smith, from Denver, one of the commercial men who went out in response to the call, nights at Sutherland; Bro. Ellis having resigned.

Bro. W. A. Hostetter is taking a much needed vacation at Excelsior Springs, Mo., being relieved by Bro. G. L. Stout, of Julesburg nights.

Bro. P. C. Spencer, agent at Paxton, has been furnished a day telegrapher, and Bro. W. F. Howard, Hershey, expects to have one within a few days.

The branch makes a great deal of extra work for Hershey, besides the beet season will open about October 1st, and hay shipping will commence in full blast soon. It might seem unreasonable to some, but it is a fact that during the year 1906 there were 1,094 car-loads forwarded from Hershey, of which 506 were sugar beets and 424 hay; besides, there were 720 car-load shipments received. In addition to this, there are two sidings—Nichols and O'Fallons—tributary to Hershey, which do an immense hay and beet business. The new North Port branch is promising to do a good business, as forty or fifty cars of stock have been shipped from there since it has been opened for car-load business. Bro. Parr, from North Platte "NO" office, took a few days off, and went hunting recently.

We saw Bro. F. L. Murphy a few nights ago as he came through on the work train on his way to North Platte to take the examination.

The board of examiners' car passed through here Saturday.

Bro. Murphy says it is rather lonesome working on the branch, but "easy money," and he is staying with it.

The new depot at Brule has been finished. Bro. Seibert, formerly day telegrapher there, has resigned, and understand he is learning to be a maintainer.

Bro. Best, nights at Colton, has bid in day telegrapher position at Ogallala on bulletin, and Bro. Black, days at Colton, bid in day job at Paxton.

Bro. P. D. Gray has come into the ranks at last, and will be one of the boys after this. We wish to congratulate him on this move. No one could work with those boys at Julesburg and not get in line, as they believe in the motto: "No card, no favors," and bore out their claims in a very generous contribution to the C. T. U. of A. fund on the first call.

Mr. Mathers, at Big Springs, still stays out, but we give him credit for refusing to run a ham factory. Not a factory on the division.

As the busy season is commencing, and business is very heavy, do all you can to give the dispatchers good service, and get the trains over the road. Don't spend so much time in the "hay" at night, and show the company that O. R. T. men are the only kind to employ. CERT. 616.

Eastern District, Nebraska Division—

Bro. W. O. Howland has returned from his honeymoon trip, and settled down to real life at Central City.

Clarks, nights, and Silver Creek, nights, closed on account of completion of double track west of Silver Creek to Grand Island.

Bro. Roy. Dooley, of Valley, accepted position in train dispatcher's office, Omaha.

Bro. H. C. Carlson successful applicant for position of day telegrapher at Valley, made vacant by the resignation of Bro. J. G. Pollock, who we understand, went West to enter the employ of the O. S. L.

Bro. M. M. Kerr has resigned Elkhorn station. He likes a change once in a while, and is getting it in his new position as relief agent.

Bro. W. C. Henigan has returned from his trip to the East, and is now working days at Columbus in the absence of Bro. W. F. Winkelman, who is serving on the committee convened in Denver.

Bro. W. A. Clark landed the owl job at Columbus, made vacant by L. A. Johnson, transferred to Omaha.

Bro. J. D. Henderson transferred to Fremont temporarily. Bro. P. V. Hobart working days at Fremont.

Bro. J. L. Stuart owl at North Bend.

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Providence to call to the Great Beyond our worthy Bro. Chas. J. Steckel, removing from our midst a cherished brother, and from his wife a devoted husband; therefore be it

Resolved, That although we bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well, the members of the Union Pacific System, Division No. 6, Order Railroad Telegraphers, in his death lost a staunch and worthy friend and brother; and be it further

Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved family our most sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this their dark hour of sorrow; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family and a copy sent to THE RAILROAD TELEGRAPHER for publication.

W. F. Winkelman,

Committee.

Wyoming Division, Western District—

Bro. Curtis, of Rock River nights, says that it is much more pleasant to be on the rear end of a passenger train with a red flag than to sit up all night and watch them go by.

Bro. Smith, new man from the D. & R. G., relieved Bro. Curtis at Rock River.

Bro. Pfelegar, late from the C. & S., doing the owl act at Hanna.

We have two new men at Wolcott; both up-to-date. Bro. Meyer has the day job. Unable to learn the owl's name.

We are glad to see all those new applications coming in, and the foreign members transferring to this division. Looks like "something doin'."

Bro. Ross, of Cheyenne, will represent the entire Wyoming Division in the pending conference with the management at Omaha. We trust the brother will not forget our interests away out here on the west end.

We are sorry to note that Bro. Knightlinger has been on the sick list for the past few days. Very near a case of pneumonia, but at present writing is convalescent.

Bro. Ablard, of Superior, suffering with the grip for a few days.

The new schedule, as framed, is a good one, and it is to be hoped the committee will stand pat on everything asked for.

Bro. Prentice, late of Riner, now with the S. P. at LeMay, Utah.

Bro. E. T. Taylor, also late of Riner, we understand, has cast his lot with the Southern Pacific.

We are pleased to note that Bro. Braddock, an old-time member of this division, formerly located at Latham, has returned to the Sixth, after nearly a year spent in the South. We are sorry to note however, that his brother's illness, the cause of his leaving here last fall, is still the source of considerable worry on the part of his friends and relatives.

Look out for a bulletin covering the morning report job at Green River.

Changes fast and furious at Green River. The brothers say it is an awful roast there.

Bro. Miller quit and went East. Bro. Hendricks, from Louisiana, remained one day, and Bro. Duncan remained a week.

A new C. T. U. of A. brother named Stapleton, from Kansas City, the latest arrival. Bros. Cane and Kerr leave the 20th.

There is lots of work at Green River; living very high, and accommodations poor, consequently no one cares to stay there.

Glad to note that Bros. Cue and Haynes, together with the manager, are still with us.

Bro. Crawford, C. T. U. of A. member, late of Bitter Creek, we understand, is now camping with the Western Union brothers near Denver.

Bro. Braddock transferred from Walcott to Red Desert.

Bro. Burch transferred from Red Desert to Bitter Creek, being assigned that position on bulletin.

Bro. Colony, late of Bitter Creek, transferred to Tipton nights. Tipton has been closed several nights recently on account of telegraphers unable to get board at that point for more than a few days at a time, and although there are ample opportunities to batch, none of them seem to want to run the risk of eating their own cooking.

Rock Springs also closed a night or two on account of Bro. Ingham on the sick list, and no available man to take his place.

Bro. Prentice reports that he is getting a straight salary of $80 per month at LeMay, Utah, on the Southern Pacific.

Bro. Connors, late of Wamsutter, now with the Great Northern in Washington, working seven hours per day and five days per week, drawing $80. Guess the brother is as well or better satisfied than he would have been had he remained with the Union Pacific. These short hours are a drawing card anywhere.

Our schedule provides for one man in the Green River, "D" office, and as there are two of them in there, one days and another on the night work, there is going to be a contest as to the extra man holding the position without being assigned to it on bulletin.

Oscar Phigpen, from the C. & O., Bitter Creek, nights.

Bro. Lottlemiller, late of Blairtown nights, visiting his sister in Green River. Relieved by Mr. McKidder, from the C., B. & Q., an old-time O. R. T., but, owing to reverses, not up-to-date. Let us hope he prospers to the extent that he will see the necessity of a new card soon.

Erie Ry.

Susquehanna Division—

The meeting at Elmira, September 9th, was a success, notwithstanding that the Erie trains were a little behind schedule time, making the hour of opening a little late, and compelling the members from the east to depart before Bro. Coleman had finished his remarks.

Bro. Hesser was admitted at 9:45 with his pockets filled with applications.

Bro. Shaughnessy was up from Binghamton as enthusiastic as ever.

We missed the smiling countenance of Bro. Elliott, of Division 100, who was unable to be with us, but sent regrets.

Besides a good attendance from this division, three members of the general committee, Bros. Amos Munson, of the N. Y., S. & W., F. W. Coleman, of the New York Division, and Secretary and Treasurer C. L. Bridge were present.

The roll of honor for the Susquehanna Division for this month includes the following named:

D. Thompson, Wellburg, N. Y.
W. J. Malone, Elmira, N. Y.
G. B. Owen, Elmira, N. Y.
F. S. Coleman, Smithboro, N. Y.
J. P. Hogan, Hornell, N. Y.
T. P. Reeder, Big Flats, N. Y.
E. H. Walbridge, Corning, N. Y.
R. R. Welch, Cameron, N. Y.
J. E. Heffernan, Hornell, N. Y.

The growth of the Order on the Erie System during the past six months has been almost phenomenal, considering the fact that very little has been done by an organizer, most of the good results being accomplished through the efforts of individuals.

Very few assignments are being made, owing to the fact that vacancies are not being filled or advertised, as per agreement.

The last advertisement, dated August 9th, included "HQ," nights, and "RF," dispatcher's office, days. G. W. Chichester was assigned to "HQ," but, up to September 25th, the vacancy at "RF" had not been filled.

"UR," Wellburg, vacant for more than six weeks, and not advertised, notwithstanding the fact that there were three men placed there contemplating the approach of October 1st.

It is expected that the eight-hour law, effective October 1st, will apply to this division, but no advertisements are out to that effect.

Men from the Elmira College were placed at points on salary to post up on the work, but these men, in nearly every case, are failures, and regular men are working their regular twelve-hour trick, and will until the specified time arrives.

On Labor Day an engine of a work train jumped the track and demolished "DH" tower at Binghamton. Bro. Connor, who was working at the time, was quite seriously bruised, making it necessary for him to be absent for quite a period. J. T. Kelliher, formerly of "DH," has secured a better-paying position in Virginia, and, we understand, he will move there.

C. J. Spencer worked at "B," Binghamton, through the vacations of F. S. Johnson and J. W. White.

A. W. Barkalow was absent from "RX" a few nights on account of illness; relieved by Victor Hadley.

A. F. Hill, of "JT," Chemung, was absent one week in September; relieved by Telegrapher Shumway. W. H. Swartwood worked the day trick.

E. I. Kelly spent five days at Millport, N. Y.; relieved at "FD" by Walbridge.

J. T. Lewis worked at "RX," Magees. A. W. Barkalow working the day trick.

W. J. Peck was absent from "JF," Southport, ten days; relieved by J. T. Collins and M. G. Beach. Extra Telegrapher C. J. Spencer worked at "MJ" in place of Beach.

H. S. Owens and J. J. Ambrose, of "RA," Elmira, are doing the act in "YA," New York. Guy B. Owen is at "RA," days, and Dispatcher De-groat on nights.
Drv. Con.

N. Y., S. & W. and W., B. & E. Lines—

The following is for the information of all N. Y., S. & W. and W., B. & E. members:

Until further notice N. Y., S. & W. will meet jointly with New York Division of the Erie at Munzer's Hall, Market street, Paterson, N. J., the fourth Saturday in each month, at 8:30 p. m. All members are requested to keep the above in mind, as individual notices will not hereafter be sent.

It is hoped that these meetings will be more liberally attended than heretofore. Notwithstanding the fact that we have had fairly good attendance, there are a number of brothers on the N. Y., S. & W. who could turn out and look pleasant once a month.

We are somewhat short of news, having been away on a business vacation.

To date we have taken in twenty-two new members since January 1, 1907, and by the time you read this we shall have taken in several more; so we feel that we have gone some. Let us keep up this good work, and try to swamp Secretary Bro. Bridge.

In this connection it may be of interest to the N. Y., S. & W. boys to know that similar conditions prevail on the Erie, they having taken in something over 200 members since January 1, 1907, which goes to show that Division 42 is moving some; also, it is very gratifying to know that the Erie general committee is interested in the welfare of the N. Y., S. & W., Bro. Hall having met with and advised us, and otherwise contributed to our success to such an extent that we would, indeed, be ungrateful should we let his efforts in our behalf pass unnoticed.

The above is for the information of those members who, on account of their location, are unable to attend meetings, and we take this opportunity of letting them know through THE TELEGRAPHER that the O. R. T. is enjoying a healthy growth in our neck of the woods, as elsewhere.

We have nothing more to write about, and no time to write it, so will cut out with the intention of coming back next month. C.E.T. 273.

Mahoning Division—

The news on the old Mahoning Division at the present writing is as follows:

W. C. Cull has left the telegraph department, accepting a clerical position at Wilson avenue shops.

J. H. Lineker, of Wilson avenue nights, gets "SQ" office.

J. B. Pulaski goes to Wilson avenue nights.

Z. V. Hall, ticket seller at Wilson avenue depot, has resigned.

R. G. Lewis is now the day man at "WH" tower.

G. R. Burdett has resumed work at Solon tower, after having been off sick.

J. A. Aston and W. B. Case, the two men at Mahoning tower, have resigned.

C. J. Fenstermaker goes from Phalanx nights, to Mahoning tower days.

H. B. Cutliff gets Mahoning tower nights.

W. V. Saltzman, of Phalanx days, has resumed work, after having been off on account of sickness in his family.

The office of assistant C. T. D. has been abolished, and W. H. Ludt has been placed back at Leavittsburg as manager. This, of course, causes considerable bumping as it is called. Ludt bumps W. S. Lawrie out of the managership. Lawrie bumps W. J. Holbrook. Holbrook bumps W. D. Mayer on to the night trick. Mayer bumps R. A. Stroup out of the office, Stroup going to Phalanx nights.

C. W. Mitchell, of Warren days, spent his vacation on a trip to New York City; relieved by C. W. Morse, the Niles day man.

W. H. Owens, of DeForest tower, on his vacation; relieved by Wm. Armstrong, of Canal Branch tower.

Armstrong follows Owens on vacation.

"CB" tower days, being filled by C. W. Morse. N. C. Grimm at Niles days, in Morse's place.

J. E. Mohn has resumed work at Girard after being off; relieved by Ray Cassidy.

J. J. Ryan, after undergoing an operation in New York City, is back to work at "VY" office, Youngstown. While Ryan was away this position was filled by Hugh M. Boyle, of Lowellville, O., an old-time P. & L. E. telegrapher.

Boyce tower, between Sharpville and Sharon, has been equipped with telephones, and closed as a telegraph office. This puts Frank Metcalf at "JV" office, while Walter Post is off on his vacation, and R. E. Kincaid goes to "CR" office, a temporary affair, where the ditching outfit is working between Sharon and Hubbard.

Frank Fox, of Mineral Ridge, is still sick; relieved by G. W. Taylor, of Leavittsburg.

H. E. Johns, of West Middlesex, has resigned, and the position given to J. P. Gundy, a Pennsylvania man from Youngstown. Div. Cor.

Pere Marquette Ry.

Port Huron Division—

At a meeting held in Saginaw, Sunday, August 18th, several division correspondents were appointed, the writer being chosen as one, to cover the following divisions: Port Huron Division, Almont branch, Port Austin Division, Harbor Beach branch and S. T. & H. Division. To the brothers located on the above mentioned divisions and branches, I wish to say, especially for the benefit of those who were not present at the meeting, it is expected that each brother will forward all items of interest to the division correspondent about the tenth of each month. If each one will put forth a little effort, we can have a write-up in THE TELEGRAPHER regularly. Your humble scribe will be grateful for any notes, and will try and do his part. Mail items to P. J. Flower, Clifford, Mich. This month's contributions, from all except the Port Huron Division, are very short, although there were a few brothers from the other territory who were present at the meeting. If you wish something to appear in the columns of THE TELEGRAPHER to show that Division 39 is still prosperous, get busy.

Bro. S. B. Martin, agent at Mayville, relieved by Bro. S. W. Delmarter for the past seven weeks on account of illness.

Bro. L. C. Rice, cashier at Marlette, relieved Bro. Delmarter at Mayville after having himself taken three weeks' vacation. Bro. Rice expects to return to Marlette as soon as Bro. Martin's health will permit him to resume duty at Mayville.

Bro. E. J. Cornell, formerly day telegrapher and ticket clerk at Port Huron, has severed his connection with the Pere Marquette, and accepted a position in the master mechanic's office, Grand Trunk Railway, in the same city, "DS." Division 39 wishes him success.

The position of day telegrapher and ticket clerk at Port Huron, has been assigned J. W. Muir. Mr. R. F. Bruce succeeds Bro. J. W. Muir as abstract clerk and telegrapher at "HR" office, Port Huron.

Bro. G. H. Syzee relieving nights at Yale.

Bro. R. J. Lichtenfeldt, day telegrapher at Clare, temporarily. He soon expects to return to Yale and resume duty as night telegrapher.

Mr. J. W. Brown, at one time agent at Avoca, later with the Detroit & Mackinaw Railway, now night telegrapher and bill clerk at Port Huron.

Bro. W. C. Maack has just returned from a two weeks' vacation, and has resumed duty at Hoyt; having been relieved by Bro. Wm. Archer.

Bro. C. H. Baker and wife, of Juniata, attended the wedding of a friend at Flint August 28th. Bro. Baker was relieved by Bro. F. A. Keyes, extra agent at Mayville.

Before closing, I think a few words of appreciation of the treatment accorded us all by the trainmasters and our chief dispatcher will be in order, in allowing so many of us to be present at our last meeting. It only shows what we can do if we will put forth an effort ourselves, and try to be present at our meetings. We can only thank them, and try and give them a little better service, if possible, and in this way show our appreciation of a favor granted. CERT. 293.

Toledo Division—

Bro. Ude, days at Flint, is taking a short vacation; relieved by Bro. Fisher nights.

Mr. Gnung is doing the owl act at Flint in Bro. Fisher's place.

Bro. Kosmider doing the owl act at Belford.

Bro. Maack, days at "SX" tower, taking a short vacation; relieved by Bro. King, nights. Name and standing of Bro. King's relief not known.

Bro. Leavenworth, days at Carleton.

Mr. Deno, days at Belford, is taking a trip to New York; relieved by Mr. Frost, of the extra list. We expect Mr. Frost to be with us soon.

Mr. Showers is doing the owl act at Holly, and Mr. Jewell days.

Bro. W. E. Moore working nights at Medicine Bow, Wyo. He reports everything O. K. on the U. P., but expects to return to the P. M. in the near future.

Bro. Mead, our general secretary and treasurer, is taking a flying trip through the West.

Bro. Heusted, our general chairman at Mount Morris, transferred to Belford, days.

Mr. Deno has taken charge of Mount Morris.

Bro. E. J. G. Beer recently took a week's vacation.

Bro. Paul Wargdka takes one week, starting September 15th. Mr. Matheson and Mr. Davis each had a week.

Dispatcher Prall, on the west end, second trick, just returned from a two weeks' vacation. First Trick Dispatcher Earle, on the Saginaw & Ionia Division being the next lucky man.

Bro. W. Archer, who has been working for the Western Union at Chicago, is back with us again, working at Baldwin, "BI," nights.

Div. Cor.

Saginaw Division—

I am compelled to call attention to the fact that the brothers are not doing their duty so far as contributing items for the journal is concerned. At our meeting in Saginaw, August 18th, it was understood that the correspondent was to be advised when anything of interest transpired, but this matter has evidently been overlooked, as comparatively nothing has been received. Have not heard a word from Ludington, Port Huron or Toledo Divisions. It is impossible for your correspondent to have each division represented in the journal without assistance; therefore I hope the members will show more interest in the future, and favor me with items.

While our committee is working on the new schedule let us assist them in every way possible.

They are laboring hard to get this schedule shaped so as to benefit each and every one of us, but remember they can not do it all. We should make some suggestions as to what we think would benefit us in the future; also state our grievances, if we have any, in order that the committee can better judge what is required.

C. R. Beebe, agent at Lowell, sent in his resignation by wire, September 14th, but, I understand, later he had decided to remain with us. I did not learn the cause.

Bro. T. E. Crane, telegrapher and clerk at Edmore, took two weeks' vacation, and attended the State Fair at Detroit.

Bro. L. A. Dygert relieves Bro. W. C. Johnson as agent at Elwell. Bro. Johnson returns to his old position as night owl at Edmore. New man succeeded Bro. Dygert as agent at Amble. Unable to give his name at this writing.

Bro. E. S. Higbee, of Six Lakes, is at Juniata, relieving for two or three weeks on account of the agent being sick. His daughter, Miss Ola Higbee, is relieving him at Six Lakes.

Bro. C. A. Rihner, formerly agent at Edmore, is at Unionville relieving agent for a few days.

Bro. E. D. Rihner, at Sheridan, is off on his annual vacation. A man by the name of Smith relieving him.

Sister Miss Luella Eaton, of Greenville, passed through our city one day last week, en route North. Did not learn the sister's destination.

Bro. T. H. Wallace, agent at Greenville, has been away on a thirty days' vacation. A man by the name of Inwood, formerly G. T. R. R. agent at North Greenville, relieved him during his absence.

I have handled Western Union business for the last thirteen years, and have not received one cent in pay for handling same, but I notice if their reports are not rendered on proper dates, or if there is any discrepancy in them, the Western Union people don't forget to call us down. Now I think we ought to have at least 10 per cent on all "sent" messages, and do not consider it asking too much. The men on the B. & M. R. R. R., in Nebraska, get it, and why not us? Would like to hear the opinions of others on this subject.

I have been relieving since May 7, 1907, and am compelled to lose the time consumed in going from one position to another. Now I do not believe it would be unreasonable if we should ask the company to allow us full time while in the relief service. Would like to hear some suggestions. The time has come when we should open our eyes, and do something. We must get busy, and don't let these matters drag along.

CERT. 35.

Buffalo Division—

Brothers, the time is ripe for us to make our division solid by converting the nons and inducing them to file applications for membership. Don't give them one minute's peace, but continue punching them up until they can see the right side. Now let's shoulder our muskets and start after them, and see if they won't surrender by March 1, 1908.

Bro. W. A. Knister has returned from Toronto, where he met the railroad commission, and reports conditions quite favorable.

W. H. Stephenson, agent at Blenheim, is off on a two months' vacation; relieved by Day Telegrapher L. Livingston. This puts Bro. M. Maher on days.

Bro. J. Dowling, formerly of the M. & R., at Fargo, is holding down the night job.

Day Telegrapher W. Griffith, of Sarnia, is off sick, and Bro. W. Krahling is working day and night.

Winnipeg Division—

Those of you who failed to attend the meeting at Glenwood August 25th, missed an opportunity of meeting your brother telegraphers and a good time that does not often come your way. The meeting was a hummer from start to finish, and every one in attendance was up and doing all the time. We all forgot our two nights' loss of sleep, and were falling over one another in our efforts to make all the members acquainted. From 4:30 Sunday morning until the same hour in the afternoon the brothers kept coming in. The following members were present: W. F. Vergowe, Medford; C. A. Castle, Egeland; F. H. Clark, Viking; F. C. Paine, Erskine; G. W. Lewis, Orleans; H. J. Oliver, Adams; E. G. Dalton, Halma; L. W. Moon, Eckman; F. G. Smith, Vergas; J. O. Johnson, Henning; G. O. Preston, Forada; J. T. Goodbar, Alexandria; L. C. Mann, Foreman; W. H. Brown, South Haven; A. C. Castle, Belgrade; O. R. Hatton, Brooten; H. G. Merkel, Brooten; F. E. Mollison, Hankinson; L. F. Willis, Paynesville; R. A. Preston, Callaway; J. H. Green, Wendell; J. E. Martin, Kensington.

Committees were appointed to look after various matters relative to the meeting and the pleasure of the members. The morning session was called to order at 11:00 a. m., and Bro. Oliver appointed Chairman. Reports from our officers were heard, and short talks regarding the welfare of the Order given. At 1:00 p. m. we adjourned for dinner.

The afternoon meeting was called to order at 3:00 p. m. and lasted until after 6:00, and we think would still be in session had not some of the brothers been compelled to leave in order to catch their trains.

Space will not permit me to go into details, but I wish I could make you realize what you missed, so you would be present at the next meeting.

Bro. Lewis called attention to the fact that a great many of the boys have not been making monthly comparative and weekly earning reports. This is very important, and should be done regularly, and always on time. It not only means much to the management, but much to us collectively and individually. Let's see if we can not remedy this and get these reports in on time. I am sorry to say that it is the smaller stations that are the most lax in this matter.

There was a lengthy discussion regarding the expense of the meetings, the outcome of which was that the members in attendance at this and all future meetings pay their personal expenses and Division No. 119 would stand the hall rent and general expense.

A collection was taken up to assist the C. T. U. A. boys, and the way the members responded would make a non hate himself for a cheap guy.

Wis. & Pen. Division—

I received a letter from Bro. Deuel, our Local Chairman, about the 8th of September, advising me that I had been appointed Division Correspondent. I will endeavor to furnish the journal with a write-up each month, but will expect the members to help me out. You all know this can not be left entirely to one man. No one has the time to run over this division and gather the news. Since the last write-up I have written many letters, requesting items, and but few members have responded.

We were all glad to see Bro. F. C. Paine, our G. S. & T., when he went through on his trip to North Escanaba. Hope he enjoyed a pleasant vacation.

Bro. Bratton, of Tomahawk Junction, is back at his post after a short vacation. His relief, Mr. J. D. McMinn, has left the road.

Bro. Berrisford is working relief at Woodboro, anxiously looking for the return of Bro. Williams, as he finds it a hard proposition batching.

At Rhinelander we have Bro. Rose nights, still waiting for his relief. Bro. Sommers has been away on a short vacation, being relieved by Mr. J. Rendal, who, I understand, is not up-to-date.

If any nons in your neighborhood, get after 'em with a "big stick," and don't take no for an answer.

Bro. Williamson, agent at Woodboro, and Bro. Berrisford, now working relief, had a very pleasant walk from Rhinelander to Woodboro the night of August 29th, and were nearly treed by wolves, but they finally reached home safely.

Bro. Williams will spend three weeks' vacation with his folks at New Geneva, Pa., while Bro. Berrisford will try to look pleasant and avoid being lonesome.

After Bro. Griffin's return to Pennington, Relief Agent McMin relieved Bro. Bratton at Tomahawk Junction.

Mr. McMin relieved Bro. Griffin at Pennington while Bro. Griffin spent a few weeks' vacation at Bruce. Div. Cor.

Ann Arbor Ry.

For the first time since this road has been organized has death visited our midst and taken from our ranks Bro. Joe Heffernon, formerly of Owosso shops, "RH" office. He has many friends who mourn his loss. Funeral was held at St. Johns, Mich.

Bro. Suydan, of "XN," Hallet tower, is still on the sick list. We hope to see him back at his old position soon.

Bro. Mattis, of "AX," Boulevard tower, has returned to work after a three weeks' vacation. Account of not being able to get a man to relieve him, Bros. Klinck and Berwick doubled.

We have a couple of good C. T. U. of A. men working with us since the commercial strike has been on, in the persons of Bro. Gerathy, at Beulah, and Whitsell at "MA," Ann Arbor, nights.

General Chairman H. J. Tobin says he is going to leave us the last of this month. We are sorry to lose so valuable a brother, but are glad to see him do better, and wish him success in his new position.

We want to call a meeting as soon as we can conveniently, and I understand that Bro. Campbell is figuring on being with us just as soon as he can get the schedule he is working on at present completed. Watch out for the date, and, if possible, be sure and be on hand.

Have you received any of the positions that have been bulletined? The last to be added to the list are Corunna and McBain, and Frankfort, days, and Marion, Clare and Ann Arbor, nights.

Bro. F. F. Randolph, formerly first trick dispatcher on the south end, accepted a position with the Detroit & Mackinack, at Tawas City.

Bro. Battin, formerly agent at McBain, is reported some better, but not yet able to resume duty at that place.

Bro. Barnes, formerly agent at Alma, "FS," is now with the M. & N. E., at Glengarry.

Bro. Leitch, formerly of McBain days, has left that place, leaving Agent Kerwin with his hands full. Can not say where he has gone.

Bro. C. B. Adams, our chief "trouble shooter," has been appointed local chairman pro. tem., to fill Bro. Randolph's place until a local chairman can be elected. Don't you think he would be a first rate candidate for that office?

There are now some of the best jobs on the line bulletined, and by the way applications are coming in it looks as though the brothers all had their eyes on them. That is the way to do, boys; the oldest men ought to have the best jobs.

Pennsylvania Ry.

P. & N. W. Division—

Below are a few of the changes that have taken place on this division since the last write-up:

Mr. Davis, days at Figart, resigned on July 18th, and place filled temporarily by Bro. Strunk, the regular night man. A new man by the name of Peterson filling the night position.

Bro. J. S. Hunter left the service the latter part of July. His place as night man at Glasgow was filled by a new man named Kettren.

The day position at Figart was bid in by Bro. Bailey, night man at "DR" tower, and the change was made during the first part of September. Bro. Strunk resuming night position, and Mr. Peterson going to "DR," nights.

Bro. Uber, day telegrapher at "HY" tower, left the service the latter part of August.

Bro. List took the day job at "HY," and Mr. C. McCartney, clerk from Lloyds, was placed at "HY" as night telegrapher.

Bro. J. S. Hunter returned to duty on August 9th, and was placed at La Jose at night owl.

Bro. Hunter has a few days' work on the B. & A. V. to his credit. He has been employed at Redbank and Brookville. He will move to La Jose in the near future.

Mr. H. R. Metzker, telegrapher at McGees, enjoyed a week off duty during September, which, in company with his wife and daughter, he spent at Pittsburg and vicinity. Bro. Ifert, relief telegrapher, relieved him.

Bro. A. McQuown, night man at "MG" tower, spent several days in Buffalo last month, and reports a very nice time.

Bro. Peace, night owl at Punxsutawney, has just returned from the West. He reports an elegant time while in Chicago.

Bro. Walker, agent and telegrapher at "FM," Fordham, enjoyed a ten days' leave of absence the latter part of September. He and his wife are re-cupering in Tioga County, Pa. He will call on his father at Coalport on his way home. His place is being filled by Relief Agent Hall. Bro. Hall returned on September 13th, having spent his annual vacation visiting friends in the western part of the State.

The correspondent wishes to sound a word of warning to the brothers on this division, and especially to those who work at night: Keep your eyes open. You can't tell at what moment a train may come slipping along. Not having received a report of it, you may fall into a doze, thereby causing a bad delay. When we accept the position, we ought to fill it to the best of our ability. We should be as particular about keeping awake at night as in the daytime. Let us be on the "qui vive," and render the best service possible. I think it is a great deal better to be referred to as a telegrapher who attends to business, than one who can't be trusted, and who makes it a point to run around all day and sleep at night. COR.

Freeport Division—

The meeting of September 20th was well attended, there being thirty-five I. C., two Great Northern, one C. B. & Q., and five C. T. U. of A. brothers present. Chief Dispatcher Richards examined all five of the C. T. U. of A. boys, so we now have about eight commercial men on this division.

On the night of the meeting, a number of the boys, together with Local Chairman Kelly and two O. R. C. men, called upon the "scab" who is running the Postal office in the Brewster Hotel, and tried to persuade him to close up, but he declined, and the matter was turned over to the Trades Assembly, who were in session the same night.

We notice a number of the boys got transportation to Freeport to attend the meeting and then failed to put in an appearance. We presume they attended "a meeting," but of a different nature. This is poor policy.

There were eight applications acted upon, which makes our division almost solid. By October 20th we will have all eligible men who are working, in line, except "Old Head" Delano, of Heyworth, and "Square Deal" Whitney, of Wenona. Give these fellows our treasury and they couldn't divide it between themselves satisfactory to both. The O. R. T. has secured for them since 1901 over $1,030.00 in increased salary, to say nothing of overtime and better working conditions.

Our line of news for this month is small, as most of the boys are very backward in sending in the items.

We are glad to say that we will have "Shorty" with us again next month.

Bro. Lein, of Youngsdale, is taking a vacation, spending it in the neighborhood of Blanchardville, Wis., his old home.

Bro. Schlaf, of Charter Grove, spent a few days visiting at Woodford, Ill., where his brother is located, who is also a staunch member.

Bro. Sherbert is doing the relief stunt at Charter Grove, going from there to relieve Bro. Starry, who has secured Buckbee nights under bulletin.

Bro. F. W. Patterson, of South Elmhurst, has resigned and accepted a position with the Auto Mfg. Co., where he will not have to work Sundays and legal holidays.

The company is making a big change in the interlocking plant at South Elmhurst. At the present time the plant is out of commission. The men and material are on the grounds for the new work.

Bro. Hunsicker, of West Junction, is laying off for a few weeks, being relieved by Bro. McCann.

Telegrapher Hickman is doing the extra stunt at Buckbee.

Bro. Bellows relieved Bro. Schilt at Henkel. From there to relieve Bro. Wernsman, of Kerrick, and then to Parkway nights, which he secured under bulletin.

While Bro. Schilt was laying off, he relieved Bro. Haman at Monticello for a few weeks.

Bro. Haire has returned to work after a rest of two or three weeks. Part of the time was spent at Waubesa Lake.

Bro. Sheperd, of Rutland, spent a few days in Chicago. He was relieved by Bro. Collins, who came here from the Wisconsin Central.

Bro. B. C. Barber has resigned and is attending school at Lostant. However, he still carries an up-to-date card. For that reason Bro. Howard works him into the service when it comes to a pinch.

Bro. Davenport relieved Bro. Foskule at Bloomington for three weeks.

Bros. Lamboley and Morrison, of Monroe, have had their hands full this week on account of the annual county fair. It would not be wrong to say that Monroe is a very busy point most any time of the year.

Local Chairman Kelly is laying off for thirty days, using a week of said time calling on the boys.

Bro. Duff, of Madison, has been East, taking in the Jamestown Exposition. Relieved by Mr. Price, of Normal, who has asked for the blanks.

Bro. Blunt, of Dill, has been laying off, relieved by Telegrapher Halloway, who is a new man at the business, and will line up as soon as eligible.

There have been several changes in the dispatcher's office, but as the positions have not been filled permanently, we will wait until next month to give the correct line-up.

Bro. Shore is visiting in the neighborhood of Washington, D. C., his old home.

Bro. Blough got Polo, and Bro. Ireland Dixon under bulletin.

The past week has been a boomer as to new members, the following having taken out cards: L. V. Hamm, of Coleman; S. W. Scott, LaSalle; O. G. Owens, Tonica; J. F. Eickerman, Eldena; M. L. Perry, Normal; H. R. Auftdenspring, Minonk; C. C. Nolf, Orangeville, and three others declared their intention of joining within the next week. This will leave us solid with but two exceptions, W. DeLano, of Heyworth, whom we hold up as the "Horrible Example," and W. Whitney, of Wenona, who will join if we will sign a contract to give him $1 in gold for every cent he pays in.

Bro. Wheelas is laying off for a few days, and we are sorry to say there is some talk that he is going to leave the service. Bro. W. has always been a live member. Success to him.

Coxey.

Tennessee Division—

A meeting was held in City Hall, Fulton, on September 14, being conducted by General Chairman Bro. Mulhall, as Bro. Merwin was absent on account of sickness. The gathering consisted of forty-nine enthusiastic members, some of whom came a considerable distance, even riding freight trains to get here. This goes to show how loyal the brothers are to this work. Telegrams of regret at being unable to be in attendance were read from Bros. Shannon and Chance, of St. Louis Division. A number of very important communications were presented by some of the members, same being voted on and turned over to Bro. Mulhall, to be referred to our President, Bro. H. B. Perham.

A committee consisting of Bros. Collins, Cosgrove and Allen, was appointed to arrange for the renting of a hall for the purpose of holding regular monthly meetings on the third Saturday of each month. So, brothers, do not forget the time and place—third Saturday of each month in the K. P. Hall, Fulton, Ky. Secure relief and transportation and arrange to be present at these meetings, as great good must surely come from large and enthusiastic gatherings.

Sister M. E. House has secured a sixty-day leave of absence and will visit in Idaho, where she may go to work on the O. S. L. We all join in wishing her a pleasant trip and future success, though we regret to lose her from our midst.

Bro. Merwin, our Local Chairman, seems to be quite busy relieving. He has just returned from Medina, where he has been relieving the agent. Bro. Merwin relieved at Newbern by Telegrapher Elsey.

Telegrapher Clemmons, from Birmingham, Ala., formerly with Postal at Birmingham, is at present relieving Bro. Oscar Allen at "FU" office, Fulton.

Bro. T. I. Allen is working extra at Fulton, caused by Bro. McMillon resuming duty nights at New yard, after an extended vacation.

Bro. T. P. Beard, formerly New yard days, was appointed regular night man at "FU" office, Fulton.

Bro. C. Jackson, formerly Kerrville, is working at Rives nights.

Bro. E. R. Dugan, of "FU" office, Fulton, for the past two years, resigned the latter part of August, and I "13" he is going to Chicago.

Bro. H. A. Shelton, of Woodstock, was off a few days, visiting relatives at Henderson, Tenn. Bro. Shelton has been acting as agent for the past few days.

Chief Dispatcher R. M. Alford has been off for a few days to attend court at Wickliffe, Ky.

Bro. Reeves, of Covington days, was lucky enough to land Fulton nights by application. Bro.

C. B. Simonton, Covington nights, gets the day job permanently.

Bro. H. O. Rogers, former agent at Fowlkes, resigned the agency, and the last heard of him he was working nights at South Forks, relieving Bro. W. E. Barbour, Bro. Barbour going to St. Elmo days.

Drv. Cor.

Louisville Division—

The meeting at Central City was called to order at 11 o'clock p. m., Saturday, September 28th, with the following brothers in attendance: E. E. Sailor, Horse Branch; W. R. Stewart, Hansbrough; R. L. Pulliam, Big Clifty; J. D. Proctor, McHenry; W. B. Leach, Extra; L. H. Rogers, East View; A. H. Turner, McHenry; F. D. Murphy, Cecilia; W. C. Durham, Depoy; G. L. McClure, West Point; E. O. Byers, West Point; H. D. Chappel, Horse Branch; H. T. Netherton, Valley; J. E. Thomas, Caneyville; Geo. Penner, Dugan; C. H. Dewees, Central City; J. C. Campbell, Central City; W. H. Daniel, Central City, and Clarence Arnold, a visitor.

To begin with, Bros. A. H. Turner, J. D. Proctor, L. H. Rogers, F. D. Murphy and W. B. Leach were forced to take a ride on the goat. A very enjoyable experience (for those looking on), after which the regular business of the meeting was taken up, and as there were but few grievances, the meeting adjourned, after a short talk by Bro. Mulhall, our General Chairman, in which he announced that we would likely have Bro. R. L. Shannon with us at our next meeting at Central City.

As it is not often that we can have such a distinguished visitor as Bro. Shannon, we would like for all the members of the Louisville and Paducah districts, who can possibly get away from their stations, to attend this meeting. We want at least one man from every station.

We regret to say that Bro. D. A. Cole, who has been for some time day telegrapher at Central City yard office, has left the service, and has gone to his old home at Nashville. Bro. W. H. Daniel, night telegrapher at the same office, succeeded Bro. Cole, and Bro. R. B. Stroud filled the vacancy made by Bro. Daniel.

Following were the lucky applicants on our last bulletin: Chas. Meacham, Belknap nights; A. Harry Benningfield, Cumberland River days; J. C. Oates, Bakersport nights; Benjamin Dame, White Plains nights.

Mr. Harmon, our third trick dispatcher between Central City and Paducah, is now off on his vacation. He is being relieved by Mr. Shepardson.

Mr. J. W. Taylor, first trick between Paducah and Cairo, is also off on his vacation, being relieved by Bro. Ross G. Bell.

Bro. Daniels, of Central City "YD," is now off on his vacation, and is enjoying his favorite sport, fishing on the "Old Green River." He is being relieved by Bro. Sisk.

We regret to know that Bro. Paul Graham has resigned as night telegrapher at South yard, Paducah.

Bro. Smith, of Iron Hill, has the misfortune to be in Paducah hospital with the measles, but we hope he will soon be out. Bro. Harris is relieving him at Iron Hill.

Bro. Joe Johnson, who has been sick, has returned to work, and Bro. Ingram goes to South yard, Paducah.

Bro. Copley is off on his vacation, being relieved by Bro. Fears.

Bro. Parrish, of La Center, is now spending a few days of rest at his country home west of Kevil.

Bro. Price has been unable to work for some time on account of the sickness of his wife, but will resume his position at an early date. Bro. Melton is relieving him.

CERTS. 394 AND 1,706,
DIVISION CORRESPONDENTS.

Springfield Division—

It was our intention to hold regular meetings at Clinton, but from the showing made Sunday, the 23d, it seems hardly necessary. If the members do not wish to attend, we may as well discontinue sending out cards of invitation. There is no excuse for not having a good attendance at this point. Presume some will say, "Could not get off," and if such is the case, I'll venture the assertion that they did not try very hard, as arrangements have been made for allowing our members to attend these meetings. We had the enormous attendance of five or six, and I wish to thank those present for their attendance and hope they will come again. Do not wait for some one to start, but get ready and attend. We would like to have these meetings every month, and would like to see all of you out one time. Yours fraternally,

A. LANKFORD, Local Chairman.

Members Springfield Division:

Bro. C. E. Bowman, of Waggoner, Ill., has been appointed Division Correspondent for the Springfield Division. You should assist him in the work by furnishing any news of interest, as it is impossible for him to get the news without the co-operation of the members. Get busy and make the Springfield Division look as though there is some life in it. We have been practically dead for several years and need an awakening.

Yours fraternally,

CERT. 1,186.

Chicago Division—

Two meetings have been held since the last write-up—at Champaign August 24, and at Kankakee September 20. These meetings were very well attended, there being about twenty-five present at each point. However, there is yet considerable room for improvement along that line.

The usual routine of business was transacted at each meeting, with some good talks on the side by various brothers.

At the meeting at Kankakee, by unanimous vote, it was decided to change the regular monthly meeting nights as follows: At Gilman and Champaign the second Saturday nights and at Kankakee the second Friday nights.

The next meeting, therefore, will be held at Gilman Saturday night, October 12; next at Champaign November 9, and back to Kankakee December 14, and so on down the line and back again. Remember the dates and secure your tickets before the rush.

Bro. Morrison is off for a few days, attending to some business in Iowa, and therefore was unable to be with us at our meeting at Kankakee.

Bro. Templin, at Matteson, is off on a vacation. Relieved by Bro. Hubbard, from Paxton nights.

At Kankakee "Hn," Bro. Adams, Morrow and yours truly were each off for a few days in September. J. A. Schniderjon, from Rantoul nights, relieving in "Hn" Adams on the car job.

Eddie Slingman is off for a few days at present, and Mr. T. H. Murphy will leave about the 25th for a ten days' outing, which will about end the vacations in "Cd" and "Hn" office.

Bro. Krepel, Otto nights, has resigned and accepted a position with the Illinois Terminal at Alton. We wish him success in his new work.

Bro. Dugan is back at the old stand at Chebanse after a thirty-day vacation, Bro. C. E. Baugh going to Peotone, relieving Bro. Morrison.

Bro. Wolfe is back at Clifton, which lets Bro. O'Connell loose. Dan goes to Thomasboro, relieving Bro. Gilman, who is also off for a vacation.

Bro. Traeger, at Danforth, is off for a few days. Relieved by Bro. Pendergast, from Merna. Bro. O. O. Potts is working at Merna.

Bro. Dugan, a new man from the W. U., is working nights at Paxton while Bro. Hubbard is relieving at Matteson.

Hope all the boys enjoyed their vacations. I certainly did mine, but it didn't last long enough.

I will not attempt to give any news from the B. P. & T. District, or the Gilman line, as that is up to the Local Chairman, and I hope they will take care of their territories and see that they are represented in the journal each month. Watch for the next meeting and be there. Div. Cor.

J. S. Faircloth, a C. T. U. A. brother, is working at Meharg nights.

Bros. Long and Brooks were in Greenville recently.

Bro. Long, third trick man at "XB" tower, and Bro. Brooks have exchanged places, as Bro. Long has moved his family to North Bessemer.

Bro. T. S. Hughes is taking his vacation, being relieved by Mr. Woodruff, a new man on the road, without a card. Div. Cor.

Wheeling & Lake Erie Ry.West End of Toledo Division—

Bro. F. H. Howe, agent at Curtice, was off on vacation recently. Relieved by Bro. S. P. Aubery.

Mr. R. Spore, yard clerk at Bellevue, is off on vacation, office force having to double for relief.

Bro. W. W. Dunn, nights at Bellevue, is off on vacation. Relieved by Bro. L. E. Vickers. Bro. Dunn returns to relieve Bro. W. E. Lyons on account of being called to Buffalo on important business. Bro. Lyons goes from Buffalo to his home in the East to spend a few days with his parents.

Mr. H. C. Fry, owl at "RK," Huron Junction, is taking a vacation and moving to Norwalk, which place he will make his future home. Relieved by Bro. H. W. Withers.

Bro. Van Ness, days at "RK," Huron Junction, is taking a vacation, F. P. Ferris relieving.

Bro. C. A. Kuntz returned to work at "HX," Huron, after fifteen days' vacation.

Mr. D. M. Hunter has been transferred from "HX," Huron nights to Clarksville nights. Mr. Hunter has signed up. Expect to call him brother soon.

Bro. O. E. Allen returned to "WN," Pawnee nights, after a few days' rest.

Bro. H. W. Aawalt, "OR" Orville, is off, sick.

Bro. Monbarron has resigned and gone to the B. & O. We all wish him success in his new field.

Mr. Kronberger, of Warrenton, has left the service. Can not say where he has gone.

Bro. McCarty, Sherwood, is on the sick list. Hope he will soon be with us again. Bro. W. Bligh is doing the owl act.

The Loraine branch of the W. & L. E. opened up about the 15th. I "13" there are three or four good positions on this new division. We hope some worthy brothers landed them.

I am sorry to hear that some of our brothers are not using the C. T. U. of A. brothers as they should. I think they should be treated as brothers and be given the glad hand. They are not only helping themselves in this strike, but they are helping us also. If this strike is won, it will be a good and grand old battle for the whole telegraph fraternity.

Our Local Chairman, Bro. Niswanger, from "AK," Oak Harbor, made a trip over the road the 21st, and gave everybody the glad hand.

The news relative to securing overtime for the meal hour thankfully received, and I was pleased to hear all the owls asking for it. Now, don't be "bamboozled," get your hour when it is time—11 p. m. to 1 a. m. If you don't get it, be sure and send in the overtime slip and get your two-bits, which you are entitled to. Don't take short hours. Take sixty minutes. The officials have signed the schedule and expect to pay you for every dinner hour you work; so it is up to you to take the trouble to make out the overtime slip.

I hear the nons along the road are up and doing on the new schedule, all right. Hear them asking out for meals, and when they are refused they bawl out "two-bits for me." I should think they would say that up their sleeves so no one would hear them, or get in line. Div. Cor.

Norfolk & Western Railway.

It has already been announced through the columns of our valuable journal that I was elected as system correspondent for System Division No. 14. Since that time I have secured the following brothers as assistants from their respective divisions, all of whom have entered into the work with a great deal of enthusiasm: W. M. Jaynes, Scioto Division, Hamden Junction; O. F. H. Hughes, Simmons, W. Va.; Chas. Wilson, Singer, Va.; J. M. Wise, Shepherdstown, W. Va. Assistants from the Norfolk Divisions have not yet been appointed, unless it was done at the Crewe meeting, of which I have not yet received a report; however, I am sure that we will be able to secure a good man on this division, and will be able to give a good report from the N. & W. system each month. This is something that we have needed for a long time, and I trust that we will be greatly benefited by the articles furnished from each division. I also want to ask the membership as a whole to take part in this work. Do not leave it all for your division correspondent, but send him notes, from time to time, of any changes, or items of news that will be of interest; also express your views on the different subjects, as they are brought up.

It affords me pleasure to announce that Bro. D. D. Leslie, formerly agent at Houston, Va., has been advanced to the position of cashier and director of the Bank of Halifax. Bro. Leslie is still carrying his "up-to-date," and expresses his intention of continuing to do so. Anything that we can do for the advancement of Bro. Leslie's interests will be our duty, and he will also be glad to see any of our men at any time they can make it convenient to call on him. He was very pleasantly entertained for a few days recently by our general chairman, Bro. C. E. Layman, of Troutville, Va.

I wish to take this opportunity of expressing to the officers and members of Division 14 my appreciation of the confidence reposed in me by electing me as system correspondent, and while I feel that I am incompetent to fill so responsible a position, with the hearty co-operation of the capable assistants I have so far been able to secure, I trust that I will handle this part of the work to the entire satisfaction of all, and will pledge you my very best efforts.

Faternally,

M. G. HARPER, System Cor.

Scioto Division—

N. & W. System Division convened in Carpenters' Hall, Portsmouth, Saturday evening, August 17th, Bro. Layman presiding.

The meeting was of unusual interest, with a good attendance from all divisions, particularly the Valley and Big Sandy. "Tad Pole and Pea Vine" not so well represented, due, in a great measure, to train service being unfavorable to many who would have otherwise been present.

We have many good members on these divisions, and hope that they will be able to arrange to be present at future meetings.

Many items of vital interest were taken up and ably discussed, among the rest, the handling of U. S. mail at some stations, which we have always claimed should be taken off our men for the good of the service.

The question is always being asked: "Why don't you answer your call?" Uncle Sam wants to know why you do not handle his mail more promptly. We are ever thereby between two fires, from which there is no possible way of escape. The question of which is of most importance to our company is not for us to answer. However, in justice to all concerned, we think the handling of U. S. mail responsible for too many delays, and only those who have this to handle can explain conditions and time taken from the key (notwithstanding there is no pay roll covering mail service).

Our dispatchers were not noticed as numerously in the bunch as we would like. While their duties are very strenuous at the present time, we would be pleased to have every one who possibly can attend the meetings.

Acquaintance leads to friendship, and pleasant co-operation in the work in general toward improvement in the service, which will undoubtedly lead to more prompt train movement, thereby giving our company the benefit of our pleasant social relations. Brothers, do your full duty, and come to the meetings. Carrying a card is not all that is required.

Bro. Kyle was present in search of a new supply of application blanks to attach the few worthy nons to Division 14. He reports six new ones ready with their coin to buy new cards. If the new applicants are made up from the revised non list, we think this should be an appeal to what few remain to unite with their craftsmen in their struggle for bread. How can they accept a union wage scale, offer naught in return, and knock the Order at every opportunity? The principle involved in this matter is noticed and commented on by all good citizens. If you prefer union wage scales to non-union (not considering the working conditions and protection), why not do the right thing in the matter, and get a new up-to-date, and stand with the majority, who are responsible for the wage scale and working conditions you are taking the benefit of today? This was only secured by many years of hard work and expense, manifestly due to the O. R. T. officials, as well as a good live membership. Officers of our company, who are always willing to meet us half-way on all reasonable questions, will think far more of you for exhibiting good, manly union principles.

Bro. Watts, our genial and worthy chairman from the east end, reports everything moving harmoniously under his jurisdiction, and that offices that have been made vacant by transfers, have been advertised.

It is whispered that there is now and then a student in our midst in spite of what has been done and said about it at different times. Now, brothers, our "hobo" is on the pike, and he proposes to find out who the guilty parties are, and deal with them according to our constitution. He is a prowler day and night, and pretty hard to fool. If you have a student you had better be sure your papers are properly signed up.

The boys along the line are taking vacations, and it is simply impossible to tell who all of them are. Almost all have been relieved on the Cincinnati District, and a few on the Valley, we expect, will have been relieved in time to take in the "Jim Town" Exposition.

We note with pleasure that quite a number of men are being let out "on the green" an hour or two on Sunday. This is quite a favor on the part of our dispatchers, and a fulfillment of our agreement that is not enjoyed on many other lines. It is certainly true that all railroad officials do not have the same feeling for their men as do the officials of the N. & W., which attributes largely to their rapidly gaining popularity in handling freight and passenger business.

Division 14 has gained a member from Division 74 in the person of Bro. Frank D. Knowlton. Bro. Knowlton comes with an "up-to-date," and well recommended.

Bro. Williams, at McDennot, has recovered, after a serious illness; being relieved by Bro. Clardy for a period of five weeks.

Bro. R. H. Chitwood has been appointed agent at Crumm, W. Va., vice Bro. L. A. Powell, transferred to Joice avenue, Columbus.

On bulletin Mr. E. S. Ward appointed agent at Chattaroy, W. Va., vice R. W. Hobson, transferred.

With the exception of a few, all have remitted for the current term dues. In view of the fact we are nearing the time for our general committee to get active in schedule matters, every member should do his full duty by remitting at once, and ascertaining how the man stands that works next to him. See that your cards are of the proper color and dating. Business of our division can not be conducted on wind alone, although it is true a certain amount of wind is necessary. Come in with your share of the work, and see that it is well done. Also petition your neighbor for membership, and when your committee looks down the line and finds it solid, it will encourage them to put forth their best efforts to better our condition. It is also a guarantee of good service to our company, whose officials do not deliberate on payment of good wages if service is rendered accordingly. Bear this in mind, and see how many of us can come out May 1, 1908, with a thirty-day credit entry, indicating service rendered during the year.

Bro. J. E. Highlands, who does the owl trick at Sardinia, Ohio, is viewing the wireless apparatus at the Jamestown Exposition during his fifteen days' vacation. He is being relieved by Mr. Hazelback.

Bro. W. M. L. Grace, of Lucasville, Ohio, spent his vacation at West Side Park, near Portsmouth, Ohio, with young friends from Cincinnati and St. Louis, Mo., tempting the finny tribe.

Bro. U. G. Chambers, of Hanging Rock, Ohio, is visiting near Higbys. Relief Agent Clardy handling the ore and molten metal during his absence.

Bro. W. A. Hazelback, agent at Otwan, Ohio, has proven himself an inventive genius, having recently secured a patent on a grave vault, which promises to be a good one. The achievement is one of merit, and we hope for its success.

With regret we chronicle the sudden death of Mr. Frank Collins, of Sardinia, Ohio, which occurred September 13th. Mr. Collins has kept our semaphores and order signals in proper condition for a number of years. His widow and family has our sympathy in their bereavement.

Bro. Benton Moses, agent at Wayne, W. Va., was severely shocked by a bolt of lightning running into the office while he was working during a storm, but has recovered sufficiently to resume duty.

A decided reduction is promised in our non list within the next thirty days. To those who are on this list: Don't procrastinate. It is hardly possible for so many to be in the wrong, and so few in the right. Those who are worthy are always welcome, and our division chairman has a nice new lot of applications. This reduction will be hailed with delight, and the right hand of fellowship extended to the new candidates.

We hope these few notes will serve to create renewed interest in our division. Do not leave the task of gathering items entirely with your correspondent. You are, one and all, most earnestly requested to drop him any items of interest from your locality, thereby greatly helping in this work, which is for the benefit of all. Div. Cor.

Radford Division—

The present movement of N. & W. System Division in appointing a system correspondent with an assistant from each division, will result in great good to our system, we hope. It has always seemed strange to us, indeed, with as many bright men as we have, and all of them "pen-pushers" (as all telegraphers naturally are), that we are so infrequently represented in our journal. Brothers, let's awaken and make the N. & W. take the lead advocating the reforms we think most important to the Order. If you think you haven't the time to write on any subject, send your ideas to the division or the system correspondent, and they will be glad to either write it up for you or send it in as you have written it. It will soon be time for a new agreement, or for the revision of the old one. Let every one who can attend the meetings do so, and make your wants known. Don't stay away and then censure your committee because they do not secure all you think they should, when you have not attended a meeting nor written a line for THE TELEGRAPHER. What will the agreement be if they all follow your example?

There is very little happening of local interest. Some minor changes among the men, which is not worth giving.

The company has installed the block system on the "P. D." (between Radford and Bristol), thus making thirteen new positions; all at night, except days at Melborn. This will increase the number of telegraphers.

We are glad to see the S. V. Division reducing its nons. It will soon have no non list. Hope all the others will have as few, but if we get wages up to $100 per month there are some hogs (if a hog is not a more decent animal), who will have the same excuse that they can not spare the money, or do not make enough. Cert. 231.

Shenandoah Division—

As we are to have a general write-up of the system each month, we want to wake up and let all the brothers know the good old Shenandoah Division is still in existence. She is the most solid organized division on the system, and for this reason should think she deserves a good write-up each month. Now that we have this matter moving, let's keep it going by giving our hearty co-operation to our system correspondent, which will help him very much. The most important thing which has happened on this division lately is the distribution of the new train order signal. This is a relief for which the boys have been watching and waiting for a long time, and we hope to see them up and in operation in the near future. This signal will cut climbing an iron ladder with the thermometer five degrees below zero.

Bro. G. Z. Abrahams, agent at Buena Vista, has just resumed duty after a thirty days' vacation.

Bros. Spedden and Wise, of Shepherdstown, took vacations in August, one going to Atlantic City and the other to Jimtown.

The first and second tricks at Glasgow were bid off a short time ago. "13" Bro. Alwin gets first and Bro. Cullen second. They are both good eight-hour tricks, and hope the boys will like them.

The agencies at Pine Hall and Front Royal, also second and third trick, "UD" office, and "MF," nights, are on the bulletin at this time. Don't know who the lucky ones will be.

The new second tricks at Rippon, Charlestown and Shepherdstown, which were put on in June, are good eight-hour jobs.

Bro. Bragg bid in Rippon, Bro. Shacklett Charlestown, and Bro. Wise Shepherdstown. Bros. Biedler and Probst are doing the relief stunts at this time.

Bro. Biedler is now at Stanley, and Bro. Probst at Front Royal. With these exceptions all is quiet along the Potomac. J. M. W.

N. Y., C. & St. L. Ry.

First District—

At this writing everything points to victory for our brothers of the C. T. U. of A. Their mode of warfare for better conditions is meeting the approval of the entire labor world, and if they "stick" to their present course, they are bound to win. We are pleased to note the attitude of our organization in this struggle. Any sane man can readily see it is the most logical policy to pursue.

Our local chairmen are now very busy canvassing the line and gathering in the few non-members who have lately come among us. We now have a 90 per cent membership, and hope to make it 100 per cent strong during the coming month.

Changes have been made in dispatcher's office, Conneaut, and Bro. Parrish is again on the east end string.

With Dispatchers Parrish, Giddings and Benjamin as a battery, we think we can keep them moving this fall and winter. We expect every man in dispatcher's office who has not already got one, to have an up-to-date card by the time this reaches you.

It is rumored Dispatcher Benjamin expects to leave the service soon on account of ill-health. We hope that his health will improve, and that he will remain with us. Mr. Benjamin has endeared himself to every telegrapher on the Eastern Division by his courteous manner and fair treatment of fellow workmen. This, coupled with a thorough knowledge of train dispatching, makes his services indispensable to the railroad company.

Our general chairman announces that the temporary rule relative to advertising positions, will be continued in force for ninety days from August 1st which will show the result of three advertisements. This has been decided upon owing to a misunderstanding in the application of the instructions given the chief dispatchers, and with a view of getting a fair idea of the working out of the ruling.

Brocton, day and night, and West End double track, nights, will be bulletined soon as Bro. Pierce reports for duty.

Bro. Weatherup returned from L. S. & M. S., and is working at Westfield, nights.

There is a good opportunity at present time for the older night men to get day positions that are being bulletined. Remember, boys, these jobs go to the oldest bidder, and no change will be made after the telegrapher has been regularly assigned to the position.

Through the efforts of our general committee a good many of the boys were granted twelve days' vacation, with full pay, this summer. The telegraphers should appreciate this recognition of long years of service, and every effort made to show the railroad management they appreciate it by giving the best possible service in return.

Bro. S. S. Brown, who has been working days at Brocton for the last several weeks, has obtained a leave of absence and gone to his old home in Georgia.

Bro. O. F. Pierce, day man at Brocton, has returned to duty after an extended vacation.

Bro. Henry Wiser has been transferred from Lorain to the west end of double track, Dunkirk.

Bro. John J. Morrissey, formerly telegrapher in the Western Union office at Chicago, has accepted a position with the Nickel Plate.

Bro. C. H. Smith, day man at Angola, has returned from a vacation trip to Canada.

Drv. Col.

C. of G. Ry.

Savannah Division—

Owing to the many changes we have been unable to keep tab on them. If some of you good brothers would lend a helping hand, we could have a good write-up from this division every month, but there are "too many depending on the other man."

Bro. B. O. Edwards, who has been at Milledgeville for some time, transferred to Mr. Carsile's office at Macon; relieved by Bro. A. C. McKinley, of the Georgia Railroad.

Bro. B. J. Moore bid in the Halcyondale agency. The change has not been made yet.

Bro. B. R. Bloodworth, who has been working the trick during the chief's absence, is back at old No. 8.

Our chief, Mr. C. E. Scarborough, who has been off on a few days' vacation, was relieved by Mr. A. O. McDonald.

Bro. Stephenson, our general chairman, came to Savannah this month with intention of going over the road to see the men, but owing to serious illness in his family, was called home before he made much headway.

Owing to Bro. Stephenson going into other business, Bro. T. F. Hemminger, of Guyton, has been elected general chairman. We regret very much to lose Bro. Stephenson, but think Bro. Hemminger will fill the chair to the entire satisfaction of all.

We learn some of our boys are having trouble working with the "scabs" in "S" office. If the boys don't come down to about five or ten per, space good and long, slow, good, easy stuff, like teaching telegraphy, Mr. Scab will fly in on you and give you a good gentle "cussing." We understand he is like a convict, can "cuss" you; but he is so protected you can't do anything to him. But look out when you go to receive one. He will melt the wire on you, and if you can't stand the strain, he will report it refused. Quite a nice idea to get the railroad telegraphers connected with the strike. It is pretty well known over the system that none of the boys want to work with them, but are simply trying to live up to instructions.

From what I can learn the boys are not refusing business, neither are they drumming for it.

We hope by the time this appears in print, the strike of the C. T. U. of A. will be a thing of the past.

Understand some few of our members have not responded to the appeal. This matter is very important, and each of you who have not, should remit at once. They need the money now. It won't be necessary to call on you after the strike is over.

CERT. 3.

Chicago Great Western Ry.

W. M. & P. Division—

By the time this reaches you the general committee will be in St. Paul conferring with the management regarding a revision of our schedule. It is hoped that every member has sent in the special remittance and also the information blanks. We understand that some of the boys do not know the reason for the levy of this special assessment, they being under the impression that the semi-annual dues should take care of this. For the benefit of all who do not understand this, I will say that at the last meeting of the division the treasurer reported a balance in the treasury which was not sufficient to take care of our committee, and it was therefore necessary to levy the special assessment. It is thought, however, that after this year the semi-annual dues will be entirely adequate to take care of all expenses. So, boys, if you haven't sent in your special do it at once.

We are pleased to report that Levermen Beske and Grothe, of Waterville, and Gatje, of Rochester, carry up-to-dates. These gentlemen have been members for some time, but their names just recently reached your correspondent. We take this opportunity to extend to these brothers a somewhat tardy, perhaps, but none the less hearty and sincere welcome.

Agent Emerson, of Waterville, off a few days in the interest of his patent car mover and seals; relieved by Mr. Temanson.

Bro. Potter, of Winona agent's office, on an extended vacation; relieved by Mr. L. W. Parsons, an up-to-date C. T. U. of A. man. Mr. Parsons was off on his vacation at the time the strike was called. Bro. Potter expects to take in the West, and perhaps invest in a fruit ranch out there.

Bro. C. L. Despard, recently night telegrapher at Rochester, but at present employed by the N. P., at Motley, Minn., was shaking hands with old friends lately. Charley thinks there is no place like the "jack-pine" country.

Mr. A. M. Temanson has taken Rochester nights.

A dance given at LeRoy, October 4th, for the benefit of the striking C. T. U. members, was well attended, and a goodly sum cleaned up for them. We take this opportunity of thanking the boys along the line who, by their efforts, aided us very materially in making this event a success.

F. N. MEYERS,

Division 23.

C. A. BLETHEN,

Division 96.

Before another month has passed the business of our committee will have been finished, and the result of their efforts made known to all.

There are still a number of nons on this division who will be as eager to hear the news of our success as we ourselves, and who will grasp that little increase in wages just as quickly (and hang on to it, oh, so tightly) as any of us. Then, brothers, is the time to strike the nail on the head. Some of them will be inclined to crawl back into the old rut just as soon as they feel the money in their pockets, and sleep until another committee goes in. This is just what we want to prevent. The man who will accept the good things the O. R. T. has been handing out year after year, and not do anything to help himself, is hardly worthy of the name. I venture to say that if each member will make a decided effort to land some non, we can have a division nearly 100 per cent strong by January 1, 1908.

Our local chairman, Bro. Potter, will be absent for about two months, and let us see how many new faces we can have to greet him when he returns.

DIV. COR.

Queen & Crescent Route (North).

In the absence of a write-up on this system for last two months, it is, I believe, conceded by many of the brothers that we are growing very neglectful of our duties, which, of course, can not be denied. There is not a member of Division 62 but looks forward to the arrival of THE TELEGRAPHER each month with the expectancy of seeing a good article, and when we strain our weary eyes for about thirty minutes and fail to find our division represented, it is no more than natural that we are very much disappointed. So let's remedy this trouble at the next meeting by electing some good, energetic brother as correspondent, with a sufficient number of helpers from each division.

Seventeen members attended the meeting at Somerset August 24th. Many questions of importance were discussed and every one went away feeling he had been greatly benefited.

The most successful meeting ever held on this system to date was called to order at 9 p. m., September 21st, at Chattanooga, Bro. J. W. Col-lius presiding. There were present twenty-seven Q. & C. members, one from the Central of Georgia, five from the Southern Ry. and four C. T. U. A. visitors, making a total of thirty-seven. After the usual ceremony, everybody proceeded to business. Discussions of all current topics were in order. A speech in behalf of the C. T. U. A. men was made by T. G. Erwin, of the local Chattanooga office. Bro. Z. L. Myers made a talk on "Our Duties Toward L. & N. Brothers," which will be found under the above heading in this month's journal. Bros. Hines, Meadows, Stone, Thompson, and many others made short talks for the good of the Order. No doubt the star attraction of the evening was the strong plea of General Chairman Bro. J. W. Collins, who spoke for nearly an hour, upon the conditions that exist on this system. Bro. Collins certainly was the orator of the day, and proved to every one of his hearers his true position upon the subjects in discussion. Next meeting to be held at Lexington September 28th.

The General Committee was very successful in securing raises of from $2.50 to $10.00 per month, besides a fine set of rules, effective August 1st. Every one seems to be well pleased with the schedule and haven't heard of any one refusing the increase, not even the nons, and basing my opinion upon the stand they have taken in this great question, it seems they would. To get this, brothers, the division incurred a heavy expense, and to reimburse the treasury, each member was assessed $2.00, which is a very small per cent of the increase received. It seems that every one who has not already done so would come across.

To you nons, though but few are numbered in your ranks, the invitation is still extended. Why delay? Why remain out of the fold longer and refuse to uphold, to indorse something that has built our profession to one of such vast importance? You can not think for a minute, telegraphers, without the organization, could have commanded the attention of the National Congress in passing the nine-hour law; besides many State laws of the same character have been passed. We, in Kentucky, hope to have the same bill before the next legislature, which meets in January.

Nons, think of what your condition would have been had not others helped you, and do the necessary by filling out blanks, which are available at all times.

Several transfers last month, among them, Bro. C. E. Gardner, Erlanger nights, to agency at Wilmore.

Bro. J. W. Collins, freight office at Lexington, to agency at Nicholasville. Relieved by Bro. K. C. Gardner.

Bro. E. M. Caldwell, Wilmore, to agency at Blanchet.

Bro. B. J. Sullivan, "XN" tower, to "RX" office nights. Relieved by Bro. Traugott.

Bro. W. O. Bastin to agency at Science Hill, to succeed Bro. W. A. Wallace, deceased.

Bro. M. J. McGuirk to McLean Ave. nights, on bulletin.

We regret exceedingly to hear of the tragic death of Agent Vandivier, of Kings Mountain, who was murdered September 19th, by a drunken man named Watts. Understand there was no controversy between them at all. The murderer was landed in jail a few hours after the crime was committed, to await the trial for murder in the first degree. "Van" was one of the best agents on the line and claimed many friends on the Q. & C. Shewmaker, of Moreland, took charge of the remains. The funeral was held at Harrodsburg on the 21st.

Brothers, it is with profound sorrow that we announce the death of our beloved brother, William A. Wallace, of Science Hill, Ky., at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington, Ky., on September 5th. Bro. Wallace leaves a loving wife, a kind and affectionate mother and father, several brothers and sisters, besides a host of friends who mourn his loss. A number of the Lexington brothers called on him during his last illness and offered every assistance possible, for which he was very grateful, and expressed his desire that the O. R. T. take charge of his funeral, which was done. He seemed to realize that death was inevitable, and it is very encouraging to say that he was prepared to answer his call from that "Great and Good Dispatcher." The funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church, Rev. Blake, assisted by Bishop Burton, officiating. There were thirteen brothers present, of which the following were pall bearers: W. E. Hines, A. B. Willison, W. B. Compton, T. H. Conway, J. W. Collins, K. C. Gardner, B. J. Sullivan, and Z. L. Myers. Other brothers present were J. W. Bailey, George O'Neal, J. N. Elliott, H. Dumas, and W. J. Brell. In the absence of Chief Telegrapher Bro. Ison, Bro. Collins officiated as Chief Telegrapher in the ceremony at the grave. The O. R. T. presented a beautiful floral piece. It is regretted very much that more of the brothers were not present. Z. Y. X.

Bangor & Aroostook Ry.

Now that the season is on, there will be lots doing in the game districts, and our brothers in these places will have their hands full until the middle of December.

There seems to be quite a few positions up for bid at present. Men are very scarce. There are probably fourteen or fifteen booked for vacations who can not get relief. How easy it would be to overcome all this if the railroad companies would pay the salaries they should.

Bro. Leighton has bid in Greenville freight job, but at this writing is still relieving at Norcross.

Bro. Taylor has been put on the relief corps, and is relieving at Stacyville.

Bro. Price is relieving Bro. Donoghue at Sherman.

Bro. H. L. Snowman, who has recently been relieving Bro. Larkin, has gone to Winterport to relieve for two weeks.

"13" Bro. McInnis, formerly at Stacyville, is stationed at Webster, on the Maine Central. Bro.

Thompson, formerly of Schoodic, also has employment on the Maine Central.

Bro. Gaffney, from the New Haven, is doing the relief stunt at Schoodic, Bro. Bowley still holding down the owl trick.

Bro. Lawrence, at West Seboois, certainly has his hands full this summer, and has been promised an assistant, but am unable to say at this date whether or not he has got one.

What have the boys on this pike been doing toward helping out our commercial brothers? Help them all you can; it will never be regretted.

Bro. Kelley, of "KX" office, is enjoying a month's vacation. Bro. Johnston is doing the stunt there while he is away.

Mr. Wood is working days at Searsport.

Bro. Whitmore, of Stockton, is off on an extended vacation, being relieved at present by Mr. Mosher.

Bro. Mayo, of "BR," was away for a few days recently. Relieved by Bro. Whitmore, his freight clerk.

Mr. Powell, assistant at Easton, was away for two weeks, his place being filled by Bro. Bigelow.

Bro. Burpee took a day off recently and enjoyed a little fishing trip.

Well, boys, once more, send me a few notes when you can.

Connecticut River Division—

Bro. McLeod, formerly night owl at Bernards-ton, Mass., has bid in the day job in the Fitchburg yard, at Bellows Falls.

There are a few nons left on this division. Get after them, and bring them into the fold.

Bro. Hicks, of Ashuelot, has returned to work, after enjoying a three weeks' vacation.

Bros. Taylor and Wheeler, of the passenger division, are acting as relief agents on this division. We would be pleased to keep them here, as they both carry up-to-date cards.

Just one man left on the Ashuelot branch who is not a member.

P. S. Flint, now acting night owl at South Vernon, and D. H. Mack, relief telegrapher, are now enjoying the pleasure of carrying up-to-date cards.

Daniel Henry Hall, formerly of South Vernon, bid in the day trick at "BO" office, Brattleboro, recently made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Freeman, who has left the service.

Bro. Winnewiser, formerly of Bellows Falls, is now working for the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R.

Our new assistant superintendent, Mr. Ford, from the passenger division, comes very highly recommended, and has the reputation of being a just man. Now let us all join hands and do the best we can to make things pleasant on our division for him, and we will surely lose nothing by it.

Our past assistant superintendent, G. L. R. French, now superintendent of the Terminal Division, was every inch a gentleman, and we all hated to lose him. All matters that were brought before him were adjusted satisfactorily.

CHAS. 55.

B. & O. Ry.

C. & N. Division—

We are indeed very sorry to announce the loss sustained by Bro. Holcomb in the death of his father, a man of mature years and one who was much loved and respected by all who had the pleasure of knowing him. Bro. Holcomb has, indeed, suffered an irreparable loss, and I can assure him the membership of this division extends to himself and family their heartfelt sympathy in this sad hour of bereavement.

Another month has passed and gone, and what have we done for the grand old O. R. T.? Have we done our level best on this division? I hope so, but the results are not of the most flattering nature. Now, brothers, let each and every member of Division 33 delegate himself a committee of one to see that the good work goes steadily forward, and that the principles of O. R. T.-ism predominate. If they do I'll tell you our officials will have little cause to regret that the telegraphers of this system are organized. Do all you possibly can by friendly persuasion to bring the desirable non-members into our grand old Order.

Be a brother to those who are in the Order, and if they err occasionally (which most of us do), tell them of it in a quiet and gentlemanly way. Do not resort to abuse. We all have a conscience and feeling, and a good American citizen will not stand for abuse. Unjust censure should be the farthest from our minds. Remember, brothers, we are all banded together for common cause, and we are in duty bound to live up to our obligations, regardless of what our petty grievances and shortcomings are. Be not too quick to find fault with others. There certainly must be some reason for a non not coming into the Order. Can you find out what that reason is? Many times we do not all look at the cause in the same light. If we could by some way show our friend the other side of the cause it might not look so bad, and would lead to his conversion. It at least is worth our while trying. Whatever our shortcomings may be, do not let it be said we are dead ones when it comes to soliciting membership for our grand Order. Be up and doing. The O. R. T. has already done much for the telegraphers of our system, as well as all other railroad systems in this country. Furthermore, it is capable of not only doing as well in the future, but a great deal more if we become thoroughly organized and follow up the law laid down in our constitution, and are true to our obligation.

An incident occurred on this division a few weeks ago when Bro. Holcomb, of "SJ," desired to get off to attend his father's funeral, which I feel is worthy of mention: There seemed to be some difficulty in locating the extra man, when Bro. Phillips, of "H," volunteered to double in case they could not locate him. Offers of this sort, brothers and friends, are commendable, and should abide in the hearts of all of us. It certainly is a step in the right direction, and does much to cement the fraternal feeling that should exist among us, and the spirit we should, indeed, all strive to emulate.

Who said we never held a meeting? Brothers, (those of you who were not there), if you had been at Newark the evening of the 15th of last month, you would have thought we had a meeting, and one right up-to-date. There was but one thing to interfere with the serenity of it, that being the indisposition of Bro. Fry, who was suffering with a severe case of sick headache.

We should feel proud of the attendance, especially the good turn-out from the C. & N. Division. I am quite sure the officers were. This is the only way to have an enthusiastic and profitable meeting, brothers. Turn out and discuss things that are worthy of discussion.

I am quite sure all who were in attendance felt they were the better for being present; notwithstanding we did not get our full quota of rest. Attending meetings means getting closer together, the opportunity of becoming better acquainted and understanding one another, and the wants of various divisions, and what is best for the masses. That in itself counts for a great deal.

Brothers, we are bound together for a common cause. Let us all attend the next meeting. It certainly is gratifying for one to listen when our worthy chairman calls for remarks under "good of the Order." It reminds one of an old-fashioned Methodist experience meeting. We were very sorry to hear that Bro. How was at that time still on the sick list.

We all extend our warmest sympathy to our brother during his illness, and wish him a speedy recovery, and the enjoyment of perfect health once more.

I solicit the co-operation of the brothers in this work. Do not forget the old adage: Many can help one, where one can not help many.

Anything you may contribute will help along in this work, and I am sure will be highly appreciated. Your contributions should be forwarded to Bro. Fry not later than the 15th of each month to reach me in time to put in shape for our edition. Div. Com.

Wheeling Division—

I will endeavor to chronicle the important events which have transpired on the Wheeling Division since the last write-up. We have had two meetings in the last month; the first was attended by about twenty brothers who spent a very interesting evening, and enjoyed the same to the utmost. That meeting will be long remembered on account of the presence of Dispatcher Bro. O. B. Craft and Copier Bro. E. F. Gannon, of the Wheeling office. We would be happy to see more of the dispatchers at our meetings, as their presence will induce some of the weaker members to put in an appearance. Bro. Gannon, being an old-timer, was able to give us many valuable pointers, which were duly appreciated. Bro. Craft assured us that although the dispatchers were unable to attend our meetings as regularly as they wished, they were with us heart and soul. Bro. W. Carr was with us at this meeting, as well as our local chairman, Bro. A. G. Youst, whom we were certainly glad to see after an absence of over a year. Altogether it was a successful meeting. Our other meeting was held at the same old stand on September 22d, and was well attended, Bro. Van Atta being present. Several new faces were in sight, which was very encouraging. Hope they will come again.

Bro. Craft sent me the news from the dispatcher's office, which is as follows: Mr. F. C. Moran, our chief dispatcher, has taken a well-earned vacation. Night chief, C. H. Bonneson relieved Mr. Moran; being relieved in turn by Dispatcher Bro. Walter L. Cockrel. Dispatcher Bro. O. E. Corcoran now holds the first trick on the north end, Bro. O. B. Craft the second trick, and Bro. W. C. Degan the third trick. Extra Dispatcher Bro. M. B. Rickey relieved Bro. Degan on the east end on account of the force being crippled by Bros. R. A. Shields and C. O. Battin taking a rest.

Relief Dispatcher Bro. C. A. Lovejoy is at present copying nights and making out reports.

Bro. J. E. Rickey will leave in a day or two on his vacation; being relieved by his brother, M. B. Rickey.

Bro. O. B. Craft will leave on his vacation on the return of Bro. J. E. Rickey. Bro. Craft will make quite a tour, stopping a few days at Lynchburg, Va., a few days at the Jamestown Exposition, and from there to Atlantic City.

Since the Western Union and Postal strike has been on Division Operator Bro. T. F. Corcoran has been well supplied with telegraphers, and has hired several, among them Sister Miss Edna Bane, who is at present relieving Bro. Boyce while the latter is off on vacation.

I am glad to be able to report that Bro. Roy Fetty, of Glover Gap, is again able to be about, and will soon resume work.

Bro. F. I. Fulton, of Moundsville, is enjoying the salt water of Atlantic City, and will go from there to the Exposition.

Bro. Leo Shivilin and wife spent a two weeks' vacation in Cleveland with friends.

Bro. L. R. Sigler is at present holding the chair at Moundsville nights.

Bro. W. E. Smith bid in Burton nights.

Bro. Shewbridge bid in third trick, Cameron.

Bro. N. E. Little bid in Narrows, third trick.

A new office has been opened at Boggs Run cut.

Bro. Harry Zimmerman, first trick at Cameron, is off on his vacation; being relieved by second trick man, Bro. Shivilin.

Understand there are to be seven more offices opened for the third man as soon as the men can be found. This looks good to us, and hope we will not be disappointed.

Bro. E. C. Deegan, of "WR" tower, days, has been furloughed for six months, and is now eating tropical fruit in Southern California.

Sister A. R. McGuire spent her vacation at the Jamestown Exposition.

Bro. Clyde Mallotte was checked in at Benwood Junction a few days ago as agent and telegrapher.

Bro. W. M. Queen, third trick man at Narrows, was off duty quite a while last month on account of sickness. Am glad to see him around again, and able to send news from the other end of the line.

Bro. C. H. Mitchell, at Bridgeport, has had considerable trouble with his left leg, but has been able to remain on duty.

Bro. C. G. Pratt got St. Clairsville Junction, third trick, by bulletin.

Bro. B. W. Mullett, of Schick, has taken a fifteen-day lay-off to visit friends and relatives in the East.

Bro. Freeman, of the yard office, Holloway, left us for the Wild West. Sorry to see him go.

Am unable to say who relieved Bro. Freeman.

Bro. F. S. Jackson, of the west end, Holloway, has resigned his position to embark in some other line of business.

Bro. R. T. Salisbury has again taken up the day trick at "DK" tower.

Bro. E. E. Holloway was off one day last week to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law.

Bros. O. S. Holloway and McFarland, of Maynard, left the B. & O. to take positions with the W. & L. E. While we are sorry to lose them, we are glad both found better positions.

Bro. H. A. Schultz and wife spent several days in Woodsfield this month, where the remains of the only sister of Mrs. Schultz was laid to rest.

Bro. W. Kinney took a trip to Stubenville last week.

Bro. G. W. McGuire has resumed work at east end, Benwood, after a month of sickness.

I am only too glad to send the news of our division to our journal each month if the brothers will assist me. The boys on the east end please send any news they may have to Bro. Queen, at the Narrows, and I will take care of the news on the north end.

The general committee will soon go to Baltimore, and you will all be notified when they intend to start, so please answer all their communications promptly, and give them all the assistance possible so there will be no hitch when they get ready to do business.

Come to our meetings, and take part in them. You do not know how discouraging it is to go to the meeting and find but a few of the faithful present. Come.

CERT. 729.

Monongah Division—

There has been some few changes since I last wrote up this end of the pike. We have four eight-hour offices on this division, east and west end of Clarksburg, Gaston Junction and "WD" tower.

Bros. W. W. Satterfield and J. M. Stiles, and Mr. Dent are holding down Gaston Junction, Bros. C. A. Stealey, M. E. Price and E. L. Zimmerman are holding "WD" tower. They have the second trick at "WD" and the third trick at Gaston Junction advertised. Do not know who will be the lucky ones at this writing, but whoever gets them they will not find any snap.

Bro. R. D. Kelly has returned from his vacation. He was up at Coney Island. He reports a fine trip.

Bro. J. H. Grossnickel has returned after an extended trip in the West. He also visited his mother at Keedysville, Md., for a few days.

Bro. E. L. Zimmerman has returned from a trip up in Denver, Colo.

T. J. Howatt, from the yard office, spent a few days camping in the mountains near Richmond, hunting and fishing with some of the B., I. E. & F. boys. He reports lots of game and fish.

Bro. M. E. Price, who was ill with typhoid fever for some time, is back with us, after taking a trip to Jamestown and Washington, D. C. We are all glad to have him with us again.

I am unable to say what is doing on the east end. Don't see why some brother down that way does not let us hear something.

I will ring off for this time, and try and gather up something for the next month's issue.

CERT. 1198.

Pittsburg Division, West, P. & W. District—

Sister McGee has returned to Allegheny days, quite improved in health, after spending her vacation at some of the interesting Canadian points.

Bro. C. W. Brown, Willow Grove, days, has been sick with typhoid fever, but we are all very glad to note that he has almost fully recovered.

Through the efforts of a committee headed by our worthy Bros. Banfill and O. M. Johnson, at Callery, quite a handsome purse was realized for the benefit of our commercial brothers. Same being forwarded to Bro. Quick for distribution. Many thanks to the other organizations who contributed towards this great cause.

Bro. Davidson, formerly telegrapher at Harmony Junction, has returned to his old position, Grover.

Quite a number of commercial brothers have been holding down positions on this division lately, thus giving our members a chance for vacations. The commercial brothers have been giving first-class service.

Bro. Loose, who has been taking his well-earned vacation, visiting the Jamestown Exposition and the principal cities in the East, has again resumed his old position, Frisco, days.

Bro. Frampton, of Ellwood City, days, has returned from his vacation, after visiting Atlantic City, Philadelphia and part of Beaver County.

Bro. Phipps, our relief telegrapher, left recently for Baltimore on account of sickness. We are unable to state his condition, but hope to see him back with us soon.

I wish to call attention to a very important matter: Watch your assessments in the Mutual Benefit Department closely, and do not allow yourself to fall in arrears. Also secure your new card promptly when due, and always keep yourself in good standing. By doing this you will be doing your family and loved ones a good turn.

By the time you receive this worthy journal your local chairman will have you all supplied with information blanks. My earnest request is that you fill these blanks out promptly and intelligently, and return them to your local chairman, J. J. Lanning, Celia, Pa., by U. S. mail.

Cleveland Terminal & Valley—

Being requested by our old stand-by, "Bro. Si," to help him out during the celery season, I will try and give you, through that grand old journal, THE TELEGRAPHER, what few I have at hand. If you are missed it is because I have been unable to get the items, as I was not requested to give the write-up until the last minute.

Try and send me a few of the interesting happenings along the Valley, and thereby assist me in representing our division in the journal.

Business is going to be good for the next few days on account of the dedication of McKinley's monument at Canton, Monday, September 30th. Everything looks like the boys are to get some of the B. & O.'s money in the way of overtime from Saturday to Tuesday. Let the good work go on. They are well able to take care of both the work and the money.

Bro. H. D. Harris, of Sandyville, on leave of absence from the 21st, for two weeks, and we understand he is going to join the benedicts ere he returns.

Bro. C. W. Curtis, of New Berlin, back in the ring after a couple of weeks' vacation. Bro. F. S. Hoover relieved him. Do not know where Bro. Hoover went after leaving New Berlin.

Mr. T. A. Sherridan, agent at Peninsula, is visiting relatives in New York City for a few days. Mr. Huber, formerly agent at Boston Mill, relieving him.

Bro. F. P. Darland is back to the old homestead at Canton scales, after a couple of months in "CS," Cleveland.

Bro. Griffith, our first trick dispatcher at "CD" off on vacation. Bro. Treish, third trick, relieving him.

Bro. Treish relieved by Bro. Brooker, second trick at "CD."

Bro. Dialer, formerly agent at Brooklyn, working second trick at "CD," like an old-timer.

Reports from last meeting at Massillon not received, and as I was unable to attend, know nothing of what transpired there. It was rather a bad night for meeting, but guess a fairly good turnout.

Reports from Cleveland show snow flurries there yesterday, and we find an overcoat quite comfortable all along the Valley.

Wonder what is the matter with the few nons along the line? Can't they break away from the old "hard-shell" long enough to line-up, and then be able to look a decent dog in the face? Drawing the $15.00 to $30.00 each month the O. R. T. has given them, and then yell: "What good did the Order ever do me?" Some day they will see their mistake, and Massillon and Newburg won't hold them.

Looks like things shaping their way toward the eight-hour day, even on the Valley, after looking over the "Form 1," received a few days ago. Looks like business.

Let's get after the few remaining nons, and see if we can not get them in before the eight hours takes effect. One long, decided effort on all now and we have them. CERT. 1,458.

O. R. Division—

In glancing over the columns of THE TELEGRAPHER each month, I am reminded of the fact that we of the O. R. Division are lagging behind in the onward march of organized labor. It has been said, "The race is not always to the swift," and while this is incidentally true, it should be remembered it is a universal fact that the race is never to the laggard.

In reading THE TELEGRAPHER I have noticed that those divisions furnishing articles each month are generally most prosperous, get the best pay, and usually give the company the best service. It was interesting to read the article from the Scioto Division of the N. & W. Railway, in last issue of THE TELEGRAPHER. In it the writer, with great pride and enthusiasm, spoke admiringly of his superintendent, his ex-superintendent and his chief dispatcher; also of the fact that the Scioto Division was solid to a man, and further that if one should say there was a student on the line, they would all speak up with one accord: "We're from Missouri. You'll have to show us," and from the knowledge I have of that division, the task of finding a student would be a hard one. I do not wish to give the N. & W. boys all the praise. True, they deserve credit, and it would be well for others less fortunate to follow their example, but we have lots of good men on the O. R. willing, loyal and capable, who can accomplish just as much with the assistance of the entire membership of the division. All we need is to get on our working clothes, roll up our sleeves and put our shoulders to the wheel, and we will surely turn something in our favor.

It will soon be time to again send our committee to meet the management, and we want them to go, not as individuals, but as representatives feeling assured of the full and loyal support of the organization. In my opinion it would be well to get busy, attend the meetings, when possible, discuss matters of importance, and with care and discretion determine what we want, and so instruct our representatives so that our committee may have a clear conception as to what we expect from them. On the other hand, there is something due the company. We should see to it that we render the best service possible, and thereby show both our willingness and worth. There can be no greater incentive for granting us better pay and working conditions than showing our employers that they have men who are both capable and trustworthy. It is my earnest desire to see the men and the company on intimate terms, brought about by faithful discharge of duty. Let us make the interests of our employers second only to those of ourselves.

Hoping some one more adept in the art of composition will follow my example, and that henceforth the O. R. Division may be represented in each issue of THE TELEGRAPHER, I remain yours in S. O. and D. CRET. 1,263.

Wisconsin Central Ry.

We are now drawing to the close of another year, and as I look back over the progress we have made during the past three-quarters of the year, I feel proud of Division 121, and think every man will agree with me, especially the brothers who have been with us for the last five years, and know how we struggled along trying to gain a foothold. Now, at last, we are on a sure foundation, and are rapidly pushing to the front when compared with other divisions or other organizations. Don't let any brother think there is nothing more to do, but let each one put his shoulder to the wheel and crowd the good work along. If we will but try, and try hard, we can be solid to a man before the wheel of time rolls around much further. Won't that look fine on our Secretary's books? A strong effort from each one and 'twill be done.

Bro. Greenwood, of Wheeler, took a vacation recently, making a trip to Unity, his former home, and was relieved by Bro. Lake.

Bro. Whitman, of Irvine, took a lay-off, and was relieved by Bro. Andre, from Glenwood nights, who in turn was relieved by Mr. Hoffman, who became a brother shortly after his arrival at Glenwood.

After the gravel pit closed, Bro. Andre returned to Glenwood nights for the third time, on his request for the position, and Bro. Scott was laid off, afterwards resigning. He says he is going to explore the West and may start with the Soo.

Mr. Bryan was sent back to Ashland nights. Bro. Cowen took his place in "BF" office at Abbotsford, and understand he is making good there.

Mr. Bryan, going back to Ashland, chases Mr. Carlson back to Phillips, and Mr. Hoffman laid off a few days, then going to Glenwood, as before noted.

Bro. Andrews, at Iron Belt, is taking a lay-off. Did not hear who was relieving him.

Bro. Odean, at Mellen nights, has resigned and expects to enter the service of the Soo Line as soon as relieved. He has a brother there.

The yard office at Ore yard has been closed, and Mr. Ellwell is taking a vacation.

Bro. Ramberg, agent at Somerset, is taking a month's lay-off.

Mr. Henkel, of Ironwood, is doing the relief work.

Bro. Mathews, of Emerald, is taking a month or six weeks' lay-off, and has gone to Pennsylvania to visit a brother, who, by the way, is a telegrapher.

Bro. Van Alstine is doing things around there during the absence of Bro. Mathews.

Bro. Helton, on the Southern Division, left the service to accept an eight-hour trick at Forest Home tower, for the C. T. T.

Bro. M. A. Wagner, Grays Lake, is taking a four weeks' vacation. Relieved by Night Telegrapher Bro. C. J. Wagner, and Bro. M. A. Sullivan, from the C., M. & St. P., takes the night trick.

Mr. Elmore has resumed work at Lake Beulah after six weeks' leave of absence.

At Neenah we find Mr. F. J. Reidel and Mr. H. E. Bemet, working day and night tricks. They are both up-to-date in the C. T. U. A., and say that if they stay here, they want one of our up-to-date cards. The night man at that place quit to go to school.

Bro. Riddebaugh, at Sheridan, I understand, is going to leave us.

Bro. Ray, at Sherry, is taking a lay-off at present, but can't name the relief man.

Am told that the Manitowoc branch is solid. What's the matter with the Portage branch? This is the weakest spot we have on the division. Boys, direct your attention that way and it may be different.

Bro. Barber, our Local Chairman for the First District, who has been having a vacation for some time, expects to resume work in a few days.

Mr. Lansworth, of Ashland, who works for the N. P., was visiting telegrapher friends at Mellen last Sunday.

Bro. Ensinger was appointed Local Chairman for the Third District, vice Bro. Harsh, who is now our General Chairman. Bro. Ensinger has not appointed an assistant as yet.

I would like to ask Bro. Gerke, of Bridge Junction, Ill., what his postoffice address is. Would say that I received some items last month from him after the write-up had been sent in, and later on wrote to him, but the U. S. returned the letter marked "no such postoffice." Come again, brother, and send them to me before the 24th at the latest.

And now, let me tell you about the meeting called for the Third District at Mellen, Sunday, the 22d, by their Chairman. I received notice of the meeting and at once decided that, although it was a hard trip, I was going. On the way I met Bro. Barber, Local Chairman of the First District, Bro. Harsh, General Chairman, and Bro. Soderstrum, Secretary and Treasurer. Bro. Benjamin, Local Chairman for the Fourth District arrived, although a little late.

There were a number of other members from that district present. At about 9:30 a. m. the meeting was called to order by Bro. Harsh, and matters of interest to the membership were discussed until near the noon hour, when we adjourned until 4:30 p. m. Some of the brothers then went with Bro. Beach to his home for dinner, and the rest of us were escorted to a large hotel by Bros. Ensinger and Oden, where there was plenty to eat. After enjoying a bountiful meal, we were taken by Bros. Ensinger, Beach and Oden across the country and through the woods for a nice drive.

After returning we were again called to order and all unfinished business transacted. Matters concerning the good of the Order and the benefit of the service to our employers were discussed.

When the supper hour drew near, we adjourned until such time as we should again be called together.

At this time I wish to express our thanks to the brothers at Mellen for the fine treatment we received, and to say that we had a No. 1 good time is to put it mildly.

It was decided to hold a meeting on the First District in the near future, and later, one on the Fourth District, then a general meeting on the Second District. Just let me say that there is no question but that there could have been a larger attendance with a little effort on the part of the absent ones, and the next time I hope to see the attendance larger.

Last issue I spoke of a correspondent for the First and Second Districts. He hasn't shown up yet. Speak up, some one, and don't wait for some one else. Send along your items.

San Joaquin Division—

There have been so many changes on the San Joaquin Division lately that it seems as though every other man was leaving the service to engage in other and more profitable business. The latest seniority list shows many new names added within the last few months.

The members would confer a favor on the Local Chairman if they would see that every new arrival is immediately transferred to No. 53. It does not cost anything, and the dues help support your division. We hope that every member will make it his duty to see that in the future none escape. Also, if you have any items of interest, send them to the Local Chairman and he will see that they appear in the next journal.

Among the movements we note the following:

Bro. A. A. Janes, dispatcher at Bakersfield, is laying off, on a vacation.

Bro. J. G. Rickles, Palmdale, is laying off. Relieved by Bro. M. P. Bowles, who has tired of the job already and sent in his resignation.

Bro. W. A. Fothergill, of Tulare, has resigned to go farming.

Bro. W. Mithen, of Santa Barbara, thinks he will try twisting brakes for a while, and has given up that snap in the yard office.

Bro. Clover, also of Santa Barbara, has resigned, to go into the garage business. Understand he is doing fine.

If the working conditions are not bettered soon, I presume the whole bunch will quit. Many think twelve to fourteen hours a day is getting to be a chestnut when they can better themselves by accepting other employment.

Bro. Porter, of Montalvo, is laying off. Relieved by Bro. Burrows, who is transferring to No. 53.

Bro. Korf is back again on the hill after a strenuous time with the W. U. He don't want any more Clowry.

We hope all the boys have contributed to the cause, as outlined in Bro. Quick's circular. If you have not, do so at once. Do not keep putting it off. The cause is yours, and the few dollars you subscribe will never hurt you.

Bro. Meeves, who was at Nordhoff, tired of the place and longed for the San Joaquin. He bid in McKittrick and is now located there.

Bro. Mason, of Malaga, goes to Nordhoff, and Bro. French is temporarily assigned to the raisin town.

Bro. Tetzlaff, formerly of McKittrick, has resigned to go into the general merchandise business. Here's success to him.

Bro. Fry holds down Goshen as if it was a sea-shore resort. We "13" Ed has a fine ranch near Fowler.

When we look over the seniority list, we see the old-timers rapidly dropping out and their places being filled by a younger set, who evidently want to see more of the world, judging from the way they come and go. We no sooner get their names than they are off to some other road. Wonder if the management ever thinks to look into the reason? Bum accommodations, desert towns, bad water, long hours, and not much consideration.

Bro. Scruggs, of Moorpark, has resigned, to accept a position with Fargo, at Dinuba. Relieved by Bro. Walrath, who would rather get up for a special call than do most anything.

In a few days there will be a communication started over the division to remind all those who have forgotten, to remit a couple of "plunks" to Bro. Quick; so get in before you are reminded.

Bro. Murphy, who bid in Ventura, is holding that job down in good shape, after several rank nons had made failures by the absconding and drunk routes.

Cantwell, of Tulare, is on the sick list.

Geo. Kilson, of Saticoy, who used to be an ardent member, has backslidden. Geo. is buying a ranch or something, and can't spare the dollar. His is almost a helpless case, as is Creighton, at Selma. Both in the dark.

Bro. Furey is at Fillmore, and Rexroat at Piru. Sister Evans, of Oil Junction, has been visiting in the East.

Bro. Barton, of Coalinga, has resigned to accept a position with the Signal Service near Portland. Too much work for the money at Coalinga.

In conclusion, we ask every one to send in at least one day's pay as a subscription. Do it now.

Lines in Oregon—

Bro. C. A. Pengra has been appointed Division Correspondent. He is now laying off, but expects to get back to Oakland by the 20th, having landed this position on bulletin.

Eighteen positions bulletined this month. Some good ones open. You won't land any of 'em unless you bid.

Bro. F. E. Wallace resigned at Mt. Angel. We can ill afford to lose Bro. Wallace, but our loss is the Coast Division's gain.

Today, September 17th, the longshoremen on the Harriman Steamship Co. docks received an increase of 25 per cent.

Bro. H. R. Cooper, from Division No. 76, C., N. W., Black Hill District, relieved Mr. Markel at Wendling. Markel resigned to attend school at Forrest Grove.

Bro. W. Brown, with two years on the list, landed Forrest Grove on the last bulletin.

Mr. Guy Morgan, a student with L. S. Nelson at West Scio the spring of 1906, is working as baggage agent at Oregon City.

The following agencies are open for bid this month: Shedd, Glendale, Coburg, Wendling, Leland, Yoncalla, Hubbard and Mt. Angel.

Telegraphers are very scarce at present. Think Superintendent Fields could use several.

I have been trying to get the news from the main line for a week. That I have failed can readily be noticed. I am located on the branch. Tried to get the news by mail, wire and 'phone. Wish I could do or say something to waken the main line lads. There is enough happens on the main line to give a very good write-up each month.

Bro. Cornelius, at Tallman, is moving his house. He figures on staying there until he can quit the business for good.

How many of you read the write-up by Cert. 1,771 in the July journal? Have you done anything toward a meeting?

I have been with Division No. 53 for almost two years, and have not heard a word regarding a meeting. The last meeting held was so long ago every one has forgotten it.

A few years ago I was with the C. M. & St. P. on the C. & C. B. Division in Iowa. We held regular monthly meetings at Perry, with an attendance of from fifteen to thirty members. To-day you will find the C. M. & St. P. one of the best organized roads in the U. S. Now, I am not homesick, but intend to stay in Oregon until the Webs are fully developed. Should any of the boys on the C. & C. B. Division want a change, they will make no mistake in coming here. We need a few live men out here, but need the meetings the most. Let's try a few. Wherever meetings are held regularly you will find goodfellowship and good feeling to exist. Where and when will we have the first one?

Several of the boys were lucky enough to get to attend the fair at Salem.

If you haven't a copy of the seniority list, write Bro. O. A. Sinks, at Portland. He has them.

Bro. T. J. Dannen, at West Scio, has a bunch of Buff Orpington chickens at the State Fair.

I am going to try and get a list of every man on the division, with his standing in the O. R. T. Intend to send each member a copy. Also publish the names and addresses of the nons and those who are delinquent. This will save Bro. Koppius a lot of work. For your information, I will say that such a list is kept by all local officials. So square yourselves.

Salt Lake Division—

Bro. E. J. Enic has resumed duty as agent at Hogup with his wife assisting him as night telegrapher, after a long, and we hope, pleasant, vacation.

Bro. C. E. Kalb has returned from a lengthy visit with home folks back East, and reports a very enjoyable time. He resumed duty as agent at Lakeside. We all welcome his return.

W. L. Moffitt, relief agent at Lakeside, relieved Agent M. J. Cullen at Promontory Point temporarily, Mr. Cullin taking an unlimited leave of absence. We all wish him a pleasant time.

Mr. Taylor, days at Jackson at present. Have not learned where former day man has gone.

Mr. Kinsey is at Midlake days, and his wife is night telegrapher at the same point.

Mr. S. O. Bancroft, night telegrapher at Promontory Point, is sporting an up-to-date now. Glad to welcome him into the grand organization, and feel sure he will make a true and substantial member.

Since commencing this letter I learn that Mr. Cullen is spending his vacation as day telegrapher at Wells, Nevada.
"WILLIE."

Western Division—

Well, boys, how do you expect a bright, newsy article in your journal every month if you don't take an interest and do your share? You were told in the August journal to keep the good work up, and if you didn't want to send them direct to the journal, to send them to your Local Board and they would be consolidated into one big article. How do you suppose a newspaper can be run without correspondents? Then you can't have a bright, newsy article in our journal every month if you don't take interest and help it along, especially when one of the members of the Board volunteers to do the work for you. It is no little job to "hash up" a good write-up for the division alone; and even to consolidate notes and make a general write-up out of it, is a big job. One good brother came through with items, and he is handling a station that requires his undivided attention for twelve hours a day. Now, brothers, there's a lot of you who don't work six hours while you are on duty for ten or twelve hours. There are at least three or four hours a day you could devote to other work, and in a couple of days you could work up all the news in your immediate neighborhood. Send your notes to Bro. Koppikus, at East Oakland, and he will turn them over to the correspondent. There have been no notes received, and from this I judge that our September issue will be, as usual, nothing from the Western, or it will be cram full; but I will stake my pile on the former. Unless some one volunteers to help, you won't see anything more of me for a while.

I wish to apologize for an error that crept into our August journal. A brother's name was enrolled as a non, though it was no fault of the writer's. He sent in his application and it was acted upon favorably, and in the meantime our write-up went to press. Such mistakes are liable to happen at any time. Any one who is a member of some other division should immediately notify our Secretary, Bro. Koppikus, agent at East Oakland, and transfer to Division No. 53. Then, if his name appears, it will be as a brother. Otherwise it is more than likely to appear as a non. We don't know you all personally, therefore we have no means of knowing whether a stray lamb is a member of the fold or not.

Our division superintendent, Mr. W. R. Scott, has soared up to a higher position. He is now general superintendent, vice Mr. W. S. Palmer, for the Northern District, namely the Sacramento, Western and Coast Divisions. Mr. Palmer takes charge of the California Northwestern, Mr. Harriman's and Mr. Ripley's new possessions (I believe they call it the Northwestern Pacific now), which runs from Tiburon to Santa Rosa and Willits. Mr. Scott's position is filled by Mr. J. H. Young. He hails from Missouri, having held the position of general superintendent of the First District on the Frisco System, and was located at Springfield, Mo. Now, boys, it will be a case of "show me," and if you can't, I pity you.

I wonder how many of the boys came to the front with a voluntary subscription for the benefit of the C. T. U. A. brothers? If you did not, you should. Remember, we may need their help some day. They are brothers and sisters of the same craft. Theirs is a just cause and it should be helped along.

The labor parade in Oakland September 2 was the greatest demonstration of the kind ever witnessed in that city. The C. T. U. of A. was represented. At the head of their organization was a beautifully designed float, drawn by six horses, containing lady operators and members who have gone out on strike, and was followed by members marching four abreast, over one hundred strong, and bringing up the rear was a hack containing Bro. D. W. Koppikus and his family, representing the Order of Railroad Telegraphers. On the outside of the vehicle were mottoes, as follows: "O. R. T. the allied friends of the C. T. U. A. Stick! Stick! Stick!" "O. R. T. and C. T. U. A. look well together. Stick! Stick! Stick!" "O. R. T. and C. T. U. A. the friends of the telegraphers. Stick! Stick! Stick!"

All members of Division No. 53 have been notified through their Grand and Local Officers to handle Western Union business the same as before the strike, and do nothing that would compromise ourselves with the Southern Pacific Co. This order is all right so far as it goes, for we believe in discipline, for without it we would have no organization, therefore we should respect the wishes of our superior officers.

At East Oakland we have two nons, Messrs. S. C. Foster and W. H. Hough. The former is holding an assigned position which paid $60.00 before the O. R. T. schedule, and now pays $70.00. The latter is holding a position which paid $60.00 before the O. R. T. schedule, and is now paying $70.00 salary, and 25 cents a night overtime. The latter position is only temporary. However, both of these gentlemen have been approached to join the O. R. T., but with all of our persuasive powers we are unable to get their money and applications, but we do get their promises. Mr. Foster has bid out of East Oakland for the third trick at Tracy, at a higher salary, thereby reaping the benefits of the Order, but is not willing to contribute to its support, and very likely the same will apply to Mr. Hough. But, notwithstanding our repeated efforts, we are still inclined to believe that before this matter has gone to print we will be able to call both of these gentlemen brothers.

We intended to call your attention to the names of several gentlemen in this issue of THE TELEGRAPHER who were not members, but as they have since come in, our notes have been consigned to the waste basket. However, there are others to be heard from.

We are sorry to announce a vacancy in our Local Board, caused by the resignation of Bro. A. M. Schiveley, our Local Secretary. Bro. Schiveley has the reputation of being a gilt-edge agent and all around good man, and as the Southern Pacific Co. did not value his services as highly from a financial standpoint as the Standard Oil Co., he has resigned from the S. P. and gone to work for the latter company, where his work will be lighter and salary higher. Bro. L. J. Chase, of Farmington, has been appointed to fill the vacancy, and we are now looking for some good brother to fill Bro. Chase's place—one who is willing to devote his time, energy and perseverance for the good cause, salary not to be considered. Any brother filling the above requirements will please communicate with our Local Chairman, and his application will be taken under advisement.

The Western Division, we are pleased to say, is getting to be in most excellent shape, and the good work is due to the membership, as well as the Local Board. Within the last couple of months we have taken in between twenty and thirty members. Still there are more to follow, and with constant hammering we will soon get them in line.

The bulletin for the Western Division for September was one of the longest we have had for many a day, and this is due to the fact that the boys along the line are rendering the Local Board assistance and keeping them advised. If anything goes wrong on the pike, let your Local Board know of it, and they will apply the remedy.

After persistent hammering, the following positions are still withheld from the bulletin, with the exception of Brentwood, and that escaped only the last bulletin: Agent at Brentwood, agent at Tolenas, agent at Esparto, day telegrapher at Altamont, night telegrapher at Altamont, night telegrapher at Bethany, night telegrapher at Elk Grove, night telegrapher at Avon, assistant agent at Pleasanton, assistant agent at Hayward.

A Mr. C. A. Manwaring is temporary agent at Suisun in place of Bro. G. M. Fowle. Suisun is bulletined.

Mr. W. F. Mapes is temporary agent at Stege, vice Bro. A. O. McCoy.

Mr. J. F. Linthurst is acting agent at Pleasanton, vice Bro. G. W. Harrison, who bid back to Alvarado.

Bro. G. R. Patterson secured the owl job at Elmira. Guess the climate was too hot at Dos Palos.

Bro. J. C. O'Connor is relieving Bro. A. S. Hall, at Concord, it being bulletined. Don't know where Bro. Hall went.

Bro. W. F. Costello is temporary day telegrapher at Davis, in place of Bro. A. Z. Rose.

Bro. R. C. Coulson secured the Modesto night job, but it is bulletined again, with Bro. A. Z. Rose on duty.

Bro. R. E. Denehy's second trick job at Tracy is bulletined, with Mr. R. E. Martin at the bat.

Bro. C. L. Coddington has left the service for his mining interests in Goldfield. His position, assistant at Modesto, is temporarily held by Mr. Good.

Bro. J. M. Marker is doing first trick stunts at Lodi. He hails from Division 126, C., R. I. & P.

Bro. A. J. McClosky is temporary assistant agent at Napa.

Bro. C. A. Sullivan is temporary assistant at Madera, Bro. A. W. Hoffman having secured the owl job at Webster.

It is rumored that Bro. P. E. Grady is acting agent at Lathrop.

Bro. B. J. Cowden has been visiting his brother, Bro. A. D. Cowden, agent at Waterford.

Bro. H. L. Dickey, agent at Lodi, has his hands full. Fruit is moving at the rate of thirty cars a day.

The positions secured on the last bulletin were as follows:

Agent at Bay Point, Bro. C. W. Fuller; agent at Newman, Bro. F. S. Powell; agent at Byron, Bro. F. W. Weihe; agent at Elmhurst, Bro. W. B. Johnson; assistant agent at Lodi, Mr. J. W. Beardsley; night telegrapher at Modesto, Bro. R. C. Coulson; night telegrapher at Lodi, Bro. C. E. Ray; night telegrapher at Westley, Mr. Good; night telegrapher at San Pablo, Bro. H. L. Chase; night telegrapher at Elmhurst, Bro. C. L. Thorne; night telegrapher at Firebaugh, Mr. Christian; night telegrapher at Los Banos, Bro. O. L. Gibbs; night telegrapher at Elmira, Bro. E. R. Patterson; night telegrapher at Webster, Bro. A. W.

Hoffman; night telegrapher at Brighton, Bro. C. H. Anderson; third trick at Niles, Bro. T. C. Smethers; third trick at Benicia, Bro. B. J. Cowden; third trick at Tracy, Mr. S. C. Foster; second trick at Niles, Bro. I. Fori; first trick at Stockton, Bro. E. P. Grady.

I see on the last "tin-can" list that three telegraphers have been dismissed for failure to deliver train orders. Bad business, boys. Keep your eyes on the gun. Also that a telegrapher has been dismissed for violating Rule "G." Hope this wasn't a brother, but on the other hand a non who derived the benefits of the Order and wouldn't help in its support.

Sorry to say there are still a few delinquents on this division who have not paid up their assessments and dues. Liquidate at once.

Remember our motto: "No card, no favors."

Before closing, I wish to express thanks in behalf of the division, to the new members who have recently joined our ranks. Keep the good work up.

Houston Division—

Bro. J. A. Thompson, regular agent at Missouri City, is on leave. Position being filled by Bro. Oscar Rosenbush.

Bro. W. N. Thatcher is performing the manifold duties at Sugarland.

Bros. J. C. Williams and W. H. Ridgeway are protecting the company's interests at Richmond.

Bro. W. A. Moore is off on leave and his position is being filled by Bro. S. E. Starr, who has been reinstated.

Sister Cora Shannon, agent at Waelder, is oldest for first trick position in "N" San Antonio.

Bro. L. W. Stuart goes to Kingsbury agency.

Bro. R. C. Hollifield, day telegrapher, is off on sick leave, and Bro. B. B. Willard, night telegrapher at Uvalde. Mr. Willard has his application for membership in and will be with us soon.

It has been some time since this division was heard from in these columns, but we have not been dead. There has been a good deal of sawing wood in the past months, and there is some left to be done.

Houston District, Division No. 53, is today practically solid. Those who are still out of the fold are unreliable and weak, and it is probably just as well that they are not members of the Order, since we could not depend on them anyway. One who will not back up his principles with twelve dollars a year can not be very strong in his convictions, and those who are so narrow-minded as to allow their dislike for an officer of the Order to serve as an excuse for throwing their influence toward retarding the advance the telegraphers are making, can claim no part in that advance. We are thankful there are only a few of these.

Let us not magnify the importance of our being solid. We can not sit back and say, "All is well," on this account. We must keep going, if not forward we will go backward. The payment of dues is a very necessary part of your duties, but this alone does not entitle you to a seat among the chosen. It must be backed up by a live and intelligent interest in what is going on, whether it affects you or not. If Johnny Jones, of Scroggins, is cut out of two-bits pay for overtime, it is of interest to every living telegrapher on the division. And if Billy Smith, of Podunk, contents himself with thirty minutes off to eat without pay for the meal hour, he is doing an injustice, not only to himself, but every telegrapher on the division. The fact that he is not paying the enormous sum of twelve plunks per annum into the treasury of the Order does not balance the scale. He must consider that he is doing his part to make the rich richer and the poor poorer.

Who is that new man working the third trick at your station the past few nights? Have you become acquainted with him? Has he a card? Of course, you asked him when he came. And did you tell your Local Chairman, giving him the name, division and certificate number? This is a part of your duties.

Another, and a greater one, is to always speak well of your Order, your brother in the Order, and your Division and Grand Officers. Don't knock. Not even when you can add, "Of course I am not knocking." If you have doubts it will increase them to let them be known. Trainmen mean no harm by a little gossip, and maybe the man they tell what you said will think you ought to know, since you have been here longer than he.

What are you boys reading? You can read, else you'd be working at something else (with better hours and pay, most likely). THE TELEGRAPHER? What part of it? The jokes and stories? And a glance at the fraternal columns to see if there is anything from the Southern Pacific Ry. or back home? If so, you are missing something good. The first stuff you come to, after the advertising pages, is good reading, and will give you something to think about. Then, there is considerable space given to the brothers for expressing their views on all subjects of importance. Do you read any of these? Try it again and see if you don't find a pretty sensible one occasionally. Now, if some appear sensible, it naturally follows that we do not agree with all of them. In what respects do we not agree? Let's figure it out, and stick our little say in there alongside of some of them. It may hit the right spot with one or many, and I am sure you will be amply repaid if you can learn that you have done a little good. Remember that you are the individuals that go to make up the grand old Order, and what you think counts just as much as what any other member thinks. When you see something said that you think is the correct thing, just stop and think, "What if every one who sees this would say to himself, 'now they are going about it right,' and would expect to see the Order follow it up because it meets with silent approval? How are they going to know that we agree with them unless we tell them. And we can't tell them any way so well as through THE TELEGRAPHER."

Suppose we telegraphers make up our minds that we want to work more in unison, in going after our revisions and schedules. We wish to form an association which will cover certain territory and include all railroads contained in that territory, for the purpose of meeting and conferring with the official heads of all roads in that territory at the one time, holding all agreements open until all are ready to sign. This would give us more pressure, and would work greater good than a single line asking for what they want. In order to form such an association, it will be necessary to pass a measure at the Grand Division convention providing for same. To pass such a measure, it is necessary to do a great deal of agitating and get a number interested in such a move. It will take a lot of plugging away at the readers to get energetic action on this or any other project, and every believer in the power of this move should go to the trouble to set forth his views. Because Division 53 is a strong and healthy division and has been pretty well able to care for herself, is not an argument against an association of this kind. The foundation of the Order is "For the good of the whole," and we should throw our weight where it will do the most good to the largest number of telegraphers.

Now, let's watch the next issue of THE TELEGRAPHER and see if any one favors the plan.

The $75.00 minimum, hourly pay and licensed telegraphers have been talked to death, and I agree with Bro. Johnson, of the Burlington, on these. A $100.00 minimum would not be too much, and we've got to keep going after just a little better. We are getting enough now to keep body and soul together; but what if we get sick? We might not starve. There is little danger of that for us. But what about our families? How many months' savings would it cost to be sick a week? And how hard it is to see it go that way when we were trying so hard to get enough ahead to take off a week or two for pleasure. There should be a contingent fund in every family, and to provide this, there must be a little surplus in earnings over the actual cost of living. Furthermore, we should be able to take a little time off at least once a year. You may have grown accustomed to this machine life, three hundred and sixty-five days in the year in the office, except leap-year. Are you sure your wife likes it and is not sorry she didn't marry that grocery clerk?

In conclusion, those who have read this far must be interested to some extent. Do not let that interest die down to a comatose state and content yourself with watching developments. Take an active part in the 'doings of the Order. Remember that if our noble Order goes wrong in any branch, it will be just as much, perhaps more, the fault of the silent ones than that of the active.

I thank you.

MAUD.

Milwaukee Terminal—

In reading over the fraternal section of our August TELEGRAPHER, I notice the article written for the Milwaukee Terminals signed "Old Timer" I know we all appreciate the brother's write-up very much, and hope he will get an inspiration to continue his efforts along this line. I feel it my duty, however, as local chairman in this district, to correct the brother's statement in regard to W. T. Houlehan, agent at Allis station, who became a member last June, and is entitled to the respect and esteem of all O. R. T. members. I think, perhaps, the brother who wrote the article has been misinformed, as there has been no students at that office for the past three years. In regard to the other nons mentioned by the brother, "Old Timcr," I expect to see them all with us wearing the wreath and soulder on the lapel of their coat, and that smile on their face which all O. R. T. members should have before our September number is published. We can assure them there will be rejicing in camp when these faithful patriarchs join our ranks and help us fight our battles. Their influence, advice and counsel is worth much to us, for we aim to be fair and honorable in all our dealings among ourselves and with the company.

Arrangements are now being made to hold a joint meeting consisting of members from the LaCrosse, Superior, Northern Prairie Du Chien and Milwaukee Terminal Divisions Saturday evening, September 21st, at Fraternity Hall, 216 Grand avenue, Milwaukee, Wis. Our general chairman will be with us, also local chairmen from the above-mentioned divisions. Expect several C. & N. W. boys, and a large delegation from the C. T. U. of A. will be with us. We hope to have a very interesting meeting, as the boys will have an opportunity to talk on subjects of vital importance to us all. No one knows the good results derived from meetings of this kind better than those who have had the experience, and I hope all will take a personal interest in this matter, and help make it a success.

Hoping to see all the members present who can arrange to do so, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

C. E. FLAHERTY, Local Chairman.

CARD OF THANKS.

CHICAGO, ILL., September 15, 1907.

I wish to thank the brothers of the C., M. & St. P. System Division, No. 23, through our journal for the financial assistance rendered me during my sickness. I was laid up for fifteen months with a severe attack of rheumatism, and became very much discouraged, as my means were soon exhausted. One evening Bro. Murbach, our worthy local chairman of the Chicago Terminals, accompanied by several other brothers, called and assured me that the Order would help me, and when they went away I felt very cheerful. Division 23 did help me very substantially, and the boys have proven themselves true blue and brothers, indeed.

As I can not thank you all personally, I wish to express the gratitude of myself and family through THE TELEGRAPHER, and hope that our grand Order may continue to grow and prosper in the future as it has in the past.

Yours fraternally,

H. P. MADSEN, CERT. 1208, DIV. 23.

Kansas City Division—

The changes on this division have not been as numerous as they usually are during this season of the year, which is a good indication that the boys are working hard, and doing their best to make the Milwaukee the banner line.

The management should be well pleased with the work of their employes on our line this year, and when we ask for an increase this fall they can not say we did not give them good service, and in the face of the healthy increase shown in the Milwaukee annual statement we can not help but expect a substantial increase, which will be dollars and cents to the Milwaukee, as well as to the employes, as it always has been in the past.

Agent Briggs, at Osgood, resigned. Bro. Busick, day telegrapher at Laredo, appointed in his place.

Bro. Sanford now day telegrapher at Laredo.

The position of day telegrapher created at Seymour was given to Bro. Burkheiser.

Agent Calvert, at Mystic, has been laying off; Bro. Bacon relieving him.

I "13" Bro. Baker has accepted an agency on the Coast extension, and will leave his division soon.

There is a shortage of telegraphers again this fall, although there are a great many Western Union men doing railroad work. Unless the wages are raised, which will induce old telegraphers who quit years ago, and are following other professions, to come back into line, there will continue to be a shortage.

Now, if any brother on the line has been thinking of a scheme by which he could teach some friend, let him just stop and reason with himself a few minutes along the line of supply and demand, and see which side he is helping by adding to the supply.

Brothers, now is the accepted time. We have done well in the past, but never have had the opportunity before us to help ourselves that we now have. Are we going to grasp it, or let it slip by? Are we going to allow the selfish, tight-wads that want to reap the benefits of our organization without being on our side and student teachers increase in number, or are we going to make an extra effort to bring them in and show them the error of their ways? Some of them see through a glass darkly, and when the faint buzz of the semi-official bee is heard, they proceed at once to purify themselves by withdrawing from the Order, and washing their hands of O. R. T.-ism forever and forever, amen; because it is not becoming to an aspirant to a semi-official position to be connected in any way with a labor organization. To this class, I say let them go. They are no credit to any organization or class of men. But to the man who goes up and up, with a card in his pocket, until he reaches a position where the Order is not working, to him all honor is due, and he surely will have the respect and best wishes of both the employes and employer. Look around, brothers, and see if you can find examples of these classes of men. You can find them on every division. Which class do you want to belong to?

DIV. COR.

C. & C. B., Illinois Division—

Bro. C. W. Klome, day telegrapher at Ashdale, who became a benedict June 18th, is back to work, after his wedding tour in the East and South.

Bro. C. W. Klome relieved Bro. Cook at Lanark for a month during July and August, now back working at Ashdale tower, his regular day position.

Bro. A. A. Cross is still holding down "XN" tower, nights.

Bro. Hartley, from Savanna tower, relieved Bro. Klugh for a few days at Savanna yard.

Bro. Baker is back to work at Davis Junction, relieving Agent C. M. Mack, who is off on account of hay fever. Bro. Hloye is still holding down Davis Junction, nights.

Bro. Fritz is holding down Hickory Grove, nights, making that point sold O. R. T.

Bro. J. B. Lafferty is working nights at Bensonville.

Bro. DeBord, of the C., R. I. & P., is relieving Bro. Albert Sittler, nights at Moline ticket office. Sittler is working days at Davenport, "DN" office.

Bro. Ed. Thessia, regular day telegrapher at Davenport, "DN" office, who has been working a trick during the dispatcher's vacation on the D., R. I. & N. W., has been visiting his parents at Bagley, Wis., and is now working days in Davenport ticket office, while Bro. Nathan Baker and his large family are visiting his mother's folks at Mason City, Iowa, for a week or ten days.

We see by the Moline papers Bro. Lang's wife and her son, Howard, are visiting Cincinnati, Ohio, and Eastern points, and "13" Jack is keeping bachelor's hall. If he is like other men in keeping house, his wife has our sympathy on her return.

If the boys along the line expect me to give them any kind of a write-up, they must answer my letters, and give changes at their stations, as I am no mind reader.

Thanks to Ashdale and Hickory Grove for their prompt replies. CART. 1,640.

South Minnesota Division—

Not very much doing along the S. M. in the news line, but the following items may be of interest to the members:

Bro. Riordan, at Fountain, was off for a couple of weeks on account of the serious illness of his mother.

Bro. Eddie Laugen, from Wells, nights, relieved at Fountain. Ed. Malone worked nights during Bro. Laugen's absence.

Bro. Laugen assigned to Lake Preston, but did not like the looks of the M. & B. line. He is now installed at Delavan as relief agent awaiting the arrival of Mr. Jensen, the regular agent.

An old-timer named Finney held down Delavan for a spell, but passed it up, and drifted to greener pastures.

Alden station again bulletined for a period of six months, and assigned to Bro. S. W. Fuller, of Lily, S. D. Steve will now be a trifle closer to home.

Don't know where Bro. Campbell intends to go, but he need not worry; there seems to be plenty of openings.

Bro. H. R. Laugen has returned from his western trip, and is now located at Jackson as agent for a period of six months.

Bro. J. Snyder, from Jackson to Flandreau, on six months' bulletin.

Bro. F. E. Stewart, regular agent at Flandreau, away on trip to the far West.

Easton and Welcome stations bulletined, but nothing assigned as yet, at least, nothing has reached us.

Bro. Griffin, of Chandler, is being relieved by Bro. Campbell.

Bro. Harmon still at Lake Preston, although the station has been bulletined recently.

Bro. Elliott has returned to Wentworth, and his touch on the key makes "WN" sound more natural.

Bro. Miner, from Egan, only one west of Jackson who attended the meeting at Austin.

Austin is a far stretch, and no doubt, more of the members could get away to attend a meeting if one were held in Bristol.

I wish to thank Bro. Miner, at Egan, for notes from the west end. He is the first one to give me any assistance whatever from any part of the division, and any more news that he may send will be thankfully received.

This is the best I can glean from the few scraps that go over the wire.

Occasionally we hear a far-off rumor of things that happen west of Jackson, but the source is so far distant that one hardly dares to put it down in cold print. Con.

West I. & D. Division—

Bro. O. L. Hopkins, agent at Chamberlain, is trying to get a month's leave of absence to go out on his ranch, near Kadoka, and has been promised relief soon.

Mrs. O. L. Hopkins, chief clerk at Chamberlain, made a flying trip to Murdo recently.

Bro. Wentzy, of Kimball, is laying off for a few weeks. Bro. Sweep is holding Kimball down while A. B. is taking advantage of the hunting season at the lakes.

Bro. P. G. Gibson and wife were seen passing down the line about a week ago on their way to Wabasha to make a visit at their old home. Pete is now holding down the first trick at Chamberlain. He was relieved by Bro. F. R. Doud, night telegrapher, who, in turn, was relieved by J. T. Coughlin, of Mitchell.

Bro. F. M. Higgins, day side table man at Mitchell, has invested in a new sending machine, and is trying to master the art of using it.

Bro. N. D. Starr, of Alexandria, has had quite a lot of work lately on account of several wrecks near his station.

Understand there are two new men at Sanborn. Do not know their names or whether they are up-to-date or not.

Keep your eye on Lennox. Understand there are a couple of students there. Do not know whether Agent Moran is up-to-date or not, but think it had better be looked into.

Mr. Quigley, hailing from Lennox, has been given Scotland, nights, and is rustling freight down there.

A second day telegrapher has been put on at Canton. Bro. G. W. Smith, the night man, was given the second day trick, and was relieved by G. H. Elton, of Marion Junction, a non, but "13" he is going to join soon.

Well, will ring off this time, and if this is seen in print, may come again. There are probably several changes that we haven't heard of.

CERT. 1,615.

C. & C. B., Iowa Division—

Bro. Bliss and wife, days, of "RD," Council Bluffs, are taking a two weeks' vacation in Dakota. Bro. Bliss relieved by Telegrapher McManus, nights of "WD," Council Bluffs; McManus relieved by Bro. Furman, of Dawson, nights; Furman relieved at Dawson by his young brother.

McManus promises to pay up his back dues pay-day, and Telegrapher Tathwell, of "BU," Council Bluffs, expects to follow suit.

Telegrapher Forbes working nights at "RD," Council Bluffs.

Telegrapher Erven, who got Weston on bulletin, has paid for an up-to-date card.

Bro. Peasley, of Collins, nights, worked at Bayard a few nights, then went to "DM," river.

Bro. House, extra nights at Manning, took a two weeks' vacation to visit his parents and friends in Eastern Nebraska.

H. F. Wood, days at Herndon, who dropped out of the Order some time ago, has again joined us. We knew he wouldn't remain on the "grab list" very long, but we are all liable to have a streak of hard luck, and have to drop out for a time.

Telegrapher Rose is expected to return soon to his job as night telegrapher at Aspinwall. He has been working around Arion for several weeks.

Bro. Henry relieved Bro. Genrich at Tama for a short time, then went to Bayard on bulletin.

Bro. Metcalf got Keystone on bulletin. Bro. Furman also worked at Keystone a week or two.

Bro. Robinson, of Ferguson, laying off a few days; relieved by Bro. Lingham, of Ferguson, nights, who was relieved by Bro. Horton.

Bro. Renbarger transferred from Madrid, days, to Collins, nights; relieved at Madrid by Bro. Hoeslea, who is being relieved by Bro. Sullivan.

Bro. Sanders, of Elwell, took a short vacation; relieved by A. H. Krasche.

Bro. Embree, of Maxwell, called home on account of sickness; relieved by Bro. Posten, of Capron.

Bro. Hall, of Maxwell, nights, resigned and went to Chicago. A Mr. Griswold filling the vacancy for the present.

All received the list of nons on this division, no doubt, and we hope it has been cut down to zero by this time. If it is not, get busy and line-up that non at your station, or the one at the next station, east or west of you. Don't wait for the local chairman to get after them, but do it yourself. Nons can be kept down if every member does his share.

Bro. Mouser, of Woodward, off for a vacation; relieved by Bro. C. E. Olson.

Bro. Huyck, of Slater tower, off on a honeymoon. Congratulations.

Bro. Rupp, who worked on this division two years ago, paid the brothers at Cambridge a visit during his vacation in August.

Bros. Bentley, of Rhodes, and Krasche, of Bouton, back at the key after their vacations.

Mr. W. B. Foster, Whipple; Keeley, Barnoske, and the boss carpenter inspected stations on the west end the first of the month. They report a few dirty freight houses and windows.

I am indebted to Bro. Gamelin for a good bunch of these items. He seems to be the only live one on the Middle Division, outside of Bro. Soyster, who keeps the dust from settling on himself.

Can't we cook up a meeting in the near future?
"NICK."

White River Valley Division—

As nothing has been said about the W. R. V. Division in THE TELEGRAPHER for a long time, and as we have no regular correspondent, I will contribute a few items:

While this country is widely known as "The Land of Opportunity," and people from all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico have been flocking in to take advantage of the wonderful opportunities open to those desiring homes, it would, perhaps, be of about as much interest to the telegraph fraternity to know how we stand, so I will do the best I can to give you some information along that line.

Bro. R. E. Mytinger still holds the agency at Oacoma, and as he is building a very nice home, and will soon be in a position to vacate the inconvenient rooms at the depot, presume he will stick at Oacoma for some time. We are all glad to know that once in a while an agent is able to get a home of his own, and now, boys, if you will all stick, and keep up-to-date so as to give our general committee good support, we will all be fixed that way some day.

Bro. Troth has been working at the Oacoma gravel pit since he returned in April, after his recovery from typhoid fever.

Bro. J. E. Dwyer still holds forth at Reliance as agent, and rumor has it that he is soon to have a helper in the shape of a better half.

Bert Dwyer, a brother of J. E. Dwyer, is doing the owl act at Reliance while the gravel trains are running. Understand he has not been in the business long enough to get in line, but as the steam shovel has been equipped with electric lights they will be rolling out the cars so that he will get the required experience. Want to see him with us just as soon as the constitution permits.

Bro. McCowan, agent at Presho, was off last month to attend his father's funeral in Ohio. He has the sympathy of all. Bro. Young, the day telegrapher, was the "whole cheese," as he expressed it, during the absence of Bro. McCowan, as there was no relief man to be had.

Bro. McCollum, agent at Vivian, and Bro. Swift, who came from the S. C. & D. Division, are both strictly up-to-date. Bro. McCollum has been on the W. K. V. for about a year, while Bro. Swift is doing the wire work at Vivian while gravel trains are running. "13" he is also holding down a claim near there.

Mr. F. S. Bowder is chief dispatcher at Murdo MacKenzie, while Ralph Williams holds first trick and Mr. C. H. Schultz second trick. Mr. Williams was off last month, and was relieved by Bro. Keen, from the I. & D., at Mason City.

Of course, we are all wanting to see that $75 minimum (and then some), the carrying of U. S. mail taken off, as we want to close out our interests in the draying business, and we will certainly be with the bunch on the nine-hour question.

As this division has been taken from the supervision of the I. & D. Division officials, and we have a superintendent of our own, we are looking for the general committee to get busy and make a district of it, and fix us so we can get a local chairman of our own, so he can keep this new line right up in the front row. CERT. 831.

James River Division—

Bro. Pafford, at Ellendale, has resigned, but do not know where he went, or who relieved him.

Bro. Daniels, of Evarts, is at Wukpalla, on the Pacific extension. Don't know who relieved him.

Bro. Marlette, of Bowdle, is going to the coast. We all wish him success. Bro. Meyers will relieve him.

Mr. Krinke, day telegrapher at the pit, will relieve Bro. Meyers, nights at Bowdle.

Forty and fifty trains a day over the Evarts line keep the boys awake half the night and busy all day, but it is the same old fifty plunks per.

Wilkins, the owl from the pit, is working days at Glenham relief. The regular telegrapher taking a lay-off.

Telegrapher Kunert is relieving Blair at Java, nights.

Bro. Nelson is working nights at Glenham, relieving Telegrapher Kooni.

Mr. Kooni, nights at Glenham, relieving Bro. Geeslin, agent at Selby, who is off on a hunting trip.

Bro. Mashek, agent at Java, is back from a vacation, and reports a good time.

Telegrapher Kunert, Java, nights, has gone to Roscoes during the stock rush.

W. P. Arntz, chief dispatcher, has returned from a vacation.

Dispatcher Jacobs has been off for a few days; C. E. Mollander relieving him.

McCormick, first trick dispatcher, relieved Chief Dispatcher Arntz recently.

Dispatcher Bunker has also been enjoying a rest, but is again on duty. Mr. Mollander has left, but can't say where he has gone.

Kunert is back at Java again working the owl job, as before.

Bro. Nelson from Glenham, nights, has relieved agent at Strausburg, who had his foot crushed.

I "13" Wilkins has his application in. That will help some.

We should have a representative looking up the honos on the line, as there are a good many.

N. Y., S. & W. Ry.

Our meeting at Munzer's Hall, Market street, September 28th, was poorly attended, only four members representing the N. Y., S. & W., which, we presume, was due to rain. Very sorry, indeed, to see a little rain keep the members away from such an important meeting. Several subjects of unusual interest were discussed, and we should have had a good attendance.

Bro. Fredericks, from "OG," was present, although he is compelled to return to Butler after the meeting on train 331, and from there to "OG," on the first freight. Now the brothers living east of Butler would not be put to any such inconvenience, as they can get a train east or west at a reasonable hour. I trust they will take more interest in these meetings, which are for their benefit, and hope to see the N. Y., S. & W. well represented at our next meeting, of which you will receive due notice.

Bro. Vandalinda, working at "HX," days, relieving Bro. Ward, who is acting as agent at Maywood in Bro. Quick's place, he having bid in Blairstown.

It is rumored that a handsome looking maiden will be our next agent at Hawthorne.

Bro. Munson arrived at the meeting somewhat late owing to the fact that the express on Edgewater branch was late. Drv. Coa.

Miss Schrecongost, Hyde nights, to Indiana nights.

Bro. Frampton, our local chairmaun, Punxxy yard office days, off on ten days' vacation; relieved by Bro. Wail, night man. He, in turn, was relieved by Bro. Eastman. On Bro. Frampton's return Bro. Vail took his ten days off; being relieved by Bro. Eastman for a few days, afterwards Mr. Foyson relieved him until his return, and then went to C. B. Junction, nights.

Bro. Snyder, Big Run Junction days, spent last Wednesday with his parents in Hawthorne.

New office at Cummings (box-car); also one at Lucerne Junction. There are also reports that there are going to be new ones put in at Locust and Morrison.

Mr. Rich, night man at Big Run Junction, has left the service of the company to go to college.

Bro. Bickett, Savan nights, has left the service of the company. Can not say where he has gone. We wish him luck wherever he goes. Sorry to see him go.

Another "ham factory" owl at Savan has a student.

We have all received our new passes for the quarter ending December 31.

Bro. Lyons, of Croyland nights (Middle Division) spent Saturday in DuBois.

About all of the boys have received new cards.

Let's hear from some one else next month.

CERT. 168.

C., C. & St. L. Ry.

St. Louis Division, West—

Some of the boys don't fully understand Article III in the schedule, which reads: "Telegraph operators will be allowed forty-five consecutive minutes in which to procure meals, and whenever possible, will be excused for this purpose between 11:30 and 1:30, day and night. When they can not be excused between these hours, they will be paid 25 cents and be allowed thirty minutes for meals as soon thereafter as practicable." It seems any one could understand that, but nevertheless, I think a little explanation is necessary to show some of you where you are beating yourselves out of a number of meal hours by not exacting just what the above paragraph calls for, and it is entirely your own fault. If you don't quit the kind of work that has been going on, it will be but a short time until overtime meal hours for most of you will be a thing of the past.

I have noticed quite a number of the boys when released from, say 11:30 until 12:15, clearing trains at 12, noon, or even before this time. Now, why should you do this on your own time when you have been released from duty? Can't you see that as long as you are going to keep the trains moving the dispatcher is not going to hold you and pay you for something he can get for nothing?

There is no reason why you should clear block for or release trains while you are out for meals, as the delay occurring is certainly not on you, and if this practice is kept up you can very easily see where it will lead to. The only way to do when you are released forty-five minutes is to take the full time.

Another thing I notice that is entirely wrong, is the dispatcher telling the boys to let some train, especially a passenger train, go under clear block, not to card them, when unable to raise the block station in advance on account of the telegrapher there being out for a meal. The dispatcher has no authority for doing so, and you certainly have no right to do this on his instructions. The dispatchers have nothing to do with blocking trains and only step in to save delay showing up on their part for releasing the telegrapher, and you take the responsibility. Before we were paid for losing meals, it was very hard to get out for them, and if you asked the dispatcher anything in regard to carding a train because you could not raise the next block station, he would very promptly tell you that he was not blocking trains and you should know the block rules, and of course he didn't have to cover the delay. "Circumstances alter cases."

The block rules are very strict on this, and Mr. Houghton's instructions and the examination and instructions we were given by Mr. Bonnell were very plain, and there is no reason why you should ignore them to save a few minutes' delay, endangering lives, your liberty and position, and incidentally skinning some telegrapher out of a meal hour overtime. Just go ahead and do your own blocking and issue a clearance card whenever it is required by the block rules, regardless, and I think there will be no questions asked you. Should there be, it will be very easily explained, with no discredit to yourself.

In the past two months we have made a grand cleaning with the nons on this end, and only a very few remain out in the cold now. It is up to the brothers who are working with them to land them.

Guy Herod has bid in and been assigned to "NS" Hillsboro nights.

Litchfield and East Alton, also "QE" East St. Louis nights open to oldest men. All three easy money.

Div. Coa.

St. Louis Division, East—

By the time this letter appears we will be installed in our new lodge room, ready to do business on a larger scale than ever before. Some few weeks ago an unfurnished room was secured at a bargain to be used for a lodge room, and we immediately started out a paper, asking for donations from the different members, to furnish this room. The room will need a desk, a carpet, and several chairs and other things such as files, etc. It will not take a very large sum to procure these things, and if every member will contribute a little, it will make a sum sufficient to get everything needed and maybe leave enough over to give a "housewarming" after the room is furnished. As yet I have not received the paper back from the East End, but understand the members are going after it in the proper spirit. A copy of it was sent out between Paris and Loxa and every member signed for one dollar.

On account of a good many of the members laying off this month, this paper passed by them, and I take this means of notifying them to send me any amount they can, no matter how small, to be used for the purpose stated above. Several of the members have sent stamps. Do not do this, I can not buy furniture with stamps.

EDW. WHALEN, Local Chairman.

Once again we pick up our pen to say a few words for the Sankie Division:

Business is so rushing we have not had much time to look after our changes this month, but from what we see and hear everything is in fine shape.

The double track is rapidly nearing completion between C. B. and Danville. "13" there is to be several changes made soon. Wonder if the nons won't be bidding on the best jobs. No card, no favors, is our motto.

Bro. W. O. Setty, at Danville, has been off on a vacation. Bro. J. F. Gross, at Reno, is on the sick list. Bro. Denny, from Danville, is acting as relief agent at Reno. Bro. Denny was relieved at Danville by Bro. Setty, who, in turn, was relieved by Bro. E. C. Bales.

Bro. Guy Byrd, formerly of the Big Four, is night telegrapher and station agent for the Monon at Green Castle.

Extra Dispatcher Adolph Brauthers has left the service to again enter school at Terre Haute. Let success be his.

Bro. G. W. Sage, at Green Castle, has been off on a vacation. He was relieved by Bro. Confer; Bro. Herman relieving Bro. Confer at Green Castle, nights.

Sister Bertha Newby, of Charleston, days, is back from her vacation.

Bro. Wilson, at "GM," days, is on the sick list; relieved by Bro. Huston, who has been working nights there. Bro. Huston was relieved by Bro. Vincent, a C. T. U. of A. man. Div. Cor.

Cairo Division, North—

Bro. J. S. Bishop has been off two weeks visiting relatives at Ridge Farm; relieved by Mr. Highler. Mr. Highler promises to go in next payday.

Mr. Johnson worked nights while Bro. Bishop was off. "13" that Mr. Johnson has an old card. Day telegraph office closed at Flat Rock.

Bro. Dan Sewell went to Marshall, days. Have not heard where Bro. Perryman is located.

Bro. J. R. Cottam has been off ten days on account of sickness; Bro. Sewell relieving him.

Bro. Rogers was on the sick list for a few nights. "13" Mr. Wigton is going to leave the Cairo Division. He has an old card, but won't pay up his dues.

Did you ever hear of a "non" failing to ask for his 25 cents, if he did not get to eat?

Will try and give you a better write-up next time. CRR. 348.

Cincinnati Division—

The articles that have been appearing in the journal from time to time, regarding the $75 minimum and eight-hour day, are interesting, and, no doubt, this is the only way the brass-pounders will ever get their just dues, as it is a well-known fact that all the great railway systems of this country are controlled and operated by a few captains of industry, and instead of having our committees wait upon the management of one road at a time, do like the trainmen did on all the roads entering Chicago. Have all our committees wait upon the managements of all the systems simultaneously, and stand pat for the $75 minimum and eight-hour day, and thus, all working as a unit, a favorable result will be inevitable, and I think the time is not far distant when these tactics will be employed.

Those who haven't contributed to the typewriter fund do so at once; $36.50 was subscribed on it, and to date $26 has been received. That speaks well for this division.

Messrs. Eckhart and Williams, of Columbus, promise to be with us soon.

There are quite a number who are behind in dues. Pay up, and be in line. Perhaps the next schedule will benefit you materially.

Bro. Justice, the general chairman, has been working at the Fair Grounds during the State Fair, putting in twelve hours a day, and all night Friday, when they loaded out.

Clem Stewart, of Avenue, visited relatives in Plattsburg one day recently.

Bro. Weisse laid off sick a week; being relieved by Mr. Plymel, the night owl.

Picky Franklin, of Plattsburg, did the owl act. Bro. Scully, the night owl, relieved Bro. Sidener at London, and Bro. Scully, in turn, was relieved by Mr. O. E. Burris.

Bro. Franklin, of Plattsburg, made a flying trip to Sandusky recently. Bro. Slagle relieving him.

Mr. Harrison, of Brooks, was off sick one night. Bro. Stabler doubled.

Bro. Corwin has returned to work after being off sick for a couple of weeks. Mr. Craig being the relief man.

See the good effects pay-day had on some of the nons.

C. F. Stricklin, Delaware, O.; F. H. Cowles, White Sulphur, O., and P. R. Smith, New Dover,

O., became members last pay-day. This leaves but two nons on the Delaware branch, and one of them promises his application next pay-day.

Mr. H. S. Miller is now filling the position of night telegrapher at Catawba.

Mr. G. M. Beggs, of South Siding, was visiting Bro. Douglass recently.

Mr. S. M. Sautter, of Catawba gravel pit, off for a few days on account of the death of his daughter. Mr. Sautter has the sympathy of all the brothers in this sad hour of bereavement.

Bro. W. H. Keever, nights at Osborn, off on a vacation.

Bro. G. E. Whitlock relieving Bro. Keever.

Bro. G. D. Birthissel has returned to work, days, Lockland, after a very pleasant trip to Cleveland, O., and Buffalo, N. Y. Bro. W. F. Engle did the owl act and Mr. Stickney worked days while Bro. Birthissel was absent.

Bro. Engle is working at Edgemont while Bro. Gardner is at Buffalo and the lakes on vacation.

Bro. Sheering is doing the day stunt while Bro. Gardner is away.

It is our desire that every brother attend the meetings.

We are glad to report Bro. Droege among the brothers who have up-to-date cards.

The nons are dropping in one by one. Keep after them, brothers.

Meetings September 24th at 2 and 7 p. m., English Hotel, Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. Sherry is doing the night stunt at Dennison avenue.

Van Dyke, of Hughes, has got on the top board of the fence. Some one tap quietly on the right side.

You fellows who are doing all the kicking, attend the meetings and let your grievances be known.

It is noticed that all the kicking comes from the persons who fail to attend meetings. If we did nothing more than pay our dues this organization would soon be a thing of the past.

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, God, in His infinite wisdom, has removed from the family circle the little daughter of Bro. E. F. Garrity; be it

Resolved, That we deeply regret her youthful and untimely demise, realizing the aching in the hearts of our beloved brother's family. We, the fraternity of System Division 138, extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in this sad hour; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes, a copy forwarded our brother and also THE TELEGRAPHER for publication.

J. F. JUSTICE,

W. E. BUZZ,

Committee.

On Friday, the 13th of September, the Reaper, whose name is Death, visited the happy home of our beloved brother, E. F. Garrity, and took from that happy circle his little four-months-old baby girl. She is now resting in that sleep that knows no awakening, and we know that her soul took its flight to the ethereal abode of the Omnipotent and All-wise Creator of all things, whence none return.

The brother has the sympathy of all who knew him.

I do not think the brothers forget him in his need.

J. F. JUSTICE.

Without key, price, $3.75.

IMPROVED GIANT SOUNDER

Quick acting and gives a loud, clear sound. Polished hard-rubber covered coils, brass or aluminum lever, polished brass base plate, mounted on highly polished mahogany base. Used by the largest railroad and telegraph companies. Standard size and design. Wound 5 ohms. Price, $1.40.

STANDARD PONY RELAY

Wound 20 ohms. Price, $1.50.

EARLY RISER'S OUTFIT

The clock that gets you up in time. A high-grade clock movement. Will ring for a week if not shut off. Every railroad man realizes the importance of being on time—this timepiece will get you there if anything will. You are ALL CONFUSED about Pianos!

—You want the sweetest toned
—You want that sweet tone to last —You dislike to spend any more money than necessary:—But every adviser, and so-called expert, recommends a different make. You are like a man lost in the woods. You don't know which way to turn. This surely describes your position.

R THE REMEDY:—Educate yourself on the subject! Study—read—Read more—Study more. Then listen in the quietness of your own parlor to the tone of the highest grade piano you can get, but without agreeing to purchase it. Call in all those musical friends who you know are not under past obligations to any piano dealers or friends of dealers. Resolve you will study attentively piano tone and will be deaf, while studying, to the magnetic talk and persuasiveness of salesmen. This is the intelligent way. It's the way you planned your new home. You made a long study of it calmly, thoroughly, and you became quite an expert. You can be just as expert about pianos.

We are willing to send you free two books:

One officially entitled "The Book of Complete Information about Pianos."

YOU NEED THIS BOOK of 150 Pages handsomely bound, if you ever intend to buy a piano, no matter what make.

It tells how to test a piano and how to tell good from bad; what causes pianos to get out of order. It makes the selection of a piano easy. If read carefully it will make you an expert judge of piano tone, of action, workmanship and of durability.

It tells everything that any one can possibly want to know about pianos; gives a description of every part of the piano, how put together and all the processes of manufacture. Gives description of the new invention for aiding learners to play called THE NOTEACCORD (endorsed by Paderewski and other great pianists). It explains Agents' and Dealers' Methods and Devices.

It tells about the very first piano, the qualities of labor, the felt, ivories and woods used in every high-grade piano, and compares high qualities with the cheaper kind (used in inferior pianos). Describes what constitutes a musical-piano-tone, and in fact is a complete encyclopedia.

You need and should have THIS EDUCATIONAL BOOK to thoroughly inform you whenever CONFUSED ABOUT PIANOS.

Its scores of illustrations (all devoted to piano construction) are not only interesting but are instructive—to children as well as to adults.

You will certainly learn a great deal about pianos that you could not hear of or read ANYWHERE ELSE for it is absolutely the only book of its kind ever published. Nevertheless we send it free.

The other book is also copyrighted but is a short story named "JOHN HONEYWELL'S REASONS." The story of an average American family which was ALL CONFUSED about Pianos—it is interesting, readable and prettily illustrated—gives a little hint of a love affair which the piano helped along, as many pianos have done.

These two books cost quite a sum to produce, print, bind, illustrate and mail. Upwards of 400,000 have been issued and without a single exception have been highly commended.

SO FAR not one word about ourselves. We are and have been the manufacturers of THE FAMOUS WING PIANO for the past 39 years:

ALSO 23 PLAINER STYLES

We Have Supplied Over 40,000 American Homes With WING PIANOS

WE MAKE SPECIAL TERMS TO RAILROAD MEN

We refer to Banks, Governors of many States, and Judges; to Merchants, Conservatories of Music, Singers and Professors of Music. We have been students of vibration and of musical tone and strength of materials during all these 39 years. The first patent issued to our Mr. Wing, Senior, for improvement on pianos was in 1876, and other improvements have been invented since at the average rate of more than one yearly. These facts prove our skill and long experience, but would not be mentioned if we did not wish to show you that we know the piano subject as few others have had the opportunity; for 39 years is a long—long time for a business house to "live and learn" and constantly prosper.

Write for the books at once or fill in the coupon. Take it out and mail to us now while you think of it (and while you have the coupon). You will be under no obligations whatever.

THE VAILOGRAPH

Is an improved vibrator weighing only 2½ ounces and is the only sending machine in the World which is applied directly to and worked by the old Morse Key.

OPERATORS

IS THIS NOT WHAT YOU HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR?

Side Motion Machines Will Soon be a Thing of the Past.

It was thought at first the side motion was necessary for the operator who had lost his "grip" but this has all been proven wrong by the use of the "Vailograph." It is the making of the dots that gets an operator so afflicted.

THE VAILOGRAPH IS INTENDED FOR ALL OPERATORS

no matter how expert. It not only saves your arm 50 per cent of the work, preventing you from ever losing your "grip," but it turns out the most perfect Morse you ever heard. It is adjustable to slow and fast sending, works on short or long circuits; it even worked perfectly in a test on a long circuit through two sets of repeaters on a rainy day.

The Vailograph

is attached to the regular Morse key in such a way that the ordinary contact makes the dashes while one motion of the key upward will make the dots.

The key lever is normally held in an intermediate position by means of the tension of spring in the Vailograph slightly overcoming the tension of spring in key.

Don't Buy

a new sending machine before you investigate the "Vailograph."

The Vailograph's

main features are its direct contact, its vertically disposed vibrator, its simplicity, its compactness and the fact that it is operated by the standard Morse key, doing away with the necessity of learning the side motion as in the lateral vibrator.

Don't Buy

a new sending machine before you investigate the "Vailograph."

The Vailograph applied to key.

About three years ago we presented to railroad men a leather pass and card case; the demand for them was so great that we were obliged to discontinue their free distribution.

As we continued to receive a great many requests from Railroad men for something of this kind, we decided to get up another case of much better quality, made of black calf leather.

We are offering these at less than cost to us and at about one-third of what they cost at the store.

If you want one, send us two ten-cent pieces. If you are not pleased with the book, return it and get your money back.

You can then use the gun three months, during which time you can put it to every possible test, and if at any time during the three months you are not convinced that it is worth twice as much as any gun you can buy elsewhere at double the price, you can return the gun to us at our expense and we will immediately return your money, including any express charges you may have paid. Better still, send $7.95 with your order, and thus save the extra express charge for collecting the C. O. D. money and returning it to us. You will get the gun at once; give it three months' trial, and if at any time you are not satisfied you have gotten three times as much value for your money as you could get elsewhere. YOU CAN RETURN THE GUN TO US AT OUR EXPENSE AND WE WILL AT ONCE RETURN YOUR MONEY, INCLUDING ANY EXPRESS CHARGES YOU MAY HAVE PAID.

THIS GUN IS MADE IN OUR OWN FACTORY at Meriden, Conn., it is the most wonderful single barrel gun ever made, and is worth ten times as much as any of the cheap single barrel guns on the market; safer, quicker acting, stronger, far better shooting, and by far the handsomest single gun ever produced, far cheaper at OUR SPECIAL $7.95 PRICE than any of the cheap single guns on the market even at $1.00.

IF YOU WANT OUR $2.59 OR $2.89 SINGLE BARREL BREECH LOADER, as illustrated and described above, enclose our price, either $2.59 or $2.89 (we especially recommend if you order our New England gun that you enclose $2.89 and get the gun with the positive automatic ejector); we will then send the gun to you with the understanding and agreement that you can give it thirty days' free trial, during which time you can put it to every possible test, and if you are not perfectly satisfied with your purchase, if you are not satisfied it is the equal of any gun you can buy elsewhere at $5.00 to $7.00, you can return it to us at our expense, AND WE WILL IMMEDIATELY RETURN YOUR MONEY, TOGETHER WITH ANY EXPRESS CHARGES YOU MAY HAVE PAID.

OUR $2.89 AUTOMATIC SHELL EJECTING NEW ENGLAND GUN, AS ILLUSTRATED ABOVE, is made for us under contract, and is far better than single guns that sell generally at $5.00 to $8.00; but in your own interest, to get the best single barrel gun made in the world, AND THE GREATEST SINGLE GUN VALUE EVER OFFERED, WE ESPECIALLY URGE THAT YOU SEND US AN ORDER FOR OUR $7.95 AUBREY.

GUN CATALOGUE FREE. If you don't order one of these guns, don't fail to write for our latest free Gun Catalogue. On a postal card or in a letter to us simply say, "Send me your free Gun Catalogue," and our latest catalogue of shotguns, rifles, revolvers and all kinds of sporting goods will go to you by return mail, postpaid, free with our compliments; the most wonderful Gun Catalogue ever published, values never before known. Hammerless breech loading shotguns at $8.95 and up, double barrel breech loading shotguns at $6.75 and up, rifles at $1.98 and up, fine five-shot, 32 and 38-caliber automatic shell ejecting revolvers at $2.98, ammunition and other sporting goods at about one-half what others charge; wonderful free offers, great privileges, special propositions, heretofore unheard of opportunities, all shown in our latest free Gun Catalogue; so if you don't order one of the guns shown in this great offer, don't fail to write for our free Gun Catalogue. REMEMBER the Allen Fountain Brush is guaranteed as to utility, efficiency and durability

ALLEN FOUNTAIN BRUSH

THE ORDINARY OLD STYLE BATH BRUSH laden with filth, corruption and disease breeding germs, contaminated by the vile and poisonous excretions from the human body is fraught with untold dangers and to the man or woman of refinement is repulsive.

WASH RAGS and SPONGES do not open or cleanse pores, are superficial in action, unsanitary and germ breeding, do not refresh or invigorate.

THE ALLEN FOUNTAIN BATH BRUSH is SANITARY and SELF-CLEANING. Flushing of the bristles with pure clean water that flows through the brush prevents contamination.

THE ALLEN is the ONLY BATH BRUSH possessing the "THREE IN ONE" essential functions, FRICTION, SHOWER and MASSAGE. The ONLY BATH BRUSH which at one operation opens the pores, thoroughly cleanses the skin, imparting a healthy tone and glow and puts one in condition to resist Colds, LaGrippe and all contagious and infectious diseases. ITS USE PROMOTES clear complexion, bright eyes, cheerful spirits and sound refreshing sleep.

IN THE ORDINARY TUB BATH you rewash in water contaminated by previous contact with the body—water laden with dirt and impurities.

With the Allen Fountain Brush CLEAN WATER ONLY is applied to any portion of the body at will. It secures all the scientific effects of the bath for the old or middle aged, for the robust and strong. The only safe bath for the delicate and weakly. A boon to womanhood—just the bath for the little ones.

LET ME SEND YOU FREE MY TEST
LESSONS IN CARTOON-ING, DESIGNING OR ILLUSTRATING.

(Tell me which you want.)

This Preliminary Test is distinctly an original feature of the "Acme Way" of teaching these subjects, and is the only way to determine what each student needs in the line of instruction. By its use just the right lessons suited the individual requirements and possibilities of each and every student can be selected. It requires each student to make three special drawings, the examination of which by my Chief Art Instructor and myself will enable us to determine your present knowledge of the subject, your ability and prospects for future success. If it is advisable for you to continue, I will tell you so, and will be equally frank and honest in case your work doesn't show the requisite ability.

There is an enormous demand, constantly increasing, for commercial artists. I can place more people in positions now than I have students competent to fill them; that is why I offer to send you this Test free and tell you how great your success may be. I need more students to fill the demand that is being made upon us. As a competent artist you can command $20 to $100 a week, or if you prefer to run your own studio, you can get first price for your work; there is practically no limit as soon as you are competent. I will guarantee to make you competent if I teach you at all, or refund your money. I will see that your training will enable you to make the kind of drawings to bring the money. You will be taught practical work, the kind you will do when you are actually employed or working for yourself.

From my experience I have learned that more people can succeed and earn splendid incomes at this work than you think there can. It isn't always a matter of natural talent, for without careful training and systematic development, talent alone would never make a genius of any one. More people become successful by proper study, application and perseverance than by any other way.

Acme lessons are copyrighted and so arranged and prepared that you can complete a full course at home by mail during spare time, or you can put in part of your time studying in our Resident School under the personal charge of my Chief Art Instructor.

Write me today and I will send you the Test by return mail.

If this Question Were Answered by Every Railroad Telegrapher

They Would Answer as One Man—YES

What's this All About? Some Fake?—No

It's an introduction to railroad men of a shampoo that's been used over fifteen years, but we never knew that more of it is used on the heads of railroad men than on most others. A barber told us this. Consequently we have decided to let it be known to more of the railroad men through their own journal. This is nothing more than a simple, sensible, practical hair-cleanser, called the made in Racine—not a bad place for a good thing.

It costs just half a dollar a box, put up in solid form to save all waste—not a powder or paste. One box lasts a year—we know it. Fifty shampoos for 50c. Sample Sent Free for the Asking. Enough for two heads—that alone will save you the price of a box. Your barber asks you a quarter every time you want your head laundered. Try a sample—we're not afraid to have you test it. You'll simply agree with us and talk about it as if you had an interest in our business.

THAT'S "AD" ENOUGH FOR US

Then you'll send for a box like the others are doing. We know this to be a fact.

It is absolutely pure, invigorating to the scalp, beneficial to the hair, prevents dandruff, saves the hair and leaves it on your head, soft and healthy. It won't grow hair on billiard balls. It is all we claim for it: a thorough hair and scalp cleanser, not in the least injurious. You can brush your teeth with it, so pure are its ingredients.

This shampoo is just what every railroad man has been wanting these many years.

It can be carried in your pocket, nothing to spill, conveniently enclosed in a metal box. Enough for 50c to last for a year, if you use it once a week—that certainly is cheap. For sale only by the makers. Send stamps, silver, or anything handy the moment you read this "ad," and we will take all the risk. Letter carriers are honest; if your money sent by mail gets lost, we'll take your word for it, and send you the shampoo. All reliable railroad men are honest—so are we.

Write us to-day for a sample, or send 50c for a box that will last a year.

(Look for the hen on the box. There is no imitation.)

JULIUS J. COHEN & SONS, 1844 College Ave., RACINE, WIS.

P. S.—This is a good "AD" you'll agree; the man who wrote it charged us half a year's profit on the sale of the Shampoo. But we're willing to take this chance, because he said "the railroad men of the whole United States are anxious to use your elegant shampoo—it's good stuff." We believe him and it's up to you to prove it.

PERMANENT VICTORY

FROM TEMPORARY DEFEAT

No. 5.

IN the first round of litigation over patents on the mechanical transmitter, the lower court has held that the MECOGRAPH transmitters No. 3 are infringements of Martin's patent. We have appealed from that decision, and confidently expect to "land on top" when the appellate court renders its decision.

The Coffe Mecograph was the first mechanical transmitter placed on the market. (By mechanical transmitter, is meant one not requiring a battery.)

The Mecograph was received with such marked favor and worked such a revolution in telegraphy that, naturally, various other mechanical transmitters sprang into existence. Our temporary defeat brought on a violent brain storm, resulting in MECOGRAPH No. 5, one in no way affected by the litigations above referred to. It eclipses everything else in the line of transmitters, even MECOGRAPH No. 3.

It is the simplest, best made, most delightful transmitter an operator ever touched.

A Clear Track for New Model Oliver "No. 5"

The wonderful new Oliver Model "No. 5" is humming down the track of Popularity.

The clumsy, complicated, "blind" and antiquated typewriters are hugging the sidings.

"No. 5" has the right of way because it's the best machine that ever came down the line.

O. R. T. men everywhere greet the New Model "No. 5" with tremendous enthusiasm.

They like its looks and its smooth, easy-running qualities—its speed and its perfect work.

They like it because of its noiselessness—it doesn't drown the sounder.

They like its new Balance Shift, its new Disappearing Indicator, its new Ruling Device, its new Non-Vibrating Base.

They like the cut of its new Steel Coat, that keeps its working parts free from dust.

They like its Automatic Spacer, which leaves the "key" hand free.

They like its Visible Writing and its many other Time-and-Labor-Saving Features.

Thousands of "the boys" are using

ALLEN FOUNTAIN BRUSH

THE ORDINARY OLD STYLE BATH BRUSH laden with filth, corruption and disease breeding germs, contaminated by the vile and poisonous excretions from the human body is fraught with untold dangers and to the man or woman of refinement is repulsive.

WASH RAGS and SPONGES do not open or cleanse pores, are superficial in action, unsanitary and germ breeding, do not refresh or invigorate.

THE ALLEN FOUNTAIN BATH BRUSH is SANITARY and SELF-CLEANING. Flushing of the bristles with pure clean water that flows through the Brush prevents contamination.

THE ALLEN is the ONLY BATH BRUSH possessing the "THREE IN ONE" essential functions, FRICTION, SHOWER and MASSAGE. THE ONLY BATH BRUSH which at one operation opens the pores, thoroughly cleanses the skin, imparting a healthy tone and glow and puts one in condition to resist Colds, LaGrippe and all contagious and infectious diseases. ITS USE PROMOTES clear complexion, bright eyes, cheerful spirits and sound refreshing sleep.

IN THE ORDINARY TUB BATH you rewash in water contaminated by previous contact with the body—water laden with dirt and impurities.

O. R. T. MEXICAN PLANTATION

MY BROTHER:

Don't you believe that it is good, hard business sense for the members of the O. R. T. to go into business by themselves and for themselves! Don't you think that an

O. R. T. Tropical Plantation

in the torrid zone of Old Mexico would be the very best business proposition that the members of our Order could enter! I do. That is why I am putting this matter before you, believing that you will later pay me for my trouble and expense. I am working as dispatcher for the C. M. de P. R. R. Have held this chair for two years and have been with this company four years. I am in no way connected with any land company or real estate agency. If you will write to me I will tell you as brother to brother, exactly how we can start a great plantation—a grand business in this new land of the tropics; in this new land of opportunity. Talk the matter over with the little woman. She will at least tell you to write and get my ideas. [Cert. 397.]

would seem to hinge on these two important points—
(1) having something to do, and (2) being able to do it.

The man run down in health can't properly attend to his work. May be lots of it but he would be satisfied with less.

We suggest to railroad men the advisability of taking

After a Thirteen Weeks' Struggle the Strike is Officially Ended

History of the Strike and Its Lessons

THE strike of the commercial telegraphers, which began at Los Angeles on August 8, 1907, and which rapidly spread until it involved nearly all of the commercial telegraphers of the country, was officially ended at noon on November 9 by the issuance of the following official notice:

"CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 9, 1907.

"To All Local Officers and Members:

"A large majority of the locals voting, having declared in favor of the resolution mailed to all locals on Wednesday, November 6, the strike against the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies and the Associated Press is hereby officially declared suspended, effective 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, November 9, 1907. All strikers who may so desire are free to seek reinstatement in their former positions.

As chronicled in these columns last month, a special session of the General Assembly of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America was called to meet in Milwaukee on Wednesday, October 23, for the purpose of considering matters in connection with the strike, which convention lasted three days, the principal action at which, so far as the strike was concerned, being the election of three committees of three members each, composed of striking employees of the Western Union, the Postal and the Associated Press, to wait upon the managements of those respective companies to endeavor to reach a satisfactory adjustment of the matters which were responsible for the strike.

The committees went to New York immediately after the adjournment of the Milwaukee Convention, and endeavored to arrange a meeting with the officials of the interested companies, but were unsuccessful in doing so, and later returned to Chicago and rendered their report to the officers of the union, whose headquarters are in that city.

Upon receipt of the committees' report announcing their failure to secure audiences with the officers of any of the three companies affected by the strike, the following letter was issued to all locals of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union:

"November 6, 1907.

"To All Local Officers:

"The following resolution, adopted at the Milwaukee Special Convention, is self-explanatory:

"That this convention elect by ballot one committee of three striking exclusive Western Union employees, one committee of three striking exclusive Postal employees, one committee of three striking exclusive Associated Press employees; that they proceed to New York and enter into negotiations with the three corporations against whom we are striking for a settlement.

"That the three committees named, after receiving a proposition, shall meet as a joint committee, discuss it and after voting upon the same their report shall be made to the President and General Secretary-Treasurer, and the recommendation of the National Officers shall be submitted to the various locals."

"While the original report is quite lengthy, in substance, it is as follows:

"The committee reports that their efforts to secure an audience with the officials of either company were unsuccessful; that attempts at negotiations through outside parties were, in a measure, successful, but failed to bring results.

"Honorable Charles P. Neill made another call upon the officials of the various companies, but found them obdurate, all overtures having been absolutely refused. The committee was informed that the Western Union would spend every dollar in its treasury to defeat the union.

"On Saturday, November 2, a great pressure was brought to bear upon the committee to induce it to confer with former President S. J. Small and consider a proposition he wished to make. The entire day was consumed in discussing this proposition, which finally was unanimously rejected.

"Further attempts through direct and indirect channels brought no results. On Monday, November 4, the settlement committee, finding it impossible to conclude any negotiations whatever with their respective companies, adjourned sine die.

"Since the unfortunate episode of October 12th, donations from affiliated unions and other sympathizers have dwindled until they have almost ceased, despite determined and concerted efforts to again enlist the financial assistance of our friends. A large percentage of the strikers having reached the limit of self-sacrifice and endurance in this noble struggle, and without prospect for materially increased assistance, we feel that our moral responsibilities render incumbent upon us a plain statement of the true conditions now existing.

"Desertions have been heavy in all the larger cities during the past ten days. The local officers in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Detroit, Atlanta, St. Louis, Chicago, Milwaukee, Kansas City, and Denver report that local conditions suggest the advisability of a suspension of the strike.

"The existing alarming conditions in the financial and business world and apprehension of worse to come impel us to the belief that our duty demands that we do all in our power to improve conditions and reassure the public mind.

"It has been intimated that while the companies will remain obstinate in their refusal to acknowledge defeat, they are willing, upon the termination of the strike, to materially improve the conditions of their employees. Time will tell. In view of the conditions hereinbefore enumerated, we deem it wise that the strike be suspended pending further developments. We struck for better conditions. In accomplishing this result we shall have won a substantial victory.

"While the companies may boast that they have defeated us, truthfulness would compel them to add, in the words of Pyrrhus, a famous Roman general who won a hard-fought battle, 'If we have such another victory we are undone.'

"Your general officers, the committee on negotiations, concurring, therefore recommend the adoption of the enclosed resolution.

Faternally yours,

"W. W. BEATTIE,

The resolution referred to in the foregoing communication was one declaring the strike off, which was adopted by practically a unanimous vote of the locals, and which resulted in the ending of the strike.

The commercial telegraphers made a most gallant fight; in fact, such a one as could not fail to impress the officials of the companies with whom they were contending that they were "foemen worthy of their steel," and while they did not win a complete victory, they nevertheless won a victory that will be a lasting one, inasmuch as they have demonstrated to the telegraph companies, as well as the world at large, that they have grievances which must be righted, and that they are entitled to more consideration than they have received in the past. Also by their magnificent struggle they have no doubt paved the way for amicable negotiations in the future, as it is not believed that a corporation that has gone through a struggle such as the commercial telegraph companies have just passed through will ever again want a repetition of it. The commercial telegraphers will maintain their organization intact, reform their lines and by profiting by the experiences and realizations of mistakes of the late struggle, will march on to eventual victory.

It has often been stated in these columns that a wise man not only profits by his own experience, but by the experiences of others, and a careful perusal of the history of the late struggle furnishes some interesting facts and much food for thought. In order for the commercial telegraphers to profit by their experience in the late struggle and the railroad telegraphers to profit by the experience of others, it is necessary that the principal facts in connection with the matter be known, and, therefore, a brief resume of the history of the commercial telegraphers' movement since January 1, 1907, would seem to be profitable to all concerned.

Beginning with the present year, the increase in membership of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America was little less than phenomenal, and, as is usually the case under such conditions, the membership in general became insistent upon a speedy movement looking towards the institution of schedules or working agreements with the two great commercial telegraph companies. As a direct result of the wave of organization that swept the commercial telegraph ranks, the Western Union Telegraph Company announced an increase of ten per cent in wages, to take effect March 1, and similar action was taken by the Postal Telegraph Company. A few weeks later movements were started in several of the larger cities to secure local schedules, which efforts were unsuccessful, and which were followed by the presenting of a memorial by the President of the union, first to the President and then to the Board of Directors of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies, setting forth in detail their demands and a statement of their grievances, including discrimination, the use of the sliding scale and other matters.

Efforts to arrange for a meeting between the officials of the telegraph companies and a committee representing their respective employes were unavailing, and serious trouble seemed imminent, and on June 10 the General Executive Board of the union was convened in New York City for the purpose of going over the situation with the President.

As further efforts to bring about an amicable adjustment of the matters at issue proved fruitless, the calling of a strike in San Francisco was decided upon, to occur a few days later, if nothing transpired in the meantime to relieve the situation, and President Small left New York for San Francisco, to take personal charge, in case a strike should be found necessary.

As there seemed to be every prospect of a strike, which it was expected would eventually involve the commercial telegraphers of the whole country, Commissioner of Labor, Chas. P. Neill, went to New York for the purpose of using his good offices in an effort to bring about an understanding between the companies and their employes in order, if possible, to avert trouble, which it was realized would have a serious effect on the whole country. Commissioner Neill met with considerable success in his efforts, and within three days after his arrival had, as it was then supposed, effected a settlement of the whole matter.

Upon President Small's departure for San Francisco he appointed S. J. Konenkamp, Acting Chairman of the General Executive Board, as Deputy President, to represent him in whatever future negotiations were held in New York, and upon Commissioner Neill's arrival in New York he conferred with the officers of the companies and with Deputy President Konenkamp on behalf of the union. Deputy President Konenkamp eventually submitted the following written proposition to Commissioner Neill as a basis of settlement of the difficulties with the Western Union Telegraph Company, which was concurred in by the other members of the General Executive Board and by the General Secretary and Treasurer of the union:

"If Mr. Neill can give us satisfactory assurances that the management of the Western Union will:

"First, see that any man who has not received the full ten per cent increase as given on March 1 shall receive such advance.

"Second, maintain for all wires the respective ratings that were in effect on March 1, and will pay the said ratings to any telegrapher assigned to such wires, and will pay to extra men the rates in effect on March 1, inclusive of the ten per cent advance, for such extra work.

"Third, see that no telegrapher is dismissed or punished by any representative of the company for his or her affiliation with a labor union, and will restore to their former positions any telegrapher who may have been dismissed or reduced for such cause.

"We will waive the request for an eight-hour day and the furnishing of typewriters that we have asked of the management of the company: Provided, that if any telegrapher who has a grievance under any of the above heads can not secure a satisfactory adjustment of it by the District Superintendent, the company will arbitrate the question, the telegrapher to select an arbitrator, the company the other, and these two the third; and in the event these two can not agree on the third arbitrator within one week, the third arbitrator shall be appointed by the Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the United States Commissioner of Labor, acting jointly; provided, further, that any telegrapher who at any time has a grievance can take it up with the District Superintendent in person or through any committee he may select from the other employes of the company in the same district."

Commissioner of Labor Neill, after further conferences with President Clowry of the Western Union, was given the following letter by that official, which, it will be seen, generally embraces the stipulations made by the union as a basis of settlement, which letter was accepted by Deputy President Konenkamp and the General Executive Board on behalf of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, and assurances were given Commissioner Neill that there would be no trouble, and that the union would in future proceed along the lines laid down in the letter:

"Referring to the conferences held between yourself and me and other officers of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and having in view the possible grave inconvenience of the public following any general interruption of our business, I am glad to make clear to you the position occupied by the Western Union Telegraph Company in regard to this whole matter.

"As to statements made by persons in no way connected with this company that the ten per cent increase granted by the telegraph company on March 1, last, has not been applied to all salaried telegraphers, I desire to say that the telegraph company announced this increase in good faith and is carrying it out in good faith, and that if any case can be found in which the increase was not granted it will be corrected at once.

"The statement also being made that the telegraph company is endeavoring to neutralize the ten per cent advance by the application of a so-called sliding scale is without foundation. There is no such practice in effect, nor is there any intention of putting it into effect by the management of this company.

"The standard salaries for regular positions as established by the increase of March 1 will be maintained, and the company will pay to any man appointed or promoted to any position the salary attached to that position after that increase, and will pay to extra men the salaries in effect for their work as of March 1, inclusive, of the ten per cent increase.

"This company has not discriminated against nor will it discriminate against any employe of the company because of affiliation or non-affiliation with any organization; and if it can be shown to me that any subordinate has been dismissed or been discriminated against or any telegrapher dismissed because of affiliation with any organization, such telegrapher shall be restored to his position without prejudice.

"As evidence of the absolute good faith of the Western Union Telegraph Company in its relations to its employes, I beg to say that if any telegrapher feels that he has any grievance under any of the foregoing conditions, and if he can not secure a satisfactory adjustment of his complaint with the officers of the company, we will submit the matter to the arbitration of three parties, one to be selected by the telegrapher, one by the telegraph company and the third to be selected by the two so chosen, and in the event that the two can not agree upon a third arbitrator within one week, we will be very glad to have such third arbitrator chosen by the Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Commissioner of Labor acting jointly.

"As a further evidence of our entire willingness to deal fairly and preserve amicable relations directly with our employes, any telegrapher who at any time has a grievance can take it up with his superior either in person, or, if he wishes, through any committee he may select from the other employes of the company in the same district.

"I have outlined above, in brief, the position the Western Union Telegraph Company holds in regard to matters we have discussed, and you are at liberty to make any use of this letter that you see fit.

"Yours very truly,

"R. C. CLOWRY, President."

The officials of the Postal Telegraph Company immediately thereafter issued a statement announcing their policy.

President Small, who had in the meantime arrived in San Francisco, was notified by telegraph of the settlement made, but regardless of the fact that the settlement was made by his direct representative, and the other officers of the union insisted upon it being observed, President Small called a strike in San Francisco on the following day, thereby repudiating the agreement.

Between the time the agreement was made in New York and the strike was called in San Francisco, several messages were exchanged between President Small and the General Executive Board, in one of which President Small announced that unless a 25 per cent increase was granted in San Francisco he would call the strike. In reply to this telegram the General Executive Board insisted upon President Small living up to the agreement made with Commissioner Neill, and through him with the Western Union Telegraph Company, and informed him that the General Executive Board would not approve of his contemplated action in calling a strike in San Francisco, which approval was necessary under the laws of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, but regardless of this the strike was called.

Commissioner of Labor Neill and the General Executive Board then went to San Francisco, and after considerable effort on the part of Commissioner Neill a settlement of that trouble was brought about, which settlement occurred four weeks after the inauguration of the strike, the basis of which was to be the reinstatement without prejudice at their old salaries within thirty days of all those engaging in the strike, with the understanding that after the expiration of thirty days from the termination of such strike the employees were to send a committee to the officials of the two companies in San Francisco, in accordance with the provisions of the letter of President Clowry, and that Commissioner Neill would in the meantime prepare a report of the increased cost of living in San Francisco, a copy of which report was to be furnished to the Superintendent of the Western Union, the Superintendent of the Postal, and to President Small, and it was further agreed that Superintendent Miller, of the Western Union, and Superintendent Storer, of the Postal, would make their recommendations to the higher officials of the companies in New York in regard to the demands of the employees, and that they would use their influence towards bringing about better conditions.

The employees claim that one or both of the companies violated the intent of the agreement, if they did not in fact violate the actual wording of it, and prior to the expiration of the thirty days that was to elapse before the committees were to go up, the strike in Los Angeles broke out, which was soon followed by strikes in Chicago and other cities, and which eventually became general, the result of which is now a matter of history.

It would seem that it is fair to assert that the Los Angeles strike, which eventually led to the general strike, was directly attributable to the feeling engendered by the San Francisco strike, and, therefore, that the whole trouble had its inception in the San Francisco strike.

The members of the General Executive Board, when they entered into the agreement with Commissioner of Labor Neill to accept the letter of President Clowry, believed that a very substantial victory had been accomplished, as did also other officers of that union, and a careful perusal of that document would seem to bear out that opinion. An assurance on the part of the highest official of the Western Union Telegraph Company, made through the Commissioner of Labor of the United States, that there would be no discrimination against any employe on account of membership in the union, a guarantee to put into effect the 10 per cent increase wherever it had not been put into effect, the elimination of the so-called sliding scale, an agreement to rate the wires and meet committees, and last, but not least, an agreement on the part of the Western Union Telegraph Company to submit to arbitration any matters on which the employes or the committees representing them and the company could not agree, would seem to be a most signal victory for the men, and to establish a condition that has seldom been secured by any organization during its first negotiation with the employer, and to have paved the way for amicable dealings in the future between employer and employe, and to give every promise of leading to great improvement in the conditions of the commercial telegraphers of the country. Under the concessions granted by that letter, complete and thorough organization of the commercial telegraphers seemed only a matter of a short time, during which it was even possible to start schedule negotiations, as it was possible, under the provisions of the Clowry letter, to send committees to the various Division Superintendents the day after the letter was written, if desired, with a schedule, and if it was not granted, appeal could have been taken in their regular order to the various officials until President Clowry was reached, and if an agreement could not have been made with him, the matter could have been submitted to arbitration, and it is hard to conceive of an impartial tribunal formed along the lines provided that would make an award that would fail to greatly benefit a class that could present such a preponderance of evidence in their favor as could the commercial telegraphers.

It seems most unfortunate that President Small failed to listen to the advice and counsel of his associate officers, and it also seems unfortunate that he should deliberately break an agreement entered into by a duly authorized representative of the union, and, as has transpired, by such act, turn what was a most magnificent victory into eventual defeat. By that act he also lost to the union much financial support on the part of other unions that would have been given the commercial telegraphers under other conditions. President Small was eventually removed from office, but that did not in any way lessen the harm that had been done, as the strike had already been lost.

The Order of Railroad Telegraphers rendered every financial assistance possible to the commercial telegraphers, and every other assistance was given them that was possible under the conditions existing.

There are three very important lessons to be drawn from the late struggle, the first of which is that the deliberate breaking of an agreement is a very serious matter, and something that should not be done. It is stated on good authority that the commercial telegraph companies spent several millions of dollars in fighting the commercial telegraphers that would not have been spent had it not been for the breaking of the New York agreement, their contention being that if one agreement was deliberately broken no other that might be entered into would be any the better observed, hence their determination to "fight it out," regardless of cost. The second lesson to be learned from the struggle is that unions, in order to be successful, must be managed by business men who have no personal ambitions to satisfy, but who are guided wholly and solely by the best interests of those they represent, and who take their counsel from men of the same character and not from those who are ever willing to embroil others in trouble for the excitement that it will create without any regard to the consequences. The third lesson to be learned from the struggle is that every union, in order to be successful, must be governed by its laws absolutely.

As stated before, the commercial telegraphers made a most gallant fight under adverse circumstances, and they deserved much better success than they attained. During the long struggle many sacrifices were made, and many who had never before been called upon to show their true character proved themselves to be heroes, and others, who, before the trouble were loudest in their protestations of their unionism, proved themselves to be traitors.

After the strike was declared off most of the rank and file returned to work.

They returned with a consciousness that they had made a good fight, such a one as can not fail to have a very beneficial effect in their dealings with the companies in the future, as they demonstrated that they are capable of making a most effective fight; while they returned in a measure defeated, they are not disheartened, and the members of nearly every local before voting to declare the strike off, took a solemn oath that they would remain true to the organization and thereby keep themselves in a position to continue their efforts towards better working conditions.

At the Milwaukee Convention, W. W. Beattie, formerly First Vice-President of the union, was elevated to the presidency; General Secretary and Treasurer, Wesley Russell, continues in that office; Will C. Long continues as editor of the official organ of the union, and the three members of the General Executive Board, S. J. Konenkamp, M. J. Reidy and J. M. Sullivan, who made the New York agreement, also continue in office, and with these able and efficient officers to guide its ship of state the affairs of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union should soon be placed on a sound working basis again.

President Beattie is known as a conservative, and, at the same time, able leader, and while his induction into office is not under the most favorable circumstances, he will, no doubt, in the near future demonstrate the wisdom of the action of the delegates to the Milwaukee Convention in placing him in charge of the affairs of the union.

If wise and conservative action is had during the next twelve months on the part of the commercial telegraphers, there seems every reason to believe that friendly and business relations will be established between the organized commercial telegraphers and commercial telegraph companies.

President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, in his annual report to the twenty-seventh annual convention of that body, which convened in Norfolk, Va., on November 11, refers to the commercial telegraphers' strike in the following manner:

"A movement of great importance was recently inaugurated among the commercial telegraphers of the country. For nearly twenty years there was little or no organization among them, in consequence of which many unjust conditions were imposed. Wages, where not reduced, remained stationary during all this period, despite the enhanced cost of living. Any attempt to organize was met with discrimination or discharge. This was particularly true of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

"A general revival of organization was manifest during the latter part of last year and the beginning of this, which resulted in securing an advance of 10 per cent in wages. The deep resentment felt by the telegraph operators against the unjust action of the companies found its expression in a determined effort for the redress of grievances, the stoppage of discrimination and the exercise of the right to organize. These demands were either slow of concession by the companies or not conceded at all. The operators manifested their restlessness, which brought forth a promise from the companies for the redress of a number of grievances. The men and women who had so long been subject to unjust conditions had little faith in these promises, and as a result a strike was inaugurated with little or no preparation. They demanded an eight-hour day, equal pay for equal work by men or women, 15 per cent increase, and that the companies furnish typewriters.

"Of course, all of us and all friends of labor sympathize with the righteous demands which the telegraphers made. The justness and righteousness of a cause is one thing; the time for its attempted enforcement is another.

"It was clearly the conviction of those who had experience that the time for a general strike among the commercial telegraphers, no matter how praiseworthy the cause, was inopportune, particularly so when such pledges of further concessions had been made. It was at this period that I advised the officers confidentially, and as strongly as I could, as to the impracticability of a general strike at that time. I urged them to accept the offers made and to work for the extension and strengthening of their organization, with a view to constant betterment for the men and women who depend for their livelihood upon the operation of the keys. Of course, I had neither the right nor the desire unwarrantedly to interfere with the management of the affairs of the organization, but it seemed to me duty demanded that I should place my experience before the officers, that they might reap whatever benefit might result therefrom, so as to help safeguard the interests of the membership, that the continuity of the organization might not only be assured, but also that it might prove of lasting benefit to the craft.

"That the advice was disregarded by those then in authority in the organization is not due to me, nor to any failure to render them every possible counsel, advice and assistance to carry on their contest to the fullest possible fruition. It has been clearly shown that at least a tactical mistake has been made. Those now intrusted with the affairs of the organization realized this fact. It is my conviction that the strike will not, however, be devoid of some influence for good in the condition of the telegraphers. It is our duty to render every assistance we possibly can, that the organization of the commercial telegraphers may be maintained and extended, so that in the light of experience better results may follow for the men and women engaged in commercial telegraph work."

THE BOND QUESTION.

THE suggestion made by the Editor in these columns in the September issue, that the only solution of the bond question, which has been a subject of discussion for the last fifteen years, seemed to be the formation of a bonding company to be owned and controlled by members of the Order, appears to have met with general approval on the part of the membership, a large number of whom have announced their approval of the plan and signified their desire to participate in the organization of such a company by taking stock in it. In the October issue the opinions of a number of prominent general chairmen were given on the subject, since which time many others have expressed themselves on the question.

The general chairman of one of the largest lines in the East writes: "Replying to your circular letter of October 5th regarding the bonding question, I wish to state that I believe the matter of bond company should be optional with the employe, providing a reliable bond is offered. I have had in mind the forming of a bond company by the O. R. T., or its members, and if such a system is established, I will be pleased to give it all the assistance in my power. Our schedule can and will be amended to permit members furnishing bond in a telegraphers' bond company if the members decide to create such a company."

The general chairman of one of the largest lines in the Middle West writes: "Answering your circular letter of October 5th, beg to advise that I am highly in favor of the project and see no reason why it should not be successful, and I believe that existing schedules could be amended so that employes could give bond in any reliable bond company. Our members suffer many abuses at the hands of existing bond companies, and the railroad companies show no disposition to correct the abuses, and it is high time for some move that will afford relief."

Another general chairman in the far West writes: "There is no question in my mind but that the formation of a bond company on the lines suggested in your editorial would be both proper and profitable and would add strength and dignity to our organization. I for one will willingly subscribe for stock."

The general chairman on a large system in the Southeast writes: "Referring to your editorial in the September issue of THE TELEGRAPHER and your subsequent circular letter on the subject: I have talked with several of the members on this line on the question and they generally agree with me, that we will score a decided point of advantage in following the plan you advocate. I am under the impression that we will have practically very little trouble in introducing a clause to this effect in our agreements."

The general chairman of a system in the Northwest writes: "I think your editorial very good and the proposed plan O. K. It certainly should be a stock company, and these that can afford it should take hold and perfect it. It can most certainly be done and would be a great boon to many of our brothers who have suffered unjustly at the hands of the bond companies."

Another general chairman in the East writes: "Relative to the bond question, beg to state I delayed replying to your circular until after the meeting of our division, as I desired to get an expression of opinion from the membership as to the advisability of forming a bond company as suggested by you. It seemed to be the sense of the membership present that your idea was a good one, and if such a company was formed, would be a pronounced success."

Since the publication of the editorial in the September number, the Editor has received hundreds of letters from members throughout the country endorsing the proposed plan, which lack of space prevents publishing. The following extracts are taken from a few of them:

By Cert. 96, Div. 48: "I am very much in favor of the bond proposition. Am sure we can succeed."

By Cert. 1415, Div. 130: "In regard to your editorial in the September number, I heartily endorse your ideas on the bond question, and will gladly do all I can to push it along."

By Cert. 861, Div. 130: "I think the suggestion in regard to forming a bond company is certainly a good one and should be acted upon. I for one am willing to invest $10, $20, $30 or more in a company of this kind."

By Cert. 745, Div. 31: "I am heartily in favor of adopting the plan outlined and would suggest that it be placed before the members at once for acceptance. The matter has been discussed sufficiently and I think it is now time to act."

By Cert. 16, Div. 34: "I heartily endorse the proposed bond plan and would cut out those who are 'nons,' as it will have a tendency to bring them into the ranks where they belong."

By Cert. 114, Div. 6: "I think the Editor in his article in the September number on the bond question has it figured out right and that it is a good thing. I will take some stock if the company is formed."

By Cert. 1639, Div. 126: "With reference to members of the Order organizing a bond company, I am heartily in favor of this plan and will take five shares, and if necessary, will take more."

By Cert. 1129, Div. 23: "Regarding your article on the bond question, I think it is proper that such a bond company be organized by members, and members only, of the O. R. T. I think we would be justified in this action, if for no other reason than to protect many of our members who have been unjustly treated by having their bonds cancelled by bond companies."

By Cert. 91, Div. 59: "In regard to the organization of a bond company proposed by you, I am heartily in favor of it and you can put me down as a subscriber for one or more shares, as I well realize the need of such a company for the telegraphers and station agents."

By Cert. 442, Div. 97: "Regarding the organizing of a bond company, there is nothing that is more needed and that will put more men to work and will do so much good as an O. R. T. bond company. I am heartily in favor of it and feel sure all the boys are, too, even though many of them do keep quiet."

By Cert. 101, Div. 132: "I read with interest your proposed solution of the bond question in the September TELEGRAPHER. While I am not now in the telegraph service and may never profit by such an arrangement, I am enthusiastic over your proposition and will take at least one share in such an enterprise. I do not see how the membership at large can afford to let this chance slip by to rid themselves of a petty tyranny which is becoming more galling every day."

By Cert. 3899, Grand Div.: "Referring to the bond question and the suggestions made in the September journal, I think this an excellent plan and that it should be carried through; I will appreciate it if you will kindly reserve ten shares for me, and if necessary, will take twenty shares. While I have never had my bond questioned, and have been bonded for ten years, I have known of many men who have not had fair treatment, who were good, honest men."

By Cert. 84, Div. 59: "I heartily endorse the plan as set forth by our Editor regarding the bond question. I am in favor of putting this into effect on January 1, 1908."

By Cert. 2081, Div. 93: "I am just in receipt of my October journal and it's a bumper. We are getting down to business on a few important questions, especially on the bond question. We can and should have a bond company of our own."

By Cert. 81, Div. 118: "Regarding the bond question, I believe the Order is on the right track and that a bond company of our own will be something that is of great benefit to members."

By Cert. 57, Div. 2: "I am glad to see our Editor take a definite stand on the bond question, and if this matter is kept moving, we can see some tangible means of reaching a point that will be of great value to the telegraphers and station agents of the country."

For the benefit of those who have not read the previous articles on this subject, the suggestion made in the September journal by the Editor was that a bond company be organized with a capital stock of $250,000, divided into 25,000 shares of $10 each, to be sold only to members of the Order in good standing. It was further suggested that this matter be discussed by the members in the journal until the January issue, in which issue a blank will be published in order that the membership may take definite action on the proposition.

THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

DURING the last few years, the Postal Telegraph Company has greatly profited by its professions of friendship for the telegraphers and its announced policy not to discriminate against organized labor, and it can be said without fear of contradiction that the telegraphers in general rendered more valuable service to the Postal Telegraph Company by constantly and earnestly soliciting business for it in hours and out of hours than was ever before rendered a corporation by any one. In addition to soliciting business, the telegraphers employed by the Postal Telegraph Company, through their friendship for it on account of its supposed friendly attitude toward them, went out of their way to make the service as prompt and efficient as possible, and as a consequence of this cooperation and ever alert interest on the part of its employes, the Postal Company succeeded in becoming a formidable rival to the Western Union Telegraph Company. When the Commercial Telegraphers began to negotiate with the two great commercial telegraph companies for concessions, it was found that the professions of friendship on the part of the Postal Telegraph Company were apparently for "business purposes" only, as they were very dilatory in dealing with their employes, and since the strike was called off, the officials of the Postal have apparently shown their true colors. In St. Louis and Chicago since the strike was declared off, the actions of the officials of the two companies in dealing with the strikers have been in marked contrast. The Western Union officials in those two cities have treated the strikers with consideration and have re-employed all whom they could use, and announce it to be their intention to reinstate all others as soon as business warrants. On the other hand, Superintendent

S. H. Mudge and Manager W. S. Daniel, of the Postal Telegraph Company in St. Louis, have shown an arrogant spirit in dealing with the strikers, carrying it to such an extent as to become insulting in many cases, especially in talking to many of the lady strikers who applied for reinstatement. Manager Daniel, it is said, also compelled those who are re-employed to sign a paper certifying that they are not now and will not become members of a labor organization. Many of the strikers who applied to Superintendent Mudge and Manager Daniel for reinstatement were unceremoniously refused and dilatory tactics were used with others and the salaries of others were materially reduced. It is said that the same condition exists in the Postal office in Chicago under Superintendent W. I. Capen.

If the Commercial Telegraphers had been successful in their struggle, the company would have expected, and justly too, that the strikers would render as efficient service after returning to work as they did before the strike, and there seems no just reason why the company should not now show the same spirit toward the men.

An official of a corporation who will attempt to take advantage of his office to bulldoze and insult defenseless women, and who has no more of the spirit of manhood in him than to attempt to deprive honest men and women of their constitutional rights, is too narrow-minded to occupy a position of trust, and a corporation that will continue such men in office is not worthy of the patronage of any lovers of fair play.

The Editor is not inclined to take snap judgment in this matter, as it may be that the actions of the officials of the Postal Telegraph Company in St. Louis and Chicago in dealing with the strikers are not known to the higher officials of that company in New York, and in order that there can be no doubt on this subject, a copy of this editorial will immediately be forwarded to the New York officials.

If the conditions referred to continue, then it will be apparent to everyone that such actions are the general policy of the officials of the Postal Telegraph Company, and information to this effect will be published in next month's issue of this journal for the information of the 40,000 members of the Order and their millions of friends throughout the country. The Western Union Telegraph Company reaches practically every point that is reached by the Postal Telegraph Company, therefore, it is not necessary for any one to patronize the Postal, unless they desire to do so, and if that company has been parading under false colors in order to get business, the public is entitled to know it.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Many articles on the eight-hour day and the $75.00 minimum were crowded out of this issue.

At the time of going to press, 37,100 members had already paid dues for the current term.

One thousand and forty-six new members were initiated into the Order during the month of October.

The Editor has between 400 and 500 photographs for publication on hand at the present time, which it will take many months to use. Only large group or committee photographs should be sent in at the present time. Group photographs should only contain members of the Order in good standing.

Help to complete thorough organization throughout the country by furnishing the Grand Secretary and Treasurer with a correct list of all non-members in your territory, using care to give correct initials, the correct spelling of the name, and the correct address, and also to show the road on which they are employed.

The Raleigh News-Observer publishes the following: "K. G. Clifton, a telegraph operator who has been in the Western Union office here for some time, was taken to Oxford yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Walters, of Granville County, to answer to the charge of the embezzlement of $200.00 in money, the property of the Seaboard Air Line Company. He was arrested in the Western Union office here Wednesday evening and placed in jail, where he was kept until yesterday, when the officer from Granville came and took him into custody."

The accompanying is an engraving of an official O. R. T. gold ring. These rings can be had from the Grand Secretary and Treasurer for $4.50. In ordering them it is only necessary to give the size desired, which information can be secured from any jeweler.

The attention of contributors of articles to THE TELEGRAPHER is again called to the fact that matter for the Fraternal Department must be in the hands of the Editor not later than the 28th day of the month, in order to assure its insertion in the following issue. Matter intended for use in the December TELEGRAPHER must be in the hands of the Editor on or before November 28th. Their attention is also called to the numerous requests that have hitherto been published that the name of stations be given instead of office call, and that correspondents refrain from sending in line-ups, as the practice of publishing line-ups was discontinued several years ago.

The statement issued by the Bureau of Immigration for the month of September, 1907, shows that there were 98,694 aliens landed at the various ports of entry in the United States during that month; that there were 870 debarred from entrance, classified as follows: Idiots, 3; imbeciles, 4; feeble-minded, 4; epileptics, 2; insane, 8; loathsome or dangerous contagious diseases, 217; professional beggars, 2; likely to become public charges, 251; mentally or physically unsound, 119; contract laborers, 137; accompanying aliens, 14; under sixteen years of age unaccompanied by parents, 9; assisted aliens, 27; criminals, 9; prostitutes and procurers, 5; without passport, 33; under provisions of Chinese Exclusion Act, 26. The report also shows that there were 147 aliens returned by the immigration authorities after landing. The total number of aliens landed in the United States during the month of September, 1906, was 95,341.

J. A. Minnich made quite a record during the commercial telegraphers' strike. According to reliable information it appears that Minnich caused his son, a minor, to scab for the Western Union in Pittsburg, and his daughter to be placed in charge of the Western Union city office at Weston, W. Va., and as she was not a telegrapher, Minnich assisted her by receiving Western Union messages by telephone and transmitting them from his railroad office by telegraph, and also by receiving the Western Union business and repeating it over the telephone for delivery, and it is stated that on or about September 20 he secured leave of absence from the Baltimore & Ohio Railway and took charge of the Western Union office at Weston, and at last accounts was still in charge of the office. It is needless to say that the telegraphers employed on the Baltimore & Ohio Railway are not of that character, and that they will not soon forget the action of Minnich.

The Sumner (Illinois) Press, in its September 12th issue, contains a very complimentary article regarding the long and faithful service of C. C. Judy as agent in that city for the Ohio & Mississippi Railway and its successor, the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railway, which position he has filled continuously for more than thirty years. The article states that he was also the first Secretary of the Sumner Building and Loan Association, and that he has served continuously for twenty-four years as a member of the Board of Directors of that association, and for the past several years has served as President of the Board; also that for the last seventeen years he has been a member of the Board of Education. He has also been active in lodge circles, being one of the oldest members of Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railway System, Division No. 74, of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers; a member and Past Master of Sumner Lodge, No. 334, A. F. & A. M.; at present High Priest of Harmony Chapter, No. 35 R. A. M., and a member of Gorin Commandery, of Olney, Ill.

To measure the value of a strike it is as necessary to estimate its far-reaching effect on the industry generally, as it is to reckon the cost to the immediate participants, and moreover, much depends upon the initial cause of the strike, as there are foolish strikes as well as foolish men.

To aid the enemy or to remain neutral when one's country is attacked is treason. Yet it does less tangible harm than the non-union man who breaks a strike and thereby transfers money from his fellow workman's pocket to purses already full, as occurred

J. F. JUSTICE.

General Chairman, Big Four Railway System, Division No. 138.

in the recent subway strike in New York. The strike breaker betrays his best friends, and in the words of Cain asks, "Am I my brother's keeper?" Men with a keen sense of honor will starve and die rather than do a base act, and when all workingmen become enlightened enough to appreciate their solidarity of interests, the commandment which reads, "Thou shalt not unfairly take thy neighbor's job" will rank with its congener, "Thou shalt not steal."

Organized labor makes a higher standard of wages. This has a tendency to elevate the wage of unorganized labor. In the same degree the low rate to which unorganized labor is forced to submit has its influence in lowering the standard sought by organized labor. Thus, non-unionism is an obstruction to the prosperity of the wage earner and society. .

To Germany belongs the distinction of what is probably the longest strike on record. At Solingen, in Rhenish Sheffield, famous for its cutlery, a strike and boycott was declared in the shop of Obliger & Co., in 1870—thirty years ago. A few weeks ago the place was again unionized. The concern signed an agreement and paid a "war indemnity."

* * *

The labor directory for Cook County and Chicago has been issued, showing that there are 628 labor unions in the county and 290,000 employees enrolled in labor organizations. Of these, 55,000 are building employes, 20,000 belong to the railroad brotherhoods, 30,000 are independent and 185,000 are affiliated with the Chicago Federation of Labor. Of the latter, 15,000 are women, represented in 15 locals.

* * *

In consequence of the recent disastrous strike of the engineers and firemen on all railroads in the Argentine Republic, and of the strike now existing of the laborers in the port of Buenos Ayres, both of which have been seriously detrimental to the prosperity of the country, the government has had under consideration certain repressive measures to be submitted for congressional sanction. Then there will be trouble.

* * *

It is the duty of union members to support and encourage their duly elected officers and refrain from commenting in public places on the manner in which they administer the affairs of the union. If their actions are open to comment, go to your union meetings and declare your sentiments. Remember your officers, in the performance of the duties devolving upon them, often have to make great personal sacrifices in your behalf. Encourage and do not discourage them. .

Undoubtedly the devil was the first scab. There is no disputing the fact that heaven is run according to union principles and is a closed shop. Satan rebelled against these conditions and started to agitate for an open shop, whereupon he was expelled from membership in the angels' union and fired to perdition. Ever since then harmony has reigned in Paradise and the closed shop prevails. No scab is tolerated in the kingdom of heaven and there is no room for Professor Elliot's heroes there.

H. C. Link, joint telegraph operator at Flatonia, was arrested for violation of the eight-hour law enacted by the thirtieth legislature of Texas, and a test case made by the S. P. and S. A. & A. P. railways, in whose employ and at whose instance the law was violated. The operator was fined, but through his attorneys the case has been appealed. Although these powerful railway companies defended the operator with all its great legal talent, the State got "first blood" in the preliminary bout.

It is not necessary nor fitting here that a general argument should be made in favor of popular institutions; but there is one point, with its connections, not so hackneyed as most others, to which I ask a brief attention. It is the effort to place capital on an equal footing with, if not above, labor, in the structure of government. . . Labor is the superior of capital and deserves much the higher consideration. . . No men living are more worthy to be trusted than those who toil up from poverty; none less inclined to take or touch what they have not honestly earned. Let them beware of surrendering a political power, which they already possess, and which, if surrendered, will surely be used to close the door of advancement to such as they, and to fix new burdens and disabilities upon them, till all of liberty shall be lost.—President Lincoln's Message of Dec. 3, 1861.

There is no employe working but who will admit that he is working for money. Generally speaking, it is their only means of getting money. The glaring fact can not be disputed that members of this organization are receiving the most money for their services. Is further evidence needed to show that by organizing, the unorganized can get more money? The employe who is too dumb to understand it is an intellectual pervert, and is being paid more than he is worth at the lowest wage.

Chicago unionists have started a war upon the Pinkerton Detective Agency and similar institutions. A State conference has been called to meet in that city early in October to prepare plans to smash Pinkertonism. The Actors' Union has taken the initiative by having a bill presented to the legislature providing that any individual who exercises police powers other than the duly constituted public authorities shall be punished by a fine of $5,000 and not less than one year in prison.

Organized labor, like many other classes, has made some mistakes in the past, but it requires no supernatural vision to see that it has profited by these mistakes. Harmony and a united purpose to reach the high ideals of true citizenship and manhood bring the goal within view, and labor has learned the lesson with Ella Wheeler Wilcox:

Keep out of the past! It is lonely and barren and bleak to the view;

Its fires are cold; its stories are old,
Turn, turn to the present—the new.

Today leads you up to the hilltops that are kissed by the radiant sun,
Today shows no gloom; life's hopes are in bloom;
Today there's a prize to be won!

The progress of the labor union is retarded by the indifference of some of its members. Where a union, which has fifty per cent hard-working members, exists, there are several where the work is left to about five or six industrious men. The others lean on them and make the task all the harder. Are you working to try and improve your conditions, or are you leaning on the other fellow, and permitting him to carry a burden which partly belongs on your shoulders? How about this, Mr. Unionist?

A law aiming at the prevention of strikes and applicable to the owners of mines, steam and electric railroads, steamships, telegraph and telephone lines, gas, electric light, water and power plants and their employes has just taken effect in Canada. By the provisions of this law an employer is prohibited from causing a lock-out and employes are not allowed to strike on account of any dispute prior to or during a reference of such dispute to a board of conciliation and investigation provided by the act.

If our trade union movement of today were to be abolished the American wage earner would become one of the most abject economic slaves on earth. We have not brought about the millenium, far from it, but we have lifted labor to a higher plane than any other nation, and our work has only just begun. Organized labor as now constituted will soon be recognized as a factor which does more to maintain stable government and lead to a higher civilization than any other known agency. Trade unionism spells Success for government and its people.

MISCELLANY

THE PHANTOM TRAIN.

BY HENRI MONTCALM.

YOU may think what you please in regard to the event I am about to describe, and I shall think what I please. Probably we should never agree. You may not believe in ghosts and phantoms, but I do. For I know that on the evening of the 17th of March, ten years ago, I was a passenger on a phantom railroad train, and my fellow passengers were not human beings like myself, but ghastly, staring ghosts.

On a certain day, the 17th of March I have just mentioned, I had found myself in the country town of Rumford. About the only business I accomplished there was to induce a young man, John Denham by name, to take the —— Co.'s agency. I got well acquainted with him during the day and took tea at his father's house that evening. It was only at the table I learned that the half-past seven accommodation to S— had been recently taken off, and there was no other train down to the city that night. I showed so much vexation at this—for I was really very anxious to get to S— that night, having an engagement there early in the morning—that Mr. Denham volunteered to harness up and take me over to Burbank, a larger town four miles down the road, where he said the 11:25 express pulled up a moment. As my case was an urgent one, I accepted, though I was sorry to put them to so much trouble, especially on such a night. It had been raining steadily for the last two days and had as yet showed no signs of clearing.

So, shortly after supper, young Denham went out to get the horse ready. "We had better go at once," he said. "The roads are bad and I shall not get back much before eleven. You will have to wait an hour or so at Burbank, but you won't mind that."

After he had gone out, the old man went to the window and stood looking out. "It's a bad night," he remarked, without turning his head, "just such a one as I remember it to have been five years ago this very month—ay, this very night, I believe. It is the 17th, is it not?"

He paused a moment, thoughtfully, and then went on: "I shall never forget it, how I lay awake in the early part of the night and heard the express go by, the whistle sounding like some unearthly shriek of despair amid the wind and rain; and not ten minutes after the whole train was lying mangled and broken at the bottom of Bullock's Creek. Hardly a soul of them got out alive. I hope never again to see such a sight as I saw the next morning when they took the bodies out. Luckily, they didn't have such big trains then as they do now. And the bridge there won't be likely to wash away again. It is built strong enough this time."

The old gentleman ceased speaking and came and sat down beside me at the fire. I had traveled a great deal in my life and knew something of railroad accidents, yet somehow or other, the wildness of the night and the fact that I was about to pass over the same spot gave this one of which the old man spoke unusual interest, and I asked him more particularly about the Bullock's Creek disaster. He told me a great deal, and told it so graphically that I grew not a little nervous before he finished, and when the time came for me to don my rubber coat and take leave, I was more than half inclined to give up going at all that night. But I quickly shook off this weakness and followed John out and took my seat in the buggy. We pulled up the boot and drove off down the road, not to any great extent inconvenienced by the rain, which just now came down steadily but not heavily.

We had accomplished something more than half the distance, when, all at once, the horse turned lame and could hardly hobble along. This was unfortunate enough under the circumstances, but could not be helped. Denham urged him on another half mile, but at the end of that distance the poor beast gave out entirely, and it was with difficulty that we got him into the barn of a farm house standing by the road. This done, however, and it being but a little more than a mile further to Burbank, I announced my determination of footing it the rest of the way. John proposed to get a fresh horse from the farmer and drive on, but I would not consent to this, and after receiving full directions as to the way, I started off. I was to go down the road a piece and turn off at the first right-hand road, which would take me straight to the railroad track. Here I must turn to the left and then a walk of three-quarters of a mile would bring me to the Burbank station.

"Remember, now," was John's last injunction, "turn to the left when you get to the track. The right would take you up the road again to Bullock's Creek."

The night was, of course, very dark, and the muddy road, but I had little trouble in finding my way. I soon found the corner, and turning down what was more a cart-path than a road, I walked on as rapidly as I could, and about an eighth of a mile from the main road I came upon the railroad track. I wish to say here that I distinctly recollect turning off to the left and making my way down the track to the station. Some persons to whom I have told this story, thinking they know much better about it than I, and being anxious to account for what followed, have tried to convince me that I must have turned to the right and gone straight down to Bullock's Bridge. Very likely you will reason in the same way yourself when I have finished my story. But I tell you that I, who am the only one who can know and who am no more superstitious than other men—I know perfectly well that I did no such a thing. I remember positively turning off to the left, as Denham had directed. I remember the walk down the track, how I stumbled over the sleepers and splashed through the mud, often wondering how much further it was; and I remember, finally, that the lights in the station came in sight around a curve, and that I at last stepped upon the platform and found my way to the waiting-room fire.

I glanced up at the clock as I came in, and found that it yet wanted nearly an hour of train time. I was rather surprised, therefore, to find that, notwithstanding it was thus early, some one else had been waiting there before me—a tall, powerful, illy-dressed man, who did not seem to notice my entrance at all, but kept on snoring in the corner. After drying myself a bit at the fire, I wisely concluded to imitate the stranger's example, and went and settled myself in another corner, and almost immediately fell asleep.

I can not say how long I slept, for when I suddenly woke again, I did not look at the clock at all. I saw that my friend in the opposite corner had disappeared, taking his bundle with him; I heard the clang of an engine-bell outside, and I hurriedly snatched up my own traps and went out the door. Sure enough, there was the train, with the locomotive, mail-car, and two passenger coaches, with their lighted windows. I remember thinking at the time that the train must be shorter than usual. I had not much time to reflect upon anything, however, and had barely secured a seat in the forward car when the engine gave a few unearthly puffs and groans, and then, with a long, horrible wail of the whistle, we rushed off into the storm and the night.

The car was well filled, mainly with gentlemen. I found a seat by the side of a thin-faced, clerical-looking man, who had an evening paper in his hand, but did not seem to be reading it. His eyes met mine, as I came down the aisle, with a fixed, unnatural kind of stare that puzzled me and made me uncomfortable in spite of myself. "This seat is not taken," I said, interrogatively; and as he made no audible answer, I sat down.

Presently I glanced at him again. He had not moved at all, but sat gazing dreamily toward the car door.

"A bad night," I said, determined to rouse him into a recognition of my presence, if nothing more.

The only answer was complete silence. Good heavens! was the man a boor, or was he deaf, and did he not hear me? I made one more attempt.

"May I look at your paper?" I asked, speaking as loudly as I could.

Still no answer; still he sat there, rigid as a frozen corpse would have been, unhearing and unnoticing. With an impatient movement I took the paper from his hand, even hoping he would resent the liberty; but he did not. He did not seem to know it. I glanced at the heading. Gracious powers! What was this? I held in my hand a paper dated the seventeenth of March, eighteen hundred and eighty—just five years ago—the night of the accident at Bullock's Creek.

I turned faint and cold in a moment. I understood it now—the man at my side was no living man, but a ghost, the pale, staring, fleshless, speechless ghost of one who, five years ago tonight, at this very moment, had been hurried on down this same iron way, through a storm just like this, to destruction. I looked fearfully around at the passengers.

Ay! It was plain enough now. Phantoms all—ghastly passengers of a phantom train, sitting there, motionless and horrible, with lusterless eyes and gleaming teeth, all gliding swiftly on in that terrible ride of death, and I, who alone of them was flesh and blood, was hurried along with them.

To what? To death—sure, sudden, horrible death! I knew it well, even before the end came, and it came at once. I uttered a shriek of wild, uncontrollable terror. I rose and vainly strove to reach the door. Then there was a great crash, and a falling, and a dizziness, and a shock, and then—

I awoke to consciousness again to find myself on my back on what seemed to be hard, smooth stone, with the rain beating in my face, and I knew that my left arm was broken. Strange to say, perhaps, though the darkness was very great, and I had never been at the place before, I knew, with a certainty amounting to conviction, just where I was. I heard the roar of angry waters below me—in the dim light, as I came to distinguish better, I could see that there were broken timbers and bent ironwork all about me. Oh, yes; I knew very well where I was and what had happened. I was lying at the top of one of the piers of the Bullock Creek bridge, and the bridge itself had been carried away by the swollen stream. But how had I come there? Had I turned the wrong way and wandered along the track and stepped off into the chasm? So you will say, no doubt. And yet I swear it was not so. Too well I remember the phantom train that had thus, on its anniversary night, come up the road again and hurled itself into the creek below. I knew in my own mind that I had actually taken the ghostly train at the station, had joined on its deathly ride and had just been saved from destruction by the pier at the bridge's end.

Then came a sudden thought to me. If I had taken a phantom train, where was the real one? Not at the bottom of the creek. No, the waters were rushing by down below, still roaring and hungry for their prey. Then it must come along soon. And the bridge was down! Soon indeed! I drew a flask of brandy from my pocket and a draught of it revived me. Then I dragged myself somehow up into the shelter of the embankment, and lighting a match under my coat, I looked at my watch.

Ten minutes after eleven, and the train left Burbank at 11:25. Oh God! less than twenty minutes and it would come thundering along, bringing with it maybe hundreds of precious lives to plunge them into destruction. But could I not stop it? Alas! what could I do, crippled and bruised and exhausted as I was? But I must not stay here at least. I might be able to crawl up the bank; and then, maybe, I could drag some fence-rails across the track, or pry up a sleeper, and thus throw the train off—anything to stop it before it came to the brink of that terrible abyss.

It was a matter of no great difficulty, after all, to get back to the track again. My legs, by some miracle, had escaped with neither fracture nor sprain, and I found I could walk very well. Walk? No, I never walked a step. I started off on the run, staggering and stumbling and falling now and then, but still speeding on, forgetful of my broken limb and my bruises, thinking only of the night express. Thus I had gotten perhaps a fourth of a mile away from the creek, when suddenly, far away before me, I heard a whistle—the signal of the train as it approached Burbank. I stopped short and stood in despair. Oh, for two stout arms and an iron bar! I ran down the slope and with one arm wrenched a rail from the fence and went back and tried to pry up one of the iron rails. Alas! the wood only broke into splinters and did no good. If I only had a lantern or could light a fire! And I could not! I had plenty of matches, but of fuel not a bit. Everything around had been soaked by the two days' rain.

But the brandy! Eureka! I had it. The best of French brandy, pure and fiery and inflammable, it would have made a piece of ice capable of ignition. In an instant my rubber coat was off and spread, inside downward, on the ground. Then my other coat and my vest—ay, and my shirt, too, for I knew that would burn best of all—I stripped them all off, and rolling them into a bundle, I put them beneath the rubber coat to keep them dry, and then I poured the brandy over them. Heaven be praised, the flask was nearly full.

Not an instant too soon was my bundle ready. Another whistle as the train shot away from Burbank again, then all at once there it was again—the locomotive with its great flashing eye of fire, not a mile away, and coming down the track at almost full speed. Then I held my match case under the coat and drew a match across the bottom. It flashed a moment and then went out, but a second one burned steadily and I touched it to the bundle. Yes, it burned. Feebly at first, then brighter and brighter, until I snatched up the mass, all ablaze, careless that it was burning my hand and arm, and yelling like mad, ran toward the coming train. It did not really burn long, only while the shirt lasted, indeed; but it burned long enough. The engineer, thank God! was a careful man, who always kept a good lookout ahead on a night like this, and he saw it. And the whistle screamed and down went the brakes, and then the great train slowed up and stopped, and the passengers, hurrying out, found a man senseless and half naked, lying just a few feet from the track.

That is the whole of my story. The train was saved, and you may be sure the passengers were not ungrateful. They made up a purse for me on the spot, and when I would not take it, they appointed a committee to buy a gold watch for me. I have it in my pocket this minute. I was taken back to Burbank, and my arm set, and the next day I was in a raging fever. When I got back to headquarters a month after that, I found I was quite a hero. They wanted to hear about it, and I gave them the whole story, just as I have told it here. They laughed at the supernatural part, and said that I must have been dreaming.—Express Gazette.

REFORMING A REFORMER.

THE doctor examined the child's arm, and laughed.

"Why, Lawton," he said, "judging from your lugubrious expression, a person would be justified in suspecting something serious."

"And it is——"

"Nothing at all. Merely a slight discoloration of the outer skin, the result of a blow, or—yes, there are two distinct marks; someone has been pinching the child—viciously, I should say. Have a straight talk with her nurse, and don't allow your parental feelings to magnify molehills into mountains."

Lawton gave a sigh of evident relief.

"There is no probability of its being a permanent disfigurement?" he questioned.

"None whatever."

"Or of future developments?"

"Absolutely none!"

Picking the little mite up in his arms he kissed her fondly, and left the room. Outside a tiny governess car was waiting, and a nurse-maid relieved him of his charge. Then he returned.

"Don't you think I had better examine you—professionally?" said the doctor.

Lawton smiled.

"No queer pains in the head, melancholic symptoms, or—"

"None whatever! I'm as sound as a bell."

"Then, for goodness sake, explain yourself! A man doesn't come to a surgery, even if it is that of his friend, with gloomy forebodings of complications arising from a slight bruise, unless his liver is out of order."

"It's Maud—my wife," was the reply. She left me two days ago—"

The doctor sprang to his feet, but Lawton waved him to his seat, and continued:

"And came back last night, after I'd inflicted that mark upon the little kiddie's arm. Ugh! I feel quite a brute! You see," he proceeded, "some time ago she became acquainted with a Miss Tartar, and got inoculated with the Woman's Rights Question."

"And you objected, naturally?"

"No, not then; but later I thought it was occupying her attention too much, and suggested it would be better if she left the rights alone. Maud flared up in an instant, and declared I was wrong in treating such a serious matter jocularly. 'Women ought to have a vote,' she said; so I offered to give her mine—told her I would vote any way she wanted, if that would satisfy her.

"But it didn't. She rattled off something to the effect that she wouldn't rest until every woman in the country had one; so I went out—to the club.

"The posters came out last week, and—well, I'll leave you to guess my surprise when I saw Maud was announced as one of the local speakers.

"Have you seen it?" she questioned proudly, when I landed home. 'They have put my name next to Miss Tartar, and she is one of the leaders—from London, you know.'

"Seen it, my dear?" I retorted. 'It's the talk of the town! The pavement before each poster is crowded with an enthusiastic, excited mob, and dirty little gutter-snipes are already making chalk-marks around your name!'

"She flushed, and the tears came into her eyes.

"Miss Tartar said I must expect ridicule,' she replied huskily; 'but I didn't think you'd be the first to give it. I thought you would be proud.'

"But, my dear girl,' I persisted, 'you have never had any experience as a public speaker, and will probably cry your pretty eyes out if you are interrupted, or—what is more likely—howled down!'

"She dashed the tears away and faced me defiantly.

"An organized opposition already,' she said coolly, 'led by you.'

"Further argument was useless, so I strolled down to the club again: The other martyrs were waiting, some with despair, and others with something like murder expressing itself upon their faces.

"Congratulate your wife for me, old man,' said one. 'She is the only woman of the local crowd who dare speak. The rest of them—my better half included—are contented to support her by their presence on the platform, looking pretty in new dresses made specially for the occasion—dresses, perforce, we masculine oppressors must pay for!'

"I propose we put 'em all under lock and key!' shouted Jones.

"And give them a good advertisement!' sneered another. 'Howl them down!'

"Too vulgar! Let the ladies have their own way,' said Captain Turner.

"Why?' we questioned.

"Because they'll regret it—they always do,' he drawled. 'Or—he stopped and smiled sarcastically—'come here.'

"We gathered round him and waited. For a moment he appeared deeply in thought, but we could see his eyes were twinkling with suppressed merriment. Then he spoke, and when he had finished we stared at each other, speechless with astonishment.

"Gad!' said Jones, presently. 'But it's good!'

"Funny it has never been thought of before!' returned Smithson. And, collapsing into a chair, he roared with laughter.

"Then you'll do it?' queried the Captain.

"Do it?" replied a round half-dozen voices. 'Of course we will!'

"The night of the meeting arrived. Maud was ready when I arrived home, and, flushed with excitement, looked prettier than ever.

"Are you going to be there?" she said.

"Certainly," I replied.

"And you won't interrupt me?"

"I won't speak a word aloud," I promised.

"And if any one threatens me?"

"Be it man, woman or child, dear," I answered, 'they will never want a vote again—on this earth, at any rate!'

"She disappeared, well pleased with my passive resistance, I suppose, and for the moment I half regretted the course I was taking. But the arrival of the rest of the conspirators put an end to that.

"When we reached the hall, it appeared packed to excess, but as we had reserved front-seat tickets, the struggling crowd didn't trouble us. We paraded the front and waited.

"Presently a cab rolled up to the side entrance, and Jones announced 'No. 1.' Others followed in rapid succession, until six cabs stood in line, and six jehus stood grinning on the pavement.

"Then it was that we sent the Captain to reconnoitre.

"You're right in the front row," he reported, a moment later, 'the hall-keeper is ours. Enter by the side entrance.'

"Hastily discarding our overcoats, we obeyed instructions. As we were all in evening dress, our entrance created something like a sensation, and made the ladies on the platform glance at each other uneasily. Individually, I suppose, they didn't fear us, but collectively, we seemed to startle them.

"Ten minutes passed, and the chair-woman ended her remarks. A half-hearted cheer announced the appearance of the great London leader. She stepped forward with grim determination, opened her mouth, and then—stopped.

"Captain Turner was standing at the side entrance with an expression of sublime innocence upon his face, and beside him two nurse-maids, each carrying a young child.

After a momentary hesitation, they attempted to ascend the platform, but the hall-keeper prevented them. I recognized Kiddie's nurse, and nerved myself for the ordeal. The Captain was blandly pointing us out to the nervous, giggling girls, and a moment later they were crossing the hall. Though acting upon instructions, their nervousness made the incident appear magnificently real, and the audience roared when Jones and I, each with a despairing look towards the stage, took the children, and sat down.

"Miss Tartar looked first bewildered and then indignant. As the laughter died away she commenced to speak, but not for long. Two more nurse-maids appeared; the same attempt to reach their respective mistresses was made, and two more despairing fathers stood up to receive their children.

"By this time the crowd had seen through the joke, and fairly shrieked with laughter; and although Miss Tartar still held forth indignantly, it was impossible to understand what she said.

A moment later the last two maids appeared, and six unhappy fathers, presumably acknowledging the supremacy of woman, were struggling manfully with six startled little kiddies.

"The uproar was deafening, and the ladies on the platform looked like fainting. They glanced at us with pathetically appealing eyes; but we wouldn't relent, and held the children in the awkward, idiotic manner fellows do when unaccustomed to the task.

"For at least ten minutes we were subjected to a torrent of sarcastic suggestions for the management of children, and I began to tire of it. The peals of laughter, rising and falling at each witticism, got wearying, and, worse still, Kiddie had hopelessly disfigured the spotless whiteness of my shirt-front, and I didn't like it. The other fellows were doing no better, and the perspiration was rolling down their faces. Jones' youngster was scrambling somewhere round his neck, and treating his father's confused efforts to dislodge him as a good joke. To make matters worse, the ladies on the platform—our wives—began to laugh.

"With one accord we looked towards the door, and prepared for immediate flight; but the Captain saved the situation. Strolling nonchalantly across the hall, he passed before us.

"Pinch the beggars!" he whispered.

"For a moment we hesitated. Pinch Kiddie! I shuddered; but it had to be done.

"Instantly six little mites stopped struggling, and gazed at their unhappy fathers with regretful, wondering eyes. Another second, and little mouths contracted, and little lungs gave vent to a yell of agony, heard even above the ironical laughter. I saw Maud's face flush with indignation, and pinched again—I really had to. Simultaneously Kiddie recognized her, and a pathetic wail for 'Mummie!' ensued. A battle royal raged on the platform; the wailing cries of terrified infants and the maternal instincts of mothers struggling against the desire for votes—and won!

"Maud, ever the leader, gave way first. She rushed down the steps and fairly smothered Kiddie with kisses, and the rest following, the meeting ended in a fiasco.

"I left the hall hurriedly and sneaked away to the club. Later, I went home, to find a note from Maud, saying she had gone away until I apologized. Yesterday, however, she returned, and, contrary to my expectations, kissed me affectionately, and then actually laughed.

"And that, doctor, is the reason why I called with Kiddie. Maud has noticed those bruises, and, although she suspects the cause, it would simplify matters if you were to tell her that nervous excitement sometimes causes an involuntary contraction of the digital extremities; or if you would put it in Latin it would be better. You will? Thanks! Good night."—London Answers.

LITTLE STORIES OF THE ROAD.

"I HAVE seen many queer happenings, both ludicrous and tragic," said a veteran railroad man, long since retired, to some Washington friends recently. "Nowadays the boys don't have such queer experiences, because in the early sixties railroads were a novelty to the rustics living up the States in newly opened sections.

"When I was a boy I was traveling on one of the branch roads, in Middle New York, and an old woman flagged the train. When the conductor went to see what the trouble was she calmly asked him to change a five-dollar bill, which he obligingly did.

"When I first took up railroading I worked on the Boston and Albany Road for a short time. One day, just after pulling out of Troy, N. Y., the engineer saw two women walking on the tracks ahead of our train, and he rang the bell and whistled frantically. Suddenly, before his startled eyes they disappeared down into a cattle guard, and the entire train passed over them. The engineer brought the train to a standstill, and we ran back to find the women. It was evident that they had not seen the cattle guard, as it had been flooded by recent rains, and was covered with a thin coating of ice, through which the unsuspecting women had dropped. As we hauled them out dripping, but evidently unhurt, the oldest one gasped: 'I say, mister, ain't them things dangerous?'

"After a few years of knocking 'round," continued the speaker, "I drifted down to New York, and then got a job as brakeman on the Long Island Railroad. I was put on one of the accommodations, which gave me a lot of experience and hard work. We classified these locals as: 6:30, workies; 7:15, clerkies; 8:35, shirkies, and 9:15, flirties.

"One night a tall, well-dressed man boarded the train at Mineola, and I noticed he sank down wearily into a seat very near the stove and gently slumbered. We pulled out, and shortly after I jerked open the door and shouted 'Queens!' The slumbering passenger slightly shifted his position and stammered:

"The pot's yours; I stayed in on jacks."

"A few days after that experience our train crew had a bad scare. As we pulled out of Long Island City a man attempted to jump aboard and fell under the cars. The entire train passed over him before the engineer could bring it to a standstill; when we picked him up he exclaimed:

"I've bumped my nose!"

"He had, and that was his only injury.

"That same year a man was struck by our train at the line between two counties. As nearly as could be told he was in one county when the engine struck him, but it threw him some thirty feet, and landed him just over the line in the next county. Two coroners immediately laid claim to the body, as each said that the man was killed in his jurisdiction. The dead man could not tell, nor any one else, whether he died when the engine struck him or when he reached the earth after his flight. A very pretty fight ensued, and the man remained unburied while they disputed over the possession of his body, but Nature's law intervened, and he was finally buried in defiance of the laws of the State.

"I stayed on that road for some years longer," went on the railroad man, settling back more comfortably in his chair. "Then I joined the Chicago and Northwestern as fireman on the Chicago-Omaha Express. It was a very smooth road and we usually made record time.

"On one run to Omaha the chief engineer placed a full glass of water on a seat in a Pullman car to test the smoothness of the road-bed, and when we reached Omaha he found not one drop had been spilled. He was very much pleased, but thought possibly specific gravity had much to do with it, so, to test that, he placed a full glass of whisky on the identical seat. We went to examine it after we pulled out from our first station on the route and discovered the glass as dry as the burning sands of the desert of Sahara.

"Once, when we were going to make the return run from Omaha to Chicago our conductor was approached by a solemn, cadaverous-looking man, who gravely asked him if he was a Christian. John Gaudam managed to keep calm, and upon further inquiry he learned that the stranger had spent two days in trying to find a train in charge of a Christian conductor going to Chicago.

"He was very anxious to start on his journey, but was firmly resolved not to intrust his life to the care of a sinner. He had questioned fifteen conductors, and had failed to discover one of the desired kind. He did not take our train, and I guess he began his journey on foot.

"Conductor John Gaudam was very sensitive about his name, and always insisted that friends addressing him hastily should call him 'John.' He was one of the best fellows I ever worked with, but he was continually getting into hot water.

"On one of our trips Gaudam was passing through a coach when he noticed a woman asleep in a seat. Her head was on the window sill, and her feet extended to the aisle. Her dress was so badly disarranged that her ankle, and a good portion of an exquisitely fashioned calf were plainly visible. A number of men a few seats further down were contemplating the scene with keen enjoyment.

"Now, Gaudam was always very strict, and kept things straight on his train, and he noticed this. He touched the woman on the shoulder and woke her up.

"'Madam,' he said politely, 'excuse me for disturbing you, but your dress is so disarranged that your ankle is exposed.'

"'Oh, that makes no difference,' replied the woman, smiling sweetly. 'It's nothing but cork.'

"In three seconds Gaudam was in the baggage car, where he promptly lost his religion.

"We had the misfortune, through no fault of ours, to run over a man at a grade crossing just outside of Omaha, and one of the boys in that office was instructed to inform his wife that her husband had been killed. He was cautioned to break the news gently, so this is what he wrote:

"'Dear Madam: I write to say that your husband is unavoidably detained. An undertaker will call on you tomorrow with full particulars. Yours, very truly, etc.'

"The Division Superintendent in that same office told me that he once sent the customary half-fare ticket to a Nebraska minister. He promptly received a letter from the minister, asking if 'he couldn't embrace his wife, also.' Being a cautious man, the Superintendent replied, doubtfully, that he thought he could, but he would like to see the lady first, as he was a little particular in such matters.'

The old man paused a moment to light his pipe, then continued:

"While we were in the yards at Chicago one fall, a freight train pulled in. We heard most extraordinary noises coming from one of the cars. It sounded as if Bedlam was let loose. Upon inquiry we were told that it was a carload of cats shipped from the Pacific Coast, and consigned to a dealer in skins in New York. The felines were to be slaughtered on reaching their destination. Concerts had been given, much to the annoyance of the train crew, all along the route, and had attracted universal attention. One would have supposed it a good deal easier and quieter to have shipped the skins rather than the live cats.

"My brother was conductor of a local on one of the branch roads of the Southern, and he once told me these two stories to illustrate the slow time made in that section of the country:

"One day they were making the usual trip, and one of the passengers was awakened by the 'toot-toot' of the engineer's whistle, and ejaculated:

"This — train has caught up with that cow again.'

"On another trip a woman put her head out of the door of the last car, and said:

"Why, there's that nigger on horseback we saw ten miles from here.' A passenger across the aisle remarked:

"Well, I wouldn't own that horse.'

"I'm glad I never worked on that road," concluded the speaker.

"I must tell you of an exciting scene I witnessed in the General Manager's office in Chicago.

"The Jarrett and Palmer train from New York to San Francisco was taken charge of at Clinton by Superintendent Oliver and Conductor Charles Holton, and the engine was run by Thomas Keefe. The train had the right of way over the road, and there was no time-table.

"The engineer and conductor were instructed to go through to Council Bluffs just as quick as steam could do it. The telegraph operators at each station were directed to notify the General Manager's office, Chicago, of the moment the locomotive came in sight of the station.

"In the office were Keep, Hughitt, Porter, Stennett, Wheeler and other interested spectators, all eagerly watching the progress of the train across Iowa.

"Between Fairfax and Norway there is but one curve. The train passed Fairfax going finely, and just before it reached the curve, which would bring it in sight of Norway, a coupling pin between the baggage and smoking cars came out, and the engineer calling for brakes, pushed ahead and rounded the curve, while the brakeman stopped the train before it reached the head of the curve.

"The operator at Norway saw the headlights of the locomotive, and, rushing into the office, telegraphed 'train in sight.' While the operator was sending the dispatch the engineer backed the locomotive around the curve to pick up the balance of the train, and, of course, went out of sight of the Norway station.

"So, when the operator stepped to the door to see the train pass, it was not in sight, and he excitedly rushed back to the instrument and telegraphed: 'Train disappeared.'

"Instantly the company in the Chicago office became wildly excited. Hughitt was the first to speak, and, bringing down his fist with such force that the papers on the table fell in all directions, cried: 'The whole train has gone to h—ll, just as I expected!'

"Hardly had the words passed his lips when Norway telegraphed:

"Train passed O. K.'

"And the special sped onward into the night on its record-making trip.—Philadelphia North American.

THE BACKSLIDER.

IT was not necessary to hoist the awkward country gate in order to pass from the right of way of the railroad into the fields surrounding the farmhouse; beside the rough-hewn gate-post was a rude stile, the use of which entailed no exertion. Yet Martin Loomis, coming in late afternoon from the strip of woodland that he owned on the other side of the track, put his shoulder under the topmost bar, squeezed his way through when the gate dropped, and lifted it again from the inside.

Then, with elbows resting on the bars, he repeated aloud the thought that was in his mind every time that he came this way from the sugaring bush and put up the bars against the railroad and all its ways:

"No call-boy to drag a fellow out after three hours in bed. No stumbling over that confounded cat in the dark kitchen while looking for a dinner pail which they've probably forgotten to fill. No scrapping with a front-end who has acted like a bear since his wife went East for a long visit. No risk of being stuck in a snow-piled cut for thirty-six hours listening to the laments of a green brakeman who wishes he'd remained in the grocery business in Fort William."

It was the first time he had actually spoken the words, and he was immediately struck by the fact that they somehow lacked the exultant ring that he had expected. And yet they were true; just as true as on that first day when he had come down to this very gate after signing the papers, and leaning over to nod defiantly at the rails, had thought them.

He remembered the day. It had rained some time between midnight and dawn, and, as he had driven in at the other gate down by the road, the good red earth—his good red earth—had welcomed him with fragrant incense. Something different to the reek of hot boxes and the mingled aroma of frying fish and kerosene in the caboose.

That was ten months ago. A glorious summer and a still more glorious autumn had followed. He had been free—yes, free as the manager of the road who this very day was starting West in his private car on a tour of inspection. Come to think of it, the Old Man himself had a farm somewhere or other. Strange that he should care to go flying across the continent raising Cain with divisional superintendents when he might be snug beside an open fireplace, at peace with himself and all the world. And yet it was funny how one would get to thinking of the queer rush and bustle of it all, now and then, instead of just giving oneself up to the joys of calm contentment. What the devil right had he, Martin Loomis, farmer, to know that the Old Man's car was due to leave the city that evening, hitched on to the tail of No. 1?

He took his arms from the top of the gate and laughed as he turned his face toward the house. Instinctively he looked up. The single star shone with extraordinary clearness and brilliance. Martin wheeled around, and climbing the stile, descended to the track. A walk of a few yards brought him to a sharp curve.

"I thought so," he muttered. "Whiskers all over the steel by morning, and rotten pine instead of cedar, and tamped to the end at that. And over two hundred thousand pounds in front, and not so much as a shim to save things either way. Now will it be a broken eccentric on account of the whiskers, or a beautiful spread as a result of those rotting cross-pieces that you could pull the spikes out of with your teeth? Lord, what I'd like to say to a roadmaster that kept a section boss like that on his payroll!"

Once more he asked himself to explain. Was the snug seat beside the open fireplace not waiting? What was an Eastern farmer supposed to know about eccentric straps and the dangers of an overgrowth of whiskers on the steel? How should he judge, just because a few spikes and bolts were loose, that there was possibility of spread track? He gave it up, shrugged his shoulders, and went home.

After supper, when old Mrs. Murray had retired to the kitchen and he was left alone to enjoy the snug seat and the dancing firelight, he persuaded himself that he really was at peace with himself and all the world, even including section bosses and roadmasters whose tracks ought to be improved.

And yet was a smug complacent peace the one thing most to be desired? True, it seemed to meet all the needs of Arabi Pasha, who lay on his side with limbs outstretched toward the fire; but not every man has the same outlook on life as a cat. Confound it, what was making him so speculative this evening?

He lit his pipe and opened a magazine that had arrived that afternoon. Oh, Lord! Would these hall-bedroom ink-slingers in the city have never done writing railroad stories? The same old thing: The Empire Limited brought to a standstill in two rail lengths because the brave station agent has hurled a handlamp at the headlight. And of course, a girl. Why in thunder couldn't somebody write a railroad story without lugging in a girl?

He asked the question of the fire; and the fire blinked, blazed a smile at him, then settled itself and prepared to make answer. Five minutes later the magazine slipped from his hand to the floor, but he did not appear to notice. His eyes were fixed on the picture which had been offered by the fire.

Why that face of all others? It did not belong to the East, but to a bare, bleak country, where calm contentment had no place, where all was fierce struggle by men who had tunneled mountains, diverted rivers, filled in swamps, and demolished the forest to make their unnaturally wide-awake towns. There, women did not smile at one from the fire. Instead, they gloried in their share of the labor. Most of them despised the East.

When he had first hinted that he might purchase a farm with the small legacy that had been added to his savings, she had laughed heartily, and told him that he didn't look a bit like a farmer. Later, when he had called to say "good-bye," she had looked wonderingly at him across the counter in the deserted station lunch room, and frankly expressed her wonder in words.

"But you don't understand," he had said. "You've never felt the freedom of it, the freshness and joy of it all."

"No," she had replied, "I guess I never felt much of that when I lived on a farm."

"You—lived on a farm?"

"Sure. All my life, until my aunt died, and I came up here to live with sister."

"You have no memories?"

"Oh, yes; lots of them."

"Of what?"

"Of never-ending lectures, never-ending work that didn't interest me, and of the Ladies' Aid Sewing Circle. But chiefly of the Sewing Circle. I think, even now, if I were to eat too much of the mince pie we unload on a starving and resigned traveling public, I should dream of that Sewing Circle. The men had no sewing circle; if I remember aright, most of their spare time was spent in chewing straws in summer and staring at the fire in winter. They weren't like the men here, they didn't do things, they didn't want to do things, they wanted just to sleep through life and avoid trouble."

"And here?"

"Here they're men. You know, you've been through it all. They're looking for trouble; that's what they came here for in construction days. Think, was there no joy in this country for you the day you ran that first queer 'mixed' over that stretch of muskeg where only a few hours before East had been joined to West?"

He had not dared to say more. If he had intended to say something of importance—and he scarcely knew now whether he had or not—he had left it unsaid. Plainly, therefore, he could not have been in love. To imagine such a thing was an absurdity, since he had not thought twice of Edith Parsons during the whole of the delightful summer on the farm.

The heart of the fire collapsed. Martin started, picked up the magazine, and set himself resolutely to read the article which proved beyond shadow of doubt that the Pyramids were built of Portland cement. He turned the page. More about the Simple Life. Really, they were rather overdoing the Simple Life. It was all very well for the advocate of the life strenuous to find time between tennis and tea to write a message to the American people setting forth its advantages. But there were other persons more likely to get too much of it than he was.

Martin went early to bed with an uneasy feeling that all was not quite as it should be in the realm of calm contentment. He decided that the change in the weather had something to do with it.

At two o'clock he was awakened by what at first he supposed to be an earthquake. Certainly, the house trembled. After a minute or two he went to the window and raised it slightly. In the distance he heard the steady hiss of escaping steam. Down came the window, and while hands worked readily to draw on clothes and shoes, the mind worked equally rapidly to find an explanation and to imagine consequences present and to come. Whatever had gone off the rails (and something undoubtedly had) it could not be No. 1, for she was not due to go by for twenty minutes. Under any and all circumstances he must not allow himself to forget the express.

He knew where to go and it took him an incredibly short time to reach the curve. It was a short freight of about fourteen cars with one of the big new engines. Martin did not have to ask the cause; he knew at once which of his earlier guesses had been correct; this was no case of putting an eccentric in splints and hobbling on one leg to a siding. The engine had mounted the rail, ploughed over the ties for a yard or two, slewed sideways, and toppled over. At this moment she was gasping out her life, while somewhere underneath her two brave men lay crushed to death.

The weight of the locomotive when she had brought up so suddenly had accounted for the first two cars, and had strewn the others across the track, completely blocking the cut. One look at the caboose told the ex-conductor the story of what had happened at the rear end, and told him also why there was no sign or living human being. Back of the van they had been hauling a ponderous steel water-tank car. This had crushed the caboose like an egg shell and had brought death to those inside.

Nevertheless, he called loudly. A moan from near at hand answered him. Hurrying forward, he discovered by the light of the lantern he had brought, a young man, scarcely more than a boy, lying close against the snake fence.

"What can I do for you?" he asked quickly.

"Nothing—it's my spine—the others?" came the whispered answer.

"I am afraid that the others have gone. There was a tank car—"

"Yes, I know. Your lantern—No. 1."

Loomis strove to ease the youth's position.

"No," he answered, "not me—no good—but No. 1."

There was no time for more. The station was three miles farther on, and even if he were there at that moment it would avail nothing, for No. 1 must have left Rosedale already. His hand went quickly behind the prostrate figure and wrenched at a chain attached to a key-ring. A second later he was flying as fast as he could towards the oncoming train with a switch key in his hand. Not half a mile away was a long spur running well up grade for quite a distance to the big cheese factory of the county.

If only he could get there in time to open it, and have a moment left to warn the engineer to shut off in time.

Then, even as he ran, he knew that he would do it. It was his business to do it. Up on the old North Shore section he had played the game of touch and go with less margin and had always won. There were hundreds of people on No. 1, and it depended on him whether—

The thought kindled him. In spite of the occasion, in spite of the anxiety, he was glad it was so. Ten minutes of such a race as this, for such a prize, was worth an eternity of peace and contentment. Peace and contentment! Great Scott, what an idiot a man could make of himself by judicious and systematic training!

Already he could hear the muffled whirr of the express, and far down the track could see the rocking headlight. But he was past the west end of the switch. Another minute—half a minute—

Thank heaven for the old training that caused him to lose no time in fumbling over the lock. He must lock it, too. The pin dropped into place and he stooped and picked up a big piece of flint ballast rock by the glare of the headlight, now almost upon him. No hurling hand-lamps for him. The engineer might get it, but he'd take a chance.

He rose and faced the monster. With a roar she hit the frog, and at the same moment the stone crashed through the window of the cab. Martin dropped into the ditch.

The next instant he heard every wheel on the train screaming in agony, and knew that whether the stone had or had not hit the man in the cab, two strong hands were certainly clutching the air lever for dear life. The train came to a stop, and Martin waving his lantern, ran forward. A brakeman met him.

"Say you," began the trainman. "What the deuce—"

"Get back there and protect your rear," yelled Loomis, and hurried on.

Nor did the conductor, full of additional importance on account of the private car being hauled by No. 1, fare much better. Before he could ask questions, he found himself answering them.

"Wreck ahead," snapped Martin; "about half a mile, at the curve in the cut. Isn't this the night that Blackham, the road-master generally goes up with you to the other end to work back on inspection?"

"Yes, but—"

"His track velocipede is in the baggage car?"

"Yes, but I say—"

"Good; then you're all ready to go on. You can put the machine on the rails west of the wreck, and in ten minutes you'll be at Cranston talking to the dispatcher over the wire. It won't delay you a great deal, if No. 2 isn't late; just an easy transfer through a field."

He turned and found himself face to face with a tall figure in ulster and slippers. For a moment the Old Man looked searchingly at him; then he turned to the conductor.

"I think that is all, Secor," he said. "You can give the signal and back up."

Then he spoke to Martin. "Will you be kind enough to come back to my car, and tell me more about this?" he said.

Martin bowed and followed him. The few passengers who had been awakened by the sudden jolting and had ventured timidly on to the track climbed aboard. Secor signalled with his lantern. Martin stopped with one foot on the step of the last car.

"By the way," he called to the conductor, "I sent brass buttons back to protect the rear. Better have Peggy cough once or twice to let him know he's wanted."

"Now," said the president, when they were seated face to face in the smoking room of the private car, "tell me all about this affair. How did it happen? Is any one killed? How did you get into the business? Who are you?"

Said Martin: "I'm a farmer. I had to get into this because everybody at both ends of the freight was killed. It happened because a blamed fool of a section foreman has just been inviting a spread rail at that particular point for a long time."

"Umph! That's your opinion, is it—as a farmer?"

"I wasn't always a farmer."

"No, I didn't think you were. Unless I'm mistaken, we've traveled together before. But perhaps you've forgotten?"

"Not much, sir. It was the day we buckled east to west, and sent the mixed out of Bisco to test the last stretch completed."

The Old Man nodded. "Rather spongy, wasn't it?" he asked.

Martin smiled. "It certainly was, sir."

"Loomis, I think your name is?"

"Yes, sir."

"Going to stick to farming?"

"Why, I—er—I thought I was, but—"

The Old Man nodded. "But you're a backslider. I know. I've been there. Funny, isn't it? Well, Loomis, we owe you something for tonight."

"No, indeed, sir. I think, if it hadn't have been for the memory of those poor fellows lying crushed beside the track in the cut, I should rather have enjoyed it."

"But I say, yes. Going over things in connection with this trip I remember that approval is asked for the appointment of a trainmaster on your old division on the North Shore. I'll create the position, and, by gad, I'll fill it. What do you say?"

* * * * *

"And so," said Edith, "You're a hero?"

"That isn't what the Old Man called me."

"What did he say you were?"

"A backslider."

"But I knew, I—"

"Please! Not so soon after your engagement."

Edith was relentless. "I told you so," she said. Then lifting her face to his: "But what I couldn't very well tell you was that I hoped you would become a backslider very, very soon. Really, you know, I think you took an awful time about it.—By FREDERICK PAYTON, in Evening Post.

THE STAGE DRIVER'S PROXY.

"HE will come."

"Well, why doesn't he? It's all right to say he'll come, but I want to see him do it."

"You can't expect the stage to be always on time in a country like this. It's been late many a time, even since Bob had it; but when Bob Marvin brings her in late it's when no one else could get her here at all. Last winter, when the bridge over Cinnamon River went down, Bob came in nine hours behind time, and apologized for being late.

"Where's your leaders?" asked the postmaster, for Bob came into town with only four. 'Dead beat,' says Bob. 'I had to leave 'em.' 'How'd that happen?' asks another. 'Cinnamon River bridge gone.'

"I tell you, sir, we wouldn't have believed another man on earth but Bob. You've seen the river where the bridge crosses, and you know how high the water'd have to be. For more than fifteen miles each way from the bridge it's just that way, the banks, and there's no place where it's less'n four or five feet on the far side from here, at flood time. And as for the river, it aint nothin' now to what it was then.

"How'd you cross, then?" I asked him. 'Swum, by God!' says Bob. 'But the bank?'

'Taint but about four feet now at Huston's, on the far side, an' none at all on this side.' 'Huston's?' 'Yes; that's why I'm late.'

"You see, Mr. Mayfield, Huston's ranch is more than fifteen miles down the river from the bridge, and no road. Think Bob'll come through tonight?"

"But, great heavens! hasn't he got sense enough to turn back from a thing like that when he's got passengers—women?"

"I don't want to scare you about that girl of yours, sir, but if she's on the stage now, you'll see her before midnight, and I'll bet on it. Bob'll not turn back for anything; but he's safer than most, just the same, for he'll come through when another driver'd turn back and then wreck the stage anyhow."

George Mayfield was in Hazard's Camp because he owned mines there; his daughter was coming chiefly because she very much wanted to, and partly because her father desired it. Now the stage he expected her by was already half an hour late, and Mayfield was growing anxious. The account he had just listened to did not make him feel more comfortable, either.

The men grouped about the Hazard's Camp postoffice and store were not excited. It was unusual for the stage to be late in summer, to be sure; but, then, it was Bob Marvin who was driving and he would come through.

Now and then the postmaster—store-keeper, banker, and many other things, all in one—came out with a lantern, and, holding it high above his head, looked down the road by which the stage would come, listening for the hoof-beats of the horses.

An hour after her time, and the stage not in yet. The postmaster's face looked pale in the light of his lantern. He and Mayfield were restless and excited; the others, too, had begun to grow uneasy.

"Boys"—the postmaster's voice was a little unsteady—"you've got to ride to meet her. Something's happened."

"Naw, Bob's all right. She'll be here d'rectly."

"There's nothing to stop her this weather—nothing only just one thing."

The postmaster spoke with visible effort.
"What's that?"

"Bob carries five thousand in coin to-night."

For an instant no sound came from the crowd in front of the postoffice; then, with a guttural growl, it surged toward the stables, but stopped suddenly, perfectly quiet again. In Hazard's Camp the silence was absolute, except for the stamping of the horses in the stables, but from far down the rock road came faintly the rapid beat of iron-shod hoofs galloping upon the stone.

"Driving like the deuce!" muttered one.

Louder and clearer came the sound of the galloping horses and the rumble of the wheels on the stony road. There was hushed expectancy in the town, for even Bob Marvin did not often drive like that. At last the stage appeared, swaying fearfully from side to side behind the six plunging horses, and a ringing cheer went up from the crowd. Then, as the driver stood up, leaning far back to rein in the maddened horses, the cheer ended in a gasp of amazement, and silence fell again on Hazard's Camp.

* * * * *

When Bob Marvin, stage driver, left Union City on the morning of July 23, he felt unusually elated. There was not much excitement in driving a stage in summer; no washouts, no floods, no snowdrifts—no fun. So thought Marvin. Today, however, he was to carry coin to the amount of five thousand dollars, and a young lady—a very pretty young lady, who, best of all, preferred riding on the box.

"Don't you think you'll be lonely out in the camp?" asked the driver, presently.

His companion laughed. "Are you?" she queried, in reply.

"No, I ain't; but—well, should think you'd be."

"Yes? Why, I've been longing to live in a mining camp for years."

"But you don't know how it is yet, and you mayn't like it." There was unquestionable anxiety in the voice, and the girl looked at Marvin mischievously.

"Oh, don't I, indeed? I know it well; but I've always had to go back to school.

I'm not going back this time; I'm going to stay in Hazard's Camp."

A few moments of silence. Marvin was apparently thinking of something pleasant, for he smiled, and the lines hung slack in his hands. The girl watched him with laughing eyes, as if she divined his thoughts. As he turned to her again the amused expression faded suddenly from her face, and she became suspiciously demure; but Marvin was not suspicious by nature—at least, not under such circumstances as the present—and he did not dream that she was laughing at him.

"Ever drive horses?" he asked.

"Oh, yes, often; but never so many at once," she responded, looking doubtfully at the six fiery animals; yet she took the lines as he handed them to her, and drove the six for a time in silence. She was watching the horses, and trying to appear unconscious of the fact that he was watching her.

"There are too many lines," she said, presently; "they are hard to hold."

"Not many girls could hold them at all, to say nothing of the team." Marvin would have been sorry to see his horses controlled by a girl if the girl herself had pleased him less.

"Drive the leaders," he said, separating the two lines and taking the rest himself.

Ten miles almost in silence, and then, suddenly:

"Do you know what you are sitting on, Miss Mayfield?"

"What I am sitting on?"

"Five—" Then he remembered the two passengers inside the stage, and his voice sank to a whisper: "Five thousand dollars."

"Yes?" she whispered. "And they have you take it through alone?"

"No one knows it."

"Oh, yes; I do."

"No one else but one man in Hazard's Camp and two in Union, besides us"—the "us" being accented slightly.

"Don't you know it is dangerous to tell such things to a woman, Mr. Marvin?"

"I wouldn't to any—" he stopped, apparently uncomfortable.

"We stop in—what is the place? Suppose I speak of it there?"

"I ain't afraid."

At Dwyer station, which the stage reached at three o'clock, they stopped for dinner and changed horses. The other two passengers went no farther.

"You'd better ride inside, Miss Mayfield," suggested Marvin, when they were about to start.

Miss Mayfield shook her head, smiling. "No; I would rather ride on"—she flashed a laughing glance at him—"on top."

Marvin lifted her up, and was about to follow, when he was hailed by the man who had the care of the stage horses at Dwyer Station:

"Bob, this tug's too low; look at it."

Marvin, from where he was, could see that the tug was right, and he wondered what was up. He stepped close to the man, and leaned over as if to shorten it.

"You carry coin, Bob—heard 'em talkin' about it last night. Nine—four here, five gone on—horseback—in that pine-tree bend, likely. Don't give me away—there's only three of us here, you know."

Marvin swung himself to the box, taking the lines from Miss Mayfield.

"Quick," he whispered; "stand up; say you're sick, or something. You must stay here."

"Why?"

"They're onto the coin. Quick, now! I must start—some of the fellers here."

"I'm going on."

There was no time for argument, and perhaps Marvin was not inclined to oppose Miss Mayfield's intention; at any rate, his yell to the horses was peculiar; it might have been a cry of delight and approval. Miss Mayfield smiled, but she was not laughing at him. The brake flew back, the long lash curled in the air and snapped above the leaders' backs, and the stage started with a jerk.

Eight miles from Dwyer Station, Marvin drew up.

"You must ride inside," he said.

"Why must I?"

"They're going to try holding up the stage."

"So I supposed."

"Well, I think I know where they are, and if they're there, we won't run into 'em till about eight; but maybe they're closer. Get inside, and soon as they shoot, lie down."

"How many are there, do you know?"

"Five."

"You can't fight five men, and you on top, in plain sight; you must go back."

"I won't go back. Anyhow, there's four of 'em there, and I'd have to fight 'em alone. Besides, I ain't going to fight these fellers in front if I can get out of it."

"How?"

"Go round 'em."

"Then, there's no danger, and I'll stay here."

"Might not be where I think. Might run onto 'em."

"Then you'd have to fight them, and you couldn't drive."

If you stay up here I'll just have to give up to 'em if they jump me," said Marvin, plaintively.

"You won't do any such thing."

"You must get down."

Well, I won't."

Marvin was in a quandary. He could easily lift the girl to the ground and put her in the stage, but that—no, it wasn't to be thought of. He threw the brake and drove on.

Half an hour after dark, when within six miles from the point where the road curved around through a thick grove of pines, the stage swung out of the road, and went bounding and swaying over rocks and brush.

"We'll be 'way late," said Marvin, dismally.

The girl laughed.

"But it don't matter," added Marvin, more cheerfully.

When nearly to the river the stage turned back into the road.

"Beat the brutes, by—er, thunder!" exclaimed Marvin, as his leaders went on the bridge. Then he pulled the team up short, drawing his breath sharply.

"They've heard us," he said, slowly; "they're coming."

"Can't we beat them?" cried the girl.

"They're on horseback."

"Cut down the bridge!"

Marvin looked from the bridge to Miss Mayfield, smiling.

"Throw out the box!" She stood up, and tried to raise the seat to drag the treasure box from underneath.

"Hold the lines a minute, girl," said Marvin.

"What are you going to do?"

"Hold the lines a minute," he cried, impatiently.

She took the lines; then Marvin laid his revolver on the seat, grabbed his rifle, and leaped clear of the wheel to the ground.

"Now, Girl, drive, and drive hard; some of them will follow you."

"I won't," she cried.

"You will! G'up, Fox—Bud!" He fired over the backs of the horses, and they broke into a run across the bridge.

The girl tried to hold in the frightened horses, but they ran on. She turned to look back; Marvin was not in sight. The stage had swung out in the brush, and now she turned the horses back into the road. She kept them there, and her eyes fixed steadily upon them. Rigid she sat, and breathless, moving only with the swaying of the stage. On went the flying team. Then, from far back, came the sound of a rifle shot. The girl shivered as if the ball had gone through her, but she made no sound. Rapid firing for a moment, and then the sound of hoof-beats on the plank-ing of the bridge. Then she stood up, silent still, and lashed the team into a harder run. Mile after mile, with the stage rocking and plunging, and still she whirled the long whip, reaching as many of the horses as she could. Behind her, at times, she could hear the hoof-beats on the rock road.

The stage passed over a ridge and went tearing down the farther slope. The driver looked back and saw her pursuers silhouetted blackly against the stars as they topped the rise; there were two of them.

Two miles further the girl heard the horses running close behind, and a shot whistled over the stage. The lines were tied to the seat and she dropped them, letting the team go as it would. Turning she held the revolver in both hands, aiming deliberately, and fired six shots at the riders. She was unarmed now, but they did not know, and they stopped. The team dashed on.

At last the lights of Hazard's Camp came in sight, and the horses ran slower, till in front of the store the driver, leaning far back, throwing all her weight on the lines, brought the team to a standstill.

She dropped the lines, and, still standing, pointed down the road over which she had come.

"Go back!" she screamed. "Go back and kill them!"

She stood rigid, outlined against the star lit sky; the men, with a growl like that of a bulldog when he takes the hold he will not loose, moved toward the stables again.

When they rode back past the store, the quivering stage horses were being taken out, and a trembling, sobbing girl lifted from the box.

Grimly, silent, the avengers galloped down the road, resolved not to return till their mission was fulfilled. Yet they did, for by the bridge they found the stage driver, so wounded that he should have died; but this was the unaccountable Bob Marvin. He lived.—By CLOUDESLEY JOHNS, in Saxby's Magazine.

THE ORIGINAL DAMAGE CLAIM.

A CLAIM for damages against a railroad company is so often a license for exorbitant charges that a simple bill, such as was received by a railroad company many years ago, even apart from its humorous aspect, is refreshing. It ran as follows:

The — and — Railroad Company,
To John Smith, Dr.
July 19, 1837—To running your locomotive into my wife; as per doctor's bill for curing her.....	$10 00
To smashing ban box and spilling her hat	3 87
To upsetting my deer born (wagon) and breaking it	35 00
To hurting me	5 00
	<hr/>
	$53 87

There is authority for stating that the claim was paid immediately.—Ex.

THE LOST WIRE MYSTERY.

"IT was strange who was stealing the wire up there on the Lehigh & Hudson, popularly known as the Lean and Hungry Railroad," said the old railroad telegraph operator who has gained a reputation for his work in assisting Truth to rise after she has been crushed to earth, according to the records of the New York Sun. "You see, the road is putting up a new line of wires and they had lots of trouble losing their equipment.

"Most of the trouble occurred up near Sugar Loaf Mountain, near the old cemetery, just the other side of Eastchester Station. They never could seem to find out who stole the wire.

"A fellow would be sending messages up the road to the different summer resorts—'Love me and the world is mine'—and other telegrams of the soft-boiled-egg variety—from guys in the city to their girls in the mountains, but the messages never would get to their destination.

"Whoever pinched the wires would leave just enough of the metal wire hanging from the pole to reach the ground, thereby making a circuit, and the wire would work all right between Eastchester and the end of the line, but the next morning we would get a postal card from the summer resort saying they lost the wire at such and such a place. The wire thieves were literally running the business of the company into the ground.

"So the management stationed a night watchman up near the old cemetery to nab the marauders and teach 'em to keep their hands off the company's property. For the first three or four nights there was nothing doing on wire thieves.

"One night, about eight o'clock, as we regulars were sitting around the big stove in Duff Masten's grocery store, talking over the general condition of the onion crop, the watchman stumbled into the front door, almost frightened to death. He allowed that it was ghosts from the cemetery who were swiping the Lehigh wires.

"Res Conkling and all of us pooh-poohed the idea of ghosts. There were a good many operators buried up in the old cemetery, but they had had enough trouble with wires during their lives without trying to cabbage any after death.

"Barney Smith and three or four more of us framed up an expedition to find out the whys and wherefores of this ghost business. We journeyed up there by Sugar Loaf Mountain several nights without any results.

"About 12 o'clock on the fourth night we were about leaving in disgust when there was a whirring sound up behind one of the large tombstones in the graveyard and a large object went flying over to one of the telegraph poles and began pecking at the wire there.

"'By gosh, it is spirits!' cried Charley Crist, one of the exploring band.

"'Change your brand,' said I. 'I'll tell you what it is. It's an eagle.'

"I'd heard only a week or two before about a pair of bald headed eagles which had been seen up on Sugar Loaf Mountain. Barney Smith agreed with me that the wire pirate was the male eagle stealing wire to build a nest for his mate.

"Yes, sir, sure's you're born. Of course, the wire wasn't as heavy as the modern telegraph wires and could coil nicely into a fine nest for the lady eagle. The warm messages which had circulated through the wires to the summer girl would aid materially in hatching the eagle's eggs.

"It wasn't very hard for the big strong male eagle to snap off a length of wire and fly off with a coil of it around his neck. Of course, it was just by accident he left enough of it flying to stick into the ground.

"Well, sir, the company tried its best to kill that eagle, placing a bounty of $50 on his head. But no one seemed to shoot straight enough to kill him, or else he was so tough the bullets took no effect. Even so sure a shot as Barney Smith failed to bring him down. The big bird was a pest, too, for every time he wanted to add an L to his nest or build a new apartment, he'd just draw on the telegraph line.

"The supe was at a loss as to what to do. Finally I hit upon a scheme. Why not put in a special brand of barbed wire? It was obvious that if a lady eagle was preparing to lay an egg and sat down on a piece of barbed wire, she'd change her mind about laying the egg and say 'Prunes,' or words to that effect in eagle language.

"My scheme worked all right, and after the barbed wire was installed, the depredations ceased, although many sharp messages were sent over the line."

"Say," observed the tall, cynical conductor, "You've got those nature fakirs spiked to the switch."—The Voice.

TOO DIFFICULT FOR THE JUDGE.

"SAY, Judge, we want you to settle an argument."

The speaker was a man from Piper, Kan., a small town in Wyandotte County, and he wore a very perplexed expression as he sat down with a tired air in the office of Van B. Prather, the West Side Probate Judge.

"Well, what is it?" asked Judge Prather.

"Oh, our whole town is worked up over a question," continued the visitor. "We have talked about it after the church meetings and argued around the store. Some of us have almost quarreled over it, and we want you to settle it."

"Well, tell me," said the Judge, becoming interested.

"You see, it is this way," continued the man from Piper. "Last week William Waldron, a young man of our town, and Eliza-beth Wilson, one of our girls, came here and were married by you. Now, William Waldron's father, John Waldron, was married several years ago to Flora Wilson, a sister of Eliza Wilson. John and Flora have several children."

"Well?" said the Judge.

"Now, John will be the grandfather and also an uncle of William's children, won't he?" asked the visitor.

"Y-e-s," suggested the Judge.

"Well, again," continued the visitor, as he gave his chair a hitch, "John will also be the brother-in-law of his own son, William. As well as of his daughter-in-law, won't he?"

"Y-e-s," said the Judge.

"Now, we've figured out," continued the visitor, "that Flora, John's wife, is her sister's mother-in-law and her step-son's sister-in-law. William is John's son and by marriage his brother-in-law. He is the brother-in-law of his step-mother and his wife is, of course, his step-aunt. That's right, isn't it?"

"Yes, I guess it is," answered Judge Prather.

"Well, now," the visitor went on, "Eliza, William's wife, is her father-in-law's sister in-law as well as her sister's daughter-in-law and her husband's step-aunt.

"Now, we get down to John's children. John's son is of course William's half brother on his father's side and his nephew on his wife's side. The son is his Aunt Eliza's brother-in-law on William's side as well as her nephew on her sister's side, which makes William their uncle by marriage."

Judge Prather wore a far-away look.

"And if William has a son, the boy is John's grandson and Flora's, too, but she is also his aunt, which of course makes John, his grandfather, his uncle by marriage. This boy would of course be a cousin of John's son on his mother's side and his nephew on William's side. Now, what we want to know is—"

But Judge Prather fled.—Kansas City Star.

WHAT IS MONEY.

TO the query, "What is money anyway?" the following answers are made:

Money is the loudest sound in the voice of life.

The most effective substitute for brains.

A provider for everything but happiness; a passport to everywhere but heaven.

Something that always gets the glad hand.

Money is the most difficult road to cultivate.

The best talking machine.

That which women look for while men sleep.

A curse to some that have it and a curse to all that haven't.

What the rich don't need and the poor don't get.

The breath of business.

The antidote for poverty.

That which speaks a language we can all understand, but in which few are able to converse.—Bulls and Bears.

A FEW DOTS ON MAN.

A MAN'S life is full of crosses and temptations.

He comes into this world without his consent, and goes out against his will, and the trip between the two is exceedingly rocky. The rule of contraries is one of the important features of the trip.

If he is poor, he is a bad manager, if he is rich, he is dishonest.

If he needs credit he can't get it, if he is prosperous every one wants to do him a favor.

If he is in politics it's for pie, if he's out of politics you can't place him, he's no good for his country.

If he doesn't give to charity he is a stingy cuss, if he does it's for show.

If he is actively religious he is a hypocrite, if he takes no interest in religion he is a hardened sinner.

If he shows affection he is a soft specimen, if he seems to care for no one he is cold-blooded.

If he dies young there was a great future ahead of him, if he has lived to an old age he has missed his calling.

The road is rocky, but man loves to travel it.—Chicago Trade Journal.

ADVICE OF POLONIUS TO HIS SON.

GIVE thy thoughts no tongue.
Nor any unproportioned thought his act.

Be thou familiar, but by no means vulgar.
The friends thou has, and their adoption tried,

Grapple them to thy soul with hooks of steel;

But do not dull thy palm with entertainment

Of ev'ry new-hatched, unfledged comrade.
Beware

Of entrance into quarrel! but, being in,
Bear it, that the opposer may beware of thee.

Give every man thine ear, but few thy voice:

Take each man's censure, but reserve thy judgment.

Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy.
But not expressed in fancy: rich, not gaudy;

For the apparel oft proclaims the man.
Neither a borrower nor a lender be;
For loan oft loses both itself and friend,
And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry.
This, above all—to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not, then, be false to any man.

—Shakespeare.

NO PLACE FOR CRITICISM.

“DO you use the block system on this road?” inquired a passenger in a train in Kentucky.

“No, sir,” replied the conductor, “we have no use for it.”

“Do you use the electric or pneumatic signals?”

“No, sir.”

“Have you a double track?”

“No.”

“Well, of course, you have a train dispatcher and run all trains by telegraph?”

“No.”

“I see you have no brakeman. How do you flag the rear of your train if you are stopped from any cause between stations?”

“We don't flag.”

“Indeed! What a way to run a railroad! A man takes his life in his hand when he rides on it. This is criminally reckless!”

“See here, mister! If you don't like this railroad you can get off and walk. I am the president of this road and its sole owner. I am also the board of directors, treasurer, secretary, general manager, superintendent, paymaster, trackmaster, general passenger agent, general freight agent, master mechanic, ticket agent, conductor, brakeman and boss. This is the Great Western Railroad of Kentucky, six miles long, with terminals at Harrodsburg and Harrodsburg Junction. This is the only train on the road of any kind and ahead of us is the only engine. We never have collisions. The engineer does his own firing and runs the repair shop and roundhouse by himself. He and I run this here railway. It keeps us pretty busy, but we've always got time to stop and eject a sassy passenger. So you want to behave yourself to go through with us or you'll have your baggage set off here by the haystack.”

Tap on the Window, Mother.

Tap on the window, mother,
Your boy is going astray.
See, he is wandering even now
Afar from the narrow way.
Oh! beckon the poor boy homeward!
Why should he longer roam?
Perhaps a tap on the window pane
Will bring the wanderer home.

Tap on the window, mother,
He's going down the street.
Perhaps your precious boy may now
Some dire temptation meet,
For the world is full of evil,
And the future, who can tell?
Ah! the path to heaven lies very close
To the pathway down to hell.

Then tap on the window, mother,
Your boy may hear the sound;
He may see your fingers beckoning him
From sin's enchanted ground.
When he pays no heed to your weeping,
Though tears may fall like rain;
When his ears are dead to the voice of prayer,
Then tap on the window pane.

Oh, tap on the window, mother!
How can you give him up?
How can you yield your darling boy
To the snares of the drunkard's cup?
Perhaps he may heed your signal
When tears are all in vain;
Then add to the voice of your earnest prayer
A tap on the window pane.

Uncle Henry on the Grumblers.

There is one thing that I've noticed, and I'll tell it to you plain:
These here folks that do the grumblin' in the sunshine and the rain
Are the people that get weary merely thinkin' of their work
And who never can move lively till somebody gives a jerk.
When you hear a man complainin' you don't need to see his face
For to tell just what he looks like or to learn about his case.
You can rest assured he's seedy, and it's always safe to guess
That no matter what he's gettin' he is reely earnin' less.

The Man Who Makes the Hit.

The pitcher through nine innings does his part
With faithful energy and faultless art;
A dozen times he might have lost the game
And earned the crowd's derision and its blame;
By steady work he keeps the bases clear,
But few among the eager thousands there
Applaud him for his vigilance or cheer
To show him that they care.

The sun is sinking low; the score is tied;
Forth steps a batter with a halting stride;
Thrice he has been struck out, and, filled with shame,
He hits the ball—'tis safe! He wins the game!
The people who sat hopeless and were grim
Arise with sudden joy and wildly shout.
They cheer the man who wins, forgetting him
Who struck the foemen out.

And so through life it goes; the faithful man
Who day by day works on as best he can,
May render service that is great indeed,
But few men cheer him and few give him heed,
While one who may have failed, at length appears
And makes a lucky hit, somehow, somewhere;
The honor and the glory and the cheers
Are his—for getting there.

Boost a Bit.

Here! you discontented knocker,
Growlin' 'bout the city's ills,
Chloroform yer dismal talker,
Take a course o' liver pills.
Stop yer durn ki-o-tee howlin',
Chaw some sand an' git some grit;
Don't set in the dumps a-growlin',
Jump the roost

An' boost

Fall in while the band's a-playin',
Ketch the step an' march along—
'Stead o' pessimistic brayin'
Jine the halleluyah song!
Drop the hammer—do some rootin'—
Grab a horn, you cuss, and split
Every echo with yer tootin'—
Jump the roost

An' boost

Back to Mother.

I am going back to mother, back through all the weary years,
 Back to lands where skies were smiling and I knew no doubts nor fears;
 I am going way back yonder—I have bartered all the spoil
 That I earned in years of striving and the fevered race of toil.
 I have bartered all my chattels, all I garnered in the world,
 Just to go from hives of men, where throbbing millions are hurled.
 I am going back to mother, through the shadows, smiles and tears,
 To the dreaming and her clinging, safe from all the doubts and fears.

I am going back to mother—it's a long, long way to tread,
 And the ways are half forgotten where my childish footsteps led;
 There will be no dream of glory in the sunset's tinted skies,
 And there'll be no worlds to conquer that I'll see with closed eyes.
 I shall wend my footsteps backward to the garden that I knew,
 Where the hollyhocks stood stately and the timid pansies grew.
 I am going back to mother, far from city's wild alarms,
 To the dreaming and the clinging of her tender, faithful arms.

I am going back to mother—O, the years that intervene,
 And the faded hopes and glories that my tired eyes have seen!
 I am going with my bundle and my staff, a pilgrim old,
 To the dear old-fashioned cottage and the warmth of her enfold.
 The seas, I shall forget them; I'll forget the vagrant life,
 And I'll leave behind the sorrows and the thorns I knew in strife.
 I am going back to mother, and forget the whims of Fate,
 And I know I'll find a welcome when she sees me at the gate!

Opportunity.

If you can't upon the ocean
 Sail among the swiftest fleet,
 Rocking on the highest billows,
 Laughing at the storms you meet
 You can stand among the sailors,
 Anchored yet within the bay;
 You can lend a hand to help them
 As they launch their boats away.

If you are too weak to journey
 Up the mountain steep and high,
 You can stand down in the valley
 As the multitudes go by;
 You can sing a song to cheer them
 As they slowly pass along;
 Though they may forget the singer,
 They will not forget the song.

Do not, then, stand idly waiting
 For some larger work to do;
 Fortune is an idle goddess,
 She may never come to you,
 Go and work in any vineyard,
 Ever there to do and dare,
 If you want a field of labor
 You can find one anywhere.

Friendship.

A real friend is hard to gain,
 A trifle oft may lose one;
 Be cautious how you make a friend,
 More cautious how you use one.

Friendship, with pleasure cares will bring,
 But, should it ever leave you,
 Its pleasures all may disappear,
 Its cares remain to grieve you.

A friend, if lasting, sweetens life;

 If, by your fault, you lose him.

FACETIOUS

Skinner's Boy Operator.

"Telegraphers are a jolly tribe," said John Skinner, the Missouri Pacific trainmaster. "I was once asked by an official of the telegraph department of the Wabash to try a young fellow, an applicant for a job, in order to test his proficiency. As he sat down to the instrument table he turned to me with the request:

"Say, Cap, gimme a chew."

"I passed out a fresh 10-cent cut; the cub stowed away a bite in his cheek and handed back about three cents' worth. 'O. K. for you, son,' said I. He proved to be the correct thing and I placed him at the St. Louis quad. After copying several messages with marked capability, he was left to shift for himself. Presently I heard him blurt out a line of talk more vigorous than elegant, and he followed it up with an explanatory statement. Said he:

"'What d'ye think o' that? Here's a line o' telegraphic literature from some guy in St. Lou' that fills seven sheets o' clip, an' he winds 'er up with 'particulars by mail.'"

"That," said Superintendent Richards, of the Postal, "is something like the telegram I saw a while ago. The check read: '742 D. H.,' and the last line was 'Will write fully.'"

Possibly.

When P. T. Barnum was at the head of his "great moral show" it was his rule to send complimentary tickets to clergymen, and the custom is continued to this day. Not long ago, after Rev. Dr. Walker succeeded to the pastorate of the Rev. Dr. Hawks in Hartford, there came to the parsonage, addressed to Dr. Hawks, tickets for the circus, with the compliments of the famous showman. Dr. Walker studied the tickets for a moment and then remarked:

"Dr. Hawks is dead and Mr. Barnum is dead; evidently they haven't met."—Life.

Joke That Two Could Play.

Young Stevenson was on his way north to spend the week end with his parents, and felt in a particularly jovial mood. The train in which he was traveling had stopped at a small village. As a farmer who was sauntering up and down the platform came opposite Stevens' compartment, he was asked by the youth if he knew that the Duke of Devonshire was on the train. Immediately the man showed great interest, and said: "No! Is he?" "I think he is not," answered Stevens. "I only asked you if you knew that he was." The farmer said nothing, but continued his walk on the platform. As he came opposite the window again, he remarked that this town has been experiencing some excitement. "What is the matter?" asked Stevens. "The authorities wouldn't let some folks bury a woman," replied the farmer. "What was the reason for refusing?" "She wasn't dead," was the laconic reply. And then he strolled away, leaving young Stevens biting his lip.—Judge's Library.

A Lesson.

There is a young man in the city hall who never nowadays allows his temper to get ruffled. While at the telephone a few days ago he could not get the number he desired.

"See here, central, I'll report you," he shouted.

"You don't know who I am," came the reply.

"Well, I'll find out," he said.

"I know you, though," came in soft tones. "I've seen your picture. You're at the city hall," the young man plunged headlong into the trap.

"You have?" he exclaimed delightedly. "Where, in the newspapers?"

"No," was the merry reply, "on a lobster can."

His Purpose.

AN automobile dashed along the country road. Turning a curve it came suddenly upon a man with a gun on his shoulder and a weak, sick-looking old dog beside him. The dog was directly in the path of the motor car. The chauffeur sounded his horn, but the dog did not move—until he was struck. After that he did not move.

The automobile stopped and one of the men got out and came forward. He had once paid the farmer $10 for killing a calf that belonged to another farmer. This time he was wary.

"Was that your dog?"

"Yes."

"You own him?"

"Yes."

"Looks as if we killed him."

"Certainly looks so."

"Very valuable dog?"

"Well, not so very."

"Will $5 satisfy you?"

"Yes."

"Well, then, here you are." He handed a $5 bill to the man with the gun and added pleasantly, "I'm sorry to have broken up your hunt."

"I wasn't going hunting," replied the other as he pocketed the bill.

"Not going hunting? Then what were you doing with the dog and the gun?"

"Going to the woods to shoot the dog."

A Very Hungry Mule.

A gentleman had an occasion to ship a mule by train, sending it to the station in charge of a darkey. When the freight was put on he looked through the bars and saw the mule eating the tag on which its destination was written. He at once ran home and said:

That Rate Law Again.

For several miles the through passenger train No. 1 had plodded along in the wake of the slow freight. The travelers grew irksome and even petulant.

"Conductor," says one of the boldest of them, "Why do you not get that freight to take a siding while we go by it?"

"Under the new Hepburn law," explains the conductor sadly, "we are not allowed to pass anything."—Kewanee (Ill.) Star-Courier.

No Peace Conference.

"Are you going to strike, ma?" asked the little boy, as he tremblingly gazed upon the uplifted shingle.

"That's just what I'm going to do."

"Can't we arbitrate, ma, before you strike?"

"I am just going to arbitrate," she said, as the shingle descended and raised a cloud of dust from the seat of a pair of pantaloons—"I am just going to arbitrate, my son, and this shingle is the board of arbitration."

Deadheads at That.

"Conductor," said the gasping passenger, vainly trying to raise a window, "there are at least a billion microbes in this car."

"You ought to be able to stand that if the company can," growled the street-car conductor. "We don't get a blamed cent for carryin' 'em."—Galesburg (Illinois) Republican Register.

Our Correspondents

"IMMIGRATION, MOBS, STATESMEN."

SIDNEY BROOKS is an English writer who for years has given us a great many very interesting and sensible essays on the problems of modern nations, and also in connection with their international relations. He has really been a cosmopolitan writer of considerable virtue. He is in sympathy with our development and success. His ideas about what we, in the United States, should do, have often been pretty good and wise, in a broad sense of general international welfare. His last essay, in a recent Harper's Weekly (we write in the middle of October), dwells on the problem of Asiatic immigration into Canada, the United States, South Africa, Australia, etc. He tells us that our Pacific regions and those of Canada can only be developed through Asiatic workers; we, white people, being unwilling or unfit to perform certain forms of work at a reasonable price. That has always been the emphatic implication, in all nations and generations, on the part of those in favor of receiving large numbers of workers from abroad.

The writer in question sings, as a matter of course, the old song of "regulation." He adds: "The Asiatic immigration into regions ruled by the white races should be 'regulated,' not by mobs but by statesmen."

Let us now listen to what a so-called reform governor of our principal State in the Union has recently told us in a public speech: "What the citizens of this State need, more than anything else, is to ascertain the truth, in the dealings of their government, or the readiness of the government to account to the people for the truth."

That reform governor of ours is especially careful not to tell the people the principles on which the truth should be regulated, in connection with governmental doings. That dreadful "truth" about which we have now been chattering for over sixty long, long centuries; would that truth need any new set of regulations every year, and decade, and century, if it was once established on sound, simple, unselfish, altruistic rules? But oh! We had forgotten all about it. We need to be selfish. God himself forces us to be selfish. Is not that practically what the wise and prudent teachers and leaders have always been telling to the rabble of all nations.

The knotty problem of immigration commenced to trouble this nation of ours about fifty-five years ago, and it was not then the Asiatic; it was European, and European white immigration is yet bothering the mobs and the statesmen all over the Union. And please, why should we have mobs, we so-called Christianly educated nations? What are mobs after all? Are not they but selfish manifestations on the part of the people whom we crush under wrong human laws enacted by the superior classes of all nations, by our chosen statesmen? Where are the statesmen that have given humanity any kind of decent legislation as suggested by Isaiah and Jesus?

The immigration problem, white or yellow, black or green, cultured or crude, and every other of the ten, twenty or forty or more problems we may have—there must be a simple, fundamental cause for them all! Please notice that it is always the superior nations and races that are pestered with immigration from inferior people. And that happens when the superior nations or races have ten or fifty times more territory than they can properly use. It also happens when the superior races have been superior enough to imitate the worst despotism in legislating the worst governmental crime peculiar to all human governments through the whole march of historical development. What is the crime in question? We shall not mention it, because we all know it, but prefer to ignore its existence.

The Saturday Evening Post for October 19, refers to the fact that the City of New York could only manage to obtain a loan for $40,000,000 through a private New York potentate, when the demand for bonds was three times the value of that loan. Yet the City of New York, under decent civilization, would have a capital of five billions of dollars, equal to a net revenue of $250,000,000 per annum at five per cent, over double the public expenses of the city, and that would simply mean a tax on monopoly and no tax whatsoever on what labor produces and had to pay, so as to enable the accumulation of millions in the hands of a few. We shall in future explain the whole process if some of our readers ask for it.

The process in question is well known to all our influential business men, to all our important lawyers, professors and clergymen; the very men to whom the governor we have mentioned asks to see about their government resting on the truth; the very truth we don't want anything to do with. There would be no inferior men, classes, nations or races if we, superior people, had, for at least fifteen or twenty years, legislated principles of truth in the compact of our superior nations. We would not be in hot water because of immigration of any kind; we would have no mobs, we would not need any statesmen. Honest legislation does not need anything but honest men.

Of course, the governor in question did not ask our millions of plain people to see about their government doing what is right. Every man of sense knows that we don't give to the people the power to discriminate between the right and the wrong in governmental functions. Their lives are too harsh for that. Their earnings are not sufficient to generate good blood and healthy ideals. There is neither time nor taste for that, under the excitements, the conflicts, the sorrows and fantastic needs we create under our materialistic progress.

Without the bottom governmental crime in force yet everywhere, none of the inferior nations would need to send off any of their people. They all could have, where God and Nature dropped them, the same healthy abundance we all could have, and lack, in our superior nations.

"Lay not up for yourselves treasures on earth. Lay up for yourselves treasures in Heaven." We thus refuse the Heaven we could have on earth, and do our best to deprive ourselves of Heaven in the beyond.

Heaven! What can that be? "Complete union, private and collective, with God, through free, spontaneous obedience to God's simple laws of life and completion universal." We still prefer obedience to our own laws of universal sorrow and sin. The inferior nations have their inferior sins and sorrows. The superior nations have their superior sorrows and sins. All nations have their mobs and their statesmen, with immigration or emigration, and plenty of other evils besides. All because we, superior and inferior people, lean on statesmen, the kind skillful enough to forever play hide-and-seek with the simplicity of the truth in governmental duties. We thus remain at the mercy of the conceits of human wisdom, in open rebellion against the wisdom of God.

JOSE GROS.

LAWS ARE WEAK.

The time is not far distant when our nine-hour day will supposedly take effect, but we really believe there isn't many of our 40,000 brothers but who are in doubt of the reality. It is simply because they have far greater faith in the railroad companies than they have in themselves with the law and majority on their side, and because they know law never conflicts with capital successfully.

Although we have been given by law a nine-hour day, to take effect March 4, 1908, we are yet in fear that it will never take effect, because law is weak before capital, and it is so easy for the railroad companies to have the law declared unconstitutional.

We all know we rightfully and justly deserve more than our present salary. If it were doubled we would not get more than we earn. Now the thing for us to do, while the railroad companies are striving to have the nine-hour day declared unconstitutional, is to show our teeth and point out to them that it seems to be unconstitutional for them to relieve us of all that we earn except simply just enough to exist upon. Unless we get the nine-hour day and $75 per, we are two that will stay with the majority of the boys and come to no other considerations.

TAB AND BEE.

CANADIAN MEMBERS MUST PARTICIPATE.

I think it my duty to answer Bro. Q. O., Cert 715, and to express to him my gratitude for having remembered us, that we Canadian members of the great O. R. T. must not be left out, but must participate in the great schedule of March 4, 1908. There is no reason why we should be left behind March 4. We have always been loyal to the Order, and have as strong a membership on every road as any other country. I appeal to all Canadian members to express their opinions through the columns of the O. R. T. journal, which are always generously opened to us.

Hoping Canadians will make a noise and make up their minds on the subject, I will leave space for others.

CERT. 1,808, Div. 7.

EIGHT HOURS OR WALK OUT.

Eight hours March 4, 1908, or walk out is my vote. How many vote with me?

Have just read an article in the September TELEGRAPHER on this subject, written by Bros. Van Auker and Knapp, two men "after my own heart," and they have the right idea. The only way to get what is coming to us is by united action. Now, brothers, when you get your journal, fill out the blank that you will find therein for your vote and mail to our President immediately. Don't wait a few days to see what the other brothers are going to do about it; do it now, so Bro. Perham can see, and let us know what is to be expected. Vote to go out March 4, 1908, unless the eight-hour law is put into effect; then go out and stay. Don't get scared that you will lose your job and never get another by going out; that is not the way to win. Go out with a determination to stay out until we win, then victory is ours, and not until then. I for one will walk out the minute Bro. Perham blows the "whistle," and you will find me out when Gabriel blows his trumpet, unless we get what we ask for. How many of you are with me? If I had the power to inspire you into action, I would be willing to walk from place to place and preach to you the importance of being firm in this matter. Stand as "Stonewall Jackson" stood. Don't get weak in the knees and slip back to the company. Stay out until you starve or win. No need to starve, though. You can get something to do to keep soul and body together until we get ours. It is to be hoped we will get the eight hours and not have to be forced to do this. Anything honest and fair before a strike; but when everything else has failed, then strike and strike hard.

CU., CERT. 934, Div. 59.

"SHOULD MAKE OUR DEMANDS UNITEDLY NOW."

Having read so much in our journal relative to the question of shorter hours and better pay for those of our craft, and having time after time resolved to offer my views for publication through the columns of THE TELEGRAPHER, and as many times having failed, I am at last constrained to do so. The time was when I felt that if I kept my dues paid promptly, and always carried an up-to-date card, that was about all that was necessary for one to do. An idea held by too many, I fear. If all felt that way, the Order would be about where it was twenty years ago, would it not? Each would be waiting for some one else to take the lead. This is not a time for such action. It is a time when personal effort will count for much. Therefore it behooves each and every one of us to lend what assistance we can to a move that will in some measure ameliorate our present condition. Judging from the sentiment expressed by so many articles in THE TELEGRAPHER of late (and we believe this to be an expression of the sentiment of the Order as a whole), it seems to be the consensus of opinion that the time for action is at hand, and I believe if ever the time was opportune, when we should rise in our might and demand our just rights, it is now.

Our organization is stronger now than ever before, and growing by leaps and bounds. Members are being added at a rate of from twelve to fourteen hundred per month, as compared with five or six hundred a few months ago. Great enthusiasm seems to be manifested in all parts of the country. In view of the advantage we now have, in the matter of national legislation, but realizing that this does not completely cover the ground, in that it does not benefit the one-man stations, I think the time for us to assert our rights is now. Therefore, I am in favor of the following plan:

Have our worthy President, Bro. Perham, take this matter in hand and have ballots prepared and mailed to all telegraphers, asking them to vote, if they are or are not in favor of, and in case of a walk-out, would they support the Order, in a demand for an eight-hour day and a 30 per cent increase over present wages (or whatever demands our national officers think best, but the eight-hour day by all means). Then, if the results were in the affirmative (which they unquestionably would be) let him instruct the General Chairman of every scheduled road in the United States to call their General Committees to meet the management of every such scheduled road on a certain stated time, say, March 4, 1908. Then let them submit our demands simultaneously, from Maine to Florida, and from Washington to Texas, and ask them to comply with our requests once, instead of us having to bow to them always.

Give them to understand we expected them to concede to our request or we would cease to do business. What would be the result? Would we be asked to take the walk? I think not. I believe there would be such a hurrying to sign schedules on this basis as was never seen before. They would be ready to sign them up as fast as they could write. Look at the attitude the railway officials assumed when there was rumor the O. R. T. would go out in sympathy with the Commercial men. Oh, no! They did not want any trouble with their men. They were too busy running the railroads. I believe the eight-hour day and 30 per cent increase, or $75 minimum, is ours for the asking. Let us ask for it.

Then our long-fancied dreams will be fulfilled. There would be some pleasure, some chance of recreation and enjoyment in life. What shall it profit a man if he work his whole life and have no happiness therein? Is he any better than a machine? What was the mind of the Master when He created man after His own image? Was it to serve his days as many who have grown gray in the service have? And shall these younger in the service spend their days thus? No! A day of reckoning, if not at the present, is not far distant in the future. We may defer the action outlined above for a while, but the results of such action must inevitably come. The day when employer can compel employee to work long, weary hours, with no chance for recreation, and for a mere pittance, is fast passing away in this land.

The people are becoming educated on the question of organized labor. Some of the best scholars and ablest thinkers of the day are advocating organization. And why should not the employee have somewhere near an adequate compensation for what he puts into a business? Are not we who are putting in our best days in the service of the railroads the ones that are making the business profitable, and should we not share in some of the profits? How long do you suppose the train men would stand for the treatment accorded us operators and not register a kick? Suppose the committee for the firemen, or engineers, for instance, would come back and tell them they had signed up an agreement whereby they were to work 30 and 31 days of 12 hours duration, every day in the month, for the sum of $50 or $55, or, possibly, $48? In my fancy I can see the blue smoke roll out of the stack; the air would be squeezed on, and, with the emergency set, that kind of business would come to a halt with a rush. They would say, "Our service demands $125 to $180 or more per month." Are not our services just as valuable, and are we any more dispensable to the operation of railroads than they? Then, why not demand equal treatment with our brother worker? Let us do it and do it now.

As I said before, it is a time for personal effort, so let us storm the fort at St Louis with petitions and letters until the ball is started. If enough such letters reach there, I am sure our President will take up the matter.

CERT. 637.

OF COURSE.

You would like to have an eight-hour day.

You would like to have enough salary to enable you to live.

You would like to have leisure to read and walk and talk.

You would like to get acquainted with your wife, or have time to look for her.

You would like to feel sure that you were sure of your job.

You would like to know that if you were sick, you could be relieved..

You would like to get tired without being fired.

You would like to get over one day's work before you begin another.

You would like to have time to exercise at something to keep you straight.

Good. You are getting horse sense. Whatever a man wants, he may have. If he doesn't want it and ain't afraid of getting it, God could not give it to him. Gee, but I was tickled when I read THE TELEGRAPHER for August. Lots of war-paint on, and indications that something is going to happen.

I just want to caution you cool-headed fellows a little bit. Don't make the mistake of which we have so many records. Do not plunge part of us into this fight at a time. Let every division and every member of every division understand at once. Let us give notice to every railroad management in the United States (Canada and Mexico, too, for that matter) that commencing March 4, 1908, every railroad telegrapher will go out and stay out until we get what we ask for. We will notify them that if they want to see something like the facilities for traveling that were known when Columbus arrived, they may do so by refusing to grant our demands. No petitioning. Slaves petition. Men demand. Let us get to work at this at once. Stick for an eight-hour day and eight hours' work.

There is no sense in asking for an eight-hour day as long as we allow them to saddle sixteen hours work onto us.

Cut out the mail carrying. Cut out the reports incident to information regarding competitive situation. No information can be furnished that can not be gotten from records in our offices. No more shoveling snow off platforms.

We will not take one side of the Mississippi, but will take both sides of it.

I am coming every month until we have made that eight hours and $75 a reality.

The freeing of ourselves from the tyranny of capitalism, however, can be fully realized only when all others are freed. Let us put ourselves in as good a position to help others as we can, and then renew the battle to the end that no man who is willing to earn his living shall be denied the opportunity to do so, and that any man who declines to earn it shall not have a living.

I will tell you how that can be accomplished in my next.

FRED A. WILSON,

CERT. 2, DIV. 70.

PLANS MUST BE WELL LAID.

I have been reading THE TELEGRAPHER for a long time, and think I would like to add a little note to what the boys are writing.

In the first place, I think Bro. Quick deserves unstinted praise for the journal. It certainly is "par excellence." It is the most sensible magazine that comes to my desk, besides being chock full of encouragement to better work and living and of news from all the boys. Every month the journal has a number of articles full of good common sense, that ought to be published broadcast, but the press is so blinded by corporation money that they can not see any worth in the working man's claims. Particularly the article on "The Man in the Tower," by Denning, in the May number, and the "Short Line" write-up by Cert. 767, in the September issue. These articles contain facts that would open the eyes of the public if they could be published broadcast. However, I make a practice of marking my journals and starting them out into circulation after I have read them, and if all the boys would do that it would get a few people to know where we are at. And we must have the good will and moral support of the people back of us. It will be good "stock in trade" when the test comes, as it must come soon. And right here, let me say, be courteous and polite to the public. People are exasperating, I know. I have been through it all. But remember that railroading is a Chinese puzzle to the average traveler, and then, courtesy costs nothing anyway, and we will need their moral support soon now. There is considerable complaint and ill-feeling among the general public over the treatment received at the hands of some of the railroad employees. Kindness to the public will bring better results than you imagine when the "show-down" comes. It takes men of the best sense and mettle to make successful railroad men, and the fact that a man makes good is in fact the highest possible recommendation of judgment and ability.

Now, a word in regard to the $75 minimum. It is all right, and it is little enough to expect; but your plans are going to have to be carefully laid and your committees as smooth as oil, if it does not arouse the officials to a stubborn fight against it. I think a good plan would be to have the division committees formulate a schedule for each section of the division, raising the pay something like 20 or 25 per cent. Different locations and jobs deserve different considerations. You must all act together on this in some way or other. The railroads are not going up against the deal the commercial companies are up against now. It costs too much. Stick together. Keep after the nons. Use judgment in your demands, and you will win in a walk. The sooner done the better, too.

BERT BRADSHAW.

SIMULTANEOUS ACTION.

Hurrah! At last I believe the boys are coming to their senses. I believe the 4th of March, 1908, should be made the crisis for all telegraphers. We have been oppressed long enough, and I think this is the time set for a concerted movement for a $75 minimum or hourly pay. I have been out of the railroad service for over two years and am drawing $22.50 a month more than the best job I ever had on the railroad and I have held some of their best. I never expect to go on the road again, unless there is an eight or nine-hour day and $75 minimum pay. I know of five telegraphers right in half a mile of my office who have quit telegraphing because there was not enough in it and too long hours.

The Santa Fe have raised their telegraphers $3 to $5 per month. Do you know the reason? They are expecting the other railroads to give the operators in their employ an increase, and they do not want to have most of the good ones, and the Santa Fe is having hard enough work getting operators as it is. The grand old Order has most of the good ones, and the Santa Fe can not see it right to do the right thing by them, so they have to rustle and raise wages, and then take the hams.

I was looking over an old journal the other day, back in 1904; the first thing I came across was an article on the $75 minimum. Here we are, three years later, and still harping on the same old minimum, and, although nearer the goal than three years ago, we are still a good way from it. Every road should send up her committee on March 1, and give them until March 4 to sign up for the $75 minimum or hourly pay, and if not, we will all step out on all the roads and stay out until every road is compelled to sign.

Why, men, how long do you think it would be before Uncle Sam would step in when all the railroads and telegraph wires were tied up? He could not move mail at all, and he would not stand for that very long. He would come out for arbitration, and that would give us a chance to air our grievances, and we would be bound to win. The public is entirely ignorant of the way we are treated and the wages paid us. To them the railroad man is IT and they think he draws an enormous salary.

Here's hoping that we may have the $75 minimum and the eight-hour day March 4, 1908.

G. E. SPENCER, GRAND 1,846.

GET BUSY.

Cert. 1,404, of Division 33, has an article in the September TELEGRAPHER that every telegrapher in the country, both member and non, should read.

Now that we have things coming our way, let's get the ball rolling and keep it rolling until we get what we want. For the past three years, all kinds of suggestions have been made, and not one of them acted on. Let us make our stand March 4th. Get everything in shape and present it to the railroad companies January 1, 1908, to take effect March 4, 1908—$75 and eight hours—or tie up the entire country. Stand pat and don't give an inch. If we do, they will take a mile. Let each division vote on this at their meetings, and those who can not attend, mail their vote. The General Chairman can then put the case in the hands of Bro. Perham, and he and Bro. Quick can act accordingly. In this way, it will take a lot of unnecessary work off Bro. Perham, and, besides, the General Chairman of a division is the proper person to handle such cases.

However, it is up to the brass-pounders to get started. So now all get together and it's got to come. The B. of R. T. committees on all roads entering Chicago got together last spring and made a schedule of just what they wanted, and with the assistance of their Grand Master presented it to the railroad managers' association, and gave them until a certain date to sign it. Naturally, the companies fought them to the last, but there was no backing up, and they signed up to prevent a strike. (Good thing they did.)

The B. of R. T. got what they wanted. We can do the same, if we all go together. No use of a few roads trying it. Every railroad in the United States must be in it. Come on, boys, let us take a few bottles from the New York Four Hundred. We can do it. Are you ready? Get busy, Don't roll cigarettes and sleep; get that pen moving. Every little helps; and don't forget our schedule to be presented January 1, 1908; and out we come March 4, if they don't come up.

Yours for what we want,

MACKEREL SNATCHER.

TRAIN DISPATCHERS.

I would like to say a few words in regard to train dispatchers and telegraphers, which subject was brought up in the September journal by Cert. 10, Div. 23.

We must defend ourselves, and as I am a train dispatcher, and also a brother, I would like to offset our brother's idea somewhat.

I will admit there are some things more agreeable, perhaps, in the line of clean offices, etc., but let us look at this work; let us follow a train dispatcher's route day after day, and one can easily see that a dispatcher's life is certainly not all sunshine.

There are many worthy brothers in this line of work, and I fully believe they will agree that our responsibility is fully double that of any telegrapher, and our salaries are not always $125.

I have been long in the service as a telegrapher. Worked in nearly all the largest offices on one particular railroad, and I can safely say I never found one position to equal, or anywhere equal, my responsibility as a dispatcher.

We want to take into consideration that promotion means greater responsibilities, and telegraphers are always promoted to dispatchers; therefore, it means brotherhood complete, and we should not trample upon dispatchers' feet, as it injures much in the way of bringing together the telegrapher with the train dispatcher, and it is truly a strong point to consider. It means very much; it is well to be thought over. Telegraphers and train dispatchers should be in one brotherhood. It would mean much. What think you?

CERT. 155, DIV. 76.

EDUCATING THE PUBLIC.

In reading the columns of the journal this evening, I was led to think of how much we learn of the general conditions prevailing on our own, as well as other roads, through this magazine. Without these lessons we would soon be dead to the fact that our own cause is not merely individual or local, but a cause of the hard working telegrapher throughout the continent, and so great in magnitude, that to be successfully coped with, we must use every means in our power. The greatest power at work today is the public. The lessons of the last few months prove that even the greatest corporations are unable to combat successfully the forces at command of the people. This public is being brought more and more face to face with the telegraphers' cause, and with good reason, for what affects the telegrapher affects the public, more or less. From this we learn the benefit to be derived from having the public thoroughly conversant with the duties of the man who holds the lives of many in his hands; his responsibilities (and they are many), and the essentials that make the telegrapher a man to be trusted.

If we desire public aid and sympathy, we must make every possible effort to have not only our desires, but the demands of the employer made known to the public, and this can be best accomplished by, what? By well prepared literature, sent to every community where an operator is employed. Our journal is instructive, and appreciated by all into whose hands I have placed it from time to time, and also has influenced its readers to give us more thought. Public subscriptions for this magazine, which is such a potent factor in aiding our cause, have been, and are solicited. But how many of us have ever asked a person to subscribe? Not one in a hundred. I would like to ask Bro. Quick if club offers might not be made to would-be subscribers, and I am sure every brother would be glad to make every effort to raise one or more clubs in his own town. We should do either this, or control an up-to-date newspaper in as many centers as our capital would permit—a paper that could not be muzzled by a few dollars, as are the majority of those now in print. I would like to say much more, but know space will not allow it. Would invite the Editor's criticism of my plan of reaching the people. Has any brother another plan? Would be glad to assist in anything feasible.

F. W. CRAWFORD, Cert. 14, Div. 83.

NOTE.—Any member securing ten yearly subscribers to THE TELEGRAPHER at $1 each will be allowed to retain $2.50 from the amount collected, if the ten subscriptions are sent in at one and the same time.

HOURLY PAY.

I have just been reading an article in the September number of THE RAILROAD TELEGRAPHER, from Cert. 763, Div. 2, and would like to say a few words on this subject. I think this brother has made a good suggestion; better yet than the $75 minimum and eight hours.

But there is no use for us to sit still and talk of the fine times we are going to have when the eight-hour law goes into effect, March 1, 1908, for if we do we will be in the same old rut we are in now. Now is the time to get busy, as there is no time like the present. So let us get busy and go together and ask for a 30-cent per hour rate and eight hours per day (except Sunday), and 60 cents per hour for all Sunday work, and one hour off for dinner, or one hour overtime. And then, if the railroads do not want to give us what we want, let President Perham call a general strike, and all go out and stay out until everything is reported O. K. Let us show the railroads what we are made of. I would like to hear from some one else on this subject.

CERT. 1,629, Div. 33.

PREPARE FOR THE STRUGGLE.

Since the boys are realizing the fact that their talk avails nothing, and that action alone counts, I wish to say a few words in regard to prospective salaries, hours, etc.

I do not approve of the method of basing salaries on present salary with a per cent increase, or a stated sum per month on all positions, such increase to cover increase of cost of living expenses, for the reason that salaries are not and never have been what they should be, and no blanket increase will settle the difficulty, but the new rate should be based on the living expenses of each individual position, allowing salary enough to live decently, clothe respectably, raise your family without sacrificing their health (or probably you are like myself, have had to sacrifice even the family on account of not receiving salary enough to warrant your taking the responsibility of a family upon yourself, knowing that it would be impossible to support one, therefore such an act would be a crime), and be able to lay by enough to support you after your years of service are past.

I do not think the hour rate would prove satisfactory. There would be too much cutting out of time without previous knowledge. The month rate will prove more satisfactory. But, above all, let us have time and a half for overtime and Sunday. In the States which have passed an eight-hour-day law, that length day must be observed, and in the other States, the national nine-hour law until such time as these States can pass an eight-hour law, or the companies will treat with our committees on this question. Let this go into effect on the date our national law is supposed to be effective, and make them effective. You have the correct idea if you only have the nerve to carry it out, and it is up to you to say whether these are dead laws or not.

From the fact that a national nine-hour law was passed, don't think for a moment that the companies are going to recognize it; and you will find we are up against a harder proposition this next term of Congress, to prevent this law being repealed or amended in favor of the companies, than it was to have it passed.

I notice some are in favor of a special assessment to provide funds to put these laws into effect; some favor $5, others up to $25. It is not necessary for a special assessment at all, but it requires far more than either $5 or $25, but it is not necessary for this money to pass out of your hands.

We all, where our salaries will permit, like to take a vacation each year and spend all we can earn in the next year (not what we have saved—we can not save it). Let us all set our vacation for next March, and notify, if necessary, our superiors, by January 1, to give them plenty of time. You can not afford to lay off at that time? Supposing you are sick, what then? Recently I had to lay off and have a surgical operation performed. I could not afford to, but the case did it for me; and that is what we are up against now. It's got to be done, whether we can afford it or not, and it is those who can not afford it that the companies are going to use, not only to kill us with, but themselves, too. My little case takes me from work nearly two months and costs me, well, it scares me to think of it.

Begin today and prepare for an enforced lay-off March 1, and take it whether or no. Have some employment in view to hold you up until after this affair is settled, and do not depend upon any beneficiary fund to which you have contributed $5 or even $25 only, to hold you up, but have your own private fund for this purpose. At this season of the year, the grass is getting high enough for grazing; get out on it if necessary; have your house rent paid, rent an acre or so of land, plant a garden, and you can live on the produce one season if not longer, and a few days' work occasionally as a common laborer will supply the other necessities for a time. If possible, buy an acre near your town, even if you do pay more than it is worth; get an 8x10 tent, set it up and be independent. I have arranged for this very thing myself, only I went to Isle of Pines, Cuba, for my land, where you can clothe yourself for $5 per year, and take a pole and knock your food off the trees every day in the year; where one-half acre of land produces the support of an entire family (native), and there are plenty of places in this country throughout the Southwest where one can live almost as cheaply if you go to a territory beyond the influence of the railways.

I will acknowledge it is not a desirable place for one to live all his life, but a mighty good place to go to in case of trouble, until your demands are granted, and there are none but what might have land enough to set their tent on and sufficient for a garden if they would club together, buy a suitable sized piece and distribute by lot. Get independent. You are about to enter upon a struggle for freedom. You must not lose. Not only your own, but the lifelong happiness of those depending upon you depend upon your action during the next few months. Let the action be as universal and prompt as the movement was to have the nine-hour law passed.

FAVORS MILLION-DOLLAR COMPANY.

I notice an editorial in THE TELEGRAPHER regarding the bond question. The suggestions regarding the formation of a bond company are identical with what I have argued but never written. I can see no reason why a million-dollar bond stock company can not be established among the agents and telegraphers. I am a telegrapher of over twenty years' actual service, and have always been in favor of helping to do away with that infamous method of having a powerful bond company take away a man's bond simply because some one saw him take a glass of beer, or had a personal grudge against him. I don't think any of us are so poor that we could not take at least five shares each; as for my part, I will take ten immediately, and as much more as I can get hold of from time to time. I have so much faith in the theory expressed by the Editor that I will be willing to give up a better than $70 per month position and start out and sell this stock for a small per cent on the sale of each share. Under the present methods I know of men whom I would not loan 25 cents to and expect its return, yet through their shrewdness they managed to scheme through and get a bond, and on the other hand, I know men whose honesty can never be questioned, yet on account of the moderate use of liquor, they are unable to procure a bond. I am not upholding the liquor league, neither am I a member of the W. C. T. U. or anti-saloon league, yet I do maintain that the use of liquor is no forerunner of a dishonest man. A bond company, such as is suggested by the Editor, would be of mutual benefit to all concerned. First, the railroad companies would be absolutely safe, and they would not experience so much trouble in getting agents as they do now, and there is always a shortage of agents; even during the hard times an agent who could give bond was in demand. Second, the stock would be scattered all over the country, and it would be impossible for a man to "sink" a thousand dollars of the railway company's money and have our bond company make good and still continue to work in the railway service, for every stockholder would be interested and would be a sort of detective and a protection to our company. Do you think I or any other stockholder would permit a man to come in the same office with us and continue to work under the name of "John Smith" or "Pete Ikey" when we knew that his right name was Bill Jones, and three weeks ago he absconded with $3,000 of the S. S. & V. V. Ry.'s money, which "we" had to make good? If a man stole your overcoat from your office and started to run, would you go to the door and say, "Hey, Bill, you are all right, come back and stay all night and take supper with me?" I think not. We would be more apt to send the contents of a six-shooter after him, and it would be the same way with an absconder of our bond company. Now, these railway officials are intelligent men, and they would be quick to see the benefit they would derive from this, in just such cases as I have here recited. I am not in favor of talking on this subject much, but I am in favor of putting it in operation immediately, on the exact outline as suggested by the Editor, except I would be in favor of a million instead of $250,000.00. Let's figure a little, then I will close. There are now 40,000 good O. R. T. men, to say nothing about a whole lot of agents and operators who are not O. R. T., yet nearly as good as we are. Let's make it, say, 50,000 men, railway officials included, for if they see a chance of a dividend they might invest in a few shares. One hundred thousand shares at $10 per share would mean $1,000,000.00, divided equally between 50,000 men would mean two shares each, or $20.00. Who has not got $20.00? Don't all speak at once.

CERT. 352, Div. 70.

A SIMPLE WAY.

I am much pleased to see the article by the Editor, referring to the bond question, in the September journal. And while at present I do not need a bond, yet I do not wish to be like the man whom the Arkansas Traveler met in that State: "When the weather is fine we don't need any shingles, and when it rains we can't put them on." Hence this article. I think the Editor is correct when he says the Order has all it can attend to to take care of union matters, etc. I have studied the thing over considerable, and I think the simplest and most effective way would be to insert in all new schedules, "Any responsible bond will be accepted." For instance, on account of wayward ways in my youth, "absolutely not dishonesty," I can not give bond in the M— S— of A— Co., and as I understand all the bond companies stand together, it is very unlikely I could secure bond in any of the standard companies. However, in my home town there is one of three sound banks which would be willing and glad to go my bond for absolutely any amount in reason, up to $5,000.00, and while the bond would be as secure as any surety company could be, yet under the present system, few, if any, railways would accept it.

I as well as many others have seen for a long time that the bond companies have become a sort of blacklisting agency, and I among many would like nothing better than to see their backs broken, and I know of nothing which would accomplish the desired end more simply and easily than for us to be at liberty to furnish the railroad "any bond which is responsible."

H. D.

PROPOSED BOND COMPANY.

In the last issue of THE TELEGRAPHER Bro. Quick asked for a letter from every member of the Order, giving their views on the founding of a bonding company, to be managed and run by members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, and I wish to say just a few words on that subject.

I am sure that one of the biggest benefits that could be derived from organization would then be accomplished, and think that every one should at least say enough to express their opinion on the question.

I would be in favor of a bond company for the members of the Order only, and think that that would attract more members, as it would without a doubt be a means of establishing a bond system that would be in effect on all roads, thus doing away with making out an application for bond to a different company every time one went into the employ of a different company.

Although I do not claim to be at all posted on this question, I have a plan that I think would be first-class; that is, whenever a member of the Order takes out a bond to issue a certificate to him, showing that he or she is bonded in the Order; and another thing, if we did not bond nons, the railroads would have two bond companies to deal with, and of course that would give them a chance to kick on our organization; we, therefore, ought to pay the premium on our bonds ourselves and have it made an article in all schedules that we were to receive the amount of the premium in addition to our wages, payable either annually or semi-annually, upon receipt of a receipt from the bond company for the payment of our bond premium for the above named time.

I am not posted on the cost of bond at the present time, but think the O. R. T. could furnish a cheaper and just as reliable bond as the companies now in that business, for the reason that it would not be operated for personal gain, but more for the betterment of the conditions under which the members of our profession are now working.

As Bro. Quick said, I think it would be a good plan to make a stock company out of it and sell shares at $25.00 a share.

As I suppose that there will be many articles on this question from brothers who are more able writers than I, I will chop off, as I do not want too much energy to be wasted in making feed for the office goat.

"RA," CERT. 103, Div. 48.

O. R. T. BOND COMPANY NECESSARY.

Bro. Quick's call in the September TELEGRAPHER should get a good bunch of answers, if each man that has had trouble with a bonding concern should write. I for one have had mine. I was on one of the lines of the South this past winter and was getting along all right, pleasing the superintendent, dispatcher and all of the departments; also getting along well with all the patrons of the company; had been there some four months, when one day I received notice from my superintendent that the ——— Co. of New York wished to cancel their obligation in my behalf, and that I would be relieved at once. I at once took it up with the patrons of the company at the point where I was stationed, and they petitioned the superintendent to allow me to remain at the point as agent, offering to place the amount of the bond with the railroad or with the bond company and allow the bond to live. The superintendent, however, stated that in view of their contract with the bond company, he was powerless to act, notwithstanding that my record was clear and that he would like to retain me. He, however, stated that there was some chance of my getting it straight by taking it up with the bond company direct. This I did, sending them the petition, and offering to put up the amount of the bond myself, in cash, or get disinterested parties to put it up, or give them a personal bond for the amount and pay all expenses of having it investigated so that they would stand no risk at all in my behalf. They, however, refused to take any action in the matter, and would not give me any clue as to why they canceled it. Later on I got some of my own county officials to write them and they never deigned to answer their letters, although these men had known my father and me from infancy. I took the matter up with the superintendent again, and he said he would be very glad to reinstate me if I could get straight with the bond people. Meanwhile I had arranged with a reliable company to issue a bond to this company and get them to issue their bond to the railroad company in lieu. They wrote me that they could not do anything and that I would please them by considering the matter closed. I have been a railroad agent and operator eleven years and never had any trouble before with any bonding company, nor any one else, therefore I am at a loss to know what to think of the matter. To avoid such cases as this, it would be well for us to have a company of our own, that we may be more able to take care of our men.

In order for us to do this we should take in all classes of employes, as it would be unfair to the company to have to keep two bonding companies on their books when one would suffice.

This is my wish and the wish of lots of others, and I hope to see it in operation ere another twelve months. I will be glad to handle a stock subscription list myself.

CERT. 41, Div. 94.

NOW OR NEVER.

In regard to the eight-hour law, I will say, let there be less talk and more action in connection with this important matter. There is no doubt but what the railroads will do all in their power to put it off if possible and keep us all on the anxious seat. We do not want to spend one cent in fighting this matter through the courts. We hold in our hands the balance of power. So my suggestion is to let each committee call on the railroad officials with a new schedule for 35 cents per hour, same to go into effect on the day the eight-hour law does, and if we do not get this, then notify them that on the 4th day of March we walk out. Dollars to doughnuts we win.

CERT. 220, Div. 20.

FAVORS BONDING MEMBERS ONLY.

I am heartily in favor of Bro. Quick's proposed bond plan, and can see no good reason why at least 35,000 of the members would not join such a plan, both as a financial endeavor and for self-protection, as it is a well known fact that there are today a large number of telegraphers, who, from various causes, are in bad repute with the bond companies of this country.

These men, who are otherwise good, honest, reliable and experienced men in the profession, should be working stations and daylight jobs instead of night offices. A very small per cent of this class would be unable to give bond in a company where justice reigned supreme instead of prejudice, etc.

I would be strictly in favor of the company, when organized, furnishing bonds only to O. R. T. members in good standing.

During the past four years here I have had thirty-two night operators and out of that number only five could give bond, while the remainder, with a few exceptions, would be perfectly safe for bond if given a chance on their merits, and it is this class of men who should come forth now and place their suggestions before the membership at once, while the question is up, and we have an opportunity offered us to discuss it. So now is the only accepted time. Do it now, if only a few lines.

The plan as outlined in the September issue of the journal is good—the best that has been put out, and it is left entirely to the membership to push it through to perfection, or reject it and remain silent about the bond question in the future.

CERTS. 265 AND 1,546, DIV. 31.

FAVORS A BOND COMPANY.

The bond question as put in the September journal by the Editor is just the thing needed by our Order and should receive the hearty support of every member, not only from a business standpoint but for other reasons as well, which will do away with the form of blacklisting in vogue at the present time.

Now is the time for all members to get busy and write their approval of this question to the Editor before January 1. While this may not mean anything to some of the members at present, it may mean more to them in the next few years than they now imagine. This is a thing not to be passed over lightly. This is something that has been the talk of Order men for years, and we now have the chance of our lives to get what we want, and all who have not read the Editor's article in the September journal should do so at once. This is something that if passed up now will certainly be regretted in the next few years.

I am in favor of confining this bonding to members of our Order, but strict business methods should be pursued to prevent losses.

The Editor has outlined a good plan of action. It is now up to us to finish this great scheme. CERT. 209, DIV. 91.

Lancaster Div., No. 9.

I will again try and treat our friends and brothers with my monthly write-up from this young and flourishing division. We had a nice turn-out of boys at our September meeting, and all present assisted in disposing of the volume of business on hand, which included the setting aside of $150 as a saving fund from the well-filled treasury, and the Board of Trustees given instructions to invest same in the most reliable trust company of the city.

Seven new applications were presented, with committees reporting favorable, and all were admitted to membership. A like number are already assured for next month, which shows the interest that is being taken by our membership, who continually have their weather eye open for nons.

Thus far all members have paid up for the present term, except a very few, who have promised to come up next month. This is more than coming up to our expectations.

Bro. G. H. Eckman, extra from Lancaster, is having quite a stretch of work on middle trick at Dillerville, on account of regular man working same hours at Lancaster.

Bro. E. R. Ebersole, nights at Rheems, was off duty the last ten days of October, recuperating at Akron, Ohio, where he is awaiting the news to be broken to him of his office going on the eight-hour system.

Extra C. W. Thomas, of Lancaster, creditably filled the vacancy at "KU," and before this reaches our readers we shall call him Bro. Thomas.

Bro. Ed Kauffman moved his family from Lancaster to Marietta, Pa., where they will reside for the present.

During the month of October three twelve-hour offices have been put on the eight-hour system, as follows: F. Q. Lucknow, Harrisburg yard; "H," station master's office, Harrisburg passenger station, and "WM," Witmer. The men at present working these positions, day and night, have been assigned to the first and second tricks, respectively, which leaves the third tricks open for bid.

Bro. F. B. Handwork, extra agent, worked two weeks at Mount Joy passenger station while Agent Stoll was enjoying his vacation.

Bro. F. K. Ament, telegrapher and ticket clerk at Malvern, has returned to duty from a well-earned vacation.

The members of the division responded nobly to the voluntary call for funds to aid the striking commercial telegraphers, and if necessary, many stand ready to make further contributions.

Div. Cor.

Sunbury Div., No. 12.

Sunbury and Lewistown Division—

Bro. J. W. Otto, who has been working the relief trick in the superintendent's office at Sunbury for the last few months, back to his old love, Rogers Summit days.

Bro. W. F. Shawver off for a few days' rest.

Bro. Thoman, of Rogers Summit nights, spent a few days visiting in Gettysburg with his parents. Bro. C. F. Wagner, of McClure, days, relieved for a few days by Bro. C. L. Hawbecker. "13" he and Bro. Calhoun made a record catch of fish.

The new tower at Hays is being held down by Bro. Oplinger, days, and by Bro. Johnson, nights.

It is hoped that we will all take warning from the experience of one of the brothers whose "messenger" "balled things up" for him. No use talking, we must cut them out, and the sooner the better for us all.

Quite a bunch of the boys were noticed on No. 68 on the night of the 10th on their way to the meeting at Sunbury. Certainly would have enjoyed going along, but since we are not allowed to work more than sixteen hours out of every twenty-four, it is simply impossible for us nighthawks to attend. However, we are there in spirit if not in person. "13" there were ten applications read and voted on. This should make us all but solid. Of course, there are a few "hard-shelled nons" who are hopeless. Seems strange some people are unable to see the light when it is pointed out to them.

I am indebted to Bro. Wagner for his help in order to have our division represented in our journal this month. Division 12 is a large division, and there is no reason why we should not have a good write-up each month, but it is a hard job to do it justice without help. It would take but a few minutes' work each month to chalk down a few notes and send them to me. Brothers, try this next month, and see if you are not better satisfied with the write-up in our next journal.

"13" our officials are away looking up a new form of running trains, the semaphore alone to govern the movement of trains. This will do away with the copiers, and put an increased amount of responsibility on the telegraphers out on the road. How are we going to get an eight-hour day and an increased amount of wages to correspond with the increased amount of responsibility that will rest on our shoulders? Brothers, are we always going to grind away for wages that, figure as we may, will hardly reach from one pay to the next? Did you ever stop to think that we are working 365 days a year, 12 hours a day; no Sunday or holiday to enjoy some of the pleasures of this world, for the small sum of a fraction over 12 cents per hour, while an ordinary laborer on the track receives 15.7 cents per hour, has Sundays and holidays to himself and family? Those of us who are married and have families would often like to go calling or to church, but after being penned up in one of these shacks 12 long hours the life is all ground out of us, and bed is the most inviting place, while our wives or children have to go alone, or stay at home. Is it any wonder that telegraphers die young? Take a machine—if it is not kept well oiled and in good repair, it is soon worthless. Just the same a man. He must have a certain amount of rest and recreation in order to keep his body and brain in good condition, but where is our recreation to come in? Guess it must be in carrying coal, filling lamps, sweeping offices and a dozen and one more things that are heaped on our shoulders, all for the small sum of $54.55 per? Who is to blame? No one but ourselves. While speaking with one of our officials about the responsibility and wages of telegraphers he readily admitted that the responsibility was as great, if not more so than that of an engineer or conductor, and that we should receive at least the same wages as a conductor. If a conductor does not receive from $100 to $125 per month he is kicking that he can not make a living. What would we poor "cusses" do if we drew $100 per? No use of dreaming, boys; we must be up and doing; get our organization solid, make our demands and back them up to a man. So let's wake up and act.

CERT. 15.

Baltimore Div., No. 17.

Baltimore Division, No. 17, has again lost one of its members through the medium of the Grim Reaper: Bro. John G. Burns, of White Hall, after an illness of about three weeks, succumbed to typhoid fever. Bros. T. E. Fidler, L. H. Nelson, W. Winstanley, W. B. Brenize, N. S. Tracey and T. E. Wiers served as pall-bearers at the funeral. Bro. Burns was a favorite among all who knew him.

Bro. Geo. Hartman has lost his mother. To each we extend our sincerest sympathy.

Division 17, in keeping pace with the Monumental City, held an open meeting during the great home-coming week. A goodly number of the brothers were present, and were addressed by Bros. L. A. Page, general chairman of the P. R. R. east of Poughkeepsie; Bro. Vanatta, general chairman of the B. & O., and several of the commercial brothers. This meeting was a decided success, but we were disappointed on account of the non-appearance of our president, Bro. H. B. Perham, who it was expected would be present to tell us many things of especial interest to the membership.

Bro. E. E. McMann recently purchased a new home at Lutherville.

Bro. Chas. F. Bebee, who recently cast his lot with the commercial telegraphers, is again employed on the P. B. & W. Glad to have him with us again.

Bros. Rollins, Jones and Shaw are all on the sick list. We hope for their speedy recovery.

Several of the brothers have political bees in their bonnets. We wish them success, as the boys in Maryland are especially anxious to see the election of those who are favorable to the craft.

Bro. J. G. Good spent part of his vacation in Atlantic City. Bro. J. M. Witmer worked days.

Bro. C. H. Smith has been seeing the sights in Western Pennsylvania and New York.

Bro. A. R. Day was visiting Jamestown.

Bro. Ellenberger, off sick for a week, is on hand again. Bro. Hoyer worked the "vib" during his absence.

Only a few "nons" remain on the upper end. We hope to have them with us soon.

We understand one of the men hired recently has opened a "ham" factory. We have reference to Harbolt, at "B.I." Get after him, boys.

The boys at York are often compelled to work short handed. No necessity for it, as there are plenty of men to be had if they only pay the money.

MONTABELLO.

Williamsport Div., No. 24.

Eastern and Susquehanna Divisions—

The regular meeting of the division was held at Williamsport on Thursday evening, October 3d, with a good representation present. Some of those present lost a day's time to attend the meeting, which shows the interest that is being manifested by the members of this division. Business of importance was transacted, with our genial chief, Bro. Tommy Hepler at the helm. There were three brothers initiated, namely: Bros. T. B. Williamson, J. C. O'Donnell and John G. Young. Due to sickness in the family of our worthy secretary and treasurer, Bro. John N. Sponsler, he was excused after the opening of the meeting, and Bro. Klingenberger filled this position with credit during the balance of the meeting.

Brothers, were you at the meeting, and if not why not? Do you know that you can not afford to miss a single meeting. Some of the brothers are losing time to attend. Do not be among those stay-at-home fellows. So much work is being done by the division that to miss a single meeting is to lose sight of what is being done.

Now, brothers, let us give the old O. R. T. wheel a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether, and with one great effort we will land the great ship into port with all her cargo on board. This will not take much effort, as the nons are about all in, and to find the balance after next meeting will require some searching.

With the exception of three or four all the members are paid up to date, and by the time this goes to print they, too, will be paid up, which makes a good showing for our division.

To wear an O. R. T. button on the Pennsy means more today than ever before, and you can paste this in your hat.

Are you one of the brothers who have been blessed with a "messenger" to help you out with your work?

It has been said that opportunity knocks at every man's door at least once in a life-time. Never before has opportunity knocked so loudly at the door of the telegraphers. Never before has our cause found so many friends among those who heretofore have been apparently disinterested. Never before have the efforts of the O. R. T. produced so great results. We must make the most of these favorable conditions, and we want every reader of these lines to take part in the great work.

On October 12th eight-hour tricks were established at "J" tower, which is the first office to receive this concession, and we extend our congratulations to the boys working this tower. Salary fixed at $60.50 for each trick. First trick begins at 7 a. m., and is filled by Bro. T. B. Williamson, while Bro. J. E. Ruebendall is working in "GO" office. The third trick has been assigned to Joe Slaughtman. While Joe is no member at this writing, ere it goes in print we hope to call him Bro. Slaughtman. Joe is the kind of material we are looking for, and will make a good member.

Bro. S. J. Groff, of Division No. 8, N. Y. C. System, has been employed here, and will soon be transferred to our division.

We are all very sorry, indeed, to hear of the illness of the wife and child of our worthy secretary, Bro. Sponsler, and sincerely hope that by the time this goes to press they will again be enjoying the best of health.

Bro. Harry Diese is taking his vacation at Chicago, and we extend our best wishes for a safe and pleasant trip.

Bro. C. H. Lenker is doing work as extra agent at different points along the division, and says the agent's work far exceeds the work of a telegrapher in the way of being strapped to the saddle.

We have six or eight applications to be acted on at our next meeting. Boys, come around and see what is doing. By the way it has been going it will require several extra meetings a month.

I want to thank our worthy brother, E. F. Holmes, for some of the personal notes in this letter which he so kindly handed me, and will welcome more for the next write-up.

CERT. No. 25.

Pittsburg Div., No. 52.

An apology is in order for the non-appearance of any items from division No. 52 in the October TELEGRAPHER. On account of the writer moving just at the time same should have gone forward, it was impossible to get them out; however, as this is the first offense, I am sure the members of this division will be lenient with their criticisms. I will endeavor to see that we are represented in THE TELEGRAPHER each and every month.

Regular meeting of September 14th opened at 8:40 p. m. with Bro. Kiger in the chair. All officers present with the exception of the marshal.

Eighteen petitions for membership read and favorably acted upon; of this number two were from the Conemaugh Division, P. R. R., five from the Allegheny Division, P. R. R., five from the Pittsburg Division, P. R. R., and six from the P. & L. E. R. R. Two requests for withdrawal cards read and requests complied with.

Bills amounting to $33, and sick claims amounting to $184 read and ordered paid.

Bros. H. A. Roberts, F. W. Roth and H. E. Shade reported on the sick list. Nothing further appearing to be transacted, meeting closed in harmony at 11:35 p. m. Number present forty.

First meeting in October held October 12th. Opened at 8:20 p. m., all officers being present, with the exception of First Vice Chief Telegrapher J. J. Standley. Minutes of the meeting held September 14th read and approved.

Twenty petitions for membership read and favorably acted upon. These twenty petitions were contributed by the various divisions of railroad, as follows: One from the Monongahela Division, P. R. R.; one from the Allegheny Division, P. R. R.; nine from the Conemaugh Division, P. R. R.; six from the Pittsburg Division, P. R. R., and three from the P. & L. E. R. R.

Owing to some of the officers and members present being obliged to leave at 9:30 p. m., regular routine business was dispensed with, and the question as to whether or not the members of this division would agree to accept a reduction in wages, along with a reduction of hours from twelve to eight, when the nine-hour law becomes effective. Same was discussed from all sides quite freely, it being unanimously agreed that no reduction in salary would be accepted, also that an increase in wages should be forthcoming in the near future.

Bills amounting to $62.26 and sick claims amounting to $80 were ordered paid.

Following resolution on the death of Bro. Geo. O. McCoy read and adopted, this division herewith tendering its heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family:

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, God in His All-wise Providence has removed from our midst our highly esteemed and beloved brother, George O. McCoy; be it

Resolved, That we deeply regret his untimely demise, realizing that we have lost a good and loyal member, his family a loving husband and father, and his country a true citizen; and be it further

Resolved, That we, the members of Division No. 52, Order of Railroad Telegraphers, tender to our deceased brother's family our sincere sympathy and condolence; that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this division and a copy be sent to our late deceased brother's family, and a copy sent to THE RAILROAD TELEGRAPHER for publication.

J. C. HALL,
R. LONG,
J. F. SINGLEY,
Committee.

Bro. Chas. Ludwig reported sick in the Ohio Valley Hospital. Bro. Robert Gower reported out of employment.

Under good of the Order Bro. Dalrymple, general chairman of the P. & L. E. R. R., announced that a revision of schedule has been asked for, and that an audience with the officials of that road would be secured in the course of the next few weeks. (Probably ere this reaches you you will be working under a new and better schedule than the one now existing.)

Bro. Wentz, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, announced that this division will, in all probability, fittingly celebrate its twentieth anniversary November 23d, which is our regular meeting night. Meeting closed at 11:15 p. m. Number present forty-six.

Second meeting of October held October 26th. Opened at 8:25 p. m., all officers being present excepting the marshal. Minutes of meeting held October 12th read and approved.

Three petitions for membership read and favorably acted upon. The same included one from Allegheny Division, P. R. R.; one from the Monongahela Division, P. R. R., and one from the P. & L. E. R. R.

One sick claim, amounting to $10, ordered paid. No other bills presented.

Under good of the Order, local chairmen of the four divisions of the P. R. R. made quite lengthy verbal reports of the work accomplished by the P. R. R. general committee which just concluded its session at Philadelphia. Bros. T. M. Pierson, second vice-president; E. N. VanAtta, general chairman of B. & O. System Division No. 33, and R. K. Dalrymple, general chairman of the P. & L. E. R. R., also made appropriate remarks. Meeting closed at 11:45 p. m. Number present fifty-five.

Remember, the semi-annual dues period is again drawing nigh. All members are requested to remit as promptly as possible. We have about forty delinquents for current term, and the majority of these will, no doubt, remit within the next few weeks.

It is up to our members to fight against any reduction in salary which, it is rumored, some of the larger railroad companies contemplate. Remember, it has taken us quite a number of years to boost the salaries to the present level. Do not, under any consideration, stand for the slightest reduction. If your salary is reduced, or if you are asked to accept a position at less money than it has been heretofore, make a protest to your division operator or chief dispatcher, and immediately notify your local chairman, giving him all the facts in writing.

Please notify the secretary promptly of any change in your address in order that he can keep in touch with the entire membership at all times. This is important. Stand by your committees at all times, and give them all the assistance in your power.

KLING.

Elmira Div., No. 100.

The regular meeting, held in Elmira, October 18th, was the poorest one in point of attendance which we have ever had. Only ten members present to handle the immense amount of business which came up. Bros. Weeks and Elliott, however, are a host in themselves, and with the assistance of Bro. Walker, they finally disposed of the accumulation, after which peace was restored.

Bro. Tipton, our local chairman, finding himself unable to attend to his many duties as extra agent, and at the same time devote the attention to Order business which he felt should be given it, resigned, and Bro. E. L. Wood was appointed in his place. Bro. Wood may rest assured that Division 100 will back him up thoroughly.

The applications are still coming our way, and they sure look good to us. Five at last meeting was a fair yield.

What's the matter with the south end members? Only one registered last night—Bro. Dunning. Can't lose him.

The ham foundry at Cogan Valley has at last become a nuisance. Nothing much said so long as Evans restricted his teaching to the members of his immediate family, but now that he has branched out, and is instructing everything that comes along, we shall be obliged to protest.

One of Evans' brothers who "graduated" from the Cogan Valley Institute, recently tried to work at Snediker. He stuck all night, but Bro. Pollock had to stick, too, as long as there was anything doing.

Bro. Bennet held down Snediker a few nights, and no trouble reported. See it's the man with a card now.

Bro. Crosby off for a couple of weeks. Understand on account of his mother's funeral.

Ralston advertised eight hours at last, and Bro. Holloran will have some time to himself. That will help some.

We are still looking for Bros. Ebersole and Gillette, from Roaring Branch, at meeting. "Come on in, fellers; the water's fine."

Delinquent Bro. Collins has returned from his vacation, which he spent at Jamestown and Atlantic City. Fine trip, he reports.

Mr. Brown is enjoying a vacation which he "earned" some way or the other. Haven't yet learned the particulars.

Probably all the brothers received a copy of the proceedings of that assemblage at Southport, in which the words "ignorance," "incompetence," and "indifference" were rather freely used.

It's about time something dropped. We are not called on to stand for anything of that kind.

The "Sleeping Beauties" will do well to keep their eyes skinned if they hope for anything from the general committee's visit down below.

Sister Kinney was there with the friendly smile when we passed Millport. We shall all be pleased to see her at our meetings when things shape up right.

Before this number reaches us Mr. C. B. Johnson, at "K," nights, will be entitled to the grand sign, also Mr. J. W. Harvey at "FR," days.

Cresson Div., No. 109.

Cresson Division 109 held two meetings during the month of September, it having been decided to hold the meetings regularly on the first and third Saturdays of each month. The first meeting of the month to be held at Cresson and the second meeting of the month to be held at Conemaugh, Pa., these arrangements to prevail for a few months at least, in order to afford a better opportunity for the admission of new members who may be desirous of becoming identified with the Order. The attendance at our Cresson meeting was reasonably fair, yet not up to our expectations, notwithstanding the fact that due notice of the meeting was mailed to each and every member by our worthy secretary. The question of providing a local chairman for the C. & C. Division was taken up at this meeting and Brother S. A. Kuhn, telegrapher at Wehrum, Pa., was unanimously elected by those present to fill the position, and we have every reason to believe that Bro. Kuhn is the right man in the right place, and he should have the hearty co-operation of every man on the system in building up our organization, and making working conditions better, and in general, making our services more desirable. Let us do our duty and thereby set a good example for others who follow in our footsteps, that they may understand what virtue there is in thorough organization. We had two applications presented at this meeting which were acted on favorably, with the encouraging news that there are others who will present their applications for admission in the near future.

Now, boys, get busy; there is a chance to do a little proselyting among the nons, and we should improve the time. Strike while the iron is hot.

While there was nothing special characterized the Conemaugh meeting, there were some very important questions fully discussed by those present with a view of bettering present conditions materially, and which necessitated a good attendance of the members before any final action could be taken in the premises, and which it was hoped could be acted on in the near future, hence the importance of having a good attendance at all of our regular meetings to act promptly on all questions that may arise from time to time.

For the want of information from the brothers and sisters in the shape of news items which I have requested through a former write-up, I am compelled to be brief this time. We hope to be able to offer something more interesting next time, with the assistance of the brothers and sisters, which I assure you will be highly appreciated.

St. Louis Div., No. 2.

A special meeting of this local was held at Decatur, Ill., on October 12th for the benefit of the Wabash membership and other lines entering that city.

The meeting was called to order at 9 p. m., with Bro. J. R. Hefner acting chief telegrapher in the chair, Bro. W. H. Harte, Jr., acting first vice, Bro. A. C. Lindenmuth acting past chief, Bro. T. A. Lane second vice, Bro. J. W. LaFever secretary, and Bros. C. A. Burton and J. C. McNairy inside and outside sentinels. Thirty-five of the faithful were present, including a number from the Illinois Central, Vandalia and C., H. & D. railroads.

The subjects discussed were principally of interest to the Wabash members. The general committee of that system are preparing to meet the management at an early date.

With the advent of the electric interurban railroads throughout the country ticket agents are confronted with the question of diminished ticket commissions from which the larger part of their salary is derived. It is a well-known fact that the passenger department plays but little part in the station agent's duties, it being possible for the ticket sales to dwindle to nothing, and his duties remain as onerous as before. This system, though manifestly unjust, has survived the antiquated methods of railroad administration, and the opinion is gradually taking form that there must be a readjustment of agents' salaries, independent of the nowadays uncertain ticket sales. The Wabash general committee propose to take this question up with the managing officials at their next schedule conference, and to this end the various local chairmen are making a canvass of the membership to ascertain the prevailing sentiment on the subject.

Various other matters were discussed, among them being the dismissal of Bro. A. S. Hedden, at East Decatur, for refusal to accept a position of lower rating.

The circumstances of the dismissal were gone over thoroughly, and it was the unanimous opinion of those present that Bro. Hedden had been unjustly dealt with. Bro. J. R. Hefner, local chairman, explained that the case was in the hands of the district operator, and was instructed to renew his efforts to secure reinstatement of Bro. Hedden.

Under the head of "Good of the Order," everybody was heard from with timely remarks of interest to the fraternity.

Bros. J. R. Hefner, W. H. Harte, Jr., H. J. Schwarz and J. W. Burch were the chief expounders. The debate was prolonged until 2 o'clock Sunday morning, at which time the meeting adjourned.

Those present voted that they had an enjoyable time, and had learned much from the proceedings of the meeting.

Bro. W. W. Renner was initiated for the exemption of the initiation ceremony.

The question of additional special meetings was discussed, but no definite decision was arrived at, the question being left to the discretion of the local chairmen. The members will be fully advised of future meetings of this kind in ample time to arrange for attendance.

The eight-hour situation in Missouri is in a state of statu quo. Several arrests have been made, and indictments secured against a number of superintendents and chief dispatchers, the final result being a trial in the Circuit Court at Warrensburg, in which the defendant was discharged, and the law declared unconstitutional.

It was the intention of the Telegraphers' Legislative Committee to carry the case to the higher courts, but the prosecuting attorney allowed the appeal to default. Another case is being prepared with the same object in view, and with the interests of the telegraphers more competently looked after.

The promoters of the bill are not discouraged in the least, being confident that it will ultimately be declared valid, and for the further reason that the bill was declared unconstitutional on account of the national law recently enacted through the efforts of Congressman A. P. Murphy, of Missouri.

The committee is still in need of funds, and assistance would be very seasonable at the present time. Bro. J. W. Burch, No. 319 Atlanta avenue, Tuxedo Park, St. Louis, Mo., is secretary and treasurer.

The commercial telegraphers' strike situation in St. Louis is decidedly "sticky," so far as the strikers are concerned. The recent denouement of President Small had the effect of solidifying the ranks, and the men and women now on strike are more determined than ever to hold out for a lifetime if the commercial companies offer no better terms than past conditions. Defections have been few and unimportant to date.

The railroad fraternity may well profit by the example of the commercial telegraphers who have now been on strike since August 12th, and have maintained their ranks practically intact since that date. This is the kind of warfare that wins, and their cause is worthy of every form of support that their railroad brethren are able to give.

Mr. D. C. Leach, formerly general chairman of the Union Pacific System, was a recent visitor at the general offices.

Bro. L. L. Gouter has returned from Coshoc-ton, Ohio.

Bro. C. E. Duncan, who has been confined to his bed by pneumonia, has returned to his duties at the general offices.

Bro. E. E. Uhl is also back from Springfield, Mo., and Chicago, Ill.

Bro. E. P. Waples is now on vacation.

Bro. Ernest Aber is in Renovo, Pa., visiting relatives.

Bro. F. J. Bick is back from Clapper, Mo.

Bro. H. A. Berry is visiting Kentucky relatives.

Dues for the term ending June 30, 1908, are coming in, although they are not due until January 1st. However, the dues period is a river the sooner crossed the better. Figure ahead, boys, and swing into line when the time comes.

THOMAS AQUINAS, Div. Cor.

New York Div., No. 44.

Regular meeting held Saturday evening, October 12th, was well attended, and the usual order of business prevailed.

Nine new members taken into the organization, and as many more petitions for membership acted upon.

The following changes in the station department:

Bro. E. M. Robinson, of Manorville, has severed his connection with the railroad company and gone into other business. Bro. Robinson has the best wishes of a host of friends. He is an old member of the Order, and one of the very best agents the Long Island Railroad ever had. His place will be hard to fill.

Relief Agent Wintress takes charge of Manorville station temporarily.

Bro. B. D. Corwin, of Sag Harbor, who has been with the company many years, and has always been an honest and faithful employee, has left the service of the company, his personal affairs having reached a point where it will require all his time and attention to attend to them. Bro. Corwin has the love, respect and esteem of all who are fortunate enough to have formed his acquaintance.

Mr. Bir's, of Wading River, bid in the agency at Sag Harbor, vacated by Bro. Corwin.

Haven't heard a word from Sister Kittie Hammond in a long time. Where is she?

Mrs. M. A. Hawkins has been installed as agent at Wading River, vice Mr. Bir's, transferred.

Mr. J. E. Albright is still at Smithtown. Bro. Brennan, of that place, is still on the sick list, but we understand he is improving in health, and will soon return to work.

Bro. Tibbals, of Division 8, called on some of his old friends in No. 44 one day this week. Bro. Tibbals has been enjoying a short vacation, taking a much needed rest, which has been very beneficial to him.

Bros. Shields and Van Nostrand attended the ball given by Division No. 8 at Poughkeepsie, October 16th, in honor of Hon. F. W. Northrup, father of the eight-hour law. They report a good time, and congratulate Bro. J. B. West and his committee of Division No. 8 on their great success as entertainers. Van says it was a swell affair, and Shields agrees with him.

On account of ill-health and personal affairs, Bro. F. H. Surine resigned as general chairman. Bro. Surine has been an honest and conscientious worker, and resigns with a good, clean record of work well done, but his health (which is none too good) will not permit him to remain in harness any longer.

The General Committee met in East New York on Saturday, October 19th, and elected Bro. Andy Leonard as general chairman to take the place of Bro. Surine. Bro. Leonard has been in harness many times before, and his election means that the affairs of the division will receive proper attention.

Bro. Gibson, of Hempstead Cross-over, has resigned and gone with one of the roads in New Jersey.

Bro. Van Nostrand, who is now one of the relief agents, relieved Bro. Frank O'Laughlin for two weeks at Flatbush avenue ticket office, and will relieve Bro. Lynch and Miss Hickey in turn at the Jamaica ticket office for their vacations.

Sister Mary E. Hunt, of Division No. 16, of the C. T. U., has accepted the position of day telegrapher at Jamaica, and says she likes the position very much. She says railroad work is not so bad after all.

Chief Operator R. E. McLaughlin, of "GO" office, Long Island City, has gone on his vacation in company with Charlie Moore. They will spend most of their time hunting and fishing in the Berkshire Hills. Mac will also visit relatives in Providence, R. I., before he returns to New York town.

Bro. David has the race track ticket job.

Looks like old times to see Bros. Weeks, Keenan and Billy Sprague back on the road, and all working in their home town (Babylon).

In answer to the many remarks of telegraphers who holds positions not affected by the eight-hour law, let me say to you, my brother (or friend), as the case may be, seniority rights on the Long Island Railroad prevail, and you can bid in an eight-hour job as soon as there is a vacancy. (Don't forget this fact.)

The new schedule which is not yet complete will be reprinted after the first of the year, and rates of pay for third tricks will be shown, also connections and alterations made. The board of trustees met in East New York on the evening of the 19th inst., holding a joint meeting with the General Committee, and made arrangements to give these matters proper attention in due time. Bro. Hellar, secretary and treasurer, was present, and received his instructions from the board of trustees in regard to investing the unused and surplus funds belonging to the division.

Division Notes—

The eight-hour law for New York State, which became effective October 1st, was complied with by the L. I. R. R. All employees affected are wearing the smile that will not come off. It makes them feel more like American citizens. It makes life worth living. It is hoped that all will appreciate the privilege, and redouble their efforts, and prove to the company that it is worth while.

Bro. E. Morrill, an old-time conductor, telegrapher and agent, is with us again, and is posting up in the signal department.

Bros. Hewlett and Simonson are endeavoring to hold down end of double track at Hicksville.

Bro. T. F. Gaffney is again with us. Posting up at Hicksville.

Thos. Scally, J. Wilkins and W. Gregory are handling the electric machine at Ozone Park.

The three regular relief men were dispensed with October 1st. Bro. Combs took first trick at Valley Stream, Bro. Yallowley third trick at Woodhaven Junction, and Bro. Jacobe first trick at Freas Pond Junction.

Mr. Merringer has bid in the second trick at East New York.

Dear old Bro. Jos. Keenan is doing eight hours at Babylon again. Con.

Boston Div., No. 41.

The October meeting proved to be a very interesting one, with a large number present, the proceedings being made more interesting by the presence of Bro. Pierson, who is always welcomed, and Secretary O'Brien, of the C. T. U. A. Meeting called to order at 8:45 p. m. After the routine business, a recess of fifteen minutes was taken, during which time the division listened to some very interesting remarks by Secretary O'Brien, of the C. T. U. A., who showed the solid front still being maintained, and the enthusiasm still being shown by the striking telegraphers, after being out three months, and their courage is still good for holding out against the millions of capital that are against them.

Such courage deserves help and we O. R. T. members should give them all the financial assistance possible, if we can do nothing more. As has been stated before, it is practically a common cause, and each one should send his mite to Bro. Tuck, weekly, to help out the Boston Division as much as possible.

Bro. Pierson made one of his characteristic, common sense speeches, after which the meeting closed at 11 p. m.

The great question this month is the new schedule. By this time, the committee is with the management, and, no doubt, hard at work. The increase of the minimum will, no doubt, be the hardest question that the committee will have to contend with. It is thought by some that the management will try to take advantage of the new law going into effect next March, making nine hours a day's work, as an argument against an increase, but this should have no bearing on the matter. The men are overworked and underpaid, and even with a nine-hour day, the telegraphers on this road are still paid much less in proportion to work done than other branches of railroad labor. It is to be hoped that the committee will stand out to a man for an increase all around. Look out for the money part of the schedule, the hours have been taken care of already by the government.

Six new members were voted in at last meeting. "Gathering them home, one by one."

Not much news this month, no kicking this time, no one to find fault with, and the scribe is satisfied, but thinks that it is hardly necessary for deals in live stock to be made in connection with official duties of an agent. Hope to have more news next month, and good report from the committee. JAY.

To the Members of Boston Division No. 41:

Since our assessment for the benefit of the striking commercial telegraphers went into effect, have received several letters from members who were of the opinion that unless the assessment was paid each week, so long as the strike lasts, those not thus responding would be suspended. For the benefit of such members, and any others who may be doubtful about the matter, perhaps a few words of explanation would not be out of order.

At the time the motion calling for a referendum vote was passed, the opinion was prevalent among the members present at the meeting, your secretary, the Ballot Committee, and the brother making the motion included, that if such a referendum vote was passed the assessment thus levied would become a compulsory one, the same as if levied by the General Committee, in accordance with Section 53, of our Local Division Statutes, and that the same penalty—that of suspension from the Order—would be attached to this as to the General Committee assessments, for non-payment.

Such is not the case, however, and, as stated in the second paragraph of the notices, "no such penalty was attached to the motion as passed;" hence there will be no suspensions.

Our Constitution and statutes do not anticipate an assessment of this form, and the real result obtained from the vote was the obtaining of the sentiment of the whole division in regard to such an assessment. The results were particularly encouraging, and showed that the large majority of those voting were willing to assist our commercial brothers and sisters in this struggle financially, as well as morally. As the matter was voted on by the membership in the form of an assessment, the notices were issued by your secretary in this form, and each one of us should feel bound to abide by the will of the majority, and as long as our fellow craftsmen continue this fight for justice, every one of us should pay the amount called for each week.

The results achieved, thus far, have shown that our members fully realize their responsibilities toward the C. T. U. A., as about two hundred dollars were received during the first fifteen days. Before this reaches you our brothers and sisters of the C. T. U. A. may have attained their well-deserved victory, but if they are still in the fight let us show that we are also "stickers," and we can do this in no better way than by continuing to pay our weekly assessments.

JOHN A. TUCK, Secretary.

Springfield Div., No. 38.

Meeting called to order at 9 p. m., Bro. Pierson in chair. After minutes of the previous meeting had been read and approved, fifteen applications were read and acted upon. This is very good work, and the boys on the B. & A. R. R. are to be congratulated upon their good work in this direction, and good attendance. We missed quite a few faces who were with us at previous meetings, and hope to see them at our next meeting. While the attendance was very good, it might have been better. Had the boys from the west end turned out as did those from the east the hall would have been filled to overflowing. The committee has been in session, and by the time this appears in print something definite will be known. The Boston & Maine General Committee waited upon Mr. Lee the past week, and everything was satisfactorily arranged for another year.

Business on the B. & M. has never been better than at present, and while we all have to work hard, we have the satisfaction of knowing that it is appreciated, and I think we have as fine a set of officials as are to be found in the United States. The General Committee on the Boston & Albany will meet some time this month.

B. and A. Items, West End—

Bro. Lackey has accepted the position of station agent at Huntington, Mass. At this writing I do not know who has taken his old position at Mitteneague.

Bro. Dresser, at "HN" tower, is back on the B. & A.

I thank the brother who so kindly sent in these items, and hope he will continue the good work every month.

Bro. Austin, of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., has resigned to accept a position with the Albany. Now that he has more time I shall expect to see him at our meetings. Do not know the name of the new man who was sent to relieve him. I am sorry that more N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. boys do not show up to our meetings.

Bro. Topham has gone to his old home in Vanceboro, Me. Bro. Dunn is relieving him.

The boys and girls on the C. & P. Division will soon be wearing the smile that won't come off, if reports are true. Quite a few of the C. T. U. A. boys have taken positions on the B. & M. R. R.

I suppose the Loys on the east end of the Albany were too busy to drop me a line, so I have nothing to offer for them this time.

CERT. 16.

Philadelphia Div., No. 102.

Our regular meeting was held October 26. The attendance was good, but not as good as it ought to have been. Those who did not attend certainly missed a very interesting meeting. The meetings are getting more and more interesting every month. There is a great deal more enthusiasm shown than there used to be. This is indicated by the increased attendance.

We took great pleasure in balloting on and accepting twenty-eight new candidates. The showing for the last two meetings proves that the P. & R. men are awakening from their long Rip-Vau-Winkle sleep. We hope this good work will continue. There is no reason why it should not; it is all up to you, brothers. Do everything you can for the good of the Order. Get after the nons, and tell them what a good thing unionism is, and keep posted on the rates to enter the Order. You can get the necessary blanks by applying to your secretary and treasurer. He advises that he has a good supply on hand.

It is a pleasure to note that there are a good many offices that are now solid O. R. T. Go into one of these offices and see how well they get along together. It is just like a family.

The P. & R. is complying with the eight-hour law by placing the more important offices on eight-hour shifts. We understand they are to continue to do this as fast as they can secure the telegraphers.

We extend our heartfelt sympathy to Bro. Thomas on account of the illness of his wife. We hope that she will soon regain her health.

Bro. Heller is one of the lucky men to get an eight-hour trick.

We always meet toward the end of the month, and if you fail to receive a notice from the secretary just drop him a postal, and he will furnish you with the date of meeting.

News is scarce on account of no one sending any to the secretary. Send items to him and he will see that they get into the journal. Would like to have a write-up in every number.

"CHRIS."

C., B. & Q. Ry.St. Joseph Division—

Bro. Hayes, nights at Council Bluffs, is enjoying a few days' leave of absence.

Bro. F. A. Arnold, days at Hamburg, is being relieved by S. M. Clark while he is spending a well-earned vacation.

Understand Bro. W. C. Ledgerwood, days at Langdon, has been thinking of going to Leavenworth, days.

Our old-time Bro. T. M. Hood, days at McPaul, spent a few days in St. Joseph the first of the month.

Bro. W. W. Wornstaff, formerly nights at Nebraska City Junction, is now doing the owl act at Hamburg, while C. L. Baird has assumed the trick at Nebraska City Junction.

Bro. J. D. Hayes expects to resume work about October 28th.

No new members on the north end this month. Looks bright for some new ones in the near future.

Everybody get busy and write an item or two each day, or at least an item per week. This will make a showing in the journal each month.

C. L. Baird has severed his connection with the Rock Island to go back to the Santa Fe.

Roy Haley, days at Curzons, transferred to us from Division 49. Bro. H. G. Henry and Bro. Hanley transferred from Division 31.

Bro. J. E. McColloch, from Nebraska City, nights, to Waldron, nights.

Bro. C. E. Rosling, from the Wymore Division, the man who started the "new depot proposition" at Humboldt, is working as day telegrapher at Waldron. Hope he will keep the good work going.

Bro. Vandlandingham, night man at Rushville, visited his cousin, Bro. McColloch, nights at Waldron Sunday.

Mr. E. A. More, night man at East Leavenworth, just started telegraphing, after being in other business for several years. He used to be a charter member on the C. G. W., and is going to be with us soon.

Bro. R. G. Vincent, days at Clarinda, Iowa, is laying off on account of sickness, and is being relieved by Night Telegrapher Hougue, of that place. Hougue is a non, but has promised he will be with us next month.

C. M. Privett, formerly day telegrapher at Tarkio, Mo., drew Clearmont, Mo., on bulletin. O. D. Pierce, night man at Bigelow, Mo., drew the telegrapher's position at Tarkio, Mo., on bulletin.

Bro. R. B. Stewart, who has been at Clearmont, Mo., for the last two months, is laid up with a dislocated shoulder at his home at Union Star, Mo. He will be compelled to cut out ball playing.

Bro. B. R. Newlon, at Fairfax, Mo., has succeeded in having a helper put back there, after a four months' trial of making a one-man station out of it. There is certainly plenty of work there for two men.

On the night of September 28th all the agents on the Tarkio and Nowaday Valley branches were called into Clarinda, Iowa, where they held a meeting in regard to the over, short and damaged freight. Superintendent Willsie, Assistant Agent Armstrong, of St. Joseph, Mo., and Mr. F. L. Johnson, formerly L. F. A. at Chicago, were at the meeting. I think this will be a great help toward cutting down the over, short and damaged freight.

Bro. W. D. Chinn has returned to work at Beverly, Mo., tower, after enjoying several weeks' vacation, Bro. J. R. Hainesworth, regular night man, relieving him while away, and Bro. Geo. H. McTague doing the owl act during this time.

Understand Bro. J. M. Cash, at Waldron, is on the sick list.

Mr. C. W. Acord, from the Grand Island, who is now doing the owl act at Iatan, says he is anxious to come in soon as he has served the required time. He has been telegraphing but two months.

Bro. F. L. Stewart is doing the relief work as day telegrapher at "BO," Weston, while Bro. Dick Faulconer is absent.

Bro. H. G. Henry, a new arrival from the D. & R. G., at Green River, and a member of Division No. 49, Cert. 439, is doing the owl stunt at "BO," Weston, Mo., and says he likes it fine, with the exception of dragging the U. S. mail three blocks each morning before breakfast. Cor.

Omaha Division—

Bro. Stasenka, operator at Auburn, relieved Bro. Haworth at Vesta for a few days, while Bro. Haworth relieved Bro. Zink, agent at Peru.

Bro. Zink, agent at Peru, was relieved a few days to attend the funeral of his mother at Sterling. Bro. Zink has the sympathy of all in his sad bereavement. CERT. 1653.

Galesburg Division (Quincy Branch)—

The new block machines are now in working order, and the boys are busy most of the time keeping up the block.

Every office between Galesburg and Quincy is now a night office, and with only two or three exceptions, solid.

The night man at Coatsburg, Mr. B. F. Little says he is going to be one of us after pay-day.

Mr. E. C. Warnacut, who relieved Bro. Flake at Sand Cut for a few nights on account of sickness, says he will soon be with us.

I understand there is a brother on the south end who is running a wholesale ham factory. Now, this kind of work will not do at all. I do not think such actions will be tolerated very much longer, and if the practice is not discontinued within a short time doubtless charges will be preferred. A hint to the wise is sufficient.

There are still quite a number of the boys behind with dues. Get busy and get the matter straightened out, as we need your help. It's not too late. Do it now. Don't put it off. Sit right down and make out a money order and send it in before you forget it. The local chairman wrote me saying there were a number of delinquents. I think he is framing up something good, and something that will please all of us, from the way he speaks. Now it is very easy to get behind, which fact was brought forcibly to my mind today. I generally pay assessments about five months in advance, but on going to the postoffice I found I was one month in arrears. It is needless to say I scrambled around, and have made a remittance to cover. Now watch this one thing, and keep it straight. It discourages our brother officers to look over the line and see the boys falling behind. It makes them feel as though the members were losing interest, and growing weak.

Let's have for the first item next month: "Quincy branch solid." Every member pay up, and secure an application, or help some one else get one. Of course, there is not enough nons left for each to secure a new member, but we can double up on them.

Bro. Malone, nights at Galesburg yards, returned from Michigan, where he was on a thirty-days' lay off. He resumed duty on September 20th.

Mr. Max Clarke relieved while Bro. Malone was in Michigan. Upon Bro. Malone's return Mr. Clark left the service of the Burlington and went to St. Louis. Clark is up-to-date with the C. T. U. of A.

Mr. Mercer, days at Galesburg yards, who has been sick for some time, relieved by Mr. McCleave. On the return of Mr. Mercer Mr. McCleave relieved the day telegrapher at Galesburg block office, "DS."

Mr. Harry Osbern, nights at Yates City. On account of the illness of Mr. Osbern's mother, he was called to Chicago; relieved by Mr. I. A. Akers, of Camp Point. Mr. Akers promises that he will get in line soon.

Bro. Parker, telegrapher at Ottumwa, passed over our division on the 2d inst., and advises that the Ottumwa Division is solid. Why can't we get after the nons on the Galesburg Division and make her solid from stem to stern? Let us try.

Bro. Chatman, nights at St. Augustine, relieved by Bro. Davis. Don't know where Bro. Davis is from; anyhow, he holds an up-to-date. Bro. Chatman, I "13," is now on the Union Pacific at Paxton, Neb.

I "13" we have a non, Mr. G. W. Hill, nights at Maquon; been there since last December. Boys, we will have to get after this fellow and explain the O. R. T. to him. Too bad he has not yet been able to realize what unionism is.

Night offices opened at Fowler, La Prairie and Paloma the first of the month, but haven't yet learned the names of the night telegraphers.

Mr. Brown, nights at Barstow, relieved by Bro. Cunningham. I "13" Mr. Brown has gone to St. Louis to work for the St. Louis Terminal and attend medical college. Mr. Brown is an up-to-date C. T. U. of A., but a back number in the O. R. T. Looks bad to see him working for the St. Louis terminal.

Bro. Wisehart, formerly nights at Saluda, is now working nights at Colmar. We noticed him in Galesburg on the 8th inst., taking in the Street Carnival. He was relieved at Saluda by Mr. Sample who is a back number in the O. R. T. but promises to get up-to-date shortly.

Our local chairman Bro. Foster advises that Bro. M. J. Johnson, our general chairman, was on our division recently looking over the situation.

Bro. O. R. Martin, Colchester, days, was up to Chicago a couple of days this month watching the Cubs and Tigers battle for the championship of the world. "R. N."

Galesburg Division—

After having made ourselves conspicuous by the absence of our communications for the past month or so, due to the failure of the boys to contribute items, we will try to demonstrate, to the best of our ability, that we are not always sleeping on the Stormy Route.

Bro. W. T. McMillan, Seventeenth street block, Rock Island, was called to Neponset, Ill., very suddenly during the past month, due to the serious illness of his mother; she later succumbing to the call of the Grim Reaper. Bro. McMillan has our most sincere sympathy in his sad bereavement.

Mr. R. J. Stromquist, agent at Joslyn, layed off ten days last month; relieved by C. S. Kirkman. Joslyn recently opened nights, with Bro. H. C. Lane, from the Pennsylvania Line, doing the owl stunt.

Am sorry that I am not better posted as to changes on the south end. H. W. K.

Sheridan Division—

The meeting held in Labor Hall, October 20th, was the first held in several months. It was not opened until 9:40 p. m., on account of Bro. Johnson, our general chairman, being on No. 42, which was late. Bros. Johnson and Meehan in the chairs. Several subjects were suggested, and members asked to write papers on them, to be read at the next meeting. The question of representing relay operators was discussed.

Bro. Kesinger made the suggestion that each member of Division No. 130 contribute one day's pay each month until March, in order to create a reserve fund. This met with the approval of all and Bro. Johnson promised to take the matter up on other divisions.

The meeting was well attended, and every one was pleased. It has been decided to hold meetings monthly, at Gillette and Toluca, alternately, on account of the length of the division.

We had a hard time getting the boys together, but finally appointed a committee to round them up. After cutting out the nons they finally corralled the O. R. T. bunch and got started. There were a few ladies in attendance, which made it more interesting. In fact, we had the largest aggregation of operators in Sheridan that has been seen there for a long time, and I doubt if at any time in the past. We want a good attendance at all future meetings. The boys departed on trains Nos. 41 and 44. The train auditor on No. 44 said he had thirty-two D. Hs.

Bro. B. H. Kling is back from a thirty days' vacation to Clearmont days. Bro. Vaning is on the night shift, Bro. Marcotte resigning.

A Mr. Bernhard to Verona nights, Bro. Garieghty leaving the service.

Bro. U. G. Smith, from Nebraska, is agent at Alger.

We realize the good Bro. Johnson is doing since being placed on the road. Grievances are now settled in one or two days, where before it required one or two months. May he continue the good work.

We are advised that to date we have only nine nons and two delinquents on the Sheridan Division. It makes us about 95 per cent strong. We are the record division of the Burlington System. Let us keep that record. When a non goes to work, you go to work on him, and don't let up until you have his application.

Bro. R. H. Seaton is keeping tab on the ballast trains south of Warland by phone until the telegraph line is completed to Kerby.

Bro. E. G. McPherson has charge of the new station at Kirby, where the Gebo coal mines are located. The stub line is being extended, and there are prospects of more trains on the branch.

Mr. Mike Ryan, a former section foreman, is agent at Frannil. "13" his wife is an operator, but do not suppose they carry cards, as he is the man who boarded the "scabs" during the Northern Pacific strike.

Operator Madison, from Moorcroft nights, quit the service. Bro. Duxbury, from Dewey, relieved him at Moorcroft. He was relieved by Operator Ness. Bro. R. E. Nelson is at Newcastle.

Bro. R. C. Benner, a C. T. U. A. man, relieved Bro. Brown, days at Newcastle, Bro. Brown leaving the service.

Thornton night office closed, and Bro. Brasfield returned to Croton. "13" scarcity of operators reason for closing the office.

Bro. Carpenter returned from his vacation to his position, days at Gillette, Bro. Bennett taking the night trick, and Bro. Edsall going to Arvad and then to Deitz.

Remember the time is getting close when our semi-annual dues are to be paid. Don't fail to pay early and avoid the rush. Don't be behind and have a lot of delinquents on this division. If it is impossible for you to raise that $5, write your local chairman about it. Everybody get together and stay together. Div. Cor.

LaCrosse Division—

There are very few on the LaCrosse Division who have not paid their dues, hence a word to the aforesaid few, pay at once, don't put it off, but do it today. If you haven't got the money do as one man I solicited to join the Order did. I asked him to come in with the majority, and he very politely suggested that I lend him the price, which I did, and he is now a good member and doesn't let his dues lapse. It is bad to be behind when the Order has done so much for all of us. We don't want any "backsliders" or nons on this division.

Bro. Marks, formerly lamplight telegrapher at DeSoto, is now holding down the agency at Hager.

Bro. Shultz is working the lonely trick at Bay City.

Agent Kelly, at Nelson, has resigned as agent, and is now working the twilight at the same place; man who signs Hendricks is doing the agent stunt.

Bro. Griffin and Bro. Yeager are doing the work at Lytle. "13" they are doing the housekeeper act.

Bro. Duffy, at Stoddard, and Bro. Rogers, a local chairman at Victory, have had their hands full lately handling the work trains.

Bro. Clark, at De Soto, has a helper, and Bro. Dyer, at Lynxville, has asked for and, we trust, will get one.

On October 14 we were informed that our long-time chief dispatcher, Mr. F. C. Beisell, had been promoted to the office of trainmaster. Mr. Beisell has worn out the bottom of more than one chair while chief, and has always been a man to appreciate good work.

Mr. A. C. Millington, who has worked a trick for a long time, is our new chief. It is hoped that the boys will do their best to help his work along.

Mr. P. H. Hough, our former trainmaster, goes to Beardstown as division superintendent.

Bro. Battelia, who has been sick for three weeks at the Winona Hospital, is convalescing, and is going to his home at Sparta for a vacation.

Bro. C. E. Dodge, days, north yards, is also on sick list. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Arthur Cummings, who will be a member before long, has had the typhoid fever at his home in Dubuque for about ten weeks, but is now convalescent.

B. A. Howe, with an up-to-date C. T. U. A. card, is working days at "WO," Winona, while Bro. Battelia is sick.

Bro. Ragatz, nights East Winona, has been transferred to north yards nights, which is nearer home since his folks moved to St. Paul. He succeeds Bro. Dodge.

L. H. Wehrman is the new one at East Winona nights; new man in the business.

Bro. Ned Brodt, of Savanna station days, and his lady friend were visitors in Dubuque lately, and took in "Brewster's Millions."

Bro. Hemingway, having resigned the day job at "CU," Savanna yards, the place is filled by Bro. Soldberg, Bro. Homes taking "RS" nights. Bro. Homes is now in the hospital at La Crosse with typhoid, but is recovering. Bro. Rouff, from the Omaha, is relieving him.

Mr. E. W. Jay, Savanna station nights, has his application blanks in and will be a good Indian before this is in print.

All of the boys join in wishing Mr. J. P. Groff, formerly operator on "GO" wire in La Crosse, success in his new position as car distributor.

La Crosse office raised to $80 per and eight hours' work, with two operators added, which makes four there now.

Mr. H. A. Worthington, wire chief at La Crosse, has just returned from a two weeks' vacation; relieved by wire chief from "HD," St. Paul.

Bro. B. C. Harrison was a Sunday visitor in Rock Island. He reports everyone lining up down that way, and Bro. H. W. K. has agreed to make a showing for the Galesburg Division, "stormy line," monthly, in the journal hereafter.

One word more, BOOST.

Don't believe everything you see in the papers concerning the Commercial strike.

Every telegrapher will please remember the name E. A. Noonan. He is a "scab" of the worst kind. He went out with the boys in Dubuque and accepted $36 benefits, and then went back and did the "scab" act. He is getting the cold shoulder in Dubuque by people who were raised with him. He has changed his sine from "H" to "ON." J. J. McLaughlin, who had a C. T. U. A. card, also received benefits from the C. T. U. A., and more than his share of the benefit game proceeds, is "scabbing" at the Postal. He was offered a job on the C., B. & Q., but complained of throat trouble, so went "scabbing."

William G. Sanderson, the combination dope-booze comedian "scab" at the Postal, went across the street and got helplessly drunk and was discharged, and McLaughlin took his place.

Mr. James Donahue, with a C. T. U. A. card, is working Marcus days.

Do your best and show them that we are worth more money.

Boost $75 per and eight hours.

Don't forget the notes about the 15th of November. "HIGHPOCKETS."

McCook Division—

Bro. L. J. Meyers, Cambridge nights, is taking a short vacation, visiting his old home at Chillicothe, Iowa; relieved by B. Devinski, from Denver.

Bro. E. B. Perry, Cambridge days, availed himself of a brief vacation during September, to visit Denver and other Colorado points; relieved by Mr. W. R. Crooks. Understand Mr. Crooks has left the service.

Bro. Cantrell, agent at St. Francis, takes Heartwell; relieved by Bro. F. L. Enlow.

Bro. Jas. Boldman, Indianola, is contemplating a vacation if he can get relief.

Bro. E. G. Carter, our local chairman, Naponee, just back from a twenty days' vacation, visiting relatives at St. Louis and Illinois points; relieved by Bro. L. O. Nash, late from Wymore Division.

Bro. Carl Kettler, Bloomington agency, to cashier, Minden. Understand Bro. C. R. Bauer, cashier at Minden, takes Bloomington agency.

Bro. A. O. Bloom, agent at Mascot, away on honeymoon; relieved by A. V. Bloom, formerly night owl at Mascot. T. W. Threlkeld now doing the night stunt.

What is the matter with the west end of this division? Appears to be nothing doing in way of news. Why not brace up and get in the game? There is certainly no good excuse why you should not. The way the necessities of life are advancing in price it appears that a 25 per cent increase would be in order. To keep both ends meeting is a rather difficult proposition.

This should remind us that our suffering Commercial brothers would appreciate prompt assistance. Trust all of us have tendered them the financial assistance recently asked for.

Div. Cor.

Wymore Division—

Brothers, if you wish to see this division represented in THE TELEGRAPHER you positively must come across with the items, as that is the only way the news can be gathered. Trust some of you will be awake by next month and make good.

"SN," Wymore, now boasts of a lady telegrapher. Believe her name is Lytle, and she is from the W. U. She is evidently making good on that job.

Chas. Fuller, a late arrival from the Rock Island, is holding down Humboldt, nights. What about the card?

Mr. Minnick, agent at DeWitt, has been on vacation; relieved by Bro. Wyatt.

Mr. VanDusen, agent at Tobias, recently visiting in Illinois; relieved by Bro. A. F. Heskett.

Bro. Hicks, recently transferred from agent at Fortesque to agent at DeWeese.

"13" that Bro. Geo. Adkins, days at Edgar, gets Thompson permanently.

Bro. Anderson, days at Chester, recently relieved Bro. Litty at Kesterson, a few days.

Bro. Dempsey has concluded that the old Burlington is good enough for him, and can now be found located at Lancaster.

Bro. C. B. Beck, of Division No. 27, is doing the night stunt at Salem.

We have failed to mention that W. J. Strohecker, agent at Bruning, joined us in August, and has been wearing the wreath and sounder since that time.

Bro. Geo. Skinkle, recently transferred from agent at Hollis to agent at Palmyra.

C. L. Bush, nights at DeWitt, and L. L. Hathaway, day telegrapher at Hebron, are among the latest to file applications.

Bro. E. A. Cox, formerly nights at Table Rock, landed Hollis station on bulletin.

Mr. F. B. Fuller, agent at Hanover, has been in California; Bro. Hartzel has been "it" during his absence.

Bro. J. F. Ford, agent at Firth, and Bro. W. F. Ilgen, agent at Highland Station, have resigned and entered the train service on the Lincoln Division. Bro. A. E. Miller gets Firth and Bro. Jessup checked in permanently at Highland.

Div. Cor.

CARD OF THANKS.

Through the medium of THE TELEGRAPHER we wish to express our thanks to the members of C. B. & Q. Division No. 130, who presented the beautiful floral piece, and for their expression of sympathy in our late bereavement, the loss of our mother.

C. E. ZINK.

R. C. ZINK.

VAL. ZINK, JR.

Lincoln Division—

I wish to thank the brothers who so kindly helped with items this month. I certainly appreciate every note sent in, and Lincoln Division has the right kind of boys when they get started.

All brother telegraphers be sure and show all the time you can on the "report to chief dispatcher." We understand they are going to show the government that we really only do seven or eight hours' work a day. You know what this means to you, I or the other fellow who pounds brass for his living. Bear this in mind when making out the report.

Bro. W. T. Starkey, of Utica, off on a ten-day vacation; relieved by Mr. J. M. Holden, of Hastings.

Bro. W. J. Rau, agent at Louisville, is spending his vacation with his parents at Utica, Neb.

New dispatcher on Lincoln-Ravenna line, a Mr. Falkner, of Helena, Mont.

Bro. Bourne, of Bradshaw, goes to Ravenna as agent.

Bro. Dill back from his vacation in Canada; relieving agent at Wolbach.

Bro. Downing, of Trumbull, at Sheridan, Wyo., a few days this week.

Bro. Best, of Aurora, nights, again on duty after a ten days' absence, visiting in Omaha and Pleasant Dale.

Bro. Harry Sheldon, cashier at Aurora, made a flying trip to Omaha one day this week.

Bro. Murphy, agent at Aurora, visited with friends at Lincoln and Bradshaw this week.

Bro. Miller, nights at Seward, spent Sunday at Germantown, the guest of Bro. F. F. Miles.

Mr. McGrady, owl at Ravenna, is now a brother.

Bro. Miles, of Germantown, visited at Seward between trains this week.

Operator Woods now nights at Bradshaw. Bro. Johnson going to "DA," Omaha.

Brothers, why can't we have meetings once a month at Lincoln? This would bring us together, and would be beneficial to our Order. Think this over, and see if we can not arrange to have these meetings. Lincoln-Ravenna line boasts of not having a student on the line. That sounds good. Wish Lincoln-Hastings line could say as much, but we can not. It is a hard matter to get brothers along the line to tell their names, where they are from, or where they belong. This is wrong. Any good, honest man is not ashamed to tell where he belongs, and his name. It is a local we are after, and not his personal affairs.

Ravenna office now has a cashier. Bro. J. L. Bloss, of Chicago, holding down same.

Sister Hicks, division correspondent, takes two weeks' vacation this month, visiting Alliance, Denver and Raton, New Mexico.

Ravenna telegraph office will be moved up stairs in the depot, and "maybe" they will have a carpet on the floor.

Bro. Geo. Eckhardt is nursing a sore face.

Bro. F. R. Hubble, local chairman, will take his vacation this month, visiting over the State and at Denver before his return to duty.

Bro. Earl Denton, of Denton station, visited a few days this week at Crete.

Shortage of operators still prevalent. Birks office closed half of the time.

Bro. A. B. Hass, of Oreapolis, again on duty, after a week's vacation.

Mr. Geo. Trier, of Oreapolis, nights, transferred to Plattsmouth, nights; relieved by Bro. W. D. Glock. Mr. Trier will be one of us pay day.

Aurora Division—

Bro. Wegener has resumed work at Western avenue tower, after an illness of nearly three weeks.

Mr. Lane returned to Western avenue station after a week's vacation; Bro. Montgomery, of Clyde, relieved him.

Bro. Beardsley, from Kedzie avenue tower, has been working in Bro. Montgomery's place at Clyde. He has returned to Kedzie avenue. He expects to lay off in the near future.

Mr. Ruane, from the repair department, has been relieving Bro. Beardsley at "CG."

Bro. Brennan, from Pan Handle tower, had a few days off this week. Mr. Peters, from Clyde, doing the relief act.

A meeting of the O. R. T. was held at Mendota, Ill., October 19th, in charge of Local Chairman Bro. Todd. Bro. Johnson, general chairman, was unable to attend, being called to settle a grievance on the Ottumwa Division.

Bro. Platt, from the Pan Handle tower, has had his vacation.

Mr. Hagerty, agent at Clyde depot, is in the hospital to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Bro. L. W. Wicks, of Neponset, Ill., attended the meeting at Mendota, Ill., October 19th.

Mr. Lyman good on days at Kedzie avenue this month.

Bro. Filkins, of Montgomery, nights, took a day off October 12th; Bro. Kopa relieving him.

Bro. E. M. Swanson, of Kewanee, Ill., attended the meeting at Mendota, Ill.

Bro. McNamara, agent at Plano, is talking about a change. At present have not learned what it is.

Bro. Pratt, agent at Sandwich, spent the afternoon in Chicago October 8th.

Bro. Ranger attended the meeting at Mendota, Ill.

Bro. Bob Brundage, agent at Somonaul, took an afternoon off and went to Chicago.

Bro. Sexton, agent at Leland, was an eastbound passenger last Sunday, October 13th.

Bro. Nelson, agent at Montgomery, called on Aurora friends last week.

Bro. C. E. Hade, of Malden, Ill., was one of the boys who attended the meeting at Mendota, Ill.

Bro. Johnson is doing the telegraphing at Montgomery, and is ranked as a helper. This certainly will have to be looked after. He gets an operator's pay, but they call him the helper so he will have to take care of the switch lights.

Bro. Ranger, who has been working for the C., R. I. & P. R. R. at Guymon, Okla., returned home Saturday, October 12th.

Bro. Kebler, of Zearing, attended the meeting October 19th.

Bro. Ed. Shimel, formerly at Kewanee freight house, is now holding Shabbona, days. Mr. King is doing the wire work at Kewanee freight house.

The block cabin at County Line, between Kewanee and Neponset, was put in commission October 13th. Bro. L. L. Henderson, from the Southern Pacific, Division 53, is the day man. Ray Ness, from Oswego, Ill., working the night trick. Understand Mr. Ness has his application papers in.

Bro. Butler, of Wyand, arrived at the meeting on the 19th too late to take part in same.

Mr. J. J. Lord and C. W. Piper, of Galva tower, have been taking vacations. Bro. Hedberg, of Galva station, relieving them.

Block cabin at Sadlers, between Kewanee and Galva, was put in commission October 18th. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Fortey, of Chicago local C. T. U. A., are the force at this office.

We are somewhat overstocked at present with promises from non-members. Isn't it about time you were making them good? We can't cash your moral support.

Don't forget to send in a few news items each month to the local chairman or his assistant. We can't get a good write-up each month without your assistance. This means you.

Bro. C. A. Johnson, of Montgomery, Ill., attended the meeting at Mendota, Ill., October 19th.

Bro. Ranger, of Sandwich, Ill., is now working extra at Plymouth, Ill., on the Galesburg Division.

Bro. Russell and wife, of Downers Grove, Ill., have returned from their vacation, having spent the same at Denver and Colorado Springs.

Some time ago a rumor was circulated that W. G. Davis was working on the "Katy" during the strike on that road. This report is untrue, as Mr. Davis has never worked for any roads other than the C., B. & Q. and the Chicago & Alton, and the local chairman can vouch for same. Mr. Davis is now working at Altona, Ill.

E. F. Todd, Local Chairman.

Alliance Division—

Bro. C. E. Perrin, agent at Custer for a number of years, has left the service, and has entered one of the banks at Custer, S. D., as cashier. Bro. Perrin has been with the company for a number of years, and had a standing with the auditing department that most of us would appreciate very much. He has the good wishes of all the boys on the Alliance Division.

Bro. M. J. Trego, agent at Litchfield, Neb., has accepted a position on the Sheridan Division as agent. Litchfield is a very heavy station for one man, and is one of the stations that should have an operator, as one man can not do the work. This is perhaps the reason why Bro. Trego resigned.

Two brother C. T. U. A. men are doing the necessary at Litchfield, Neb., while the place is on bulletin. We learned that Bro. C. O. Jones, agent at Whitman, Neb., has landed it on bulletin.

Bro. F. Doolittle, nights at Anselmo, Neb., has just returned from a two weeks' vacation, which was spent with old friends out on the Northwestern. He was relieved by C. T. U. A. Bro. L. M. Davis, who has a big Kinkaid near that station.

Bro. H. P. Fagan, at Anselmo, Neb., as extra agent, relieving General Chairman Bro. M. J. Johnson. Understand Bro. Johnson expects to move out of the depot as soon as he can find a place to move.

Bro. Ed. Powell, day operator at Broken Bow, Neb., is off on a vacation; relieved by Bro. J. W. Thompson, of Mason, Neb.

Bro. R. V. Cox, day operator at Crawford, Neb., lately returned from his annual vacation, which was spent in Ohio, New York and other Eastern States.

Bro. S. H. Neavill, agent at Merna, Neb., has just returned from a short vacation. He was relieved by the night operator who has been working nights for some time at that place.

Ex-Bro. L. H. Brown, day operator at Hecla, Neb., has been laying off a few days on account of having no night man, and had to work day and night for a week or more.

H. L. Ormsby, agent at Broken Bow, Neb., was at one time a member, so the story goes, but has fallen by the wayside. He is getting exactly $16.50 more per month than he did previous to the time the organization commenced its work for him.

Bro. W. J. Hoback, agent at Hazard, Neb., is on a vacation for a month. On the eve of his departure for the East the depot at Hazard was set on fire by a passing train and he barely escaped burning up by jumping from a window. He lost all his belongings, besides a considerable amount of money, nothing in the depot being saved. He is being relieved by Bro. B. L. Livingston, one of our rustling extra agents.

Bro. C. F. Triplett, one of our "true blues," and by the way, senior extra agent on the division, relieved the agent at Hot Springs, S. Dak., for a month or two. He is now relieving at Custer, S. Dak., while the station is on bulletin.

There are so many new night men on the division that we can not keep pace with them; nearly every one is a good C. T. U. A. man. All but two "owls" between Alliance and Ravenna are C. T. U. A. men. Let the local chairman get busy and line them up in our Order, that is where they belong.

Why can we not have a good assistant local chairman on the west end? We notice some brothers working beside nons, and they do not know it. Can't we interest ourselves in the Order, and not expect some of our officers to do it all. Why not each of us try to get an application? It is easy to do.

Can any one answer this: Why can not the Burlington keep men on the Alliance, Sterling and Sheridan Divisions? There is a shortage all over the system, but it is more noticeable there. There is only one answer, and that is low wages. When the wages are raised in proportion to the increase in living, it will be easy to keep men, but not until then. Is it not best to pay telegraphers what they are worth? They have been the most deserving and the least paid. Unless a substantial increase is made soon a great number of our best men will leave the service for better and more desirable positions, positions that will permit men to live a more congenial life.

We are all asking about the eight-hour law, will it take effect? Well, I should say, yes; why not? Practically speaking, all other classes are working eight hours; we occupy the most responsible positions, why should we work more? Life depends on our every movement; we must not err, the eight-hour law is the solution of the problem.

Why are not some of the good stations on the Burlington offered to some of the Alliance Division men? It seems that when there are any plums to be had our officials give them to men from other divisions or off foreign roads. This is the right kind of judgment to use if it is desired to drive men away, but if we are to get a square deal it is not. Why not have these larger offices in the schedule and have them bulletined, so deserving men can have a show for some of the cream, and not be forced to survive on skimmed milk or sour milk. Let us have our committee look into this.

Let us all get to work and get Alliance Division back to its old standard. We have been asleep too long.

CART.

Sterling Division—

Every "job" in America should pay an American wage, such as would raise and educate an American family with enough to assure our old age in peace and plenty.

How can we avoid "race suicide" when so many positions only pay enough to support one. Every such position is un-American. Are you doing your part to make things better for yourself and your family?

Bro. Fry, formerly of the Lincoln Division, is doing the owl act at Sterling yard office.

Bro. Broughton, of Venango, has just completed his tenth year at that place, and we hope he may spend many more useful years with us.

Bro. L. H. Martin is now acting agent at Haxtun during the absence of Bro. Banister. Bro. Martin was formerly cashier at Bridgeport.

We are glad to welcome a few new members this month. Each new man to come on the division, it seems, is an addition to our organized strength. He either holds an "up-to-date" when he comes among us, or secures one as soon as he lands on the division. This is as it should be.

Boys, let us not be deceived into thinking that we are doing well, just because our necktie may outshine that of our farm boy friend. The years roll by and the farmer lad owns his home, much land and live stock, and an abundance of good health—each one of these possessions helping to add more to his wealth. While the poor telegrapher working every hour of the day and every day of the week, often loses his health in the delusive pursuit of wealth, finding at last he has only made a bare living. Every laborer is entitled to robust health and a competency in his old age. As we go along are you getting yours?

I recently met a flockmaster who, ten years ago, was herding sheep, and when I told him my wages he looked at me with that same look of compassion I might bestow on a beggar, telling me how he got his last "hand out."

The flockmaster said he figured on clearing more cash in one trade than I could make in a year. Boys, some of you are too young to know your worth, and by the time you find it out you are too old for other business. Wake up and organize. Get to work, and better conditions will result. Every American knows we should have Sunday rest and wages that will enable us to lay up something for a rainy day and old age, besides raising and educating a happy family in a healthy manner.

Cut out all idea of "boozing," make yourself indispensable to your employer, study every means to lighten your work and increase the revenue of the company, join the order of your craft, and point the way to success to any stumbling non you may meet. "73" to all. J. T. MADDOX.

Wisconsin Central Ry.Fourth District—

The following names have been reported since the last issue as having placed their applications, and are now entitled to be called brothers: Frank Carey, P. J. Temby, J. E. Van Alstine and J. Heinkel, also Bro. Einsinger reports another new member, but forgot to mention his name, which, by the way, is not very bad for one month on this end. No report from the south end. What's the matter, brothers of the south, get some new members and send us lists of their names.

Bro. Hunt, of Abbotsford yard office, is taking a vacation; relieved by Bro. Taylor, of Hoyt, who in turn was relieved by Bro. Semerau, the night owl, and Hoyt nights, closed for the season. Bro. Carr, who had been working the night shift at Abbotsford yard, went on days so that Bro. Taylor could get full benefit of the sleepy hours.

Bro. Cowen, still at Abbotsford, dispatcher's office, although the place was on the bulletin, and some of the older brothers had a chance for it if they wished.

Bro. Wesenberg, of Chelsea, visited relatives at Campbellsport, Sunday the 6th, Bro. Anderson, the night owl, handling the station for the day.

Mr. Swindt, agent at Prentice, has left the north end, going to the Southern Division to work at Neenah as operator. Hope the boys on that division will soon convert him. Mr. Elwell, formerly of Ore yard nights, holding down Prentice temporarily.

Mr. Oscar Oden, nights at Phillips, in place of Mr. Andy Carlson. Understand Bro. Roen, of Fife, has bid in Owens, and Fife will be on the bulletin.

Bro. Frank Carrey relieved Bro. Harry Oden, nights at Mellen. Bro. Oden is reported as working at Amery, Wis., on the Soo.

Bro. C. W. Cheever, at Marengo, bid for Prentice, and will very likely get it, putting Marengo on the bulletin.

Mr. Andy Carlson, formerly of Phillips, now relieving Bro. Eddick, of Ashland nights, who is visiting with friends and relatives at Milwaukee.

Account of Mr. Brigham's ill-health and advanced age, he has gone to the hospital at Ashland, and the station at White River is closed for the present.

At present Mr. Joe Rindt is holding down the agency at Upson, Bro. Pierson being called to his home at Ogema, on account of the serious illness of his mother.

Bro. Ramberg, agent at Somerset, has been taking a month's vacation, and it was reported that he was married, but can't say how true it is. Bro. Finegan, owl of Somerset, acting agent during the absence of Bro. Ramberg, and the night stunt was handled by a Mr. Hunt, who is anxious to come in soon as old enough in the service.

Bro. Finegan went to Duluth Junction, after being relieved by Bro. Ramberg. Can't say who will get the night job there.

Bro. Riddebough, of Sheridan, has resigned and left the service. Was relieved by Mr. Tingley, who has the blanks and will be up-to-date soon.

Bro. Root, of South Oshkosh, is taking a vacation for a few days; relieved by Bro. Chapman.

Our local chairman, Bro. Watts, took a trip to Stevens' Point one Sunday between trains to do a little missionary work.

Mr. Monroe, the printer at Cadott, who is an old-time operator, was at Gladstone a few days, relieving Bro. Johnson, who took a vacation. At present Bro. Johnston holds membership in the C. & N. W. Division, but expects to transfer to our division the first of January.

New man at Owen by the name of Elmer Anderson, from Chippewa Falls. Says he will make good as soon as old enough. That's the way to talk and then live up to it.

Bro. Turner, of Owen nights, relieved Bro. Shelp, of Irvine nights, who has left the service. Did not learn where Bro. Shelp is going. This is a good chance for Bro. Turner, as it puts him at home.

Another new member is Bro. Mordant, who went to work at Boom Island a short time ago on the night shift.

Bro. Nelson is taking a two months' vacation, and is relieved by Bro. Lake. While away he expects to visit in New York, Vermont, and other points in the East.

Bro. Clark, of Boyceville, made a trip to St. Paul not long ago for a day's recreation.

Bro. Hoffman, after being relieved by Bro. Andre, at Glenwood nights, went to Eau Claire to relieve Bro. Skoag, who is on vacation.

The provision in our schedule regarding bulletins is being complied with, which fact is gratifying to most of the boys. Another important change, which takes place shortly, in reference to our duties, is the removing from our hands the care of switch lamps.

This is a good thing, boys, and I, for one, am glad of it; don't know how the section men like it.

The brothers on the south end should get busy and hold a meeting down there. If they don't we will be having two to their one before they know it.

I would request that any brothers sending me items use the name of the station in full, as there are some calls on the system that I am not familiar with, and office calls should not be used in write-ups.

S. L. BRUNELLE,
A. L. C. and Cor.

Southern Division, First District—

Bro. W. L. Rich has resumed work at Rockefeller after being absent for some time.

Bro. M. A. Wagner, of Gray's Lake, who has also been having a vacation of several weeks, has taken his old place again, and Bro. C. J. Wagner, who acted as relief agent, has taken his old place as night owl at that point.

Bro. John Weber, formerly agent at Lamira, has been appointed as permanent agent at Plainfield, and has already moved and settled down. Bro. Weber acted as train auditor for some time, but as that office has been discontinued, he has again returned to station work.

Bro. Cramer, formerly agent at Colgate, is now located permanently at Coloma, on the Portage branch.

We would ask that every brother on the south end or Southern Division, send me at least one item, and as many more as you can. If you know of any changes, any vacancies, any new brothers coming on our line, just let your local chairman have the information, and don't wait for some one else to do it, or think some one else has already done so. Your local chairman has no way of finding out these things, nor knowing if you have any grievances unless you speak up and make yourself known.

Now, it's up to you, fellows, and if we don't hear from you we can not reasonably be expected to know much about your whereabouts or your doings.

"13" Bro. Hess, of Des Plaines, is going to take Bro. Walsh's place at Trevor. Bro. Walsh has resigned and is going to Oklahoma on the C., R. I. & P.

Bro. Arends, of Wheeling, has been to North Fond du Lac for a few days, relieving Bro. Bagley, who has been granted leave of absence for ten days, and is visiting his former home at Mukwonago.

Bro. Patterson, Byron nights, has been enjoying a vacation at his home in Lake Beulah. Don't know who is relieving him.

Bro. Watts, agent at Lomira, took a flying trip up the line a few weeks ago on Sunday.

At the recent smash-up at Marsh, Bro. P. Buchen did the telegraphing, but did not seem to be very much taken with such close-to-nature-open-air business. The wreck was caused by conductor or engineer on No. 29 misunderstanding orders and running into No. 2. No. 29 had until 6:05 p. m. to make Theresa against No. 2, but understood the order to read 6:50 p. m. instead. Had until 6:10 p. m. at Marsh, but must have passed there about 6:12 p. m. and crashed into No. 2, something over a mile beyond Marsh. No one seriously injured, although both trains were running at full speed. Engine crews jumped and escaped injury by landing in the water.

Bro. Barber, of Allenton, has returned to work after about nine weeks' vacation. He was relieved by Bro. McDonald, of Vernon nights, who went from Allenton to Grand Rapids for a few days, but has now been checked in as agent at Valders. Bro. McDonald was relieved by a Mr. C. O. Schaefer, from the C., M. & St. P., at Racine, who has now returned to Racine again, to attend the High School.

Bro. Neubecker, formerly of "FW," on the south end, is permanently located at Waukesha days, and since leaving dispatcher's office at Fond du Lac has taken unto himself a life partner.

Understand Bro. Phillipi is relieving Mr. McMillan, at Unity, while he is touring Canada.

We are glad to report the following brothers on our side since the schedule took effect: Bro. J. H. Burns, of Prairie View; Bro. W. R. Thompson, Waukesha; Bro. E. C. Lawyer, Wheeling; Bro. M.

S. Butler, Hamilton, and Bro. B. A. Bagley, North Fond du Lac.

Bro. Butler has been off for some time sick, but he is expected to resume duties soon again.

Now, brothers, excepting the bulletined positions. I have given you all the news in my possession, and if this isn't enough or if you have been omitted, just remember that you didn't give us any assistance, but don't forget to come next time, sure.

Wheeling, North Fond du Lac, Van Dyne and Medina agencies are now bulletined. Ask for them if you see any thing to your liking.

We understand there are a few of the striking brothers from the commercial telegraphers now in our service.

Now, before closing, we would enjoin every brother to be careful and prompt in handling the company's business. Pay close attention to the wires and answer your call. Answer all correspondence as soon as you can and don't lay it aside and forget about it, and be civil; courteous and reasonable when dealing with the public, and let us endeavor to prove to the company that the Order of Railroad Telegraphers means "something good," and that wherever an O. R. T. man is employed the company may know that they have a man who will attend strictly to business and always be found looking after the interests of the company.

The O. R. T. will uphold you in all that is just and reasonable, and if your service for the railroad company is what it should be, you will have no difficulty in getting your rights.

First, last and for all times, boys, let us hear from you regularly. It's no fault of ours if things don't go right with you when you are silent.
Cor.

D., T. & I. R. R.

I see very few letters in the journal from the boys on the D., T. & I. Railway. This is regrettable, and if for no other reason, our boys should write and express their appreciation of the herculean efforts of our worthy committee, for we have an excellent committee, and it is up to us to show them that we appreciate their work, as each individual has a duty to perform who is responsible to a certain extent, for the success of our committee, and there is no better way of doing than to stand to their backs and give them all your support.

We are proud of the brotherhood, both as a social organization and as a business proposition. It acts as a lever to adjudicate differences, and often prevents dismissals on account of spite. Therefore let us not be taken unawares. Do not lay down upon your laurels or cast aside any advantage that has been given, but let us keep thoroughly organized, and by all means make an attempt to attend to our meetings.

If you join the Order and never attend the meetings, or never speak an encouraging word to the nons of your acquaintance, you can not reasonably expect to derive much benefit from your membership in the organization, but if you will take an interest in the organization and help to push the work, satisfactory results are bound to follow. Get busy and round up the stragglers, and get them in our "ranks."

To a few "knockers" who have wielded their hammers so gracefully, and who want something for nothing, throw away your hammers, and help us get what we all need. Don't be unreasonable. You could not expect to get everything in our first schedule, but look out for the next one, and give all your support to the committee. Some think when they have paid their dues, they have done their full duty to the O. R. T. However, they have "another think coming." If you are working with a non, get his application. I think if we should be a little more sociable, all pull together, and attend our meetings, we would then make more progress in our next schedule, which will be under way in a month or so. Let us have more interest, and more business at our next meeting. Do our business in a business way, so it will prove a success in every detail. It is just as much for your interest to attend our next meeting as it is for any of the rest.

Just one more "punch" and then I am done: Remember our motto: "No cards, no favors," and try to land the nons in our ranks so they will not be looked upon as getting something for nothing. "G. W."

Ann Arbor R. R.

Bro. H. J. Tobin, our former general chairman, and one of our most active workers in the last committee on schedule, has left the service of the Ann Arbor, and has gone to the Southern Pacific, at San Francisco, in a general office.

A Mr. Holcomb, formerly with the W. & L. E., has been appointed to fill the place vacated by Bro. Tobin as third trick dispatcher. He is not in the fold at present, but we want to get busy and land him before spring, and be solid when the fourth of March comes.

I understand that an election is to be held in the near future to elect a local and a general chairman to take the place of Bros. Tobin and Randolph. I think that Bro. C. B. Adams, who is local chairman pro tem., is about as good a candidate as we could find on the line for the position that he is now filling.

Let us see to it that we get our rights when we bid for a position that is up for bids, and in return let us live up to our agreement to the letter.

Bro. Suydam, first trick at Hallet, who has been sick for some time, reported for work, but was unable to stand it, and has resigned, and will enter the service at some place where the strain is not so great. His position is being filled by Mr. E. E. Heisy, a C. T. U. of A. man, who went out with the strikers at Chicago.

Bro. Mattis, formerly third trick at Boulevard, has resigned. It is said he is going to settle down in Howell and work in his pa's store. He is relieved by a Mr. Gunn until the position is opened for bids.

Bro. Manor, of "MA," Ann Arbor, has been on the sick list for a week or two, but is again at work. He was relieved by Mr. E. L. Walker, who worked there several years ago, before he went into the train service. "Dad" is a B. of R. T., and O. K.

A new man showed up at "MA," Ann Arbor, nights, taking the place of Mr. E. D. Whitsell, who left the service, but he only stayed two nights. Bro. Manor is called on to work double until the position is filled.

Bro. Bohne, of Federman, nights, is off sick; being relieved by a new man, whose name I have been unable to learn.

Bro. G. E. Cooper, formerly of Dundee, days, has received "FS," Alma, on bid; relieving Bro. J. W. McNamee, who returned to Lakeland.

I am informed that Bro. Boylan, formerly of "BR," Ann Arbor, has been assigned the position as operator at "DI," Owosso. Not being ready for the second operator at "A," Toledo, there has not been any assignment made as yet.

Position at Ithaca, days, is now bulletined. Can not say where Bro. Renwick has gone.

Telegrapher Carr, formerly of "CD," Cadillac, has left the service to accept work on the G. N. He is relieved by Bro. McMullin, formerly at Toledo stock yards, who went out at that place at the time of the commercial telegraphers' strike.

I understand a transfer is to be made at Yuma in the near future, but can not say who will relieve Bro. Reynolds, or where he goes.

A number of the members on this line are very anxious that we have a meeting, and I would like very much to have our local chairman call one for some time in the near future. I think that I am safe in saying that there will be a good attendance, and if it is possible to have Bro. Campbell with us, it would do every one concerned a great deal of good.

Your correspondent has his eye on a couple of nons up the line, and has already got the promise of their papers, to send in time to get a card for the first term of the coming year.

Mr. Non, "don't you think it a shame to take the money" that you are getting for the overtime that you are working, when you do not contribute to help get more improvement in working conditions?

There has been a night helper allowed at "CD" who takes care of the baggage and mail, which formerly fell to the operator. Cadillac was looked upon as a "fierce" job, but it ought to be among the best of them now.

The position of operator at Dundee, days, has not as yet been bulletined, and has been open for some time. This is the relay office for Detroit business, and is a pretty hot job, and takes a good man. Third trick at both Hallet and Boulevard should be on the bulletin board soon, also.

"R. A."

Chicago & Northwestern R. R.

Madison Division—

Another summer has passed, and most of us have had our vacation. It was a hard matter to get relieved, as the low wages paid have no great attraction to the many telegraphers engaged in other avocations. After waiting three months your correspondent got his vacation. Part of it he spent on a trip West as far as the "Black Hills," South Dakota.

At Chadron, Neb., we met Mr. Joe Brown, an old Madison Division man, who formerly worked at Evansville and North Yards. He is working a trick in dispatcher's office, and sends his "73" to the boys on the Madison Division.

The new line was in a pretty fair shape, and some of the depots were finished, others under construction; the agents are leaving their box-car offices without regrets.

Brothers, if you want to enjoy an inexpensive trip, get your pass to the Hot Springs, South Dakota, then take the B. & M. to Lead. Spend a few days in the Black Hills, and one or more in the "Bad Lands" of South Dakota, and you will not regret it.

We have found that twelve hours and upward per day, 365 days a year, is injurious to our health, as well as our moral, spiritual and intellectual welfare.

Now is the time to round up the few scattering nons, and where there are so many, there are generally a few backsliders. Let's get after them like they do sinners at camp meeting. Many cases are simply carelessness. It is better that one of these be saved than a hundred telegraphers be made to suffer.

September 26th was the last meeting of Schneider's Lodge. Bro. Troy, general chairman, was present and gave the brothers some fatherly advice. Through some misunderstanding, all who came to Madison to attend did not meet, but became scattered.

Bro. Corcoran, at tower "EA," days, took in the sights around Chicago and Omaha. Bro. M. M. Zeches relieved him.

Bro. W. P. Joyce, who hails from Janesville, is holding down tower "EA," nights. He has been with the S. P. in Texas, and holds a Grand Division card.

Bro. Barnhart is taking his vacation. Bro. J. A. Richardson doing the stunts nights at Caledonia meanwhile.

Bro. Tesky relieved Bro. Richardson at tower "DO," nights.

Bro. Zeches went to Leyden, nights, from "EA" to relieve Bro. Eberts, who got Lavalley, nights, on bulletin.

Bro. H. D. Adams, agent at Caledonia, attended the agents' meeting at La Crosse.

Bro. W. F. Briggs, agent at Roscoe, has resigned and bought ex-Bro. Harding's interest in the store at Caledonia.

Bro. Harding, formerly a Madison Division man, is going to Colorado for his health, but does not intend to follow telegraphing.

Mr. D. R. Roach acted as agent at Roscoe while on bulletin. Understand Bro. J. E. Dolbier got that station on bulletin.

Roach bid in Sullivan, nights, and may Bro. Williamson lead him in the right way, for he is unconverted, and has no card.

Bro. Luckfield had charge of Afton while Bro. Seales was enjoying his trip to Madison, and C. W. Moore (can not say if a brother) relieved Bro. Luckfield, nights at Afton.

Bro. A. L. Crump bid in Kendall's on bulletin, and Bro. Main relieved him as agent at Footville while on bulletin.

Bro. J. F. Gannon has resumed his duties as agent at Mendota. He took in the sights in the "Rockies" on his "honeymoon" trip.

Bro. A. G. Thomas, who had charge of the station, went to Calhoun to relieve Bro. C. P. Kellogg as agent.

Bro. Teskey relieved Bro. C. Hansen at Monona yard, "M," days, going to tower "DO," nights when Hansen resumed work.

Bro. G. E. White concluded twelve hours at night at Merrimac, "BR," working the interlocking plant was too strenuous, so returned to his old trade as a barber.

Bro. P. W. Avery had charge of tower "BR," nights, while same was on bulletin. Telegrapher J. H. Meyer relieved him at Devil's Lake, nights.

Bro. Fred Tisher received tower "BR" on bulletin.

Bro. S. C. Potter took a few days' vacation, and visited relatives at Viroqua; was relieved at Merrimac, "Z," days, by Bro. Tisher, who was relieved nights by Telegrapher A. Steinhof, who has the papers filled out and will have a card in the near future.

Bro. H. R. Pigg enjoyed the sights of Chicago and a visit with his folks at home recently. Bro. Potter relieved him at Merrimac, "BR," days.

Bro. R. D. Wood, agent at Merrimac, is enjoying a short relief from his railroad troubles. Bro. F. H. Main is relieving him.

Bro. P. J. Eberts is working nights at Summit while it is on bulletin.

Bro. W. Langenham, from North Freedom, nights, is going to assume the troubles at Baraboo, "BY" office, while Bro. Keeffe takes a well-earned vacation.

Bro. Barnhart, from Caledonia, nights, bid in Baraboo, "BY," on bulletin.

Bro. Elsner is now working side wire in general office, Baraboo.

Bro. J. M. Miller is relieving Bro. Elsner at Madison, nights.

Bro. E. S. Durkoff bid in Jefferson Junction, nights, on last bulletin.

Mr. W. T. Copeland has resumed his duties as agent at Jefferson Junction, after an extended vacation. Mr. T. H. Hienerl, who relieved him, has resumed duty as cashier at Baraboo.

Bro. A. C. Matzek is back again at his duties as agent at Wales.

Bro. Barnhart, while enjoying a few days with his parents at Dousman, relieved Bro. Schneider.

local chairman, as agent. Bro. Schneider going to Milwaukee to enjoy a ride on the street cars.

Telegrapher Retzleff put in a few nights at Mendota until Bro. Duprey took charge.

Bro. J. J. Schleck relieved the agent at Galena for a few days.

Bro. Webster is enjoying himself blocking trains nights at Dane.

Bro. C. B. Adams is working the cross line trick, days, in dispatcher's office, Baraboo, and Bro. Glencole, from the Ashland Division, is working one of the north end tricks.

We are in receipt of a letter from Bro. Frank L. Crevits, who writes that he never recovered from the spell of sickness he had while working in the dispatcher's office at Baraboo. It developed into tuberculosis, and the doctors advised him to go West. Before leaving he married Miss Florence M. Burns, of Trempealeau, and they are now keeping house at East Las Vegas, New Mexico, where he finds relief, and we hope will ultimately recover.

He sends his regards to the brothers through your correspondent, and would like to hear from all of them.

Bro. C. O. Butler, Monono yard, "FR," nights, has resigned, and a C. T. U. of A., Bro. Benny, is holding it down at present.

Bro. C. C. Hunners relieved Bro. F. E. Warner at Baraboo, "B" office, while Bro. Warner was off on account of the illness and death of his grandmother. Div. Cor.

Iowa Division—

There has been a great many changes on this division in the last few months; in positions, we mean, and hope that a few of the old hardshell nons have experienced a change in heart, and have come across with the needful that entitles them to a card, and the respect of their fellowmen.

Local Chairman Harrington made a trip up the Midland Branch some time ago to gather in a few of these misguided mortals, but as yet we have not heard what success he had. We hope his trip was not altogether barren of good results, as there are several good men on this line that were outside the fold.

Bro. A. H. Schmidt has been assigned to Lyons, Iowa agency, vice Grant Brezer.

Bro. F. W. Mathews, freight agent at Ames, vice Bro. A. G. Nordstrom.

W. N. Walters, agent at Story City, vice A. H. Schmidt.

R. Seamonds, agent at Scranton, vice F. W. Mathews.

W. C. Houts, agent at Long Point, vice E. W. Stoecker, who goes to Comanche, nights.

R. D. Buckley from Comanche, nights, to Arion interlocker, nights.

J. O. Randall from Boone, dispatcher's office, to Maquoketa, day operator.

R. M. Truesdale from West Side, nights, to Council Bluffs yards, days.

F. E. Walters got tower "A," Boone; Doc Center going to Polk City Junction.

C. Pleshek bid in West Side, nights, on last bulletin.

Several good positions open for bids on last bulletin, including day operator at Boone, dispatcher's office at Dunlap, day operator at Marshalltown, night operator at Grand Junction, day interlocker at Beaver, agent and several night offices.

Bro. Ira Kempkes was on the sick list in September, and not able to attend last meeting. Bro. Harrington also unable to attend on account of other business.

Bro. Chet Caldwell, "DI" tower, Dewitt, on vacation; Milo P. Richardson relieving him.

Cor.

Wisconsin Division News—

Our local chairman was off for a few days last month on account of sickness. Bro. Herman, from West Bend, did the relief work. Bro. Trinwith had to go to West Bend and work nights on account of no men. Jackson, nights, being closed for the time being.

Bro. H. H. Gotsleben left the Wisconsin Division to work as night operator at Stambaugh, Mich.

Mr. Cammack is holding down Bain Junction, nights, at present; J. L. Vail being sent to Allis to work nights.

Bro. C. King is working a split trick at Pleasant Prairie, from noon until midnight; the office being closed from midnight until 7 a. m.

Bro. W. P. Livezey, of Woodworth, took a month's vacation, visiting in Iowa; being relieved by Mr. Woodbury.

Bro. C. H. Seaman, agent at Salem, is taking several weeks' vacation; being relieved by Night Operator Stocker, who, in turn, is being relieved by Mr. Bruneau.

The agency at Genoa Junction is being handled by Mr. M. K. Jones. Bro. John Mages taking Glencoe on the last bulletin.

There are but a few that are back in paying their dues for the current term on the Wisconsin Division, and I am glad that the boys take the good advice given at our meetings. It does not cost any more to pay this month than by putting it off from one pay day to the other, and the first thing you know you will be out, and might be the loser. Be sure that your family is protected. We have but a few more weeks to toil twelve hours in the State of Wisconsin, when we will be governed by the eight-hour law, and we will have to figure on a revised schedule. Let us get one that will be a hummer.

There are a lot of men coming from other divisions who claim that they belong, and are in good standing. When you hear of such a man, notify your local chairman, and he will have him transferred to our division.

CHET. 66.

Northern Wisconsin Division—

A. C. Lary, of Appleton nights, has returned to work, after spending the past month at his home in Ohio.

Bro. J. O. Sund, now doing relief work at Ft. Atkinson nights; Bro. Wm. Jaehnke taking Bro. Remmel's place at the cashier's desk, while Nick is helping straighten out matters at Oshkosh. We are solid at Ft. Atkinson, and all other stations should follow the example set at this station. Solid and loyal.

Bro. Becker, of Clyman, back at work again after a few weeks' vacation.

Bro. E. C. Neitzel now working at Neenah nights in place of Bro. Morrissey, who I "13" has taken the position of bill clerk.

Bro. Evenson, former cashier at Grand Rapids, is now cashier at Neenah. We have quite a solid front at this station at the present time.

Brothers, keep after the non-members. All the men that are being appointed at the non-telegraph stations are now eligible to membership and we want to get them all in line before our committee goes in. When you learn of a non-member go after him and also drop the local chairman a note and I assure you Bro. Hackbert will do all he can to land him. I think it would be a good plan if every member would write the nons on the division asking them to join us. This would go to show them that we are all taking an interest in them and want them to be with us. Now, brothers, just write the local chairman for a list of the non-members and delinquents, which he will be more than glad to furnish you and go after them good and strong and I think we can land a good share of them, for when they see that we all are interested in them, if they are men they can not help but come over.

We have several delinquents and several members who have been dropped and suspended for non-payment of dues. All members should pay their dues promptly and see that all other members are in good standing at all times.

We will have but a few meetings before the first of the year. Let us have a good crowd out at every one of them. This will give our local chairman some kind of an idea as to the kind of support he is to receive when he goes in on committee business. Introduce topics you wish discussed at the meetings. This is the place for these matters to be discussed and not with the train men.

Div. Cor.

Ashland Division, South End—

Our meeting at Antigo was very successful, in point of numbers as well as in enthusiasm shown by those who attended. General Chairman Bro. Jas. Troy was with us, and delivered one of his interesting addresses, which was enjoyed by all present. The eight-hour law was thoroughly discussed in an endeavor to anticipate its probable workings.

After we had transacted all our business the meeting was adjourned at 12:30 a. m. to enable the brothers to get a lunch and catch train No. 6 at 1 a. m.

Bro. Jno. Jacoby and Bro. Carle, formerly day operators at Calumet yard, have left for the Northern Pacific Railway.

Bro. Chas. Krumrey has returned to work as day operator at Wausau, after a three weeks' vacation, being relieved by Bro. M. J. Johnson, who is now relieving at New London.

We are pleased to announce that Mr. F. A. Emmott, agent at Gogebic, Mich., can now be called brother.

Bro. Pat. Maloney, nights at Hortonville, has returned to work after a two weeks' vacation, being relieved by Bro. Wm. Burke.

We are in receipt of a letter from Bro. Isaac Serier, formerly of the Lake Shore Division, stating that he is working as bookkeeper for the Government on the Menominee Indian reservation. He has an eight-hour job, with four weeks' vacation each year, a great deal better salary than he ever received from a railroad company. He also states that he still holds an up-to-date card and intends to do so for a long time to come.

Mr. Herman Heinrichs is back on the Ashland Division, working extra. He has been relieving Bro. A. E. Ireland at Fenwood, who has been away on vacation for a couple of weeks.

Bro. Quade, of Eland Junction, relieved Bro. Coffman at Hatley, during the illness of Bro. Coffman's wife.

Bro. J. B. Duval, at Hurley days, while position is on bulletin.

Bro. H. C. Dunn, Manitowish, off on vacation, being relieved by stranger.

C. V. Fletcher stationed at Woodruff days.

Our recently acquired brother, L. Dygart, who worked on this division for several years, left for the West, evidently having something better in sight.

Regular agent at State Line is on sick list, being relieved by Bro. E. Leurquin, a new one on this end.

Mr. Henry Hutchinson got Conover station by bulletin. We have his promise to discard the non title this pay day.

Bro. D. E. Lamont left Conover to accept agency at Marathon City, on south end. Sorry to see the old standbys go.

Bro. H. W. Bruss, Three Lakes, has returned from his vacation. He was relieved by H. A. Downie, a non. Have the promise of his application soon. CERT. 409.

Galena Division—

The meeting at Dixon, October 19, was very well attended and much interest shown. As it may not be advisable to publish in THE TELEGRAPHER all the good things that are dished up at these meetings you should be on hand meeting nights. Next meeting will be held at Dixon, November 16.

Bro. L. L. Goff, now at Huntley as operator. Loving bid in this job.

Bro. Ed. Troutman, agent at Broadmoor until Charles Ladd, who has bid in Broadmoor, is relieved at Austin, which is on bulletin.

Bro. W. M. Sheller will remain at Union Grove, having withdrawn his application for agency at Hahnman on account of decision not to cut telegraphing out at Union Grove.

Bro. C. A. Wells has resigned.

Bro. L. D. Agnew is back in the service, at present acting agent at Kedzie avenue, Chicago.

Bro. J. B. Agnew is acting agent at Morrison on account of the illness of M. V. B. Smith, the venerable agent.

The boys seem to be shy of some of these large agencies lately bulletined. They are not afraid of work, but it seems that it is necessary to pay for help to do the work properly out of express or Western Union commissions, which makes these positions far from desirable. It is not the salary you draw, but what part you are able to take home to your wife that counts.

Bro. Gleason is back at "NY," Nelson, after a short vacation. The student that relieved Jack found that it was a warm spot and resigned and went back to the cornfield.

Bro. Hamilton is working at Morrison nights, having lately received his honorable discharge from the U. S. army.

Bro. A. C. Woods bid in East Clinton nights.

Bro. W. E. Wood is agent at Ringwood, having bid in this position.

Bro. James Henning is at Dekalb days, "DU" office. Bro. King nights there.

Understand Ashton will be opened nights at once.

None of the boys got fat on Western Union commissions in September; most blank reports that ever hit the superintendent's desk, and very little doing for October. There surely are some fierce would-be telegraphers trying to handle business in "CH" office. No matter how carefully you make they always say Another scab factory is busted. The Sterling Telegraph School, started by Clyde P. Bowlesby, who was the rottenest "ham" the C. & N. W. ever canned, has gone out of business. Bowlesby has a job as janitor in the postoffice, and his professor, Mr. W. C. Scheler is scabbing for the D. O. Cs. in Chicago. He wanted to see what money looked like, even if it was tainted.

Read this from a brother: "W. C. Scheler, late professor in Sterling Telegraph School, unable to make his board running a scab factory, has joined the scabs in Chicago, working for the W. U. Wm. Stocking, of Sterling, Ill., is also scabbing in Chicago. He was Mr. Scheler's only graduate, and neither of them ever held a job telegraphing before. Will, no doubt, be a great help to the D. O. C."

Bro. S. J. Smith, days at Wheaton, just returned from a vacation.

Bro. Joe Deitz, nights in "CU" office, Chicago, is taking a vacation.

Bro. R. E. Meador, nights at Wheaton, is back from a visit home; relieved by Bro. Smith, at Wheaton.

Miss Marie Stromberg, Marengo nights, worked at Wheaton days, until Bro. Meador's return.

While Bros. Meador and Smith were on vacation they were relieved by Bro. F. J. Onthank, Mr. W. M. Burke, Mr. K. M. Jarrett, Mr. M. B. Palmer and Mr. W. Pitz.

Mr. Gailbraith, days at "JN" tower, promises to come in next pay-day.

Mr. K. M. Jarrett is working at "JN" tower nights, at present writing.

Bro. Boardman, days at Elmhurst, bid in Aurora days, I "13."

W. Robeson is working at "U," Chicago, nights, while Bro. Deitz is away. Mr. Robeson is a W. U. striker. Think he holds an O. R. T. card.

Remember we are selling our time to the company, and it is up to them to pay our price, not us to accept their price. Besides, we can make our service such that they will be glad to pay our price.

Plan now to attend the next meeting. Something good will be said that you will be sorry you did not hear, if not there. Div. Cor.

Minnesota Division—

At this writing positions are opening at the rate of about two per week. Thus far all the positions are good ones, and I notice the boys are all moving for the winter.

The agency at Minnesota City, vacated by Bro. Smith some time ago, was filled by Mr. Margraft, from the G. N., I "13." Mr. Margraft, not liking the place, Bro. J. G. Johnson, of Judson, took it on bulletin. Bro. Johnson afterwards turned it down, and I "13" Bro. Christopher, formerly of Owatonna nights, was next in line and has tackled it, and, as far as can be learned, he is making good.

Bro. W. F. Gray, Rochester days, was laid up a few days on account of sickness, but at present is acting agent at Rochester while Mr. Van Campen is off on vacation. Mr. T. F. Ferris is holding down the day stunt, and G. F. Gudmonson the night shift.

Telegraph office opened at Fiefield's Pit during this month to handle gravel trains between the new yards at Winona and Minnesota City. Bro. T. F. Carroll is holding the position, while Bro. J. Jordan is working the night side wire at Winona, in his place.

L. V. Smith, working nights at Mankato Junction, after doing a few months' extra work on the division.

W. A. Wagner drew Milroy on bulletin, and then drew Utica. Guess he will stop now and settle down. This moving isn't what it's cracked up to be. At least that is what he says.

Night office opened at Byron during the busy season, being held down by a telegrapher named Pfeferly. Do not know him and can not say whether he is up-to-date or not.

Bro. Banks, of Evan, laying off sick, being relieved by Bro. Nixon.

Positions received on bulletin since last issue are as follows: W. H. Earsley, agent, Canby, Minn.; J. L. Christopher, agent and telegrapher, Minnesota City, Minn.; E. E. Turner, agent and telegrapher, Judson, Minn.; R. C. Wood, night telegrapher, Judson, Minn.; W. A. Wagner, agent and telegrapher, Utica, Minn.; G. P. Skeels, agent and telegrapher, Courtland, Minn.; B. H. Nixon, night telegrapher, Lewiston, Minn.

Positions open are: Day telegrapher, Kasson; agent and telegrapher, Milroy; agent and telegrapher, Meriden; night telegraphers at Owatonna, New Ulm, Sleepy Eye, and Watertown, S. Dak.

Now, brothers, here's the same old gag: I want you to send me something to write about. I can keep pretty good track of what happens on the middle division, but it's almost impossible to know what's going on on the other two ends. If you hear of some one moving or anything that would be of any interest to the other brothers, let's have it. It only takes a minute to write two lines and only a cent to get it to me.

Send all communications to G. W. Cotton, Esq., Minn.
ACTING DIV. COR.

Eastern District—

Bro. Jensen, our former correspondent, resigned to accept a position with the U. P. He is well pleased with his new work.

J. Bailey, agent at Pilger, has been relieved for three weeks.

Bro. Anderson, of Hastings, relieved Bro. F. McGahn, of freight yard, Norfolk, while Frank went to Omaha for an operation.

Bros. Anderson, Hicks and Farmer were shown the sights of Hastings by Messenger Ogilvie the night of October 12th.

"13" Bro. Hicks goes to Albion as operator, and Bro. Hewitt to the agency at David City; Bro. Brome to the agency at Bristow.

Bro. Hilke, of Atkinson, was relieved for a couple of weeks, and visited friends at Harvard, David City and Morse Bluff; also took in the Ak Sar Ben at Omaha.

F. J. McGahn, day operator at Norfolk freight yard, Adams at O'Neill, Anderson at Bennington, and Burham, Norfolk, dispatcher's office, are now brothers, and carry the little blue card and wear the button.

We will give you more names next time, who are filing their applications now, and will have their cards before you see this.

Bro. Weist, of Irvington, laying off for a few days; relieved by Bro. Greenwalt, who was formerly at Bee.

W. J. Chapman, night operator at Irvington, and formerly agent there, is going to move, but have not heard yet where he goes.

Bro. O'Connor is working nights at "RH," South Omaha; he was formerly at Rawhide, days.

Operator F. K. Keenan, from Oshkosh, Wis., is working days at "RH," South Omaha. He is not a brother, but has promised to come in pay day.

Bro. Anderson, night operator at Bennington, was laying off twelve days this month, being quar-antined on account of smallpox in his boarding house.

Bro. Golden (not W. B. G.), from Dodge street, was there for four nights, and Bro. Mills, agent, worked three nights, and the rest of the time the night office was closed.

Bro. Foote is working as day operator at Arlington. He bid for the job, and I presume he will have it permanently.

Bro. W. R. Kelley, who held down this job for two or three years, has taken the agency at Bradish.

Bro. Friend, of Hadar, got Winnetoon by bid. Unable to say who got Hadar, or who is doing the stunt until it is assigned.

Bro. Hartung, of Verdigrée, got away at last. Have not heard who was assigned to Verdigrée.

Bro. Mead, of Niobrara, was off for a week on account of his father being sick. Understand he has a cancer, and an operation was necessary.

M. O. Hagerman holding down Bristow until it is assigned. Do not know if he is a brother or not.

A brother on the "BO" line called a Western Union scab down in good shape recently. Some of them have the gall to ask us to call some other office for them on the train wire.

Bro. Goodell, of Spencer, has taken his father to California in hopes that a change will be beneficial to his health.

S. B. Alloway is holding down Spencer during Bro. Goodell's absence.

Bro. Sharp and wife, of Bonesteel, visited relatives at Pilger for a day. Bro. Ryan taking care of "BO" for that length of time alone.

Bro. Vestal, of Burke, asked for a few days off, but was greeted with the same old story: Impossible to relieve you.

Mr. Sherman, of Gregory, thinks it is all right for his son, Fay, to scab for the Western Union at Omaha. He is one of these fellows that is always telling what the O. R. T. should do, and never attended a meeting or made an effort to attend when he belonged, and he had a day and night operator and a helper to do the rustling. This man had a good chance on the South Platte once, but his ways did not suit the company or the people down there.

"13" the man from Sawyer got the day job at Oakdale.

We expect to have a big meeting at Fremont soon. When you get notice of the date, you fellows at one-man jobs try and make arrangements with your wife, sweetheart or section foreman to look after your station while you go, and ask for a pass to Fremont and return. Those of you where there are more than one, arrange to let one go at least. There will be big doings.

New motor car passenger service has been put in on the Hastings line, from York to Fremont. This causes long hours for some of the brothers down there. I presume they are putting in their overtime slips every day now?

When you read this kindly send me the names of all telegraphers at your station, and advise if members, and if members of other divisions, give me certificate and division numbers. Do this without fail.

C. M. WURTZBACHER,
Local Chairman.

Peninsula Division—

The October meeting of Peninsula Division was called to order by the chief telegrapher. The remaining offices being filled as follows: First vice chief telegrapher, T. Voelker; second vice chief telegrapher, A. Haberman; marshal, M. Malloy; inside sentinel, J. Murray; outside sentinel, C. Crickelair. There was a great deal of business to act on, all of which was disposed of in good shape. The humorous, enthusiastic and business-like attitude of the boys, to say the least, was striking, and they all left the room wearing the smile that won't come off, thinking of the "doings" that will be in evidence at the next meeting. Be on hand, boys, at that meeting. It is going to be a red-letter day on this division. Don't dig up that old chestnut: "Can't get away." Come prepared to do something, because you will have to do something at the next meeting to make a hit, as everybody will have to work but father, and if he is on the job, he is liable to become implicated in the doings, of which I assure you there will be no small amount.

Bro. Raymile, of "OB," days, is at Green Bay undergoing a course of treatment for his leg, which has been bothering him somewhat of late.

L. C. Murray transferred from "KC" to "FC" agency on bulletin; being relieved by Bro. Crickelair, who has been acting as relief agent for some time.

Bro. Dagenais, "KC," nights, to "AD," nights, has more inducement to keep awake. Lunch room is handy. Bro. Sullivan took Wilson, nights, on bulletin.

The correspondent had the pleasure of having the grip handed to him by Bro. Kendalls, of Metropolitan, recently.

Bro. Honeywell was off on a short sojourn in lower Michigan; being relieved by a C. T. U. of A. man.

Mr. Dupras transferred from Florence, days, to the agency at Waucedah; being relieved at "FC" by Mr. Peterson. Both of them have promised to square themselves and be in line at the next meeting.

Bro. Pegg took Quinnesec on bulletin; being relieved, in turn, by Bro. Kendalls at Metropolitan.

Bro. Johnson, who had been relieving Mr. Dugals at "SC," drew Iron Mountain, days, on bulletin.

Bro. Moran and Bro. Clark spent the Sabbath hunting in the wild woods surrounding Stager.

Bro. Groeschell, night telegrapher, off for a few days. His relief is a brother, but can't recall his name.

Mr. Vanderpool, or "MS," had the good fortune of connecting with three bears by the way of the lead route before they had the opportunity of initiating him into the bear hug society. Judging from the size of them the hug would have been very impressive.

R. A. MORAN.

Illinois Central Ry.

Chicago Division—

At the monthly meeting, held at Gilman October 12th, twenty-two were present, but owing to the fact that only two officers were on hand with rituals, the usual form of business was dispensed with. Inasmuch as we only have one set of rituals each officer is urged to attend every meeting possible, and bring or send his books so that the meetings can be conducted in regular form.

Bro. Langford, local chairman of Springfield Division, was present, and after being presented by Bro. Morrison, gave us some pointers, and related some of his experiences on the Springfield Division. He also brought up the question of having an additional member appointed on the sub-committee to represent the agents in Central and Northern Illinois, the fact having been brought out that the two present members on the sub-committee are located in the south. Both of them are operators.

After some discussion motion was made that Chicago Division request Bro. Mulhall to appoint an additional member of the sub-committee, said member to be an experienced agent, to represent agent-operators in Central and Northern Illinois. Motion carried.

The minutes of last meeting were not read, as Bro. Templin, secretary and treasurer, having caught train on fly, unfortunately left book at home.

Bro. Langford stated that a meeting of Springfield Division would be held at Clinton, October 19th, and extended a cordial invitation to Chicago Division members to attend.

Four of us journeyed to Clinton on No. 19, arriving in due time, and making some inquiries, we learned that O. R. T. meetings were sometimes held at the Board of Trade room. Thither we wended our lonesome way, only to find darkness and a locked door. "Nothin' doin'." After standing around the street for some time, a brilliant idea seemed to strike Bro. Morrison, and he called up the manager of the Board of Trade, who was kind enough to come down to the office and let us in, but hadn't heard anything of an O. R. T. meeting.

After some telephoning, and with the assistance of two or three other members who had strayed in, we rounded up nine, all told, and proceeded to await the arrival of Bro. Langford, who, we were informed, was scheduled for 11:20 p. m.

This was an informal meeting, as it consisted of personal reminiscences entirely. About 1:30 a. m. some brave knight of the key woke up and peeped out something about nine hours, which woke up the rest of us, and it was declared adjourned individually.

Some few changes have taken place during the last month:

Bro. Templin has returned to Matteson; relieving Bro. Hubbard, who got mixed up in the Western Union telegraph wires, so it is claimed, and has gone in search of another position.

Bro. Cramer, at Monee, is laying off; being relieved by Bro. Baugh, extra agent.

Bro. Morrison, at Peotone, was off a couple of days attending the investigation of Bro. Meara, from Cullom, who, it is claimed, also got tangled up in the Western Union strings. Unable to say just how the case will be settled, as Bro. Meara stoutly denies the charge of tampering with the Western Union wires.

Bro. Johnson, an old-timer from most everywhere, has been working nights at "KB," Kankakee tower, relieving C. O. Sharpe, who is visiting at home.

Bro. Adams now located permanently at "HN," Kankakee, while Bro. Morrow returns to Gilman, nights.

Bro. Poe bumps Mrs. Williams at Manteno, nights; his old stand at Laurette having been closed October 1st.

Do not know just where Mrs. Williams will land yet.

We understand Bro. E. J. Coss, from Birkbeck, has bid in Cullom, which will probably put Bro. Carrington back at Birkbeck again; Leverett also having been closed as a telegraph office October 1st. Mr. A. J. Flatt, a grain dealer, postmaster, store-keeper, city marshal, etc., etc., in fact, the whole cheese around Leverett, has been appointed agent at that point at $25 per.

Bro. Gilman has returned to Thomasboro, after a pleasant vacation; Bro. O'Connell going to Cullom.

Bro. Hersher, from Hersher, is off for two weeks; being relieved by Bro. Heath.

Bro. Pendergast now working extra on terminal, going there from Danforth. Presume he will return to the old stand at Merna when through on terminal.

Bro. Robinson has returned to Flannagan; relieving extra agent, Bro. B. C. Madison.

Most of the boys have had their vacations, and have settled back into the harness for another winter.

Hope to see a big crowd at Champaign November 9th, as we expect to have a good meeting.

Div. Cor.

Freeport Division—

The positions that were bulletined since my last write-up are as follows: Hart, nights; Orangeville agency for thirty days; Irene, nights; Kappa agency; Blanchardville agency, thirty days; dispatchers' office, nights, $75; second trick leverman, So. Elmhurst; So. Addison agency; Minonk, nights, for thirty days, $70; day telegrapher, "DR," Freeport; day telegrapher and ticket clerk, Rockford, for thirty days; Amboy, nights; Colvin Park, nights; Burlington, nights; Broadview agency; Freeport yard office, days, for thirty days, $65; day telegrapher, "DR," office, Freeport; Plato Center agency; Plato Center, nights; Alworth, nights; Monroe, day telegrapher and cashier; Coleman agency; Freeport yard office, days.

Among the new members initiated in the past month we have Bros. M. L. Perry, Normal, Ill.; H. R. Aufdenspring, Minonk, Ill.; Walter Scott, LaSalle, Ill.; J. F. Eickman, German Valley, Ill.; L. V. Hamm, Coleman, Ill.; H. E. Dresser, Freeport, Ill.; C. C. Nolf, Orangeville, Ill.; C. G. Owens, Tonica, Ill.; R. J. Starry, J. M. McGowan.

In my September items I note I have "F. H. Kochsmeier was successful applicant for day telegrapher in 'DR' office, Freeport." This was a mistake, as Bro. M. J. Madden received the same on bulletin, vice Mr. W. M. Lane, appointed second trick dispatcher, east end.

The position in "DR" office, Freeport, that was bulletined September 11, was received by Bro. R. Toombs. The same was formerly held by Bro. Madden.

The positions bulletined October 15 and 17, "day telegrapher 'DR' office, $70," were the same position. This is the south end message wire, formerly held by Bro. R. A. Wheelles. He resigned to accept a position in the ticket department, Chicago.

Mr. F. Renfro, one of the true blues that quit with the crowd of commercial brothers at St. Louis, is at present holding down the above position while the same is on bulletin.

The bulletin dated October 17, day telegrapher, "DR" office, Freeport, $65, is the branch wire, formerly held by Bro. R. Toombs. Bro. H. E. Dresser is at present working this job while on bulletin.

Bro. M. J. Madden is at present breaking in for extra dispatcher on the south end.

Mr. J. V. McGinty, formerly with Hearst's Chicago American, before the strike, is filling Bro. Madden's place on the east end message wire.

Bro. D. B. Krueger, formerly days at Freeport yard office, has left the service, and is at present in South Dakota on a farm for his health.

Telegrapher J. Hayes has been transferred from the Chicago Division, and is at present working at Freeport yard office days, while the same is on bulletin.

Bro. Geo. Cox spent a three weeks' vacation in Nebraska. Mr. W. T. Jones relieved Bro. Cox at Freeport yard office, nights.

Telegrapher E. B. Lund was successful applicant for Freeport yard office for thirty days.

Brothers, wake up; you are certainly not all dead. Not very long ago I heard the dispatcher telling one of our brothers what his duty was. Now, don't let this happen. This is not a good showing for us. Of late you often, yes, too often, hear the telegrapher in "DR" calling some one along the line for wire. There is no need of this; when you see that a wire is open, ground it and see which way it is open. If it is open so that your ground completes a circuit to the dispatcher in "DR" office, tell them what way it is open. This would be great help to them, as well as to the movement of trains, for no wire means no work, or more work.

Mr. W. T. Jones is at present doing the "owl" at Alworth nights. He formerly worked in "DR" office, Freeport, extra.

Mr. W. J. Pendergast is at present working at Plato Center, nights, while the same is on bulletin.

Bro. H. K. Gilman, formerly agent at Plato Center, was successful applicant for Kappa agency.

Bro. D. W. Blough, formerly agent at Kappa, was successful applicant for position as day telegrapher and ticket clerk at Polo.

Bro. J. J. Conners, night telegrapher at Burlington, is successful applicant for Broadview, nights.

Bro. I. R. Crawford, night telegrapher, Colvin Park, is successful applicant for Hart, nights.

Bro. O. R. Sherbert relieved Bro. F. B. Schlaf at Charter Grove nights, for a few weeks. Bro. Schlaf was away on a vacation.

Mr. P. H. Morrison relieved Bro. L. V. Hamm at Coleman days. Bro. Hamm has left the service. There is some misunderstanding in regard to Bro. Hamm that he is not a brother, but he is up-to-date.

Mr. Collins (new man) relieved Mr. P. H. Morrison at Monroe days.

Bro. A. E. Norville returned to Buckbee days, after a thirty-day leave of absence. Mr. R. J. Starry filled his place during his absence.

Mr. P. S. Babbitt is at present working days at Munger.

Bro. L. I. McConnell, formerly at Broadview nights, has left the service. Since then he has worked for the C. & E. I. and the Wabash.

Mr. W. J. Albright relieved Bro. McConnell at Broadview nights.

I understand that W. C. Silvey, the man that was scabbing for the W. U. in Chicago, has had the can tied to him. He formerly worked with the I. C. at Munger.

Bro. R. O. Kelly is enjoying a few weeks' vacation at the home of his parents in Mt. Pulaski. Telegrapher Davenport relieved him at Coleman nights. He was, in turn, relieved by Mr. W. J. Albright.

Mr. John Funk (non) was successful applicant for position as second trick leverman at South Elmhurst, vice Fred. Patterson, who is working for an auto company in Chicago. He says there is no twelve hours and seven days a week to that.

I just received a report from Bro. R. L. Shannon, showing that we have thirteen brothers on this division who have not, as yet, paid their dues for the term ending December 31, 1907. I will withhold this list and live in hopes that next month will find it much smaller; then I will put it in the journal next month, showing the names of all that have not paid up.

Mr. A. O. Wilson is at present filling the vacancy at Broadview, while the same is on bulletin. "13" he carries on up-to-date C. T. U. A. card.

Mr. P. H. Morrison was relieved at Monroe days by Mr. Collins. Can not say whether he is a brother or not.

Bro. H. J. McConnell, formerly agent at Broadview, has left the service. He was relieved by Mr. A. Fluhr.

Mr. W. J. Pendergast is at present filling the vacancy at Plato Center nights.

We have just one brother on this division who has been dropped from the membership of the Order for non-payment of his mutual benefit assessments. This is something that every brother should be proud to keep paid up, as very few of us receive a large enough salary to leave our loved ones financially independent.

Bro. F. A. Henion is at present doing the owl shift at Seward nights. Mr. Boyer, who was there formerly, left the service.

Mr. R. J. Starry is at present enjoying a few weeks' vacation from his duties at Buckbee nights.

Mr. W. J. Pendergast, who was working extra at Plato Center nights, was taken sick. Bro. Wolfe, from the Dubuque Division, relieved him.

Mr. Lundgren is at present filling the agency at Plato Center while on bulletin.

Bro. O. R. Sherbert is at present doing the night shift at Irene, while the same is on bulletin.

Mr. R. J. Starry, formerly Irene nights, was the successful applicant for Buckbee nights.

Bro. R. C. Eiser, Hart days, enjoyed a two weeks' vacation visiting in St. Louis, Chicago, Freeport, Mt. Carroll, Lanark, and Savanna.

Mr. C. G. Price relieved Bro. Eiser at Hart days.

Bro. F. H. Kochameier, nights at Hart, has left the service. He was relieved by W. R. German, who carried an up-to-date C. T. U. A. card. Upon Bro. Eiser's return to work Mr. Price relieved Mr. German, as he did not like seven days per week and twelve hours per day, being used to enjoying life.

Mr. Hockman is at present filling Mr. Starry's place at Buckbee, nights.

Mr. Heyworth, an up-to-date in the C. T. U. A., is at present working the night shift at Minonk, while Bro. Kelly is out working for the good of the Order.

Bro. Goodrich is relieving Mr. Haynes, of Wagona, and will relieve Telegrapher Whitney upon the return of Mr. Haynes.

Mr. R. J. Steele was successful applicant for position as agent at South Addison.

I just received a note from Bro. Kelly stating that there will be a special meeting held in Freeport in November. Bro. R. L. Shannon, Bro. Mulhall, and probably one of the grand officers will be on hand. The exact date has not been fixed yet, but will be made at this coming meeting. Now everybody get permission and turn out, as there is something doing. You remember what Bro. Mulhall promised he would come back and do in a few months; well, that's what he is up to this time. So get busy and turn out too strong.

Everybody get busy on the few remaining nons, and see what a harvest we can get before November has passed, for this coming year will be a year of doings in the telegraphic world. I have a large supply of application papers, which will be at your service any time you wish.

"SHORTY."

Bro. Noble, at Balcom, had the misfortune to lose his house by fire about a month ago. He saved most of his household goods, however. Understand he is going to build himself a new house.

Understand Bro. H. C. Burge, who has been doing the night stunt at "CE," Centralia, has been assigned to the new position as second day operator at the same office. Don't know who gets "CE," nights.

CERT. 813.

Cherokee Division—

At a meeting in Remsen, October 6th, it was decided to hold a meeting every third Sunday of each month. The meeting for the third Sunday in November to be held at Remsen. It is earnestly hoped that all members will avail themselves of the opportunity to attend these meetings, as there are important matters for discussion which can only be settled in our meetings.

It was decided that the bond question, as outlined in September journal, page 1,432, be pushed, and every effort made to make it a success. There would be a good number of shares taken by the brothers on this division, and we suggest that subscriptions for shares be circulated at an early date.

Bro. I. H. Brokaw, local chairman of C., R. I. & P., Division 126, came up from Manson to attend the meeting, but by a misunderstanding he did not get there in time for attendance.

Meeting was called to order by Local Chairman A. J. Hoskin. Many important business matters were brought up and passed upon.

Bro. A. J. Hoskin, of Alta, has been appointed to fill the vacancy of local chairman, Bro. E. W. Hill resigning.

Manson is open on bulletin. Bro. O. E. Johnson gets operator at Cherokee on bulletin.

Bro. C. G. Anderson is working first trick at Cherokee. Mr. N. P. Mills having been promoted to trainmaster.

Bro. J. F. Christ is doing the telegraph stunt at Cherokee until same is filled by Bro. Johnson.

Bro. F. J. Spinharney is acting agent at Remsen, Iowa, until station is filled by bulletin.

Bro. J. Urban has been promoted to agent at Le Mars, Iowa; leaving Remsen, Iowa, open.

Bro. C. W. Stoker is working as telegrapher at Sioux City.

Mr. Ed. Francious, operator at Sheldon, promises to get an up-to-date card.

Nons on this division are very scarce. In our next write-up we will give names of nons and brothers who are not up-to-date.

Bro. D. H. Connor has been transferred from the G. N. to Cherokee Division 93.

Bro. Greenke has been transferred from the C. N. W. to Cherokee Division 93.

Tennessee Division—

The regular monthly meeting of the Tennessee Division of telegraphers was held in Knights of Pythias Hall at Fulton, Saturday evening, October 19, with forty-one members present. The meeting was called to order by Chief Telegrapher Bro. Wm. Merwin, all officers responding to roll call, except Bro. T. P. Beard, absent on account of relief, his place as past chief telegrapher being filled by Bro. W. B. Roming. A great deal of important business was disposed of. The bill passed at our September meeting and later approved by our president, Bro. H. B. Perham, abolishing the student permits on the Tennessee Division for a period of one year, was adopted. Any of the members on this division who may wish to apply to Bro. Perham for student permits, need not do so, for they will not be granted.

There being no one presented for initiation the remainder of the evening was taken up with several short talks from the different members.

Our general secretary and treasurer, Bro. R. L. Shannon, gave the brothers a great deal of information, and also good advice.

Letters of regret were read by Local Secretary Bro. Cosgrove from Bros. Mulhall and Chance, who were unavoidably detained.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned about midnight to meet again on the third Saturday of next month, which will be November 16. Brothers, do not forget the regular meeting night, which is the third Saturday in each month in the K. P. Hall, Fulton, Ky. This meeting will be held regularly henceforth, and it is hoped that everyone will attend when possible.

Those who are behind in dues will please try and pay as early as possible. LOCAL SECRETARY.

Indianapolis Southern R. R.Division No. 93—

Am not very well acquainted with the road, having been in the service of the Indianapolis Southern only a short time, but from what I have seen and heard the local is strong and there is no trouble with the student question, as I do not know of a single student on the entire division, and do not think our dispatchers would work with one if a non happened to bring one of the "brutes"

in. The student question is an important one to a card man, as I have found to my sorrow, as the division operator where I formerly worked decided he would make his own "operators;" which he did and, as a consequence, I was discharged and one of them installed in my place.

On October 16, Mr. L. K. Butler was appointed chief train dispatcher, vice Mr. E. C. Russel, resigned. So far every one is pleased with Mr. Butler, and it has been reported that he is a "prince of good fellows."

Bro. C. A. Kean is now working third trick in dispatcher's office at Indianapolis, in place of Bro. N. P. North. Bro. Kean is a good man for this position, and what is still better, is an enthusiastic card man.

Bro. H. O. Bean, of "Q," Indianapolis, has been appointed traveling dispatcher, and understand he is to take a trick soon. Bro. Bean is well liked by every one.

Effective October 16, the new track between Linton and Victoria was put in use. The work at Wakefield will be finished soon.

Bro. Wells, an extra man, has been doing work at Switz City, days, in place of Bro. B. M. Short, resigned.

Bro. W. R. Slaughter, Switz City nights, has been enjoying his vacation; relieved by Bro. Andrews.

Bro. Smiley, Linton nights, on sick list. Relieved by Operator Goodman. Goodman now working Robinson nights. Can not say if he carries an up-to-date card.

Positions bulletined consist of the following: Morgantown nights, Bloomington nights, Solisbury nights, Switz City days, Linton nights, Dugger nights, Sullivan nights and Robinson days.

There has been a night office opened at Meron, but have not been able to hear who draws his pension here, nor how long it is to be a night office.

The contract for the new depot at Switz City has been let, and they have most of the grading done.

Bro. Pate, formerly of Bloomington nights, is now working at "Q" office, in Bro. Beans' place, while B. is learning the road. "13" this job is to be bulletined soon.

Pay-day was a surprise to every one this month in its being earlier than usual, and in the fact that no one was notified of the date until the evening before.

Bro. Renfro transferred from Robinson days to agency at Stanford. ABE MARTIN.

Union Pacific R. R.Western District—

Bro. Burch assigned Bitter Creek on bulletin. Just in time to catch that roast in connection with the sheep shipments which have been running about twenty cars per day.

Bro. Colony, late of Bitter Creek, worked a few nights at Tipton, resigned and is now in Washington. Bro. Burkart and Bro. Tipton have exchanged positions, Bro. Burkart going to Latham, Bro. Tipton to Blairtown.

Bro. Braddock lost out at his little home at Red Desert, now working at Daly's ranch, end of double track, with Bro. Ford, who was moved there when Solon was closed.

Sister Ford assigned Red Desert on bulletin.

Bro. Crigler assigned Bitter Creek nights on bulletin.

Bro. Robinson relieved Bro. Crigler at Thayer Junction. Bro. Robinson just landed from the Panhandle in Indiana.

Double track put in operation between Thayer Junction and Point of Rocks, October 19. This also puts in commission the interlocking plant at Point of Rocks, with Bro. Schlaff, nights, and Bro. Borset, days, to handle the levers. Point of Rocks now one of the heaviest offices on the division, being a reporting station, express office, interlocking plant, detail office for eastbound trains, and necessarily a heavy train order office.

Bro. Schlaff is getting in position to leave the telegraph service, being interested in the new coal mine recently opened at Point of Rocks. Bro. Schlaff located this mine himself, interested capital enough to put it in operation and, apparently, is on the highroad to a well-merited success.

C. T. U. A. Bro. Lee, from the Postal at Denver, now doing the night trick at Rock Springs.

Bros. Crane and Kerr, of Green River office, have "moved along," Bro. Crane to Michigan, Bro. Kerr to Los Angeles. The brothers were relieved by Operators H. E. Thomas and H. E. Madison, both commercial men.

Out of ten operators at Green River, "GR" and "D" offices, we have but three members that belong to Division No. 6.

Before this comes out in the journal the double track on the western district will have been completed as far west as Riner, the intention now being to cut it in at Riner about the 1st of November.

Those who have already paid their assessment for defraying the expenses of the General Committee will either be exempt from assessment when the committee finally does convene, or will be given credit for the amount for the next semi-annual dues.

Our journal representative on the Sixth District has been so overburdened with work the past month that we are unable to get hold of any news from that end.

What we need most now is a firm stand for unionism. The time is fast approaching when our destiny will be shown by the stand we make as a labor organization. We can not presume that the railroad companies throughout the country are going to submit, without a struggle, to the radical changes that are scheduled to take place on and after the 4th of March, 1908.

We have the second best schedule now in force on any road in the United States, but the general efficiency of the operators employed by the Union Pacific are second to none. Our ultimate aim, then, should be the securing of a schedule in keeping with our rank among operators. CERT. 410.

Wyoming Division, Eastern District—

Brownson, Neb. Bro. Perry has resigned, understand to go into the picture business. But as operators, and especially those who know how to handle station work, are so scarce, think we will have Bro. Perry's company for some time yet. Bro. Fox, just from the W. U. at Denver, is holding down the night hours.

Potter, Neb. Both Bro. Daily and Bro. Caldwell, regular agent and night operator, have been laying off for some time, and understand Bro. Daily is about to enter a position where the salary plays a more prominent part than in most agencies on the U. P. Bro. Bronscomb, formerly agent at Dix, is relieving Bro. Daily, while Bro. Jamison, just from the C., B. & Q., over in the "Show Me State," is doing the owl stunt.

Dix, Neb. Mr. VanDyke has been appointed "IT."

Bushnell, Neb. Understand that Bro. Patterson, agent, has handed in his resignation some time ago; but it is the same old story—unable to get relief.

Pine Bluffs, Neb. Have pulled the day telegraph job off, leaving Bro. White to do it all, which is more than one man can do justice to, making Bro. Bitler, who is working nights, step around some to do his share of the work now placed on the owl trick. Bro. Bitler's resignation is in and he expects to be in the far West soon.

Egbert, Wyo. Bro. Fitzgerald is working nights in place of Bro. Duff, who resigned to go south for the winter.

Hillsdale, Wyo. Bro. Henderson, who has been working nights, resigned. Bro. E. Baldrige filled the vacancy.

Cheyenne "N" Office. So many changes I can not keep up with them, but I guess the boys can keep track of the old reliables.

Dale Creek, Wyo. Bro. Dan O'Mara has left us and gone to his home in the civilized part of the world. Bro. Galbraith relieved him.

"RX" AND "SN."

Eastern District, Kansas Division—

Mr. Joe Johnson is acting as chief during the absence of Chief Dispatcher Brownson.

Bro. Geary is back again in "Z" office, having relieved Bro. M. L. Chandley.

Bro. H. D. Miller relieved Mr. Guyton at R. I. Junction, likewise relieving us of a non, which helps some.

Bro. C. A. Smith relieved at Loring by Mr. Julius Dehn, from Rossville. Bro. Smith bid in Bonner Springs nights.

Bro. A. H. Engle relieved at Linwood days, and Mr. Sharritt relieved Bro. Engle.

Miss N. E. Sims is back at work again at Lawrence, after being off duty several weeks.

Bro. Perky, Lawrence nights, is taking a trip down in Texas, being relieved by Bro. Leger.

Bro. DeHoney, from Ogdensburg to Perry days, and Mr. Farrell, Perry nights, relieving Bro. Shannon, who is in the hospital at Kansas City.

Bro. Hooven, Wamego days, concluding there was more money in braking than in telegraphing.

secured himself a badge and a dope bucket, and now his pay check looks just about twice the size of yours. Without any disrespect to the boys who ride the box-cars, a little comparison here might not be out of place. To become a full-fledged brakeman, you make two trips on the local, learn the head end from the rear end of your train, and soon learn how long a box may burn without becoming dangerous. You lead a healthful outdoor life. We all know what it takes to become an operator. From eight months to two years of strenuous labor as flunkey and roustabout, taking the blame for everything that goes wrong. After these months of hard service you are promoted to the position of night operator at "Nowhere." And the proudest moment of your life is when the dispatcher asks you for the weather and you look up the track and say, "Not yet." It doesn't take long for the glitter to wear off, and at the end of four or five years of lonely, killing night work, you find that you have secured the long-coveted promotion and are now a full-fledged agent, operator, expressman, mail carrier, freight flunkey, an expert on weather and crop conditions, statistics, rates and what not. You have become stoop-shouldered, an old grouch, and can't look at a soda cracker without a pain. Meanwhile your brakeman friend has been running a train and is talked of as being slated for a trainmaster's berth. Why are conditions such as they are? How many of you have helped your helpers over the rough places, fitting him to take your place? How many of you have a grudge against the Order for some fancied personal slight or injury, losing sight of the great benefit you are receiving each day. Read your TELEGRAPHER. Keep posted on what's going on and take an interest in the working of your division. What's the use of giving your section foreman a lengthy discourse on how the Order should be run each morning, when you close up like a clam as soon as you sight a non. Come out of it, brothers, borrow our Commercial brothers' motto of "Stick," and then stick like—well, like glue.

Bro. Hendrix is doing the day stunt at Wamego, being relieved by Mr. Mierotta.

Bro. Pinet, from Onaga, bid in Ogdensburg night.

Bro. Marshall from Manhattan extra to Topeka extra, relieving Bro. Cosgrove.

Bro. Caldwell, extra at Manhattan nights, with myself, working the second day job regular, Bro. Payne having bid in the managementship at Ellis.

Bro. H. A. White passed through Manhattan on his way to Cheyenne, where he will again telegraph for the U. P.

Bro. Henry Collins Wiggle relieved Bro. Carson at Ft. Riley a few days while Bro. Carson attended court at Leavenworth.

Miss Wade, from Marietta, relieved Bro. L. M. Smith a few days at Stockdale, Miss Wade being relieved by Mr. Mann, formerly agent at Garrison Crossing.

Mr. Heathman relieved Bro. Sleeper at Concordia, while Bro. Sleeper took his vacation.

It's time to think about that new card.

Appoint yourself an organizer. Individual effort has built this organization up to a membership of forty thousand telegraphers, which represents between eighty and eighty-five per cent of the total number of telegraphers. Come on, boys, let's round up that other fifteen or twenty per cent. Start in this month. Wake up and take some interest in the welfare of your organization. Read your journal—every word of it. Cut out this ham business and work for a solid membership. Be a worker among the workers. Don't lay down and expect the few to do it all. There remains only a few weeks of 1907. We have done remarkably well in the past year. Let's do better in 1908. We have much before us; it isn't very long until March 4th.

We all know that the different railroads have done all they could to create the impression that when the nine-hour law becomes effective there would be a great shortage of telegraphers. It seems that for this reason, or some other philanthropic reason, some few, brothers as well as non-members, have taken it upon themselves to help fill this so-called shortage. To those who have been so ambitious in behalf of the company, it may be of interest to know that they no longer need burden themselves with the extra work of making first-class operators out of student helpers, as from reports in the papers the U. P. has made arrangements with a ham factory at Salina, Kan., to furnish students. "HO."

Nebraska Division, Branches North of Grand Island—

Bro. C. R. Conger, for several years agent at Dannebrog, has bid in St. Libory agency, and now reigns supreme as agent and postmaster at that point.

Bro. B. C. Clinton, agent at St. Paul, attended the horse show at Omaha, 19th to 21st. Bro. T. A. Clark, day operator, looking after the station during his absence.

Bro. T. G. Cook, of Scotia, absent several days on a hunting trip; being relieved by Bro. G. G. Gard, from the main line.

Bro. L. L. Hurd, of Cotesfield, off on account of the serious illness of his father; Bro. G. G. Gard relieving him.

Bro. I. J. Thelin, for several years day operator at Ord, has bid in North Loup agency, relieving Bro. F. N. Neville, who has been promoted to the agency at Shelton.

Bro. John R. Nicholson, from the Great Northern, is acting as day operator at Ord.

Bro. R. M. Grimes, of Dannebrog, off on leave of absence for a few days; being relieved by Bro. Gard.

Bros. R. H. Fountain, of M. P., Division 31, and G. H. Smith, of C., B & Q., Division 130, are recent additions to "GE," Grand Island office. They will be transferred to Division 6.

Would like for all members to watch new arrivals and find out if they are members or not, and if members of other divisions, notify your local chairman and he will take steps to have them transferred to our division. This matter is of more importance than many members seem to realize, as our division needs all it is entitled to, and if transfers are attended to promptly, it means quite a little additional revenue.

Minnesota Division—

Bro. Schriber, of Laporte, days, is taking his vacation; being relieved by Mr. Walker, who has just arrived from the Philippines.

New man, Mr. Castle, at Clarion, nights. He promises to line-up as soon as old enough in the business.

Bro. Wilson got the agency at Shellsburg.

Agent Monroe, of Palo, and Wire Chief Rice, of "CR" offices, have filed applications, and will hereafter be known as brothers. MORRIS.

St. Louis Division—

Bro. H. G. Chalfant laying off thirty days for rest, with Bro. I. B. Lakin relieving at Versailles.

Louis Middleton relieving at Freeburg thirty days.

H. R. Son relieved J. E. Son at Bowen a few days recently, and some train men asked Bro. Henry to close the switch for them. In trying to catch the caboose he narrowly escaped being run over by a car which they were trailing behind the caboose. As it was, he suffered severe cuts about the face. The attending surgeon took several stitches to close a cut in his forehead, and it was feared his eyes were severely injured, but we are glad to hear he is back at work at Belle, entirely recovered.

Bro. F. Kendall is back at the old stand at Denton.

Bro. E. F. Gidinghagen relieved H. R. Son a few days at Belle while Bro. Son was at Bowen.

Operator N. T. Petty, who worked the day trick at Eldon, has left the division.

Bro. Jesse Waters who is also located on the Northern Pacific in Washington, sends his best regards to all inquiring friends.

Bro. E. Ferguson, agent at Belle, has accepted the agency at Eldon, Iowa.

Leslie Station was up for bids this month, but Bro. J. W. Oram concluded he had better stay with it a while longer.

Operator Geo. F. Reinhardt relieved at Belle the latter part of October.

Bro. J. E. Son has been awarded the agency at Belle, Mo.

Bro. Emmett Smith went to Beaufort on No. 24 the other evening to relieve Bro. Russler.

Drv. Cor.

Des Moines Valley Division—

While the $75 "minnie" and eight-hour day are being discussed, should we not also give the express business a part of our attention? Four dollars per thousand bond premium yearly is out of all proportions to what I think any of us should pay. I am in favor of the following proposition as regards the express bond premium: All those in the service less than two years should pay $1.25 per year premium. Those who have been handling the express business two consecutive years, or longer, should pay no bond premium. I consider it an injustice to be compelled to pay $4 per year bond premium, under present conditions. Can you cite me one express agent on this division who has handled express for a period of three months or more, and has caused the express company any loss whatever?

A decided improvement has been noticed in the appearance of the various offices and waiting rooms since the assistance of the section force was secured in scrubbing floors and outbuildings, and cleaning windows. It may be well to add that this order was put in effect through the kind efforts of our local chairman, Bro. Brokaw, who is ever ready to further our interests and those of the company as well.

When you receive correspondence from your local chairman make it a point to furnish him the information he desires, and mail it at once. He surely needs the information for some good purpose, otherwise he would not ask for it.

Nons are a very scarce article on this division. In fact, the "specie" is nearly extinct with us.

A word regarding our working conditions as shown by our schedule: If you have worked overtime, do not fail to send in your overtime tickets. Keep a carbon copy of them, and number consecutively throughout the month. Should you write to any one in regard to overtime or other schedule matters, always keep a carbon copy, or other copy, of all letters written or received bearing on the matter.

When a new man comes on the division ascertain if he is up-to-date. If he does not carry the proper credentials, and is eligible to membership, it is your duty as a member of the Order to secure his application at the earliest possible moment. Remember, that it is individual effort that counts.

E. L. Hughes, who is doing the relief act at Rossie, is now a brother.

Bro. Copp is taking a rest from station duties; relieved by Mr. J. R. Parkins, a new man on this division.

Rossie, Iowa, bulletined at present.

CERT. 695.

Indian Territory Division—

Brothers, in the beginning I call your attention to Bro. H. R. Clark's appeal through September TELEGRAPHER, page 1,487. I have taken it upon myself to ask you all to mail to me, or direct through to Bro. H. R. Clark, Box 253, Covington, La., any amount you can give to this just and worthy member. Don't overlook this.

Sister M. A. Farmer transferred from Wewoka to Wapanucka.

This division stands almost solid. Only about three or four nons remain on the entire division, which comprises the main line, Booneville to Shawnee yard at Ardmore Branch.

Bro. Simmons, who was manager and wire chief at Haileyville, I. T., has left the service. Don't know the present manager's name. Think he is a C. T. U. of A.

Four or five of the boys from this division attended the meeting at El Reno the 12th. While the attendance was small, all seemed to enjoy the meeting. Boys, we all want to be there every meeting. Why should we not attend and get the bright side of this life we are leading?

There are some changes in local board of adjustment. Bro. Gramer resigned. Bros. Doles, of Barber, Ark.; W. C. Riggs, of Wardville, I. T., and J. I. Poole, 215 North Beard street, Shawnee, Okla., now serve.

Everybody seems to be waking up. The Indian Territory Division has never been in better shape, and we all feel it is due to the faithful work of our local chairman. Boys, we don't give credit for all that is due him. We should try and make it pleasant, and induce him to remain with us.

Understand Bro. Blackwell, formerly operator at Tishomingo, now doing the agency stunt there, while Bro. Smith is on vacation in Arkansas.

Mr. Tyer, formerly manager of the Western Union at Ardmore, locked up when the trouble came up, and is doing the operator's work for the railway.

There is some talk of putting another operator on at "S" ticket office to help Bros. Emerich and Salmon out. Bro. Salmon was on the sick list last week and an unknown up-to-date relieved him. We are glad to see him back at his post.

Don't let those nons rest, for we must have them when our general committee goes up, which we hope to be shortly. We want to say Indian Territory Division solid.

CERT. 1096.

"GO," Chicago Office—

Miss Elizabeth Essley, who has been in "GO" for a number of years, received her card October 14th. This makes "GO" solid O. R. T. office, with the exception of Chief Lewis and Assistant Johnson.

We are sorry to note that "VN," Davenport, is the only all-non office on the System.

General Chairman Bro. W. T. Brown was in the city October 10th. Some of us paid our respects at his rooms in the Kaiserhoff Hotel. There is always something doing when "Brown's in town." He is working on a new proposition that sounds good, and all he needs is the fraternal support of every operator on the Rock Island to enable him to carry out his plans.

Local Chairman Bro. Kay, of Joliet, paid us a friendly call October 8th, while in the city attending the theater. He reports things flourishing on the Illinois Division.

Bro. John F. Jones, who resigned about three months ago to accept a position as stenographer in a large real estate office, is now a member of the firm: "A. L. Milenberg & Co., Real Estate Brokers." Bro. Jones intends keeping up-to-date in the O. R. T.

Bro. R. M. Buckley, who resigned October 1st, has accepted similar position in the C. & E. I. general offices.

Bro. Walter Favorite has returned from St. Charles, La., where he has been spending a thirty-day vacation with friends and relatives.

Bro. Quigley spent Saturday and Sunday of the first week in Davenport, visiting friends and relatives.

Bro. Meisner was on the jury the week of October 7th. He is now moving from Auburn Park to Normal Park.

Several C. T. U. of A. men working in "GO" now. Soon as the commercial trouble is settled and the men get back to work, there will be an opening for some good O. R. T. relay or general office men.

Push buttons for calling messengers are being installed. This will be of great benefit to the operators, as it is very annoying to be compelled to call out several times when a messenger is wanted. Girl messengers are being installed in place of boys. We have two on the job now, and will have more soon as get rid of some more of the boys.

Bro. C. E. Liptrap spent two days in Kansas City October 1st and 2d attending Priests of Palaz parade.

Bro. P. R. Lynch, who has been enjoying his vacation, returned to work recently.

Bro. S. D. Blakely received Mahaska on bulletin.

Mr. C. B. Beymer working at Alvo. Don't know where he is going to next.

Bro. S. W. Potts working relief at Rydal while Bro. Potts is ill. Bro. Potts came to us from the B., R. & P., and is strictly up-to-date.

Rydal and Montrose both bulletined. Don't know where the boys are going from there.

Night job at Belleville, Kan., also bulletined.

Bro. E. G. Wolford received Jansen, nights, on bulletin.

Bro. H. Moore back to work at Hallam.

Bro. C. H. Fuller has resigned. Don't know what he intends doing. Cor.

Colorado Division—

Mr. Warren E. Stimson, also known as William E. Stimson, formerly traffic chief of the Postal Telegraph Company at Boston, later of the Rock Island at Goodland, is now scabbing for the Postal Company at Denver under the name of E. B. Jones. We think he should have gotten a better position in Denver under his real name, but he probably has good reasons for not wanting to be known. He tried to get some of the boys from Goodland to scab by offering them jobs at $25 per week, but they are honorable men, and there was nothing doing for him at this place.

We are nearly solid on this division; in fact, only about five nons on the division and three or four of them promise to come in pay day.

We had a very enthusiastic meeting at Goodland October 27th, there being a large attendance, considering the distance some of the west end boys had to come, and the inconvenience and discomfort of traveling half of one night coming, and a half of the next night getting home, and it certainly shows the brothers of the Colorado Division are alive to their best interests.

We also wish to thank those who stayed at home and worked long hours to enable their brothers to attend.

We had a very interesting meeting, and threshed out several questions that came up regarding Sunday hours, increase in pay, etc., and all took the opportunity to get well acquainted with the others. With soft coal at $8.50 and $9.00 per ton, clothing, groceries and house rent gone up in proportion in this part of the United States, the operators, and especially those who are men of families, need an increased compensation to live as we should, and lay by something for a rainy day. Another thing the operators want to go after with vigor is to have it thoroughly understood among the powers that be that an operator leaving the service after sixty days' service shall have a pass furnished him to the point where he came from to enter their service, or an equal distance in any other direction over that company's rails. At present several of the railroads contend that when an employe has quit, or even given notice of resigning, he is not entitled to free transportation under the new Interstate Commerce Law, and this works a hardship on many a good man, no matter if you are leaving in good standing, for another position after several months' service, it is either pay your fare or get over the road the best way you can.

Superintendent Abbott extended us every courtesy in his power, having the most convenient trains possible stop to pick the boys up and bring them in to meeting, and also stopping No. 40, a fast train, to enable some of the east end boys to get home early as possible after the meeting was out, and those that wished could ride any freight they chose going in their direction.

Mr. Ellis, our chief dispatcher, met with us, and gave us a short and appreciative talk regarding our duty to the company, and how to assist the dispatchers in the movement of trains.

If anyone has not filled out the schedule blanks and returned them to Bro. Wood, kindly do so at once, as it is from these blanks that our committee learns what we desire, and if they are not filled out and returned, they may take it for granted that we are satisfied with what we are getting. Then if we do not get a raise we have no one to blame but ourselves.

Little things count, and if there is no complaint on our work when our committee meets the management we will be that much more certain to get what we ask for, and it will assist our own committee, as they will know they have loyal support from a class of men it will be an honor to represent. El Paso Division—

Saturday evening, October 12th, the members of the El Paso Division held a meeting at Pratt, Kan., which was well attended by all the boys who were able to get there. The trains were late, and the boys were late in getting together, but those who were there stayed with it, and we had a very nice meeting.

The meeting was addressed by Bro. Brown, who gave those present some idea as to the relations the telegraphers and the company have for one another, which is the most friendly. Remarks were made by all those present. After the close of the meeting we were very pleasantly surprised by being called to partake of lunch and hot coffee, which was on hand through the thoughtfulness of Bro. Williamson.

Bro. Harry Pain, of Cullison, started for the meeting with his horse and buggy, but when about five miles out he was compelled to turn back on account of his horse taking sick. Bro. Gilby was also compelled to get off the train at Hutchinson on account of taking sick on the train.

We are glad to say that Bro. Brooks filled out his application blanks while in Pratt.

Mr. Thos. Farrell, of Meade, promised us his application.

Mr. Jett and wife, of Pratt, also gave us their promise that they would do likewise.

It was reported at the meeting that the former local chairman of the El Paso Division of the R. I. had gone to work at the Western Union office at Hutchinson.

E. J. Kelly has returned to work at Hutchinson, after a few weeks' vacation.

Mrs. M. A. Lusk, who was working nights at Hutchinson, has resigned and gone to work for the Santa Fe.

Bro. Diffy, one of the C. T. U. of A. boys, is working at Texhome, Bro. Creswell having gone to Naravisa.

G. T. Terra, of the U. P. Division, is now working nights at Guymon.

We are going to try and have a meeting on this division every month, and hope that all the boys who can will make an effort to attend and get acquainted with the men he is working with. One of the brothers present at the Pratt meeting said he had been working at one station for several years, and that he had met his next door neighbor for the first time; that he was glad that he had come, as he had no more idea what this brother looked like than the man in the moon. It's a good thing, boys, to come out and find out what kind of men you are working with. Let's all try and be present at the next meeting. Plenty of notice will be given so that you can arrange to be present.

We wish to thank Chief Dispatcher Creagan for the interest he took in this meeting, and for the favors in assisting the boys in getting in.

Bro. J. A. Merrill, from the Nebraska Division, is visiting his brother, E. L. Merrill, local chairman of the El Paso Division, at Logan, N. M.

Western Division, District No. 3—

Bro. Reid, of Creston, away nearly two months, being relieved by Bro. Boyle.

Bro. Hinds transferred, Ryan to Blairmore.

Bro. Hales filling vacancy at Ryan.

Local Chairman Willson now holding down agency at Cranbrook, vice J. Moe, promoted to District Passenger Agent at Nelson.

Mr. Drowley now at Wardner. Think he is one of us now. Have not heard who goes there permanently yet.

Bro. Austin is not back from Winnipeg, where he has been on committee work for the past three or four months, being relieved by his brother from the East for a while, and Bro. Acton now relieving.

We have been granted a good, substantial increase, but not without hard work.

Several of the boys along the pike are having hard work to get off this summer on account of shortage of men.

I "13" Bro. Inglis, at Jaffray, has had his "shack" put in condition to withstand the cold weather, and, judging by the looks of his "shack" as we pass by, it would not be a bad idea to repair it with a new one.

There was a small gathering at the meeting held in Cranbrook on October 13. CERT. 1088.

Central Division, District No. 5—

Meeting held in Moose Jaw Sunday, October 20. About twenty members present. Come, brothers, wake up and attend meetings, as you do not know what you are missing.

Bro. Goulding, our local chairman, likes to see a good percentage of membership on District No. 5 at meetings, so he can exchange ideas with all and give them information for their own benefit at these meetings, and help to promote sociability and good friendship among all.

Bro. Campbell, our third vice-president and general chairman, Bro. Goulet, of New Westminster, passed through Moose Jaw Sunday after their labors in the East effecting settlement of our schedule.

Bro. Goulding met them at the station, and had a few minutes' talk with them.

Bro. Guernsey, relief agent, just returned from vacation, visiting Vancouver, Victoria and Okanagan Valley, stopped over on his way East with Bro. Maynard at Mortlach.

Bro. Robinson, night operator of Chaplin, relieved for vacation. He is spending it at Toronto and Eastern points.

Bro. McGillivray, of Sinalula, just returned from the coast, where he spent his holidays.

Bro. Fillmore, of Milestone, relieved by Bro. Guernsey, and has left on vacation, going to Vancouver and British Columbia points. He also took a day at Mortlach.

Bro. Spence, of Qu'Appelle, has returned from Winnipeg to Qu'Appelle, and taken charge of that point after filling the position of freight claim agent for last month also, at Winnipeg.

In my last write-up I requested members on this district to send me any news that they could, but, as yet, only one brother on the district has taken any interest in the matter. I can not get in touch with you all by wire to get the news, so would be glad if you would send any news that you can.

LOCAL COR.

Western Division, District No. 2—

Our regular monthly meeting in Red Deer last Sunday was a genuine success. Nearly all the boys were there. As this division is 99 per cent, no doubt the attendance will be greater every time.

Fred. Bye is holding down "CG" days again, after a pleasant trip to the coast. He met Bro. Pelkey out there, who is in the contracting business.

Bro. Kirby relieving Laggan now after a three months' vacation, owing to an accident received from kicking a football too hard.

Bro. Schuman appointed Crossfield, Bro. Hughes going to Morley to allow Bro. McLeod to go to Bawlf.

A member at a meeting recently was heard to remark, "We can't have too much of a good thing." This remark arose from his having once attended a meeting where the chairman addressed the members on the principles and effectiveness of the organization. The O. R. T. has been the means of elevating our positions, financially, fraternally and otherwise, and it is up to each and every one of us to be present at the meetings and learn of the work accomplished by what has been rightly termed our "bread winner."

Bro. Fairey is now telegrapher in the general superintendent's office.

Our next meeting will be held in Calgary on the third Sunday in November. The next two consecutive meetings will be in Red Deer, on the third Sundays in December and January. Apply early and try to get to them all. Div. Cox.

Pacific Division, District No. 1—

Fourteen per cent increase and improved working conditions will help some. Assistant General Chairman Bro. Mooney was back from serving on Schedule Committee, but left for Winnipeg again yesterday to assist in rearranging the improved conditions. What they are we are, as yet, unaware, but if in proportion to increase, surely no one will have any kick coming.

That the few men on the district are keenly alive to the benefits to be derived from joining our ranks is illustrated by the fact that with one exception all have come in during the past sixty days, and in justice to these same, who have now a right to be called brother, we are glad to state that they butted right in when the air was full of trouble rumors, and applied for membership when not sure whether their job was good for a day or a week. These are the sort of cadets we are looking for. Surely this may be taken as evidence of confidence in our officers, also that it has already dawned or is rapidly dawning upon operators in the railroad service that the O. R. T. is strong enough to secure their rights when they go after them in earnest. Our committee has fought a hard fight and too much credit can not be given them for the firm stand they maintained throughout.

The company's representatives were as adamant that train dispatchers should not be classed as telegraphers, also that we should hand them back a present in the shape of the two weeks' annual vacation it took so much hard fighting to secure, and that they succeeded in neither case adds luster to our victory.

As to sacrificing the train dispatchers "we guess not." It is fine business to be able to realize that the man with the iron arm and much grief is a brother, and has your interest at heart as a part of his own, and who, instead of trying to make life a burden for you, does his share toward promoting peace and harmony, and when we know that this same harmonious, prompt and willing transaction of the company's business can not help but be of benefit to their interests, we marvel that the officials of this great corporation should seek to destroy such relations and, possibly, create friction by which the interests of the company would be the only sufferer.

During the past sixty days the following have been enrolled among the good people: A. Gillespie, Field, B. C.; C. A. Clason, Donald, B. C.; A. W. Sharpe, Sushwap, B. C.; D. D. See, Field, B. C., and J. W. Lindsay, Revelstoke depot, B. C.

This makes District No. 1 solid, with the exception of one who will no doubt get either lonely or some horse sense shortly and do biz. Do not suppose the fact of his not having contributed anything towards procuring the new schedule will prevent him putting out his mitt for his portion of what the rest of us got for him.

Our old schedule includes an article which reads: "Where telegraphers are obliged to live in the unsettled districts the company will deliver fresh meat to them during the warm months free of charge." This is very good of them, but who pays for the meat when the baggageman tosses it off into the bushes a half mile from the station, and the operator has to run a foot race for it with a coyote, and the coyote wins?

CERT. 1158.

Soo Branch—

On Saturday night, October 19, 1907, a meeting of the Soo Branch boys was held at Blind River. Bro. J. A. Hawkins, Assistant General Chairman, of Sturgeon Falls, was present and presided. We were few in number, but the interest manifested made up for numerical deficiencies, and left the impression that the "mud-sills of society" must be better recognized from every point of view, or something will be "doing." More determination was never exemplified. Every brother seemed to be full of the same sort of determination. We felt thankful to our committee for what they got and for what they did, but it was understood that it would be more satisfactory if future negotiations with the company were carried on in the same old manner, with the exception of final settlement, which would have to be approved by the membership affected before the General Chairman and Grand Representative could accept. This would make every member responsible and relieve the committee of anything they may be unjustly censured for.

It would require a great deal of space to give all the details of the gathering. In fact there was not a phase of the case that did not receive its share of attention, and when "Criminal Responsibility" came up, no one lost any time in getting their work in. The other matters were important, but this question could not be crowded out. It meant civilian's attire or State stripes for almost any one at almost any time. During the discussion of this question local instances were cited which proved that the courts would be perfectly justified in passing a manslaughter sentence on a railroad man who did not make a mistake. It is not necessary that men be overworked and underpaid, and thereby rendered incapable of properly performing their duties. Every one connected with railroading knows the many duties a passenger conductor has to perform, yet if he forgets one of his "meets" or his "do nots," and lives are lost, he is "criminally responsible." Or, in the case of an operator that may have from one to six trains at his station and one or more orders for each one of them, and at the same time he is selling tickets, checking baggage, handling express and money orders, commercial telegrams, and waiting for a chance to slip into the freight shed and let the draymen get their freight, besides the thousand and one things that any good agent has always got to keep his eyes on; yet with all of this responsibility he is "criminally responsible" if he forgets to deliver one of those orders to one of those trains. A train dispatcher is also "criminally responsible" if he happens to bring a couple together. He may be trying to do the work of two men at that time, yet this double strain does not relieve him in the eyes of the law.

If these matters were placed before the railroad commission plainly, and brought to the attention of every legislator, we would soon have more men at stations, shorter hours and better pay, which should be the only conditions under which we would be "criminally responsible." If the railroad commission and the legislators will not sit up and listen, it is high time for us to consider the advisability of putting our own class in power at Canada's capital and turn the government at Ottawa into a labor congress, where all men will get their rights.

There will be a meeting at Blind River the third Saturday of every second month. Remember the next date, December 21.

I understand that Bro. Hawkins is arranging for the Main Line to come in between ours.

Erie Ry.

Susquehanna Division—

The last meeting of the Susquehanna Division, held at Elmira, N. Y., October 17, was well attended, the main subject being the eight-hour law. Action was taken which should bear results ere this appears.

Our division officials were very busy during the last two weeks of September hiring telegraphers, and about thirty names were added to the long list, with a promise of eight hours after October 1st.

On the eve of September 30, the wind changed to a New York direction, and all the eight-hour tricks were swept away by the cancellation, except Cameron and Chemung Junction, who enjoyed an eight-hour day of one day's duration.

On Wednesday, October 2, the movement was normal, except that telegraphers were putting in overtime for hours over eight, and the chief dispatcher's office was showered with them.

On October 6, the chief dispatcher of the Susquehanna division issued an order that overtime would not be allowed on this account, and that it was not in accordance with the schedule.

During the first week of October, several of the men on the extra list, who had been employed with the understanding that they were to have an eight-hour position commencing October 1, were laying idle and drawing a regular salary, but this soft one could not last, and on October 9 they were notified of the veto, and again the wind swept disastrously over the line.

Several of the recently engaged telegraphers were notified by the chief dispatcher that because the company considered the eight-hour law unconstitutional, it would not be enforced, offering to give them extra work until March 4, 1908, when, he said, the Federal nine-hour law would be effective and which law would have to be enforced.

As a result of the temporary dismissal of some of the men engaged there are all kinds of threats being made; one man, it is said, will bring suit against the Erie railroad for damages as an individual.

Meanwhile Bro. Hall was working on the case, and soon after the meeting in Elmira, October 17, a hearing had been arranged for with the utilities commission at Albany, N. Y., October 23, at which time the Erie Railroad Company, through their general attorney, agreed to put the law into effect immediately, pending a decision of a court on the constitutionality of the law.

Up to the evening of October 26 no eight-hour tricks have materialized, although we are entertaining hourly expectations.

A number of members have looked to the Order to enforce the law, but let me say, good men, in large bunches, we can not go beyond our power; moreover, we can not do that which seemingly the officials of the State should do. There is but one way for us to enforce the law, and that is, read the agreement, do some thinking, and then act.

East End—

Telegrapher J. D. Collins, of Owego, has bid in Wellsburg nights.

Bro. Bellis, of "BS" tower, has been enjoying a vacation. Relieved by Mr. Coleman, night man.

How much more pleasant it is working eight hours. We would feel very bad if we had to go back on the old twelve-hour trick again.

We were glad to note that there were a number of brothers at the meeting at Elmira the 17th, who have not attended for some time. Glad to know that these brothers will endeavor to attend regularly in the future. We had a good turn-out at the last meeting. It is only once a month and we should all make every effort to attend. Every brother has a desire to know what is going on at these meetings and it is to your own interest to be there and take part.

Bro. Delancy, of "BT" days, has bid in "DH" days, which brings him to his old home.

Bro. Shultz is working days at "BT" since Bro. Delancy left.

West End—

Bro. Murphy was absent one day from "GJ" Horseheads. Relieved by Bro. Spencer.

Several new members were added to the list last month, which is encouraging for the old timers.

Some of our brethren were threatened with dismissal from the company's service for being persistent in the overtime eight-hour act.

As all of the regular men are in their places now in the dispatcher's office, we presume the vacancy will be filled sooner or later, viz., No. 1 days, advertised early in August and vacant in June.

D. L. Cole, of "AQ" Corning, took a trip to the Adirondacks. Relieved by Bro. Walbridge. Bro. Barkalow is working days at "RX" and Bro. Horey nights.

Bro. E. I. Kelly, "FD" Corning, spent four days at his home in Millport.

F. M. Roach, formerly an Erie man, has an eight-hour position with the N. Y. C., Lyons Division.

G. B. Owen, a former Erie brother, has taken a position with the Pennsylvania at Harrisburg, Pa.

Wish to thank all members assisting in the contribution to our worthy distressed brother, H. Ruble Clark, of Covington, La.

A. E. MARSH, L. C.

Mahoning Division—

The changes on the Mahoning Division at the present writing are as follows:

S. H. Ridinger bid in "OB," superintendent's office, Youngstown days. There are three men there working eight hours per day and one Sunday in three.

Frank Sanders, at "VO" tower, laying off; relieved by Norman Grimm, from "CB" tower.
